Estimated Third of Area Crop To Be Replanted

The most devastating hail storm in 16 years hit Lamb county, in two separate storms Tuesday night the first striking here about 9:15 p. m. while the second struck shortly after midnight Wednesday morning, with Littlefield and Amberst, apparently getting the lions share of in-town damage from hail stones which ranged from small to walnut size and some of it of destructive jagged-edge shape.

A hail storm struck here on an afternoon in May 1935, which broke out plate glass windows, damaged cars, roofs, signs and crops were a total loss.

But the major damage in Tuesday night's storm was to cotton crops in the county, much of which had just been replanted for the second time; more of it up to a good stand on the dry land, following a big planting rain of two weeks ago, but as of Wednesday afternoon, it was almost impossible to make more than an estimate of the amount of crop damage that had been inflicted—to more than

Cool Weather Does Little Damage to Crops

County Agent, David Eaton, says the condition of the newly planted (some replanted) cotton crop in Lamb county is generally good, up to a fine stand in many instances and also that the cool weather of the past few days, has done little damage to the crop of young cotton plants, aside from slowing their growth.

If the weather continues to moderate, as temperatures started to do late Monday, damage will be almost nil. A protracted cold spell, very unlikely, would of course do considerable damage, through delay of growth.

Weeds, following recent rains are a greater menace and liability than the cold. Weed elimination or control is a must. The guess how much of the acreage will have to be re-planted. It will run into the thousands of acres of course and will probably make necessary the re-planting of a third of the county's estimated 300,000 acres and damage to other, that will not have to be replanted.

There was one cheering note for farmers—there probably will be no shortage of cotton seed to replant. The Littlefield Oil Mill announce that they definitely would have a big shipment in from the headquarters plant at Abilene this Thursday morning. There have been ominous reports the past few weeks that, that, there would not be sufficient seed for a third planting, but Oil Mill officials think there will be ample seed here.

However, on many farms throughout the county, it will be several days before tractors and planters can get into the fields. Some dry land farmers will probably be planting Friday or Saturday if no more rain falls, but the

Loses Money On Advance in Price Of Shoe Shines

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—Frank Tolbert, shoe-shine concessionaire in the court house here, boosted prices to meet the cost of living and right away the change started costing him money. Here's how it happened.

Tolbert, whose long fingers and rhythmic motions brown and black a lot of shoes every day, pumped prices from 15 to 20 cents. A customer normally tipping 10 cents on every 15 cent shoe shine, took his five cents change and left the shine-boy just that much short.

Cost of living, or no cost of living, this was an economical awakening to Tolbert.

Shoe-shines today in the Nueces county court house are back to normal—15 cents.

If you make coffee in a percolator it's a good idea to experiment to determine the exact "perking time" needed to give the brew you like, and then to use this same time for perking after that. Perking time will often vary with different brands of coffee, so if you change your brand make your time experiment again.

Alfalfa Fields in West Texas Showing Evidence of Thrip and Flea Hopper

Also they encourage prolific growth and multiplication of such pests as thrip and cotton flea hoppers have also invaded the alfalfa plants and if not checked, a few weeks hence will move over into cotton fields.

This week, David Eaton, county agent, urged all farmers who have alfalfa plantings and fields to carefully check their fields for evidence of these pests.

They can easily be identified and their presence is almost instantly recognized, through the silencing on the under side of the

Texas Farm and Ranch Owners Pay More in Taxes Than in Previous Years

—L.P.—Texas farm and ranch owners are paying more in Texas this year than in the last two decades. Farm and ranch real estate taxes increased again in 1950 for the fourth straight year.

Although the increase is not general over the entire state—some counties are actually showing a decrease—the average for the state was four percent higher for 1950 than 1949. But this is a moderate increase as compared to the 15 per cent increase in 1949 over 1948.

Total Texas levied by all units of government averaged 26.6 cents per acre in the stable years of 1936-46. The record high of 29 cents occurred in 1931.

These figures were furnished by the Department of Agricultural Economics and Sociology of Texas A. and M. College as compiled by L. P. Gabbari head of the department and Robert G. Cherry, Assistant professor.

The survey indicated a wide variation in the tax rates ranging from a low of five cents in the Trans-Pecos area to a high of $3.41 in the Lower Rio Grand Valley.

Increases also were not consistent over the state, some counties showing a much greater increase than the state level, while others actually showed decreases.

The major factor in the increase of farm and ranch taxes in 1950 has been the trend to improved school facilities, the school districts being largely responsible for the increases. State and county taxes generally have shown no appreciable change.

Special district—water, drainage and navigation—are of minor importance on a statewide basis, but are a major tax factor in some sections, the report says. Special district taxes increased slightly in 1950.

The relative importance of taxes levied by the various types of governments has changed considerably in recent years. Schools have increased their share of the total tax bill. County levies generally have declined. School districts accounted for 50 per cent of the 1940 farm and ranch bill, counties 29 per cent, state 14 per cent and other districts 7 per cent.

A major factor contributing to the growth of school taxes has been the extension of levies to most land by the Gilmer-Alken school laws. Less than 1 per cent of the farms and ranches in the department's sample tax study showed no local school taxes in 1950; before revision of the laws there were extensive areas which did not have a local tax.

Despite this picture of mounting tax tolls, there are two bright features to the present outlook. Farmers and ranchers found the higher far merop prices, and there are indications that the upward spiral may be stopped, the experts predicted.

Offsetting the increased tax bill was an increased per-acre income in 1950. At least this was true from the standpoint of prices received from produce and livestock produced on the land.

The price index (Bureau of Agricultural Economics, USDA) rose from 275 in 1949, to 306 in 1950, while the tax index rose somewhat proportionately less, from 284 to 293. As a result, the tax-price ratio declined from 1.03 to .97 slightly less than in the base year, 1913.

The promise of a halt in the upward spiral is held out by the fact that 1950 was the last year in which the state will levy a prop-ty tax for general revenue purposes. This should halt the rise, at least temporarily, although the potential tax load has not been greatly reduced. Counties may now levy an additional 30-cent rate and many of them have already done so or will shortly.

Growth Is Reported by Olton; Percentage of Land Is Irrigated

Olton has moved several years ago it was concluded that with warrant had not been the case, that time Olton has rapidly than ever before it is the central for a 15-mile radius of the most intensive in the world. Only enough, the old building itself still focal point of Olton's did when the town at it now serves as all-equipped hospital, seat seen in this district.

Most Land Irrigated

Like other South Plains towns, Olton depends upon agriculture for its economy. This Lamb county town is fortunate, moreover, in that fully 95 per cent of the land in its trade territory is irrigated, most of the wells having been dug within the past six to seven years.

Year in and year out the farmers in this region look forward to high yields of cotton, the principal crop. Not more than a decade ago, however, wheat was supreme in this region, but cotton has swiftly come to the fore.

Before wheat, of course, this was cattle country. In immediate vicinity during the years following the turn of the century, old timers say, cattle roamed such famous ranch spreads as the Mashed O, Spade, XIT, Slaughter and other ranches. A cowboy for the XIT, according to best reports, was the first person to plant cotton in Lamb county. His name was E. N. Burrus.

Established in 1908

Olton itself was established in 1908 when Lamb County was organized and it remained county seat until 1946. When Silcott first came to the town, in 1909, he remembers there was only one store. From those beginnings, Olton grew slowly and steadily.

"There have never been any booms to spur the town on," says Silcott. "It grew a little faster at times than at others, but on the average it has just seen a steady growth."

Olton now has four cotton gins which last year handled about 12,000 bales of cotton, the year before that about 18,000. From those figures it is not hard to see from where Olton gets its economy.

Enrollment in the public schools here, headed by Sup. J. T. Jones, was about 750 last year and will probably be higher this fall. A new $17,500 negro school building is planned for immediate construction, while a $10,000 remodeling program on two existing school buildings is to be done this summer. The schools have a faculty of 36.

Currently heading municipal Olton is Mayor "Lefty" Hollingsworth and Councilmen "Pink" Lawson and Clifton Hines. Under their guidance the town is looking ahead to "brighter tomorrows." V. L. Smith is city marshal and Louis O. Schreier is corporation judge. Gibb McAfee is water superintendent.

Another indication of the small city's growth in recent years is postal receipts figures released by Postmaster I. B. Holt. During 1950, for example, receipts climbed to the all-time high of $10,200 here, breaking the old record of $9,100, which itself was set the previous year.

New Record Seen

"From all indications, this year is going to far outstrip last year," Holt says confidently.

OPS Official to Be Here Monday

The Far West Texas district of the Office of Price Stabilization, in stepping up its price clinic day program, will send price specialists to more than 40 towns next week.

Lubbock district Price Executive C. J. Taylor said the expanded program is to assist all merchants in the 66-county district in bringing their respective firms into complete voluntary compliance with all the OPS pricing regulations.

Fidel Egge will be in Littlefield next Monday morning, June 11 to confer with all types of business men who have questions concerning applications of regulations. He is a price specialist in the Industrial Materials and Manufacturer's branch in the Lubbock district office, which includes this county.

Although the OPS representative has specialized in one branch, he will be able to answer most questions concerning all types of business, especially those who sell consumer services. He reminded that consumer services establishments under Ceiling Price Regulation 34, must file their ceiling prices and descriptions of each service with the district Office of Price Stabilization, Broadway Building, 1202 Texas Avenue, Lubbock, Texas not later than June 16.

Manufacturers, too, were reminded that they must file certain information with the Washington Office of Price Stabilization by July 2. Firms covered by Ceiling Price Regulations 22, 30 and 37 must file.

A price specialist from a different branch will be here on the same day of the week every week during June and July.

Dr. Weldon Meers Attends Fort Worth Baptist Meeting

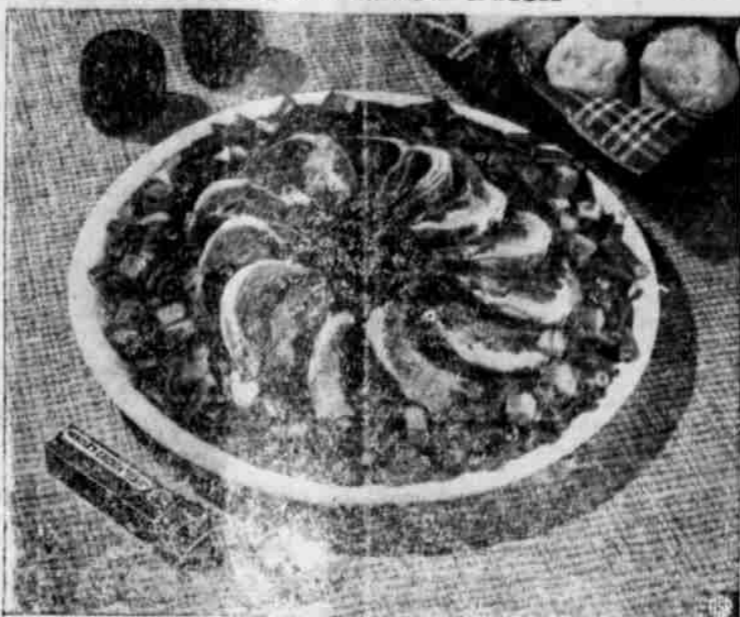

Dr. Weldon B. Meers attended two days of the annual Fellowship meeting of fundamental Baptist in the First Baptist Church, Fort Worth last week. He was called upon to deliver two messages to the congregation. Contributions of over thirty-four thousand dollars was made Friday to the Bible Baptist Seminary.

Olton also boasts, besides those things already mentioned, a grain elevator, a bakery, two theaters, frozen food lockers and similar establishments, as well as the Olton State bank, headed by President D. M. Granbery.

"It's a well rounded city that anyone could be proud to call home," is the official word from Mayor Hollingsworth.

A New Flavor Trick

A new instant chicken bouillon cube with a real chicken flavor recently made its bow on grocery shelves. The introduction of this magic cube is welcome news for it makes rich, real chicken bouillon in a flash! Just place the cube in a cup, add piping hot water and stir. Pronto! You have delicious chicken bouillon for any occasion.

And if you have vegetable eaters in your family, you can change all that by serving vegetables so flavorful that they cannot be resisted! For most vegetables, add just enough water to the soup to fill it to the depth of about 1/2 inch. Now add the chicken bouillon cube and bring the water to a boil, stirring once or twice to dissolve the cube. Add the vegetable, cover and cook until tender. This applies to quick-frozen vegetables as well as fresh—just follow package directions for the amount of water, add the cube and go ahead. The carrots in our menu are cooked this way and seasoned, after cooking, with butter, salt and pepper. And you will like our time-shortened recipe for Green Beans Country Style.

JAYCEE RODEO QUEEN ELECTION IS POSTPONED; ARENA IS UNDER WATER

These selections and the competition of the various entries, all mounted, were the highlighted pre-Rodeo activities scheduled and they have not been abandoned, only postponed.

The exact day they will be held will be announced in the Sunday issue of the Leader and will also be radio broadcast. They will be held at the earliest hour possible, depending on the speed with which the arena can be dried out.

The committee in charge, hoped to be able to hold the competitions possible. The queen contests are sponsored by the Roping Club, Gene Williams being the president and committee head.

Farm Labor Hourly Pay Rate Ruling Eased, But Pay Above 95 Cents Per Hour Requires Government Approval

Lamb County 4-H Rifle Team Places Second in Contest

Lamb County 4-H club rifle team placed second in the district shooting match held at Lubbock last Saturday morning, which was sponsored by the Texas A. and M. College Extension service. Lubbock county placed first.

The two teams won the right to represent the South Plains, synonymous with district 2 of the Texas A. and M. College Extension service.

The Lubbock team scored 783 out of a possible 1,200 and Lamb team scored 655. Floyd team placed third, Borden county, fourth place and Brownfield, fifth place.

Contestants fired 10 rounds from each of four positions—kneeling, sitting, standing and prone. Targets used were official national Rifle association targets. The Lamb County team scored as follows:

- Prone—Eugene Young 73; Donald Mouser 69; Charles Clark 45; Ronald Pace 79. Sitting Eugene Young 63; Donald Mouser 37; Charles Clark 51; Ronald Pace 65. Kneeling Eugene Young 33; Donald Mouser 45; Charles Clark 65; Ronald Pace 69. Standing, Eugene Young 42; Donald Mouser 17; Charles Clark 39; Ronald Pace 31. Total Eugene Young 211; Donald Mouser 168; Charles Clark 209; Ronald Pace 244. The total score was 655.

Each team was allowed to have four men firing. The scores of the highest three were counted in final totals.

Sgt. Joe Nichols Called Home

Sgt. Joe S. Nichols stationed on the front lines in Korea, is expected to arrive home this week end, due to the illness of his grandfather, A. M. Nichols, 75, who is in a serious condition, suffering from a heart ailment. He is a patient at Amherst Cooperative Hospital.

A difficult situation for farmers, employers of farm laborers, which was created when a ten per cent limitation was placed on pay raises for all workers, including farm labor has been eased by new rulings which have come out of Federal agencies in Washington.

Farmers are now permitted to pay as high as 95 cents per hour to their hired hands, regardless of what hourly rate they have paid in the past, ignoring in effect, the 10 per cent raise provisions of the law passed some weeks back.

But in any case where a farmer now pays, or in the past has paid at an hourly rate above 95 cents per hour, the 10 per cent raise provision still applies. If, for example, farm labor has been paid at the rate of $1.00 per hour now or in the past, the maximum raise legally permitted would be to $1.10 per hour.

In some specific cases, it has also been announced, by Wage Stabilization Board officials, some flexibility in this latter provision, is still possible, in specific hardship cases, but, any farmer who wishes to grant pay raises of more than 10 per cent above the 95 cents per hour base rate, must secure permission from the WCB offices, by addressing a request to that office in the Burkburnett Building, Fort Worth, Texas.

The newly announced regulations, were announced when it became apparent that with a very tight labor supply and larger than average plantings the rule in Texas, some relief would have to be granted to farmers if they were to secure necessary labor.

It can be repeated—farmers are relieved of the 10 per cent limitation on wages, which are not more than 95 cents per hour.

Students May Still Enroll in Emmanuel

Some of America's leaders of tomorrow are being trained for their important roles yet to be played as they attend Vacation Bible School, conducted at 417 West Third St. by the Emmanuel Lutheran Church. Teachers and pupils are thrilled over Bible School this year again as it through experienced instructors makes clear those principles upon which our nation was founded and upon which it alone will survive.

General theme may be summarized in the words "The God We Worship." This school will continue through the week of June 10, the closing date being set for June 15. Plans for the school's closing program are being formulated now. Children, desiring to attend may yet enroll, was the invitation extended by the school's superintendent, the Rev. H. A. Heckmann.

irrigated lands, and low points will not be workable for a week. Most farmers feel that it still is not too late to plant cotton here, but generally speaking, June 10 is figured to be the latest "safe" planting date for cotton. But, others point out that Plains has often made good cotton when planted in late June and occasionally on the first days of July.

Few farmers planned to shift their acreage to grain sorghum or of half a million dollars as the average cost of seeding this year is $5.00 per acre.

Littlefield got a measured 2.9 inches of rain in the two storms that hit here and Amherst got about the same. Earth reported above two inches, but north of that community between five and six inches of moisture was reported.

In both Littlefield and Amherst, neon signs were almost a total loss, windows were knocked out, roofs damaged, gardens demolished, cars outside were badly dented from hail made dents, birds were killed by hail stones and trees were semi-stripped of leaves.

Worst casualty in Littlefield was the J. E. Causson green houses, which had hundreds of panes of glass demolished, and broken glass strewn among the beautiful greenhouse plants and foliage and the flower garden was almost ruined. A new insurance policy just negotiated by the owner to replace one which expires on June 30, was therefore not in effect and the old expiring policy will only cover a fraction of the loss that the big greenhouses in the east end of the city. Damage will be in the thousands of dollars.

City Park lake, which has been undergoing pumping-out treatment to reduce the water level since the storm of three weeks ago, again went over its banks and water surged again across both Westlake Avenue and across West 6th St. to again flood homes across both streets from the park.

On the bright side of the storm picture, is the report from many sections, which received no hail and only moderate amounts of rain that were of actual and vast benefit to crops already up.

It is difficult to estimate the number of acres damaged, but in a general way the storm followed the Santa Fe Railroad tracks in the county, with heaviest damage south of the tracks.

Generally the storm ranged from east of Shallowater, where an inch of rain was reported, to Anton, where they got moderate hail and 1.35 inches of rain; Littlefield, heavy hail, and 2.90 inches of rain; Amherst heavy hail and 3.00 inches of rain; Sudan, 25 per cent hail damage and rain between 2 and 3 inches. Earth, heavy rain; Olton, 25 inches rain, no hail; Springlake, 50 inches moisture, no hail; Spade reported extensive hail damage but reports were not complete; Morton reported no rain or hail, but said the storm damage might be heavy in south Bailey county.

Southwestern Public Service, reported only negligible damage, and no interruption of service; telephone line damage was minor and only a comparative few local power lines out on account of rain storage interference.

Leader reporters endeavored to contact all of the communities of the county by phone shortly after noon Wednesday and following we have a list of summary of the first-hand reports from the worst areas to get:

Sudan—Preston Hawks, editor Susan Beacon said consensus of opinion there is 25 per cent reporting but necessary. Drew reason big acreage farmer estimated as high as 80 per cent necessary. Heaviest damage north-east of Sudan. Hail that did most damage in first of two storms, caused damage in town, neon signs, sidewalks, but few roofs damaged.

County Agent's Office—assistant County Agent said they were checking the county. Reported that he had just talked with Kay Blessing, who reported neither of his two farms damaged.

Fieldton—Mrs. W. J. Aldridge reported an inch of rain or better and no hail. No damage to crop and rain beneficial. Highway 51 reported blocked between Littlefield and Springlake.

Morton—Homer Thompson County Agent said that Morton received no rain and no hail. 180,000 acres planted to cotton, all up and in good stand and shape. Heavy rainfall north in Bailey county.

Earth—White Griffiths, with Kelley Hardware reported that Earth received two inches of rain, while northwest five or six inches was reported. Heaviest moisture about issue, featured a story about the southern publisher, titled "The Crusading Editor." He was named by the magazine "Dixie Business," as one of the "fifty leading businessmen of the South."

9:30 p. m. Re-planting necessity was divided. Some farmers in town early stated that they would have to re-plant, while others believed they would be able to save their present planted crops. Damage was from moisture only, with little or no hail.

Olton—I. B. Holt, postmaster said Olton got only a quarter inch of moisture and no hail and crop conditions very good. (Sure sorry to hear about the heavy hail at Littlefield) Springlake received half an inch and Circle about the same.

Anton—T. O. Ellis, Santa Fe agent reported that Anton received 1.35 inch of rain, with very little hail. Rain was general over Anton trade area. Shallowater reported 1.10 inch of moisture. Reports coming into town that both rain and hail had done considerable damage at Spade.

Littlefield—Vic Bullman, official weatherman at Western Cotton Oil Mill, reported official 2.90 inches of rain here. He refused to state whether the rains were over or make a prediction—but "feared the rains still were not over." The 2.90 inches received during Tuesday night, brings the total moisture for the year to 11.20 inches.

4-H DAIRY FOODS DEMONSTRATION BUILDS UP FOR JUNE PEAK ACTIVITY

More than 385,000 4-H Club members are eligible to participate in the 1951 National 4-H Dairy Foods Demonstration program. June, the dairy month, when milk production hits its annual high, quickens interest and activity among boys and girls throughout the country. "Showing by doing," is a must and members are now giving their original demonstrations in counties and districts, to qualify for competition in the state finals, which will be held from July through September.

The 4-H'ers create uses for dairy foods and then demonstrate to others their methods of preparation. Public interest in the consumption of milk and milk products is also stimulated by these enthusiastic young people.

All awards in this program are provided by the Carnation Company. Gold-filled medals are presented to county winners, while each state winner, both individual and team, receives a 17-jewel wrist watch. Eight national champions chosen from the state finalists, will receive a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress to be held in Chicago next November.

Last year's watch winners in Texas were Wilma Strickland, Chireon, Individual and Dorothy Burrell, Castroville and Mary Benede, Devine, team. Medals were awarded to 49 members in the state.

This program is supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service.

LaQuita Dillingham Is Awarded Scholarship to Mills College

LaQuita Dillingham, daughter of Mrs. James Dillingham, 467 Apricot Street, Visalia, California, formerly of California, has been awarded a scholarship to Mills College, according to a letter received by the administration last Friday from the scholarship committee of Mills.

She will enroll in Mills College next fall, where she will major in library study.

In the news item from Visalia, California newspaper sent the Leader by Mrs. Dillingham, the following appeared:

"LaQuita Dillingham, sophomore student here at COS, is to be the recipient of a $600 scholarship to Mills College, according to a letter received by the administration last Friday from the scholarship committee of Mills.

"Miss Dillingham said she was very surprised to receive this award since she had only faint hopes of being a winner. According to her, the winning of this scholarship was undoubtedly due to the excellent recommendations given by Madame Charpentier, Miss Betty Stewart and Mr. Harold Fischer, Littlefield.

"Born in Texas and now residing in Tulare, she attended Tulare High School where she was active in student activities. She was a member of the California Scholarship Federation, the Forensic club, the debate team, and the art staff of the Tulare H. S. newspaper. She is also a member of the Nu Phi Mu sorority.

"Majoring in history and planning to become a librarian, she is very pleased to be able to continue her education at Mills. She plans to work part time at library work to help meet the other expenses.

"Reading is considered by her as an 'unofficial' hobby. For outdoor activities she enjoys swimming and horseback riding. Social dancing is another one of her favorites."

Mrs. Dillingham's letter, which will be of interest to her many friends in this area, is as follows:

"Hope you folks haven't forgotten us. Lamb County still seems like home to us. We lived there so long. We had your paper sent out here to us for several years. Am sending some clippings of our daughter. Would like for you to run them in your paper. There are so many of our friends whom we would like to know about her good luck. We like California very much. Still love Texas."

Children Under 16 May Be Employed

Congressman George Mahon has just introduced a bill in Congress, which has for its purpose the easing of the Federal ban on the employment of school children, under 16 years of age, during school hours, during the period of harvesting basic crops, such as cotton, and has advised agricultural agencies and farm organizations in his District, that he feels and believes that farmers feel, that the regulation of child labor in farming areas, is primarily a matter which should be regulated by the states and communities and not by the Federal government.

In his letter, he is highly cognizant of the fact that if the Plains country produces the expected and governmentally requested, big cotton crop this year, a major problem will be the labor problem during cotton harvest. His letter continues:

"You will recall the difficulties which arose during the cotton harvest last year by reason of the Senate Amendment to a labor bill which prohibited children under 16 years of age for assisting in the crop harvest during school hours. This Amendment tended to disrupt the schools and interfere with the cotton harvest. Also, it denied the Mexican families an opportunity to earn the money which would tend to give them more economic security and more educational opportunity. I think most Texans definitely share my view that the question of school attendance is a problem for the state and local communities and not for the federal government—and that the states and communities can do a better job in solving this problem.

"The present law provides no restrictions as to the employment of children in agriculture outside school hours. The prohibition relates to the hours when school is in session.

"I have introduced a bill in Congress which provides that children under 16 may be employed during school hours for the harvesting of basic crops such as cotton. Other Members of Congress have introduced bills of somewhat similar nature. Our object is to secure approval of some suitable change in the present law. It is impossible to foresee what Congress may do with my bill or with the other pending bills, but I wanted to make this report in regard to developments. I shall continue to seek to be of all possible service in this important matter.

"The government is calling upon us to produce a 16-million-bale cotton crop. If we produce a good crop, it will be absolutely necessary.

High Cost of National Security

The cumulative total of the President's request for our own national defense program and foreign military and economic aid for the next fiscal year is $68.5 billion, an impressive figure that shows the cost of our national security is running high even in a state short of war. Preparedness to prevent aggression is moving in the direction of the peak expenditures of about $100 billion a year in World War II.

Russia has forced us into this most staggering rearmament race in history. Our decision, well founded on harsh lessons of national unpreparedness before two world wars, has been our own. Having committed ourselves to a firm stand against Communist aggression, we logically must bear its cost. If the meaning of billions is intangible to the average person, his appreciation of such outlays will be clearer when taxes for financing defense and foreign aid come due.

The implementation of a strong foreign policy required congressional authorization of $6 billion for arms and economic assistance to our allies in the current fiscal year. For the next year, the same purposes. The argument in Congress, according to present signs, will be more over the apportionment of this aid between Europe and Asia than over the amount. There has been little inclination to recapitulate the total outlay abroad since the war, but some estimates have run as high as $100 billion.

The harsh fact reflected in persisting foreign aid is that our once powerful allies, such as Britain and France have retrograded into second-rate world powers. The ordeal of aggression in two world wars was responsible primarily for that decline. In the circumstances the President, in urging foreign arms and economic aid, warns that we do not wish to revert into another dark age. It is obvious that another World War would about finish off civilization as we know it.

The immensity of our preparedness program, including assistance to allies, and the prolonged duration of the world crisis demand that Congress and the administration effect every possible economy in federal spending without prejudice to our national security. Yet even after this is done, the cost of the rearmament race will be a staggering burden upon the American people.

Reports on the projected foreign arms aid program state that $6.2 billion next year will be spent for planes, tanks, guns and other military items manufactured in the United States for shipment abroad. The same will be true of the $60 billion defense program in most of its details. The redistribution of wealth for national security will lead to greater production and employment, which are signs of prosperity.

However, the $66.2 billion for military requirements will flow into non-productive goods, causing a serious imbalance between consumer supply and demand. That imbalance will be a terrific force for inflation, as to which due warning has been given. There will be no national security with economic insecurity—only with full economic stability. Again we find that the defense and home fronts are indivisible, as in World War II, and we must readjust ourselves to that fact. This is a part of the cost of national security.

Vegetable Growers Can Get Aid

Texas farm youth were told today they can make a direct contribution to the nation's defense program by taking part in this year's production-marketing contest of the National Junior Vegetable Growers Association.

"Secretary of Agriculture Brannan has called for greatly increased vegetable gardening," said John E. Hutchinson, extension horticulturist at Texas A. and M. College, "and I feel this contest, teaching more efficient methods of growing and selling vegetables, will be very helpful in building up adequate reserves of food supplies for emergencies."

In announcing opening of the NJVGA's eleventh annual competition, Hutchinson pointed out that it ties in directly with the Department of Agriculture's effort at an expansion of vegetable gardening in all states will contribute material strength to national defense efforts.

"With per capita vegetable consumption now more than 20 per cent above prewar levels and our population steadily increasing, it's easy to see the value of such a program," he said.

Hutchinson, who serves as the association's state adult advisor, said all Texas farm youths from 12 through 21 are eligible to compete in this contest, for which A and P Food Stores annually provides $5,000 in cash agricultural scholarships. "Actually," he explained, "besides getting fine training in vegetable growing and selling and an opportunity to win one of more than 200 awards this contest offers, contestants will aid defense efforts in two ways.

"First of all, the crops from the plot each contestant must plant, cultivate, harvest and market in order to compete in this event will add to our supply of healthy, nutritious foods. In addition, adults who learn of the fine results these boys and girls achieve through the use of modern, scientific methods, will be encouraged to adopt similar practices. The result can only be a bigger and better vegetable crop throughout the nation."

Any young gardener may enroll in the NJVGA's production-marketing contest by contacting 4-H Club leaders, county agents, instructors in vocational agriculture or numerous other farm youth leaders who are cooperating with the association in enrolling members. Youths may join also by writing directly to Hutchinson at Texas A. and M. College, College Station.

In addition to the production-marketing contest, the 1951 program will include the annual demonstration contest, in which individuals or teams compete in demonstrating new methods of planting, cultivating, marketing or preparing vegetables. Journeys to the annual NJVGA convention for winners of state contests and cash awards to top performers in the national finals, are offered by the W. Atlee Burpee Company for this event.

Texas farm youths won four awards in the 1950 production-marketing contest. They were Max A. Thomason of Jacksonville and Lawanda Vinson of Tuscola, who captured $100 sectional championships and Syble J. Wall, Chireno and Mildred Gregson, Amherst, who won state awards.

OPS Meat Ceiling Prices to Be Posted By June 18

The nation's more than 300,000 meat markets will have until June 18 to post official OPS retail beef ceiling price lists, the Lubbock District Office of Price Stabilization announced this week. This county is in the Lubbock district.

Because of delays in printing the official lists, the agency extended the posting requirement for two weeks from June 4. Retail ceiling prices above which retailers cannot charge for beef went into effect May 14 and posting of the official ceilings had been scheduled to begin within 20 days.

Although the retail beef posting time is being extended until June 18, retailers have been required since May 14 to display their individual prices for cuts of beef by grades. These prices must not be more than the ceiling price. When the official lists are available, housewives will have a readily available check that these prices are not in excess of official OPS ceilings.

The 8 by 17-inch posters in black ink on white paper are now being prepared by the government printing office. There will be 54 different charts—one for each of the three groups of retailers in the 18 retail zones into which the nation is divided.

The posters, which carry the title, "Retail Ceiling Prices for Beef," are expected to be available in the Lubbock OPS District Office well in advance of the June 18 deadline. That date has been selected to make sure that an adequate supply will be available in all district offices.

As soon as copies are received by district offices they will start mailing them to retailers who have filed OPS Public Form No. 5. Additional copies of the lists may be obtained from district offices.

OPS Form 5 is the one on which a retailer notifies the OPS of the group into which his store falls—Group 1, 2, 3 or 4. Since most retailers of meat also handle groceries, most of them filed OPS Form 5 when the grocery ceiling price regulations, CPR 15 and CPR 16, were issued and have their classifications.

Retailers may display the price lists as soon as they get their copies from the district office.

They may use either the official list which will be furnished free or one that is an exact copy of the official OPS list if the printing is legible and at least as large.

The price list must be placed at or near where the meat is sold and where customers can readily see and read it. At least one list must be posted for each 20 feet of meat counter space.

Price officials also called attention of those firms who sell consumer services that their deadline for filing ceiling prices is June 18. The sellers of such services are required by ceiling price regulation 34 to post their ceiling prices in their place of business and mail a duplicate copy to the Office of Price Stabilization, Broadway Building, 1202 Texas Avenue, Lubbock, Texas.

This list must also carry an adequate description of each service performed. Among the firms and services included in the regulation which has been in effect more than two weeks, are: Barbers and beauticians; auto, radio and household appliance repairs; laundry and dry cleaning and tailor shops;

AUTHOR Of the Week

By W. G. ROGERS

Bruno E. Werner, in his novel "The Slave Ship" uses some incidents from his own experiences as a German hunted by Hitler in the Reich, but his purpose, he says, was to show the "courage, cowardice, suffering and dying" of people not as we see them in history and in propaganda, but "as they really are." He was drama and art critic of the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung when Hitler came to power, turned to editing an art magazine, was forced underground in 1944. Occupation authorities cleared him for newspaper work and he has been arts editor of the American-sponsored Neue Zeitung in Munich. He has been in this country for two months on a government-sponsored tour. He began his novel, he says, in his Berlin home in 1943, and kept at it there though air raids blew out the windows and blew off the roof.

Texas Motorists Hike Gas Tax By $222,500,000

Impatience, negligence and incompetence—the three cardinal sins of the gasoline wastrel—are costing Texas motorists more than $222,500,000 annually or about $87 for each vehicle owner, according to a recently published study by one of America's topflight automotive engineers.

After a series of controlled mileage tests lasting more than a year, Leimar G. Ross, former president of the Society of Automotive Engineers, has concluded that the average motorist gets less than half the motoring miles he should out of a gallon of gasoline.

The primary causes of gasoline wastage says Mr. Ross, who is also vice-president of Willys-Overland Motors, are speed, mechanical negligence and sloppy driving habits.

"Speed alone cuts mileage almost in half," Mr. Ross says. "In carefully controlled tests over a measured mile, a Willys station wagon consistently averaged 31 miles per gallon at 30 miles an hour. However, at 60 miles an hour, mileage was cut considerably."

Leading a list of "mechanical sins" lumped in Mr. Ross' study under "negligence" are faulty spark settings, cylinder compression and tire pressures. Each of these factors cuts gasoline efficiency between three and six per cent—and costs the motorist between one and two cents extra for each mile he drives.

"Tire pressure is a good example of the high price of carelessness," Mr. Ross says. "When tire pressures were four pounds lower than they should be, the station wagon averaged one mile less per gallon of gas. At average gasoline prices this bit of carelessness alone would cost the motorist more than a penny a mile."

Other common mechanical faults affecting fuel mileage are dirty air filters, dragging brakes and improper wheel alignment.

"As for driving habits," Mr. Ross declares, "the two worst gas wasters—outside of habitual speeding—are jack rabbit starts and quick stops. Violent pressures on the accelerator squirt gasoline into the cylinders faster than it can be used efficiently, while sudden stops waste momentum already built up by expended fuel, in addition to wearing out brake linings."

Mr. Ross' figures on gasoline wastage in Texas were based on current gasoline prices in the state, number of miles "got" per gallon of gas by the average motorist and the latest available state-wide mileage figures released by the National Safety Council.

BERMESE REDS ASK "DONATIONS"

RANGOON —(AP)—The Burma Communist Party has ordered hinterland farmers to "donate" five per cent of their earnings toward an "aircraft fund" the party is raising, according to a report from Menywa, Chindwin river town 80 miles west of Mandalay. The report said the communist have also threatened villagers with "severe reprisals" if they aid loyalist troops.

60,000 Dairy Farmers to Coordinate Activities During Dairy Month of June

60,000 dairy farmers will coordinate their activities during Dairy Month in June in an effort designed to bring back stronger than ever on the nation's dinner tables butter, milk and other dairy products, James Kizer, President of the American Dairy Association of Texas and San Antonio dairyman, said this week.

Kizer said that during Dairy Month, Texas dairymen will promote the ADA's "Set-Aside Time" campaign. They will set-aside funds at the rate of a penny per pound of butterfat delivered during the 30 days in June.

These funds will be used in providing nationwide year 'round advertising and merchandising activities of the American Dairy Association, Kizer said. A budget of $1,500,000 for this purpose has been outlined—and Texas dairy farmers are expected to raise their proportionate share through the "Set-Aside" campaign.

Kizer cited the business objectives of the ADA promotional campaign as (1) prompting greater understanding of dairying and its products and (2) promoting greater public acceptance and use of all other dairy foods.

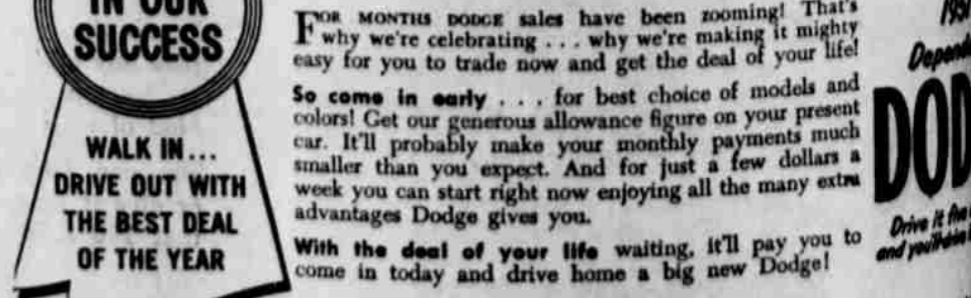

He said the ADA merchandising and advertising campaign will be keyed to the expansion of the nation's markets for milk, cream, cheese, ice cream, evaporated and dry milk.

"Recovery of the markets for butter will be one of the ADA's big undertakings in coming months," Kizer said. "Today's per capita consumption of butter is at the 11 lb. level compared to 17 lbs. prior to the war."

"Pennies set-aside in June, as used by ADA, provide twelve-for-one returns," Kizer added. "First comes 12 month of advertising activities for one month's set-aside in June. Secondly, for every dollar invested by ADA, related food manufacturers spend at least twelve additional dollars in dairy food advertising."

One of the primary promotional campaigns nationwide broadcast by Voice of the Dairy program is pointed at the home and abroad. It discusses the effects of milk and consumers of milk as: rollbacks, subsidies, ports, production and power supply for factories and other uses with the family.

A. W. Ormand of Sudan helped direct a host of planters on Weldon Schaffer's farm Monday of last week. Weldon has been staying with his mother who is seriously ill and decided to hire the planting done this year.
 However, Doyle Terrell showed his neighborliness by planting 50 acres for Schaffer after he had finished planting his own farms.

It took the crew a little over 13 hours to plant the 300 acres.

Germans To Revive Gliders

By HANNS NEUERBOURG
AP Newsfeatures
FRANKFORT, Germany—Fifty thousand West German glider pilots are going to soar again for the first time since the war.
An about-face in Allied policy permits revival of sport gliding, which has been banned as a military security hazard since Germany was occupied in 1945. Only last year, British authorities prohibited even model-glider contests, claiming they violated Allied regulations against German aeronautics.
In 1951, however, the western powers have gone so far as to discuss formation of a West German tactical air force for European defense. Model flying also is again tolerated.
The new West German "Aero Klub" now has a membership of 17,000 and it is swiftly rising. The total of veteran glider pilots is 50,000. Soviet-occupied East Germany formally revived gliding a year ago, proclaiming it a mass sport for Communist youths.
Many West German gliding enthusiasts were invited to the Soviet Zone to fly their gliders. Germans entered Germany's own air force while kept on jet-propelled gliders.
Historically, gliding was man as the Dostoyevski author of "Blastings of Aviation," was a pilot. He was killed in his "Ikaros" glider on flight of 400 yards.
Germans remembered and revived gliding cause the Versailles treaty prohibited motorized gliders the same year. A German glider pilot, Hans Klemperer set the world record on the "Wasserfall" famous soaring record. Klemperer stayed 22 minutes and 22 seconds.
German Ernst Juchacz claims today the world soaring 55 hours and over the East Prussia record on the "Wasserfall" in 1943. But his record was invalid by the International Aeronautic Federation. His plane was flown during the

Drugs Help Save Runty Pigs

AP Newsfeatures
LIBERTVILLE, Ill. — Farmers now can save runty pigs and fatten them on a special food formula spiked with antibiotics.

Dr. W. N. McMillen, former research scientist at Michigan State College of Agriculture, discovered the new feed. He devised the formula after studying the growth of 3,500 pigs over a five-year period.

His discovery helps runty pigs make hogs of themselves so they can go to market about the same time as the others of the litter. It may become one of the largest nutritional strides yet made in the history of hog raising. McMillen now is on the research staff of Allied Mills, Inc. The Company maintains a 600-acre Research Farm near here.

High protein foods are used in the feed mixture. A proper balance of antibiotics, such as aureomycin, terramycin and penicillin, is added. Vitamin B-12 is an important ingredient. Several of the B-vitamins and riboflavin are included in the feed to prevent nutritional disorders in pigs, McMillen said.

The new feed is prepared in pellet form. Pigs relish it; it seems to stimulate their appetite. In experiments, the new feed was fed to a group of runty pigs the same age as another group of pigs fed a well-balanced pig ration. At the end of 30 days, it was found the runts fed the standard pig ration put on 5.7 pounds per pig. The runts fed the new ration gained 28.2 pounds each.

"My research findings prove that about 80 per cent of the annual crop of 15,000,000 runts can be saved," Dr. McMillen said.

MESQUITE REMOVAL—Pilot Paul Gardner accidentally demonstrated a new method of eradicating mesquite when his plane crashed into one of the trees. Gardner was spraying on the D. I. W. Birnie ranch in the rugged Cap Rock foothill country 16 miles northwest of Matador when his plane was caught in thermal activity and crashed. Gardner was not hurt. The next day he continued spraying of the mesquite-infested rangeland in Motley county with another airplane.
