Estimate 99% Cotton Is Ginned; Total Crop May Reach 189,000

County Agent David Eaton and J. D. Jordan of Texas Employment office have just completed a cotton survey for Lamb county's 1949 crop and announce a total of 185,760 bales ginned to date.

The ginnings, according to Mr. Eaton, are believed 99% complete.

More Cotton in Southern Part

Plane Flying Takes Place Of Flying Kites

The warm type of weather we have been experiencing which almost hints of spring, has, as to be expected, brought out a few boys with a kite in tow, not many to be sure, as this is still January.

But, it may be that the kite is destined to take a back seat, or pass out of the picture. If you have doubts, take a stroll down to the city park, any nice evening after school, or on Saturdays, and see for yourself.

A new boyish sport has arrived, not unexpected, but certainly unheralded. It is the flying of miniature airplanes, equipped with genuine motors, propellers, and what have you, and Santa Claus must have been responsible for the delivery of a considerable number of the little planes, because several are frequently a-fly at one time, and others, either attempting the take-off, or being reclaimed by its saddened owner after a crack-up, due to failure to follow directions, inexperience, or other causes.

The planes of course carry no pilots, they are far too small for that, and controlling the plane is in the hands of the owner, who manipulates a pair of control wires from the ground.

Some of these youngsters have become rather expert in the manipulation of these control wires, and they are able to send their miniature planes through a series of stunts, spirals, tall spins, and a swoop almost to the ground, seemingly almost certain to end in a plane casualty, but the little plane, suddenly rights itself, misses the ground by inches, and zooms away and upwards.

Most of the planes are assembled by the boys, with component parts costing a modest sum, but some of the better and more expensive models are also being flown here, and are attracting no little amount of interest and attention.

Maybe the kites will come out later, when spring is more nearly just around the corner, but at the moment, the little planes are occupying the spotlight, almost exclusively.

Lamb county is still without the services of a county home demonstration agent, a vacancy which occurred on January 1, with the resignation of Miss Dudley Hambright, who received an offer from Ft. Stockton, which carried a $1,000 per year boost in salary which she accepted. Commissioners court had hoped for several applicants from which the vacancy could be filled, but not a single application materialized at the court meeting Monday morning.

Miss Katie Dell Hill, area H. D. supervisor, advised the court that the prospects for immediately filling the vacancy were none to bright, as there is an acute shortage of qualified H. D. agents. She further stated that there were 30 offices in the state, now without the services of an agent, with five of those vacancies in this district.

Another meeting of the court is scheduled for February 13, and Judge Dent said the court was hoping that at least one applicant would materialize at this meeting.

20 Bales Cotton Burned at Morton

Fire swept through bales of cotton at Morton Co-op Gin early Monday afternoon for the second time in slightly less than a month.

Monday's blaze, which was reported to have totally destroyed 20 bales and damaged about 10 others started from a "hot" bale of cotton which had been brought out of the gin press shortly before.

J. T. Lilljedahl, manager of the gin, said damage had not been estimated.

It will be considerable less, however, than the previous fire on Dec. 10 which caused damage estimated at $25,000. In that fire about 260 bales of cotton were burned, and a number of seven roaded trailers. Several more bales were damaged.

The first blaze apparently was started from the burr pit, the top of which had been blown off by a strong wind.

Monday's fire was discovered about 1:15 p. m. A strong wind was blowing at the time.

BULL LAKE PHILOSOPHER PLEASED TO FIND NEW YORKERS HAVE COME AROUND TO HIS WATER-SAVING WAYS

Editor's note: The Philosopher on his Johnson Grass farm on Bull Lake sounds like he has a point this week, but there's bound to be a misconstrual there somewhere.

Dear editor:

Newspapers have been so full lately of stories about what's gonna happen in 1950 and how rosey things will be that it's been hard to find out what actually is happening in the first few days of the year, reminds me of the farmer who's always so busy makin plans about what he's gonna do next month he ain't got time to do anything to day and gets bogged down in Johnson grass. I don't use that system, I don't plan to do much next month or this afternoon either and had just as soon be bogged down in Johnson grass as a crop requirin plowin, but I did discover a paper which a wind picked up from my neighbor's trash pile and blew over into my pasture and since it landed about in line with the direction I was walkin toward the house and I could get to it without goin out of my way over two or three feet, I went ahead and went out of my way that much and picked it up and took it on in the house with me and read about the water shortage in New York and what they're doin to make the supply last.

Now I don't think I understand what's goin on up there, or else New Yorkers are far more backward than you'd suppose. Accordin to the story I read, New York officials have been wrackin their brains for ways to save water and finally came up with the idea of the men not shavin and the women lettin the dishes pile up in the sink all day and washin em all at one time.

Thunderation! We been doin that out here for years. Is that what they call thinkin in New York?

If so, while up to now we ain't got no credit for it, I'm glad to see the thinkers have finally come around to recognizin that it ain't necessarily laziness to go without a shave, it's long-range water conservation. If more New Yorkers had followed my method, which I originated years ago, they wouldn't be in the trouble they're in now.

And as for women lettin the dishes stack up in the sink, that's been a custom in the south for years, with lots of women bein even ahead of that and not even

405 Ewe Lambs Are Bought For Pan-Tech Project

More than 400 grade Rambouillet ewe lambs have been purchased by the Texas Technological college agriculture division for use at the Pan-Tech experimental farm near Amarillo, Dean W. L. Stangel has announced.

The 405 lambs were selected by J. P. Smith, Pan-Tech manager, and Ray C. Mowery, professor of animal husbandry at Tech. Ray W. Loughby, a San Angelo ranch operator, assisted the Tech staff in making the selections.

Dean Stangel said the lambs will be used in a wheat grazing project in cooperation with Texas A. & M. They will be used in a cross-breeding experiment at a later date.

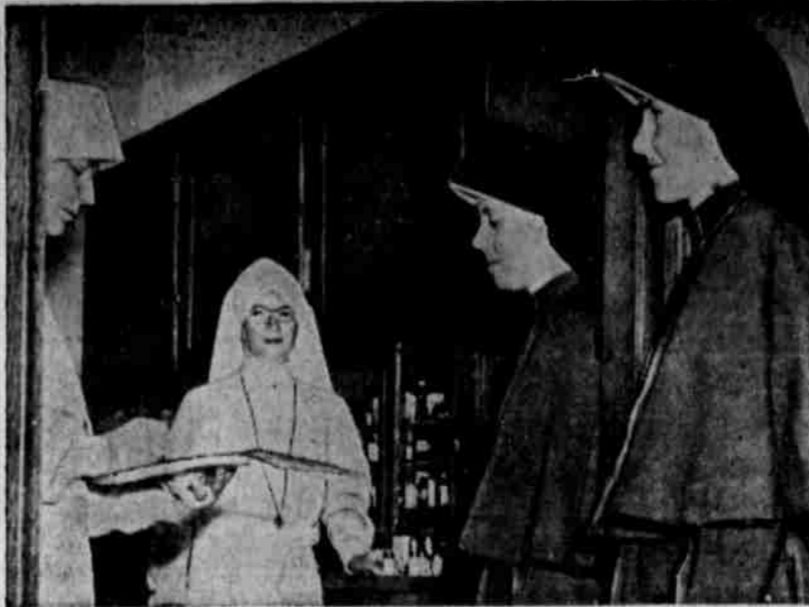

"They will be cross-bred with straight Rambouillets and mutton-type rams 'out of season' so that we can wean the offspring from their mothers and wheat at the same time," he added. The offspring lambs should be ready for market in March or early April.

The Pan-Tech farm was formerly used by the Pan-Tex ordinance takin em off the table more'n once a day.

The South has been berated as backward long enough. We're years ahead of them northerners.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

1950 Plymouth On Display At Littlefield Dealers

The 1950 Plymouth car, with important styling changes and improvements for safety and riding comfort, is now on display at the Garland Motor company, South Plains Motors and Littlefield Motor Company.

See and drive this beautiful car. There are new lines in the silhouette which give the new Plymouth a longer, lower, more streamlined appearance. The changes are readily apparent whether viewed from front, rear, or side.

Rear fenders, which are bolted on for economical removal in case repairs are necessary, have been re-styled and lengthened. A larger rear window on club coupes and four-door sedans, slightly greater over-all width, and alterations on the rear deck provide a longer, heavier, road-hugging appearance for all models. The grille has been simplified and made more massive. It consists of two large horizontal bars with a curved-down top member and a single vertical bar at the center. Above the grille the Plymouth name plate appears in larger block letters, and a bigger, more colorful medallion has been placed over the name plate.

Described as "Packed with value and ready to prove it," the new Plymouth was characterized by D. S. Eddins, president of Plymouth, as "The greatest car value we have ever offered the public."

"When we speak of value," Eddins said, "we mean that we have combined beauty with sensible styling, that we have achieved big-car performance with small-car economy, and that the mechanical excellence of which we have always been proud has maintained its high level."

The front and rear tread have been increased, a factor which increases stability, eases tire loading stress on curves, and enhances the car's general appearance. Thirty-two per cent larger than on previous models, the new rear window increases visibility and its lines blend into the car's new streamlining motif. The window is set in a newly designed locking rubber seal.

There are larger bumpers on both front and rear. In addition to providing greater protection for the grille, rear deck and fenders, the bumpers add materially to the general appearance of massiveness.

And Air Force Boost Standards For Enlistment; Greater Emphasis On Quality

Quality selectivity of enlistment requirements in both the U. S. Army and the U. S. Air Force, as well as longer duty in both arms, are effect, it was announced by T/Sgt. Gerald F. in charge of the U. S. U. S. Air Force Recruitment here in Littlefield. Services have announced a minimum scores of the classification tests. The score to 90, and the Air Force its score requirements to 100. Physical requirements for enlistment must fall within the profile A or B groups. Air Force personnel reenlisting 90 days, or within 90 days prior to Sept. 1, 1949, only exceptions to the rule. Airmen must reenlist twenty days to fill their vacancies. The next step in tightening up

BRUIN TURNS THE TABLES . . . Wearing a hunting cap, Mr. Bruin jauntily drives into Buffalo, N.Y., with a fine specimen of homo sapiens roped to the hood of his car after a successful hunting trip. It was a gag, of course, but it might have been this way. For Harry Szarowski, a Buffalo television repair man who shot the bear, reports that the 300-pound bruin played possum after the first shot, and he might have bagged the hunter had the latter been less cautious.

ADVANCE INFORMATION

(A Short Story)
By RICHARD HILL WILKINSON

SAM SHEPARD was the logical suspect for the crime. Sam had borrowed $15,000 from old Mrs. Hodges, and had given her a note for the amount.

Mrs. Hodges was a real estate operator and maintained an office on Fay street in Bridgewater. According to her secretary, she kept all her business papers in a safe at the office, but according to the secretary, she had taken Sam Shepard's note home with her on Tuesday night.

Mrs. Hodges lived out in the country in Barstow. Wednesday morning she was found dead in bed, killed with a knife. The $15,000 note was missing.

On the Monday before, Sam Shepard had left the distant city of Hayden and driven by automobile to Barstow, arriving Tuesday afternoon about 4 o'clock and registering at an inn operated by a Mrs. Bean. He had gone directly to his room and retired, first telling Mrs. Bean that he was terrifiedly tired after his long drive. At 8 o'clock that evening he had waked, dressed and set out for a walk in the country, returning to the inn about midnight. He admitted being in the vicinity of Mrs. Hodges' house.

Inspector Otis Jackson got in touch with authorities in Hayden. They and Mrs. Hodges' office secretary provided him with this information: Sam Shepard's affairs were in bad shape. He hadn't been able to keep up interest payments on his note. If Mrs. Hodges foreclosed he would be ruined. He had no particular reason for visiting Barstow in the middle of the week.

Jackson assembled all this information, sorted it out, thought about it and then went to the inn where Sam Shepard was staying, and questioned him.

"Did you see Mrs. Hodges on Tuesday night?"

"No. I retired the minute I arrived here. I waked at 8 o'clock, dressed, walked out to the Barstow place, found it dark and so returned to the inn and went to bed."

"Did you contact any one at all before you retired, after reaching here Tuesday night?"

"Yes. I called Mrs. Hodges' office in Bridgewater. Her secretary answered. She said Mrs. Hodges hadn't been feeling well and had gone home early."

"Is that all?"

"Yes."

Inspector Jackson didn't arrest Sam Shepard. Instead he had a talk with Mrs. Hodges' secretary. "When Shepard called did you tell him Mrs. Hodges had taken his note home with her?"

"Why, no. Why should I?"

"That's the point. You wouldn't, in the general course of things."

Jackson next visited Mrs. Saunders, the housekeeper. "Did Mrs. Hodges tell you she had brought

"Why did you come to Barstow in the middle of the week?"

Sam Shepard's note home with her from the office before she retired on Tuesday night?"

"She didn't tell me nothin', except that she had a headache and was going to bed without her dinner."

Jackson returned to police headquarters and explained his findings to the chief.

"Of course, he said, 'the one who killed Mrs. Hodges was the secretary. I've sent a man out to pick her up.'"

"But hold on! How do you know? Sam Shepard had the only motive. Why would the secretary want to kill her?"

Jackson shrugged. "That's a wrinkle we'll have to iron out later. All I know is Shepard couldn't have possibly known that Mrs. Hodges took the note from her office to her home. And the note was stolen. The only one who knew about it being there was the secretary. I've checked thoroughly. It looks as though the secretary saw a swell chance to pin the guilt, logically, on an innocent man."

Mr. and Mrs. Jim McGuire will leave Sunday for market at Fort Worth and Dallas.

ing dependents, will be reenlisted only with the prior approval of a wing commander or equivalent.

Airmen with six years of service discharged in Grade 4, and those in the first three grades may be reenlisted without regard to dependents, providing reenlistment is accomplished within 30 days from date of discharge.

"Due to the high standards required for enlisting in these two Services, applicants are finding it harder to make the required scores," Sgt. Cueshall said, making amplification on foregoing requirements "The mental classification test that is given the applicant for enlistment has a possible score of 144, and he can lose 44 points and still make the required 100 for Air Force, or he can lose 54 points and still make the Army's 90 score.

This test consists of questions of items such as reading and vocabulary, arithmetic computation, arithmetic reasoning, and pattern analysis," Sgt. Cutshall goes on to explain. "There are 53 questions and a time limit of 25 minutes, an average of 28.3 seconds per question. After the applicant has passed this test he will be required to take another one at the Main Recruiting station which is, for the Littlefield area, Amarillo. If the applicant fails the test he will not be eligible to retake the test for a period of six months."

Further information regarding qualification for Army and Air Force will be given without obligation by Sgt. Cutshall at the U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station, 310 West 5th street, Littlefield, or call 442-R.

FIVE IN FAMILY STRICKEN BY POLIO

Still alive and healthy, thanks to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, are the five children of Mrs. Sidney Brickley, Mountain Grove, Mo., who were all hit by polio. They are (beginning left, rear, reading counter-clockwise) Jenny Lee, 14; Gerald, 11; Donald, 7; Judy Ann, 9; and Libbra, 18.

The "point" of the story behind Mrs. Sidney Brickley's five smiling children lies simply in the fact that they are today happy and healthy.

Only a few months ago, few readers would have recognized them, for these five children of a remote mountain hamlet were amongst the more than 40,000 persons in the United States who were struck down by the record infantile paralysis epidemic which swept the nation during the past 12 months.

The region about Mountain Grove, Mo., is both healthy and isolated, and largely due to these two factors modern medical facilities here are meager. But infantile paralysis is a respecter of neither geography, climate nor social class. One after the other these robust children were stricken with this terrible disease. To the Brickley's, with the income of an average mountain family, the expenses connected with modern medical care and treatments were hopelessly beyond their means — the thought was staggering.

Kind friends assisted them in contacting the local representatives of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, and this organization moved swiftly to assume a responsibility which was beyond the scope of these mountains. March of Dimes funds paving the way, the best and most modern treatment brought new health and new futures to the children and ease of mind and gratitude to their parents.

"I am writing to thank you for what you did for my children," writes the mother from her cabin on the Missouri mountainside. "I just can't say enough for the foundation. I don't know what we would have done without help from it.

"It sure is a wonderful thing. My five children are well and walking again. I wish I could say enough words to express the feeling I have, but words just can't express it. If there is ever anything I can do to

ACCENT IS ON STYLE IN 1950 CHRYSLER MODELS

The Chrysler 1950 New Yorker four-door sedan, with restyled longer rear fenders, more massive bumpers, new radiator grille, better visibility from the larger rear window and powered by the 135-hp. Spiffire engine.

Rear view of the Chrysler Windsor series Newport, a new steel top "convertible" with distinctive styling around the rear window and no window or door posts to obstruct the view when windows are down.

Interior of the 1950 Chrysler New Yorker four-door sedan, showing the new arm rest on the door panel upholstery and the waffle pattern in the door panel upholstery the center arm rest in the rear seat.

Completely new and distinctive styling, producing added beauty inside and out, features the 1950 Chrysler line. Among the important improvements are a new grille, longer rear fenders carried to their full height almost to the rear of the car; a new and artistic grouping of tail light, stop-light and turn signal flush mounted in each rear fender, giving sleek, graceful rear end lines; a new rear window with 27 per cent more glass area; changes in the instrument panel; and larger brakes on the six-cylinder models. Nineteen body styles are offered in the Royal, Windsor, New Yorker, Saratoga and Crown Imperial series.

Newport Model Is New
There is a slight increase in exterior width, length and height. Interior dimensions remain unchanged, retaining the generous head room, leg room, chair-height seats and ease of entrance and exit that have proved so popular in the 1949 models.

One entirely new model, the Newport, has been introduced. This is known as a special club coupe, but in effect it is a hard top convertible available on both six and eight-cylinder chassis. It offers the sleek lines of a standard convertible, with the added safety provided by a fixed steel top. Chrysler's new self-energizing disk brakes are standard equipment on the Town and Country Newport, as well as on the Crown Imperial models.

Appearance improvements begin at the front bumper, which is wider and more massive, and are carried through to the rear bumper. Different styling features have been incorporated in the sixes and eights, so that one readily distinguished from other at first glance. Among the points of difference between the two lines are parking lights, the length of the molding on the front fender, the nameplate on the radiator and the wheel cover.

15 Standard Body Colors
Upholstery options have been increased and finer fabrics are offered. Fifteen standard body colors and four special colors are available, most of them entirely new.

The new 12-inch diameter brakes adopted for the sixes have 15 per cent more contact area than the 11 1/2-inch type formerly used. This results in lighter brake pressure and greater reser-

SUCCESSFUL PARENTHOOD

By
MRS. CATHERINE
CONRAD
EDWARDS
Associate Editor,
Parents' Magazine

MOTHERS WHO have to stumble over extra toys in the weeks following Christmas are probably asking themselves, "Who ever started this Santa Claus business?" Which brings us to a favorite topic: how to teach children to put away their playthings.

The basic plan for the teaching is sound, but it takes persistence and ingenuity to put it into effect. So we'll restate the theory and then give you some examples of how other mothers have carried it out. First, you must provide ample warning of the end of the play period. Second, putting away the things the child has been playing with should, from babyhood, be taught as part of the game.

Too often parents make cleaning up appear to be a penalty rather than a natural part of play. We've used before the illustration of children sliding downhill on their sleds. They may not enjoy the upward climb after each thrilling shoot down the icy path, but they accept it uncomplainingly as part of the game.

One of the best examples of applying this principle to playroom straightening was told by a mother who had almost despaired of getting her five-year-old daughter Enid to put her toys away neatly. Then the mother thought of appealing to the child's recently awakened interest in "playing house."

The father built open book shelves for one wall of Enid's room and enameled them in pale blue. Then the mother showed Enid how to arrange her toys on the shelves in interesting and colorful groups, just as she herself had odd bits of china and glass placed attractively on corner cupboards. At first the mother helped but after a week or so Enid took over alone. Now all the mother has to do is admire her daughter's arrangements and discuss color and balance with her. Enid is absorbing some of the fundamentals of decorating, as well as learning that putting away toys can be as much fun as hauling them out.

Another mother, who is particularly clever about allowing for the time element, tells us that she watches to see when her children's interest begins to lag in the toys they are using. Then she suggests that they put those away and get out something different.

If it is near mealtime or going-outdoors time she suggests something simple—a doll or toy animal which will be easy to put back or can be carried outdoors. We have her word for it that she hasn't picked up a toy since this plan was put into effect a month ago.

Finally, there's the very practical suggestion of homemade trucks for toys, each marked with a picture of the type toy it is to hold—one for blocks, one for mechanical toys, one for crayons and cutouts, etc. These trucks can be made from wooden fruit boxes. Reinforce each end with a strip of wood and put a furniture caster in each corner. Better sandpaper the box inside and out to remove splinters, then paint each a different color. Keep in mind (and show in voice and manner) that children normally love to pile things in a toy truck. And don't wait until they are too tired before you suggest that it's truck loading time.

Yes, the theory really works if you use your imagination in applying it!

They returned home night. Mrs. Ralph Roberts influenza and was a Payne-Shotwell hospital until Tuesday.

Very few people are foolish enough to play with fire—the speed with which folks call the Fire Department a wisp of smoke. Yet there are many normally sensible people who play with fire in another fashion. These are the people who neglect their good health in the twin fires of illness and fever. It is not seeing a doctor at the first warning symptom of illness, but rather, illness—like fire—is easier to "put out" in its early stages. So play safe! See your doctor—before he must see you.

Attend State Convention Clinic At Mineral Wells

Here's How Littlefield's New High School Will Look

To Practise
Contest Music
At Musical Event
All-Star Band Organized By Don Hayes

Don Hayes, instructor, accompanied by seven band students of the Littlefield High school, will attend the State Convention Clinic, sponsored by the Texas Music Educators association, which will be held at Mineral Wells, February 8 through February 11.

Headquarters for the group will be the Baker and Crazy Hotels.

The purpose of the meeting is to practise the contest music that will be used in the 1950 regional band contest at Canyon, April 25 through April 28.

Band Organized by Don Hayes
Mr. Hayes is responsible for the organization of this All-Star band, which will meet at Mineral Wells. It is made up of members from approximately 100 schools in the state. The four from here who are members of this band and who will accompany Mr. Hayes to Mineral Wells, are: Barbara Bryan, who will play clarinet; Wynema Johnson, oboe; Lyndel Evans, French horn; and Charlotte Doss who will play the bassoon.

The other three students who will attend and participate in the clinic classes are: John Banks, coronet; Don Lynskey, bass clarinet; and Ronald Harlan, who will play the trombone.

Bula High School Girls Defeated By Muleshoe 41-37

Bula High school was defeated by Muleshoe High school in a girls basketball game played Tuesday night at Muleshoe, to a score of 41-37.

A game between Muleshoe and Bula boys was called off because of the District 4-A contest Wednesday between Muleshoe and Littlefield.

In an election held last summer, voters approved the issuance of $500,000 in bonds for the purposes of construction.

The School District has issued a call for bids, with the closing hour set for 2 p. m. Tuesday, January 24. The new building will have 15 class rooms and additional miscellaneous rooms for newspapers, a band wing, library, separate agricultural shop, administrative offices, an auditorium seating 1,000 people and a gymnasium with approximately 1,000 spectator seats, and dressing room facilities.

The construction of the building is expected to get underway in the near future.

The scores of the other games played.

Suspended from the ceiling over the table where the honor guests were seated, was a huge map of Texas, topped by a crown and stars.

Jack Christian Speaker
Jack Christian was guest speaker, and was introduced by Donald Crossley, toastmaster. The invocation was given by Joe A. Walters, followed by the welcome address by Patty Jones. Frank Gage gave the response. Following the dinner, special music was rendered by the high school chorus. Supt. Joe Hutchinson presented the new trophies followed by recognition of players by Coach Jay Fike. Miss Jackie Farr gave an appropriate "football reading". An interesting feature of the program was the showing of the films of the Mexia-Littlefield football game by Dr. Wm. N. Orr. Following the benediction by Tommy Bailes, the program concluded by all joining in singing "Maroon and White".

Reigning over the banquet and festivities was the beautiful High School Queen, Dorothy Yarbrough, who received the crown which she now wore, at the coronation program and ceremonies in the hour just preceding the banquet.

Coronation Ceremony
This ceremony will long be remembered by all who were present.

Football Queen Crowned At Annual High School Banquet Tuesday Night

The annual High school football banquet, and crowning of the 1949 "Football Queen" both were staged here last Tuesday evening. But never before has it been possible to dedicate the events to a team, entitled to wear the insignia of State Champions, and everyone of the nearly 250 who attended both events were in the mood to make the most of it—to stage a real celebration, and they did.

The High school auditorium was the scene and setting for the crowning of Miss Dorothy Yarbrough as Queen of the 1949 Footballers, at 6:30 before a big crowd of students, school officials and citizens.

Not only had a gorgeous program been arranged for this coronation ceremony, but unique and beautiful decorations were employed throughout the auditorium, with garlands of fall leaves in profusion in the aisles, and other matching embellishments. The stage was beautiful in its profusion and arrangement of the High School colors, Maroon and White. Centering it all, was a huge silver crown suspended from the stage loft on streamers, emphasizing the coming high spot of the evening—the crowning of the Queen.

But even these embellishments were comparatively dwarfed by the decorations at Littlefield Country Club, where the annual Pep Squad banquet, dedicated to their hero gridders of 1949, was staged immediately after the close of the coronation ceremonies and program.

Here the football theme and

FOOTBALL BANQUET HIGHLIGHTS

The piece-de-resistance of the banquet came when Coach J. S. Fikes, beloved by all of the student body, and Coach of the Champion Wildcats, made formal presentation and announcement of the names of 33 lettermen, who will receive in addition to the honor, merited awards. They are:

CENTERS—Dickie Hopping, Freddie Howard and Bobby Edwards.

GUARDS—Jim Fowler, Teddy Brewster, Floyd Pinkerton, Dale Landrum, Billy Frank Davis and Tommy Mears.

TACKLES—Co-Capt. Jerry Cotter, John Fowler, Arlen Wesley, Robert Attaway and Joe Rogers.

class colors, were intermingled in beautiful arrangement and profusion.

As hosts and guests to the number of nearly 250 arrived at the club house entrance, they entered through the doorway which in huge letters blazoned forth "Welcome State Champs", and in a delightful arrangement of class colors meeting the eye everywhere, immediately they entered the big banquet room.

The speakers' table carried a replica in miniature of a football field, with goal posts at either end, but this time, with both sets of goal posts destooled with the Littlefield High school colors of ribbon. A white leather football, monogrammed "LHS" was in place, flanking two newly won trophies, one signifying District victory—the other prized above all—the award which signified the state football championship. These trophies were later presented to the school, officially, by Supt. Joe Hutchinson.

The foursome tables were laid with white linen with a strip of maroon through the center. The tables were centered with a goal post wrapped with streamers, with a Texas state map placed at the post.

The large picture window in the reception room was decorated with maroon paper, with white streamers, bearing miniature white footballs. The two center windows were decorated with pennants, with the "champs" names and the four final games, down each side, and scattered among the pennants were

Makes Good Record As College Coach

"Three for Three" is the record of Wilford H. Moore, former Littlefield man, coach of the McMurry Indians. Moore has been a head coach only three seasons and has come up with three Texas Conference championships. His only other coaching service was as assistant at Abilene High school in 1941 and as assistant at McMurry in 1946. The former Hardin-Simmons university guard fashioned the best small-college offense in the state this season. He served

LUTHERAN CHURCH SENDS TWO BALES COTTON TO C.R.O.P.

Members of St. Martin Lutheran church on West Tenth street clipped in and donated enough cotton for two bales, according to Rev. C. Schulte, pastor.

The cotton was baled by Hampton Gin and the Lamb County Co-op Gins and on Thursday, Jan. 5, the bales were shipped through the express to Houston Christian Rural Overseas Program warehouse. Here they will be sent overseas for processing in the cotton mills. The C.R.O.P. organization consists of three general agencies, consisting of nearly all Christian churches in the United States. The Lutheran World Relief, Church World Relief, and Catholic Rural Welfare. Since all of this cotton was donated by St. Martin Lutheran, it was all designated for Lutheran World Relief.

Members participating in this project were: Lee Holtkamp, B. D. Birkelbach, Walter Hill, and F. W. Laeck.
