Board Eyes Money Problems

More Teachers Needed To Ease Class Crowds

Like the old woman who lived in a shoe, Littlefield's school board members have so many students they don't know what to do.

Bulging classrooms, the board said, are the schools' biggest worry at the moment.

More rooms are available, but they're of little use if you don't have teachers to put in them, the board explained.

And more teachers could be hired, baseball could be added to the school program and a number of other things could be done—except for one major problem: Money.

That pretty well sums up the way a regular meeting of Littlefield's school board went Monday night.

Talk of money problems started early in the evening, when a group of citizens asked that baseball be added to the school's athletic program.

The board was still talking money problems three hours later, when the meeting let out.

The baseball group, with Jimmie Chapman as spokesman, asked that the board consider adding the sport so that boys who outgrow American Legion baseball won't be left in the cold.

Boys 16 and 17 can play Legion baseball, Chapman said, but after they reach the age deadline they're through. If baseball were added at the high school, he explained, these boys could play another year. Some might even play two more years of high school baseball.

"It's a shame," said Chapman, "to have boys who are good prospects leave the sports just when they could go farther."

Chapman said other coaches told him this summer that "two or three" boys on his American Legion team were definite pro ball prospects.

Dr. Ralph Schilling, superintendent, told the board he had contacted other schools in the district about their baseball programs. He said hereof spends $2,000 a year on baseball, Levelland and Dumas, $2,500 each.

That's where the talk of money problems started. Board members said the athletic fund couldn't stand an expense anywhere near that.

"The only way it could be done," said one member, "is with tax money. And we don't have that either."

Dr. Schilling noted that hereof supports its athletic fund with $6,500 in tax money. Levelland with $14,000 and Dumas with $15,000. Littlefield gives only $2,000 in tax money to its athletic program.

Of the rest of the $17,278 in athletic fund income that came in here last year, almost $14,000 was provided by football.

Getting back to baseball, the board said it would consider the request, and Dr. Schilling was asked to check with the coaches to see if the present staff could work it into the spring program.

Then the board turned to the official hiring of three new teachers, who already had begun teaching with the start of the school year. They were D. C. Lin-

Littlefield Co-Op Sets Opening

The Littlefield Farmers Co-op Gin on the Spade highway officially opens its new all electric gin for a public showing Saturday.

Gin manager Rex Love and the directors invite the general public to the open house showing from 2 to 5 p.m.

Refreshments will be served and many valuable door prizes awarded.

Love reports the new gin is one of the most scientifically designed gins in the state. Many visitors from Lubbock and other outlying towns will attend the showing.

Love said both the new gin and the gin that was used last year are capable of ginning seed bales every 24 hours. The two gins will employ around 40 people during the busy season.

Some new developments in the construction are: Moss lint cleaners in tandem installed on the floor instead of near the top of the gin, a new electrical push button control panel for the gin to operate all power units, double drying systems, double burr ex-

Wreck Occurs At 6th, Westside

Cars driven by Mrs. C. W. Terry of Earth and Clyde Lee Woolfe of Littlefield collided at West 6th and Westside Avenue Tuesday at 3:15 p.m.

Woolfe, driving a 1956 model car, was going south on Westside Avenue approaching West 6th. Mrs. Terry, driving a 1956 model car, failed to stop at a stop sign and the Woolfe car collided with her, officers said.

Damages were estimated at $250 to the Woolfe car and $160 to the Terry car.

For County 'Title' Cats, Mustangs Go At It Friday

Littlefield's Wildcats will travel to Olton Friday night to battle it out in the annual "county championship" game. The Wildcats, fresh from a 20-14 victory over Plainview, will be in the favorite's role.

Olton lost to Floydada, 42-0 last week after defeating PETERSBURG 7-6 the week before. In his "before the game" comments, Head Coach Don Williams said: "From a coach's standpoint, this is the kind of game you worry about. Just because Floydada beat Olton by a big score is no reason for our boys to get over-confident. Floydada has an exceptionally fine AA team."

The head mentor went on to say, "Our victory over Plainview, coupled with Olton's loss, will put more determination in the Olton squad.

"Let's hope that we can contain Randeey Buchenau, John Wayne Hair and Robert Priest. Those boys are fine backs and will capitalize on any of their opponents' miscues."

It Sounds Fishy, But Farmer Swears It's True

It may sound like a fish story, but Paul Elliott of Fieldton swears it's true.

Elliott was pumping an irrigation well to water alfalfa last week and pumped up a number of small blue and yellow catfish.

About 20 of the little cats, said Elliott, were caught in a tarp. Each of them was about an inch long. Neighbor R. A. Reed was among those who saw the little fish.

Paul and John Dunn of Littlefield took the catfish to their homes and put them in water tanks to see how they'll fare above ground.

Juvenile Cases Keep Cops Busy

An East Alton, Ill., teenager who ran away from home and wound up here with 30 cents in his pocket and two Littlefield boys who stole a car and wound up in Arizona kept officers busy this week.

In addition, another Littlefield boy who wouldn't stay home at night is cooling his heels in the county juvenile ward.

The Illinois boy, 15, left home last Friday with $1.60 in his pockets and made his way here on $1.30. City officers spotted him here Monday, later got him to admit he was a runaway. The boy told officers he ran away because he didn't want to go to school. His relieved parents were on the way after him Tuesday. The boy was placed in the county juvenile ward.

The two Littlefield boys who went to Arizona, one 16 and the other 17, stole a car at Anton Saturday night, officers said.

The boys were picked up just outside Tucson, Ariz., after they fled a service station without paying for the gas they'd just gotten. Boh were being handled as juveniles by Arizona authorities in the theft of the gas. The FBI also had been called into the case because the stolen car had been taken across state lines.

In Littlefield, the 16-year-old will be handled as a juvenile, but the 17-year-old can be charged with felony auto theft. The two boys were in jail in Arizona Tuesday. The other Littlefield boy who got in trouble was placed in the

Country Club Fish Fry Slated Saturday Night

Black bass from a fresh water lake in Mexico will be the menu Saturday night when a fish fry will be staged at Littlefield Country Club.

Proceeds of the event will go for improvements on the country club building, according to Alvin Webb, president of the board.

Members and their guests are invited to attend the fry, which will start at 6:30 p.m. and end about 8:30.

Mr. and Mrs. Webb and Dr. and Mrs. Jack Still caught most of the fish two weeks ago in Mexico in a fresh water lake below Douglas, Ariz.

The party brought home about 200 bass averaging three to five pounds each, Webb said.

News-Leader Grid Contest Won By Tommy Cloninger

An old hand at picking football winners grabbed first prize in the News-Leader's first contest of the year this week.

He's Tommy Cloninger, 1101 W. 10th, who consistently placed high all season long in last year's contests.

Tommy picked 12 of 15 games right and guessed the Littlefield-Plainview game right on the nose 20-14. He'll get the $5 first prize for his efforts.

Johnny Hucks, 1220 W. 9th, placed second, also picking 12 of 15 games. But he lost out to Cloninger on the tie-breaker when his 21-15 guess was two points off the actual score. He wins $3.

Winning third place was a member of the Wildcat team that beat Plainview, James Blackwell, Rt. 2, James, a Cat tri-captain, missed on four games. He guessed exactly right on the Cats' 20-14 victory over Plainview, calling the score. He'll get $2 for third place.

LIONS SET BROOM SALE

If not, maybe you have one of those families who can afford two brooms.

In either case, Littlefield Lions will be knocking on your door today, trying to sell you a new broom or two.

The club is sponsoring its annual broom sale for the blind and the Lions would like you to help them by purchasing their brooms.

Profits made by the local club will go to community activities, including help for local needy children who need glasses.

County OK's $688,713 Budget For Next Year

County commissioners Monday approved a $688,713.69 budget for 1960 calling for few changes in the county financial picture of this year.

In doing so, the court also okayed tax levies for the year, making no changes in current tax rate totals.

Tax rates were set this way: general fund, 34 cents; courthouse and jail fund, 25 cents; jury fund, two cents; general road and bridge fund, 19 cents; special road and bridge fund, 15 cents; total, 95 cents.

Road district tax rates were set at the same totals, 80 cents in road district 1-A, 60 cents in road district 3, $1.00 in road district 4 and 20 cents in road district 6.

In other activity, the court authorized payment of $341.96 to High Plains Water District No. 1 for excessive commissions on taxes collected by the county tax assessor in 1955, 1956 and 1957.

Commissioners also noted that the balance of the money sent by the state for lateral road funds is $30,157.53.

The budget approved by the court was based on an assessed valuation of $26,094,271, an increase of $497,260 over that of the previous year.

Total expenditures this year, which ends Dec. 31, are expected to be $679,717.94. That would leave the county with an ending balance of $691,758.

Receipts next year are expected to total $687,350, with expenditures next year slated to be $688,713.69. That would leave an ending balance of $660,794.31 on Dec. 31, 1960.

Planned expenditures for 1960, by funds, include: jury fund, $6,805; road and bridge funds, $307,350; general fund, $91,300; officers' salary fund, 135,178.44; interest and sinking funds, $148,800.25.

County officers' salaries were kept at the same rate, however, several increases were authorized in travel pay. These included: County judge, increased from steel strike, $50 to $75 per month; commissioners from $50 to $75 per month; county attorney, from $100 to $300 per year; county clerk, from $100 to $300 per year.

One increase noted was in county welfare, where $18,000 was budgeted last year and $24,832 is expected to be spent. The budget in that case was raised to $25,000.

Capital outlay in the general road and bridge fund budget was increased from $60,000 in 1959 to $70,000 in 1960, with the commissioners anticipating higher costs next year as a result of the steel strike.

30th Anniversary Event Slated By Renfro Bros.

Renfro Bros. Food Market this week celebrates its 30th year of continuous operation in Littlefield. It has been under the same ownership all these years, and has shown the continued success of the free enterprise system.

After several years had passed, the Renfros saw the need for expansion and moved to a larger building, right across Phelps Avenue, to a building located where Haydon Shoes now operates.

TOM MATTHEWS is pictured standing at the head of a "Bed of Flowers" which she designed in her back yard.

PAINTING is one of the many talents of Mrs. Tom Matthews. She started painting about three years ago.

She has occupied many hours of Mrs. Tom Matthews' time. Among her sewing projects have been fiesta dresses.

Mrs. Matthews Finds Every Moment Full

By BERNITA RATLIFF

"An idle mind is the devil's workshop." If the devil is looking for a workshop he certainly won't find it with Mrs. Tom Matthews, because Mrs. Matthews is never idle.

Among her many interests are flowers, gardens, sewing, painting, pets, club work and ornamental projects.

Her most recent project was a "Bed of flowers" in the back yard which she designed.

Mrs. Matthews took an old bedstead and sprayed it with silver paint. In the springs she put plants of different flowers and vines. The flowers, which bloom in varied colors, fill the bed.

"We'd had the bedstead for a long time," said Mrs. Matthews, "I never thought we'd use it again."

"I got the idea from a television program," she said.

Among the flowers on the bed are tulips, geraniums, Jew's, angel wing begonias, yellow mums, white fiji mums, white lilacs, anemones, caladiums, rubber plants and a bougainvillea vine.

Under the bed Mrs. Matthews has a vine of ornamental gourds. Besides the bed of flowers Mrs. Matthews has a large variety of flowers and trees in her yard.

Decorating her yards are Bells of Ireland, poinsettias, roses, gladioli, perennial flocks, baby breath, tube roses, wistaria vines, hibiscus, evergreens and a mimosa tree.

"The hibiscus has been an outstanding flower this year since Hawaii became a state," commented Mrs. Matthews. "It is Hawaii's state flower."

"I'd like to have a state flower bed sometime," she said.

"I've always heard you couldn't start poinsettias from a cutting," she said, "but I have started all three of my plants from cuttings."

Also in her yard she has a poke salad bush that is over five feet tall.

"When the berries turn purple it is a beautiful bush," said Mrs. Matthews.

Mrs. Matthews commented that everything is dry right now and not as green as she liked.

Besides her flowers she has a garden.

"We raised peas, beans, radishes, turnips, peppers, corn, tomatoes, watermelons and cantaloupe this year," she said. "The watermelon and cantaloupe vines were volunteer from last year."

"I have canned a lot from the garden," she said. "I can't stand to see anything go to waste."

Mrs. Matthews also likes to sew. When did she learn to sew? "I'll never forget when I was five years old. I was trying to sew and stuck my finger so bad, 'I don't think I've stuck my finger since. That was such a lesson."

During her years of sewing she dressed her three daughters along with making dresses for wedding parties and serving as an alteration lady at department stores.

"I have made 35 fiesta dresses," Mrs. Matthews commented. "I like to make doll clothes best of all."

Another of her talents is painting.

"I started painting about three years ago," she said. "I took a few lessons."

Most of her paintings are oil paintings.

"I like to paint scenery better than anything," said Mrs. Matthews.

What does she like about painting? "Just the mess I get into when doing it, I guess."

She made one picture of cloth materials. The background is purple velvet with a Chinese scene of cloth stuffed to stand out and applied on the velvet with her zig-zag stitch on the machine.

"I saw a picture made similar to that one day and just wanted to try it," she said.

To keep her company while she is painting and sewing are her two pet parakeets, "Felix and Fanny."

Along with all of her hobbies she is active in the Eastern Star, Women's Missionary Union and teaches a Sunday School Class at the First Baptist Church.

On hand to welcome the visitors Saturday will be the present board of directors for the gin: Roy B. McQuatters, president; Walter F. Martin, vice-president; Love, secretary-treasurer; manager; E. O. Feagley, J. A. Streety, and E. C. Hill.

The Littlefield Farmer's Co-op was organized in 1935 and presently has about 400 farmer and landowner members.
Until two years ago, the gin had been located off the Springlake highway, at the lot rear of the Littlefield Frozen Food Center.
After that, the association purchased property on the S p a d e highway and moved its gin and office there. Another expansion program was started this year with the addition of the second gin plant.
The former members of the gin have been paid back about $10 per bale in either cash or stock allocations during the operation of the gin, Love says.

Mrs. Hine was hospitalized with a slipped disc and was put in traction.

Mrs. Hine is sorely missed at home when she's away. Besides that, she types up Jimmie's sports stories after he writes them out in long hand.
With Mrs. Hine in the hospital, more trouble was to come. One of the Hine children came up with strep throat. Both mother and child are home now, recovering.
Jimmie and another child are still getting along all right. But Jimmie warns:
"If I have to keep using my hand and peck system on that typewriter, I may wind up in the hospital with sore fingers."

Money Problem

dley, 8th grade science; Mrs. Ry Hutson, junior high girls p.e.; and Ronald Davis, 6th grade.
That's where talk of the need for more teachers came in.
Dr. Schilling pointed out that the average number of students in classrooms of the first six grades includes: first grade, 30; 2nd grade, 30; third grade, 34; 4th grade, 34; 5th grade, 30; 6th grade, 36.
The addition of one new teacher for each grade would help, Dr. Schilling said, but the averages still wouldn't come down to the 25 recommended by national accreditation standards.
Said one board member:
"I'd be in favor of anything we can do to get the teachers we need."
But the board agreed that the new teachers could not be afforded under present tax structure. Dr. Schilling estimated that seven new teachers would cost the local district an additional $26,000 a year.
From there the talk shifted to the efforts of the school study committee, which has been studying school needs here.

The committee will work before the end of the year is scheduled to make recommendations to the board is through.
Board members said waiting on the committee's recommendations before any changes in the school's financial structure.
In other activity Monday the board authorized $100 for the school band. The Sept. 18, to Olton; Oct. 19, to Hereford; Nov. 20, to Hereford; Nov. 21, to Hereford. All are football trips to Dallas and the Fair.
Trustees also authorized hiring to open the Fieldhouse for transients in the Children of transient home. The children of transient home attend school here from 8 a. m. to 12 noon each week.

He'd Present Khrushchev With Johnson Grass Seed

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm takes note of Mr. Khrushchev's visit to the United States' his letter this week reveals.

Dear editor:

I understand Mr. Khrushchev is on a tight schedule and won't be able to stop by my farm out here, which is perfectly all right, I'm on a tight schedule myself and wouldn't have much time to entertain him anyway.

But what has interested me most about his trip to the United States is the reaction of these big time columnists who write for the big dailies.

One group is arguing Khrushchev shouldn't have been invited at all, but I don't have much feeling on this point. As far as I'm concerned, anybody, including a dictator, is welcome to come over and look us over, so long as he doesn't bring his army with him.

Another group says Khrushchev won't be here long enough to get the feel of America, won't get to know what we think. Some Congressmen have lived here all their lives and every once in a while they prove they don't know what the people think either.

They then become ex-Congressmen. I don't know how long Khrushchev would have to stay here to figure us out, but it would be too long, except for the people in the dozen or so countries he has enslaved. As far as they're concerned, he could stay here forever.

Personally, I can't get very excited either way about his visit. I understand he's very interested in studying American farming methods. I am too. I've got one field out here I've been study-

Appliances Help 'Dream' Kitchen Become Reality

Most experts today agree that the most efficiently laid out kitchens are those built around the shortest working triangle between the sink, the cooling area and food storage area. A laundry center and eating space frequently are adjacent.

Here are some of the things you might find in your kitchen-of-tomorrow today:

REFRIGERATORS. Automatic defrosting is the good news. It banishes messy defrosting forever. Since frost never collects, there's more room for food storage. Some refrigerators can be built in. Free-standing ones are designed to fit between cabinets or flush to walls and inside corners. Shelves are easier to get at, ice-cube making often is automatic, special sections for meats and vegetables have been enlarged or improved.

FREEZERS. Forget about defrosting these appliances, too. They're bigger this year, better laid out, and—with elimination of the frost—they hold more. Exterior design can be matched to the refrigerators.

COOKING. Free-standing or built-in, cooking surfaces and ovens can be governed by electric brains. Set the dials and these units turn out perfectly-cooked food at the time you want it. Ovens are bigger easier to clean and some have built-in accessories.

DISHWASHING. Some dishwashers take up to 147 pieces, a complete service for 12, plus 15 additional items. Some models have two cycles—one for normal washing and another for large broiler racks, pots, pans and serving dishes. Mobile models are available that can be rolled to the dining room table to collect dishes. All types, at the flick of a button, wash, rinse and dry at a temperature which sanitizes dishes and kills disease-spreading bacteria. Yet the water's never too hot for the finest china.

FOOD WASTE. The sink equipped with a modern food dispenser washes garbage down the drain. It's that simple.

WASHERS AND DRYERS. Tell them what you're putting in by pressing command buttons. They figure out how much water should be used, at what temperature, for how long.

LIGHTING. General illumination can be achieved with strips of light extending from one end of the kitchen to the other. Fully illuminated ceilings are popular. Individual lights over range, sink and counters are mandatory for good vision at chores.

When it comes to decorating the kitchen, there are as many possibilities as in the dining room or living room. You can select either wood or metal cabinets and appliances in white or color. Some refrigerators have snap-out panels for an interchange of color when redecorating.

Cooking units nowadays can be placed almost anywhere you find convenient—even in the center of the kitchen floor in an "island."

And everything will stay clean and grease-free with a kitchen exhaust fan. One uses the same principles as that used for atomic submarines. Air is exhausted over activated charcoal and returned to the room fresh and odorless.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas
A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

The week of September 17-23 has been designated as "Constitution Week". Each year an observance is scheduled throughout the nation in recognition of the importance of the federal constitution, which forms the basis of our national government. It insures a stable balance of powers between the legislative, executive and judicial branches of government by providing curbs upon the authority of each.

For instance, mighty as our Congress is, the Constitution does not give it certain powers:

1. Neither Congress nor anybody else can suspend the writ of habeas corpus (unless the public safety demands it during rebellion or invasion.) All officers or others must obey a court and bring in anyone in their custody to see whether he is held lawfully.

2. Congress cannot pass "bills of attainder," special acts to punish someone. Congress cannot pass the courts.

3. Congress cannot pass an ex post facto law - a law which makes an act a crime which was not one when done, or which punishes the offender more than called for when done.

4. Congress cannot tax exports from any state nor by regulation favor one state's ports over another's, nor make one state's vessels clear or pay duties to another state in order to enter.

Besides these denials from within, the constitution curbs Congress and the executive and judiciary in the amendments, especially the first ten.

Among other things, Congress cannot make a law respecting establishment of religion or prohibiting its free exercise, on abridging the freedom of speech, of the press or of the right of the people to assemble and to petition the government for a redress of grievances.

The constitution also curbs the courts (for example, they cannot deny a person a fair hearing duly represented by counsel.) It curbs the executive (he cannot, for example, take private property for public use without just compensation.)

The constitution which divides the work of the three branches of government, winds up by telling where the rest of the power rests—just in case anybody gets any fancy ideas of dictatorship. There are things no state can do, for instance, "make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges communities of citizens of the United States."

If there are any powers not given to the United States government or reserved to the states, they belong to the people. The constitution does not seem to limit it the people.

(This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

JEWISH GROWTH

NEW YORK (AP) — Jewish population in the United States is five times what it was 50 years ago, the current American Jewish Year Book reports. It gives the total today as 5,260,000 compared to a million in 1899.

About Your Health

During summer days, anxious to enjoy picnics and outings, mothers prepare food in advance so they may have more free time at the outing.

Too often this early preparation of food leads to food poisoning. Summer is just about over and there aren't too many outdoor picnics scheduled, but the season of church suppers, group suppers and the like is still with us.

Food poisoning is an inconclusive term which in its broadest sense refers to disease conditions resulting from eating or drinking material in some way poisonous.

However, for our purposes, we will discuss only one of the major categories of food poisoning. This is bacterial contamination of foods—cases in which the food has become contaminated with one of four types of bacteria.

Four types of bacteria are the usual culprits. These are staphylococcus, clostridium botulinum, salmonella and streptococcus viridans. There are others, but these are the major offenders.

With reasonable care in food-handling, the growth of these bacteria, germs, can be held to a safe minimum.

There are always some bacteria present, and they thrive if given the proper temperature range to multiply.

All food should be thoroughly cooked. It not only tastes better, ent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Tut Davis of Baileyboro.

Mrs. F. W. Bearden was in Lubbock Wednesday. She also visited with Mrs. Elmo Hasha of Olton at the Methodist Hospital.

The Hasha's are the proud parents of a daughter Dana Sheree, born Tuesday night.

but most bacteria are killed from the high temperatures attained during cooking.

If food must be kept for a long time before consumption, refrigeration is an absolute necessity to prevent further bacterial growth. Especially vulnerable are bulk dishes such as potato salads, barn salads, meat spreads and other similar foods.

Everything should be kept refrigerated until the last possible moment before serving. That way, mass food poisoning will have less chance to occur.

THIS WEEK In Washington

With CLINTON DAVIDSON

It is a delightfully new and encouraging President Dwight D. Eisenhower that Washington is seeing this week at the start of person-to-person talks with Russia's Nikita Khrushchev.

His new, more vigorous and more confident leadership has given the Free World an urgently needed boost in morale and hope for enduring peace with honor. He deserves the full, unqualified support of all of us in his endeavor. The next few days may be the most important and fateful any of us will ever know. Certainly, they have no parallel in all of the recorded history of the world. The fate of civilization hangs in a delicate balance.

We thoroughly despise all that Khrushchev stands for; dictatorial oppression of freedom and ruthless disregard of human rights. But it is unthinkable that either democracy or communism should attempt to settle those differences by a suicidal war.

The New Approach The meeting in Washington this week and the one to follow next week are not another "Munich surrender" such as that which preceded World War II. President Eisenhower will make certain that this fact is impressed upon Khrushchev.

He gave our allies in Europe that assurance, and received their enthusiastic and unqualified support, during his visits to Bonn, London and Paris. The great receptions he received from the people was an expression of Western determination to remain free.

There is to be no "deal" made with the leader of the communists. The President stressed that point in both his private and public talks in Europe. The meetings, rather, are an acid test of Khrushchev's often expressed peace. He must not put a price on our freedom is precisely what Khrushchev must know with our lives. He must stand, too, that we will to oppose communism in whatever form it takes.

Free World Solidarity The challenge to freedom is a God-given privilege of people to live under their own choosing, to be free of the tyranny of a hungry Hitler ruffian in Poland 20 years ago.

There is this difference between the Free World and the Communist bloc: the Free World has inspired leadership that has led to freedom.

Mr. Eisenhower is the leader of the Free World at any time since he led armies in the campaign that crushed the Fascist threats to democracy.

The whole world fervently hopes that the peoples of both the communist bloc and the free nations and the will of their leaders, give us the wisdom, and the patience to see through this crisis rather, are an acid test of Khrushchev's often expressed peace. He must not put a price on our freedom is precisely what Khrushchev must know with our lives. He must stand, too, that we will to oppose communism in whatever form it takes.

Better Light-For-Living Urged; Contest Slated

Better light for better living is being highlighted as electric light and power companies throughout the nation focus attention on improved home lighting in new modernize homes.

In cooperation with the National Electric Living Program of the Edison Electric Institute, these utilities are spending hundreds of thousands of dollars to bring to the public's attention the importance of good lighting.

An example of this educational effort is the $100,000 consumer contest being sponsored by the Edison Electric Institute and its member utilities. Beginning during National Home Week and ending on November 15, 1959, the contest calls the attention to Light-For-Living Medallion Homes and the standards of good lighting that have been developed by all segments of the electrical industry.

You can enter this contest by obtaining an entry blank and a specially prepared 16-page lighting booklet from your local electric utility. The entry blank and booklets will also be available from such retailers as lamp and fixture stores, furniture dealers, and department stores.

The four best entries will each win one of four Light-For-Living homes, worth $20,000, which will be constructed on the winners' own lot. These homes were specifically designed and judged as winners in a recent Student-Architect contest.

In addition, there will be four more major prizes of $1,500 groups of electric kitchen appliances.

One thousand more prizes—500 portable lamps and 500 packages of assorted light bulbs—will also be awarded.

The two contests—the one concluded for student architects and the one just opening to the public—are examples of the emphasis the electrical industry is placing on good lighting.

To further demonstrate the importance of lighting in the home, many electric utilities are working with local home builders to construct model Light-For-Living homes that you will be able to visit and inspect during National Home Week. These homes are meant to show you what is really good lighting, and to provide you with lighting ideas that you can incorporate in the home you buy or modernize.

Your local electric utility and electrical contractor are ready now to help you live better electrically with improved lighting. Remember better lighting today means better living tomorrow.

Housepower Must Meet Big Demand

Surveys of older homes disclose that the average ten-year-old home's wiring is inadequate for many of the appliances classed as necessities today.

It was found that 30- or 60-ampere electrical capacities generally will run the toaster, radio and a few lamps without blowing a fuse, but hardly can handle a full alignment of dishwashers, freezers, ranges, ovens and washer-dryers.

For a more fully electrical way of life you must have at least 100-ampere capacity for enough electrical equipment and appliances to the fullest. This also means being able to operate as many appliances at the same time as you please without affecting the efficiency of any one of them.

Most wiring systems were designed when there were only a few appliances on the market. The result today—with more than 60 electrical appliances on the market—is that fuses blow, appliances take "forever" to heat up, TV pictures shrink, lights blink when too many demands are made on the older home's electrical capacity.

Never try to do-it-yourself to improve your home's wiring service. Call on a qualified electrical contractor. He'll go over a "Housepower rating sheet" with you and design an electrical system tailored to your needs today and your way of living in the years to come.

The minimum wiring standards established for Medallion Homes are an excellent guide. Working from these, your contractor probably will recommend a 100-ampere service entrance, separate

Can You Answer Questions About Your Home Wiring?

1. How do you change a fuse?
2. How do you re-set a circuit breaker?
3. What is an "electric service entrance"?
4. How much lighting and electrical equipment can a 100 ampere service entrance handle?
5. How can you tell the number of branch circuits in a house?
6. How many watts can you connect, all at one time, on a lighting (15 ampere) branch circuit?
7. How many watts can you connect, all at one time, on an appliance (20 ampere) branch circuit?
8. How far apart should you space convenience outlets (floor plugs)?
9. On which side of the door opening should a light switch be located?
10. What is meant by "3-wire service"?

ANSWERS:

1. Open main switch in the service entrance to cut off current while you are working at the "branch circuitbox." Replace blown fuse with new one of proper size. Make sure your hands are dry and stand on a dry board while doing this.
2. Push handle to extreme "off" position. Return handle to "on" position.
3. The wires which carry electric current from the utility's power lines to the house, and the house's main switch and fuse panel.
4. 24,000 watts.
5. In houses less than 20 years old, count the fuses or circuit breakers. 240-volt circuits will have two fuses or one double handled circuit breaker. In house more than 20 years old, have a reliable electrician check.
6. 1,800 watts.
7. 2,400 watts.
8. So that no point along floor line of usable wall space is more than 6 feet from an outlet.
9. On the latch side of the room's main entrance.
10. Availability of 240-volt circuits as well as 120-volt circuits.

LIPSTICK LOGIC

Summer has signed out when your telephone tells you. Outward indications such as fading flowers, a soft undertone in the morning air—these may mislead you. But the unerring test is what your telephone reveals.

A few weeks ago, had you called friends on the phone in mid-afternoon, what would you have found? No answer, probably. The lady of the house had taken the kids to the swimming pool. Or she was sunning herself in the backyard. Maybe the whole family was away on vacation. If you caught her at home, she was reading, playing bridge, taking life easy.

But now what answers do you get?

"Oh, I was making Peggy a dress. She has outgrown all of her school clothes."

"I'm cleaning house like mad. It's that time of year."

"No, I wasn't asleep. But I was lying down. This hay fever!

"I should say I wasn't napping. I'm baking two cakes, one for my club tomorrow. And Jean was cooking supper for thirty girls, so I told her I'd bring a cake over to help out."

"I'm working like a slave getting this garage apartment ready to rent."

Wayland Mission Team To Appear Here Sunday

The nine-member Wayland Baptist Convention states and the College summer mission team which has recently returned from northwestern United States and Canada, will have charge of the morning and evening services at the First Baptist Church, Littlefield, Sunday.

This group of students who served under the sponsorship of Wayland's Mission Band included James Thompson, Louisiana; James Blount, Arkansas; Paul McCall, Missouri; Phillip Wiman, Texas; Elton Galt, Plains; R.E. Frazier, Devine; Jimmy Morrison, Midland; and assistant pastor W. Larkins, assistant professor of speech at Wayland.

Senior leaders will speak at the morning service.

During the first six weeks of summer vacation, these students made this time as the most profitable in their lives by entering 30 churches for Christ. Of which were professions of faith, were recorded in 21 countries in six states and one Canadian province.

This year's team visited only one city where a 1957 team had held meetings. That was the Canadian city of Edmonton, Alberta. The earlier group concentrated its efforts in the Central Plains while the 1959 team chose the Pacific Northwest plus Colorado and Wyoming.

Wayland's Mission Band, which was organized shortly after the first service reported for classes in 1938, originally sent mission bands to city churches near the college. Since 1938 the organization has widened its outreach to include the Northwest, all Southern Baptist Convention states and even sections of South America and Mexico.

Services by this year's team were held in such diverse places as Chicago, Denver, Edmonton and Portland, and at intermediate points.

A period of music and testimony was followed by a dramatic production of "Challenge of the Cross" and finally an invitation for decisions. The team's eight members alternated on duties for the different services and on Sundays they replaced the dramatic presentation with a message by a ministerial student.

Financial responsibility for sending our summer mission teams was largely born by the Wayland Mission Band, although of course from the local churches are accepted for transportation expenses. In arranging for engagements, local churches agree to furnish overnight lodgings and so meals in homes of members.

Many details of the 1959 trip were arranged by former students of the college who have become part of the pioneer Baptist work in the northwest. Some of these went as members of similar teams, as Tentmakers, Baptist Student Union missionaries and student workers with the Home Mission Board.

Of the eight on this year's team, we are planning to be mission students. These are Kerr and James Thompson, Hays, Kansas; McCall and Wiman, Hays, Kansas; and Morrison is preparing for the teaching profession.
