FORMER MAYOR

Services Held For Ellis Foust

Services were held Tuesday morning in the Crescent Park Church of Christ, for Ellis Joseph Foust, 71, former Littlefield mayor and long-time resident of the Lamb County area. Foust, a retired farmer and rancher, passed away about 6 a.m. Sunday in a local hospital. The former mayor had been in failing health since a heart attack about a month ago. A Central Texas native, Foust came to the Littlefield area from Williamson County, 47 years ago, and had long been active in farming and ranching operations on the High Plains and in New Mexico. Foust was first elected mayor in April 1957, and served two terms, stepping down in 1963. Prior to being elected mayor, Foust served as county commissioner, in the 1930s, and for two years was a member of the city council.

Services for the former mayor were conducted by Bob Wear, minister of the church. Assisting was Jack McCormick. Burial was in Littlefield Memorial Park under the direction of Hammons Funeral Home.

Survivors include his wife, Birdie Mae; two sons, E. J., Jr., Littlefield and Bob, Albuquerque, New Mexico; a daughter, Mrs. Uryne Baccus, Sudan; three brothers, Ralph, Fresno, Calif., Charles, Amarillo and Fred, Albuquerque, N. M.; three sisters, Mrs. Ida Collins, Fresno, Calif., Mrs. Perry Vest, Bronte, and Mrs. Raymond Erwin, Lubbock; and five grandchildren.

MORTON SCRIMMAGE

Rains Force Wildcat Drills Inside

The rains which began falling Saturday night, and continued through Tuesday, brought most outside activity to a standstill, among them the work outs of the Littlefield Wildcats.

As the 'Cats licked their wounds received in the inter squad scrimmage last Saturday morning, the coaches were reviewing the progress and making changes in positions and plays, in preparation for tonight's battle with Morton, at Morton.

The first phase of the 1966 Wildcats to take shape appears to be the defense as the stiff forward wall of the 'Cats continues to improve. Even though they were missing some of the regulars last Saturday morning,

Montgomery, Smith PCG Directors

Joe Montgomery and John D. Smith were re-elected directors of the Plains Cotton Growers Association Tuesday night as members braved the inclement weather to attend the annual meeting in the District Courtroom of the County Court House.

Smith, who is currently president of the PCG, was elected to a two year term, while Montgomery was elected for another year.

Following the election of the two directors, Donald Johnson, executive vice-president of the PCG told the members that it now appears West Texas will be included in the Texas Water Development Plan, thanks largely to efforts by the PCG and other groups interested in the development of water resources for the West Texas region.

Johnson said the requests of the various organizations, that West Texas be included in the planning for water, is beginning to bring results, and encouraged that PCG members attend the hearings that will be conducted in Lubbock on September 9 and state their feelings on the need for water.

the defense of the "Maroon" team held against anything the offense could throw at them, and still came back for more.

The Wildcats were forced inside as they continued to work, with the coaching staff reporting all workouts this week have been held in the high school gym.

Wednesday morning head coach, George Kirk said there is a possibility the Morton scrimmage, scheduled for tonight, will be called off and re-scheduled due to the rains. The Morton vicinity received over nine inches of rain, and the condition of the field is questionable.

Kirk and his staff, had hoped the scrimmage would help in sizing up the team, and finding who was best suited to play where. Right now there are two and three men races for just about every spot on the club, except at end where Phillip Pace, Kevin Hutson and Joe Ross seem to have the posts nailed down.

In the backfield there are still a number of question marks on positions as Wilmer Williams and Richard Wright fight a heated battle for the left half-back spot, leaving Fred Koozts all alone in the right half position. Nevil Manning and Danny Lambeth are competing for the full back spot, while Tim Tapley and Mike Crissom struggle to see who will be the quarterback. The quarterback position chase could become even more involved when Lindy Stansell returns. Stansell has been out with a chipped bone in his hand.

At the tackle spots its Ricky Kloiber, Ralph Dangerfield and Larry Durham, along with Randy Birkelbach, all fighting for a starting berth.

Senior Mike Lumsden and Junior Mike Stafford appear to have the inside track on the guard positions, but are being pressed hard by a couple of sophomores.

On the B-team scene, the young 'Cats continue to show rapid improvement and will get their first test Friday night in a scrimmage against the Olton Mustangs in Olton.

WHITHARRAL

Saturday Deadline For Dinner Tickets

The deadline for purchasing tickets for the first Whitharral Community Dinner has been set for Saturday, August 27, according to R. B. 'Slick' Chandler, chairman of the committee selling tickets.

The dinner, to be held Tuesday, at 7:30, in the Whitharral High School Cafeteria, is the first of the year in the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce's community relations program designed to help develop closer relations, between Littlefield and its trade area. Chandler said, Tuesday, the ticket sales are moving along real well, but there are a number of people who have yet to purchase tickets, and make plans to attend the affair.

Tickets are $3.00, which includes the meal for a Whitharral guest.

The arrangements for the dinner are being co-ordinated between the Agri-business Committee of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce and the Whitharral Lions Club, which made the plans for the event and helped to furnish a location.

The meal will be prepared by members of the "Coffee Break" club of Whitharral.

Leon Slaughter, Executive vice-president of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce said the Chamber has hopes that a good turnout at the dinner will result in helping make the affair an annual one. "We sometimes get real involved in the matters of the moment and forget about the people of the trade area, the dinner is only one way we can express our appreciation to the people who are helping to make Littlefield a trade center. We hope this will be the beginning of a program which will allow the merchants and people of Littlefield to become acquainted with the people from the Whitharral area," Slaughter stated.

Another community dinner is slated to be held in Pep, the latter part of September. Anyone wishing to purchase tickets for the dinner can call the chamber of commerce at 385-4451, or contact Chandler at G & C Auto, to reserve tickets.

VISITING U. A. R. SPECIALISTS...A six man delegation from the United Arab Republic is currently spending the week in the Littlefield area, studying various farming and financing operations. Meetings are being conducted in the Directors room of the Lamb County Electric

UAR Agriculture Ministers Visit County

"Our country is about the same as the High Plains of Texas, except we do not get as much rain." This was the statement made by the six-member delegation of Agricultural Ministers from the United Arab Republic, now in Littlefield studying the programs of the Farmers Home Administration's loan and assistance programs.

The six, part of a team of specialists from the U.A.R., are in the fifth week of an eleven-week tour of the United States, as part of a program to help their country in agricultural development.

The six will use their knowledge, in their respective provinces, to strengthen the administration of extension programs, to train extension workers and for improving planning procedures in extension and related areas.

The week-long visit, to the Littlefield area, is designed to inform the visitors on the programs the government has for providing assistance to the farmers of the area in financing and growing their crops, as well as providing the visitors with the opportunity to see some of the programs in operation.

They were the guests of Truman Jones and Neil Wood, of the Littlefield FHA office, who conducted the meetings held in the director's room of the Lamb County Electric Building.

The visitors expressed an interest in all phases of the farming operations of the U. S. A., but were most interested in the services being performed by the Extension Services of the country. While here, they will study the operation of the Soil Conservation Service, The Federal Extension Service and the services offered by the USDA.

One of the most interesting observations made by the visitors, was that of the size of the farms on the High Plains. One of the six said his country has a law that limits the size, per family, to 100 acres, and that mechanization is not as common in the U.A.R., as it is in this country, because of the abundance of hand labor available at all times.

Another vast difference is in the financing of the farms, which is done without interest. In the U. A. R., a family can purchase a 100 acre farm, over a period of 30 years and no interest, if they receive financing from the Central Bank.

The visitors said, one of the prime reasons for their visit if to learn all they can about the techniques employed by American farmers prior to the opening of new irrigated farm land in their country.

According to the group, the land in the Nile Valley and other areas of the country, where water is available, the growing season is about nine or ten months in length, and the U.A.R. enjoys three harvest dates per year, thus getting the production of 1 1/2 million acres from only five and a-half million acres of productive land.

The crops of the U.A.R. are similar to those of the High Plains with cotton, wheat and grain being among the chief crops and rice, clover, legumes and vegetables also being grown in great numbers.

One of the group said that, at the present, only about three per cent of the land is under cultivation and one of the biggest problems faced by his country is in having enough land for those who want to farm. The land that is now producing cotton comprises about one-third of the total cultivated acreage, while the remaining land is split with many crops.

The cotton produced on the land is generally about 1/34 in high quality cotton, which is Henson and the other officers of the group have urged that the entire membership attend so plans can be made.

Rain, rain, and more rain, fell on Littlefield and the area beginning Saturday, bringing an end to the prolonged dryness that has gripped the area. Since the rains began, last weekend, communities and reporting stations in the area have reported up to nine inches in many locations, making this a near record fall.

While farmers of the area viewed the rainfall as most beneficial, many have expressed their feelings that we have had enough for the time being, and were looking for an end to the rain before any damage could be done to the crops.

As beneficial as the rains were, problems still arose as state highway crews reported that several Farm-to-Market roads were closed because of high water, and city crews reported flooding of some city streets.

Officially, Littlefield recorded 8.60 inches of rain over the four-day period, with over five inches being recorded Tuesday.

Agricultural observers say that, for the most part, the rains were most welcome and did provide some help to the crops; however, it is now necessary for warm, dry weather to set in if the true benefit is to be known.

County Agent Buddy Logsdon said the cotton will benefit the greatest from the rains if the front moves out of the area and warm weather sets in. Grain, especially in the dry-land area, will benefit, but not as much as it would have if the rains had come two weeks earlier. Logsdon said the rain would help the sorghum fill out and make fuller, heavier heads. Cotton will be better off only if we get warm weather, the county agent stated.

The incessant rains began late Saturday evening, pouring one and one-half inches of moisture on crops and the city with in an eight-hour period, and then continued Monday and Tuesday forcing most outside activity to a standstill.

Around the area, rainfall amounted to over eight inches in the Sudan area. Olton reported almost six inches Tuesday afternoon, while the Pep-Bula area measured up to nine and a-half inches for the four-day period.

North of Littlefield, in the Rocky Ford and Fieldton area, farmers reported over 10 inches since Thursday.

Rip Elms, at the Paymaster Cotton Oil Mill, said most of the reports he had received indicated that all the areas in the vicinity got in excess of eight inches of rain, and that the attitude of the farmers was one of relief and pleasure.

Elms said the rains would be of help to most of the skip-row planted cotton, but would not help most of the solid-planted cotton, and it could hurt unless the farmers have an early opportunity to get in the field and begin weeding. The second growth that will be brought on by the rains could also hurt the yield, Elms stated.

The cool weather that accompanied the rains could be most harmful to the yield, if the weather doesn't change in the next few days, Elms said, since it will allow the boll worm to get a start, and will also allow for the wetting of the cotton.

Generally the rains are expected to help the grain and soybean production more than anything. Buddy Logsdon said these two crops still have plenty of time to improve, and the rain is what was needed to help out.

Because of the manner in which it fell, most of the moisture was soaked right up, with run-off held to a bare minimum until the saturation point was finally reached Tuesday.

Farm lakes, as well as most of the drainage ditches and low spots in the county were filled to over flowing by the time the rain slackened off Tuesday night.

Because of the heavy rains, farmers say it will be the middle of next week before they have an opportunity to get into the fields to work their crops, and even then they do not know what they can do to help the situation.

What to do while the line is busy

1 Take for granted that whoever is talking on the line will hang up soon.

2 Hope that no one left his receiver lessly off the hook.

3 Think about how reliable a telephone connection is once you get it. And how Gen Tel is constantly at work to modernize and improve service.

4 Be patient. After all, you may have talked for 20 or 30 minutes once yourself. So decide not to call the telephone company to report an out-of-order phone.

5 Think again about trouble-free telephone service. Then, when you get a line, think of the other party, too.

Hearing will begin at 9:30 a.m. in the Lubbock City Auditorium on the Texas Technological College campus.

Lubbock hearing will be a close series of hearings on the Texas Water Plan that began in the Dallas city in mid-June, continued the summer in all parts of Texas.

There must be some more genteel way of saying what I am about to say, but I don't know what it is. Maybe the painless inoculations don't "take".

You have heard, through half-a-dozen political campaigns, the same trite warnings: "Government cannot give you anything which it has not first taken away from you." "Government big enough to give you everything you want is big enough to take from you everything you have." "There is no free lunch."

No tax for the maintenance of public free schools voted in any independent school district and no tax for the maintenance of a junior college voted by a junior college district, nor any bonds voted in any such district, but unissued, shall be abrogated, cancelled or invalidated by change of any kind in the boundaries thereof. After any change in boundaries, the governing body of any such district, without the necessity of an additional election, shall have the power to assess, levy and collect ad valorem taxes on all taxable property within the boundaries of the district as changed, for the purposes of the maintenance of public free schools or the maintenance of a junior college, as the case may be, and the payment of principal and interest on all bonded indebtedness outstanding against, or attributable, adjusted or allocated to, such district or territory, therein, in the amount, at the rate, or not to exceed the rate, and in the manner authorized in the district prior to the change in its boundaries, and further in accordance with the laws under which all such bonds, respectively, were voted; and such governing body also shall have the power, without the necessity of an additional election, to sell and deliver any unissued bonds voted in the district prior to any such change in boundaries, and to assess, levy and collect ad valorem taxes on all taxable property in the district as changed, for the payment of principal and interest on such bonds in the manner permitted by the laws under which such bonds were voted. In those instances where the boundaries of any such independent school district are changed by the annexation of, or consolidation with, one or more whole school districts, the taxes to be levied for the purposes hereinabove authorized may be in the amount or not to exceed the amount theretofore voted in the district having at the time of such change the greatest scholastic population according to the latest scholastic census and only the unissued bonds of such district voted prior to such change, may be subsequently sold and delivered, and any voted, but unissued, bonds of other school districts involved in such annexation or consolidation shall not thereafter be issued."

Sec. 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of the State at an election to be held throughout the State of Texas on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1966, at which election all ballots shall have printed thereon the following:

"FOR the Amendment to Section 3-b of Article VII of the Constitution of Texas providing that taxes or bonds previously voted in any independent school district shall not be abrogated, cancelled or invalidated by a change in boundaries and authorizing the continuance of the levy of taxes after such change without further election."

"AGAINST the amendment to Section 3-b of Article VII of the Constitution of Texas providing that taxes or bonds previously voted in any independent school district shall not be abrogated, cancelled or invalidated by any change in boundaries and authorizing the continuance of the levy of taxes after such change without further election."

If it appears from the returns of said election that a majority of the votes cast were in favor of the Amendment, the same shall become a part of the State Constitution and be effective on and after the date of its adoption.

Sec. 3. The Governor shall issue the necessary proclamation for said election, and shall have the same published as required by the Constitution and Laws of this State.

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

Some three weeks or more ago Donald A. Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., reported USDA plans were in the mill to "freeze" about 85,000 acres of the 1967 Texas cotton allotment and about 150,000 to 200,000 acres of the nation allotment.

Involved are acres not planted in 1966 as a result of the required productivity adjustments on allotments transferred by sale or lease from an area of low productivity to areas with high yield histories. Johnson reported that USDA was planning to "freeze" these acres at the state level, depriving producers of the opportunity to plant them.

Now the report has been confirmed. But Johnson still maintains the procedure is outside the law in that it will reduce the national minimum allotment below the minimum 16 million acres set by Congress in 1958.

Under Secretary of Agriculture, John A. Schnitker, replying to a question from Congressman George Mahon, has said in a letter that instructions to implement handling of such acreage are now being printed.

Mahon asked: "Will the sale of cotton acreage from low yield to high yield acres hurt our state and affect the state and national allotments?"

In short, Schnitker replied that the state's allotment would be the same as if no acres had been transferred and that no one would be adversely affected by transfers. But in the same paragraph he said that the acreage apportioned to counties and to producers from the state allotment would exclude acreage not planted in 1966 because of sale and lease transfers. The state gets the acres, but is not allowed to plant them.

PCG is not willing to drop the matter, and reproduced below is the text of a letter to Mr. Mahon from Johnson, through which Johnson hopes to get additional consideration for his views.

"Reference is made to your recent letter from Under Secretary John Schnitker concerning the effect of relative productivity adjustments under allotment transfer provisions on future State allotments.

"We are in agreement with and fully appreciative of the fact that... the State of Texas will not receive a reduced share of the national acreage allotment for 1967 or any subsequent year because of productivity adjustments."

"But, as we understand them, two other statements later in the same paragraph are difficult to reconcile.

1. "However, the allotment attributable to the history acreage reduced as a result of the adjustments will be frozen at the State level, that is, it will not be distributed to counties or farms." And,

2. "The freezing of allotments in connection with sales, leases and transfers by owners does not adversely affect any person involved in the transactions -- either in the first year of the transfer or any subsequent year."

"Texas' share of the 16.2 million acre national allotment in 1967 has been set at 6,841,084 acres. But if something like 85,000 acres of this is to be frozen at the State level and not passed down as acres available to counties for planting, does this not have the effect of reducing the State's cotton allotment by almost 1-1/4 per cent? And will not each producer, including those involved in sales and leases, suffer his proportionate share of the lost acres?"

"If our thinking is correct, it would appear that the combined total of such frozen acres for all the cotton producing states would reduce the acres available for planting in 1967 and future years below the 16 million acre legal minimum set by Congress in 1958.

"Also, we would like to know what effect the acres 'regarded as planted to maintain the allotment and history acreage' will have on the state's projected yield. Dividing total State production by an acreage higher than that actually planted would tend to reduce the average per acre yield for the State, which in turn would depress projected yield. And under the present program projected yield is synonymous with dollars and cents to our producers.

"These are matters we feel need further clarification from the Department. And if our views prove correct, we would urge that the acres under discussion be made available to producers for planting, giving them the full benefit of the 16 million acre legal minimum allotment and eliminating any detriment to projected yield computations."

One of the most frequently and fervently discussed subjects in Texas lately has been the Texas Water Plan and the future water requirements of Texas which prompted its conception.

In this area, Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., has its Water Committee. Texas Tech has the West Texas Water Institute. There's a "2020" Water Committee with representatives from business, industry, agriculture and finance. The West Texas Chamber of Commerce has its Water Resources Committee.

And all of these are seriously concerned with the future of the area as it relates to water for municipal, industrial and irrigation uses.

But it's not just West Texas or Texas or even just the United States that has water problems. Here are some water facts from an article in Business Week, which quotes a study committee of the National Academy of Sciences.

Over 97.2 per cent of the world's water is in the oceans or inland seas and is unfit for use without costly refinement. Another 2.1 per cent is frozen in glaciers and icecaps, leaving only 0.7 per cent in rivers, fresh water lakes and underground deposits.

That 0.7 per cent still might be sufficient to answer all fresh water demands if it were all above the earth's surface. But, say the experts, two of the most unchanging things about the world's supply of usable water are its unequal distribution of the fact that 97 per cent of it is underground.

The report does say that there is no indication of an over all shortage of water in the U.S. for the balance of this century. But there is danger of regional water shortages, particularly in the northeastern states.

The U.S. and the world has the same problem Texas has -- unequal distribution.

Bowling For Better Scores

By Evelyn Teal 1964-65 All American Team

Completion of the Four Step Delivery

5th of Seven Articles

In the fourth step the ball is coming through in its pendulum swing. Here is where a bowler must emphasize timing and coordination. The right arm is heading toward the foul line as the left foot simultaneously goes forward to the foul line. The right foot is off the lane and acts as a counter balance between the weight of the ball on the right side and the sliding left foot. The shoulders are still parallel to the foul line, the body is still bent slightly at the waistline, and if the first three steps above have been executed properly, the bowler will be in perfect position to release the ball. It must be remembered that the fourth step is generally a slide. The left foot slides directly toward the pins and never, repeat never, should be turned to a parallel position with the foul line.
