Burglars gained entrance to the Olton Drug store sometime during Thanksgiving night, probably at some hour between midnight and 8:00 a. m. Friday, by hammering the lower portion of the barred rear door to effect an opening sufficient in size to gain entrance.

The break-in was discovered upon opening of the store Friday morning, and a check-up by the owners revealed that the burglar or burglars had gathered up and made way with loot to the extent of about $1500.

About $150 in cash, 30 cartons of cigarettes, and a considerable quantity of jewelry was reported missing at the first check, and other losses were expected to be uncovered.

It is believed by the sheriff's department which investigated the robbery, that the work was done by

Temperatures Drop; Roads Slick; Many Stay At Home Thanksgiving

Freezing temperatures, snow and sleet early in the week was the cause of many local folks changing plans for Thanksgiving holidays. Trips to distant places were called off, and nearly everyone spent a quiet Thanksgiving holiday at home with their families and local friends.

Friday the day after Thanksgiving, freezing rain and snow fell in the area, making travel dangerous. The State Highway reported all roads on the South Plains were open, but they were slick with ice.

Temperature readings for the past three days as reported on the official gauge at West Texas Gas office are as follows:

	High	Low
Wednesday	40	19
Thursday	52	26
Friday	34	27

Other officers elected for the ensuing year include Dr. Glen Davis, vice-president, Dr. Reed of Levelland, secretary and treasurer, and Dr. Edgar also of Levelland, representative to House of Delegates. Car Inspection Repeal

State Senator Carlos Ashley of Llano announces he will spearhead the fight for repeal of the auto inspection law in the 53rd legislature convening in January.

Already that intended reform is the interest of saving lives and reducing less serious traffic accident has been damned by faint enforcement, lack of influential support and popular apathy. The motorist in Texas otherwise is annoyed by the task of procuring a car license plant every year and a driver's license every two years. The future compulsion of annually having his ear tested for defects has got under the motorist's skin in many instances.

We have recognized those objections, and also the report that some inspection agencies have charged car owners too much for repairs. Likewise it can be granted as Senator Ashley asserts, that new cars operated by fast and heedless drivers are a major traffic period. No doubt law enforcement and more rigorous penalties are primary needs.

However, every motor vehicle owner in Texas should be selfishly interested in having a safe mechanism to operate on streets and highways. The car inspection law is designed to increase the chances of survival for the motorist himself as well as for his fellow citizens.

We think that the inspection law should be given better than a one year's trial under the unsatisfactory conditions that have prevailed. The State Department of Public Safety should be allotted more money for enforcement and administration of the law.

The motorist should be allowed adequate time for having inspections. Since early in September there has been no provision for the new inspections that are necessary for obtaining the 1953 license plates. We would like for the Legislature to inquire why a law, intended to save life and property, should have been accorded so little chance to succeed in Texas. It was not intended to be a traffic curfew by any means, but merely one of the many measures necessary if the toll of death on the highways is to be cut down.

Health Talks

Prepared by the State Medical Association of Texas

A modern American craze is putting coins in slots to get something out: gum, candy, cigarette, music, telephone service, or any variety of products. However, if you put things into the ear "slot" that don't belong, you're likely to get only one thing out: trouble.

The ear was made with the idea that it was not to be meddled with, and as long as it's healthy, that's the best advice to remember. For example, how should a baby's ear be cleaned? With an ordinary wash rag, and then not very energetically. The wash rag should be placed around the finger, not twisted and stuck into the ear. The same rule for cleaning the ears applies to adults: Nix on cotton tips, hairpins, toothpicks, broom straws and the many other ways man has thought of to torture the poor ear.

Many people are too particular about cleanliness of their ears. They consider wax dirty and work constantly to get rid of it, failing to realize it is a natural protection against objects which might accidentally get into the ear. Only when the wax forms a plug that cuts down the hearing should it be removed, and then a doctor should do the job.

Even if it sounds silly, the way you blow your nose has a lot to do with the health of your ear. There is a tube leading from the middle ear to the part of the throat just behind the nose. This "Eustachian tube" has as its main purpose to make equal the pressure on each side of the ear drum. It is made so that ordinarily it drains secretions from the middle ear to the throat, a very important help. However, if there are germs in the throat, say from a cold, and one side of the nose is held while the other is blown, it is easy to send the germs into the Eustachian tube and on to the middle ear, often causing infection there.

When you blow your nose, be careful that both nostrils are open and that you blow gently so not much pressure is put on the tubes leading to each middle ear. It's better to let discharge from the nose drop into the throat, where it can be spit out or swallowed, than to send it where it doesn't belong, into the Eustachian tube and on to the middle ear. You shouldn't make an airplane flight if you have a cold, sore throat, or other infection of the respiratory system. A change in air pressure during the time you are going up or coming down (more often the latter) can cause an infection of the middle ear if the Eustachian tube is blocked.

What if something gets into your ear by accident? It will make a difference what that something is as to how it should be removed. If water is used to wash out a bean or pea, the bit of vegetable may swell and be impossible to remove without hurting the ear canal. If an insect gets into the ear, it may have to be drowned with oil or water to keep it from clinging to and tearing the walls of the ear canal or ear drum.

Certainly much damage has been done to ears and the hearing by clumsy attempts to remove foreign bodies. In some cases a small piece of gravel or a wooden splinter has been driven through the ear drum into the middle ear, to set up trouble there. The doctor's "know-how" means that the foreign object will be removed as painlessly as possible and with a minimum of damage or no harm at all to the ear. In the South, where swimmers

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. — Back in 1892, Miss Senda Berenson, now Mrs. Herbert Abbott of Santa Barbara, Calif., was director of physical education at Smith college, one of the oldest colleges for women in the United States.

That year, the Smith college director visited classes being conducted by James V. Naismith, the originator of the game of basketball at Springfield college. There she saw this new game for men and immediately realized its possibilities for "strong girls."

With the help of students, Miss Berenson adapted Smith's basketball rules for men so as to make them suitable for women.

Remember the old tea wagon that used to grace nearly every dining room? Well, it's back in a wonderfully new guise and is more beautiful and infinitely more utilitarian than ever before. It has a number of descriptive new names, too, including "hostess cart," "brunch wagon," and "snack truck." The model shown above is black walnut with cherry trim. Combining two different woods in the same piece of furniture is a new style note. This hostess cart makes it possible to put an entire meal on wheels. The drop leaves provide a surprising amount of table surface. It is ideal for TV parties, as well as for more formal entertaining.

In 1893, Smith college became the site of the first basketball game played by women in the country. For 20 years, Miss Berenson was editor of Basketball Rules for Women and was a leader in the development of physical education for women. She relinquished her post of physical education director at Smith in 1911.

That first game played between women's basketball teams at Smith was on March 22, 1893, between the sophomores (1895) and freshmen (1896) with the Frosh winning the game. The first game was played in the Alumnae gymnasium and at that time one of the largest and best equipped gyms for women in the United States.

Smith has maintained an intramural sports program ever since. In basketball, class teams and subteams are chosen each year. In 1894, freshmen learned to play in their gym classes. By 1897 there were four regular teams at the college, one for each class. Spectators crowded the Alumnae gym for every game and by 1911 the big games (Rally Day and championship contests) were drawing about 1200 spectators.

The first "Smith College basketball team," the forerunner of the Al-Smith team, was chosen in 1911 from the three upper classes on a point scale based on "playing, good carriage, discipline, attitude and neatness of appearance." No girl could play on any team unless she was in good academic standing. First definite arrangements for inter-house tournaments were made in 1922, although unofficially first in inter-house games were played back in 1912.

It's Murals and Music For Navy's Mess Halls

Newsfeatures

SAN DIEGO, Calif.—The U. S. Navy's largest mess pipes music to Blue Jackets while they eat and inspires them with Navy tradition, depicted in wall murals.

More than 90,000 meals daily are being served in the mess at the San Diego Naval Training Center.

The music, played from recordings, is piped to the 43 mess halls.

Murals on the walls recall the Navy's stirring history, including the days of sailing warships and barefoot "ironmen" sailors, who manner capstans to hoist anchors and perform other heavy tasks now handled by machines.

The recruits are served cafeteria style and there is no rule against second helpings.

Food is cooked on gas ranges, revolving gas ovens and steam-operated boiling kettles.

The commissary officer in charge of it all, Cwdr. Harrison Symmes, has a staff of more than 2,000.

He said calory count of the three daily meals for each recruit varies between 4,000 and 5,000, as compared with the average daily home diet of between 2,200 and 2,300.

Murals showing old time ships and sailors are part of the mess hall decorations at the San Diego Naval training station. Modern sailors also have music with meals.

What's Christmas Without Candy!

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Of course you'll want some home-made candy during the holiday season for the family, for guests who drop in, and to give away. So here are two fine new recipes. Try them before Christmas, if you like, then you'll turn them out with a practiced hand when you're ready to make them for your festive occasions.

Both recipes use evaporated milk, which is especially well suited to candy-making. That's because the fat particles and other solids in evaporated milk are finely divided and produce candies of smooth texture.

A few tips on candy-making: The size and kind of pan used is important because you must allow enough room for the mixture to boil briskly without overflowing. A heavy metal pan will prevent scorching.

Use a candy thermometer, by all means, if you have one. If you haven't one remember use the soft ball stage test for both these candies. To make this test fill a cup with cold water. Remove the candy from the heat. Allow small drops of candy to fall from the spoon into the cold water. The soft ball stage is reached when the drops can be gathered together in a ball that will just hold its shape, but which flattens on removal from water.

CREAM PRALINES
Ingredients: 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar, 1 cup granulated sugar, 2 cups pecan halves (½-pound nutmeats), ½ cup evaporated milk.
Method: Mix sugars, pecans and evaporated milk in heavy saucepan. Stirring constantly, cook over medium heat to soft ball stage (236F). (This mixture cooks quickly, so test often if not using a candy thermometer.) Cool slightly, then beat until mixture begins to thicken. Drop candy rapidly from a teaspoon onto aluminum foil or a well-buttered baking sheet to form patties. If candy becomes too stiff at the last to drop into smooth patties, stir in about a tablespoon of hot water. Makes 35 to 40 patties about 1 to 1½ inches in diameter.

LEMON COCONUT CREAMS
Ingredients: 1 tablespoon butter, ¼ cup evaporated milk, 2 cups granulated sugar, ½ teaspoon grated lemon rind, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ½ cup finely cut shredded coconut.

Method: Melt the butter in a heavy saucepan. Add milk and sugar. Stir to blend. Cook over medium heat to soft ball stage (236F), stirring constantly. Remove from heat and cool. Stir in lemon rind, lemon juice and coconut. Beat until crystalline. Turn at once into a buttered pan or onto a buttered baking sheet. Mark in squares. Makes about 1 pound.

THIS TASTES GOOD IN TEXAS

Ginger Pear Preserves
1 pound prepared pears
3-4 pound sugar
1 or 2 pieces of gingerroot
1-2 lemon thinly sliced
Select pears that are of a good flavor and hold shape. The Keiffer pear is a variety commonly used. Allow fruit to reach the firm ripe stage. Wash, pare and cut fruit into uniform pieces, as quarters or eights, depending on size of the fruit; then core. Combine the sliced pears and sugar in alternate layers and let stand 8 to 10 hours or overnight before cooking. Boil the lemon for about 5 minutes in only enough water to cover. Add lemon with what water remains and the gingerroot to the pear and sugar mixture. Boil rapidly and stir constantly until the fruit is clear and of rich amber color. Fill hot sterilized jars three-fourths full with the preserved fruit, and then add enough of the syrup to fill the jar to within 1-inch of the top if paraffin is to be used. If not, fill to top of jar. Seal, label and store.

ANCIENT SEA WALL IS FOUND
RAVENNA, Italy, (AP) — Fishermen dragging nets along the Adriatic coast north of here found what is believed to be the now-submerged sea wall which sheltered ancient Rome's Adriatic fleet.
The fishermen said they could see almost 100 feet of the huge stone wall jutting up through the sandy bottom a mile and a half offshore in 25 feet of water.
The location is just south of the shifting mouths of the Po River, where imperial Rome's fleet guarding the upper Adriatic is believed to have been based in the time of Caesar Augustus.
