THIRD WAR LOAN CAMPAIGN TO GET UNDERWAY SEPTEMBER 9

Special Effort To Be Put Forward In July And August

Local Postoffice Have Instructions To Get Behind Selling Program

The Third War Loan Campaign for the sale of War Bonds will get underway about September 9, as announced by Postmaster W. D. T. Storey Monday.

"Sales of bonds and stamps are going to be stepped up considerably during July and August," stated the local Postmaster, who said that the Postoffice Department at Washington has instructed the local postoffice to keep a good supply of War Bonds and stamps on hand, and to boost the sale in every way possible during these months. The purpose of this special drive and effort, stated Mr. Storey, will be to increase the sales two or three times over what have been sold in the past.

He also said that the local postoffice had instructions to put every effort possible behind the effort, and that, no doubt, the banks and other organizations selling stamps and bonds received similar instructions.

Marvin Jones Is New Food Chief

Judge Marvin Jones assumed direction of the nation's wartime food production Tuesday with strong support from the War Labor Board (WLB) for the subsidy program which was one of the main issues over which his predecessor quit the post.

Jones, former chairman of the House Agriculture Committee as a congressman from Texas, with a long period of support for the policies of President Roosevelt, is known as a price rollback and subsidy advocate. He replaced Chester Davis, St. Louis banker.

Shortly after Jones was sworn in, the WLB issued a statement declaring its unanimous support for the food subsidy program and asserting that a ceiling on the cost of living is necessary to enable it to hold down wages.

Jones, declaring his belief that enough food for a "healthful diet" was assured, indicated in a statement as he took office that he believed any shortages would be only relative since the American people are "eating more and better than ever before."

"As war food administrator I expect to do the best job I can with the tools at hand," Jones said as he took the oath of office to succeed Davis.

Decorations ... United States Army

U. S. Army Decorations are awarded for acts of heroism or exceptionally meritorious service. Service Medals are awarded to all persons in the military service who have taken part honorably in campaigns of wars of the United States, or who, as members of the Army, serve honorably during periods of emergency short of actual war.

Decorations are prescribed for wear only on certain specified occasions of an official or social nature. These include State occasions, both at home and abroad; when receiving or calling upon, or acting as escort or aide to the President of the United States or the sovereign or chief executive of any foreign country, or any member of a reigning royal family; at all official or social functions at the White House and when attending elsewhere other ceremonies and social functions given by or for certain high civil and military officials.

Commanding officers may also prescribe the wearing of decorations at parades, reviews, inspections, and funerals, and on ceremonial and social occasions of a general and formal nature. They may also be worn, at the option of the wearer, at social occasions of a private nature and on holidays when the wearer is not on duty with troops.

Army decorations take precedence in the order: Medal or Distinguished Service Cross, Distinguished Service Medal, Silver Star, Purple Heart, Soldier's Medal, and Distinguished Flying Cross. When more than one is worn, they are worn in that order from right to left of the wearer. If more than one row is necessary, the rows will overlap.

Medal of Honor: For conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity at the risk of life, above and beyond the call of duty, in action involving actual conflict with an enemy, while an officer or enlisted man of the Army of the United States. (The Medal of Honor is the only decoration awarded in the name of Congress. It is also the only one which is presented by the President in person whenever it is practicable to order the recipient to Washington for the presentation ceremony.)

Distinguished Service Cross: For extraordinary heroism in connection with military operations against an armed enemy while serving in any capacity with the Army of the United States.

Distinguished Service Medal: For exceptionally meritorious service in a duty of great responsibility while serving in any capacity with the Army of the United States.

Silver Star: For gallantry in action in situations not warranting the award of either the Medal of Honor or the Distinguished Service Cross.

Purple Heart: For any act of singularly meritorious service or act of extraordinary fidelity, and for wounds

Speeding Up The Cotton Harvest

With cotton-picking time just around the corner, the cotton grower is going into a huddle with himself for any means that will speed up the cotton harvest. Everyone knows that the picking of cotton by hand is a slow, tiresome, gruelling task. It takes a good deal of time and much labor, and labor is a scarce article around the farm these global war days.

By way of suggestion, H. P. Smith, chief of the Division of Agricultural Engineering of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, thinks we might take a cue from the war training system. He points out that some individuals can pick cotton faster than others. Why not, he asks, get some outstanding pickers to train the slower pickers in the methods they use?

There is an humble science in good cotton picking. One should pick as much cotton with the left hand as with the right. Before a boll is finished the good picker looks ahead and has the next one located. Mr. Smith points out that there is also an art in getting the proper wrist movement so that the cotton is slipped out of the boll without breaking it off from the plant, and then having to stop and remove the cotton from the bur.

Farmers of Northwest Texas and Oklahoma speed up their cotton harvest by "snapping" both the cotton and the bur from the plant, Mr. Smith said. A good man can snap 700 or 800 pounds, gross weight, per day, but the average will range between 400 and 500 pounds. About a fourth to a third of the total weight of snapped cotton is burs and trash. The crop, however, is harvested more than twice as rapidly as when picked, Mr. Smith said.

Many cotton growers are showing tremendous interest in mechanical apparatus for harvesting their cotton crops. Machine strippers with revolving stripper rolls will harvest from 80 to 95 per cent of the crop, Mr. Smith claimed. They are effective and profitable when used on suitable types of cotton. Cotton picking machines will also harvest a good percentage of the cotton crop. Such machines when used as tractor attachments, Mr. Smith said, will speed up the cotton harvest several times over the hand picking and hand snapping methods.

Soldier's Medal: For heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy.

Distinguished Flying Cross: For heroism or extraordinary achievement while participating in aerial flights.

Medal of Honor Rosette: For wear with civilian dress, showing that the wearer is a holder of the Medal of Honor.

Oak Leaf Cluster: Awarded in lieu of duplicate decorations.

HOLDERS OF "A" GASOLINE RATIONING BOOKS MUST RENEW THEM BY MAIL

holders of "A" gasoline rationing books will renew their rations by mail and may obtain application forms at service stations and other sites in Lamb county, beginning July 1, Lamb County War Price and Rationing Board announced this week. Application forms will be distributed to stations and other places at which it will be convenient for every "A" book holder in the county to obtain one.

No matter how far or how near one lives from the board, he is to renew his rations by mail.

Present "A" rations expire July 21. It was urged that motorists who have only "A" rations obtain the application forms as soon as possible after July 1 and mail them to the board so that the "A" books may be serviced first. "B" and "C" book holders have coupons which will serve them beyond that date.

It also was stressed that every "A" book holder should take care to fill the applications in completely and properly. Because of the large number of applications which will need to be processed, applications not properly filled in or not accompanied by required material will have to be set aside until other applications have been serviced.

The application form properly filled in should be accompanied by the current tire inspection record, which must show that at least one tire inspection has been made and approved, and the back cover of the present basic A book, which should have the applicant's signature and address in the spaces provided.

Motorcycle owners also will renew their rations in a similar manner, except that they are not required to send in tire inspection records.

Jas. A. Toliver Is New Santa Fe Clovis Roadmaster

The appointment of James A. Toliver to the position of Roadmaster at Clovis, N. M., succeeding Willard Baker, recently promoted to the post of Pecos Division Engineer, was announced recently through the office of G. C. Jefferis, general manager of the Santa Fe Railway, Western Lines.

Toliver has served on the Pecos Division since entering employment of the Santa Fe in 1917, when he started as section laborer and rose to the position of track supervisor.

The appointment of J. R. Clayton, of Amarillo, to the position of maintenance clerk in the Vice-President's office, Chicago, was also announced.

Clayton has been with the Santa Fe 24 years and until the present change served as accountant in the chief engineer's office of the Western Lines.

Ideal Foremen Study Production

Twenty-seven foremen, assistant foremen, and supervisors from the factory of Ideal Company, the manufacturing division of Wm. Cameron & Co., Inc., have just completed a six-month study program on efficient production and supervision methods in the manufacture of war materials, Frank Stevens, general manager, has announced. All phases of the successful handling of men, machines, and materials for high efficiency in the manufacture of war materials were covered in this problem-discussion and study course. The program began last December and has just ended. Meetings were held for three hours each Wednesday evening.

This program was under the general supervision of O. B. Smith, plant superintendent. Different parts of the course were taught by Mr. Smith; Ernest Pardo, production manager; Nathe P. Bagby, director of advertising; John M. West, personnel officer; and Hugh Chapin, maintenance and safety supervisor. The outline for the course, the study materials used, and a complete final report of the discussions and the conclusions reached were prepared by Mr. Bagby, using Ellis Plan Foundation management engineering methods. The final report was prepared in loose-leaf book form, and a copy was presented to each person taking the course. Certificates will be presented later to those completing the course.

With the Ideal Company factory devoting 75 per cent or more of its productive capacity to the manufacture of built-in woodwork, completely assembled window and door units set up in the frame, and similar building products for war construction purposes, the efficiency, speed, and economy of production were very important considerations. Last fall Mr. Stevens called together a group of his department heads for a conference on the problem, and together they soon agreed upon the general outlines for a training course to promote greater war production effectiveness throughout the organization. A few of the war-born problems bringing about the necessity for a such a course were excessive employee turn-over, training new help, keeping individual work complaints from becoming grievances, maintaining safety and quality of products while speeding up production, spotting and correcting the job difficulties of workmen, cultivating the right attitude of workmen toward their jobs, and similar subjects.

THE 4th OF JULY Stands For Freedom!

—And America Fights for Freedom! She launches the biggest fleet ever built—flies the most powerful planes ever built—and produces exactly twice the amount of steel as the Axis, enabling her to build and release one tank every ten minutes, day or night! Hand in hand, Army, war workers, farmers and “just plain bond-buying civilians” are forming the alliance that shall not be broken!

On July 4, 1943, we are pledging an even firmer allegiance in our America . . . pledging that we will redouble our efforts to win this World War . . . and maintain and increase that Freedom, which every American cherishes so dearly.

The Fourth of July still stands for Freedom—as it always has—as it always will.

Farmers SERVE AMERICA BETTER When They're Served By Amazing Comfort In...

WOLVERINE SHELL HORSEHIDES

Today, American farmers work longer and longer on their feet than ever before. That's why Wolverine's famous triple tanning process means so much to them. It tans tough, super-durable shell horsehide as soft and pliable as buckskin—makes Wolverine Shell Horsehides feel like house slippers. They even dry out soft after soaking. Wolverine Shell Horsehides are serving America by helping farmers produce more food because their feet don't tire as fast in such soft, comfortable work shoes. Wolverine Triple-Tanning also helps, retaining all the natural wear-defying toughness of shell horsehide in soles and uppers... Try a pair.

FOOD ECONOMY

Your Food Will Stay Fresher

If Put In Your Electric Refrigerator Promptly

The sooner you put perishable foods . . . milk, meats and vegetables . . . in the safe, cold interior of your electric refrigerator, the longer they will stay fresh and appetizing, and the less expensive and scarce food will be wasted. Your grocer and butcher refrigerate milk and meats until you buy them, but once they leave the store refrigerator, these perishable foods begin to lose the cold which protects them from spoiling.

The next time you buy perishable foods, or when milk is delivered to your home, shorten, if you can, the time it takes to get these foods into your refrigerator. Minutes saved will add hours to the time milk and other foods will keep.

FERGUSON IMPLEMENT CO.

FOR YOUR FARM MACHINERY, REPAIR PARTS AND TIRES—

Give your Wholesaler a Break. The J. I. Case Wholesale, Amarillo, have discontinued the retail parts service to farmers, due to shortage of help. This office has advised the local dealer—Ferguson Implement Company, that due to a shortage of experienced help on account of the war, they only have time to fill the dealers' orders, and cannot fill orders for repairs sent in by the many individual farmers using Case machinery. They, therefore, ask the farmers to please cooperate in this emergency and obtain your repairs from your local dealer.

In a letter from the J. I. Case Wholesale to the local dealer, this company sent the following message:

"TO OUR FARMER FRIENDS—

"Most of our experienced Parts men have left because of the war requirements. No experienced replacements are available. This manpower shortage enables us to supply your repair parts needs by furnishing parts to our dealers on their wholesale orders, but we cannot fill your orders here.

"Please obtain your repairs from your dealer—thus cooperate in this emergency service deal."
