Each of the three new lines of 1951 automobiles which will be in all price ranges by Kaiser-Frazer Corp. has been announced. The models will be on display in the show rooms of the local Kaiser-Frazer Motor Company, Wednesday, March 15.

The series is the "handcrafted" Frazer luxury line, which emphasizes custom body styles in the medium and upper medium price range. The models supplement the popular 1951 Kaisers and the standard low-priced model. The long 123 1/2-inch base, the new models feature new styling with a European accent in the elevation of fenders, which "hop up" the waist line of the car. Throughout by custom features, the eye-appealing new Frazer lines is by a heavily chromed grille with two air-planes which house the lights in their wing-tips. "Speed lines" strengthen back front fenders and in the rear fenders, crowde with oversize with columnated lens in reflectors. Placement of lamps at the peak defines the car from the rear as well as from the rear. Body styles include a sedan and Vagabond

217 Fourth St. Littlefield

HERO AIDS MOTHER . . . Carroll Docherty, hero of a blaze which swept a south-end block in Boston, encourages his mother at window as the 65-year-old woman begins ladder descent.

Window lifts are available as optional equipment. The custom styling treatment is evident in the new Jewel-like Frazer crest, which is mounted in the grille just below a long "Charging Knight" hood ornament.

The wrap-around bumpers are studded with bumper guards which have large, detachable "torpedo caps". The caps, which project beyond the outer extremities of the bumpers, afford extra protection and are replaceable if they become scuffed.

The new lines of the Manhattan four-door sedan are dominated by a rakish roof which tapers down to the curved rear window. The window is 73 inches in width, presenting a striking contrast with the low, 62-inch overall height of the model.

An exclusive K-F feature is the design of the center pillar post, which is of heavy chrome-framed safety plate glass, providing additional visibility as well as structural roof support.

In addition to the new Kaiser "Supersonic" engine, mechanical advances include improved front and rear suspensions, which produce a softer, sway-free ride over rough terrain; covered, permanently lubricated rear springs; reinforced box-type frame, and dust and sound-sealing insulation.

Six-passenger seating width of 62 inches, and generous trunk capacity of 27 1/2 cubic feet are outstanding among body dimensions. In the Vagabond utility model, designed to serve for bulky hauling as well as for deluxe passenger transportation, there is more than 130 cubic feet of cargo space.

ANNUAL COMPLETE
Last page of "The Wildcat," Littlefield High School annual, was sent to publishers Friday. State Company of Austin will do the printing, and has promised to complete the job within 45 days.

A barking crow which also can cackle like a hen has gone from Holland to Batavia to perform in a cabaret.

Kansas Warned That Green Potatoes Are Flooding Market

Reports that large quantities of green potatoes are now on Kansas markets were featured in the March 2 edition of the St. Francis, Kansas, Herald, brought to the Leader office by Mrs. Joe Wells.

The green condition is usually associated with sunburned or sprouted potatoes. They may contain high concentrations of solanine, a poisonous substance in the outer portion of the potato.

Investigation by Kansas authorities shows that the green potatoes now on the market have a solanine content of .030 and .032 per cent. Authorities state that solanine is known to be toxic in minimum concentrations of .02 to .04 per cent. in potatoes. This indicates that some of the potatoes on the market have solanine concentrations above safe levels.

A warning was issued to merchants and housewives not to buy or serve green potatoes. Green portions of the potatoes should be cut off before cooking, or if the color is extensive, potatoes should be discarded. Cooking does not destroy solanine.

Pakistan is awaiting a Russian Trade mission, perhaps to buy cotton goods there.

National P.T.A. Group Urges Limited Aid To Education Plan

The National Congress of Parents and Teachers recommends that federal aid to education "should be expanded to publicly controlled tax-supported schools only."

The statement, signed by Mrs. Rollin Brown of Los Angeles, legislative committee chairman, was released through the organization's headquarters in Chicago. Commenting on the issue now before Congress, Mrs. Brown said:

"It now appears that only federal aid will make a program of sound public education available to all children."

"The National Congress of Parents and Teachers is committed to the explicit and unequivocal principle that, with safeguards for maximum local and minimum federal control, such aid should be expected to be publicly controlled schools only."

SPORTSMANSHIP

Doak Walker, recipient of Collier magazine's award as football Player of the Year for Sportmanship, lived up to his award when he purchased Texas' first sheet of 1950 Easter Seals from 4-year-old Benny Kaiser, Dallas, a victim of cerebral palsy. Sale of the Easter Seals finances the work of the Texas Society for Crippled Children. During the period of March 12-April 9, Texans are urged to buy and use Easter Seals.

LONGER LIFE SPAN TAXES THE HEART

(This is the first of a series of three articles on the human heart and treatment of its diseases.)

NO BIGGER THAN A FIST, pear-shaped, the greatest pump in the world for its size is the human heart. Though romantic fiction has spoken of a tender heart, shattered by love, no emotion ever has broken a healthy heart.

In action, the heart is one pump, but structurally it is two—a right and a left, enclosed in a single tissue sac. Each does a different job. One sends blood to the lungs for new vitality, and the other sends refreshed blood out into the body to supply it with vital nourishment.

Each pump of the heart is divided into an upper and a lower chamber—the upper called the auricle and the lower called the ventricle. Valves separate auricles from ventricles and the ventricles from the principle arteries leading from the heart.

Used blood, returned by the body, is received by the right auricle from two large veins collecting blood from the head and arms and from the trunk and the legs. Simultaneously, the left is receiving freshly oxygenated blood from both lungs by way of the pulmonary veins. When the auricles contract, they push blood past a set of valves into the ventricles. When the ventricles fill, an electrical signal from the heart muscle causes them to contract. This produces a gushing of blood past another set of valves, pouring out into the lungs and to the body.

Three heart ailments—arteriosclerosis, hypertension and rheumatic heart disease—account for 99 per cent of all heart troubles. Only rheumatic fever affects the heart directly. The other two impose greater work upon the heart. Early discovery of heart trouble can do much to prevent abuse to the heart. For those over 40, a check-up of the heart at least once a year is advised.

Because of longer life span, more years of usefulness are required of the heart today. Conserving the vigor of life's vital pump is an important essential.

A large number of deaths from heart disease are preventable. While degenerative heart disease is a hazard of old age and is impossible to prevent entirely, much can be done to postpone its onset and to slow its progress.

Early discovery is of the greatest importance, implying not only prompt treatment but also alternation of an often strenuous life. Treatment is based on the type of heart disease and is being dealt with on broad fronts—surgery, diet, drugs, antibiotics, and psychiatry. The scalpel is now probing the heart itself to correct damages from rheumatic fever and malformations of congenital origin. Even in severe cases of high blood pressure, the surgeon's knife is put to work—cutting nerves and restoring normal blood pressure levels.

Sulpha drugs are forestalling rheumatic fever and saving delicate valves from damage. Penicillin is curing bacterial endocarditis cases, formerly 99 per cent fatal. Dicumarol from clover and heparin from ox liver are reducing complications following coronary heart attack.

Along with increased life span and greater promise of research, important responsibility rests with the individual: this is to be alert in bringing symptoms to the attention of a physician early.

If your doctor tells you have high blood pressure, count yourself among the many. Count yourself among the hopeful, too. For not only can much be done to lessen the effects of high blood pressure, but medical science today is making more and better progress than ever before against this menace to middle-aged hearts.

Most individuals, once they have been told they have high blood pressure, follow their blood pressure readings more closely than they do baseball scores. Paying little attention to the dips and emphasizing only the spurts in his pressure readings, the anxious patient keeps constantly in the back of his mind what to him or her is an inevitable crash. Medically speaking, this is a distorted, unreal picture of high blood pressure. High blood pressure is a sign of a condition; not the condition itself.

Contrary to popular belief, there is little truth to the rule that one's pressure reading should be 100 plus his age. What is and what isn't abnormal blood pressure depends upon the individual. What is normal for one person, may be too low for another, so you can't compare your blood pressure with your neighbor's. Furthermore, blood pressure can and does vary in any individual as much as 15 points daily, depending upon his emotional state and level of activity.

What is blood pressure? Blood pressure is the pressure under which the blood in the arteries is maintained. This is important to assure constant circulation and nourishment to the organs and tissues of the body. No one can live without blood pressure.

In high blood pressure there is an increased resistance to the flow of blood, caused by a tightening up of the smaller arteries when they should be expanding. Greater pressure must be exerted to overcome this. It is similar to that of water under pressure in a garden hose. When the nozzle is turned down, the spray of water becomes stronger because of the increased pressure within the hose.

The increased pressure necessary to maintain an adequate circulation forces the heart to work harder. Like any muscle working overtime, the heart enlarges. As a result of this extra load, the heart and arteries wear out sooner than they would under normal conditions.

Mrs. Herbert Martin Slightly Injured In Forced Landing

Forced to land on a plowed field four miles north of Lamesa, Mrs. Herbert C. Martin of Littlefield and Fort Worth was slightly injured Tuesday evening, March 7.

The forced landing occurred while Mrs. Martin, wife of a Littlefield rancher, was en route to Littlefield from Fort Worth in an Aeronca sedan. She had refueled at Stamford and was near Lubbock when high winds and poor visibility forced her to turn south to try to ride out the dust storm.

She landed in a plowed field a half mile west of the Lamesa-Lubbock highway four miles north of Lamesa. She suffered a bruised nose. The plane's undercarriage and front were damaged slightly.

Mrs. Martin got a ride to town and spent the night in Lamesa. Wednesday Mr. Martin joined her and helped her dismantle the plane to be trucked back to Fort Worth.

Mrs. Martin, who operates an airport in Fort Worth, said she had been flying 20 years. She had several forced landings, but has never been seriously injured.

"I've been in several bad automobile wrecks," she commented. "In my opinion flying is a lot safer than highway travel."

Private Flying Forum By "Ernie" Bode

who dropped in last week, had an interesting talk. Joe was telling me a Cessna 140 on the Pecos valley to the south. It seems that the plane is paying for itself in ways. They have a way to use only half the fuel and miss about half the time, whereas before it took a full tank then they usually fly to thirty head of cow is spotted, (Joe spot 'em easier from the air) can direct one of them to him, rather than looking for a sick, want that's usually off to that's just one more plane is being used as a piece of machinery to fly for the far-sighted ones to Kenneth Hamland! Kenny is now a private pilot and is holding his license. Kenny is a good time getting all the time because his plane of residence kept his progress at our only goes to prove that if there is enough "will" there's bound to be a "way."

We had a rather quiet week-end, four of our more active pilots were either out of town or sick in bed. We all hope Herb Owens is feeling better. I think his Ercoupe missed him last Sunday — it seemed to look a little forlorn.

"Ace" Adair flew to Lubbock in his Luscombe, L. S. McCarty and Earl Dow buzzed over in Earl's Aeronica to fly the new 1950 model 140 Cessna. Everyone enjoyed the fine hospitality of Mr. Vickers and also enjoyed flying that very fine airplane. Airplanes now-a-days are actually more quiet than most automobiles!

Don Cox from near Bula is flying with us now and I think a couple more fellows realize that flying is becoming a "must" in modern business of any kind. Jack Johnston flew with us and checked out in an Aeronica — Jack soloed the Funk, therefore he must receive a "check-out" flight in an Aeronica before he can fly solo in it.

Jack Books is working on his flight instructor's rating—Jack will make a good one too. Mr. Hobbgood flew the Fairchild and Bob Dillaird flew the Funk awhile. Herb Owens Jr. is busy farming and he says he just had to force himself to stay away from the airport.

That's all for this week—"Ernie"

Three Littlefield Girls Attend Formal Ko Shari Presentation Ball In Lubbock

Three Littlefield girls, Connie Wray Hopping, Billye Marie Hopping and Billie Ruth Little, attended the annual formal presentation dance of Ko Shari, Tech women's social organization, Friday night March 3 at the Lubbock Hotel.

Miss Little and Miss Connie Hopping were among pledges presented at the dance. Miss Billye Hopping is a member of the organization.

Music for dancing was provided by Burl Hubbard and his Varstonsians.

Pledges were presented against a marine setting pausing before a large seashell covered in tufted white satin and complemented by red and blue light reflections. Suspended from the ceiling near the shell was a pink satin seahorse, and near the front of the stage was glitter-dust sand in which were sparkling shells, coral and sea-foam starfish.

Against a musical background of "Indian Love Call," club song Bill Parsley, master of ceremonies, introduced pledges and their escorts.

Connie Hopping's escort was Jack Davis and Billie Ruth's was Fuston McCarty. Billye Hopping was escorted by Bob Watson.

Honorary sponsors, Dr. and Mrs.

W. C. Holden, were honored during the presentation, which was dedicated to them. Chaperons were Mr. and Mrs. Doug Moore, club sponsors, and Dr. and Mrs. Clifford B Jones.

At present the library is located in the school room of Emmanuel Lutheran and will remain there until a more suitable location may be found. The library is already a favorite place of the youngsters.

Reminiscences

20 Years Ago
By Cecile

Hello again, neighbors, it's time to turn back the pages 20 years and see if you can remember when:

The Ladies of Rocky Ford community met and organized the home demonstration club, naming it "The Rocky Ford." Miss Ruby Mashburn, home demonstration agent helped organize the club.

Fifty dollars reward will be paid for the apprehension and conviction of the party or parties who cut off the "stop" signs from the street pavement, according to officer L. A. Ratliff. Two were cut off Monday night and another Tuesday night.

A carload of new Oakland cars were received here Monday by the Jones Bros. Motor Co.

When a girl celebrates her birthday, she doesn't just take the day off, she takes off a couple of years.

end on irrigation wells, the High Plains Association hopes to have as many as 500 persons at the Amarillo hearing.

Indications are that at least two cars will go from Littlefield, with other communities in Lamb county boosting the representation.

"Everybody who can possibly get away is urged to make the trip," Duggan said.

Long-Range Plans

Anticipating an intense fight over ground water control in the future, the High Plains Water Conservation and Users Association made long range plans to strengthen its position.

Protection of the local control law, coupled with protection of the water supply by conservation practices, will be sought.

Formation of one or more water districts, it was pointed out, would serve to organize water users to carry on the fight over legislation and would also provide a water conservation program need to convince advocates of state control that conservation can be left in the hands of individual owners.

An extensive educational program, including weekly news releases to the press and radio, was suggested.

W. O. (Bill) Fortenberry of Monroe presided at the meeting, which lasted from 11 a. m. to 4 p. m.

of all types and quite a number of people from the United States who were especially enjoying their living there, partly due to the fact that there is no income tax. The rate of exchange is 2 1-2 pesos to a dollar.

Zebu Cattle

In Sao Paulo, Brazil, they inspected several ranches where the Zebu cattle have been developed to a very high degree. Portuguese is the language spoken in Brazil and this country is not too thickly settled except along the Atlantic Coast. Sao Paulo is an industrial center and looks like a boom town at the present time with considerable new industry coming in and may surpass in population that of Rio in a very short time. The United States does considerable business with Brazil in importing coffee. In exchange, practically all of the automobiles are brought from North America. Chesher commented that in all of South America, they found a good quality of cattle and a lot of registered bulls imported from the United States, Canada, England and Scotland.

Summer in South

Chesher stated further that the weather was very pleasant since this is their summer time and the people are very interesting, lovable and entertaining. We have a lot in common since these countries are all democracies. All of our group enjoyed the entire trip and especially the 22,000 foot flight over the Andes Mountains between Santiago, Chile and Buenos Aires, Argentina.

"I had no conception of the size of South America until I realized that Brazil, alone, was larger than the United States."

Chesher and Fowler returned last Wednesday. Guests at the meeting last week were Martin Munn from Lubbock and Georgia Smith, Junior Rotarians were Harvey Miller, guest of Ray Hulse, David McCormick, guest of Stillwell Russell, and Don Lynsky, guest of Bob Armstrong.
