LITTLEFIELD'S FIRST BALE BROUGHT IN BY
MAYFIELD; BRINGS TOTAL OF 14c LB.

HEARING DATE IS YET UNDECIDED
IN ELECTION TEST

Difference of Two Votes
Causes Wide Interest
In Outcome

The result of the race between Judge Simon D. Hay, the incumbent, and A. H. McGavock, for the office of county judge of Lamb County will be contested.

The case has already been filed before the Lamb County Democratic Executive Committee, according to information revealed by Littlefield party leaders, although no date for its hearing has been agreed upon by the committee.

The canvass of the votes last Saturday by Democratic committee revealed that Judge Hay had a lead of two votes over Mr. McGavock.

In contesting the election, Mr. McGavock has as his attorneys E. A. Bills and T. Wade Potter of Littlefield, and James Goudy of Olton.

Plans Being Made to Give Entertainments At Other Places

Plans have been tentatively arranged whereby the business men of Littlefield will inaugurate a series of entertainment programs in the various communities around Littlefield. The first of these trips will be made to the Spade community, Friday night, September 16, at which time Littlefield talent will put on a program consisting of comedy skits, musical numbers, black face dances, readings, and brief addresses by one or two leading Littlefield men.

J. O. Garlington, who is chairman of a committee to arrange the programs and dates for the trips, states that the people of the Spade community have extended a welcome to the Littlefield people to visit there with their entertainment, and urges every business firm to send as many representatives as is possible.

According to information given out, many of the merchants will have free prizes and attractive souvenirs to give to the many friends they have in the Spade territory, and they are anticipating a time of fun, good will and the making of warmer friendships in this meeting.

Rains of This Week
Are Said to Be Very Beneficial to Crops

Rains that have fallen in Littlefield and over the adjacent territory this week will prove to be highly beneficial, according to a statement by R. T. Badger of the Yellow House Land company. "While some of the matured feed may be slightly damaged, the benefit to the vast amount of young feed and the help that the moisture will be in filling out the bolls that are now on the stalks will much more than offset this small damage," Mr. Badger states. The rain, which began falling in Littlefield Monday night and has continued intermittently since, is regarded as one of the most helpful in a great while.

Z. W. Wells, local government weather authority, reports that slightly more than an inch of rain had fallen in the Littlefield territory up to 7 o'clock Wednesday morning. Possibly the precipitation had reached two inches or more by 7 o'clock Wednesday night.

Today's Government Report Estimates 1932 Cotton Production At 11,310,000

The government cotton report, received at 10 a. m. today, indicated a total 1932 production of 11,310,000 bales as compared with 11,308,000 bales in the previous estimate.

On the strength of the larger estimate the cotton market immediately broke 83 points, regaining, however, a part of this loss by a sudden upturn.

Editor's Note:

The report of this date was compiled from estimates made over the cotton producing states up until September 1, and does not take into consideration the immeasurable loss caused by the now raging Rio Grande flood, which is said to be the heaviest flood loss ever known in the valley cotton region. Estimates have placed this loss at from 50,000 to 100,000 bales, which, when deducted from the estimate of today, would cause a net reduction in the recent estimate of from 46,000 to 96,000 bales.

Reports made at the recent convention of the Plains Ginners' Association, held in Lubbock last Saturday, show that Texas ginners sustained a total loss of more than $9,000,000 in ginning fees, in addition to being forced to allow more than $10,000,000 in accounts and taxes go unpaid, during the last cotton season.

In assigning a cause for this deplorable condition, gin authorities based their conclusion on the average of twenty Central Texas gins, which revealed that the average cost of ginning cotton there was about 80 cents per 100 pounds. Average expenses

The Texas Legislature was petitioned by the West Texas County Judges and Commissioners Association, which met in semi-annual session Thursday and Friday in Amarillo, to enact the law which has been proposed whereby the state would assume outstanding county highway bonds which represent funds invested in state designated highways. This step was taken by the judges and commissioners because they believe it is the only means that can bring immediate relief to taxpayers, the association officials aver.

BACK TO NATURE

It seems to us that one of the beneficial results of this long period of depression and industrial unemployment has been to force upon large numbers of people, who had never realized it before, that there is no safety or security for most folks if they get too far away from the soil and the sea.

We were reminded of this by reading that the State of New York has decided to grant fishing licenses free to the unemployed, so that they may at least have the chance of catching part of their food from the rivers and lakes, bays and ponds of the state.

Then we read about the various places all over the country where thousands of unemployed are being encouraged to pan out gold from the soil. There is gold almost everywhere in the United States. Most of it doesn't run enough gold to the ton of earth or rock to pay for the expense of setting up regular mining equipment, but we understand that a good many thousand people are making good wages panning out placer gold all the way from the Pacific Coast to the Atlantic.

Hundreds of communities gave help and encouragement during the past summer to the unemployed who were willing and able to work small garden patches and so help to feed themselves and their families.

All such projects are, of course, merely temporary expedients, but out of them it is reasonable to expect that a great many Americans, who have been so brought up that they did not know how to take care of themselves unless they were attached to a payroll, will have learned that it is possible for a man to make a living without much equipment beyond his two hands, if he will stick close enough to nature's sources of wealth, and seize them for himself instead of buying them through a chain of middlemen.

THE TAIL OF A SHIRT

It seems to us as if almost everybody must be pretty near out of clothes by this time. We don't see how the necessity for new clothes can be met without having some effect upon general business conditions. We notice in the fashion papers and on the streets that women's skirts are getting longer and their sleeves bigger. That ought to mean a larger demand for fabrics of all kinds, and that, in turn, ought to mean a better demand for cotton and wool and silk and rayon, out of which to manufacture the fabrics.

We don't think American women are going to dress out of fashion very long, and while it was easy enough to cut down the long skirts and cut off the long sleeves, it is not going to be so easy to make over a short-skirted, sleeveless dress into one with full sleeves and a long skirt.

We don't remember the name of the political economist who pointed out, many years ago, that if he could be Emperor of China and issue a decree that every Chinaman's shirt tails must be three inches longer, it would double the business of the Manchester cotton mills.

Rev. Joe Boyd Attends Church Conferences In Lubbock, Plainview

Presiding elders, ministers and laymen of the Northwest Texas Methodist conference met in Lubbock, in an all-day session, according to Rev. Joe E. Boyd, pastor of the Littlefield Methodist Church, who attended the conference. Bishop Hiram A. Boaz of Houston presided, and Dr. C. A. Bickley, presiding elder of the Lubbock Methodist district was in charge of the arrangements. Plans for closing the conference year were discussed, and Bishop Boaz preached at 11 o'clock in the morning at the First Methodist Church. According to Rev. Boyd, reports were made by the 26 pastors and charges in the district on Boyd, the Littlefield Methodist Church will make its report to the bishop at this conference.

Immense Order For Hymnals Is Placed

(From Kingsport (Tenn.) Times)
The Kingsport Press, Incorporated, has received the largest known single order of hymnals ever placed with a single concern. The order was placed by The Christian Science Publishing Society of Boston.

The order consists of 400,000 cloth-bound books and 10,000 de luxe full leather-bound books. The books will be distributed throughout the world.

The music plates for the 640-page hymnal will be prepared by the F. H. Gilson Company of Boston, nationally known music composers. All of the type for the plates was set by hand.

E. W. Palmer, president of the local plant, said some idea of the magnitude of the order could be obtained by the quantity of material and time necessary for the completion of the book. Five of the largest perfecting presses of the Kingsport Press began work on printing the book June 15 and will run 20 hours each day until August 25, at which time the printing is expected to be complete.

A total of 325 tons of paper will be used in the book, 40,240 yards of book cloth, 39,000 yards of head bands, seven tons of end paper material, 50 tons of cover board, and more than 210,000 yards of muslin re-enforcement for the backs of the books.

Mr. Palmer said probably the most outstanding part of the manufacturing process will be the use of more than 500,000 sheets of 22-carat gold for the stamping on the cloth-bound edition and gilding the edges and stamping the de luxe edition. Mr. Palmer estimated the cost of the gold alone at $12,500.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION FOR THE MILK INDUSTRY

"You are charged with selling adulterated milk," said the judge. "Your honor, I plead not guilty." "But the testimony shows that it is 25 per cent water." "Then," interposed counsel, "if your honor will look up the word 'milk' in your dictionary you will find it contains from 80 to 90 per cent water. My client should have sold it for cream."

a way men are natural and simple behind the bar of a Bowery saloon, John, without knowing it, practiced the ultimate in correct behavior; he was completely at his ease, as he saw no reason to be otherwise.

Josephine, after John evidenced no awkward signs of stage fright, and seemed endowed with an inherent gentleness, went to remarkable lengths in the process of his further education. He held her naturally, skillfully, and picked up the latest dance steps with astonishing facility. She took him to the exclusive Desdemona Dances at the St. Botolph. John was accepted everywhere through the introduction of Van Horn.

The city had simply floored him for a few counts and he was again on his feet, better than ever. "What John needs is strong medicine. a close. His last day had been strangely quiet. His nerves were no longer on edge, but in the depth of his being he felt a sinking sensation of loss. Of course John Breen was more than merely interested in Josephine.

Returning from Pagliacci alone with Josephine one evening the car jolted as they swung across Forty-second Street, and Josephine uttered a startled "Oh!" as they skidded on the slippery street when brought to a sudden stop behind a jam, a bus having blocked the crazy, unregulated traffic just as it started moving swiftly northward. Josephine was thrown against John. His arm steadied her. Her long glove was off; he caught her hand as the car stopped. She rested against him, her cloak open at the throat, her bare shoulder beneath his eyes, in the pale light from the arc lamps across the avenue. Neither spoke. Their breathing was intense. An impulse held them, the wild melody of the moment before seemed to reverberate through their minds. The scent of her hair, the compelling thrill of contact swayed them on a crest of emotion. John pressed her to him with sudden rudeness, kissing her. Josephine, her eyes closed, did more than just receive the imprint of his lips.

The car slid to a stop before the house in the middle Fifties. They sat bolt upright. Both were wiser than before.

Back in the dormitory John arranged his work in a methodical way, looked through his books as if coming back to old friends, filled his favorite pipe from his dry tobacco in the humid air, looked out of the window over the roofs of Harlem, looking at himself in the mirror and smiled. Well, after all, he had a great prize ahead of him in the mighty City of New York. On his chiffonier was the likeness of Josephine, in decollete and with a rose in her hair. Visitors to his room would glance at it approvingly. Malone and Harboard were there. "A kick goes further than a kiss, when you're arguin' with a jackass," when you're arguin' with a jackass, one Malone swung a polished boot, one leg over the study table in John's room. Harboard was in the big chair by the window and John sat on the couch. "That kid there needed a pected he could start right in an' find out everythin' there was. He was afraid there was not enough for him to learn." Pug looked at John, smiling. He liked a fighter and John was certainly that. "If the women ever get hold of him—Gawd help him, an' them."

John blushed furiously. Malone and Harboard looked at each other. Both glanced at Josephine's picture on the chiffonier; nothing had been said about it.

At last, in the spring, John graduated.

C. E. Civil Engineer! John Breen, C. E. John wrote his name again and again, always adding the significant letters for which he had struggled during four years that once seemed so long and then lay behind him like a sudden dream. It had been a fight, it was always a fight in the greater city.

He kept looking at his sheepskin, an elaborate parchment quaintly stating that he was entitled to "all the rights, privileges and immunities thereunto appertaining." He went to Greenbough carrying the precious scroll clutched in his fist. Here was something to show to Pug, to prove that his studies had not been entirely in vain. Behind him the last days of the commencement kept recurring, brilliant flashes, intermingled with his dreams of what was to come, with thoughts of Josephine and comfortable interesting problems he would discuss with Gilbert Van Horn. Never had the campus been so afire with the spirit of youth.

Gilbert Van Horn returned to town and spent a week with John and Pug at Greenbough. He had kept away from the commencement. "Not feeling any too fit," was his excuse. In fact Gilbert was getting very close to the point where he would have to make a clean breast of things and take his chances with John—but always hoping against hope that something would turn up. "In a natural way." He kept his thoughts to himself and devoted a large part of his time to watching Josephine. Gerrit Rantoul, so he began to realize, was making remarkable progress with his ward. Rantoul was a romantic figure, a man with a past shrouded in the glamor of adventure, of South American and African enterprises, a man glossed with the polish of an international experience.

But Rantoul was a good chap, as Gilbert had to admit. He secured an appointment for John Breen as Assistant Engineer on the Great Catskill Aqueduct. "Subject, of course, to confirming examination."

"Mighty decent of him, John," Van Horn remarked. He felt a bit piqued that Rantoul should have done it. If he had thought, he could have managed it himself; but it was a compliment to John, and any one who helped John, helped him.

"Jo sends her congratulations, John. You'll be seeing her soon. Then this winter, when you get started on your work, we'll all be in the city together. Think of it, you might have gone west, or to Brazil, on that railroad, or up to Alaska on that survey."

"No, Gil, I'm set on the city. Big-great engineering problem in the world. I expect to be here all my life."

"Well, the Van Horns have always stuck to New York," Gilbert looked at the boy, closely, as he said it. John Breen was thinking of other things, not of the Van Horns.

John came down to the city on a Friday. Reported at Division Headquarters, saw huge offices filled with men working at drafting boards, or engaged in calculations. Other men, rough, with mud-splattered boots, some carrying tunnel lamps, came in from a dented car just hauled up at the curb. These were executive engineers, members of the field force.

The walls were covered with profiles, with progress markings. A contagious air of intense activity held sway. It seemed to John that he was on the edge of a great field of battle, of life and sudden death, of vast constructions. John knew what thirst was, knew the sickly trickle of the lukewarm Croton water, running brackish and yellow in the deep honeycomb of the city. Here were men working day and night to bring the water down, the clear, cold, sparkling water of the old hills where Rip Van Winkle slept and dreamed. Men were drilling and sinking shafts, were tunneling and mining under the broad Hudson, and now the huge final bore, beneath Manhattan, was to be accomplished, the last deep drift four hundred and more feet in the solid rock of the parching, steaming city. It was a magnificent enterprise, a cause, a crusade, a direct reply to those who give scant honor to the engineer.

His appointment had been accomplished in a moment. These men wasted no time. "Report Section Five, Shaft Eleven, to engineer Hurlburt, Monday, eight a. m." The Division Engineer, named Wild, shook his hand. "Keep your eyes open, and good luck." John was on the street and entering the new Subway at 181st Street.

"Why did he wish me 'good luck'?" he wondered. A man sitting next to John held a paper, he saw the headline. Ten Men Killed on Aqueduct Siphon. It was printed in red and further down was listed a long record of other casualties and deaths.

John stopped at the field house marked Shaft XI. He met the gang, Malling, a Penn. man, and Barrow of Boston Tech. These fellows had an extra room in a small apartment near the work. "Sure, come in, it's handy here and you can't hear all the blasts if you're a sound sleeper."

James Malling, C. E., had already been on important work, driving the Pennsylvania tubes. He had the unhealthy pallor of the men who have worked in shields, under pressure. "Come up here for my health. Rather get gunned than doubled with the bends. Take my tip, Breen, keep out of air." He spoke with the assurance of a man of immense experience.

Everywhere an earnest activity prevailed, the palaverers were not there; these men were doers. They were assembling the machinery for sinking a shaft in Morningside Park. A swearing boss driver was ragging a gang of sullen Polack workmen; several engineers stood about discussing location prints, and Malling, in charge of a new transit, was directing some youths carrying a silvery tape and a plumb bob. He beckoned to John.

"Don't report until Monday," he advised. "They run this job like a war," he added with a certain pride. "You got your orders, see Hurlburt at eight, sharp, blue Monday, and then pronto! pronto! pronto!" "Hey, you!" he bent to the eye-piece of the telescope and bawled at his assistants. "Left, dammit, left! Don't you fellows know the signals?" Malling straightened himself with a smile of important disgust.

JAMES CRUZE SELECTS STERLING CAST TO SUPPORT CARRILLO IN "RACETRACK"

When James Cruze undertook to produce the World Wide Pictures and personally to direct "Racetrack," which is coming to the Palace Theatre Friday and Saturday, he promised himself and his colleagues that he would pick exactly the right type of individual for every part.

Seventy-two per cent of New York families live in rented apartments. You can buy violins made out of aluminum in New York.

The leading role was custom made for Leo Carrillo, who had attained such heights of glory in "Hellbound." The second most important character called for a boy about sixteen years old with an appealing personality, a sense of humor, the ability to ride a horse and to look like a jockey when he was doing it, and with the ability to play a real part with conviction. That sterling young actor, Junior Coghlan was selected.

The next role to come under the scrutiny of James Cruze was that of the mother of the jockey. She had to be young, appealing, attractive and a brilliant dramatic actress. Kay Hammond got the part. She fitted perfectly.

Next came the semi-comedy, semi-dramatic role of "catcher" to Leo Carrillo. This required someone who looked as typical a racetrack tout as any tout who ever had a sure thing. Director Cruze gave up several perfectly good nights sleep to this important problem. Suddenly, early one morning, just as he was about to let someone else do some thinking for a change, the name of the perfect man to play the part came to him in a flash—Lee Moran.

When the picture was finished James Cruze smiled happily. "The

RENFRO BROS. TO OBSERVE THIRD ANNIVERSARY THIS WEEK

POPULAR BROTHERS STARTED BUSINESS HERE IN SEPT. 1929

OWNERS GIVE CREDIT TO CUSTOMERS FOR GROWTH

The third anniversary of Renfro Bros., popular Littlefield food store, will be observed Friday and Saturday of this week. Special arrangements have been made by the proprietors, Raymond and Norman Renfro, to express in their anniversary celebration their deepest appreciation to the people of Littlefield and this territory for the splendid and loyal manner in which they have supported with their friendship and patronage the business started by these two young Littlefield business men.

Three years ago the "Renfro twins," as they are familiarly known, engaged in the grocery business. They have made it their policy to give the food buying public the very best of everything in good foods at the very lowest prices consistent with local conditions. Not only have these two enterprising grocers won for themselves a reputation for excellent foodstuffs, but they have continuously endeared themselves to Littlefield and its trade territory by their genuine friendliness and the most excellent manner in which they serve the public.

One of the features of the Renfro Bros. store is the service that they are rendering their customers by means of their fleet of well-equipped trucks which make prompt and dependable delivery to the homes in this territory.

The large stock of groceries is marked by the presence of many of the highest standard brands, known and used the country over. Renfro Bros., according to the owners' statement, have never resorted to any form of inferior merchandise in order to reduce prices. On the contrary, they have always tried to select the very finest of foods, depending on a large, quick "turn-over" to allow them to offer the public lowest prices.

The meat department, which is in charge of Harry C. Smith, a meat cutter of more than thirty years of experience, ranks with the most modern and sanitary markets to be found. Fresh and cured meats of the choicest kinds are served the public here.

Fresh fruits and vegetables, the Renfro brothers say, are among the most healthful foods to be found, and they have adequately equipped their modern store to furnish the freshest of a wide variety of seasonable and out-of-season fruits and vegetables—freshly-kept.

In commenting on their three years of business in Littlefield, the Renfro brothers state that they feel especially obligated to this territory for the most admirable manner in which the people have patronized their store. "Going into business just at a time when conditions the world over were entering upon one of the most unusual periods ever known, and coming through with constant growth, rather than retrenchment, should cause any business man to feel very kindly and grateful if he has any sentiment at all toward the people whom he serves," the Renfro brothers say.

The firm is extending to the public a very cordial invitation to visit and inspect their store during the anniversary celebration.

Armour & Co. Will Demonstrate Meats And Other Products

In conjunction with the third anniversary of Renfro Bros. store, Armour & Co., through C. C. Carter, representative in this territory, will have a most interesting display of many of its popular products. Showing the most modern and sanitary methods of preparing, wrapping and marketing, some of the Armour goods to be shown are sugar-cured bacon, smoked bacon, dry salt bacon, hams and picnic hams, Star Brand lard, Cloverbloom butter and corn beef.

Mr. Carter states that it is the desire of his company to cooperate with Renfro Bros. in showing the public the very best in cured meats and other relative products, and invites the closest inspection of each item.

White Swan Coffee Display to Be Part Of Celebration

White Swan Coffee, "King of All Coffees," according to H. B. Daviss, salesman for Waples-Platter company, distributors of this widely used beverage, will be demonstrated at Renfro Bros. during the firm's two-day celebration of its third anniversary. Mr. Daviss states that as evidence of the exceptional quality of White Swan coffee and its popularity among Littlefield coffee drinkers, a very large shipment has been made to Renfro Bros. for use during its anniversary occasion.

An experienced coffee roaster from the Waples-Platter coffee mills at Fort Worth will be in the store to explain the modern methods used in preparing White Swan Coffee for the public's use. Both the Renfro brothers and the Waples-Platter representatives invite the public to see and hear this demonstration and talk.

Canova Products To Be Demonstrated In Renfro Anniversary

One of the features of the celebration of the third anniversary of the establishing of Renfro Bros. Grocery & Market will be a special demonstration of Canova products, which will be in progress all day Saturday at the store.

The demonstration will be carried out by a lady representative of Canova products. She will tell of many of the features of Canova products, and the great variety of uses of Canova goods in the preparation of foods.

Brown Cracker & Candy Co. To Demonstrate Products On Saturday

A complete line of products produced by the Brown Cracker & Candy Company is carried by Renfro Bros., who will observe their third anniversary Friday and Saturday.

One of the features of the celebration will be a demonstration of Brown Cracker & Candy Company products, which will be in progress at the store all day Saturday.

A special invitation is extended to the women of Littlefield and district to attend this very interesting demonstration.

PRIZES WILL BE GIVEN BOYS AND GIRLS BY RENFRO BROS. IN BIG CELEBRATION

In planning its third anniversary celebration, Renfro Bros. store has not failed to take into consideration the genuine friends it has among the hundreds of boys and girls in and around Littlefield. The "Renfro twins," in commenting on their friendship for the "kiddoes," say that "We are all just grown-up boys and girls; we never get too old or too busy to want to play; and all the boys and girls are certainly welcome to our store any and all times. We would feel like there was something wrong with us if we did not like to have the boys and girls around us."

As a matter of fact, Renfro Bros. are extending a very special invitation to every boy and girl in and around Littlefield to come to their store next Saturday. They have announced that they will give a free prize to each and every boy and girl, 12 years old and under, who visits the Renfro Bros. store Saturday.

The Renfro brothers state that they are expecting to have almost a "circus day" with all of their boy and girl friends coming in to see them on the occasion of their third anniversary celebration.

PROTEST IS MADE ON TARIFF-FREE OIL FROM ISLANDS

REVISION OF GINNING PRICES SUGGESTED AT MEETING

Independence of the Philippines was urged in a resolution introduced before the South Plains Ginners' Association, which met in Lubbock Saturday. Huge quantities of coconut oil are imported tariff-free from the islands, and independence of these United States possessions, sponsors of the resolution said, would permit a tariff against the oil, the importing of which makes it a serious competitor of cotton seed oil.

Other resolutions asked reductions of penalties for light bales of cotton, repeal of the present ginners' bond and license law in Texas, and the placing of Texas Cotton Co-operative Association gins in the hands of the farmers in the communities in which they are located. Stern protest was voiced by the association against the allowance of $5 a bale and seed for picking and ginning expenses of cotton mortgaged to meet federal loan payments and a demand for an increase was made by the ginners.

Optimism was expressed by several speakers. R. E. Patterson, president of the South Plains Ginners' Association, said, "we are going around that corner we've been taking so long." He pointed to a price of cotton seed and oil from five to eight cents higher grade, as compared with last season.

Who Can Afford It?
By BRUCE B. BREWER, Vice Pres., Ferry-Hanly Advertising Company

"They can afford it—I can't." That argument, used by a local merchant when he is reminded that large national concerns profitably use small city advertising space, simply doesn't hold water.

In the first place, the big national concern probably grew to largeness from a start in using small city advertising. Secondly, it costs the national advertiser far more to use the paper than it does the local merchant.

The big advertiser must use thousands of papers. Divide the number of papers used into his total sales and you quickly see how costly it is for him, and yet, he uses this advertising only because he knows by experience it pays him.

To illustrate: A national advertiser's sales in 1,000 small cities are $2,000,000 annually. He spends for advertising an average of $100 in each small city, or $100,000 in all. His $100 in each city must bring $2,000 in sales.

On the same basis, a retailer with sales of $10,000 should spend $500; with $25,000 he should spend $1,250; on $50,000, his advertising should amount to $2,500; on $100,000 it should be $5,000.

In addition, the merchant secures a lower rate, so his money buys more advertising, which makes his advertising-sales cost lower.

Now, "who can afford it?" (Copyright 1932)

FARM NOTES
By D. A. ADAM
County Agent

Lamb County 4-H club boys are receiving their club calves Thursday, September 8, at the Spring Lake headquarters. These calves are being fed on a cooperative basis, and it is the first time that 4-H club boys have had the opportunity to do this, and this has been made possible by the fine cooperation of the Halsel Cattle Co., Amherst, Texas. One hundred and fifty calves are being put into feed lots by approximately 50 boys. One hundred and fifteen steers and 25 heifers are to be put on feed. These boys are demonstrating the value of feeding of home grown feeds to beef cattle, and also, that through beef calves we have a profitable market for feed crops. Home grown feeds are to be fed entirely.

can do in spite of the 'depression.' Any exhibit that you might have that you are proud of, regardless of what it is, bring it in, and we shall find a place for it.

Royce Harrel, of the Olton club, reports his feed crops, grown under club conditions, will produce from 50 to 60 bushels of grain, and that his cotton crop is excellent.

Ben J. McGee reports he is going to cut his soybean hay this week.

John Horton, Homer Hall, of Sudan, and R. L. May have entered stock in the Amarillo News-Globe Swine and Dairy contests. This stock will be judged on September 12, and any farmer interested in going around and seeing these men's operations should report to the county agent's office at 8 a. m. Monday, September 12, and we shall be glad to have you go around with us. C. L. Shepherdson, A. & M. dairy specialist; Mr. Buchanan, with the A. & M. animal husbandry department; E. N. Regenbrecht, swine specialist; A. L. Darnell, dairy specialist, and others are doing the judging, and we invite you to be on hand and go the rounds.

Lamb County Fair To Open Sept. 16; Rules Announced

The Lamb County Fair is to be held at the Lamb County Fair grounds Friday and Saturday, September 16-17. Every farmer in Lamb County who has some crop that he is proud of, or any livestock in which he is interested is invited to bring them. It does not matter whether the animals are registered or not, the fair would like to have them on exhibit. Stallions, jacks, good mares, and mules are especially wanted, as well as good dairy stock, according to the managers.

There will be no cash prizes but ribbons will be given on everything that places in the judging.

Following is the list of crops and the number to make an exhibit at the Fair:

Class No. 1—Head and Ear Grains (All samples shall consist of 10 heads or ears except sunflower and broom-corn). Red milo maize, white milo maize, blackhull kafir corn, red kafir corn, feterita, hegari, Egyptian wheat, broom corn (12 heads), sunflower (3 heads), white dent corn, yellow corn, corn, any other variety, popcorn, any variety.

Boys' and Girls' 4-H Club work will exhibit in the Grain Sorghum Club Show, Cotton Club Show, the Corn Club Show, and the Livestock Club Show, and will compete among themselves, and against the farmers.

Every farmer in Lamb county is urged to prepare an exhibit for the Fair. There will be several educational features that will be of interest to the entire population of the county.

Classification for all phases of livestock will be given when you bring your livestock in. Just bring them in and they will be properly taken care of, the managers say.

"We shall start taking in exhibits on Thursday, and continue through Friday noon. Judging will start Friday afternoon," states D. A. Adam, County Agent, who is in charge of exhibits.

Money Spent For Bread Made In Littlefield Is Put Back In Circulation

Money spent in Littlefield for LITTLEFIELD-MADE BREAD remains in Littlefield to be reverted to the channels of trade in this city and territory. This advantageous condition does not exist when other breads are purchased; most of the money you spend for such breads goes out of Littlefield and district, never to return. Is that helping to build Littlefield; to give employment to Littlefield people?

EVERY TIME YOU BUY AN OUT OF TOWN PRODUCT, WHEN YOU CAN PURCHASE THE SAME PRODUCT IN LITTLEFIELD, YOU ARE RETARDING YOUR OWN PROGRESS AND THAT OF THE CITY AND TERRITORY IN WHICH YOU LIVE.

Not only is it true that there is a decided advantage in a commercial way in using LITTLEFIELD-MADE BREAD, but it is likewise true that in purchasing BREAD that is made in your home town you get the very best that is to be had in BREAD. THE VERY BEST GRADE OF EVERY INGREDIENT IS USED IN THE MAKING OF LITTLEFIELD-MADE BREAD. You need have no fear in allowing your growing boy or girl to eat just as much as he or she may want. In fact, the more they eat of this fine, tissue-building substance, the more HEALTHY they will become.

WHEN YOU BUY BREAD YOU WANT THE BEST. YOU WOULDN'T WANT TO SERVE YOUR FAMILY ANYTHING ELSE. AND THEN, TOO, YOU DO NOT WISH TO DECREASE THE VOLUME OF EMPLOYMENT IN LITTLEFIELD BY BUYING OUT OF TOWN PRODUCTS.

LITTLEFIELD - MADE BREAD always comes to you FRESH FROM THE OVEN—no left-overs from days back—no dust from miles and miles of hauling and peddling. YOU GET WHAT YOU WANT WHEN YOU USE LITTLEFIELD-MADE BREAD—THE BEST. REMEMBER, ASK YOUR GROCER FOR LITTLEFIELD-MADE BREAD. ACCEPT NO OTHER. (Adv.)

Church of Christ Meeting Continues

Increased interest is being manifested in the meeting in progress at the Church of Christ on Ninth Street, which is to continue over next Sunday.

Leland H. Knight brings the Gospel in plain, interesting and appealing messages and many have already accepted it.

Don't fail to hear this Godly man in his bitter denunciation of sin, and eloquent pleas for spirituality and consecration to God.

There were three services and an old fashion "dinner on the ground" last Sunday with many people in attendance from other places, some as far away as Lubbock and Lockney, and it was a great day.

Services each day at 10:00 a. m. and 8:00 p. m. You are welcome—don't fail to attend every time you can.

Bicentennial Club Is Entertained By Mrs. Leonard Wright

Mrs. Leonard Wright was a very gracious hostess to the Bicentennial Contract Club which met at her home Tuesday afternoon, August 30.

High score was won by Mrs. Jack Farr.

Delightful refreshments, consisting of canapes, Waldorf salad, coconut macaroons and spiced tea, were served to the guests, which included Mesdames Jack Farr, Doug Parker, Dick Ratliff, Lynn Dobbs, Carl Williams, Ronnie Blair, Alf Wright and Verna Paxton, and Misses Era Dill and Donnie Lou Adams of Lubbock, Roxie Ann and Doris Williams.

Mrs. Bigham Hostess To Church of Christ Ladies Bible Class

The Ladies' Bible Class of the Church of Christ met with Mrs. R. A. Bigham Monday afternoon. An instructive lesson from the books of Philippians and Colossians was led by Mrs. Kimmel, after which an hour of visiting was enjoyed.

Those present were: Mesdames S. B. Jackson, J. C. Hilburn, Bill Collins, Hollowell, Enloe Smith, T. L. Kimmel, Sid Pace and the hostess.

All the ladies who are interested in the church and in Bible study are urged to meet with the group each week.

Mrs. Kimmel will be hostess to the class next Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Dick Ratliff. Visitors are cordially invited to all meetings.

Mrs. J. H. Barnett Is Hostess to Sorosis Class At Her Home

The Sorosis Class of the First Methodist Church met in the home of Mrs. J. Herman Barnett last Friday afternoon, with Mrs. Barnett and Mrs. W. C. Thaxton as hostesses. The meeting was opened with the reading of scripture, followed by a prayer by Mrs. Boyd.

The reports of different committees were given. The new visiting committee appointed were Mesdames Hewitt, Smith and Boyd. The flower committee consists of Mesdames Arnn, Tunnell, and Etter.

The next meeting will be the first Friday afternoon in October at which time the election of officers will be held. All members are urged to attend.

The hostess served dainty refreshments to the following: Mesdames J. D. Smith, Joe Boyd, H. C. Hewitt, W. C. Thaxton, Van Clark, Hood, Arnn, M. C. Wainscott, and B. L. Cogdill.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Blessing Entertain at Musical Recently

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Blessing were host and hostess at a musical entertainment at their home three miles southeast of town Friday evening, when George and John Zedrick of Chicago, who are accomplished musicians and play at entertainments in their home city, furnished the music.

Guests enjoying this affair were: Mayor and Mrs. T. S. Sales, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Kelm, and family; Mr. and Mrs. Manor; Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hill; Mrs. Gertz and family; Mr. and Mrs. Zed Robinson and family; Deputy Sheriff Bob Miller, Mrs. Miller and daughter, Verna Bell; Mr. and Mrs. Zedrick; and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Blessing, to whom refreshments of ice cream and cake were served at the close of the evening.

FIRST BAPTIST

The revival is going forward in a good way. Many have come forward for membership already, and we feel that many more will come before the meeting comes to a close. Rev. Nix is preaching some wonderful sermons and the congregations show by their actions that they are enjoying them. If you are not attending this meeting we invite you to visit with us for a service. We will appreciate your presence and we believe you will be benefitted by your visit.

It was the good fortune of the pastor to preach for Brother Nix last Sunday in his Clovis church. We found the great church anxious about their pastor and praying for this meeting. Brother Nix has a wonderful church there.

The program for Sunday will be carried out in the usual way and at the regular hours, if additions are to be made to the day's worship the announcements will be found on the board Sunday morning.

May we once again invite you to take part in the revival. We are happy to see so many attending from the other churches of the town and we wish to say again we not only welcome you, but we appreciate your presence and help in the meeting.
Joe F. Grizzle, Pastor.

LUTHERAN CHURCH

The annual Mission-festival of the Emanuel Lutheran church of this city will be held next Sunday, September 11th. Mr. W. Remmert, pastor of the Lutheran church in Plainview, will deliver the Sunday morning address in the German language. Mr. Harold Luecke, a recent graduate of the Lutheran Seminary in St. Louis, will speak in the afternoon. Mr. Luecke, speaking on 1 Cor. 15:38, will answer the question, "Why Should It Be Our Desire to Save Souls." This service will begin at 2:30 o'clock, and will be in the English language. Visitors are cordially welcome.

Lutheran School Opened Tuesday

The parochial school of the Lutheran church was opened on Tuesday morning. As the enrollment is not large, more intensive work will be done in the various secular branches. The object of the school is primarily to raise the children in the nurture and admonition of the Lord. For the fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom. Those parents who as yet have not enrolled their children and wish to do so may get in touch with the pastor any time this next week.

The Lutheran Ladies Aid meets at the church this week, Friday, for their regular business meeting. Afterwards the church will be cleaned and plans effected for serving on Mission festival.

An important meeting was held Monday night at the Lutheran church, in which the voters met with the Rev. W. H. Bewie of Austin, who is the field secretary of missions for the Texas district of our church body. Present conditions, both spiritual and of a financial nature, were discussed. The hopes and plans of the congregation for the future for growth were also considered. It is hoped that in the near future a school building may be erected to serve also as a social center for the ladies and the young people.

VERY LATEST
By Patricia Dow

This is to be a wind-blown season for fall and winter millinery. No matter whether it is a felt or a velvet if the new hat has the wind-blown effect it is a good silhouette, especially at this time. . . . Also and of much importance, veined seaming, as illustrated in the top sketch, is quite the thing in crowns.

Hats with the beret suggestion are meeting with much favor. . . . but not the plain beret of other seasons. Instead they are carefully worked out in felts and velvets with bows and feathers and it was this fashion twist which brings the wind-blown effects—and noted in all new models.

In velvets, black and brown, the turbans are enjoying an early season popularity, especially for afternoon wear. Velvets and dull finish fabric hats will also enjoy great favor later in the season.

It is predicted the elegance of women's costumes this fall and winter will call for close harmony in line and feeling twist hat and gown. Therefore the selection of milady's hat this season is of utmost importance.

DIRECTS ATTENTION TO BRYAN AS EXAMPLE OF SUCCESSFUL OPERATION OF MUNICIPAL LIGHT, POWER PLANT

Consideration is being given by the city commission to the advisability of Littlefield establishing its own light and power plant.

A survey is underway, in which the commissioners are being assisted by B. B. Huckabee of Tulia, who has had extensive experience in the operation of municipal light and power plants.

As an example of the success of municipal light and power plants, Mr. Huckabee directs attention to Bryan, Texas.

The Municipal Utilities Magazine, official organ of the Municipal Utilities League, carried an interesting article in the July issue, relative to the Bryan project. The article reads as follows:

"Operation of a successful electric light and power plant is the way in which the City of Bryan, Texas, is solving the increasing problem of all modern cities—the problem of taxation. As a result of owning its profit-making utilities, Bryan is able to meet the demands upon city government and to continue to progress while many cities are lagging, with a tax rate for all purposes including schools, of $1.85, based on a low rendition of property values.

"Bryan's tax rate will remain at the same figure this year as last, despite a reduction of almost 20 per cent in property values. The valuation of property on taxrolls for 1931-32 was $5,501,500 and for the year 1932-33 has been set at $4,504,000, which is a low figure for a city of 8,000 population.

"Since 1919 Bryan has owned its electric light and power plant and a charter provision requires that 50 per cent of net revenues of the municipal utilities be transferred each year to the general fund. This has resulted in many improvements in Bryan that would not have been possible at the low tax rates Bryan has offered. At the present time Bryan is far ahead of the average small city in paving, public buildings and other civic assets.

"During the past fiscal year a total of $30,620.45 was transferred from the public utility fund to the general fund and in addition a $1,600 loan was made to the general fund from the public utility fund. In the proposed budget for the coming year, provision has been made to advance $8,626.06 from the public utility fund to bond funds in lieu of taxation.

"It is estimated that approximately $35,500 will be available next year for the general fund as its one-half of utility earnings. As earnings of the utilities increase, Bryan's tax rate will be reduced proportionately and it is possible that within a few years there will be no tax levy except for bond funds and school maintenance.

"Bryan was served by a private plant until 1919, when it was purchased by the city at a cost of $70,000. At that time its generating equipment consisted of two 225 h. p. Diesel engines. Soon after the city acquired the plant another 225 h. p.

FARMERS' PICNIC PLANNED

(Special to the Leader)

LUBBOCK, Texas, Sept. 7.—A farm and home meeting and basket picnic, sponsored by the Lubbock County Agricultural board, will be held at the Lubbock County park, beginning at 10:00 a. m. Saturday, September 10, to which all South Plains farmers, farm women, agricultural workers and others interested in agriculture are invited to come and bring their lunch, Douglas Pounds, farmer-chairman, has announced. Two thousand people are expected. The Lubbock County Farm Bureau Federation and the Texas Cotton Co-Operative association are cooperating with the board in holding the picnic meeting. Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of the Texas Technological college, an ardent advocate of extension work and cooperation in agriculture, and R. J. Murray, general manager of the Texas Cotton Co-Operative association, are the principal speakers. The farm and home phase of extension work will be discussed.

1932 ESTIMATE IS 70,000 BALES FOR LAMB COUNTY

LUBBOCK COUNTY IS GIVEN SIMILAR FIGURE

According to a recent survey made by J. Sam Lewis of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal staff, Lamb County will retain its prestige as a major cotton producer among Texas cotton-growing counties. The 1932 crop, according to a prediction made by Harry E. Blocker, Lubbock cotton buyer, in an interview with Mr. Lewis, gives Lamb county a total production of 70,000 bales for the present year. Nearly 450,000 bales will be ginned in the 16 South Plains counties, the Lubbock cotton authority states, considering the heavy losses sustained in most counties by the heavy rain and hail storms of June which washed out or destroyed hundreds and even thousands of acres of cotton as well as feed crops. These losses ran as high as 25 and 30 per cent, and in the case of Terry county, nearly 50 per cent. Much of the area was replanted but owing to lateness in this work, the crop is several weeks late.

South Plains Totals

Predictions for the season with comparative figures for the 1931 season are:

County	1931 Ginnings	1932 Estimate
Bailey	21,803	18,000
Briscoe	7,049	5,000
Cochran	4,915	6,000
Crosby	34,429	55,000

Swisher	2,049	2,000
Terry	33,848	20,000
Total	491,740	446,000

In the area bounded on the south by Dawson, Fisher and Scurry counties and extending northward to Amarillo, Mr. Blocker estimates the 1932 production to be 1,077,000 bales. This area comprises 40 counties, and gathering of the crop has already been started in some parts of the district.

40-County Estimate

By counties, the estimate and the ginning of last year for these 40 counties are:

County	1931 Ginnings	1932 Estimate
Wheeler	32,535	32,000
Gray	8,269	8,000

Decrease Is Shown In Bonds Approved By Attorney General

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 6.—Only $35,902,448.67 of bonds were approved by the Attorney General during the year September 1, 1931-August 31, 1932, a decrease of $14,232,689.07 as compared with the $50,135,137.74 of bonds approved during the previous fiscal year and a decrease of $52,326,554.28 as compared with the $88,229,002.95 of bonds approved during the year 1929-30, according to an analysis covering the State's fiscal year, ending August 31.

"Particular significance is attached to the fact that county and city refunding and funding bonds comprised two of the largest groups of bonds approved during the year ending August 31, 1932," the review said. In every part of the State, political sub-divisions empowered to issue bonds and warrants are foregoing their privilege in order to reduce their municipal expenditures to a minimum.

C. Martin, Littlefield attorney, delivered one of the main addresses of the morning. Musical numbers, consisting of a cornet solo by Jack Norman and songs by Miss Fern Hoover and Mr. and Mrs. Zed Robinson, occupied a prominent place on the forenoon program.

A luncheon for the delegates and visitors was served in the basement of the First Baptist Church, beginning at 12:30, at which Rev. Joe F. Grizzle acted as toastmaster and J. E. Brannen, Littlefield postmaster and vice-president of the Eighteenth Congressional District of Postal Workers, served as master of ceremonies.

The afternoon program was devoted largely to various addresses and business routine. The convention unanimously voted to re-elect the present officers for another year in recognition of their services to the association during their tenure of office. The officers consist of W. L. Underwood, Post, President; J. E. Brannen, Littlefield, Vice-President; Mrs. Roy Wade, Littlefield, Secretary.

The convention extended a vote of thanks to the City of Littlefield, the Littlefield postoffice, the Palace Theatre, the First Baptist Church, those who participated in the program, the ladies who served the luncheon, and to the citizens who helped in any way to make the day pleasant for the convention visitors.

The convention adjourned at 4:30 and the delegates and visitors enjoyed a watermelon feast on the church lawn before departing from the city. The place for the next convention will be selected later by a committee.

Large Attendance—

R. J. Murray, general manager of the Texas Cotton Cooperative association, as principal speaker.

H. L. Gantz, organization director for this district, and N. H. Payne, district manager, were also present.

Mr. Gantz explained the set-up in this district for handling the farmer's cotton, and emphasized the advantages offered by the set-up to the members.

Mr. Murray's Talk

Following the explanations given by Mr. Gantz, Mr. Murray pictured years of earnest and hard work on the part of farmers of this country to own homes and provide the comforts of modern civilization for their families on the farm. He spoke of the application by farmers of all the modern means at their disposal to produce crops economically, employing all the arts of production available. "Yet," he said, "it is only through the strictest economy and management that farmers had been able to eke out a living upon the land in this great empire of wealth." The trouble is that the farmer has not had the control of the marketing of his products so all the profits that lie in the merchandising of his commodities could be returned to him.

"Without cooperation among the people," said Mr. Murray, "there would be no enforcement of law, business, schools or any other institution that depended upon the people for support." And without cooperation among farmers there will be no way of returning to the land the wealth it produces.

"The only reason," asserted the speaker, "for the enemies of cooperative marketing spending so much time and effort in opposing farmers who want to sell their products cooperatively is because the profits that have been squeezed out of the farmer will return to the farmer who produces the wealth of this Nation."

Marketing Act Aid to Farmers

"Congress," stated Mr. Murray, "recognized that farmers were discriminated against in legislation, and Congress saw that the most sensible way to aid agriculture was through the passage of the Agricultural Marketing Act which would enable the farmer to market his own products through his own marketing associations."

Speaking of the efficiency and economy practiced in the management of the Texas Cotton Cooperative association, Mr. Murray declared that this business was run just as efficiently and economically as any other big business in the state as all auditing reports have shown. The only difference in this organization and other businesses is that all profits go to the farmer members, while in other enterprises, the profits go to those who control them.

Classing Service

The classing service in each branch office area was pointed out as the surest means of establishing a market for cotton based on its actual value. Each branch office is in charge of a Federally licensed cotton classer whose chief desire is to give the farmer the highest price obtainable for his cotton based on the world market that day and on grade staple and character.

"This makes an honest market and one of integrity," asserted Mr. Murray. "It does not trim the farmers at one point one day and add to farmers at another point another day. It is a true market at all points on the same day, a thing that every business man interested in the farmer should appreciate."

The various pools were discussed by Mr. Gantz, in which he explained in detail the workings of these pools. Farmers now have a definite understanding of the seasonal pool, the valuation pool, call pool, optional pool and immediate fixation pool which provides that the farmer may sell his cotton outright on the day he delivers it to the association receiving full and final settlement for his cotton the same as if he had sold to any other concern.

certain basis for the bill, it favored the using of approximately 1 cent of the 4-cent gasoline tax to retire all future maturities on county-state highway bonds.

Although the judges and commissioners of West Texas took no official action, discussions revealed that the association as a body is bitterly opposed to the much controverted idea of remitting penalty and interest on back taxes.

Resolutions were passed by the judges and commissioners eliminating district courts; reducing the pay of officers and jurors in lunacy cases; taxing bus and truck lines so that motor vehicles, operating as common carriers, would be placed on the same basis as railroads and prorating the taxes to the counties so that they may receive aid for highway construction by county bonds; and placing a personal property tax on automobiles.

Lamb County officials attending the convention were: Commissioners C. E. Strawn and Ellis Foust, and County Clerk A. H. McGavock.

Horn and Douglass Will Hold Auctions

The announcement has been made that Col. J. W. Horn, veteran auctioneer, and Jim T. Douglass, well known Littlefield man, will conduct regular auctions in Littlefield every Saturday and the first Monday in each month. Col. Horn is widely known as an auctioneer, having had more than thirty years of experience. Mr. Douglass, who will act as clerk for the auctions, is a member of a pioneer Littlefield family. According to the information divulged, in addition to their regular auctions, they will hold farm auction sales, and will buy and sell livestock.

IMMENSE INTEREST IN DEMO CONVENTION

WILL BE FIRST MEETING OF PARTY ON SOUTH PLAINS

LARGE NUMBERS FROM LAMB COUNTY TO ATTEND

Texas Democrats will meet in Lubbock, September 13, in what promises to be one of the most interesting Democratic gatherings ever held in the Lone Star State. The intense rivalry that has developed within the party ranks as a result of the recent gubernatorial campaign will likely contribute to the attendance and interest at the convention.

Texas' two former executives, Governor and Mrs. James E. Ferguson, have already indicated their plans to attend.

Reservations at various hotels show that the state's leading party leaders will be present when the gavel falls. The Fort Worth delegation, through its leader, Dr. J. H. McLean, has reserved 40 rooms to care for those attending from that city.

Delegations from San Antonio, Houston, Dallas, Austin, and a number of other places have advised the convention managers of their intention of arriving in Lubbock for the opening program.

In view of the fact that this is the first State Democratic convention ever to be held on the South Plains, and due to the fact that it will likely be the last for many years, much interest on the part of residents of other Plains cities is being observed. Many who are interested in the outcome of not only the convention proper, but the anticipated tilt between the factions supporting both former Governor James E. Ferguson and his wife, and Governor Ross S. Sterling, will attend from Littlefield and other places adjacent to the convention city.

According to Lamb county Democratic leaders, more interest has developed in the forthcoming state convention than has been in evidence since the days of Hogg and Clarke in Texas politics.

Will Open Dental Office Here Soon able direction of Monte Bowron, received the applause again and again of the crowds as they interspersed the program of the day with well arranged concerts.

Late in the afternoon, as a part of the regular Trades Day program, prizes were awarded by the various merchants to those competing successfully in the events of the day. In the unavoidable absence of Jim Douglass, who had been placed in charge of the contests, E. G. Courtney was drafted to conduct the events, which included pie-eating, egg-carrying, reverse auto races, and other attractions.

A number of cash prizes were awarded during the day by the merchants.

Dr. Max G. Wood Will Open Dental Office

Dr. Max G. Wood of Sweetwater will open an office in Littlefield to engage in the general practice of dentistry, according to information released Wednesday. An office in the First National Bank Building has been equipped for Dr. Wood, and he plans to be in readiness for appointments within a very few days.

Dr. Wood is a native of Sweetwater, where his parents now reside.

Arnett Motor Co. Adds Ford Expert As Service Manager

The John H. Arnett Motor company, Littlefield Ford dealers, are announcing the addition to their staff of G. C. Parris, who will assume the duties of service manager. Mr. Parris comes to Littlefield after having served many years as a specialist on Ford service. According to John H. Arnett of the local motor company, the special service manager will afford the Ford owners of this territory a convenience and accurate service unexcelled by even the larger cities. Mr. Parris, who comes from Hollis, Oklahoma, is accompanied here by his wife and two children, the older of whom will be enrolled in school.

Miss Janie Knezek And Emile Vackar Marry August 9

Miss Janie Elsie Knezek of Megargel, Texas, and Emile H. Vackar of Littlefield were married Tuesday, August 9, the lovely ceremony being held in the Catholic Church at Megargel.

Mrs. Vackar is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Knezek of Megargel. She was educated in the public schools of Megargel, where she has endeared herself to her many admiring friends.

The groom is well known in Littlefield, being employed by W. H. Heinen. Mr. Vackar is known over the city for his very pleasing personality and aptitude in acquiring and holding friends.

The couple spent a three weeks' vacation in Wichita Falls, Henrietta, Megargel, and other places before coming to Littlefield, where they are making their home.

TABERNACLE BOOSTER BAND ENTERTAINED BY PASTOR of the gins were: Salaries, $1,044.67; fuel, $583.40; pairs, $421.60; taxes, $272.25; insurance, $484.20; lubricating, $62.26; incidentals, $42.62; $44.62; drayage, $83.13; sacks, $69.29; advertising and other, $50.66.

In suggesting a price for 1932 ginning, the president of the association said:

"We don't want to take advantage of the advance in cotton seed and cotton prices to take from the farmer what is his just dues, but I believe that ginnerers are entitled to just too."

The price suggested by the ginner in the convention is 30c a 100 pounds for seed cotton and $1.25 a bale for bagging and ties.
