Quick Action Required To Save $60,000 Gov't Grant

Littlefield, with the help of a $60,000 federal grant, may build a new, modern airport ... if city voters approve ... and if the present airport site will sell for enough money to finance the city's part of the new project.

At a special meeting Monday night, the city commission called an election for Saturday, June 8, which will give voters an opportunity to approve the sale of the present site adjoining the city limits and the purchase of cheaper land further from town.

Some 25 persons attended the meeting which culminated in the calling of an election on the issue. Spokesman for the spectators was Charles Duval, president of the Chamber of Commerce, who presented the commission with petitions signed by over 200 residents, requesting that the airport be moved to another location.

The action of interested citizens was a last minute push to take advantage of $60,000 worth of government funds, offered the city a year ago for airport improvement. Deadline to match the government funds is July 1st. According to the plan presented by the commission, the present airport will be sold to finance the city's portion of the new airport.

After hearing from the spectators, Commissioner Bob Cox made the motion, seconded by Clint Griffin, that an election be called to get taxpayer's approval to move the airport site.

In calling the election, the commission stressed that even though the proposition carries, the commission will not be obligated to sell the present site unless it will bring enough money to buy the site and build the proposed airport according to government specifications.

Speaking in behalf of the commission, Griffin said Wednesday: "It is entirely up to the voters as to whether we dispose of the present airport property and go further out to a location acceptable to the government, city commission and the citizens of Littlefield."

"We, the city commission, prefer to do what ever the majority of the voters want us to do as long as the city does not have to put additional money into the project."

"We are definitely not in favor of any bond issue or increase in taxes to carry out the above mentioned plans and the city is definitely not in financial position to put any cash money into a project of this kind at the present time."

Dr. Jack Still, chairman of the Airport Committee, issued the following statement Wednesday: "Do the people of Littlefield want a new airport - free from cost to the taxpayer - that would have paved runways, hangar facilities for the present twenty aircraft and space for future expansion? This is the question that was brought before the City Commission on Monday night by the Airport Committee and the Chamber of Commerce.

"We can have a new $1,000,000 airport with modern facilities without cost to the city by sale of the present airport site and using his money to match government funds now available in (Continued on Page Six)

Rainfall for Lamb County Now Totals 9.86 Inches

Is the drought in Lamb County broken? It is the general opinion of many who are in a position to know that Lamb County is the best shape that it has been since 1942.

Charles Owens, Jr., of the Western Cotton Oil Co., who has been all over the county says that the west section of the county looks like a flower garden, and the weeds are really growing. He says that most of the cotton has been planted and where farmers can get into the fields sorghums are being planted.

The section, in the north part of the county, the heavy rains and the hail damaged only the cotton that was not up. The cotton that was up stood the rain and hail fairly well. The areas where cotton was not up will have to be replanted as soon as the fields are dry enough.

The recent rains have brought relief to the area of one of the longest droughts in the history of the country. The rainfall has been evenly distributed throughout the county.

Doubles Same Period of 1956 At the Western Cotton Oil Company where the rain gauge is kept by Alvis Collins the year's 9.86 inches more than doubles the 4.66 inches of the first five months of last year. The rain has been most beneficial falling slowly, with little runoff. Soil retention of the moisture has been good, and planting conditions have been near ideal this spring.

Rainfall Monday totaled as follows: Amherst 2.25; Anton 2.1; Littlefield 7.9; Whitharral 2.50; Springlake 1.0; Sudan .60 and Olton reported .37.

In addition to these Anton, Amherst, Sudan and Olton received some rain between midnight and early Tuesday morning.

The P. W. Walker Grain and Seed Company on West Delano is remodeling their plant at a cost of $2,500. The metal and lumber building will have a concrete floor.

Swimming Pools To Open Here Next Week

The city swimming pool which is situated in the Northwest corner of the city park is to open Monday, June 3. Coach Mayfield will be the supervisor of the pool this year. A concession stand will be operated in the bath house. Life guards will be on duty at all hours that the pool is open.

Admission will be 25c for children to 14 years of age and 40c for adults, $5.00 and $10.00 for season tickets.

The country club pool will open soon after June 1. A defective valve has delayed the opening. A fee which will serve as a wind break has been built around the pool.

Only country club members or members of affiliate clubs will be permitted to use the pool.

The summer recreation program for all children in Littlefield will begin Monday June 10. Mayfield will be the director assisted by Gene McCandless and a high school boy, Miss Anne Q. Roberts will assist with the girls.

County Farmers Contract To Raise Beans And Peas

W. E. Whitson of Denton, president of the Whitson Canning Co., signed contracts with nine Lamb County farmers this week to raise almost 500 acres of green beans and blackeye peas.

Farmers who are participating are J. H. Water, 30 acres; James Steffey, 75; Howard Keiver, 50; Orvel Steffey, 25; Willie Steffey, 50; T. W. Steffey, 50; Albert Cull, 15; and Leslie Lichte, 10.

John D. Smith contracted to plant from 150 to 200 acres of blackeye peas for the firm.

The Whitson Canning Co. which has canneries in Denton, Sulphur Springs and Hugo, Oklahoma, produce and market Camp Fire canned products.

Eight farmers agreed to raise a total of 305 acres of green beans. Planting is scheduled to begin Friday, and harvesting is expected to begin early in August. Average production will be between 4000 and 7500 pound per acre. According to Whitson, Lamb County production will produce about 75,000 cases of beans.

Olton Residents Praised For Work

Olton storm victims are well on their way to rehabilitation this week as the entire community rallied to give their neighbors a lift.

"I've never seen more wonderful cooperation in any community," J. E. Chisholm said Wednesday. Chisholm, who is a member of the national Red Cross board, took charge of the Red Cross activities immediately following the storm until National Red Cross personnel arrived Monday.

Temporary housing for homeless victims was located early this week, primarily in vacant farm worker's houses near Olton. The Red Cross purchased furniture for the victims who were without insurance or funds. Rebuilding of homes will begin next week by the Red Cross on the same basis.

County Attorney Curtis Wilkins, chairman of the Red Cross disaster committee, was high in his praise of the Olton residents. "Almost everyone in and around Olton has been generous in sharing their clothing, household furnishings, time and money," Wilkins pointed out.

More than an ample supply of clothing was received during the first 24 hours. Truckloads of good clothing were sent from Hereford, Dimmitt, Morton and Silvertown. One truckload of clothing which Olton people had donated to Silvertown storm victims was used at home.

Franks and Howard Hall were in charge of providing temporary shelter for the homeless for two nights. Cots, blankets and pillows were sent in from Reese Air Force Base of Lubbock.

The local fire department, who directed traffic Sunday, took up $1800 in cash donations from sight-seers. L. C. Hailey of Littlefield took charge of a fund-raising drive here. Neighbors of the farm victims have worked tirelessly in cleaning debris from the farm land. A Red Cross mobile unit made up of volunteers from Amarillo, arrived immediately following the storm.

John Johnson, Olton Negro, is the only injured victim now hospitalized. Williams, who suffered a broken leg, is in a Lubbock hospital. Estimated damage from the twister which struck at 12:47 p.m., Saturday is $600,000. Seventy-seven homes, primarily in the Negro section, were wiped out.

The Red Cross was designated by Mayor D. Y. Ray as the official fund raising agency. In stressing the need for money, Chisholm explained Wednesday that all money donated in a special drive goes directly to the disaster area. In regular annual drives in Lamb County, one dollar out of four is sent to the national office. At present, the national organization is working in 50 disaster areas in Texas alone.

80 ACRES IN YOUR GARAGE
ELECTRICITY BRINGS THE PASTURE TO THE COW

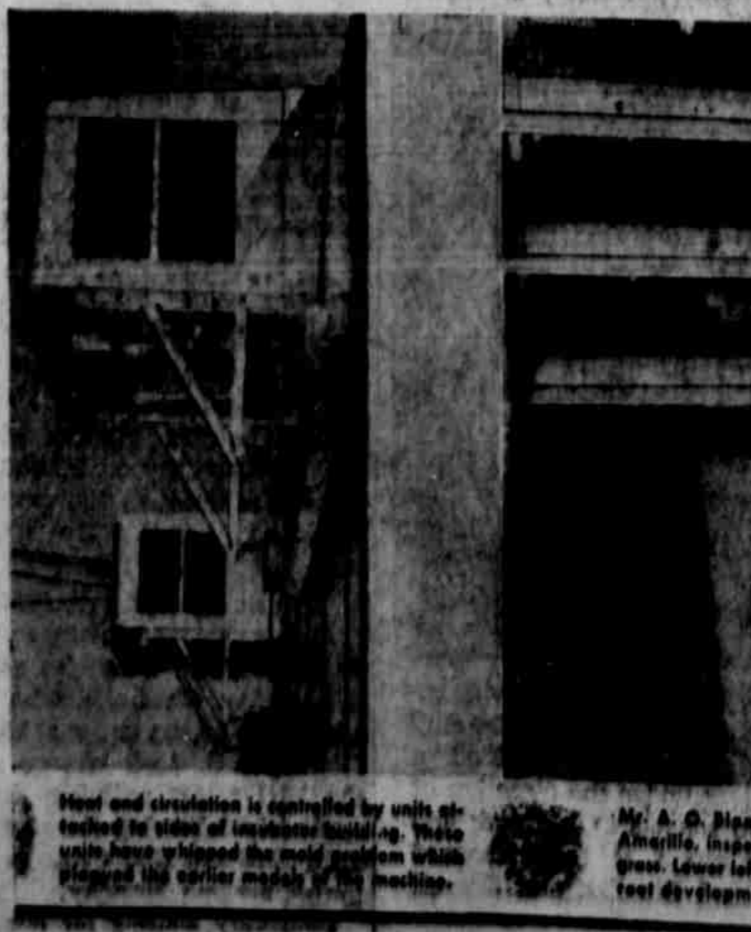

Fantastic, No! Latest innovation of the application of electric power actually brings the pasture to the cow, and dairymen in many sections of Texas are using the machine for supplemental feeding. The magic equipment is a cereal grain "incubator" which grows grass 6 to 8 inches in six days.

Secret of the installation, called a Herbage machine, is in the use of electric heat pumps for accurate temperature control and a practical application of hydroponics. Hydroponics is the cultivation of plants by placing the roots in liquid nutrient rather than in soil.

The cereal grains are pre-soaked, allowed to drain, then put in trays and racked like a file cabinet. With proper control of heat, humidity, light, and chemically treated water, seeds are sprouted and a phenomenal growth is completed in six days.

The experience of dairymen using this machine has shown that 20 pounds per day per cow will increase milk production from 10 to 20 percent and butterfat content 2 to 3 points. Cost of the forage has been from $8 to $12 per ton. Annual production in a 40 cow unit equals that of 80 acres of farm land, the plantings are spaced to yield 800 pounds of forage daily.

Blankenship Dairy, Amarillo, is putting a 12 by 20 foot machine through its paces at this time. This machine has 120 trays with 5 grain baskets per tray; it produces grass for 40 head and will produce over 140 tons of grass per year.

Heat and circulation is controlled by units attached to sides of machine. Mr. A. G. Blankenship, Blankenship Dairy, Amarillo, inspects a crop of five day old grass. Lower left, two baskets show grass and root development after 6 days of growth.

Builders Give Helping Hand To Victims of Disaster Area

AUSTIN, May. — Persons who have lost their homes in the ever-widening disaster areas of Texas were extended a helping hand today by the state's organized home-building industry. R. O. Woodson of Corpus Christi, president of the Texas Association of Home Builders, volunteered the counsel of TAHB members for stricken cities, upon request, to aid the municipality, local builders or individuals with their reconstruction problems. "We are offering the services of 2,200 experienced builders through out the state," Woodson declared, "whose advice would be helpful in such matters as the securing of government insured loans. "Victims of the flood at Lamberson or the tornado at Silverton, for example, could be given constructive information," he continued, "on the advantages of disaster loans (Section 501) available through the Federal Housing Administration. "Under this regulation loans up to a maximum of $12,000 mortgage may be secured to replace homes lost or seriously damaged by these disasters with no down payment and a term of up to 30 years. According to C. T. MacLeod, director of the FHA district office at San Antonio, such liberal insurance of mortgages is provided only in such areas as the President of the United States has declared to be disaster areas. Effective April 29 President Eisenhower declared areas in Texas damaged by the recent floods and such other areas as were damaged by rains, hail or winds to make disaster areas. The borrower must file an application through an approved lending institution," MacLeod stated. "Within one year of the date the President made this declaration, and he must also certify that the home which he occupied was destroyed or damaged by the elements above mentioned to the extent that reconstruction is required. Under the declaration of the President, FHA Commissioner Norman P. Mason has determined that an additional period of one year from the date of default may be granted with respect to mortgage loans made to disaster victims. In such cases the mortgagee should request an extension of time. "Furthermore," MacLeod announced, "the FHA will give sympathetic consideration to disaster victims who are temporarily unable to pay FHA mortgage payments and if necessary, they may be given more time to repay their loans. "FHA priority improvement loans under Title I are available," MacLeod continues, "and it is believed that this facility is so arranged that it can be of immediate assistance to disaster sufferers, permitting them to borrow an aggregate of $1,500 with no down payment for repairs and improvements. "In view of the continuing tightness of mortgage money for regular VA, FHA and conventional home loans, Woodson underscores the fact that funds are available for disaster relief building. MacLeod explains this in such terms as applications for mortgage insurance under Section 501 are eligible for purchase by FNMA (Federal National Mortgage Association) through a special

Roots of Hatred

If the hatred between Arabs and Jews today threatens to wreck the peace of the world, this is made worse by the fact that it has been going on for a long time.

As Jacob and Esau grew up, the hatred seemed to be all on one side. Jacob may have despised his brother, or feared him; but there is no evidence that Jacob ever hated Esau as Esau for a time hated Jacob.

Retiring Teacher Is Honored In Ceremonies At Sudan

Teachers, teachers and more teachers was the order of the day when members of Mrs. Jessie Lybrand's family gathered at the Sudan High School auditorium Friday afternoon to participate in a mock "This Is Your Life" program honoring Mrs. Lybrand. Completing twenty-six years of service, fifteen in the Sudan schools, Mrs. Lybrand is retiring from the teaching profession.

A native of Alabama she is one of five members in her family who chose teaching as their profession. The first of the two sisters and three brothers (two of whom she taught) to become teachers, she has this to say, "I think I must have started something." Teaching in the family doesn't stop at brothers and sisters, for her husband, Mr. Lybrand, was a teacher during the early years of their marriage, and their daughter, Mrs. J. L. Moody of Dallas, is a teacher also.

Mrs. Lybrand attended schools in Wise County and finished high school in Clay County. She attended Canyon College, Decatur Baptist Junior College and Denton State Teachers.

A "far cry" was the school she began her career in in 1916 to the one she brought it to a finish in Friday. A one room, one teacher school in Clay County, her pupils numbered sixteen made up of students in five grades. From there she graduated to a two room, two teacher school, incidentally, the other teacher, her subordinate, was none other than Mr. Lybrand.

Her teaching career was interrupted after the birth of their daughter, Burma, in 1924. She did not resume teaching until 1942 when Burma had finished high school and graduated from college.

With teachers' greatly in demand during the 2nd World War and though with only two years of college work, Mrs. Lybrand found she was needed again to teach the 3 R's. That year, 1942, marked the beginning of her 24 years of service in the Sudan schools. Both mother and daughter worked together on the Sudan School faculty in 1943.

Following the war, Mrs. Lybrand knew if she wished to continue teaching she would have to obtain a degree. So it was back to school for her, this time as a student and she enrolled in summer classes at Tech. In 1951 she received her B. S. degree.

During her years at the local school she taught approximately 700 pupils. She was a second grade teacher for the first three years followed by twelve years as a first grade teacher. At the same day of her retirement, twelve members of her initial first grade class were also graduating from Sudan High School.

Mrs. Lybrand is not the only member of her family to retire, for after thirty-six years as a rural mail carrier, Mr. Lybrand will retire in August. Residents of Sudan since 1937 they will move to Grand Prairie the latter part of the summer to make their home.

Plans of the two following their retirement include visiting relatives they haven't seen too much of in the past years, a little amateur photography work with the new camera they are planning to buy.

Among those present for the program Friday were the following relatives including her mother, three brothers and a sister, Mrs. Sadie Lumsden, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Lumsden of Littlefield, Mr. and Mrs. Ocie Lumsden of Slaton, Johnnie Lumsden of Muleshoe, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Lumsden of Littlefield, Lada Dickerson of Littlefield.

Other to honor her were twelve of her former pupils representing classes of the twelve grades in Sudan school.

Representatives of clubs and organizations she is a member of saying her tributes were Mrs. W. V. Terry, president of the 1930 Study Club; Mrs. Eldon Nichols of the Delta Kappa Gamma; Mrs. Marvin Tollett of the Wesleyan Service Guild; Rev. Walter White of the First Methodist Church; Mrs. Laura Hay, representing mothers of students taught by Mrs. Lybrand; Bernard Wilson, representing the faculty.

Supt. C. O. Gregory presented a twenty-six year service plaque to Mrs. Lybrand. She was also given gifts from the faculty and the PTA.

loves to cut loose and cover the miles!

If you're looking for a real "escape artist," a car that loves to step out and get away from it all - well, it just happens that Chevy was born with that urge.

If there ever was a car that loved to cut loose and cover the miles, it's this one. Yet it's so easy to handle that it even makes city traffic seem a bit lighter and parking places a bit bigger.

Chevy's pretty easygoing out on the highway too. Not pokey. Far from it. You find, for example, there isn't a hill around that can make it breathe hard - not with Chevrolet's high-performance V8 on the pulling end. You've got up to 245 horsepower here for the biggest helping of driving pleasure found in the low-price field!

Chevy's new Positraction rear axle (optional at extra cost) adds still more pleasure. It delivers greater power to the wheel that grips, not the wheel that slips. You have sure control and better traction on any road surface.

Khrushchev On Bureaucracy

Whatever the leaders of Western nations may think of Nikita Khrushchev, and he has been pictured as a sort of roly-poly drunken clown in Western circles, he represents a major danger to the West.

This is true because Khrushchev is more flexible than the average communist leader. This has been evident in Khrushchev's admissions of Russian shortcomings. And in his visits to other countries and in his pronouncements that the West and Communism can live together peacefully, he is taking an attitude which comes so much closer to the reasonable than that of the late Joseph Stalin that the Russian people are likely to follow him.

In a recent speech before the Supreme Soviet Khrushchev admitted, in his latest analysis of the Soviet economy, that the Soviet Union was becoming bureaucratic. He estimated that there were some 850,000 bureaucrats feeding off the Russian economy.

He also said that there were so many supervisors in some industries that the quality of production was inferior.

Such admissions by the leader of the Russian Government are significant. Rather than providing encouragement, however, these words are a warning to the West that the Communist hierarchy in Moscow is more flexible than it once was and likely to make more progress in future years than in the past.

Part of the reorganization of the Soviet economy as announced by Khrushchev, is the decentralization of management and industry. This calls for the abolition of twenty large industrial administrative decentralization, the Russians are thought to have made significant progress in decentralizing their armaments industry.

The United States, unfortunately, has not decentralized its defense industry and suffers from some of the same bureaucracy troubles Khrushchev has attacked in Russia.

A Thought For Graduates

Millions of American students are graduating from high schools and colleges. They are entering a world which is somewhat confusing, and, we believe, more confusing than that which has faced graduates in many years of our recent past.

It seems necessary, in these times, for the graduates of 1957 to bear in mind the simple truth and basic principles which have made our country great. First, the story of America's rise to power and riches is one of a willingness to work, a love of freedom and independence and a faith in God and religious freedom. These are the qualities which have carried our nation farther in the fields of science and progress than any other nation in the history of the world.

And yet there are conflicting ideologies today which challenge the American concept. The Communists, for example, believe neither in God, the willingness to work and be rewarded for varying talents and differing applications, nor do they believe in the democratic principles of individual liberty and enterprise, which we hold dear.

The worst prospect the graduate of 1957 faces is that the world may become involved in an atomic war, which could almost destroy our civilization as we know it. However, we believe that chances today are better than they have been in a number of years that such a war can be avoided in the immediate future. So the graduate of 1957 may be able to live a relatively long life in a world not embroiled in an atomic war.

If this be true, and the danger of worldwide atomic war is reduced, then the graduate of 1957 faces a brighter prospect than the graduate of any past year. He becomes a working partner in the society of citizens of the United States at a time when our country is the foremost power in the world.

He is going to work in a country where the population is steadily expanding, where there are many business opportunities and where more and more individual wealth is being accumulated. True, the country may experience periods of relative prosperity and relative hard economic times, but the long term prospect for the United States — economically — is excellent.

Uncle Sam Big Winner

Photo services recently carried pictures of beaming holders of winning tickets in this year's Irish Grand National Sweepstakes. A waiter in an eastern restaurant won $140,000.

The beams must fade a good deal, however, come tax-paying time. For the federal income tax on $140,000 is over $84,000, leaving only $56,000 — which makes Uncle Sam the really big winner.

Leonard E. Reed, president, Foundation for Economic Education:

"When the Government's take gets up to 20 or 25 per cent of average earned income, they have passed the danger point and are courting inflation."

Sandhills Philosopher Give President Eisenhower Advice

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Joanson Grass farm has some advice for a well known farmer this week.

Dear editor: I know that President Eisenhower, with the budget on his hands and the fate of the world hanging on the size of it, has no time to be worrying about farm problems, but a little matter has come to my attention which no one ought to know about in advance.

According to an article I read in a newspaper last night, the manager of Lee's farm at Gettysburg said the farm was making any money right now because they aren't selling any of the cattle they're raising. They're keeping the calves to build up and improve the herd.

Well, now, I'll tell you, I guess all needs ought to be improved, probably the same thing goes for human beings too if anybody can figure out how to do it, but just in case Ike is interested in the benefit of somebody's else's experience, I'd like to point out to him it's possible to sell cattle and still not make any money on a farm.

I mean, just because he's not selling any calves off that Gettysburg farm, doesn't mean that's all that's keeping him from making a profit on it. I don't know anything about the financial details of the place, I have enough trouble keeping up with the financial details of this place out here, but I can tell Ike and his farm manager too that there have been years when I sold calves and lost money just the same.

That is, there's more to making money in the cattle business than setting some calves to the auction pen, and if you're going to work all your own calves, just as long as you can't write, figuring out the spring, doctoring them in the summer, and getting them safely born and up to the stage, only to find out when you get your check you ain't no better off financially than you were you started. There are cattlemen in this country who raised an experience cash.

I'm not saying Ike wouldn't make any money sold his calves, I'm just saying that if he has any time left over from fighting for his budget, dodging the Democrats, and to prepare himself and see the possibility his farm may show a profit, even after he's sold some calves, it wouldn't be first time for something like that to happen to a cattlemen.

Yours faithfully, J. A.

ANNE: You should! I'm not trying to pry, but I'll bet it cost a king's ransom.

BETTY: Wouldn't you be surprised! It cost a lot less than we expected. And, Ed says it will cost less in the long run, too, because an Olds holds its value!

ANNE: Leave it to you to have your cake and eat it, too!

BETTY: And why not? Ed, bless his practical streak, wanted an Olds for its extra value and the Rocket Engine. So, who am I to say "no" to the prettiest thing on wheels? You ought to pass the word along to John!

ANNE: You can say that again! I will tonight!

When Buying HAIL INSURANCE

You Should Have These Advantages:

1. An agent who will look after Your interests, both in policy preparation and in loss adjustments. This is a "MUST" with the new hail policy.
2. An agent with an established office where you can discuss your problems at any time. A salesman working from his car is hard to find when you need him.
3. An agent who will place your insurance in financially sound and fair dealing companies. An insurance policy with any other type of company is worse than none at all.
4. An agent with adequate experience and reputation in the business. Insurance is a profession.

IN STUDIES OVER A PERIOD OF 15 YEARS Dr. Weston A. Price analyzed 20,000 samples of dairy products obtained from all over the world. For the U. S. he found the vitamin content lowest in the samples from eastern and far western states where soil has been farmed the longest, and in those from DEAF SMITH COUNTY, TEXAS where the soil and pasture are highly mineralized. He also found evidence that the mortality from heart disease and pneumonia was the lowest where the vitamin content of the dairy products was highest.
