It's a big Friday tomorrow for all ex-students and ex-teachers of Littlefield's schools as the second annual Homecoming takes place.

And that's possibly the biggest feature of any homecoming... the football game with the half-time ceremonies and the crowning of the Homecoming Queen.

Although we're not exes of Littlefield schools, there's something exciting about Homecoming... there is a scent of excitement in the air.

Chairman of the Christmas Stocking Festival Joe Fenn makes a plea for you Littlefield merchants to return those cards he sent out last week and some money, indicating your support and co-operation in staging this big event.

It isn't fair to make Joe's committee get out and go door to door, begging for the money... when it's so easy for the merchant to return that little card, indicating what he will give.

New Oil Pool Opened With Wildcat At Anton

ANTON - A new oil pool was opened here Monday with the potential of Texas Company's wildcat, the No. 1 K. W. Wells project. The discovery well is one-half mile west of Anton. It was completed as a pumper for 182 barrels of oil plus three per cent basic sediment and water on a 24-hour test.

Informal observers here believe an offset will be staked, but the Texas Company has released no information regarding the project. Gravity of the oil in the discovery was 27.6 degrees API. Texaco is allowed to pump 140 barrels a day from the well by the Railroad Commission. Oil production is from the Clear Fork section. The oil horizon was perforated from 6,502.10, 6,516.28, 6,532.62 and 6,572.80 feet and stimulated with 7,000 gallons of acid.

Nearest production to the new field is 3 1/2 miles northeast in the lush Anton-Irish (Clear Fork) field, and is four miles south-southeast of a small pumping Clear Fork discovery, dubbed the Anton, North field. Offsetting of the well, if it comes, is expected to be along an east-west line running through Anton or between the new discovery and the Anton-Irish field.

The wildcat was drilled to a total depth of 11,778 feet into granite and then plugged back to 6,538 feet in the Clear Fork after the lower section of the hole was tested and found barren of commercial production. The discovery well is located 1,980 feet from south and east lines of Section 112, Block A-36, R. M. Thompson survey on a 100-acre lease.

men are able to operate a highly productive 200-acre farm. In Russia a similar farm would require many workers.

Khrushchev Didn't Boast

Khrushchev boasted about Russia's Sputniks, moon rockets, military weapons and industrial progress, but he was frank to admit that we are far ahead of Russia in agriculture.

It amazed him to learn that in the United States only 12 per cent of the people live on farms and that each produces enough to feed and clothe nine people in this country and still leave enough to meet the needs of one person in a foreign country.

Khrushchev didn't say so, but in Russia six out of every ten people live on farms. Each Russian farmer doesn't produce enough to feed himself and one person in the cities. That's quite a contrast.

Russia has an area double that of the United States, but her productive farm land is about the same as in this country. Although Russian mechanization of farming has made great strides in recent years, more than half of all farm work is hand labor.

Although no reliable figures are available, it is known that the American diet is considerably superior to that in Russia. We, for example, consume twice as much meat, milk and eggs per capita as the Russians.

Surplus Worries

Khrushchev's remarks in Iowa made a lot of people wonder whether our surpluses are as much of a burden as we seem to think they are. They are far less a worry than not quite enough would be.

In this country we produce only about 7 per cent more food than we consume. In Russia, according to the most reliable information, food production is at least 20 per cent below that needed to provide a diet equal to that of this country.

Ours is one of the few countries in the world where the constant threat of hunger, if not actual hunger, is not a problem. It is the only country where farmers are constantly criticized for their productive efficiency. In other countries they are praised.

Americans eat better than 9 out of every 10 people in the rest of the world, and for a smaller percentage of their income. If Khrushchev's visit taught us anything, it should be that we ought to be thankful for the best farmers in the world.

Like some newspaper columns, newspaper advertising can be copyrighted.

In 1903 Justice Oliver W. Holmes declared that advertisements could be owned and copyrighted even without having any special literary or artistic merit.

An author, business, or agency that puts work and skill into an ad can protect it as a rule with a "general notice of copyright."

One publisher made special road maps for an advertiser, and got them copyrighted; the court held that the advertiser couldn't sell these maps to a rival publisher.

In another case a clever picture ran in one ad. The court told a competitor he couldn't use the same picture for his ad. You cannot copyright some things such as a list of names publicly available or an ad so common it lacks uniqueness.

Most ads are "owned" by the advertiser, not the newspaper or magazine.

Ads which are run to get business may also create property right in a "trade name" of great value to a business even without a copyright.

Besides, a business or product name itself may often be copyrighted. Now and then, unfortunately, a company name may become so well known that without proper protection it can lapse into the common language and lose its character as property. Trying to gain from someone else's ads may well get you in trouble.

It can be a crime for anyone to violate a copyright on purpose, and he may have to pay money damages covering all his profits. And then some.

False or misleading ads can cause loss or suspension of certain business licenses; the post office sometimes gets rough if someone uses the mails to advertise fraudulently.

Of course ads aim to brag about one's product which is well known by the public and therefore, within limits, such "puffing" is allowed.

ed. But the Federal Trade Commission often stops certain advertisements if they are false or misleading especially as to factual claims.

Teacher Writes A Letter

What can an individual do about problems like school needs and insufficient tax revenue? Sometimes a great deal, Miss Louise Johnson, a school teacher at Wayne, N.J., is proof of this and her story as reported by the New York Times is worth repeating.

Last spring many people read that Alpine, N.J., had rebuffed the American Cyanamid Company when it sought to move part of its offices there from New York City. Most people shrugged off the news. Cyanamid is a big firm. It makes 6,000 chemical products, ranging from antibiotics to fertilizers, and big real estate operators undoubtedly were offering other sites.

Miss Johnson, who teaches music in the Wayne public schools, however, did not shrug it off. She sat down and wrote Cyanamid a letter.

"My identity is immaterial," she began, "except to say that I am a teacher who is anxious to have good schools, and sound educational programs, found only in communities where the tax burden is shared by industrial and residential tax income.

This is sent to you entirely on my own behalf, for it seems a shame you must struggle to convince Alpine of the benefits of your expansion program. You would not have to convince Wayne. They will welcome you with open arms."

As a result of her letter, Cyanamid is starting work on an $8,000,000 administrative center at Wayne. Based on present tax rates, it will pay the township $200,000 a year in taxes, three-fourth of which will go to the public schools.

Being addicted to writing, we are happy that this good was initiated by a letter. The written word has not lost its power to communicate, to appeal, to persuade. We also like the way Cyanamid's scientist-managers handled the letter.

They did not lose it, ignore it or brush it off—but dealt with it on its merits. The story leaves the heartening feeling that in America it is possible for the smallest and least known person to deal with a great company with dispatch and satisfaction.

Fact And Opinion

Henry Hazlitt writes in Newsweek: "Contrary to a widely held opinion, 'fact-finding' does not unerringly indicate what the 'right' settlement of a wage dispute should be. There is no scientific formula by which we can determine a 'correct' price or a 'just' wage. In a free economy, prices and wages are determined by supply and demand. Competition and comparative incentives determine particular wages, prices, and cost-price relationships. It is failure to recognize that than brings political pressures for compulsory arbitration. This would lead directly into government wage—and price-fixing, throw every wage and price into politics, and finally produce the suffocating controls of a totalitarian economy.

Here's how the average consumer dollar was spent last year, according to the Department of Commerce: Housing 13 per cent; food, beverages and tobacco 29 per cent; clothing 8 per cent; household operation 6 per cent; furnishings and household equipment 6 per cent; automobiles and parts, gas and oil, 9 per cent; transportation 3 per cent; miscellaneous 26 per cent.

Postmaster General Summerfield told a Senate subcommittee of the obscenity in the mails problems. According to him, as many as 1 million children—one out of every 35 children of school age—will receive "pornographic filth in the family mailbox" this year. In the 1959 fiscal year, his department received more than 70,000 complaints, mostly from parents, as against 50,000 a year earlier. He says that tighter laws are needed.

Two atomic powered submarines capable of firing the Polaris missile from sub or surfaced positions have been launched—the George Washington and the Patrick Henry.

According to National Petroleum News, gasoline demand is expected to rise again in 1960. But with the forecast that two out of every seven cars sold will be smaller ones, oil marketers will have to wait to see how big the gain will be.

AUSTIN — Rural and small town residents will have an advantage over their city cousins when the new auto insurance rating plan goes into effect Jan 1.

Under the new system worked out by the State Board of Insurance, a driver's auto insurance premiums will be raised or lowered according to his driving record. Each accident or ticket for a moving traffic violation puts a "black mark" on the driver's record and moves his insurance premiums up a notch.

In the congested streets of the larger cities, one wrong move, even if unintentional, often brings a ticket or a crumpled fender or both. In most small towns, the local lawman is not usually too exercised if one of his friends and neighbors makes a U-turn on the main street.

Purpose of the plan is to put the biggest part of the burden for insurance payments on the people who bring on the most damage and expense. People who have a history of numerous traffic violations, according to Department of Public Safety Statistics, are the ones who have the most accidents.

It is also hoped, of course, that the plan will encourage careful driving with its cash incentive. Drivers with no record of an accident or violation for the past three years will get a 20 per cent reduction in their insurance rates. Drivers with one point against them will pay current rates.

Those with from one to five points against them will pay increased rates on a sliding scale, and those with six or more points will pay through the nose—double rates.

Some activities will be very expensive, point-wise. Drunken driving, hit-and-run driving and negligent homicide will cost four points. An accident with damage over $25 brings two points; running a red light, only one point.

In most cases, the effect of a violation on insurance premiums will hurt the pocketbook worse than the usual times.

STILL AT IT—For the umpteenth time, Texas' high-powered legal talent has gone to Washington to do battle for the state's tidelands before the United States Supreme Court.

Gov. Price Daniel and Atty. Gen. Will Wilson head the team presenting Texas' claim that it owns the submerged lands for three leagues—or nearly 10 miles—into the Gulf. Federal attorneys argue that the state owns the land only three miles out.

Former Supreme Court Justice James P. Hart and J. Chrys Dougherty, a former assistant attorney general, also went to Washington to join in the presentation.

Other Gulf Coast states which are "in the same boat" with Texas as on the tidelands issue are also participating in the now historic struggle.

SAUNDERS ASKS RE-TRIAL — Former Insurance Commissioner J. Byron Saunders is asking for a new trial of the perjury charges against him.

Saunders was convicted in an Austin district court and sentenced to two years in prison.

He was accused of having lied to a legislative investigating committee as to why the now-bankrupt ICT Insurance Co., paid him $7,000 while he was insurance Commissioner Saunders consented the money was payment for his interest in oil royalties on a piece of property he sold the company.

It is the first time in the history of the state that a person has been charged with perjury as a result of statements to a legislative committee. Saunders' attorneys have vowed to take it all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court if necessary.

PANEL ON AGING — Sen. Crawford Martin of Hillsboro has been named to head the Governor's Conference on Aging.

This group will study problems of elderly people and take the state's report to the 1961 White House Conference on Aging.

Also named by Gov. Daniel to the panel are State Welfare Commissioner John Winters; State Health Commissioner J. E. Peavy; State Employment Commissioner Perry Brown; Dr. C. J. Ruhlmann, state director of mental health and hospitals; and Jess Irwin, the governor's budget director. Also, Mrs. Williams B. Ruggles, Herbert Shore and Eldred Thomas, all of Dallas.

GIBBS RE-CALLED — Joe P. Gibbs has, for the third time, been tapped to join the high command of the State Board of Insurance.

Gibbs was appointed by Gov. Daniel to succeed Board Member David B. Irons who will leave Nov. 1 to join a Dallas law firm. Irons said his resignation was not triggered by the Department's recent difficulties with the Legislature which cut salaries of top officials.

Gibbs served as an insurance commissioner from 1941 to 1952 as an appointee of Govs. W. Lee O'Daniel and Beauford Jester. He served again from 1957 through February, 1958, after Gov. Daniel

Glad To Learn Quiz Folks Just Ordinary After All

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm views the quiz show scandals this week.

Dear editor: I'm not exactly a television fan, television programs don't turn up out here like newspaper, people can't hand you a television program like they can a newspaper, but nonetheless I manage to look at a few programs now and then and I was interested in reading in a newspaper I borrowed out of my neighbor's mail box yesterday that Congress has been investigating the quiz programs which were so popular last year on television.

As I understand it, several contestants have testified that the answers were given to them before they went on the air.

Now this has struck some people as outrageous, they think something ought to be done to the television producers who worked such a fraud on the public.

I disagree with this attitude completely. Personally, I am very satisfied to learn that some of the contestants claim they were given the answers ahead of time.

I watched those people rattle off answers to almost impossible questions, week after week, and their vast store of knowledge was making people like you and me, at least me, feel inferior. It just wasn't human to have that many facts crammed in your head.

It's a pleasure to me to get this thing brought to light. As for working a fraud on the possibly in their pocket everybody knows the TV westerns use them never was a woman some man wouldn't everybody knows there hats that the only way brag on them is to lie. There's nothing wrong kum, as long as the it's holcum. Congress know that.

SOLITARY SAILS

In the last glow of the sunset, this sailboat seems to be alone in the vastness of the sea. And yet it isn't. Were this boat suddenly to get into trouble, helping hands would swiftly come to the rescue.

So it is with life. At times you may feel very much alone—yet in reality you are not. For if you didn't have a single friend in the world, you would have the Church.

The Church welcomes everyone—and that's a pretty big thing when you stop to think about it. It means that always there is a door open to you. You have but to turn the knob.

Chart a new course for yourself. Start going to church. When you do, you'll find that your voyage through life has acquired fresh purpose.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE NEW COMPACT luxury car, the new 1960 Ambassador V-8 by Rambler, is high in a new exterior and interior styling. A new three-seat station wagon has been added to the line, which includes a super and custom sedan and two-seat station wagon, a hardtop sedan and station wagon, all with four doors.

New Rambler On Display At Ray Keeling Today

Fresh sculptured styling display at Ray Keeling Buick station wagon. The new models are slightly shorter than comparable 1959 models but will have the same roomy interior dimensions, including five-foot-wide seats for six passengers. The more compact exteriors will permit even greater parking ease and maneuverability, Abernethy said.

FOR BEST RESULTS IN SERIAL SPRAYING — SEE — Lawkeye Spraying DON AVERY — 867-J OR MURDOCK HOTEL — 7

Overall length of both the 1960 sedan and station wagon is less than 16 feet (189.5 inches), making the Rambler more than 1-2-3 feet shorter than other top-selling cars. Horsepower of the Rambler Six will remain at 127, while the Rebel V-8 has been reduced to 200 horsepower for increased fuel economy. Optional power-packs will increase the Six to 138 horsepower and the Rebel V-8 to 215. A further fuel-cost saving is possible because regular grade gasoline is recommended for all models. The new three-seat station wagon added to the Rambler line for 1960 has a rear-facing third seat which can be lowered in seconds to turn the space into cargo area. A unique feature of this model is the absence of a tailgate. Instead, it has a door hinged at the left side which swings completely open, allowing easier entrance for third-seat passengers since there is no gate to climb over. The door can be locked either from the inside or outside, but for safety it can be unlocked only by using a key in the outside lock. Captive-air tires are standard equipment on the three-seat wagon eliminate the need of a spare tire.

Nine four-door models are included in the Rambler Six line and seven in the Rambler Rebel V-8 line. They include sedans, station wagons, hardtops and the new three-seat station wagons.

The Rambler's new styling includes slimmer roof pillars which increase the glass area by 7 per cent for greater road visibility. Both the new windshield and rear windows are slanted at a greater angle to reduce wind resistance. With the slimmer and slanted front pillars, front-door entrance room is increased by as much as 3 1/4 inches, making the Rambler one of the easiest cars to enter.

The unadorned low and broad visibility as well as easy access to the engine compartment. The hood line flows smoothly into the front fenders.

Both the grille and the front and rear bumpers are made of two pieces to reduce possible repair costs. The grille is a heavy die-casting. Its widely spaced rectangular pattern adheres to a familiar Rambler styling theme, as does the block-letter nameplate positioned in an opening between the hood and the grille. The modified and canted fins run from the leading edge of the rear door to the end of the fender where they angle downward to blend into the horizontal creases in the trunk lid.

All wheel openings flare out at the rear edges for a feeling of lightness and motion. The wide openings also contribute to the short turning diameter of slightly more than 37 feet, which helps make the Rambler so maneuverable and easy to park.

The trunk lid, with new torsion-bar hinge, is high and flat to provide maximum cargo space. To facilitate loading, the trunk lid comes down to the edge of the bumpers, eliminating the need of lifting luggage or other articles over a "fence".

The tailgate in the regular station wagon models continues with a roll-down rear window, which eliminates an upper protrusion when ventilation is desired. All station wagon models have the popular chrome travel-rack mounted atop the rear part of the vehicle. The roof line has a soft dip which extends to the rear where it forms a canopy over the back window.

On all Super models there is a single side molding extending almost the full length of the car.

On Custom models a second molding is added from the rear part of the front fender to the middle of the rear door. The narrow space between the moldings carries the accent color.

Sixteen colors are available for the 1960 models, including seven metallics. Thirty-two two-tone combinations are available. All are super-enamel paints. In addition, a gray "teakwood grain" wood-like accent can be ordered on Custom station wagons.

The interiors harmonize with the exterior colors. Twenty-four trim combinations are available, and fabrics include "miracle" blends and "breathable" vinyls which resemble fabric.

All-welded single-unit construction, pioneered by American Motors in 1940 and now coming into more general industry use because of its superior strength, durability and safety, is a key feature of the Rambler. With this type of rattle-free construction, box-frame sections and sheet metal are fused into an integral unit. This eliminates the need for a built-in separate heavy frame to which bodies are bolted on conventional gullt cars.

Don Newcombe led the Cincinnati pitching staff in complete games last season with 17. He won 13 games, lost 8.

HERE'S WHAT MAKES the CORVAIR REVOLUTIONARY

Short and sweet! Engine's in the rear—where it belongs in a compact car. With more weight on rear wheels, you get extra road-gripping traction for cornering and driving on ice, mud or snow. Also, by avoiding nose-heaviness of front-engine compact cars, Corvair handles easier, brakes better, rides smoother. Styling of both 4-door models is clean and uncluttered... as fresh and functional as modern architecture.

Unpack Power Team

Engine, transmission and drive gears are neatly wrapped in one lightweight package. Takes less space, leaves you more.

UNISTRUT BODY BY FISHER

Body and frame are combined into a single rigidly constructed unit that reduces Corvair's weight, enlarges its passenger space.

Practically FLAT FLOOR

Corvair is America's only compact car with a virtually flat floor that gives you full 6-passenger comfort. For extra space, folding rear seat* converts easily to make room for 17.6 cu. ft. of cargo. *Optional at extra cost.

TRUNK'S UP FRONT

Lots of luggage space under the hood, where it's convenient for groceries, packages.

NEARLY 3 FEET SHORTER

Corvair's almost 5 inches lower, 1,300 pounds lighter, too. Its compact size makes it a joy to jockey through traffic, a pleasure to park. No need for power assists.

4-Wheel Independent Suspension

Springs at each wheel cushion bumps independently of each other for a ride that rivals much costlier cars.

AIR COOLED

You never have to fuss with antifreeze. Turbo-Air 6 warms up quicker, with less wear on parts. Air-plane-type heater* goes to work almost instantly. *Optional at extra cost.

AND THE HAPPIEST DRIVING COMPACT CAR you ever drove!

Homecoming At Springlake Features 'Parade Of Years'

A member of the graduating class of Springlake High School, John B. Wilkin, now chief of police at Littlefield, will be the featured speaker at the Springlake Homecoming to be presented at 5 p.m. at the Springlake High School auditorium.

The parade of the homecoming schedule are a supper in the school cafeteria from 6 until 7:30, football game between Springlake and Sudan at 8 p.m., and a coffee and doughnut social for all ex-students and teachers in the cafeteria following the game. Half-time game activities will include the crowning of an Exes Homecoming queen and a high school football game.

"The Parade of Years" will be presented at the Homecoming gathering of ex-students and teachers at 5 o'clock Friday.

Mrs. Frankie Faver, a member of the 1949 Springlake graduating class, has written this dramatic portrayal of the 51 years of Springlake which have changed Springlake School from a one room frame building into a modern, 35-class room plant. The old brass bell, which will be rung by Mrs. Jack Hinson, president of the Lamb County Pioneers, is contrasted with the IBM electric bell system which the school now uses.

The mode of transporting students to school by horse and walking is pitted against the 13 modern buses which Springlake School now has, as is the on teacher of 1908, Miss Coryell, against the 39 teachers and 22 others on the school's present payroll.

A musical background of popular songs ranging from "Sweet Georgia Brown" for the 1908-1920 period to the hit tunes of last year has been arranged by Mrs.

Betty Parish. A cast of 40 people will reenact some of the most typical scenes in the school's history.

At half-time during the Springlake-Sudan football game, an Exes Homecoming Queen will be crowned. Candidates, representing the honor classes of '29, '39, and '49, are Mrs. Lucille Price ('29), Mrs. Bonnie McNeil Green ('39), and Mrs. Ann Clayton Kelley ('49).

This is the third event of this kind sponsored by the Springlake Ex-Students and Teachers Association.

This year's candidates will dress in costumes typical of the year in which they graduated. They will enter the playing field in a black, 1928, open top, Model A. Escorts will be the candidates' husbands, and Steven Sanderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Sanderson and Annette Hodge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy H. Hodge, will serve as attendants. Ex-students and Teachers Association President Kenneth Bain Parish will crown the queen.

Jena V. Brock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Almon Whitford of Springlake and Joe Neal Ellis, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Ellis of Earth, will be crowned high school Football Queen and King at half-time of the football game.

Baltimore was incorporated as a city in 1729.

1st Cotton Quality Report Issued By Plains Growers

LUBBOCK - The first Texas High Plains cotton. It gives them correct and current data," he concluded.

Pfeiffenberger explained that the quality report is mailed to textile mill executives and cotton buyers throughout the nation in an effort to keep them posted on yield, quality and character of the 1959 crop as it is harvested. This was the first report this year. Issued semi - monthly reports will be continued through the harvest period. Each report consists of an explanation and six tables giving correlations between grade, staple, micronaire and tensile strength of the cotton harvest- ed.

In the first 1959 report white cotton accounted for 84 percent of the crop ginned thus far - approximately 100,000 bales and 82 percent was middling white and above. Full spotted cotton was only 0.1 percent.

Average staple length was just about 31-32 inch with approximately 31 percent being one inch and longer. Only 19 percent fell below 15-16 inch. The micronaire average was 4.2 with 98 percent above the tenderable limit of 3.5. Fiber strength averaged 76,000 pounds per square inch with 53 percent between 75,000 and 90,000 pounds.

Pfeiffenberger said that some of these reports also are mailed to cotton firms abroad. "We believe this is a good way to interest more buyers and mills in Texas

THE 1960 PLYMOUTH is the strongest, quietest, fastest accelerating, most economical operating car in Plymouth's history. It features unified body and frame structure and completely new styling for this economy champion. Two completely new engines are added in the 1960 Plymouth lines of six engines, each of uniquely different design and each developed to fulfill a specific requirement.

Batson Motors To Show 1960 Plymouths Friday

The 1960 Plymouth, which goes on display at Batson Motors here Friday, is the strongest, quietest, fastest accelerating, and most economical operating car in Plymouth's history. It features unified body and frame structure and completely new styling.

Harry E. Chesebrough, vice president of Chrysler Corporation and general manager of the Plymouth division, says the 1960 Plymouth "creates new standards for its price class on any basis, on which you compare automobiles."

Two completely new engines are added in the 1960 Plymouth line, each of uniquely different design and each developed to fulfill a specific requirement. The 30-D Economy Six is introduced for drivers who require maximum Commando V-8, which brings ram induction to passenger cars for the first time, is primarily a "performance" engine with outstanding acceleration characteristics.

Plymouth's styling and sturdy construction, Chesebrough said, "should have special appeal to people whose basic interest is in solid value."

He listed these improvements which offer special benefits to owners:

1. Bodies are 100 per cent stronger in resisting twist, and 40 per cent stronger in resisting bending.
2. The Plymouth is built to have longer life, with fewer repair bills. In endurance tests, 1960 models withstood night and day driving almost four times longer than preceding models before showing comparable signs of wear.
3. Two ingeniously designed engines have been added to the line, one for buyers wanting maximum economy, the other for buyers wanting maximum performance.
4. The noise level inside the car has been reduced by 50 per cent through new insulating procedures and a unique "tuning" process to control vibration.
5. The cars are completely re-styled, inside and out, for greater beauty and for improved driver and passenger comfort.

6. New manufacturing methods make the underbodies more resistant to rust and corrosion than ever before.

7. Mainly through the design of the car, advance testing indicates that buyers may expect to travel eight to ten miles farther on a tank of gas.

8. There are many new features, both standard and optional equipment, which are being offered in the Plymouth price class for the first time.

For 1960, the Plymouth body and frame are integrated into a single, unified structure, locked together by more than 5,000 welds. The design affords many advantages in terms of both strength and space efficiency. The cars are easier to get into and out of, and seat heights have been raised for more comfort. The absence of connecting bolts and braces not only lends strength but eliminates rattles.

There is more extensive use of reinforced box-section members, and metal in the under-body area is of heavier gauge. The body is framed like a bridge truss, with sturdy box-section rails extending upward from the sills, along the sides of the roof over window openings, and downward at the rear to a solid foundation in the rear wheel housings.

Supporting the engine and front suspension is a fore-structure solidly anchored to the body with high-tensile-strength bolts at ten reinforced locations. Sills are much thicker than in 1959, the sill heavier. In the four-door hardtop, for example, the sill outer panel is 67 per cent thicker.

mouth depends upon its basic lines rather than ornamentation, and a unique styling features, rather than to break up masses of sheet metal. Sportone treatment is confined to the lower recessed portion of the sculptured front fenders. Windshield on all models curves into the roof as well as wrap around the sides. A new Sky-Hi rear window on hardtop models carries the rear glass an additional nine inches higher on the 4-door hardtop, 11 inches more on the 2-door hardtop.

As optional equipment, Plymouth offers a new Aero steering wheel which is square in shape to provide more knee clearance between the wheel and seat, and better visibility at eye level.

There is a new instrument panel featuring a Television Speedometer housed in a separate cluster on top of the basic panel. The speedometer is a horizontal strip, divided into calibrated segments. As speed increases, the segments successively turn red.

For 1960, Plymouth offers 24 models in three lines of cars (Savooy, Belvedere and Fury) and three lines of station wagons (Deluxe, Custom, and Sport Suburban).

Sequoia trees sometimes grow two feet thick.

First Texas-New Mexico Line Fight Almost War

PART II
(Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of articles outlining the numerous boundary conflicts dating back to 1716, pointing up little known facts which shaped the Texas of today.)

The first Texas - New Mexico boundary fight came close to going down in history as a shooting war between Texas and the United States.

"Texans were so mad they threatened secession and war," Attorney General Will Wilson said, "other battle for Texas boundary. Wilson is right now fighting an aries - the tidelands suit before the Supreme Court of the United States."

Background for the Texas - New Mexico fight began with the 1819 treaty which settled the western limits of the United States, establishing the eastern boundary of Texas at the Sabine River.

Many people at the time, including Thomas Jefferson, thought this a bad bargain.

They believed the boundary should be the Rio Grande.

As it turned out the treaty featured built-in headaches brought out later in an Oklahoma - Texas dispute.

In 1821 Mexico revolted from Spain, falling heir to the Spanish lands south and west of the United States. This included Texas up until 1836 when Texans won their independence at San Jacinto.

One of the first acts of the new Republic of Texas was to draw up a declaration of its boundaries, fixing three leagues in the Gulf of Mexico, which is now being fought out in the tidelands case, and claiming the Rio Grande to its source in present day Colorado.

This gave Texas the eastern half of present New Mexico and a large part of southern Colorado, and paid Texas fifteen cents an acre for it.

ton of Missouri voiced Mexico's complaint by saying the Texas boundary was "an act of unparalleled outrage on Mexico."

"It is a seizure of 2,000 miles of her territory without a word of explanation to her," he raged.

Kingpin of Missouri politics, Benton used his rugged strength to fight Texas to the end - his end as it turned out to be.

In the 1844 Congress Benton successfully opposed a treaty that would have admitted Texas to the Union. Six years later he shook Texas and disrupted Congress by introducing a bill to reduce Texas to 150,000 square miles (about the size of Montana) with the right to divide it into two states of 75,000 square miles each.

"This bitter stand on the Texas question eventually defeated Benton after he had served 30 years in the Senate," Wilson points out.

Wilson, who has an extensive library on Texas history, likes to quote a description of Benton. "all the Senate knew that Thomas Hart Benton was a rough and tumble fighter off and on the Senate floor - no longer with pistols but with stinging sarcasm. He himself was immune to the wounds of these political clashes from which his adversaries retired bleeding and broken. For his great ego and vigorous health had him thick skinned mentally as well as physically."

Wilson particularly likes this part.

"The leathery quality of his skin was in part the result of a daily brushing with a horsehair brush - when asked if the brush was truly rough, Benton would roar: 'Why, sir, if I were to touch you with that brush, you would cry murder, sir!'"

The next article will describe how the Federal government bit off a large chunk of the territory and paid Texas fifteen cents an acre for it.

IN THE PRACTICE OF
GENERAL MEDICINE

PLYMOUTH'S NEW DURA-QUIET UNIBODY is a rigidly-formed structure, locked by approximately 5400 precise welds. It has no conventional body bolts, braces, struts or stays to give trouble. Road noises and road shocks are dampened. Even the sound of the wind is hushed.

We doubt if any car at any price has ever ridden or handled as well as this new low-price automobile. Practical Stabilizer Design, incorporating rear stabilizer fins, adds stability on the road, cuts wind resistance, gives better gas mileage.

The new Solid Plymouth is a young, exciting car with ten full years of Chrysler Corporation development behind it. It will suit you particularly if you want a feeling of quality and a sense of craftsmanship. It is built carefully and precisely. We believe there is no other car in the low-price field that resembles it.

AN ALL-NEW INCLINED OVER-HEAD VALVE "6" IS AMONG FIVE PLYMOUTH ENGINE OPTIONS FOR 1960. The first inclined engine ever in an American passenger car is the new Plymouth 30-D Economy Six, most powerful "6" in America. Very economical, it is inclined to make servicing simpler, to lower the car's center of gravity and to make handling and riding easier. Also for 1960: the limited-production SonoRamic Commando V-8*.

SOLID PLYMOUTH 1960 OFFERS FEATURES NO OTHER CAR IN ITS CLASS CAN OFFER. Custom-Positioned Front Seat. Safe-T-Matic doorlocking system*. RCA "45", Record Player*. And many more.

FA and Bula FFA played and refreshments served ended the Panhandle to those attending the social.

Fair at Lubbock Mrs. Leonard Albus and children, Gloria and Sydney, accompanied by Mrs. Joe Albus and daughter, Georgette of Littlefield, spent several days in Rhineland recently visiting relatives and friends.

LIPSTICK LOGIC

More and more often, thank goodness, women choose to be natural. The 'put - on' these days is delightfully rare.

We spent a couple of hours over lunch the other day with five women who are not strangers, but whom we rarely see. The husband of one was prominent in our community until a few months ago when they moved away. She was back with him for an annual celebration in which he was long the 'big dog'.

She startled us by saying, "I'm happy to find out I don't regret being out of this. I came today wondering if I wouldn't feel lost and alone. But all I feel is relief!"

What this statement lacked in diplomacy was made up for by its complete honesty. It cleared the air of any embarrassment and had us thinking about real human values instead of party conversation. It set the tone for the day. Even though there were both plump and skinny present, not a single one mentioned diet or picked daintily at her food. No one mentioned health. Some of those present probably had on "name brand" clothes, but no one tried to impress the others with her own extravagance, her husband's money if any, or the superiority of her children over other people's.

Such relaxed naturalness may be indifference to what others think, but we'd like to believe it is maturity. To be natural without fear of being misunderstood is to be happy. That is, if the naturalness doesn't come unbuttoned... even naturalness must ride on a track of kindness and consideration or it quickly derails.

Americans spent 16.7 billion dollars for their medical care in 1958 - 300 million dollars less than they did for recreation.

Filter-tip cigarettes were introduced in 1931, but gained little popular recognition until 1953.
