SPECIAL SERVICES SUNDAY FOR OPENING NEW CHURCH

Completion of Littlefield's New Methodist Church, one of the finest religious structures on the South Plains, will be observed this Sunday with appropriate services throughout the day.

This church building represents much work and study by Rev. Jim Sharp, pastor, and the building committee, of whom A. I .Fowler is Chairman; F. A. Hemphill, Secre-tary; and Dr. I. T. Shotwell, J. E. Chisholm, and D. G. Hobbs, members, for the past two years.

The finance committee is composed of Dr. C. E. Payne, Chairman; Dr. Wm. N. Orr, J. T. Elms, and T. Wade Potter.

From the original basement building in May 1940, the present beautiful structure has been built, the improvements of which represent an investment of $40,000. A second story was erected over the basement and the building of a chapel 65x50 and copies as signed were Hospital, Amarillo, where he had facing west of the original building, ed to Hon. A. B. SANDERS

A. B. Sanders, former Littlefield School Superintendent previous to accepting a like position at Donna. Texas, was elected president of the South Texas Division of the Texas State Teachers assoclation Friday, March 13, at its annual convention. Mr. Sanders succeeded J. W. Roach, Superintendent of Schools at Alice, Texas.

W. H. Willes was appointed. 922 the affairs of the Methodist Church, as well as other civic and religious affairs, were at a stand still. Various missionary preachers called, but there was no regular preacher, the services being held at the Presbyterian Church.

In 1923 Rev. R. R. Gilbreath came to preach here. Littlefield was then on the Olton Circuit, and Bro. Gilbreath lived at Olton. There were approximately 17 members. We were then meeting at the Baptist Church. It was during the ministry of Bro. Gilbreath that a movement was started to secure a building of our own. The first board of Stewards consisted of J. T. Elms, V. C. Walden, B. L. Cogdill and C. A. Joplin, Sr. They with the assistance of Rev. Gilbreath and that of Rev. W. W. Edgar, bought a church building from the Mennonite people, and moved it to the present location of our church basement.

In 1924 Rev. W. W. Edger was sent here as our pastor. He was the first preacher to hold services in the church building recently purchased from the Mennonites. During his ministry a small two room parsonage was erected adjoining the present location of the church.

In 1925 Rev. Silas Dixon was apcointed pastor. In 1926 Rev. H. G. Scoggins served as the Methodist Pastor. At the end of his ministry the present parsonage was purchased from Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gardner. During the ministry of Rev. J. W. Hendrix this parsonage was stuccoed and in 1937 the final payment was made on it by the women of the Mission-

Rev. Ed A. Tharp and his family were the first to occupy the present parsonage. He was appointed in 1927. During the ministry of Rev. G. E. Turrentine, 1928-29, the old church building was torn down and the present church basement was started. However it was not until the ministry of Rev. R. B. Freeman who was appointed in 1930, that the basement was completed and occupied, and it was not until 1938 that a campaign was completed and the debt on the original basement was completely paid off. In 1931, Bro. Freeman was returned to Littlefield, but was unable to complete the year, due to his failing health, and Rev. C. B. Meador completed the year. In 1932 Rev. Joe Boyd was appointed Methodist pastor, and Rev. P. H. Gates in 1933. In 1934 Rev. J. W. Hendrix came as the Methodist pastor, and served for three years.

Rev. Marvin B. Norwood succeeded Mr. Hendrix, and served as pastor for three years, and until November, 1939, when Rev. Jim Sharp the present pastor, took over the

EMMANUEL LUTHERAN CHURCH

E. H. Reise, Pastor According to the Bible we learn that Jesus died on the Cross at Mt. Calvary to save mankind. To pay the price of our redemption He paid the price of His life. Jesus died so that we might live eternally in heaven. Therefore, according to the Bible, everyone that believes Jesus who died for them has forgiveness of all his sins and receives the benefits which Jesus earned for them. Next Sunday the pastor will preach on the topic: "Jesus Paid the PRICE of Life." A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend this service at 11.45 a. m.

Sunday school and Bible classes meet at 11 a. m. next Sunday. The quarterly meeting of the Voters' Assembly will take place next Sunday afternoon at 3:30. All voters are urged to be present. The Walther League meets for a topic study and business meeting at 8:30 p. m. next Sunday.

On Good Friday (April 3) we shall have a service with Holy Communion at 11:45 a. m. Announcementa for communion may be made During the period from 1917 to at the parsonage on the day previous, from 1 to 9 p. m.

These are perilous times and we should be thinking not so much about the war conflict as about the Spiritual conflict that will be one of everlasting duration. When the Spiritual conflict has fully succeeded then there will be no war against our fellow men. With our vast materials we can likely win this war of the flesh but can you win the fight against your evil desires and lack of interest in things that are eternal. Wake up! Please take note. Beginning Sunday, March 29, the Sunday School will meet at 9:45 a. m. The morning worship at 11 a. m. This is according to present clock time or new time or war time. This is one hour earlier than we have been meeting. It is hoped that everyone will soon get adjusted to this new time. Please make an effort to be on time for all the services.

We congratulate Pastor Sharp and the Methodist Congregation for their accomplishments in erecting the new building. There will be no evening services at our Church Sunday. We urge all our people to attend services at the evening hour with the Methodist people in their new auditorium.

Our revival begins Easter Sunday and continues one week only. Rev. C. A. Powell of Rule, Texas, will do the preaching.

Edgar Walters Home On Vacation Trip

Edgar Walters, instructor in Air Corps school at Curtis Field, Brady, is home on a two weeks' vacation, but plans to return about Friday. Mr. Walters is training Government Aviation students at Brady, where he has been since June of last year.

Mr. Walters, who has been flying a plane for the past three years, said in an interview Monday that each Instructor has six students to take care of, three of whom he gives instruction in the morning, and course. There are three phases of instruction, according to Mr. Walters, primary, which the students have before they go to Brady, and basic, which they receive there, and advanced, which they receive at Ellington, Fort Houston, or Kelly Field, depending whether they are assigned to bombardment or pursuit

Mr. Walters likes his work fine.

ADDITION BUILT TO

Considerable improvements have just been completed at the Bill Pass home on East 7th. Street. An addition was built to the rear of the house, enlarging the back bedroom and kitchen, and adding a back porch. Bob Fife was the contractor on the job, and materials were supplied by Cameron & Co.

Two Outstanding Films Will Be

One of the most outstanding meetings of the series of Our America Programs will be held in the au-ditorium of the local High School Thursday evening, March 26. In designating this meeting as the outstanding one to date, F. A. Hemphill, director of the program, indicates that the program's prominence will be due to the showing of two very interesting films. The first of these films will be Walt Disney's "The New Spirit" featuring Donald Duck. This film has come in for a great deal of attention since the of the Spring season was the bridge Federal Congress considered approparty given by Mrs. J. H. Barnett priating funds for its distribution throughout the nation.

The second film to be shown on Thursday evening is a review of a part of the national defense program. Both films are timely and will prove important to the morale of the citizenship.

Since a large crowd is expected play during the afternoon, in which for the meeting, children under 12 Mrs. Wayne Carlisle scored high, years of age must be accompanied by guardians or parents in order to be admitted.

Following the games a salad plate

The usual group singing led by was served to the following; Mes- Mancil Hall will be held. The numcerning public problems will be limber of current announcement conited in order to give sufficient time for the films. The general public is invited and the admission is free.

We have a store in the heart of town, That'll supply your needs the year around Of groceries and meats-the very best-They'll meet the requirements of the most exacting test. It's fresh vegetables you wish? Just squint at our rack It's filled cram full from the front to the back With cabbage, lettuce, onions, celery, calavos, . Turnips, mustard, collards, crisp greens for all of us. Our shelves are lined with both fancy and staple-Appropriate appointments on every table. Our meats are judged "good" by dear old "Uncle Sam"

And he's put a stamp on our pork, beef and lamb. Our chickens are fat, and dressed every day— Cut to please you, whether in half or the old-fashioned Our hens are young—never saw Noah's Ark, Our fryers are as tender as a Maiden's heart. Our fish come fresh-whether fillet, halibut or cat-They'll make you want more—And that is that.

Oysters? Oh! Yes, to be sure!—And so terribly large, We brought them in on a special barge.

HEED ITI

Our beef roast is fast at only twenty-six cents per pound A tenderer and sweeter has never been found. Have you tried our steaks and our nice tender chops? I'll tell you-at 35c per pound they're really tops! We have a sliced breakfast bacon-second to none, If you'll name it, it will be both profitable and fun. It's a special cure; sliced fresh every day, At 36 cents a pound, it's a dead give-away. No. 1 Dry Ealt is stacked high just for you, It's really a good buy at only 22. . Our lard is fresh right out of the tierce; Our pickles are sour, and our barbecue fierce,

Folks! What I'm trying to say, but don't know how Is "Come down and look our store over now."
You'll find prices right, and merchandise fine, But if you can't come, just Phone 189. We deliver your orders at ten and at five, If you'll call them in early, they're sure to arrive. They'll be right on time for anch and for dinner—Quality merchandise—prices that save—you're the winner.

Registering Dates Under Rationing Program Announced

County Rationing Board, has announced that Littlefield individual or family users will register under Day, May 12, 1940, the first collecthe sugar rationing program May 4, tion was taken up towards the im-5, 6 and 7 at the local public elementary school, and that wholesalers, retailers, bakers, confectioners, and other industrial users will register April 28 and 29, at the high schools. Teachers will serve as registrars.

All sugar sales in the United States will be halted at midnight, April 27, for approximately one week, and sugar will not be available to buyers again until May 5, government officials have announc-

This ban was ordered as a step preparatory to sales under rationing, which will go into effect as soon as the moratorium on sales

Frank Bane, field chief of the OPA, reported that it had not been determined finally whether the weekly individual ration would be a half pound or three-quarters of a pound.

One member of the family can register the entire household. He or she will fill out and sign an application giving the name, age and address of each applicant, and the amount of sugar on hand. Each person will receive a war ration book. It will contain 28 stamps. Each stamp represents a two-week sugar allotment. If the stamp is not used in the buying period, it will not be good thereafter.

The registrar will tear out of the book a sufficient number of stamps to cover the amount of sugar in excess of two pounds per person on hand at the time of registration. Consumers will give stamps to store keepers when purchases are made and the storekeepers will use the accumulated stamps, in turn, when they buy fresh supplies.

The structure offers a total of 15,000 feet of floor space in the building. The church plant includes an educational building, and complete Sunday school facilities. The educational unit consists of the old basement and an additional floor on

The seating capacity of the main auditorium, covering 50x65 feet, is 500 people, and the balcony about Thirty-nine seats have been placed in the Choir loft to accommodate the singers.

The structure is of buff brick, while the roof is of an attractive blue color scheme, using 134 squares of composition shingle (100 square feet to the square and 250 pounds to the square) which is the best roofing made by the Certneed Company and purchased through the Foxworth Galbraith Lumber Co.

The windows of the church building are of art glass in various color tones, made by the Cocomo Glass Company of Cocomo, Ind.

The tower is 65 feet high, not including the roof. On each side of the tower is art glass, behind which are placed neon lights, forming a cross on each of the four sides, which has been much admired by the citizens of Littlefield, and can be seen at a great distance at night when the tower is lit.

One of the most impressive services ever held in Littlefield was the turning on of the lights for the illumination of the cross, on the tower, which was staged on the lawn at the church Sunday night, July 27, 1941. Mrs. E. B. Hewitt, who donated the glass brick for the cross in memory of the late Mr. Hewitt, turned on the lights during the serv-

Texas Farmers Sign Insurance Applications

College Station, March 24 .- Nearly 50,000 Texas cotton farmers will make a cotton crop this fall, according to Donald L. Cothran, state crop insurance supervisor.

Already, 25,639 all-risk cotton insurance applications for 34,300 cotton farms have been received in the state AAA office of which approximately 27,000 have been sent to the regional Federal Crop Insurance Corporation office, Dallas, for approval.

Fourth and final closing date in Texas is March 31 in the north and northwest sections with the total number of applications for the state expected to reach the 50,000 mark. Other closing dates were January 31, for four Rio Grande valley counties, March 2 and March 16, in other counties of Texas where planting time is later, Cothran ex-

Every person who has or expects to have an interest in a 1942 cotton crop is eligible for cotton crop insurance provided applications are signed before closing date or planting time, whichever date is earlier, the insurance supervisor explained.

Either 50 or 75 per cent of the average yield may be insured against losses caused by unavoidable hazards such as boll weevils and other cotton insects, frost, wind, rain, hail, drouth and plant diseases.

Farmers who take insurance may pay cash or sign a commodity note, which is a part of the application, and provides payment will be made in the fall, either in cash or cotton of the same staple length insured. Premiums may also be deducted from indemnity payments, if losses are paid, cotton loans, if available, or 1942 AAA payments.

INVENTIONS NEEDED

The inventiveness of our people is probably being appealed to more today than at any time in the history of our country.

Americans always have been famous for their genius in concocting new machines, new gadgets and new services. We have made much of our inventors of the past, many of whom are glorified in the history books of every school child.

But today, a new kind of invention is called for. When Edison invented the electric light, when Bell invented the telephone, and when Howe invented the sewing machine, these were something entirely new to the people -things which we did not demand because we had never had them or known about them before.

Now, however, a lot of inventions which have become part of our daily life are going to be temporarily taken away from us unless the creative genius of our nation is able to concoct substitutes for the materials used in the inventions of the past.

The best example of how inventors are attacking this problem is the many ideas which already have been offered to replace the automobile tire. Over 2,000 suggested substitutes already have been sent to Washington and several are now being experimented with as possibilities.

The other day an inventor in New Jersey drove at a speed of 75 miles an hour with wooden tires on the front be used as a tool for remedying the wheels of his car. It may not have been as luxurious a ride as one on modern tires, but it demonstrated that "our desire to go places sitting down" may still be granted even though rubber tires for private use disappear en-

That is just one example of what is being done to try to satisfy our needs despite severe handicaps. Many of the inventions growing out of the need for substitute materials may prove to be better than the original. Others will be make-shift products planned only for the emergency.

But as any popular products goes off the market, we can count on the fact that hundreds of smart men will

-Buy Defense Bonds-NO-STRIKE LAW WANTED

If popular opinion still counts in this country, we have probably about seen the end of strikes in war production industries.

Dr. George Gallup, who has become famous for his accurate measuring of public opinion, reports that today 86 per cent of the people of all classes favor legislation forbidding strikes in war industries for the duration and that such a law is even favored by 81 per cent of the workers themselves.

Congressmen will want to check on opinion in their districts, but this overwhelming figure of Doctor Gallup's would indicate an order by the people of the United States that such legislation be enactd.

Many congressmen from industrial districts realize that difficulties between employees and employers are not always the fault of the union men. There have been a good many cases where the employer is to blame and where the workers are justified in demanding better conditions.

But no matter who is to blame in any labor dispute, the attitude of the people today is that a strike must not situation—that the one who gains most from any strike today is Hitler.

Labor in this country knows that our government is bending over backwards to see that it gets fair treatment. Even with the strike weapon ruled out, the working men, upon whom the nation depends for arms, can be assured that any serious difficulties which they face will be taken care of.

The American people want the laboring man to be satisfied with his lot but they no longer want any men in the laboring force, or in the labor unions, who refuse to put the future of their country before immediate selfish Borland knows her avowed stripose, to boister the family income, is just another subterfuge. Hugo Lorsands, her teacher, always around, irritates him. After Doris gives a recital, Cecil Carver, opera singer, phones Borland. At her hotel, Cecil says Doris is a good voice but lacks style. Cecil is to sing for war veterans but hasn't his words of a certain song. He sings it and she says he has a fine baritone roice. Cecil knows of Doris through Lorentz, says Hugo is hopelessly in love with Doris, and that Doris torthres every man she gets in her clutches. Leonard ought to wake her up by giving a recital, she says. "Go get yourself a riumph." Cecil demands payment for lessons—kisses. He pays but declares he loves his wife. He spends much time with Cecil, making good progress, while she is on tour she wires him, he lings in upstate recitals, makes a hit and she gets him an engagement with an opera company. Again its makes good and tearfully Cecil, telling him the loves him, says he can now bring. Ooris to nis feet. He refuses a new contract. A movie audience gives Doris the "bird." She says she's no good and that the loves Leonard. Cecil says a final good-by to Leonard, warning him Doris isn't "licked." then meets him unexpectedly with Doris at Gwenny Blair's cock-tail party.

About a minute after that Doris About a minute after that Doris saw Lorentz, sitting there in a corner with his arm around Cecil, both of them being gay for a little knot that was gathered around them. I talked along about what a terrible mob Gwenny always had at her parties, but she didn't seem to hear me. She kept watching them.

me. She kept watching them.

She must have crossed eyes with Lorentz, because he bounced up and crossed to us. "Doris! Hello, Mr. Borland. Come on over, you two. We want Doris to settle an argument. Which is worse, a German tenor singing "Trovatore" or at atlant tenor singing "Lohen-

"I would have thought you would

'Why, Doris! I have!" "A little belatedly, I would say."
"You disappeared! I've been watching my chance!"

"Or for somebody, perhaps, who would be more of a credit to you?"

"Stop it, Doris. She's an old friend. Now come on over and set-tle the argument. It's deep and we want a real opinion."

He went back. I felt myself get-ting thick in the collar. "I thought you were through with Hugo."

"I am, but this is a matter of manners."

"How about me looking silly?"

"Yes, me. A husband does look pretty silly when his wife picks a lealous row with another man right in front of him."

"Jealous? I jealous of Hugo?"
"You sounded like it."

They came over, then. Doris introduced me, Cecil said we had met and didn't look at me. They went on with the argument, With Cecil smiling at her, Doris was herself again. She won the argument, with an imitation of a German lady who used to sing Brune. man lady who used to sing Brunne-hilde pinch-hitting in "Traviata."

as a big favor to the management. Pretty soon Gwenny went to the middle of the room, began stampmid of foot, and, as soon as the mob got quiet, said Cecil was going to sing. But when Cecil went over it wasn't Wilkins who took the piano, it was Lorentz. She sang the Titania song from "Mignon." I had it all the more, this feeling that I wanted to get Doris out of there. With that singing going on there was as much charge of the there was as much chance of that as there would be of getting a mouse away from a piece of cheese. After the "Mignon," Cecil sang a little cradle song that's been writ-ten on Kreisler's "Caprile Vien-nois," and then she came over to Doris. "How was I?"

"Marvelous, I never heard you better."

"I thought I was a little off, myself, but they seem to like it, so it's all right. Do a duet with me,
Mrs. Borland?"

Doris didn't have to be told how decent that was. It was letting her right into the big-league park. It was treating her as an equal, and she took Cecil's hand and gave it a little shake.

"How about I a Dove Prende'?" 'How about 'La Dove Prende'?"

Cecil asked. "Oh, not that! I only know the first part, and."
"Then I'll sing the second. Come

Wilkins took the piano, and they started. It was pretty terrible, Mozart has to be sung to the beat, and I think I told you about Dorls' idea on rhythm. I saw Wilkins look up, but Cecil dead-panned, and they went on. Doris could have sung it backward and that pair would have carried her through. It got a hand, and they had a whisper, and did the "Barcarolle" from the "Tales of Hoffman." That was a little more Doris' speed, and a little more that mob's speed, too, so it went over big and they came Cecil laughed, and turned to her.

It wasn't supposed to be a dirty crack. It was just meant for a little gag, something that Doris had to get out of her system; then she could forget about Hugo and really could forget about Hugo and really be friendly.

Cecil winced as if she had been hit with a whip. Then she looked me straight in the eye, the first time she had all day. 'Leonard, why did you lie to me?"

"You did. You let me go to her, you swore you hadn't said a word, you-" She tried to bite it back. It wasn't what I said, it was the look on Doris' face that stopped her. She knew, then, what Doris had really meant, but it was too lats.

Doris looked first at Cecil, then at me. Then she gave a little rasping laugh. "Oh—so that was what you were doing in Rochester, and Syracuse, and Columbus, and Chi-

"Don't give me that foolish story again, about looking things over. I've followed her! I've followed her in the newspapers, I know every place that she's sung, since—She was in all those places!"

Cecil kept cutting in, trying to smooth things over: "Mrs. Borland, will you believe me when I say I've never meant a thing to your hus-

People were looking now, and trying not to look. Doris leveled it right at Cecil: "Miss Carver, I don't believe you."

Cecil closed her eyes, opened them again, grabbed for the one last thing she could say: "We saw quite a lot of each other, that's true. We could hardly help that.
We were singing together. We were singing in the same opera compa-

Doris gave a shricking laugh, and half the room stopped talking and turned around. Gwenny came up. Doris put her head on her der and kept on with that laugh. Then she turned to them all. "Oh, my-isn't that funny? If they took a trip together-I don't mind. It means nothing to me-let them enjoy life while they're young. darlings! Singing together! In the same—I can't stand it! Imagine Leonard — singing — ha-ha-ha-ha!"

Gwenny decided to play it funny. She laughed, too. A few others laughed. Then she decided to get witty. "Perhaps he'll sing us some-thing!—From Pagliacci'!"

If that was what she said, I think I could have stood it. But that wasn't it. What she really said was, "From Polly-achy," and at the dumb, ignorant way she produmb, ignorant way she pro-nounced that word something in me cracked. All the rotten, phony, mean, cruel stuff I had taken from Doris, and all the stuff I had taken from Gwenny and her kind, came swelling up in my throat. I turned to Gwenny: "Since you ask me, I think I will."

I went into the dining-room and found Wilkins. He hadn't heard any of it. "Feel like playing for me?" "Sure. What'll it be?"

Sure.

"How about the 'Prologue' and 'Pagliacci'?"
"The 'Prologue' it is."
We went in and there was a laugh, and they all started to whisper. He started the introduction, and they looked at me, and looked per. He started the introduction, and they looked at me, and looked at Doris. They were her friends, remember, not mine.

Cecil came over: "I wouldn't, baby. It was awful, but—I wouldn't. You'll regret it."

"Maybe."

She went away, and I started to sing. At the first "Si puo," Doris sank into a chair. She didn't turn white; she turned gray. I went on. white; she turned gray. I went on.
Maybe some of the big shots in opera can do it better than I did it that day, but I doubt it. They couldn't take the interest in it, you might say, that I took. I rolled it out, and my head felt light and dizzy, because I could see every note of it going like a knife into her heart. When I got to the andante I gave it the gun, and when I reached the high A flat I stepped into it with a smile on my face, and held it, and swelled it, until the room began to shake; then I pulled it in, and cut. I closed it out solemn as I knew.

Wilkins played the finish, and waited. Nothing happened. They sat there as if they were frozen, and then they began to talk, as if I wasn't there. He looked up at me, as if he was in a madhouse or something. I smiled at him, and bowed three times, the way I was taught, center, left, and right. Then I went over and poured myself a I went over and poured myself a drink. When I turned around, Dor-is was leaving the room. She walked as if she had just gone

I don't know how I got out of I don't know how I got out of there. But pretty soon I was down on the twelfth floor, where you change from the private elevator, which runs up to the penthouse, to the main cars. Cecil was there, with Wilkins. When they saw me they stopped talking. We went down, and on the street a cab came up. Wilkins offered us a lift, but Wilkins offered us a lift, but he had a dinner date uptown instead of down, so I told him to take the cab, and I sent the doorman after another one. He went off, and I stood there looking Cecil up and down, and decided she was what I wanted in the way of a woman and that I was going to hook up with her for the rest of my life. Maybe the love part wouldn't be so hot, anyway on my part, but I had had all I wanted of that. She was decent, and you could stick to her and not feel you had a viper on your chest every time you put your arms around her. I hooked my arm in hers and pressed it.

The doorman came, riding the running board of the cab, and I put her in. I fished in my pocket to tip him, and heard the cab door slam. I looked up, and it was moving away and all I could see was a gloved hand waving at me from the window. In another second it was gone.

I started down the street. Then I wondered where I was going. Here I had just made a decision that was to change my whole life, and now it seemed to have evaporated into thin air. I crossed Park Avenue and headed for home. My legs felt queer and I couldn't seem to walk straight. I remembered I had had four drinks. Then I heard myself laugh. It wasn't the four drinks.

I let myself into the house and the hall was dark, and upstairs I could hear Evelyn crying. I opened my mouth to call, and nothing came out of it. I groped for the switch. Then I heard a rustle behind me. I half turned, and felt something horrible coming at me. It hit me. She was panting like an animal and struck at my face with both hands at once. Those claws raked me. All the time she was talking to me, not loud, but in a terrible whisper:

"You would do that to me . . you beast . . . you swine . . . you can have her . . . what do I care who you have . . . but that . . . but that . . . Get out of here . . . Get out of here!"

Her voice rose to a scream at that and upstairs both children be-gan to wail, and I pushed her away, got the door open, and staggered down the steps to the street,

I spent that night at the nearest hotel. I had some dinner and I didn't know what I was eating. Then it was nine o'clock and there wasn't anything to do but go to bed.

I turned off the lights and tried to sleep. I didn't seem to be thinking about anything at all. But every time I'd drop off I'd wake up, dreaming I was standing there beside Gwenny's piano, bellowing at the top of my lungs, and nobody would even turn around and look at me. Then one time this horrible thing was coming at me in the thing was coming at me in the dark, and I woke up moaning.

How To Control Incendiary Bomb

Described as essential information which every person should know, Marvin Hall, State Fire Insurance Commissioner and Fire Defense Coordinator of the National Defense Committee for Texas, recently out-lined the ways in which incendiary bombs may be most effectively con-

"As long as there is a possibility of attack on the United States," Hall stated, "it is imperative that each of us knows what to do in the event of a bombing raid."

The Fire Insurance Commissioner said training classes in Civilian Defense are giving careful study to the control of fire bombs, but added that only a small percentage of citizens are enrolled in the classes, and that thousands of Texans in the rural areas have had no opportunity to attend the wartime emergency training classes.

Discussing the effect of incendiary bombing raids, Hall said the chief threat is that they set a large number of simultaneous fires over a wide area. Because American fire departments have been organized at a time, a series of wide-spread fires would present a very serious problem.

The incendiary bomb must be recognized as one among the enemy's strike. The more commonly used inmost destructive weapons under lim- cendiary bombs weigh approximateited raiding conditions. When dropped from 5,000 feet or more this small bomb will penetrate any ordinary roof of wood, tile, slate or metal and an underlying plaster ceiling, but probably not a wooden floor below.

Burning incendiaries cannot be extinguished, except by special methods not ordinarily available in the home, but they can be controlled by prompt action and the use of simple tools, with a minimum amount of damage resulting from the fires

Although the incendiary bomb should be put under control as soon as possible, do not approach within 50 feet for approximately 2 minutes after it strikes. Some few bombs have a small explosive charge timed to go off about 2 minutes after impact. Furtnermore, the violent phase of its burning last for about 60 seconds after igniting.

If left alone the ordinary bomb will burn out in 15 to 20 minutes, but the heat generated will set fire to aanything combustible within several feet.

Two Methods of Control

There are two methods of controlling the bombs, either of which may be effectively used in the home. One is using a fine spray of water and the other is the use of dry sand.

Do not expose yourself to the intense heat. Use a shield such as an overturned table, chair or partially opened door.

To centrol the bomb action by water use only a fine spray or mist from a garlen hose or hand pump with spray nozzle.

In contact with the burning metal the water spray is converted into steam, thereby producing a cooling effects Water spray will reduce the burning time 10 minutes or more. The floor and surrounding combustible materials are cooled, thus preventing the spread of fire until the bomb has burned out.

Never apply a solid stream of water, and never dash a bucket of waer on the bomb. This will cause an explosion and scatter burning metal.

If water is not available use the sand method. Be sure the sand is dry. Sand will smother the bomb until it can be carried outside the building.

Use a bucket or other metal container for the sand. Pour a part of it out near the bomb. Using a longhandled shovel place sand around and over the bomb, enough to smother it. Pick up bomb and sand with shovel and put it in the bucket. Catching the bucket handle with the shovel, take it outside immediately.

Do not use chemical extinguishers on bombs! Don't allow the fire to get out of control. It may be necessary to neglect the bomb to prevent spread of fire to other parts of the building. In event of an air raid alarm be sure you can reach the ordinarily inaccessible places in your home. Have your hose connected, but be sure it is long enough to reach any place in the house. Otherwise have sand and shovel ready.

FARM HOME OF MRS. SANDERSON AND ALL CONTENTS DESTROYED BY FIRE

The four room farm house Mrs. Betty Sanderson, widow of six miles east and 1 north of Littlefield, together with furnishings and all personal effects, including a sum of money between $60 and $70, were destroyed by fire Thursday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock.

The loss also included about 400 jars of canned produce.

Mrs. Sanderson was at the barn doing some chores when the place caught fire, believed to be caused by the explosion of a coal oil cook

Neighbors estimated that within 15 minutes of catching fire that the place burned to the ground.

Mrs. Sanderson had just recently carried out considerable improvements about the house, and had purchased a new bedroom suite. '

She is reported to have drawn out of the bank her bank balance a short time previous, and this money was in the house and also burned.

MOVE INTO NEW HOME

Mrs. J. A. Britt and son, David, moved into their new home in Amherst recently. The new residence is a modern home with three spacious rooms and a bath. The building will be stuccoed at a later date.

The 178 farmers, who formerly operated land they could not own and who had full use of their farms purchased under the government's long-term credit plan, were expected to repay a total of $72,782.00 at the end of the year. Actually, however, these 178 farmers repaid a total of $117,388.00, or 61 per cent more than demanded. more than demanded.

This means that even though the everage farm tenant purchase borrower has corp failures for the next two or three years, has costly illness in the family or other setbacks, he still will be current with his payments to the federal government, his state and county taxes and his property insurance. The record was particularly remarkable because the loans were made to farmers unable to finance their purchases through ordinary credit channels. Without the Government's help they would have continued to operate as tenants, instead of owners.

Congress enacted the farm-tenant law in 1937 after a presidential commission had found that America was rapidly becoming a nation of tenant farmers, that almost half the farmers were tenants, and that their number was increasing by about 40,000 a year.

ning to gain enough headway, after four years, to show results.

The record of these borrowers proves the wisdom of the Farm Security Administration's theme for all of its different programs, that "given a chance—given the tools and of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Luce of Litwhere can make good."

The national record of the Farm 1941, the 14,944 farmers who had borrowed money under the farm Miss Luce tenant act to buy their own farms had paid back to the government almost $500,000 more than was due.

The annual average gross income of the 178 tenant purchase borrowers in this area for 1941 was $3,850. The average net cash income of this group for the same period was $1,609. Their annual average net income, including the value of farm products used in the home, was $1,733. These figures are many times greater than those of the average farm operator for the same period in the same area.

Moreover, these home owners have security of tenure. They have raised their standards of living far beyond those which they could not enjoy as tenants. Now they are a part of the communities in which they live. Their children's future is tied more se-curely to the American idea of home ownership.

Purchase loans are made to tenant families for a period of 40 years at 3 per cent interest.

An example of the progress by tion will advance 7 cents per bushel some of the borrowers in this case is one farmer in Kansas who borrowed $4,912, in 1938, to purchase a 479 acre farm. He will pay the last dollar due on his loan within the next few days. Another case is that of the farmer in Texas county, Oklahoma, who borrowed $7,434 in 1939 to purchase a 400 acre farm. supervisors, employed by the Farm Although he has until 1779 to repay the loan, he has, to date, repaid borrower families with guidance in $5,311.

28,000 Tons Scrap Collected As Result Oil Co.'s Campaign

DALLAS, March 24.—A total of 28,000 tons, or nearly 63,000,000 pounds, of scrap have been collected as a result of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association's scrap campaign, Charles F. Rosser, general chairman, reported today.

Five hundred carloads of scrap have already been shipped to Texas foundries and eastern mills and 300 carloads more are now on hand to be shipped at once, Mr. Roeser said. This makes a total of 800 carloads or around 28,000 long tons.

"These totals are for the 36 principal shipping centers used in our campaign," Mr. Roeser said. "There are an equal number of collection points from which we have not had full reports. When all these centers also report, the total should go over the 30,000 long ton mark."

Scrap is still being hauled into most of the shipping points, he

"Our reports are mainly on the results of our intensive collection drive," Mr. Roeser explained. "We It reported also that farm tenancy was bad for the Nation and recommended a program of Government loans to help tenants to become owners, as other nations had done. The program is just beginned. "Mr. Roeser explained. "We are going to 'get in the scrap' for the duration of the emergency, so we hope to keep a smaller but steady stream of scrap metals and rubber coming in as long as this is needed."

SHOW

FFA And 4-H BOYS

Having been directly associated with ranchers and stock farmers over a long period of time, we wish to extend our sincere congratulations to the dub boys who will participate h the stock show here Saturday.

CALF and PIG We realize the inestimable va-ue of stock and of diversified stock farming, and we know there is not one boy in the group who is not better fitted for producing Food For Fre-dom after the long months they have worked with their animal Saturday, Mar. 28

The stock show proves that among our boys are many natural born stockmen. We wish each of you the best of luck in the ring Saturday. We'll be pulling for you
