ONE MILLION Texans

One million Texans would have to find other means of livelihood if the Texas petroleum industry were to shut down tomorrow.

Steady employment, good working conditions, reasonable working hours and fair wages are the industry's responsibilities to its workers and their families—a million Texans in all.

It must maintain production, find and develop new fields, meet competitive markets for its products and pay its total expense bill of 750 million dollars a year, which includes its payrolls.

The Texas petroleum industry now has to pay 97 million dollars a year in taxes to Federal, State and local governments before it can consider wages and employment.

When expenses must be cut to satisfy increasing tax demands, employment suffers, and with it, the buying power that employment creates in our State.

Minerals Insufficient To Meet Germany's Needs

AUSTIN, Texas, June 10.—As-sayings mineral deposits taken over by Germany in her seven-nation conquest, Dr. V. E. Barnes, University of Texas geologist, pronounced them still insufficient, both in quality and output, to Germany's needs.

He predicted that Hitler must turn to Asia or the Western Hemisphere to establish a war-time self-sufficiency.

For example, said Dr. Barnes, who is on the staff of the University's Bureau of Economic Geology, Poland yielded little in minerals.

Czechoslovakia and Austria contributed only slightly more, although there are Austrian deposits of magnetite, a mineral used in steel production. Norway supplies some deposits of nickel, pyrite and molybdenum, also vital to steel industries. However, Norway's most valuable mineral—fine magnetite iron ore—is still tied up along the Narvik front, and German-controlled iron ore is inferior for armaments.

Listing high-grade iron ore, copper, nickel, oil, mercury and sulphur as essential war minerals, Dr.
Barnes catalogued major supply sources as follows:

Iron ore—U. S. (Lake Superior mines) and Brazil.

Copper—Canada, Rhodesia, Belgian Congo, United States. German prospects are best in the more limited supplies of Yugoslavia and Russia.

Nickel—Canada produces the world's major supply.

Sulphur—United States has by far the greatest supply although Germany can look to the minor deposits in Italian-controlled Sicily.

Mercury—Like sulphur, supplies in Italy and Spain are accessible to Hitler.

Oil, Dr. Barnes labels as the Nazis' greatest problem. Greatest producing areas are the United States, Netherlands East Indies,
Russia and Mexico. Rumanian fields can be stepped up in output but are now far short of Hitler's needs, and Russia, for example, produces less than a fifth as much as the United States.

Americans Urged To Return Home

All Americans without urgent reasons for remaining were urged by the American Embassy Friday to return home aboard the liner Washington, leaving Galway, Ireland, about the middle of June, because it said this might be their last opportunity until after the war.

The embassy warned that those who do not take advantage of this opportunity to leave "must be prepared to remain at their own risk" since permits cannot be granted for travel on belligerent ships under United States law.

If Italy should enter the war, it was pointed out, virtually the only means left for reaching America would be by clipper from Lisbon.

Orders to the Washington to proceed to Galway, Ireland, to pick up Americans desiring to flee the war zone were reported reliably Friday morning.

Burton Franks Dies Friday For Murder Of W. D. Wilemon

Burton Franks was electrocuted at the State Penitentiary, Huntsville, Friday morning for the alleged murder of W. D. Wilemon, Maypearl banker.

Mr. Wilemon was a brother of Oscar Wilemon, Sinclair Wholesale dealer of this city.

Franks is reported to have shown little emotion as he was strapped in the electric chair. "God Bless my Mother" was his only statement. He was a native of Bonham, Texas.

The current was turned on at 12:02 a. m. and Franks was pronounced dead at 12:10 a. m.

Among the witnesses of the execution were L. Maxwell, cousin of the slain banker; District Attorney Forrester Mancock of Waxahachie and Deputy Sheriff Jess Cariker of Maypearl.

Mrs. Geo. Wallace Recommends Frame Garden For Family

"We just can't get along without our frame garden," Mrs. George Wallace told the members of the Spring Lake H. D. Club at the regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Sam Jones. This garden is planted near the well so it will be easy to water. The wooden frame is covered with wire to protect the thin canvas covering from being torn by the chickens or dogs. As the plants are used, more are planted. This small space will furnish many times the amount of green grown in the same space in the open garden and it will furnish them through out the year. Mrs. Wallace has lettuce, tender greens and radishes at this time.

This is the third year Mrs. Wallace has had a frame garden.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength.

Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use

Cotton Comes Into Its Own This Year

Cotton comes into its own this summer. It has received the coveted nod of those who dictate the styles and will be the most popular fabric on the market.

Seersucker has gone 'high hat' and, with chambray and gingham, will bet most of the fashionable play, but, voiles, batiste, chintz and organdy will also be favorites.

Plaids and checks are vying with solid colors for first place in popularity.

The increasingly large part cotton is playing in the women's shops of America is due largely to new processes which prevent undue fading and to special finishes which make the materials keep that 'new' look indefinitely.

Cotton will not only be stylish but, points out Mrs. Dora Barnes,

A. C. Barton, Master Farmer Of Lamb County Is Cooperator Of Soil Conservation Service

Terraces have paid A. C. Barton a dividend of 12 bushels of wheat to the acre during the first year after construction on his 640-acre farm in Lamb County, he reports. In addition to the increased production which far more than paid for the cost of the terraces within one year, Barton also says that erosion by both wind and water has been practically eliminated.

Barton's farm, which he purchased in 1925, is a part of the old XIT ranch and is located a mile north of the Spring Lake school-house. He started breaking out his land for cultivation in 1926, using the straight-row method of tillage as did practically all other farmers within this area at that time.

Some years when there was plenty of rainfall Barton harvested bumper crops, while in dry years the yields were low. Then came the series of drought years when crops were almost a complete failure. With poor crops reducing organic matter in the soil and making growth of adequate vegetative cover difficult, Barton's farm, like most others in the Southern Great Plains, started losing topsoil in the form of dust storms and through water erosion.

When the Soil Conservation Service CCC camp was established at Littlefield in 1935, Barton was clothing specialist of the Texas A. and M. Extension Service, it is the most practical and durable of all summer materials, and there are weaves to fit every pocket-book.

The sheer voiles, organdies, and batistes are seen in the dressiest styles, says a fashion note, with many "tiny buttons, yards of lace, and skirts that fairly blow away in the breeze."

Mrs. Barnes more or less seconds that with the remark that cotton is a very flattering material. "Such little touches give the feeling of luxuriousness and youthfulness to the wearer which is oftentimes impossible to achieve in the heavier and more costly fabrics," she said.

FASHION for today BY PATRICIA DOW

Here's your active sports suit, with flaring, slim-hipped shorts; sleeveless and gathered a bit above the waistline to assure free action at speedy games. And here also, in the very same inexpensive pattern (8722) is your spectator sports frock, created merely by adding a button-front skirt and short little jacket to the play suit!

It's such a delightfully different little jacket, too, buttoned at the square neckline, and cut short enough to call attention to the smallness of your waist. Make this of pastel chambray, checked gingham or white pique, and point it up with bright ricrac braid! Thus you'll acquire two of the season's smartest sports fashions, easily and inexpensively.

Pattern No. 8722 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20.

Pattern 8708—Isn't it just about time you had a new princess dress? Nothing is more becoming to women's sizes than the smooth, suave princess line, and the charm of this new pattern is sheer beauty of silhouette, pointed up by lace-edged revers and cuffs. In light colors or dark, with your white accessories or colored ones, this will be your most flattering street dress, grand for summer travel.

This graceful style makes up equally well in flat crepe, silk print or spun rayon, and in street cottons like linen, pique and chambray, with white or pastel accents.

Pattern No. 8708 is designed for sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48.

HEARTS WALKING

Mrs. Harry Pugh Smith

CHAPTER XII SYNOPSIS

Since her husband's death, Mrs. Phillips has worked to support her children. She is disheartened now because Jim, her son, has become engaged to rich Helen Sanders. Anne suspects Cathy, the little dancer, is in love with Jim. Berenice, Anne's older sister, is miserable because her husband, Bill Carter, has left her. Janet, the younger daughter, has just become engaged to Tony Ryan—rich young man who has bought and sold, with Janet's help, the Phillips estate. Helen Sanders and Jim are having lunch at the Golden Pheasant. Helen has told Jim that he can't go to his office.

"She can't live in this poky town." There was a painful silence. "I can't go to the dinner party," said Janet shortly. "I've a date with Tony Ryan." "S all right about Tony," said Jim gruffly. "I was told to bring along any one I liked." "He's all in the family anyway," remarked Janet with a flippant smile. "I mean we're engaged." Anne uttered a startled exclamation. "Engaged!" "He needs a hostess, I need the money, we've each been turned down by the other fellow, selah!" said Janet shrugging her shoulders. Anne's cheeks were fiery red. "You aren't in love with each other?" "Love!" cried Janet in a jeering voice. "It hasn't been mentioned. I

"What do you think?" murmured Tony. Mr. Sanders, aware of the signs of a tempest beginning to form about his daughter's exquisite brow, interposed with haste. "What shall we do with the rest of the evening?" he asked awkwardly. "I want to go somewhere and dance," said Helen in a fretful manner. "I think mixed parties are a frightful bore." She reached over and pulled Jim closer. "Darling, take me where we can waltz and wait in each other's arms and forget other people. They seem so unnecessary." They went in the end to The Golden Pheasant because it was the only reputable night club in town. There were cheap roadhouses, but nothing to compare to the rococo blue and gilt of the Golden caught Mr. Sanders' eyes. It as well give in, young fellow remarked dryly. "—" began Jim. "You don't really want to leave do you darling?" cooed Helen, stroking his ear. "—of course not," stammered Helen, wishing she would restrain her passionate gestures to a private conversation. At the end Jim telephoned the office and in a not very happy informed Judge Hetchcote that would not be back that afternoon. Helen had been tickling the back of Jim's neck with tiny moist fingers while he was telephoning. He hung up the receiver she laid him down upon a love seat by the window and cuddled into his arms.

cast an anguished glance at the open door into the other sitting room where her father was striding and down chewing savagely on a lighted cigar while he dictated to his secretary. All boys ran in and out with telegrams. The telephone rang loudly. Mr. Sanders called his New York office, an oil field in Texas, and once he talked to his agency as casually as Jim had telephoned to the near-neighborhood. Sanders sent downstairs to the bar for Manhattans. Helen insisted on being fed her cocktail by the waiter. The waiter acted as if he were blind, deaf and dumb, but she felt as if his face were a three-

"She prefers to become a wisecracking little gold-digger," Anne said. "don't believe it's ever going to be." Anne was on her feet, the skin over her knuckles white where she was holding onto the back of a straight kitchen chair. "So I've failed," she said in a voice neither of them had heard from her before. Jim wriggled to his feet. "Gee, Mums, I'm sorry." Anne looked him up and down disdainfully. "My son is going to be a rich woman's kept husband! He loathes society. He owes it to Judge Hetchcote to make good. But now he's turning his back on everything he ever stood for to be a lap dog."

"Mother!" cried Janet, shocked at the look on Jim's face. Anne turned and this time it was Janet who was slowly and disdainfully looked up and down. "My daughter hasn't the courage to live life as a gay and gallant adventure as it's meant to be lived," said Anne. "She prefers to take the easy way out and become a wisecracking little gold-digger." "Oh, Mother!" whispered Janet. "Heavens knows where, except for Bill, my other daughter would have landed," said Anne. Janet felt stricken, but she was glad she had not told about Bill.

Mr. Clive Sanders elected to entertain his party for dinner that night in the main dining room of the hotel. There were elaborate hothouse flowers for a centerpiece and every variety of costly delicacy. Jim could not bear to look at the check, but every one saw the ten-dollar tip which the multimillionaire left beside his plate. There was only one awkward moment, precipitated by Helen. "It's so funny to think of my mother-in-law clerking in a store," she observed.

Anne saw Jim stiffen as if he had been shot in the back. "I mean," Helen explained, "one knows saleswomen must have private lives like everyone else, only one never realizes it, does one?" It was Tony Ryan who leaned a little forward and lazily put a period to Helen's remark. "One wonders," he drawled, imitating perfectly the cool and condescending tones of her honeyed voice, "how one ever manages to breathe the common air when one's so la-di-da."

Helen knitted her brows and stared at him. "Are you by any chance taking a crack at me, Mr. Ex-Prizefighter?" "Here comes Cathy!" cried Janet excitedly. "Doesn't she look lovely?" Jim twisted about in his chair. Cathy was doing her solo specialty. It was a military routine. She had on brief blue satin trunks and a full white silk blouse with long graceful sleeves gathered in at her slender wrists. She was wearing a tiny gilded trench hat jauntily perched on the side of her shingled blond head, and small gilded leather boots that wrinkled down around her ankles.

"Isn't it queer how common stage women always are?" Helen drawled. "So trashy, don't you know?" "You can't call Cathy trash," said Jim. "Not in my presence." "Cathy?" echoed his fiancée. "My word, do you know her?" "I'll say I do," said Jim, "and she's wonderful." Miss Sanders elevated one exquisite white shoulder, made another caustic inspection of Cathy and then murmured in her most insulting manner, "I'll wager you know nothing good of her."

Jim's eyes narrowed, but his tone was pleasant, almost conversational. "You couldn't earn a decent dime if your life depended on it," he observed. "Cathy supports herself and a baby. She and my mother work for their living, but you'll never live to be as much a lady as Helen of them." "This is too much," remarked Miss Helen Sanders, rising to her feet. "Cic' em, Jim," said Tony Ryan softly. Jim had also risen. "If you mean you're breaking our engagement," he said, "it's all right with me. In fact it's fine."

"Father," said Miss Helen Sanders, "will you take me away from these odious people? At once! I want to shake the dust of this hateful town off my feet. Tonight!" "Yes, Helen," murmured Mr. Clive Sanders wearily. It was after midnight when Cathy came slowly out of the employees' entrance to The Golden Pheasant.

The wind was chasing ragged clouds across a large pale moon. Cathy moved as if she were very tired, or deeply dejected. "Cathy!" whispered Jim. She started violently. He took her arm and guided her down the street. He had gone home after his flivver. Gently he helped her in. "I thought—I thought you were with—that said you were going to marry that Sanders girl," stammered Cathy. "I'm not going to marry any one except you, Cathy, if you'll have me," said Jim. "I love you." "Jim!" "I've been blind, Cathy!" he groaned. "I almost lost you." He drew her to him. She was shaking like a shy, frightened child. He stopped and kissed her. Her lips were as sweet and fresh as Danny's. There was no torment in Cathy's kisses, only ecstasy.

She was going to take only two veronals, she told herself. It was not as if she meant to do anything desperate. She had to have some rest. She moved slowly toward the bathroom. She kept looking over her shoulder and shivering. (To Be Continued)

President—

"We will pursue two obvious and simultaneous courses. We will extend to the opponents of force the material resources of this Nation and at the same time we will harness and speed up the use of those resources in order that we ourselves in the Americas may have equipment and training equal to the task of any emergency and every defense.

"All roads leading to the accomplishment of these objectives must be kept clear of obstructions. We will not slow down or detour. Signs and signals call for speed—full speed ahead . . .

"I call for effort, courage, sacrifice, devotion. Granting the love of freedom, all of these are possible. "And the love of freedom is still fierce and steady in the Nation today."

New Tax Bill To Dig Deep Into Pockets Of Average American

The new tax bill, designed to raise $4,600,000,000 a year for national defense, is digging deeper than ever into the average American's pocket. It won tentative approval at a hearing Friday of a House tax committee.

Approximately $4,600,000,000 for defense.

The bill would bring approximately 2,050,000 additional persons within reach of the income tax collector by reducing exemptions to the lowest level since the income tax law was enacted. The basic exemption for married couples would be cut from $2,500 to $2,000 and for single persons from $1,000 to $800.

In addition, the measure would impose a supertax of ten per cent of the normal tax for the next five years; increase surtax rates on the income brackets between $6,000 and $100,000 and boost corporation income taxes by one per cent of taxable income.

Persons not affected by the income tax increases will be reached for part of the defense costs through increase of 10 per cent or more which the bill would impose on virtually all existing excise tax levies, such as the tax on gasoline. The latter is tentatively scheduled to go up a half a cent from the present one cent levy.

As an illustration of the effect of the increases, Chairman Cooper (D-Tenn) said that under the present law a married man with a $8,000 net earned income pays $8. Under the proposed rates he would pay $30.80.

Under existing law, this taxpayer would get a $2,500 exemption because of his married status, plus a further deduction of 10 per cent of his earned income. This would bring his taxable income down to $200. The government would collect 4 per cent of this, or $8. Under the proposed law, he would get a $2,000 exemption for being married, plus the 10 per cent deduction for earned income. Therefore, his taxable income would be $700. Four per cent of this would be $28. To this would be added the supertax of 10 per cent of $28, or $2.80. Thus the total tax bill would be $30.80.

The stiffest rate increases were recommended on the surtaxes, the highest being one of 13 per cent on surtax income in the brackets between $44,000 and $50,000. At present the surtax on the $44,000-$45,000 bracket is 27 per cent and the total surtax on the higher amount would be $6,350. Under the new bill the surtax would be 40 per cent and the total surtax $9,780.

opinion was expressed on both compulsory military training and disposal of the war equipment.

Senator Connally (D-Tex) said some form of compulsory military training would have to be adopted ultimately if great military powers continue to threaten the security of the world and ourselves.

Vaught's To Hold Open House Sunday Afternoon

Tour Through Modern Dairy Plant Planned

Mr. and Mrs. George Vaught Invite Friends To Visit From 4:30 To 7

In observance of National Dairy Month, Vaught's Dairy will hold open house Sunday afternoon from 4:30 to 7 o'clock, and invitations are extended to every one in Littlefield and vicinity to visit this modern dairy plant, located on highway 7, west of Littlefield.

Mr. and Mrs. George Vaught, owners of the dairy, have planned tours of the entire plant, to acquaint the public with methods of pasteurizing milk, and the electric milkers will be demonstrated. Refreshments will be served after the tour.

Established in 1925, Vaught's Dairy not only is the oldest dairy in Littlefield, but is a model plant second to none on the Plains.

Distributors of grade "A" and Pasteurized milk. Mr. and Mrs. Vaught have built up a creditable business to this section, and in appreciation for the patronage and goodwill of their many, many friends and loyal customers, they are holding Open House.

One of the most attractive homes on highway 7, Mr. and Mrs. Vaught have 21 acres included in their property. Landscaping, trees, shrubbery, and rock driveways add much to the attractiveness of their dairy plant.

They are active members of the First Baptist church, and have four fine children, three sons, Paul, Teddy Gene, and Jimmie, and a daughter, Georgetta.

Milk Products Are Recommended For Adequate Diet

The destination of June as National Dairy Month brings out the point that dairymen have an obligation to consumers of dairy products.

"The idea back of the proclamation, of course, is to increase milk consumption," E. B. Eudaly, dairyman of the Texas A. and M. Extension Service, has pointed out in a letter to dairymen and county agricultural agents. "I would like to add that the whole aim and object of any dairy program should be the production of good quality milk."

On January 1, 1940, there were 25,534,000 milk cows on United States farms, with 5,533,000 heifers coming on. That is an increase of 245,000 cows and 308,000 heifers over totals of a year ago.

"If all the people in the United States used as much milk and milk products as recommended for an adequate diet there would be a shortage of milk instead of a surplus," Eudaly added.

"Dairy Days" Reach New High In 1940

The third annual series of official "dairy days" reached new highs in 1940 as 23 shows were held in as many dairy centers of the state. The shows drew a total attendance in excess of 10,000.

Classification of dairy animals according to type rather than on a show basis grew increasingly popular as 1,233 head of cattle were exhibited.

"It is evident that dairymen are learning more about dairy types," G. G. Gibson, assistant dairymen of Texas A. and M. Extension Service, commented. In 1939, 7 per cent of the animals shown did not qualify for classification. This year every animal exhibited received a ribbon in one of the four grades. The requirements for the ribbons have been the same each year.

A like improvement was shown in the quality of dairy products exhibited, W. V. Maddox, extension dairy manufacturing specialist, reported. In 1939, 33 per cent of the products shown fell below the minimum classification; this year the number was reduced to 20 per cent.

The dairy cattle judging contest, held in connection with each dairy day, drew 3,622 entrants, while 1,826 people took part in the dairy products judging contests.

Judges included representatives of A. and M. College, the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and both the Texas and American Jersey Cattle Clubs.

Dairy days were held at Houston, La Grange, Dallas, Brownwood, San Angelo, Robstown, Austin, Temple, Eastland, Lamesa, Floydada, Childress, Wheeler, Tulia, Vernon, Bowie, Henderson, Sulphur Springs, Bonham, Tyler, McAllen, San Antonio, and Victoria.

The SNOOPER SAYS...

The merchants at Snyder recently wanted rain, and they got it—by advertising! Willard Jones, publisher of the Scurry County Times, prepared a double-page spread for these merchants, carrying the heading: "WE WANT RAIN—WE DEMAND RAIN" and further stating: "Advertising has never failed us—and to prove our faith in its value, we will pay for our ads on this page upon delivery of said moisture. In case the half inch of rain does not fall by June 6, the Times will stand the cost of the ads on this page. (Times, we sincerely hope we lose). Now it's up to you and the Rain Man! And believe it or not, it rained. Mr. Jones took considerable gamble on this issue, since it had not rained in quite some time, but he'll collect a nice sum for his gambling spirit. It rained .95 of an inch in about five hours after the paper was out. Mr. Jones further states that he didn't use any special prediction or calendar—just took a long shot on West Texas weather, which is certainly picking the winner.

Stop anticipating that vacation. Just think—only a few weeks, and you'll have to go back to work again!

Canterbury bells and wedding bells ring out the joyous reminder that this is June, favorite month of all the calendar for starting new homes. One by one, brides and bride-grooms are gaily uprooting themselves from the sheltered gardens of their childhood, and transplanting themselves two by two in new surroundings, there to strike root and grow together. For that's how those hardy perennials, real homes, are reproduced.

It doesn't always occur to the members of the new family-of-two that transplanting inevitably involves more than mere moving from one spot to another. When a plant is to be set in a new place, the wise gardener snips off staggly rootlets so that all available energy may go toward sinking strong, sturdy new roots deep into the soil. That is what must be done when two individuals voluntarily transplant themselves side by side and merge their individualities to form a new family.

Engagement And Approaching Marriage Of Miss Bills, Paul Timmons Announced

After a long talk on the value of peace, good will and disarmament, a teacher asked his class if they objected to wars.

"Yes, sir, I do!" said one boy. "Good! Now tell us why." "Because, sir," said the boy, "wars make history—and I don't like history."

It is said that the men in the control room in radio-land who work on Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt's sponsored radio programs Tuesdays and Thursdays are delighted by the ease which she goes through the routine. A seasoned veteran of the air, the First Lady knows all the signals for speeding up and slowing down her speech to fit time requirements. And she always has a cheery "Thank You" for her co-workers.

Mrs. E. O. Thompson, who was here last Wednesday night with Col. Thompson, stated that Jack Norman looked much like Nelson Eddy, and his voice is very similar to the "song bird of the movies." Jack Norman, E. O. McIver, Arthur Mueller, and B. L. Cogdill entertained the group with singing at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet, where Col. Thompson was the guest speaker.

Mrs. Thompson has a beautiful voice, and is an accomplished vocalist.

The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Fredda Charles Bills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Bills, to Paul Timmons, newspaper man of Amarillo, was announced at a delightful tea given by her mother, and sister, Miss Laura Virginia Bills, Tuesday evening, at the Bills residence, Phelps Avenue, complimenting the bride-to-be.

Guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Bills and Miss Fredda Charles Bills, while Mrs. W. G. Street presided over the register.

The announcement was made in a very unique manner. As guests entered they were handed by John T. Street, imitating a newsboy, miniature four-page newspapers, on which it was announced that the wedding of this popular couple would take place on August 21.

A punch bowl, surrounded by shastri daisies, formed a beautiful centerpiece for the refreshment table.

Two beautiful white cakes of bell shaped design bearing the names "Fredda" and "Paul," and decorated in gold, added to the attractive tea table.

Assisting in the serving were; Misses Lula Hubbard, Alice Lynn Street, and Laura Virginia Bills.

The program included a vocal number "Love's Tribute" by Mrs. Gus Shaw; Reading "To Marry or Not to Marry," by Mrs. B. L. Cogdill; and a vocal number "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life," by Mrs. Lynn Dobbs and Miss Laura Virginia Bills.

Out of town guests were; Mrs. H. M. Timmons and Miss Alice Timmons, mother and sister of the groom-to-be of Amarillo, and Mrs. Wilson Kimble, and her daughter, Miss Mary Ann Kimble of Floydada.

Other guests were; Mesdames W. G. Street, G. M. Shaw, J. T. Street, B. L. Cogdill, Lynn Dobbs, Warren Rutledge, Floyd Porter, Jim Etter, George Neely, F. O. The groom-to-be is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Timmons of 1607 Hayden Street, Amarillo.

Methodist Group Meets At Cogdill Home Monday Afternoon

The Methodist Missionary Society met at the home of Mrs. E. L. Cogdill Monday afternoon, with Mrs. Cogdill and Mrs. Esma Cash, hostesses. Beautiful cut flowers decorated the home in profusion.

As the members assembled, Jackie Cogdill played soft music on the piano. Mrs. Fred Wright was leader of the program, "Christain Brotherhood," from the World Outlook. The group sang, "I Love To Tell The Story," and Mrs. Paul Pharris discussed the life of Miss Nannie Holding, the Texas Mexico Missionary. "Pioneering Work in Mexico of Miss Holden," was told by Mrs. Esma Cash; and responsive readings by the group followed.

Mrs. A. G. Hemphill gave a meditation talk, "Strives For The Right," and the program closed with the song, "Must Jesus Bear the Cross Alone?"

During a business session, Mrs. Cogdill gave reports from the zone meeting, which was held last Thursday at the Earth Methodist church. Mrs. J. H. Lippard also gave reports and suggestions from the zone meeting.

Oklahoma Flats Baseball Nine Win Over Whitharral

The Junior Boys Oklahoma Flats baseball team won over the Whitharral team Sunday afternoon in a small score, in a game played on the Whitharral diamond.

Three boys pitched for the Whitharral team, and two for the Oklahoma Flats, Roy Lyle and Gilley, in the latter team. Only three hits were allowed to an inning.

This was the fourth game for the Oklahoma Flats nine. They will play on their own mound Sunday afternoon.

Contributors for the game last Sunday were Hewitt Chevrolet, Mason Motor Company, Hall Grocery, Squires Grocery, News Bakery, and Dr. M. G. Wood.

Littlefield Cats Law Morton Indians 10 to 3 Sunday

The Littlefield Cats extended their winning streak to three straight, they defeated the Morton Indians last Sunday 10 to 3, on the latter's home grounds.

Earl Burleson pitched one of the best games of the season as he held the Morton hitters to 7 hits. He walked 3 men and was never in serious trouble at any time.

The Cats jumped on the Morton pitcher in the third inning to score 7 times and put the game on ice.

Bob McKnight and Orval Lettinger each had three hits for the locals while Lefty Turner had the only home run of the day.

At press time the Cats did not have a game scheduled for next Sunday. The management is trying its best to schedule a game, however. If a regular game is not matched there will be an intersquad game at the old park site. All fans are invited to attend as guests of the management.

Softball Games Draw Large Crowds

The Phillips 66 softball team took a nose dive from Vaught's Dairy Tuesday night, when the dairy boys defeated the 66 11 to 1, before a large crowd of spectators.

Last Thursday night, the Firemen won over Vaught's Dairy, 18 to 13, and Friday night, the Panhandle Refining Company team scored 9 runs over the CCC boys who drew a blank.

The CCC boys have been victorious the past several years, carrying away first place in the local league.

E. E. Booth Named Master Farmer Of Bailey County

E. E. Booth, of West Camp, has been named the Master Farmer of Bailey County, according to the decision of the committee having charge of such election. A survey of the county by the Soil Use Planning Board resulted in picking out five outstanding farmers, and Mr. Booth was chosen as the most outstanding of the five.

Mr. Booth owns 1,280 acres of choice land located in the western part of this county, 1,030 of which is in cultivation. Notwithstanding he is 70 years of age, he is still active in his farm operations, superintending all work done on the place and performing much of it himself. He has been a citizen of this county for the past 22 years.

The distinction accorded him Monday night the Panhandle Refining Company team lost their first game to the Firemen, bowing with a 7 to 12 score.

Tonight, Thursday, the game should be an "oiler" as the Phillips 66 clash with the Panhandle gang.

Friday night, the Firemen will meet the CCC boys, Monday night, the Panhandle team and Vaught's Dairy will play, and Tuesday night, the CCC Camp will clash with the Phillips 66 team.

Fifty Warplanes Available For Sale To Allies

The United States Navy Thursday made available for immediate sale to the Allies fifty warplanes.

Whether this move would be followed speedily by other assistance was not officially announced, but it was known that this government which has received urgent pleas from Allied capitals, was considering selling surplus World War material, including rifles, machine guns, artillery and ammunition.

Navy officials said that the 50 planes were Curtis scout bombers, single engine seaplanes acquired by the navy in the last two years and especially adapted to dive bombing.

The navy announced that the planes were being flown to Buffalo to be turned in to the Curtis airplane company on future deliveries of new planes "of a superior type, equipped with leak-proof tanks and armor." The company will be free to sell the turned-in planes to the Allies. The announcement said that the planes being turned in were from "various naval aviation reserve squadrons."

The navy said the turn-in was in accordance with an agreement with the manufacturer, and added;

"These airplanes are temporarily in excess of requirements due to the fact that many of the reserve aviators normally attached to the reserve squadron have been ordered to Pensacola (Florida) as instructors on account of the large expansion of training at that place.

"It is expected that the remainder of these planes at reserve bases will be similarly turned in as replacements are received."

HART CAMP NEWS

(Too Late For Last Week)

L. R. Buck and family have been enjoying a three-weeks vacation in Florida. Mr. Buck is our local groceryman.

The high school students of Hart Camp returned last week after a six-day trip into the Southwest through points of picturesque interest in New Mexico and Old Mexico. There are reports that they were lodged in jail in Juarez. The key was turned and there they stood prisoners—for a few minutes only. Some brought back interesting souvenirs, hand-carved by the Mexican prisoners.

H. G. Moore and family from Portales, N. M., spent the week-end visiting at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Moore, his parents, and Mr. and Mrs. Weldon T. Moore, brother and wife. H. G. Moore is assistant professor of English in the College at Portales. He left Monday to conduct summer school classes there. He was accompanied back by Miss Mae Moore, his sister, who has taught four years in the Olton public school. Fae Moore, his brother, also went with them to stay a few days. Fae Moore is recovering from a very severe operation. Many of the folks and students at Hart Camp will remember when H. G. Moore and Miss Mae Moore taught school here.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Kinsey gathered at the school house Monday night to present a Friendship quilt—the names of many friends were embroidered on it—to them. Games were played and refreshments of cool-aid and home-baked cakes were served to a run-gery bunch. Mr. Kinsey has served this community faithfully for several years. Both as superintendent of Hart Camp school and as teacher of the adult class of the First Baptist church, Mr. Kinsey has served equally well. His many friends, though they would like to retain him in this community, have no wish to retard his advancement.

Will Make AAA Recommendations
Representatives of the Federal and State agricultural agencies operating in Texas have been invited to assist in the drafting of recommendations for changes in the 1941 AAA program at a meeting in College Station June 14. Meanwhile, tabulation of the recommendations sent to the state office by the community and county AAA committees is underway so that a complete picture will be sent to the meeting. Questionnaires were sent to every county in the state to be answered by county committees, following recommendations made by farmers in community meetings.

At the conference in College Station, the final draft of suggested changes will be drawn up, Geo. Slaughter, Chairman of the state AAA committee, said. Conferees will study the compiled results of the questionnaires and will make recommendations on the basis of the county suggestions. Texas delegates to the National AAA Conference to be held in Washington in July will attempt to get the suggested changes incorporated in the AAA program for 1941.

Urging "full speed ahead" upon a double program of arming the Allies and preparing America for any eventuality, President Roosevelt asserted Monday night that if the "gods of force" won world dominance, the United States would be lodged in prison, "handcuffed, hungry and fed through the bars from day to day by the contemptuous, un pitying masters of other continents."

"Once more," he said, in an address at the University of Virginia's commencement exercises at Charlottesville, "the future of the American people is at stake," and "the whole of our sympathies lie with those nations which are giving their life blood in combat" against the armies of "force and hate."

Sternly rebuking Italy for plunging into the war, he departed from his prepared text to declare that "on this tenth day of June, 1940, the hand that held the dagger has struck it into the back of its neighbor." He said Italy's action showed a "disregard for the rights and security of other nations."

The President laid down his program of twofold action to protect the United States. "In our American unity," he said, (Continued On Back Page)

Hail Damages Cotton Crops
Hail caused considerable damage to crops in Lamb County Tuesday afternoon, as other sections of the South Plains were visited by showers. Cotton crops over a strip from Earth to Anton of about 15 miles wide, starting about 1 1/2 miles east of Amherst to within 2 miles of Fieldton, is reported to be a complete loss. Approximately 35 square miles were covered by hail. Among those farmers who had cotton hauled out are J. L. Lee, J. R. Knowles, T. F. Batson, L. C. Bell, Chas. Touchon, M. Odell, Yarbrough, Lansford, Frank Jones, M. Dubose, and Mrs. Mills. Hail is reported to have fallen from about Spring Lake all the way to Tahoka. The hailstorm struck quickly about 3 o'clock and continued 30 minutes with a brief interruption of rain. Stones were no more than three-quarters inch in diameter. Automobile windshields were broken and tops were damaged. There was no report of damage to buildings.

Urges That Credits Be Granted Allies
Approximately 30 persons signed a telegram which was sent last week to George Mahon, congressman of the 120th district, and Tom Connally, United States Senator, by W. E. Bass, urging that they take active steps in contributing in every possible way to national defense. The telegram read as follows: "Earnestly urge immediate effective aid to Allies which probably best accomplished by repeal Johnson and Neutrality Acts, so that credits be granted for purchase of war materials and agriculture and industrial products. Also urge immediate gifts to France and England for food and clothing for refugees. Our salvation, economic, if not military, depends on your realization necessity such immediate aid."
