ways and means to expand their income.

The second factor—fixed and variable costs—is a tremendously important factor in food retailing. Some of these costs are: Public utilities, rent, wages, advertising, and delivery. You know what happened to these items in recent years. Retailers try to recover increases in costs through price increases.

The third factor—the cost of the product to the retailer. The price of carrots bought from a farmers' co-operative may jump 50% in a few weeks. Here the retailer may adjust his prices largely as a result of higher farm prices.

You can see there is no general rule to guide us. Each case deserves special study before a finger is to be pointed at a certain segment of the economy. Obviously, the farmer isn't always to blame.

Many housewives are aggravated by pesky ants in their pantries, cabinets, and on their food supplies.

Household ants can be controlled fairly easy by spraying the interior of the house where they are commonly seen with a 2 per cent chlordane household spray. It's also advisable to spray around windows and doors where ants may enter and around water pipe fittings and sinks where these insects may come for water.

For a more permanent control treat the outside premises of the house and foundation to destroy the colonies. A thorough application of 5 per cent chlordane—either dust or spray—applied on the ground for a distance of 3 to 4 feet from the house will kill ants before they can invade the house.

Chlordane is available at any feed and drug store.

Most insecticides are poisonous to people and to animals. Keep insecticides where children and pets cannot reach them. When applying them, do not contaminate food, dishes or kitchen utensils. Do not store them with food. Do not breathe too much of the spray mist or the dust. If insecticide is spilled on the skin, wash it off promptly. Change your clothes if you spill insecticide on them. Keep children and pets off sprayed surfaces that have not dried.

When you have finished applying an insecticide, empty unused material into the original container, clean the sprayer or duster, and wash all exposed surfaces of the body with soap and water.

FARMERS AND BUSINESSMEN TO 'SLUG IT OUT'

The farmers and the businessmen of Littlefield have always been on the best of terms. In fact they have always played in the same team.

But times do change! They are going to be "agin" each other... and not in the too distant future. In fact, it's not much more than 15 days away.

All this fuss is going to take place on the softball diamond at the fair grounds about the middle of this month.

Softball league officials are going to watch carefully who plays on what team. They are not going to stand for some of these city farmers slipping over on the dirt farmers' teams and visa versa.

It's going to be a great pitching and slugging contest with some fancy fielding and Charlie horses galore.

Don't miss the mess! You'll sure like it.

Eight Million Dollars In Emergency Aid to Be Given Farmers and Ranchers

Announcement was made Tuesday by Secretary Ezra Benson that the Agricultural Department would buy at least 20 million pounds of canned beef, gravy, hamburger and boned beef, to help drought stricken cattlemen in the southwest.

He said the purchases, to bolster the "ruinously low" prices cattlemen are getting for their livestock, will "begin immediately" and will continue for the next 20 weeks.

Shortly before Benson's announcement, President Eisenhower made eight million dollars available for use in the drought areas of West Texas and Oklahoma and also allocated $240,000 for flood-damaged areas of East Texas and Louisiana.

Problems Inter-Related
Benson said "the drought and general cattle situations are two separate problems, but they are now inter-related and will be so for some weeks at least."

"It is important that a form of the relief we give to livestock people in the stricken areas be directed toward stemming the trend toward ruinously low prices for stock forced into liquidation by the drought condition," he said.

Benson said the purchase program should aid drought sufferers immediately and "will tend to stabilize prices."

He said the department would be buying meat any way for the school lunch program "and by taking it at this time we lend assistance to both the drought sufferers and the long term cattle outlook.

Telegraphs Governors
Eisenhower sent telegrams to Governors Allan Shivers of Texas and Johnston Murray of Oklahoma, saying eight million dollars will be supplied to cattlemen by the Agriculture Department and the Federal Civil Defense Administration.

Included in the counties to benefit under the emergency plan are Lubbock, Lamb, Cochran, Hockley, Dimmitt, Hale, and Bailey Counties.

The Farm Bureau Federation suggested that the president include in his emergency program some provision for making supplies of feed available without delay, adequate emergency credits and a program for buying canned and processed meat for resale to foreign trade or other channels.

Government officials are now waiting specific word from Washington on how to apply the president's relief order.

Good rains Sunday and Monday in Harris County are said to have saved the county's seven million dollar cattle industry.

The rain extended Tuesday from Corpus Christi north and west to San Angelo and northeast through Wichita Falls into Oklahoma.

Rainfall included 3.55 inches at Clyde, 2.05 at Stamford, 1.80 at Haskell, 1.32 at Eastland.

Wilbarger County Agent T. L. McBride of Vernon said the rain "will revive cotton and grain sorghums and give farmers another cutting of alfalfa."

Other rainfall totals in the period ending 6:30 a. m. today included: San Antonio 1.87 inch, Austin 1.24, Beaumont 1.27, Lufkin 1.63, College Station 1.33.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson spoke to a large delegation of farmers Saturday at the Caprock Hotel in Lubbock.

Benson stated that the program would make cotton seed, meat or cake and other food concentrates available for the maintenance of herds at prices producers can afford to pay. He would also authorize the interstate commerce commission to ask railroads to reduce freight rates during the emergency period. He would also step up the USDA buying program, particularly in the category of low grade beef, and would provide for emergency credit to help livestock producers and farmers to stay in business.

Each county in the South Plains area sent a delegate of farmers to the special meeting Saturday with Benson, who also made a tour of the drought area early Saturday morning.

The committee from Lamb County meeting with Secretary Benson included: Paul Lewis, W. H. Cunningham, Henry Arend, Bob Smith, E. J. Stone, Walter Martin, John Moore, and Johnny Graham.

They asked that Lamb County be included in the drought area and be eligible for relief, and that the government either support the price of beef cattle, or take the supports out from under feed. They also asked for all time credit for costs, and in some instances loans for living expenses.

If wheat allotments were declared they asked that the counties included in the drought area be allowed to plant wheat if plenty of moisture was received this fall.

Anton School To Erect New Building

The Anton school board recently accepted plans for building additional school facilities at the Anton school plant.

The plan is accepted in lieu of a recent plan to build a new high school building, which was abandoned a few weeks ago.

The new building, comprising about 11 square feet of floor space, will cost in the neighborhood of $150,000, including furniture and equipment.

A vocational agriculture building will also be constructed at a cost of about $10,000.

Board members said that the new building will discontinue the use of barracks buildings, and will probably contain a cafeteria, music department and agricultural classroom.

PUT YOUR GARDEN in YOUR LOCKER

It's fun to save the fruits and vegetables you grow and eat them throughout the year. It's economical, too, and so easy to prepare and put them in containers for locker storage.

Most everything that grows in your garden and orchard can be quick-frozen in a fraction of the time you used to spend for canning. The garden foods you give away, or allow to rot, will be welcome six months from now, and will more than pay the modest cost of a frozen food locker.

Stop in soon, and let us show you how and why foods that are quick-frozen (at lower temperatures than you can get in a home freezer) offer you a way to live like a king the year 'round. We'll be glad to advise you, and to supply you with the right containers and wrapping materials for your needs.

Men Start Survey On Spacing Of Irrigation Wells Drilled Since February 1

Men of the Hi-Plains Underground Water Conservation District are starting a survey on spacing of wells that have been drilled since February 1st of this year. Over 1,500 permits have been issued in 13 counties participating in the Water Conservation Program. A small percentage of the wells issued have been for Municipal and Industrial use—with the larger part being for Irrigation.

It has been shown by men of long experience in water well development that one of the first problems in water conservation is the spacing of the wells with respect to the aquifer. By proper spacing, a well can be made to produce from a higher water table, enabling the producer to get water at a much cheaper cost than in areas of over-lapping wells. The practice of spacing wells has been started years ago in the Hi-Plains District. The amount of knowledge is being gained and recorded by the Logs and Registration of the wells drilled. There are untold numbers of Logs that have been made by the Drillers and Pump Companies, since the people of the Hi-Plains first started the development of the underground water. This information remains in the hands of 60 or more Pump Companies and Drillers and has never been correlated. It is another object of the district to gather and correlate this information. It will be used by the district, and the people it concerns in helping to make better studies of water development and conservation practices.

Second Fire Loss For Floyd Dyer

According to Floyd Dyer, the entire cafeteria building will have to be redecorated before this popular eating house can be re-opened since smoke and heat damaged the interior, in the fire which occurred Wednesday of last week.

This is the second fire Mr. Dyer has experienced this year. Last March a fire at his farm two miles north and east of Yellowhouse Switch, destroyed his well house and all his irrigation equipment. The loss amounted to $1,200, with no insurance carried.

COTTON CHOPPERS ARRIVE IN CITY

Latin Americans swarmed Littlefield streets Saturday looking for work, due to the short cotton crop in other places. Some are reported to have come as far as Mississippi.

According to the Texas Employment Office here, there is some cotton chopping here, but not enough to employ the number on hand Saturday.

Three hundred fifty hands are employed in the digging of potatoes in the Olton area and also there is some cotton chopping being done there also.

This lean fellow eyes the newest summer fashion, polished cotton "pair-offs" by Stephanie Koret of California. Solid colored, glazed cotton is combined with a floral print for a versatile summer sun fashion. The flared print skirt has a slightly shirred back, while the solid corselet is boned and side-laced. Solid and print combinations are popular this summer.

Cleora-Smith Lumber Company of Fort Worth, the principal speaker of the evening, was introduced by Thomas C. Land of Littlefield. Mr. Johnson gave a very interesting talk on the privileges enjoyed by Americans as provided by our constitution.

Norris Onstead presented special service awards to Ralph Douglas, Douglas Howell and C. M. Lance.

This was followed by the installation of officers for the coming year, by W. W. Cooper, deputy district governor of Turkey, Texas. The officers installed for the coming year were R. R. Ater, president; Hubert Henry, first vice-president; Harold Clement, second vice-president; Paul Carmickle, third vice-president; C. M. Lance, secretary; R. W. Manley, treasurer; Kenneth Wright, Tail Twister; Bill Kelley, Lion Tamer; Nelson Naylor, Boyd Roberts as directors for a one year term and Landon Grissom and Buster Owens, Jr., for a two year term as directors.

During the evening Miss Betty Lee Clement, Littlefield Lions Sweetheart, was presented a gift for her services to the club.

A LION OR TWO

The Tail Twister says that the modern idea of roughing it is to have no radio in the camp.

Lion Bob Roden: "It must be time to get up."

Mrs. Roden: "Why?"
Lion Roden: "Baby's fallen asleep."

The Littlefield Lions were glad to relocate Carroll Pouncey of the County Wide News into the club. A real pleasure havin' you back, Carroll.

Laziness grows on people; it begins in cobwebs and ends in iron chains. The more business a man has to do the more he is able to accomplish, for he learns to economize his time. . . . Sir M. Hale.

The Littlefield Lions have selected Glenn Miller, young son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Miller. They live about seven miles southeast of Littlefield, Glenn and his father will be flown to Kerrville by Lion Homer Garrison and will leave early Monday morning. Glenn will be in the Texas Lions Crippled Children camp for two weeks. Reports from children coming back from the camp are very gratifying. To our knowledge, this Lions camp in Kerrville is the only camp in Texas which accepts crippled children. That is the reason that Lions of Texas felt the need so strongly.

We hope that Shakespeare was not thinking of us when said, "A lion among ladies is a most dreadful thing", for we surely did enjoy having the ladies last Tuesday night at our Installation Banquet at the Country Club. We had an excellent program. J. Lee Johnson, III, general manager of Cleora-Smith Lumber Co. was the principal speaker. Entertainment was graciously furnished by the Four Sharps and A Natural of Plainview and Littlefield, Lion Garrison of the Littlefield Lions is a member of that group and secured them for us. They're professionals—as far as we're concerned.

Deputy District Governor W. W. Conner of Turkey was the installing officer and did a marvelous job. We wish to thank all the guests for their attendance also. It was "done up brown" by the hard work of Lion and Mrs. Harold Clement and their arrangements committee.

Congratulations to Lion Melvin Best for being medalist at the Country Club tournament just getting under way. The Lions club sports a lot of good golfers. We'd have to mention our new tail twister, golf professional Lion Kenneth Wright, among them of course.

Lion Lance: "What do the three balls in front of a pawn shop mean?"
Lion Caldwell: "Two to one you don't get it back."

Last week we were glad to welcome Lion Bob Roden of the Roden Drug Store as a new member. Lion Bob spent about 23 years around Friona and the last three years in Clovis. He and his wife, Betty Jo, have two youngsters. David Lee is 3 years, and Dana Lynn is only a week old. So, if you see Bob looking like he needs sleep, just remember you kept people awake once yourself. Welcome to Lionish, Bob and Betty Jo.

Our PANCAKE SUPPER has been moved to the Community Center and will be held next Tuesday night. Serving starts at 5:30 p. m. and will continue as long as we have anything to serve and as long as people come in. The Littlefield Lions would like to thank the following donors: Furr Food Stores, Piggly Wiggly, Lyman's Food Store, Yarbrough's Food Store, Wayne's Milk, Stansel Potato Chip Co., Morton Potato Chip Co., Pioneer Biscuits Co., Littlefield Glass Co. You'll be there won't you?

Farmers Will Find It Easier To Employ Mexican Nationals in 1953

Texas gotten cannot be har- by local labor this year farmers are forced to contract Mexican Nationals to get the ne, they will find a consid- amount of red tape snipped old procedures, the Texas Employment Commission announ- ay.

Effective July 1, the procedure, originally took from five to eeks to obtain Mexican Na- s, will be shortened to the that farmers will be able these workers in a week days, TEC said.

Only has much red tape eliminated, but the farmer's as been reduced—from $15 rker to $11 on the original ts and from $7.50 to 15.50 on contracting, the agency d out.

er the old contracting pro- farmers submitted orders way from 30 to 60 days in e of actual need. This pro- worked a hardship on the because information given possibly would not be valid 60 days hence because of er, crop conditions or some reason. On top of all this, der for Mexican Nationals had to be reviewed and approved by the Washington office of the Bureau of Employment Security. This delay was cumbersome and irritating to the farmer. This plan has been junked for one more workable. Now the farmer needing workers goes to an office of the Texas Employment Commission and places an order. If TEC determines that local or migratory workers are not available to do the job at the time and place specified by the farmer, then the local office will prepare an "Authorization to Contract Mexican National Agricultural Workers." The farmer will then select one of three Reception Centers—El Paso, Eagle Pass, or Harlingen—where he intends to pick up his workers, and the local office of the TEC then mails the authorization to that point. The farmer then must send his check ($11 per worker) to that Reception Center. As soon as the check is received by the Reception Center, machinery is set in motion to get the workers from the interior of Mexico. The farmer is notified by the Reception Center when the workers are available, TEC said. The farmer must also submit a "Statement of Housing and Facilities," which describes the housing and living facilities offered. These must meet minimum standards for the number of workers he needs.

A farm employer who used Mexican Nationals in 1952 will not be required to furnish such statements this year, provided he does not request more workers than he had in 1952. If he does need more than he used in 1952, a new statement of housing and facilities will have to be furnished, TEC said.

As under the old procedures, workers are contracted to individual farm employers and associations on the basis of individual need, however, under the new system, allocations are made on the basis of a total agricultural area need. The state has been divided into six agricultural areas set up on the basis of similarity of crops grown, climatic conditions, type of soil, the traditional movement of farm labor, and certain other factors. The areas are High Rolling Plains of the Texas Panhandle; Black Prairies-Cross Timbers areas; Diablo-Edwards Plateau; Rio Grande Plains; Lower Rio Grande Valley, and the Llano-Coastal areas.

If, after determining the number of workers locally available, and migrant workers who normally flow into the area, it is found that no shortage exists, Mexican Nationals cannot be contracted in that area.

If a shortage results after taking the above facts into consideration, a ceiling or quota of Mexican Nationals will be allocated to the area sufficient to offset the shortage. Whenever crop conditions or other factors in an area create a change of 10% or more in supply or demand, the ceiling for Mexican Nationals may be reviewed and revised if necessary.

Farmers desiring additional information concerning the contracting of Mexican Nationals should go to the nearest local Texas Employment Commission office.

J. P. Nafzger of Olton in Serious Condition After Fall From Horse

J. P. Nafzger, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Nafzger of Olton, is in a serious condition at the Lubbock Memorial Hospital, where he was admitted early Thursday suffering from injuries received when he fell or was thrown from a horse the day previously near his home.

Nafzger's parents discovered the youth about 5:45 p. m. Wednesday when they noticed his horse standing in a lot with a cow, which the boy apparently rode, still tied to the saddle. Nafzger was lying on the ground nearby unconscious.

He was first taken to Olton Memorial Hospital and transferred about 1:30 a. m. Thursday to Lubbock Memorial Hospital.

Nafzger will be a senior in Olton High School next fall where he is a football letterman.

See You on the Fifth!

Where are you going to be July 5? At home? At work? On vacation? Are you real sure? What makes you so certain you may not be one of the hundreds of people who will start out on a Fourth of July holiday trip—and won't come back? Not a pleasant thought, is it? You may even be a little provoked that we've brought it up. Well, that's all right with us. For the more provoked you get, the more you may think about this Fourth of July traffic toll that annually makes a massacre out of a holiday that ought to be for pleasure and patriotism, not for tragedy. You thing it couldn't be you? That's what the 360 people thought who were killed over the Memorial Day holiday just a month ago. That's what the 8,936 people thought who have died in holiday traffic in the last six years. Yes, that's right—8,936 people killed in holiday traffic in the last six years! Almost three times as many as were killed at Pearl Harbor. Half as many as have died for America on the battlefields of Korea. How many of these 8,936 people thought when they started out during the holiday that they would never come back? Not one! This one was just driving around the block to get a morning paper. This one was taking his family to visit friends in Peoria. This one was merely crossing the street. Not one of them was purposely going out to be killed—NOT ONE! So, you see, it could be you. But here's the bright spot in the picture: it does not have to be you! The National Safety Council, which has the grim responsibility for estimating these holiday tolls in advance, says you can make its estimates look silly by merely using a little extra caution, common sense and courtesy to offset the extra holiday traffic hazards. The Council says the toll could be cut in half, or even by two thirds, if you and I would make up our minds that, by golly, we aren't going to be one of those holiday traffic statistics. It's just that simple. Instead of saying, "It could not be me," just say, "It won't be me!" Then act accordingly. That's all there is to it. Happy Fourth of July! See you on the Fifth!

The United States and Rhee

Optimism appears to have been premature on the ability of Mark Clark and Syngman Rhee to agree on satisfactory armistice terms between the United Nations and the Reds. Although the three points on which the Korean President insists for his participation are necessary to South Korean security, the U. N. conferees find them unacceptable. The tacit reason for that is the probability of Red refusal to agree. But if the South Koreans, with more troops engaged in the so-called police action, aer withdrawn from U. N. command to continue the fighting, a situation will exist without parallel in the history of major warfare. Such a withdrawal was reiterated as policy by Rhee Monday. It is a contingency which must be considered in any agreement that can be obtained. If South Korea elects to continue the war on its own, the possibilities are: (1) Complete withdrawal of U. N. armed and other support, leaving the outcome up to battle. As the South Koreans must ultimately find themselves opposing all of Red China, the final result would be their elimination and complete attainment by Moscow & Co. of original objectives. (2) Withdrawal of armed support by U. N. continuation of other aid. This is unlikely to produce any result other than that of (1). (3) U. N. insistence, vi et armis, to enforce the terms of a truce. This involves the unlikely contingency of U. N. fighting the South Koreans. Rhee's movements imply his conviction that he can force the U. N. command to abandon the truce negotiations and continue fighting. Every practical consideration suggests that U. N. can not afford to accept dictation of this nature. But U. N. finds itself in the uncomfortable predicament of being beaten, either by Rhee or the Reds. Rhee's action has had one unusual effect. Up to now the decisions have all been made higher up. South Korea, a young and proud country, may not have liked that. Unquestionably Rhee's unexpected and unprecedented assertion of independence has moved the point of decision to Seoul. It is to Seoul that an emergency commission has moved precipitately to work out a solution that is not visible to the naked eye.

REMEMBER

The following was news in the Lamb County Leader of August 9, 1934:

In the final count of ballots cast in the primary election of July 28, O. H. (Dad) Reeves nosed out A. H. McGavovk by a single vote in the race for County Judge to take a place with Simon D. Hay in the run-off August 25.

John Stockinger, while playing ball Monday afternoon at the local grounds, had the misfortune to have his face injured. A ball slipped out of another man's hand and hit him in the mouth slitting his lip. On being attended by a local physician it required six stitches to close the wound.

A new low for cotton production was set when the government report was issued Wednesday with an estimate for the 1934 crop of 7,195,000 bales as compared to final ginning figures for 1933-34 of 12,047,262.

Cotton went up $2 a bale when the report came in, making middling 12 1/2 cents on the Littlefield market, and setting a new high for cotton over the last four years.

Rev. Freeman, former pastor of the local Methodist Church, but now of Phoenix, Arizona, spent from Thursday until Sunday afternoon visiting friends here.

Mrs. Jennie Parker received a telegram last Friday advising the birth of a son, F. M., Jr., Friday August 3, to Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Parker of Stinnett, Texas.

A family reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Springer, four miles east of town, Sunday. A delicious chicken dinner was served with all the trimmings, and a delicious time enjoyed by all present.

The marriage of Miss Willie Hukel and Paul McCormick was solemnized Sunday morning, July 22, at 10 o'clock in the home of the bride's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Clements in Southmoor addition.

Jack McCormick, brother of the groom, officiated with the single ring ceremony in the presence of close relatives of the bridal couple.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Hukel of Whitehall, and has been employed by the local branch of the Southwestern Associated Telephone Company for about two years past, previous to which she attended Littlefield High School.

An impressive wedding ceremony was solemnized at sunrise Sunday August 5, when Miss Mary Lois Green of Lubbock became the bride of Ewing S. Thaxton of this city at the home of the groom's brother, and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Thaxton.

Rev. Joe F. Grizzle, pastor of the First Baptist Church read the ring ceremony before an improvised altar of fern and cut flowers. Lighted candles added to the solemnity of the occasion.

The bride and bridegroom, who were unattended, entered together. She wore a blue ensemble with white accessories. Her corsage was of tube roses, gladioli and maiden hair fern.

The marriage of Miss Ineta Wilkinson and Floyd Dennis was solemnized Saturday night, July 3, at 10:45 o'clock at Olton, by Rev. D. D. Jones, pastor of the Nazarene Church of that city.

They were attended by Miss Vera Bench and R. L. Richards.

Miss Dahlia Hemphill returned home Tuesday from a trip into Colorado, to the World Fair in Chicago, and other cities in the north.

Floyd Kelly, Jr., young son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Kelley, had the misfortune Sunday evening to fall and break his right arm while roller skating on XIT Drive in front of the Littlefield Hotel. When examined by Dr. T. B. Duke he found two bones broken just above the wrist. He is treating the arm and reports it is getting along nicely.

Morris Scott, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Scott, whose address is Route 1, Sudan, left home Thursday evening July 5, and his parents have heard nothing from him since. Mr. and Mrs. Scott is very anxious to locate their son.

IT'S THE LAW

SIMPLE PRECAUTIONS SAFEGUARD PATENT RIGHTS

Got a good idea for a new invention floating around in the back of your mind? Better take care, or someone else may beat you to the patent office. Many people have good ideas about new or improved machines or gadgets, but never do anything about them because they don't know how to protect their rights while perfecting such items and going through the necessary patenting procedure. Here's what you can do to protect your invention before you have it patented.

Under the patent laws of the United States the person who first conceives of a new and novel patentable idea is entitled to it. Therefore, if conflicting claims arrive as to who is entitled to a patent, it is necessary to establish who first had the idea, not who filed the first application for patent.

Of course, it is always advisable to make application for patent as soon as possible in such cases. But don't forget to protect yourself while you are completing your final drawings and ultimate plans and making such tests as may be needed to perfect your patent. To do this, you should, as soon as you conceive the idea, make a written record of the facts, dating the same, including a general statement of the nature of your invention, and a rough drawing if possible. This should be witnessed by two persons who could be called on later on to certify that they witnessed the same on the dates set out in the instrument you have drawn.

Some inventors place such witnessed statements and drawings in an envelope. This they seal and mail to themselves by Registered Mail. Their post office stamps each seam of the envelope in such a way that any opening of same can be detected. Upon receiving the registered envelope and its contents, the inventor merely files it away in a safe place unopened. Then, if a contest should later develop, postal records will lend additional support to the testimony of his witnesses.

By taking the above precautions, and ask that anyone knowing the whereabouts of their son, to get in touch with them immediately at the above address.

The Littlefield band will give a public concert Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock on the lawn at the city hall. A. B. Taylor, director has announced. It is probable, he says, that the Sunday afternoon concerts will be continued throughout the summer instead of the night appearances as heretofore.

In this issue of the Leader, the Moody Cafe advertised its fifth anniversary with larger quarters and the following - Beer - Short Orders - Sandwiches - Plate Lunches. W. J. Aldridge advertised Texas Girl Coffee at 25¢ pound; Texas Motor & Fuel Kerosene, 7¢ gallon; Ware's advertised Curlee Suits at $25.00 with two pair of pants; and Palace Confectionary ice cream at 25¢ a quart.

Health Talks

Prepared by the State Medical Association of Texas

You might think your nerves bear the brunt when everything goes wrong—but they sometimes pass the buck to the stomach. Then you speak of having "nervous indigestion".

Quite a few people have this complaint. They report getting sick at the stomach or losing their appetites when they experience worry, anger, fear, or other strong emotions. If the period of strain is prolonged, they even reach the point of acute illness.

When they seek a physician's opinion, a thorough examination is in order. The doctor has at his disposal a number of tests which will conclusively reveal or rule out organic disease: gastroscopy (looking at the inside of the stomach through a tube), analysis of the stomach's contents, x-ray examination, and examination of the stool.

If the doctor decides that emotional troubles are at the root of indigestion, he can outline a course of treatment. First, he perhaps will recommend correction of minor defects, such as bad teeth, tonsils, or infected sinuses which may have some bearing. Next, he will emphasize the importance of a regular schedule for meals, elimination, rest, recreation, and so on; the diet will include only easily digested foods. Pleasant surroundings for meals, regular vacations and holidays, and forgetting upsetting incidents as quickly as possible are other positive measures for helping to get rid of indigestion.

One of the conditions the doctor is careful to differentiate from nervous indigestion is that of peptic ulcer. This condition is estimated to affect about 10 per cent of the general population. The most common location for peptic ulcer is in the stomach or duodenum, the part of the small intestine just beyond the stomach, but it may occur in any part of the food tube which is bathed in gastric juice (the stomach's secretions).

The most characteristic symptom of peptic ulcer is gnawing "hunger pain", which usually is relieved by frequent, small feedings; there also may be nausea with or without vomiting, belching, excessive saliva formation, heartburn, or constipation. Usually treatment with simple measures like diet, rest, and medicine is sufficient, but an operation sometimes is necessary.

Another disease of the gastrointestinal tract (stomach and intestines) which may be serious is cancer of the colon and rectum. Even though it is easy for the doctor to discover and treat this disease early, it is responsible for more deaths than cancer in any other part of the body. Symptoms are a change in habit (diarrhea, constipation, alternating periods of each), loss of weight, or pain. The chances for good result from treatment are increased considerably if the patient reports soon as he notices any of symptoms or, better still, if treated even before they appear. A rectal examination will reveal little discomfort and very little disfigurement and preventing pain. In the examination the physician will use an instrument which allows him to observe the inside of the canal and lower end of the (the sigmoid). X-ray examination also may be needed.

A disease which affects approximately one-third of the adult population is hemorrhoids. Also piles, this condition among varicose veins either inside or outside the rectum; sometimes maybe combination of external and internal hemorrhoids.

Treatment of hemorrhoids may be by conservative methods, as ice packs followed by hot packs, and sitting in hot water, however, surgery is usually satisfactory from the standpoint of more lasting results. Hemorrhoids are completely relieved. Internal hemorrhoids, those occurring in the rectum, can be relieved at least temporarily by the injection of an irritant chemical into the tissue surrounding the varicose veins. Sclerotherapy which forms shrinks these usually destroying the hemorrhoids.

Passing of 'Cold' Checks Increasing; County Attorney Warns Merchants

According to Curtis Wilkinson, County Attorney, there is a decided increase in the passing of "cold" checks on the Littlefield business concerns.

Mr. Wilkinson warns the merchants to ever be on the alert for worthless checks, and to be very cautious and know the maker or endorse before taking checks.

The passing of a check over $50 is a felony, and punishable by a fine or imprisonment or both.

Now You Can Embroider Many Things On Your Sewing Machine

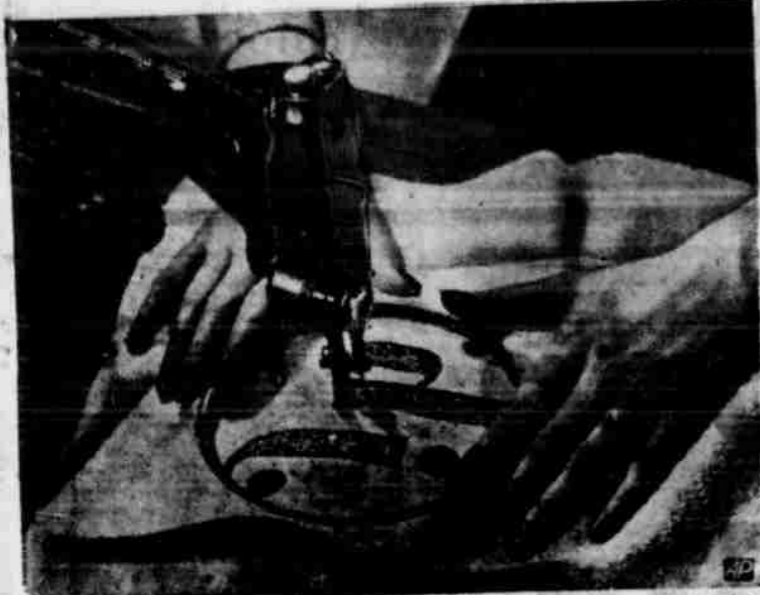

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

No bride ever had enough household linens—especially the monogrammed kind which take so long to embroider by hand.

New techniques of fashion stitching on the sewing machine now make it possible, however, to turn out a handsome trousseau of monogrammed and embroidered linens in record time, especially if friends and family co-operate.

No special attachments are needed to do embroidery stitches on a standard sewing machine. On most machines it is necessary only to remove presser foot, drop the feed and place the work on an embroidered hoop.

TEEN TALK

BY VIVIAN BROWN

AP Newsfeatures

This is the "I'd like to get away from it all" season.

Young people are restless and yearning for adventure. And why not? The time and tide are absolutely right.

Travel often brings with it the responsibility of coping with an adult world, whether you go to the mountains, seashore or city or dive for pieces of eight and other lost treasure in the briny deep.

Perhaps this vacation season you'll ride to a train, without the guiding hand of Mom and Pop—to help you order the food, to tip for you, and to hush you when you feel giddy. When you travel alone, or with companions of your own age, you are faced with all of these problems at once, and perhaps the puzzled gazes of adult passengers who do not understand your gay spirit.

Some excellent advice that is worth jotting in your diary comes from Ann Elgar Stevenson, coordinator of service, maintenance and decorations of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway passenger department. Ann, who is young and pretty herself, knows how young people feel in this predicament. They want to do the right thing, but they want to have fun, too. She suggests the following rules for traveling by train:

1. Dress inconspicuously. Boys should wear jackets and ties. Well-dressed girls board trains wearing hats, but may take them off en route. Dresses with sleeves to the elbow, or long, are in order. The tailored suit is perfect for traveling. Neat dark shoes with closed toes look well even in summer, and stockings should be worn.

2. Young people may feel free to walk through the train, but should be quiet and inconspicuous in their comments and manner, and not "do" the train too many times.

3. If coach and pullman cars are separated, stay on your own side of the fence. People who pay more pullman passage object to coach passengers taking up space in their lounge cars. The conductor can tell you if your coach has lounge car surroundings you can use.

4. By all means do not sit down in a sleeping room—even briefly—if you have not engaged it for the trip.

5. Most dining car menus include several low-priced items—but not so low, of course, as in couter service. If you can afford to spend $1.50 for a sandwich, dessert and beverage, including tip, you are almost certainly on safe ground in settling at a table for any meal. If in doubt about prices, ask the steward quietly to show you a menu before you sit down.

When you have finished eating, do not linger if other people are waiting to eat. Never tie up a table meant for food service.

"THAT LITTLE GAME" Inter-nat'l Cartoon Co., N.Y.—By B. Linn

6. Red caps expect a set fee, varying from 15¢ to 25¢ per piece (each suitcase or package no matter how small means a separate fee), plus something additional. Inquire therefore. Then add something extra, if you like. Coach porters are instructed to help you with your luggage if you ask them—whether or not you tip them. Twenty-five cents for a daytime tip should please, 35¢ if you are an overnight passenger. Pullman porters are tipped, usually, at the rate of 35¢ a night for an berth, 50¢ a night for a berth, roomette or shared room, 75¢ or a dollar if you have a bedroom singly. If you want much extra service, or have quantities of baggage, you want to scale that up.

The OASIS on your route

The traveler of ancient times sought rest and refreshment at an oasis on his route.

So does the traveler of modern times . . . he stops at an oasis that prepares his automobile for another hundred miles or more of driving . . . at an oasis that provides ice water and a chance to stretch . . . at an oasis that offers clean and sanitary rest rooms . . . at an oasis where our traveler can give and get a friendly greeting.

Today's oasis is the service station on the American highway.

It makes your trip. It provides your contact with the country through which you're driving. On its driveway you feel at home; you get the impression wherever you stop, that this is your America.

Not one service station, but thousands of them. All along the highways you'll find them staffed and equipped to give your car the expert care it requires, to make your brief visits on their driveways comfortable and pleasant.

The service station where you buy gasoline and motor oil is your chief contact with the American oil industry. It is probably an individual enterprise; and it competes to give you better service and better products than another station down the street or on the other side of town. No small part of the oil industry's progress in the service of the motorist finds final expression on service station driveways.

An added service to vacationers

Let Humble Touring Service map your trip. Secure a Touring Service request card at the Humble sign in your neighborhood, and use it to tell Humble Touring Service where you want to go. Soon you receive clearly marked road maps to and from your destination, a trip-log and other helpful information. Use this service for travel anywhere in the U. S., Canada or Mexico. Money From Pottery . . .

ADELAIDE KERR
 Newsfeatures Writer
 YORK—With a mound of some simple tools Robert started a pottery pin project some years ago—developed it into a fulltime ful and useful things can be made—and a beginner can start with simpler and less expensive tools than most people think.

 If you have the urge to try your touch on clay, here are Miss Leber's instructions for a beginner:
 From a good ceramic supply house buy prepared clay (much easier to handle than unprepared clay) and a jar of majolica glaze. To this equipment add an ordinary kitchen knife, a container of water, a sponge, a soft brush and a flat surface to work on.
 The best surface to work on is a plaster slab, because clay does not stick to plaster as it does to wood or metal. You can make vase or a jam dish. Suppose you start with a vase. Draw a pattern of it the exact size you want on paper or thin cardboard and cut it out.

 When the pattern is set make a template this way: Take a piece of cardboard. Outline one side of the pattern on the cardboard and cut it out so that you will have a concave outline, which you will use as a gauge against the outside of the case as you build it. (See photograph.)

Beginners find the primitive Indian coil method a good way to begin modeling. Knead your clay with water until it is in a good plastic condition, with all the air pressed out and the water worked thoroughly through it. Be sure to leave no air holes, because these will blow up when the vase is fired and it will break. Take a portion of clay and mold it to a thick round flat piece as the bottom of the vase.

After making the base, moisten its top with water. Cut another piece of clay and make a long snake-like roll of it. Coil this around the edge of the base, building up the body of the vase. Smooth the side with your thumb, so that the roll and the base blend together. Repeat the process with a second long roll of clay, always moistening the top edge before another roll is laid on, and always smoothing the top roll into the whole. When the piece is the right height, smooth the top edge to an even finish.

If you cannot complete the vase in one work session, leave it covered with a piece of plastic, such as an old shower cap, and it will remain in good condition for the next working.

When it is finished, set it aside until it is bone dry. Send it to the kiln nearest your home for its biscuit firing. When it comes back apply the majolica glaze in the consistency of thick cream, using a soft brush. Let it dry again, then send it back to the kiln for the second firing, which will leave a hard glaze.

BEATS BEING A POLAR BEAR!

COOL YOUR ROOM WITH AN ELECTRIC ROOM COOLER!

Because the polar bear can't control his North Pole cooling system, he just has to take the cold the way it comes.

But with an electric room cooler, you choose the temperature that suits you personally. And, because the air is filtered before it enters the room, dust and pollen stay out.

Keep cool this summer the electric way—the way that has your comfort always in mind. It beats being a polar bear.

Summer Handbag Round-up

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Fashion Editor

Summer handbags have learned new tricks this year. Not only are they available in all shapes, sizes and materials, but most of them can be kept clean and fresh with soap and water or a sponge rubber eraser.

One manufacturer makes a handsome handbag out of a canvas oat bucket for horses, employing saddle-stitched leather banding and a long white rope handle, which acts as a drawstring. The rope can be removed for washing, and the canvas can be scrubbed with a stiff brush and soap and water.

Blonde wood is another designer's choice, in a miniature version of a pirate's treasure chest, with wormwood markings and antique black wrought iron handle and lock. A damp cloth whisks this box bag bright and clean.

Any of the white plastic handbags can be washed with soap and water, for bandbox freshness. One attractive style is made of woven stripes of white or colored plastic, in a weave like that of an old fashioned cane-bottom chair.

Straw cloth, glazed cottons and wicker or bamboo are used in other decorative and practical handbags of the season. Some of the wicker or straw boxes or baskets are trimmed with little bouquets of artificial fruit or flowers which may be removed or changed to suit the color scheme of your costume, thus making one bag do the work of several.

Slipover bags, in nylon, cotton or linen, provide another solution to the problem of keeping summer handbags clean. The covers slip off for easy laundering.

Change In Area Allotments May Aid Farmers

South Plains farmers have a big stake in hearings scheduled to start this week in congressional committees on a proposal to change the basis for determining cotton acreage allotments.

Data compiled by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce reveals that 117 cotton-growing West Texas counties would gain 688,900 acres under the proposed change.

The proposal would use an average on the crops produced in the past three years. Present regulations would use an average of five previous crop years—1947, 1948, 1950, 1951 and 1952.

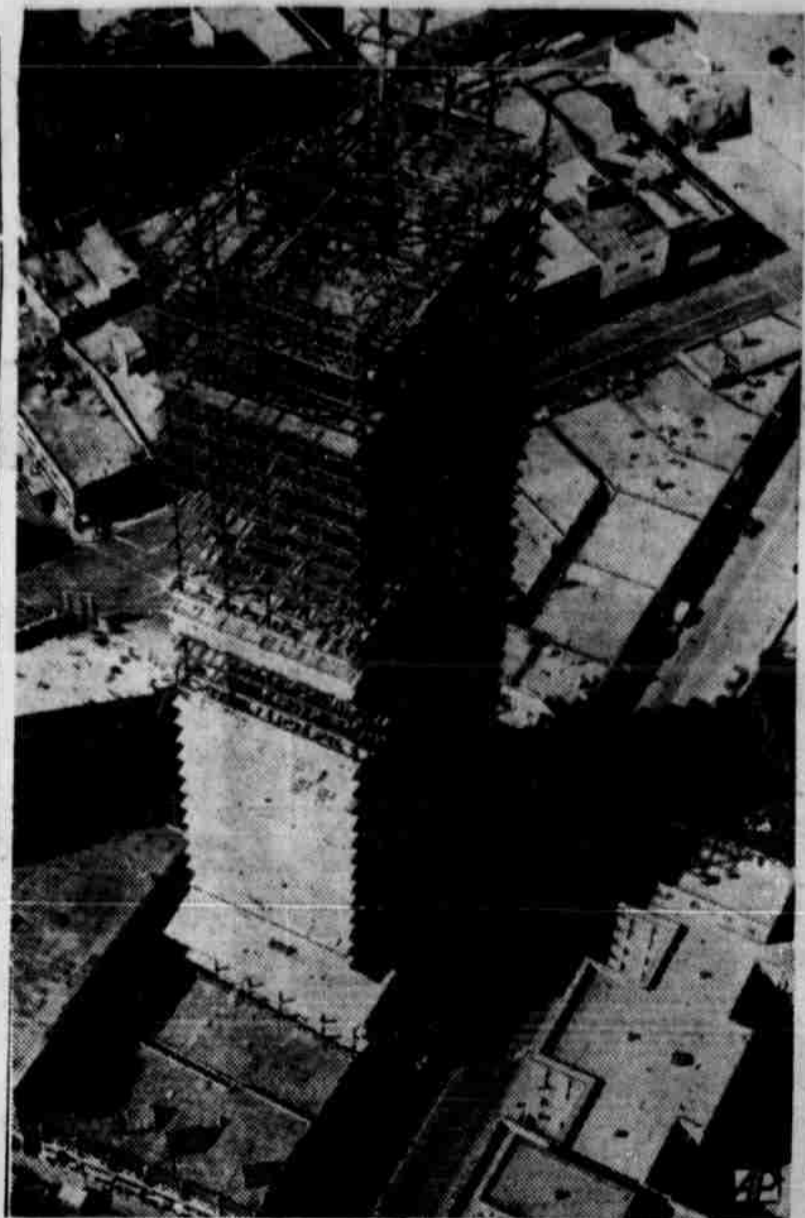

The South Plains particularly, where many counties have opened many additional acres to cotton, would benefit immensely.

The difference of the plans lies in the increased planting on the South Plains during the past three years. The years of 1947 and 1948—the first crops to be considered in the five-year program—saw substantially smaller plantings in this area. The year of 1949—which saw heavy plantings in all areas in expectation of renewed controls—has been eliminated from the computations by congressional action. The crop of 1953 would not be used in the average until the 1955 crop.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce is urging area farmers to contact their congressmen and senators to urge approval of these measures. These proposals are House Bill 5655 and Senate Bill 2106.

The computed acreages by county, as would be determined under the three-year and five-year averages, are shown below:
