Big Spring citizens might take a good cue from Lubbock, where a crime epidemic has led to drastic measures and determined efforts.

It is refreshing to learn members of the bar up there pledge themselves not to represent anyone charged with burglary, murder, theft or robbery unless appointed by the court.

Gold for informers, lead for robbers is the slogan adopted in Lubbock. This indicates that attorneys, as well as the citizenship at large, are placing the security of the community above selfish interests.

It sometimes seems that if one has two or more friends in the same profession at the time comes when he must seek the services of someone in that profession he has to face the fact of one or more of those friends striking by retaining one of his profession.

A lot of professional men are members of service clubs, one of the cardinal principles of such clubs is supposed to be to be unselfish and abolition of jealousy among competitors in any business or profession.

Big Spring has her crime problem. This has been brought to the attention of the community very strongly in the past few days.

The value of Wander Inn, the place in which the City of Big Spring has forced transient men to stay nights through the past two winters, is being unmistakably shown now.

Blankenship Club Speaker Cooperation Of Citizens In Welcoming Mustang Fans Asked

Blankenship brought to the Business Men's Luncheon Club Wednesday some of the high points in an address by L. A. Woods, candidate for State Superintendent of Education, who addressed the Oil Belt Educational Committee Monday in Abilene.

There are, in Big Spring, he said, all kinds of conditions to produce desirable and undesirable kinds of thought but the basis that is the most sound is the home. It supplies the thinking of children in the school and the church and if children are taught to think right there'll be no need to worry over how they act, he declared.

THE WHEEL

Rolled By Students Of Big Spring High School

The last year has been a hard one for everybody, and the newspapers have felt it quite as painfully as any other group. But there is not a great deal that a newspaper can do in the way of retrenchment, when hard times come. It can't suspend operations for a time as a mine or a factory can; it can't reduce its service, as a railroad or steamship line can; it can't put all hands on half-time work.

For a newspaper exists, first, last and always, to tell people what is going on in the world; and the world wags along in bad times just as it does in good times, and no people are just as anxious to know what is happening then as they are at other times. The newspaper has to tell them and it has to tell them just as completely, just as accurately in a depression as in a boom.

All of this means that it can't relax for a moment. It is something in the position of a manufacturer who finds his income shrinking but who must, by the necessities of his calling keep everything going just about as extensively as he ever did.

So it is good to read Dean Akerman's comment—that high republican standards have been maintained. These standards have been maintained to give thorough coverage to all phases of the economic crisis, that outstanding examples of public service by newspapers are no less frequent this year than in former years, that there has been an increasingly accurate and unbiased reporting of scientific news.

A democracy simply could not function without an alert, honest, intelligent press. That the press of the nation has carried on so energetically and ably during the depression is one of the things for which the nation can be thankful.

X Marks The Spot

O. K. Mr. and Mrs. Big Spring HI—Here is that snooty Jimmie blood hound that sneers around "the stool pigeon" with dots of low-down.

Several nights ago we were accused of being paid to write of the scandalous affairs of the notorious members of the 400 and that space in this column would be given to the "Check."

As we have found it true that two girls, both very popular, have had paragraphs in this column each time it has been published.

Out three different girls assured us that their dates took them to James when we were not speaking of any of them. Conceit avails nothing in this case. Imagine these insignificant excuses for a "beautiful girl" telling us something.

The blond haired young lady from Stamford, Eugenia Merrick so we hear, has been "gone" on this particular boy ever since she first laid eyes on him. Among his many admirable attractions for the girls are his wavy black locks, the similarity of his facial features to those of the well known crooner. She is still that-way about him. It is his acting so uninterested in her that attracts Eugenia, but he is just as crazy over her. "Come on Rudy, croon us a little croon." We turned reluctantly to you, single for verification of this seemingly true report. Upon telling several members of the feminine sex that a certain boy was dumb, which he is, we were accused and attacked on all sides as a prevaricator. When we told one particular girl of this characteristic of said football player—Yeah! red-headed tackle—he scored with the reply "I like them dumb."

Congratulations are in order for you, Fred Martin, on your ability to choose a real honey for a date (or was it Swatie?) Saturday night, October 12. Here is a tip for the gals—She's from San Angelo—Sunshine Cole by name—and is she a rip! Ask me again.

"Red Sanders" has been re-popularizing one of the last season's song hits. It seems to be his theme song at present. We think "Found a Million Dollar Baby in a 5 & 10 Store" is quite appropriate.

There is a modest young lady in this school receiving letters from our great football player—Yeah! As yet we have not heard of her trifling and we doubt if she ever will, the way she goes by the studio just to see his picture. Juanita, we hope we can find a boy-friend like that.

As yet, a noticeable clique of Freshmen has made its appearance in the school's campus society—Remember several years ago when we all wondered ed who those boisterous "Fish" were—as you now know. All have achieved popularity. So all of you "Fish" and "Gophers" who aspire to be in the limelight had better begin now.

The cute little man with the bow and arrow had another setback Sunday, October 2—a girl, whose last name is in lights over one of the buildings in this town, and her steady boy-friend had an argument over a trivial matter. This young man, as the story unfolds, was rather irked over her refusing to accept suggestions from him. Consequently, he made an exit looking downcast. Feeling in a repulsive mood after giving the affair a thought he waited patiently to ask her to forgive him—On leaving, the young lady did not even give him a tumble.

BOOKS

By R. V. JONES, Jr.
Henrick Willem Van Loon broke into the limelight again last month by having his newest book "Van Loon's Geography" chosen as the September Book-of-the-Month. It is characterized as are his earlier books by a great many of the author's illustrations. It contains 163 striking illustrations, twenty two of them are in full color. All of you who have read either "The Story of Mankind" or "Ancient Man" will remember the difficulty you had in deciding which side was up in some of our pictures. As a last resort, of course, you could see which way the book was printed. The pictures are amusing. To many, the pictures are the best features. I like his writing as well.

Incidentally, "Songs" by Pearl Burk's latest novel, which was a sequel to "The Good Earth" ends in the November issue of Cosmopolitan. The ending was satisfactory unless you happen to be one of those who must have and they lived happily ever after as the last sentence. The story shows how futile existence really is. A fancied from his own father, and thoroughly modern aviators to find his son viewing him in the same manner. And life goes on. "Strange Interlude" Eugene O'Neill's masterpiece, has been made into a motion picture. If the picture is as good as the play, it is marvelous.

"The Story of the Five Year Plan" by M. Lin, is a book that all of us who are interested in Russia should read. It is clear and easily read, a fascinating and important work. It tells what the Russians themselves think they are doing.

The Press And Depression

Record Crowd Expected At Game Friday

Mustangs Come This Year With Three Impressive Victories
The Sweetwater Mustangs with notable victories over Abilene, Lubbock and Midland, will meet the Steers on Steer Stadium, Friday, as the Longhorns, field developed slowly this season. In comparing to the "Thundering Herd" of last year which rolled up enormous scores over their opponents, they will enter the game decidedly the underdogs, which may add may not be an advantage for the Steers.

Henning's team holds the edge over the Bovines in games won since both teams entered Class A competition.

In 1930 the Steers under Bill Stevens' guidance defeated Sweetwater, dedicating their new field by a score of 14-0. The following year, 1931, the Mustangs dedicated Steer Stadium with an 18-7 victory, evening the loss of their field christening. Last year, with both teams stronger than ever before, Sweetwater defeated the Steer team 7-0 to win district honors, meeting Abilene for bi-district play.

Superintendent McLain of Sweetwater has given the report that probably 1500 Mustangs, looking coming by special train and cars, will be here rooting for the team.

The crowd for the coming game will be, according to present estimations, the largest ever to attend a game on the local field.

The Bovines have an inspiring record to add in their match.

What Has LIGHT To Do With Education?

Boys and girls have enough unpleasantness during their school careers without deliberately adding to it with difficult study periods due to improper lighting. Eyes grow tired and weak, dispositions are ruined, little bodies fail to develop, and there is trouble all the way 'round, unless particular notice is taken of home and school lighting facilities. And it's so simple—so easy to have good light in proper proportions. All you have to do is add a globe here, change one there, move the portable lamp around a bit and keep all sockets filled. Inadequate lighting is nothing but false economy—there is no reason for it.

Buy globes in cartons of six and save 10%.

sure as shooting," he rumbled. Dona smiled and seated herself on the top step. She was eager to see what happened but she was not really anxious to have this hunt succeed. A thought kept bobbing up in her mind that would not be stilled easily. Here were dozens of men going out to get one lone bandit. The odds against Ball were 100 to 1. He was a lone wolf, a killer, but that did not lessen the odds. Dona's thoughts turned to the previous day and a cloudy passed over her happiness. Stanley Black had been such a disappointment. More than a disappointment, Dona deny a back horse burst from the timber just below her. Its rider was bending low over the saddle and horse was taking the rough ground at a graceful lope. Dona reached down and jerked her rifle loose. The rider was too far away to be halted but he was within easy rifle range. Suddenly she remembered the roans year of a gun. She slid from her horse and dropped to one knee. The front head of her rifle steadied and she pressed the trigger. She was not uncertain for a second of the ability of the man escaping from the circling posse. He had slipped through their lines and was well on his way to freedom. Her rifle cracked viciously. The rider straightened, then pitched over the side of his horse. He rolled over twice, lay still. The black horse ran on and halted under cover of the timber. Slowly Dona got to her feet. She felt dizzy and sick. She had shot a man? The report of her gun would not attract attention because of the occasional firing from below. With heavy feet she began to descend to the meadow. She had to go to the man she had just killed. The 75 yards down to where he lay seemed miles and she moved uncertainly. Dona clung to her rifle and plodded on. Now she could see his body through the tall grass. One leg was pulled up in a twisted manner and his arms were flung wide. She almost ran the remaining few steps to where he lay. Dona bent over the prostrate form and her eyes were wide. She was gazing on the face of Stanley Black. Suddenly the dead man came to life. With a lightning speed he raised his rifle, then faced her. A grim smile drew his lips tight. "You are a poor shot," he murmured. "You are Ball?" Dona's face revealed more than she knew of horror and disillusionment. Stan Ball's eyes hardened and his mouth became a tight line. "And you are my prisoner. I'll have to get you out of here right now!" "I won't go!" Dona flashed angrily. "Oh yes you will go! My worthless hide depends on it." His eyes were hard and he was not smiling. "You're wanted for killing." Dona had not fully recovered from her first shock. "Just which killing do you refer to?" She asked several. His tone was mocking. "Move toward my horse!" he ordered sharply. Dona went, with his rifle at her back. She knew he was in desperate straits and that he had nothing to win by sparing her should she shoot or try to run. Under cover Stan faced her grimly. "The hounds are so close that I'll have to take you with me. You have discovered my secret trail. With little effort she swung her up in front of his saddle, then leaped up behind her. He tossed aside her rifle as a useless hindrance. Dona shrank from his lean arms but he held her close and the black mare headed through the timber at a speed showing he was familiar with the trail. Dona bit her lower lip to keep from crying. She would be as strong as he was and as hard! She would discover a tight line. She would find her chance and outwit him! They rode on through the timber until they were high under the rim of Folly Mountain. Then Stan let her get down beside a spring to rest. The pool of water was cold and Dona drank deeply. When she straightened up she found Ball's eyes on her face. He was watching her gravely, his gray eyes deep and impenetrable. "I suppose you think you can get away with this just as you have gotten away with the rest of your crooked work." Dona returned his gaze with a cold stare. "It makes little difference to me but I have one score to settle before I let them close in on me. Stan Ball's lips formed a straight line as they closed on the last word and his eyes darkened. "I should think you would consider all you have done enough!" Dona jerked her bogged feet up under her. "I have done only what I was forced to do. Now I'm going to do something because I want to." Stan produced a sack of tobacco and a packet of crumpled papers. Carefully he made and lighted a cigaret. The girl watched the lean strength of his face. His hard lines and his soft lines seemed to blend. Ball's gray eyes should have been humorous but they were hard as steel. "You keep your promises just as you do many other things." She aimed this thrust keeping her eyes on him while she spoke. "Trying to keep that promise got me into this jam," he snapped. "I didn't expect you to give alibis." Dona continued her attack. "Have I offered any excuses?" "Not explanations!" "Why make explanations when they will be termed excuses?" Stan Ball got up. "Time for us to move on." Dona sat still and looked him in the eyes defiantly. With a quick stride he was at her side and caught her up and swung her up before his saddle. Dona did not struggle again, his iron arms but she refused to help him in any way. He leaped up behind her and headed the black mare up the slope. They traveled for perhaps an hour. Then the black ducked her head and entered a tangle of vines and bushes. Dona took note of the trail carefully. They were entering a narrow cleft of rock barely wide enough for the horse to pass through. The cleft opened a few yards farther on into a tiny meadow formed by erosion and wind deposits on a shelf of rock. Stan leaped to the ground. "Welcome to your new home," he said with mock ceremony. Steer Team Spirit Ideal As Squad Begins Final Practices Before Game Here Friday With Sweetwater Club

"They can't do it!" That was the sentiment of the Big Spring Steers, unscored upon and unbeaten on their home field since 1930, as they went through a grueling workout Monday afternoon in preparation for the traditional battle with the Sweetwater Mustangs here Friday afternoon, a game which is expected to play a prominent part in the championship race of District 3 for this season. Bristow's charges, hardly given a chance against the powerful Ponies in dope comparisons, were far from downcast over Sweetwater's 54 to 0 win over the Midland Bulldogs, and if team spirit means anything Coach Ed Hennig of the crimson-clad Mustangs can take warning and work against overconfidence among members of his squad. A dummy labeled as "Sheridan" by Coach Oble Bristow was knocked off the pulley by the third tackler, and the canvas was torn badly in a 10-minute tussle.

starting back were uncertain for the lineup against the Mustangs. Co-Captain Dub Coats has a cinch for one wing berth but Jack Dean, Ole Cordell, Charles Vines, and Good Graves are battling furiously for the other place. Cecil Reid, Red Sanders, Mike Roberts, and Woodrow Armstrong seem to be on even terms for the tackle positions, and any two are liable to take the field Friday afternoon. Martin and Smith are due to get the call at guards, with Elmer Dyer at center. Bob Flowers, who can play either position and play it well, will see action during the game. Tickets for the game will go on sale soon at places to be announced later. Additional stands will be thrown up at the Stadium for the game. A special train with several hundred Sweetwater fans on board will arrive in Big Spring around noon Friday afternoon, and four or five hundred more are expected to make the trip in automobiles. The American Legion Band and the colorful Sweetwater High pep squad in their red and white uniforms will add quite a bit to the game.

SPORTS ON PARADE

By CURTIS BISHOP

What do you think about the Sweetwater-Big Spring game? From every side that question is being asked. Girls, boys, men, women, strangers, friends—all of them want to know. We shall answer that question completely today. This Sweetwater Club To begin with let us review the records of the two teams. The Mustangs have beaten Abilene, Lubbock, and Midland to the tune of rousing scores. Their opening conference game with the Bulldogs was a 54 to 0 landslide. They have stamped themselves as one of the strongest teams in the state. They are being given serious consideration by football experts as potential champions, and "dope" gives them a clear path to the quarterfinals at least. In Red, Sheridan they have one of the best backs in Texas intercollegiate football. In Spiegel Woods, Virgil Jones and Sam Welsh Sheridan has a trio of running mates who fit well into the Hennig system, hard-working, capable backs who are content to spend their week-ends clearing paths for their highly-publicized teammate. Woods is a defensive back without equal in District 3 and his edginess is almost a cinch to add any point after touchdowns. Sheridan is the best punter in District 3, the best passer. So much for the Sweetwater backfield. The Mustangs have a line that looks up to no one. Captain Leroy Grimley is as good a high school tackle as there is in the neck of the woods and Homer Barnett of McCamey needn't prick up his ears and make the remark that we forgot someone. Dodson and Fomby are two nice ends. A guard, Herbert, is given an opportunity by Hennig's style of defense to play a spectacular game and he does. McConnell is a worthy pal for Grimley at the other tackle, and Hall is a neat guard. S. Jones is a nice center. And those seven men make the Sweetwater forward wall.

world alive. Sanders has not been showing as well as he did in 1931. Roberts, the other veteran, has improved little if any. Cy Reid and Woodrow Armstrong, two recruits, are very apt to be in the starting lineup against Sweetwater. Martin and Smith are veteran guards, but there are just two of 'em. Flowers and Dyer give the Bovines their first and last edge in a man to man comparison at center. Schwarzenbach at quarter is the nucleus around which this year's backfield was built. He is too tight to block, can not pass, or punt. His sole asset is an ability to run back punts and to be the brains of the local club. Harris, the best back on the squad, is sailing and may not start in the crucial game. Hichough, the running ace, is a nice ball-carrier. Morgan is a nice light to block successfully. Koberg has a tendency to be nervous under pressure. And that, dear friends, constitutes the Big Spring Steers.

to how the game Friday was going to go. All of this was just a preliminary. Now we'll tell you. Friday afternoon the Big Spring Steers will give the Sweetwater Mustangs the battle of their lives. Spectators will see a fighting mad team that will not accept defeat. It will be something new to local fans, and we hope that everyone of them will cash in on the opportunity. For a week they will see bonfires, torch parades, pep rallies, mass meetings, and etc. They will see a student body in the stands that will yell their hearts out. We have interviewed seven members of their lives. Probable starting lineup Friday. At present the ballots stand 7 to 0 in favor of the Bovines. Seven-no, eight. Our's goes in on the Big Spring bandwagon too. So should yours.

student body of the home team. It is unfortunate that a crowd will "boon" a losing team, even after it is beyond human possibility, to hold sway the last reserves of the strong team. In the game against the El Paso National Guard, there were a few in the Aggie bleachers who continually called to "bring on the water boy." Surely the El Paso team showed more sportsmanship and more actual physical and moral courage than any Aggie present.

There was not a man on the Guard team that quit even when he knew that there was no chance of victory, and all he could expect was derision from the bleachers. On the other hand, the Guardsmen fought to the last minute, while the Aggies were romping from the playing field to the bench, playing as white and resting for awhile, and all the time on nothing but a lark.

Even the most hardhearted and calloused Aggie must, to some extent, have admired the pluck shown by the losing team.

Do You Own Gum In The Library?

Have you sometimes wondered how Bill the chewing gum that is chewed by students disappears. Of course you may think that you track most of it in on your shoes or find it under the table at the cafe when you attempt to hide the extra piece which you would like to get rid of.

But the favorite place for students to dispose of their chewing wax seems to be under the table in the various libraries. Last year's crop of gum has just been removed from the tables. Workers spent two days cleaning the gum from the tables and estimated that there were more than two thousand pieces in all. The Daily Texan, University of Texas.

What do you do with your gum? Answer for yourself. If you have disposed of your gum by sticking it under the library desks, you should be ashamed. Watch yourself next time.

Everybody Ought To Play Football

When the football boys come in from practice they often find that they have lost as much as ten or twelve pounds in one workout. One would think that the fellows would soon dwindle down to near nothing at that rate. But don't worry; just take a look at the eats they get.

Approximately sixty-six gat at the training table, and these 65 drink six gallons of iced tea besides all the water they are able to put their hands on; 65 pounds of fresh meat, five gallons of ice cream, fifteen loaves of toasted bread, sixteen heads of lettuce, and all the beans, mustard, cream, and ketchup they want.

We have often wondered why so many boys come out for football, but now we know—be careful, boys; don't exert yourselves by eating too much.

New Sweaters To Be Issued Pep Squadron

School To Buy Them From Proceeds Of Football Games

The Pep Squad held a meeting in room 205 Monday afternoon with Mr. Gentry presiding. Mr. Gentry informed the girls that he had been considering the matter of new uniforms and had decided the school would buy sweaters and issue them to the girls as our regular school books are. The sweaters will be paid for from out of the proceeds of football games.

Merchants of the town and Mr. Gentry met at 3:30 Monday afternoon in the principal's office to decide on the type of sweater. As yet a definite decision on the sweater has not been reached but it is probable that the school will order a yellow-terrace sweater of heavy material. Although they will not arrive before the Sweetwater game, all those girls who had last year's sweaters will put on a drill. The new sweaters will be fully informed by the "holiday" girls with yellow sweaters, black shirt, black turtleneck, and black skirt.

Sport Gossip

By BILL ZARAFONETS

A widely heralded and strong Mustang team invades the stomping ground of the Steers next Friday afternoon. Sweetwater holds the edge in having defeated all her opponents while the Longhorns lost to Amarillo and defeated a weak Stanton team 38 to 0.

The Henmen have a powerful driving line combined with that quality of which any coach is proud to possess—that of perfect interchange. Running back, an equally able back carrying the ball.

Red Sheridan, Mustang's spinning star, scampered at will against the Bulldogs in their game last week. And it seems there is also another man by the name of Virgil Jones who has the ability to slip places with the pigskin.

With Sheridan in the comming game Sweetwater will have no ally to fall back on should they happen

Bronchial Troubles Need Creomulsion

Bronchial troubles may lead to something serious. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membrane and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the irritated membrane and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cougher cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

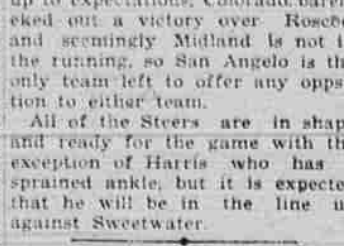

Sheridan Torn To Shreds By Steers

The Big Spring Steers are at present without a tackling dummy.

In Monday's practice Coach Oldie Bristol, realizing that one of the principal duties confronting his team in Friday's Sweetwater-Big Spring game, was to stop Ney Sheridan, star Mustang ball carrier, labelled the harmless dummy "Sheridany" and told them to have at it.

The dummy was in shreds within less than fifteen minutes.

Typical Newshawk

WALTER CATLETT, pictured above, is said to resemble more closely the popular conception of a newspaper man than any factor appearing in this city. In spite of thirty years on the stage and numerous screen roles, he has but twice played a newspaper role, once in "Datinum Blonde" and now as city editor in "Okay America."

The Universal newspaper drama which is to feature the R & R Second Perfect Program coming to the Ritz Theatre Saturday night, Sunday and Monday.

Catlett was born in San Francisco in 1889, completed his education at St. Ignace College there, and entered into a stage career which eventually embraced drama, musical comedy and comic opera, with practically all the standard works in each medium. His screen work is marked by the easy naturalness of the seasoned trouper.

This will be the first of four outstanding motion pictures to be shown at the Ritz celebrating the fifth anniversary of this popular theatre. Anniversary week is October 23 to Oct. 29 inclusive.

First Baptist G.A.'s To Make Posters

The G.A.'s of the First Baptist Church met Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the church. Cornelia Frances Doolittle presided, and gave the devotional.

Helen Hurt was elected to fill the vacancy of the second vice president and Betty Carol Wood was appointed poster chairman.

The first chapter of "Outriders for the King" was outlined by Mrs. J. W. Agerholt sponsor. Poster assignments were then made. One poster for each mission field described in the book. The girls will make the poster and will make it.

In addition to posters the girls will make scrap books which will be judged by the members of the W.M.U.

The members present were: Lillian Road, Cornelia Frances Doolittle, Betty Dooley, Mary Jewell Schultz, Helga Hurt, Betty Carol Wood.

Choral Club Plans Christmas Cantata

The Big Spring High Glee Club, according to Mrs. Feazler, is planning a Christmas cantata. The cantata is a Christmas cantata by William Byrd. There are to be seventy-four members taking part.

The program will be given at the City Auditorium.

Student Clubs Will Organize Within Week

The Dramatic Club will meet this week. Members plan to organize and start some hard work.

The Glee Club is to have a meeting Tuesday afternoon.

The Woodcraft and Current Event Histories are also going to meet this week.

Smale Club Is Entertained By Mrs. F. D. Wilson

The members of the Thimble Club met at the home of Mrs. F. D. Wilson Tuesday afternoon for an enjoyable session of food. The Wilson home was attractively decorated with flowers in Halloween colors.

Moore-McGinty Fight Is Matched

Kid Moore, Oklahoma City wrestler 135 pounds, will meet Kid McGinty, Snyder, in the main event on the Casino boxing program Thursday evening. McGinty will carry a three pound weight advantage.

Moore who made his first appearance in a local arena two weeks ago against Shade McGinty, has fought all over the southwestern section of the United States, and is confident that he can take the Snyder batter in less than eight rounds. McGinty, tough, two-time youngster, has earned a draw in his last appearance against Kid Whittington here.

Alabama Caron takes on Pat Adams in the six round semifinal. Caron won their last meeting by a small margin, piling up points in the last two rounds.

One or two other bouts will be announced from time to time.

Lovely Luncheon Served To Members Of Tuesday Club

Mrs. M. K. House was hostess to the members of the Tuesday Luncheon Club for an unusually lovely Halloween luncheon followed by bridge played on the Settles mezzanine.

The centerpiece was composed of lovely yellow chrysanthemums and the place cards were yellow and black. The first course was a cocktail served in orange cups whose handles were made of small chrysanthemums and marigolds. The guests removed the handles and found they were wristlets which they wore for the remainder of the party.

Mrs. Wilburn Barcus, Mrs. John Hodges and Mrs. George Garrette were the guests. Mrs. Hodges won high score and was given a hand-made kitchen set, a towel and a clever potliker.

Mrs. Keating was the club high scorer.

The members present were: Mmes. M. H. Bennett, Shine Phillips, W. W. Inkman, Fred Keating, Mrs. Harby Hurt will be the next hostess.
