BUSINESS MEN EDGE SUPPORT TO LOCAL TEAM

Field Athletic Ass'n. Organized; To Meet Tonight

The initial meeting of the Littlefield Athletic Association composed of a large number of Littlefield men, held at the City Hall last night, it was virtually assured that the Wildcats will play night football this season.

An organization, formed to boost Littlefield athletic movement in the local high school football and as their first step, plans to secure the necessary equipment to light the Littlefield field. An estimated $300 is necessary to purchase equipment to light the field. Plans have been made as to how the money will be raised. The association voted to secure the

DOG AND MY DOG—

I have no doubt, frequently the statement that a dog is a best friend. I wouldn't like to go quite that far at any rate, a dog can be a help when it comes right down to his owner out when he's in a tight place.

My Theford, grand high ice and drink juggler at the Palace, put the editor of our family journal in a tight place last week.

The Gods be praised, my dog to my rescue, brave little soul.

Value of Lamb County's Cotton Certificates Estimated At $500,000

Members of Lamb County will receive approximately $500,000 for cotton tax exemption certificates as a result of Secretary Wallace's price of 4 cents per pound of cotton represented by the certificates, it was estimated at a meeting of the Littlefield Agricultural Association held here Friday night.

Farmers who sell their certificates will be paid on the basis of approximately $20 per bale. The pool will permit the sale of certificates by farmers in the area, where production has been cut. They will be sold in the Old South where production is prospectively greater than allotments.

Change of certificates will permit farmers in the drought-stricken area to realize some cash on their excess certificates and at the same time will be in more favorable production by enabling them to avoid

According to Postmaster W. D. T. Storey, the local postal receipts for August at the local office were $1,149.16 compared with $757.21 for August 1933, indicating a gain of $391.94 or 51 percent over the same month last year.

For the first eight months of 1934 the net gain for the Littlefield office was $4,317.96, or 62 per cent. The total postal receipts this year for the first eight months were $11,108.34, as compared with $6,790.38 for the corresponding time in 1933.

"This is the largest receipts for the first eight months of any year in the history of this office, as far as I can find out from the records," Mr. Storey said. "I believe that for 1934 our receipts will come to $18,000."

ANNOUNCES ENROLLMENT AROUND 1200

Commercial Department has Been Added With 80 Pupils Enrolled

According to A. B. Sanders, Superintendent of the Littlefield Schools the enrollment this year is slightly under 1,200, or about 25 below the opening days of last year.

The high school enrollment of 320 shows a slight gain over that of a year ago; the grade enrollment is around 850 to 875 and is growing.

A commercial department has been added to the local school this year, and it has an enrollment of 80, according to Mr. Sanders. Typewriting, shorthand and bookkeeping is being taught.

"Our other vocational departments also have a good enrollment, vocational agriculture, home economics, shop mechanics and mechanical drawing. These classes are all filled," Mr. Sanders said.

The school is operating 19 school buses this year, bringing into Littlefield about 550 pupils daily.

Floyd Hemphill, who has been connected with the high school for several years and who has assisted F. O. Boles, principal, was recently named the latter's successor. Mr. Boles, named as county school superintendent, resigned recently.

Students at the United States Naval Academy have the rank of midshipmen.

J. C. Hilburn, president of The First National Bank of Littlefield, announced Wednesday that this institution had increased its capital stock from $25,000.00 to $50,000.00.

In commenting on the move, Mr. Hilburn said that this was just another step forward in bettering the facilities of the Littlefield bank that they might render a better banking service to the Littlefield section.

Mr. Hilburn also stated that the Littlefield bank, with a surplus and undivided profits of $10,000.00, is in better condition than it has ever been.

MISS LILLIAN HOPPING IS TAKEN FROM HOME MONDAY BY TWO MEN

Although Lamb County officers have been using every endeavor to locate two men who kidnapped Miss Lillian Hopping, 26, from the home of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Boone Monday evening about 8:30 o'clock, no trace has as yet been found of the abductors.

Miss Hopping, who is a member of the Littlefield High School Faculty, and makes her home with Mr. and Mrs. Boone, was alone Monday evening when she answered a knocking at the front door, Mrs. Boone being at the City Library and Mr. Boone at a softball game.

Two men, one tall and dark, the other stocky, blond, and nearly bald, after parking their automobile, a Chevrolet sedan, back of the house went to the front door. On Miss Hopping opening the door, the chunky blond pinched his foot between the door and the facing, so that she could not close it, and asked her if she were Mrs. Boone, and whether she wanted to go driving. On receiving a "no" in each instance, he instructed her to turn out the light and accompany them.

A pistol held by the taller, less talkative man enforced both orders. Miss Hopping sat between them, without being blindfolded. The dark man drove. They went southwestward from Littlefield.

Her captors asked Miss Hopping who she was and where her husband was, indicating they believed her to be Mrs. Boone.

The kidnapers and their unwilling companion were traveling across pastureland when a tire puncture occurred. While the men were back of the automobile, Miss Hopping said, she removed her pumps and slipped behind a mesquite bush. She darted from one bush to another, waiting each time to hear whether her escape had been discovered, until she was far enough from the car that she felt

We Do Our Part

WHY WE SHOULD

Remember the Alamo; For twelve days and nights Crockett, Bowie, and Travis held Santa Anna at bay. They were overwhelmed; however, but went down fighting. Their loyalty and bravery aroused the people, and Texas won her independence.

Texas is the largest state in the union, and the only state ever to be a nation. Her domain measures a quarter of a million square miles, and in that vast land nearly every part of the United States is represented. There are the plains for the Western United States; the Rio Grande Valley for Florida and California, the Panhandle for the Central United States; and East Texas for the Southeastern United States.

Texas is known for her petroleum, lignite, sulphur, potash, and carbon black. Her helium gas keeps our dirigible and other large machines of the air afloat. Her cotton covers acres of ground, more than any other state. Turkeys march to market in droves, pecan orchards line highways and cover districts and yield a half-million dollar crop, onions are planted by the billions, and wheat is sheared by the bushels.

The Rio Grande rolls merrily past Texas dividing the two Americas, Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth, San Antonio, Waco, and other cities boast of skyscrapers. Austin proudly proclaims America's most impressive capitol and a state university. Texas also has the largest military encampment—Fort Sam Houston, the biggest cavalry post—Fort Bliss, and two large air schools where men daily win their wings—Brooks and Kelley Fields.

Our great state also boasts of loyal sons and daughters. Texas gave to the cause of the civil War one of its ablest generals—Albert Sydney Johnston. She has the honor of having a great short story writer tell of her glory—O'Henry. Today she can boast of one of her brood being the vice president of the United States—John N. Garner. Texas has had the honor of living under six flags. So why should we not think, talk, write Texan Centennial in 1936 for the glorious Texas that is?

8 YEARS AGO

(Excerpts from the Lamb County Leader)

W. A. Turner returned Saturday night from Berger, having sold his lumber yard at that point. He is contemplating reopening his yard in Littlefield this fall.

The first carload of express to ever arrive in Littlefield came Tuesday evening, when a shipment of 10,000 pounds of arsenate of lead ordered by the local Chamber of Commerce, from Houston, was received.

The express charges on the shipment were $390.00.

Miss Maude Cuenod of McGregor will be affiliated with the local public schools here this year as teacher of piano and vocal music.

William Jeffries, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Jeffries, returned Sunday from Las Vegas, N. M., where he has been attending Montezuma, College.

W. T. Jones, Jr., this week purchased an interest in the J. T. Bellomy business, handling cream, grain and coal.

F. L. Young of Littlefield was seriously injured, but not fatally injured, about the middle of the afternoon, Saturday, when the light car in which he and two other men were riding, was hit by a relief bus of the Sunset Stage line near the city limits of Littlefield, according to reports brought here by stage drivers. Young's car, a Ford roadster with small delivery bed, was considerably damaged.

The cotton market in Littlefield is now open for this season, J. L. Woodruff, living 19 miles southeast of town brought in the first bale Tuesday afternoon, which was ginned at the Davanay gin.

A gathering of relatives was enjoyed at the H. P. Burke home, 14 miles northeast of Littlefield, Sunday. A beef had been killed for the occasion and at the noon hour Sunday a barbecue was enjoyed by the following: Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. Claud Parks of Hart's Camp, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Price of Pawhuska, Oklahoma, G. M. Vann of Red Eagle, Oklahoma, and Misses Winifred Burke, Pawhuska, Okla., Helen Burke of Marlin, Mamie Burke of Littlefield, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Burke and family.

No Grip On Tires Biggest Driving Danger of Today

"No grip on tires—that's one of the biggest dangers in driving today" is the assertion of B. D. Garland of Garland and White Auto Supply, local dealer for The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company.

"Even many new tires may lack sufficient grip to prevent bad skids," he continued. "It has been determined that skids cause five and one-half times as many accidents as blowouts, and 8,400 'stop tests' showed that smooth tires slide 77 per cent farther—and other new tires slide from 14 to 9 per cent farther than the new

Goodyear G-3 All Weathers.

"The reason for this remarkable showing by the Goodyear G-3 is the fact it has traction in the center of the tread where it belongs. The G-3 has more of the gripping diamond block in the center of the tread, than previous tires, there is an average of two pounds more rubber in the tread the tire has a wider, flatter contact with the road—and all these things combine to give 43 per cent additional non-skid mileage.

"The new G-3 also has protection against the slight hazard of blow-outs, too. Goodyear tires are made with the patented Supertwist cord, which stretches and comes back millions of times during the life of the tire—and Supertwist gives blow-out protection in every ply.

"It won't be long until the rainy season sets in, and motorists whose cars are equipped with worn, smooth tires are taking an unnecessary risk by not getting new G-3's—that have traction in the center of the tread where it belongs."

Built Up Strength By Taking Cardui

Here's her own account of how Mrs. T. W. Hardin, of Greer, S. C., was benefited by taking Cardui: "I suffered a great deal from weakness in my back and pains in my side and felt so miserable," she writes. "I read of Cardui and decided to try it. I felt better after I took my first bottle, so kept on taking it as I felt such a need of strength, and it helped me so much."

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

script car rattled past, its driver sending a curious glance at the smart roadster with the pretty girl at the wheel, alone.
The air on her cheek was noticeably wet, bringing its own message.
A thin fog was creeping in from the sea. Presently it would be thicker, a fleecy white blanket. She saw its woolly whiteness closing silently around a dark beach bungalow, miles back of her, shrouding it, hiding it, smothering sight and sound.
There were no lights in that bungal-ow, to beat through in a golden haze.
She saw it as she had last seen it, blank-windowed, dark and furtive on its strip of sheltered beach. A silhouette against the pale rectangle of a door. A man's silhouette.
Memories came like black wings,
swooping down on her. Other things, things that were said. She didn't want to think of them.
The road curved again. She saw a single light ahead and her own headlights picked up a motorcycle drawn to one side of the highway, and a man in uniform bending over it. A motorcycle policeman. He looked up, with a professional eye on the oncoming car.
She wanted to step on the gas and go raring past him, but she didn't.
Somehow, she stopped. Somehow she kept her voice cool and natural.
"Any trouble, officer? Can I call up a garage for you — or something?"
"Why no, lady. Much obliged."
The man in uniform was disillu-sioned and hardboiled, but he grinned appreciatively at the small creature competently offering help. Drivers of speedy cars didn't usually waste much grief over a motor cop stalled by the roadside. And this was a pretty girl, pretty even for this favored strip of the coast, where pretty girls flocked from all over the country. A little thing, with big soft eyes and a red berret pulled at a gallant angle over a small dark head. Looked like a nice kid, for all she was tearing around the country alone at this hour of the night. A swell car, too; it must have cost a haul of money. Later he was to remember that car and the girl who had driven it.

He swung a sturdy leg over his saddle.
Better detour inland if you're going far. The fog's getting thick back there. Drivin' going to be bad before long.
"Thanks, I'll remember."
She smiled and the cream-colored roadster slid past him. Fog, and dangerous driving along the coast road.
It was so very simple.
She had been up and down this road a score of times since the new roadster had been hers. She knew its curves, its grades, its ragged coast line. She knew, now, where she was going. The speedometer needle crept a little higher.
A road appeared branching obliquely from the main highway. Tall trees marched along each side of it,
and a denser planting showed ahead.
In the darkness beneath the trees she brought the roadster to a standstill, and let her hands drop from the wheel.
It was lucky that she had remembered this place. So accessible and yet so secluded, with no curious eyes to see the queer preparations that she had to make Funny how wobbly she felt, now that she could just drop back and let go . . . It wouldn't do. She must get herself in hand, keep her head clear and her nerve steady.
It was not so easy. She seemed to be two people, and one of them was a sly, persistent imp which hovered close to her ear, fleeing and wheedling.
"You're running away! Running away! You've never been a quitter before."
"But I've never," she found herself arguing, "been in such a jam before."
"If you go now, you can't come back. You'll be giving up everything.
All this that you've worked for. You can't ever go back to that."
"I know. That's all finished . . ."
She shook herself impatiently and swung the door open with a vigorous jab.
The pocket of her light sports coat bumped clumsily against her as she stepped down. She stood very still for a moment, with an odd, arrested look on her face. Then she thrust her hand into the overloaded pocket and drew out the thing which had weighted it down.
Starlight had all but vanished before the stealing mist, but even in that obscurity it was a bright and lovely trifle, a woman's jeweled bag extraordinarily full. The strained catch must have been too hastily snapped shut, for it yawned open at a touch, and the bulging contents oo-zed into view. Bills. The bag was fairly stuffed with them, high denomination bills, tightly crammed in.
The girl in the red berret stared at it soberly. It seemed to give her no pleasure, not even any particular sense of the risk she ran in carrying such a sum with her, through lonely roads and at all hours of the night.
She just let the bag lie there on her open hand, looking at it.
There was a faint aversion in that look. The palm tilted slowly, as though she meant deliberately to let that opulent roll slide to the dust at her feet. Then with a brief grimace of distaste she righted her hand again, thrust the bag deep into the coat pocket and turned, a little blindly back to the car.
The girl looked very small beside the big car, very young and troubled yet somehow determined, and every move now was brisk and efficient. A vigorous tug, and a smart traveling case came out of the car—was hidden behind a mass of shrubbery.
"Lucky," she reflected, "that I was all set to stay . . . If there is any luck in such a miserable snarl as this."
She slipped quickly into her seat again and the engine's heavy purr cut abruptly into the stillness. The roadster swung smoothly out of the shadowed drive and down toward the highway. The fog had thickened perceptibly and the road was dark, but she drove without lights. Time must be no switch those on. There must be no one who could remember, later, a distant glimpse of flaring lights.

On the last turn she had a good view of the main road in both directions. No dazzle of oncoming lights showed either way, blurring through the fog. She swept out into the highway, and her own came on.
There was no placid strips of beach
here; only rough ground and dark rocky headland, now fairly close, now farther away, dropping sheer. About an eighth of a mile beyond there should be a place where it jutted boldly into the sea.
There it was. A queer little tingle went skipping over her as she caught sight of it, vaguely outlined.
How much distance would she need?
Ten—no, twenty feet before striking the incline. It would be too dangerous beyond that. She brought the car slowly to a standstill. Shut off the engine.
For a moment she sat listening, every nerve alert. There was not a sound, except for the heavy murmur of the sea below. Even though fog might muffle distant sounds, it wasn't dense enough yet to matter. She started the engine again.
Her heart was beating fast as she stepped down. The roadster was pointed at a strange angle. It looked so sleek and beautiful, and she let a hand rest on it softly. This was a shabby trick to play on a good friend, but it had to be done. She would miss it, too.
There was no time to be wasted.
She stepped up and leaned in, and her hands moved swiftly and compet-ently. She gave a last tug and a hasty glance toward the naked ledge beyond.
The car lurched and started, and left the smooth road with a protesting heave. It was gathering speed, bumping over the uneven ground. She jumped, staggered for a few steps and fell.
Huddled there on hands and knees panting but unhurt, she saw the big car strike the slope and go hurtling down. Lurching, with lights flaring toward the empty sea. On the brink it seemed almost to rear back, ung for a split second and flashed down. She saw it turning, and pressed her hands to her ears, against the grinding crash of its fall.
The silence that followed was blank and empty. She pulled her hands down self-facely and found the palms moist.
"That's done!" she muttered shakily, and got to her feet. Her face was a white patch against the darkness.
She knew that she must hurry away before some belated motorist came by and saw her. A girl in a red berret had ceased to exist, and her flitting ghost must not be seen. How queer it seemed, there wasn't any such girl any more.
A dusty train jolted steadily through empty country. It was a short train, only three coaches and a baggage car, and the coaches had left their first youth far behind. But this was a branch line, crawling long miles out of the beaten track of the big transcontinentals, and Number Twelve's patrons did not expect the pampered ease of Pullman and dining car.
About midway of the last car a girl sat looking out of the window. The outlook was not particularly interesting, that she should be so absorbed in it. Sand and low bushes, endlessly slipping by. A distant peak. A smear of blue which might be still more distant mountains. Sand, bushes and. The girl hadn't seen a house for miles.
The scattered half dozen of her fellow passengers looked at her with undeniable frequency, partly because she was the pleasantest thing there was to look at in their whole journey and partly from a healthy curiosity.
Strangers, and particularly strangers
as pretty as that, did not often travel on Number Twelve.
The girl felt that friendly scrutiny.
She had been restless under any interested glances for days, and it was not merely interest in the harsh waste beyond the window which kept her face so steadily turned that way. She wondered, with a prickle of uneasiness, what newspaper people saw out here.
Newspapers! She turned a little further toward the window, remembering a terrifying, heart-squeezing day when she had last heard them cried in the streets of a big city.
What a morning that had been!
The cheerful Saturday crowd thronging the downtown streets, jamming good-naturedly at the crossings; newsboys shouting their wares; people buying them, talking about something that had just happened. Herself among them, feeling curiously unreal as she handed over her pennies, and rather small and quaking as she looked at a front page splashed with headlines and pictures. Her pictures.

Feeling all chilly and gone inside, even though the face on the front page was so different from that of the girl on the street, with her hair pulled forward in loose dark waves under a low-brimmed hat. Putting nervous finger tips up to the framing hair, to make sure that it completely hid the uncomfortable strips of adhesive which gave her eyes and eyebrows that long, unfamiliar tilt.
Wondering if the tiny pads under her lip were still properly in place, and if they really did change her mouth as much as she had thought—and then passing a long mirror and seeing a queer looking stranger there.
Thanking her stars—her one remaining star—that she had learned how to do such things. Hurrying at last to a railroad station, to get as far away as she could before another day came.
In the nearly empty station, with an hour's wait for her train, she had sat in a secluded corner and read the paper from the first page to the last.
It had been rather ghastly. All those pictures of a girl who was supposed to be dead and mustn't ever come back to life again; insets of other people whose lives had touched hers; a snapshot taken from a boat, showing curling waves against a cliff's dark background, black, ragged rocks thrusting out of the water, and sprawled helplessly on one of them the twisted, shattered wreckage of a car.
It was news. There had been several columns about it. Reports, conjectures, interviews. A motorcycle policeman had testified to meeting a young lady in that same roadster and warning her about the thickening fog. No there had been nothing in the young lady's manner to indicate suicidal intent.
One thing had puzzled her badly.
There had been all this about one roadster wrecked at the base of a cliff, but not one line in the whole story about the thing she had feared most. How could that be suppressed?
The man across the aisle was saying something to another man several seats back. Everybody here seemed to know everybody else. Perhaps it would have been better after all, to have buried herself in a big city. One can be lost so quickly in the shifting crowds. But there would be always the tingling expectancy of seeing someone she knew some day, or someone who knew her. In shop or office, in restaurant, or on a crowded street.
She wasn't going to be actually in any town. It was some miles out of this town of Marston, whatever that was like, at the end of a long private road, the agent had admitted. She had named it already. Trail's End.

She liked the sound of that. Remoteness. Safety. Home. And work, of course.
Marston station baked in the afternoon sunshine. Northeast and southwest the long line of rails winked and flashed to a disappearing glimmer. Southward, beyond the limits of the little town, dun-colored desert sand stretched on and on, shimmering with heat and dotted sparsely with the low greyed brush of the waterless lands.
To the north and northwest lay a similar stretch, cut off obliquely by an abrupt line of hills.

Barry Extension Organization Specialist of A. & M. Those attending from Lamb County were: Mrs. Viola Honea, Littlefield Club; Mrs. W. E. Logan, Blue Bonnet Club; Miss Faye Pepper, Rubydale Club; Mrs. J. M. Installs Cooling System in Church

BRECKENRIDGE, Texas, Sept. 12 (UP) — Hot weather no longer can be a legitimate excuse for members of the First Christian church here attending a theatre rather than church.

The Rev. Ben Parker, pastor, has seen to that. He has installed a cooling system in his church to compete with the "iced air" advertisements of restaurants and theaters.

His system is an economical one, too. In the winter it can be used as a heating system.

Whitharral Cops Game From The Lutherans; 7 to 1

The out of town game this week was played between the boys from Whitharral and the Lutheran entry as the second contest in Wednesday nights double bill, the home defenders losing to the Hockley County lads by a score of seven to one.

Otis Scott filled in for Rev. Lueck on the mound for the Lutherans, with Geron doing the hurling for the visitors. The later by the way displayed considerable power in the box, being better than six feet in height and unflinching a fireball that was a puzzle to local swatters. For five innings the game rocked along as a pitcher's duel and no scores resulted until the 6th when each team counted but the five runs made by the invaders could not be matched by the locals.

The game was one of interest and since this was a practice affair no change or effect can be charged to the standing in the league. "POWER TO THE WHITHARRAL BOYE".

During early-day campaigns for the presidency, collars bearing the nominee's pictures were worn by enthusiastic voters.

Passes Away Sunday Morning Following Few Hours Illness

Mrs. Belle McCarty, aged 19, wife of A. L. McCarty, of nine miles southeast of Littlefield, passed away at her home Sunday morning, September 9, following a few hours illness. Blood-poisoning was believed the cause of her death.

MUSEUM DOUBLED IN SIZE

KERRVILLE, Texas, Sept. 12 (UP) — Frontier relics donated by early settlers became so numerous that the size of a pioneer museum which receives about 1,000 visitors a month at Bandera, 25 miles south of here, had to be doubled in size. M. J. Hunter, newspaper publisher, maintains the museum, which he established with funds raised from the sale of his books on early Texas characters and from donations. The museum building is made of native stone.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Replin are spending several days in Dallas this week buying fall merchandise for their store here.

Businessmen Defeated By Firemen 13-5

Things are changing in a very decisive manner this week in the home softball circuit and when the firemen plastered the aggressive businessmen to the tune of 13 to 5, last Wednesday night with four clubs in a deadlock for first place it changed the standing greatly.

The game was taken serious by both clubs and the results will speak for the ultimate contenders for the final survivors as the season draws to a close.

RETURNS MARRIAGE LICENSE

FORT WORTH, Texas, Sept. 12.—(UP)—Chief Deputy County Clerk B. M. Reeves is looking for someone who would like to buy a "slightly used" marriage license.

On July 7, Reeves issued a license to a 21-year-old Stephensville youth who gave the name of a 23-year-old woman as the bride-to-be.

The license has been returned without a preacher's signature. Instead the youth tersely wrote across the face: "Not Used. Thanks."

URGE SPENDING MOST OF RELIEF MONEY ON ROADS

County Judge Simon D. Hay and others represented Lamb county at the West Texas relief conference, which was held at San Angelo Monday and Tuesday of this week.

The purpose of the meeting was to take the necessary steps to obtain for West Texas its equitable share of both Federal and State relief money.

The meeting stressed the importance of obtaining permission to use the greater portion of this money for highway construction, and resolutions to that effect were approved and have been forwarded to the Texas Relief Commission.

The meeting was attended by more than 300 representatives of West Texas counties.

Large Watermelons Are On Display In Leader Office Window

Notwithstanding the lack of moisture this spring and summer, W. R. Cole brought to the Leader office two large watermelons, which he claims to have grown on his farm 8 1-2 miles northeast of Littlefield without irrigation of any kind.

One of these melons measures 4 feet 1 inch in circumference, and 4 feet 7 inches the long way, and weighs 80 pounds. The other melon weighs 76 pounds, and is slightly smaller than the former.

Mr. Cole stated these melons were from Triumph seed, and planted June 1 last; that no rain fell on his farm during the time the melons were growing, and that they grew together in dry weather without any irrigation.

These melons are on display at the Leader office.

Mr. Cole says he has cotton three feet high, and that he counted as many as 112 bolls on one stalk. He says on some of his land he will make a half bale of cotton to the acre.

He says he has a quantity of nice late feed, and has headed about 12,000 maize heads.

Mr. Cole owns 177 acres, and contributes his good crops to the fact that he takes great pains in the cultivation of his land and the planting of the seed.

Mistake Prominent Citizens For Grocery Robbers

BORGER, Texas, Sept. 12. (UP)—In response to a telephone call that two suspicious looking men were watching the store waiting for a chance to break in, Borger police hurried down to a grocery to confront two of Borger's most prominent citizens.

Not knowing that a meeting scheduled to be held at the store had been postponed, J. C. Knowles, high school coach, and A. M. Minton, insurance man shopkeeper went back to wait the session to start.

After explanation, the excited woman shopkeeper went back to wait on customers, Knowles and Minton drove away, and the police marked the incident down as all in the day's work.

IMMENSE INTEREST IS DEVELOPING IN POSSIBILITIES OF OIL PRODUCTION IN COCHRAN COUNTY; TEST TO BE MADE

Immense interest is developing in the possibilities of oil production in Cochran county. The Cochran County News, published at Morton, the county seat, had an interesting article in last week's issue. The Cochran County News says:

"On June 14, we became somewhat excited over a rumor of oil developments and published a red banner across the top of the News stating that a new oil test was to be made about 3 1/2 miles west of Lehman or about half way between Lehman and Bledsoe which is located in about the west two leagues of the E. Dick Slaughter lands by the West Texas Development Company of Littlefield and also believed to be of San Antonio. It was stated that a contract had already been signed to go to a depth of 5,000 feet.

"Also rumor had it that another well was to be drilled by Frank Kelsey of Fort Worth, who is associated with a company having a lease on the western edge of the old "Scrape-out" pasture, a tract comprising about 37,000 acres and belong to the Slaughter heirs, south and southwest of Lehman.

"We are glad to say that additional rumor has been going around that at the present time, machinery and supplies are being moved to the first mentioned location and that Standard and rotary tools will be used. The supplies are now being moved from Big Springs and by the time you read this the derrick will probably be in the process of erection.

"We have as yet heard very little concerning the second mentioned plan. Probably the promoters are waiting and watching the results of the previously mentioned parties.

"Four wells have been drilled south of the Santa Fe Railway in Cochran County and it is a notable fact that a trace of oil and gas were found in each. While it is claimed that oil in commercial quantities had not been encountered, the prospects were encouraging and experts believe a large pool exists in that locality.

"The first test to be made was the Whicker well, drilled in 1926 on the J. C. Landon Ranch about three miles southeast of Bledsoe. A strata of oil bearing sands were encountered at approximately 1,400 feet, and it is stated that traces of oil were found at a greater depth. The promoters, however, had financial difficulties and the well was abandoned at a time when the prospects were flattering for making a producer.

"The Continental Oil Company drilled two tests in 1929 and 1930 about five or six miles southwest of Lehman, and in the first well considerable gas and some oil was encountered. The other well drilled southeast of the first is reported to have showed traces of both oil and gas but in smaller quantities. These two wells were driven to a depth of 48,000 feet.

"In 1931 the Penn Oil Company put down a test a few miles of Lehman and only traces of both oil and gas were encountered. Mr. Penn was accidentally killed at Bledsoe and little LITTLEFIELD STATION, Texas. — Hay that normally would be cut this year in the opinion of Mr. Sheppardson, head of the stock raising department at Texas College. In a discussion of the feed shortage due to drought in the state, Mr. Sheppardson pointed out that feed prices are approximately double those of a year ago. Under such conditions, that every farmer save a ton of feed for the winter.

Farmers have grass and weed on land that has been turned over which would yield several tons of hay," Mr. Sheppardson said. "In sections where there have been a few showers, all the growth of weeds and grass can be saved. While such crops make the best feed, they can be wintered many animals in a few days."

While many farmers do not have equipment, a mower and rake should be found in almost every community. Efforts should be made to have these used to save every ton of edible forage in the state.

"Hay of the type mentioned, while not highly palatable, can be made more appetizing by sprinkling with dilute black strap molasses when fed," he continued. "The molasses should be diluted with about three gallons of water to one gallon of molasses. It can be sprinkled over the hay in the feed rack by using an ordinary bucket with several nail holes punched in the bottom. Feed of this type, together with one to two pounds of cottonseed meal an animal, will make a maintenance ration for thousands of Texas cattle this winter."

Horse Racing To Be Major Feature At Lubbock Fair

LUBBOCK, Sept. 12. — Horse racing, one of the most thrilling sports of all time, will be one of the major attractions at the Panhandle South Plains Fair, September 24, to 29, inclusive.

Fair Manager A. B. Davis has entries for the six day racing card from many horse owners and is receiving other entries daily.

"We will have races for saddle horses, for steeplechase, for kid ponies, in addition to the regular race horse runs," Davis said, "and we invite all horse owners to communicate with us for complete information."

House Votes $6,000,000 In Relief Bonds

The Texas house of representatives voted Thursday last the issuance of $6,000,000 in state relief bonds despite predictions that a much larger sum would be required to take care of the needy during the winter months.

The amount was determined after amendments to issue $4,750,000 and $5,000,000 respectively, had been voted down. The amendment to limit the issue to $6,000,000 was adopted 80 to 58.

The Texas relief commission estimated $44,000,000 would be needed to provide adequate relief and urged that all the $9,500,000 remaining from an authorized bond issue of $20,000,000 be sold. The federal government has agreed to match Texas dollars and issuance of $9,000,000 in state bonds would provide an aggregate of $19,000,000.

It was conceded by house members that the final bond will, to be written by a conference committee from the house and senate would authorize sale of a larger issue than that voted by the house with probiotics the maximum of $9,500,000 would be approved.

The maximum interest on the bonds was set at four percent in spite of vigorous argument this would impair the sale value of the securities. The last bonds issued drew four and one half percent. An amendment to make the bonds subject to taxes was defeated, its opponents charging the amendment was an effort to kill the bill and stop all relief.

Sponsors of the amendment to issue less than the maximum argued that "something should be held for a rainy day." They asserted a fear that if $9,500,000 was voted it would be expended before the regular session met in January and the relief situation would be thrown into confusion pending further financial arrangements by the legislature.

Representatives from the larger cities, where the relief condition reportedly is acute, strongly opposed issuance of more than the maximum, predicting that when all state funds had been exhausted the federal government would provide relief until an additional provision was made by the state.

The house decreed that at least $3,000,000 should be used for work relief with labor to receive maximum of 15 cents an hour. The provision is in conflict with federal work relief pay scales which set a minimum of 30 an hour.

An amendment to require budgeting of the $6,000,000 to provide for relief through January was defeated after a short sharp exchange. It was sponsored by Representative Joe Wells of Corsicana who repeated fears that failure to budget would result in speedy exhaustion of funds.

Action on amendments to replace the present Texas relief commission with a smaller group that would devote its full time to relief administration was delayed, members asserting a desire to perfect other portions of the bill before considering this problem.

Cotton Stalks are An Abundant Source Of Good Forage

As an emergency forage to meet the feed shortage arising from drought attention has been called to the cotton stalk as one of the widely distributed and abundant forage possibilities even though its use is not ordinarily general. An enormous amount of cotton stalk forage is often available in the late fall, especially when new top growth follows the fall rains but which is so late it cannot mature much, if any, fruit. There are several ways utilizing this forage, the most economical of which is to graze it off before frost. When the grazing cannot consume it all, the remainder can be mowed and cured and then stacked or baled. The hay resulting is excellent feed and when very leafy is almost or quite as good in feeding value as alfalfa according to the chemical analysis that have been made here on the Station. The stalks are not so good but they do have some feeding value. If the plants are to be mowed it should be done when the leaves are likely to shed and the feeding value will not be so high. This material can possibly be ensiled, but an attempt at ensiling about 12 tons of cotton stalks on the Station last year was a complete failure. In case it is necessary to harvest the cotton stalks in rainy weather it would probably be best to put the whole mass into a trench silo as any attempt to cure forage would lead to mouldy hay that would not be usable.

The potential cotton forage crop is very large this season and much of the feed shortage may be supplied by it. Of a normal crop of some 17 million acres there is at this time probably around 15 million acres in Texas, most of which can be depended upon for emergency livestock feed. Some of this will yield more than a ton of hay to the acre. Where grazed the crop will be even more effective in meeting the emergency than if it were mowed and cured.

There are large acreages in some parts of the State on which the cotton plants have been held back to very small growth on account of drought and only early fall rains can cause them to produce much forage. These rains have already begun to appear, however, and there seems a good prospect of enough plant growth in many sections to make a forage harvest of great importance.

If universal attention is given to salvaging the cotton stalk fields there is a possibility of saving several million tons of feed. Then there is the further advantage of most effective boll weevil control. Such a complete removal from the fields of the entire crop of cotton stalks would remove the principal refuge of boll weevils as well as the food supply of the weevils prior to frost with a consequent lowering of the numbers of weevils to go into hibernation. The destruction of cotton stalks in the field as early as possible before frost has been recommended as a profitable enterprise for control of the weevil even when no motive is present. So it is that in a year like this when the plants are needed for livestock feed there is more profit than usual in a complete harvest of every available cotton stalk as early as possible after the matured cotton has been gathered.

Another feed supply from the cotton plant is cotton burs. The practice of snapping or pulling or stripping cotton bolls as against the time honored picking of the locks from the open bolls has been growing in recent years, and the improved gin machinery includes cleaners that remove the burs, trash and dirt leaving a very good sample of lint. Increasing quantities of burs are being turned out of the gins and the output is an important source of low-grade roughage for wintering cattle. These burs have been found to be about 25 percent better than cottonseed hulls as a feed for cattle, but when they contain sand or dirt as is usually the case they are spoiled for feeding until they are cleaned. Feeding cotton burs carrying much dirt is very dangerous. It is possible some means may be justifiable whereby the cotton burs can be cleaned and rendered usable as feed. Some burs are clean enough as they

Olton Gets First Bale 1934 Cotton

Olton received her first bale of 1934 cotton early Wednesday morning. The bale weighed 395 pounds and was produced by C. E. Hysinger, northeast of Olton.

The bale was ginned at the Burrow gin, and the manager Charles Lenu, made up a premium among the merchants and business institutions of about $25 in cash and approximately $14 in merchandise.

The second bale of the season came in Wednesday afternoon and was also ginned by the Burrow gin. It was produced by Tom Reynolds and weighed 350 pounds.

BUYS PETTIT BUSINESS

F. A. Benbow, city clerk at Levelland, has purchased the mercantile business of Thomas W. Meador at Pettit, and has assumed charge. The store will be operated by Sammie Graham of Levelland, and R. M. Warren, the latter having been with the business for the past several months.

come from the gin and should be saved for feed.

While the practice of grazing cotton fields has been followed in a limited way by many farmers, no widespread use has been made of the cotton as a hay crop but such a use might be developed through research. Alfalfa is not grown successfully on nearly so wide an area as is cotton. In fact the cotton plant thrives on practically every part of the State. The yields of cotton hay while not so large per acre as that of alfalfa on the best soils, is nevertheless more certain and more easily produced and could be expected to return good profit as compared with some feed crops that are more generally used. Thus it may turn out that cotton plantings for hay production will be made and whatever fiber and seed can be economically salvaged from the crop would be so much velvet.

Application for Permission Is Made To Texas Relief

Application has been made to the Texas Relief commission for permission to establish a tannery in Littlefield, and to operate it out of county relief funds.

W. H. Cunningham, who recently took a course in tanning at Texas A & M. has been recommended as supervisor.

Under the plan for the establishment of these tanneries, groups of farmers from the various communities of the county in which the tannery is located, are admitted for free construction.

The cannery, also a relief project, is nearing completion, but will not likely be placed in operation until October 15.

HERSCHELL JOHNSON, FORMER RESIDENT OF LITTLEFIELD KILLED IN AIR MISHAP

Herschell Johnson, 30, amateur airplane pilot, was killed Tuesday when his ship crashed four miles northeast of the Municipal airport, Wichita Falls.

Johnson was a brother of Buddy Johnson, who is now in East Texas, and who formerly operated a cafe in this city in the location now occupied by Lon's Cafe. Herschell was employed by his brother in the cafe work on several occasions, and has many friends in Littlefield.

Johnson, who held a private's license more than a year and with 100 hours of flying time to his credit, was practicing spins. Witnesses said the plane was within 200 feet of the ground when he jumped but his parachute failed to open.

it safe to run. She had kept her shoes. After much walking, she saw Bull Lake, 15 miles west of Littlefield, and for the first time was certain of her whereabouts. About three miles from Littlefield she stopped at the home of a farmer named Hodges. He hailed another farmer, Enloe Smith who was passing and who brought her to Littlefield by automobile.

Mrs. Boone said she had returned to her home about 15 minutes after neighbors, who suspected nothing amiss, had seen the lights go out.

Returning about 8 o'clock Tuesday morning, Miss Hopping told her story, and officers were notified, and a search immediately launched.

In addition to the officers a search for trace of Miss Hopping's abductors was made by her father, Judge R. C. Hopping of Lubbock, Mr. Boone, and by Miss Hopping's brothers.

Miss Hopping said she had walked about 15 miles during the night in an effort to return to Littlefield. Fearing that she might again encounter the kidnapers Miss Hopping searched for a mail box bearing a certain name which she knew, and also refused to stop passing cars.

It is the opinion of the Boone and Hopping families and the officers that the abductors became convinced during the ride that their captive was not Mrs. Boone and let her get away. They didn't harm her in any way, and it is the general belief that they finally believed her story that she was not Mrs. Boone.

Miss Hopping was confined to her bed Tuesday due from shock and exposure, but returned to her duties at the Littlefield High School Thursday.

Local C. of C. to Back Athletic Club

The local Chamber of Commerce pledged their co-operation to the local football squad and the Littlefield Athletic association at their regular weekly luncheon Tuesday at noon.

The plans and purpose of the Littlefield Athletic association were given to the chamber of commerce in talks made by C. O. Stone, president of the association, A. B. Sanders and J. S. Hilliard.

Sanders stated that the local school board had appropriated $350 to the athletic fund and new football equipment had been purchased for 15 players. However, it was announced that additional funds were needed to buy shoes for several of the players.

The organization appointed a committee, composed of J. H. Ware, W. D. T. Storey and J. O. Garlington, to devise some means of raising the necessary additional funds.

Dr. Simmons furnished bond, as set by Judge Hay, and returned to Littlefield.

BAPTIST ASS'N MEET AT SUDAN WEDNESDAY

Reports Largest Attendance Present at Meeting Than In Past Seven Years

The West Plains Baptist Association comprised of twenty-four churches met in their seventh annual session at Sudan Wednesday morning, September 12. After the morning vocational exercise the Association elected officers for the year as follows:

Rev. John Evans, Moderator, Mrs. Loyd Robertson, Clerk, Mr. W. F. Montgomery, Treasurer and Joe F. Grizzle, corresponding secretary.

A new record was set by the Association in that every church in the Association was represented by messengers in the meeting. The crowd ran to some four hundred and fifty during the day Wednesday.

The Associational sermon was preached by Rev. J. E. Moore of Circleback.

A delicious plate lunch was served at the noon hour by the Sudan Ladies. Dr. W. F. Fry read a report on Good Literature and brought a stirring address on the subject. Dr. McDonald of Wayland College spoke on Christian Education pointing to the many Ministers going out from the College and pastoring churches over the district.

Many other reports of interest was heard during the day. After the report of Buckners Orphans Home made by Rev. O. L. Oldham, a collection was taken amounting to several dollars for the home. In the evening session Judge G. G. Hazel read a report on Temperance and brought a wonderful address on the subject. The first day closed with a sermon by Rev. David E. Moore of Lubbock.

During Thursday reports are to be heard on many items of the Baptist work and Rev. J. F. Nix, pastor First Baptist Church, Clovis, will be heard at the Eleven o'clock hour.

This meeting of the Association is far the largest from the point of attendance during the seven years of its existence, and is doubtless one of the largest in numbers ever to be held on the south Plains. The place and time of the next meeting will be decided some time during Thursday.

WATER PROJECT TO BE UNDERWAY WITHIN 6 WEEKS

Several Locations for Test Wells Discussed At Monday's Meeting

At a meeting of the Littlefield City Commission held Monday afternoon at 2:30, the ordinance authorizing the issuance of the water bonds was formerly passed, and several suggested locations discussed on which to build test wells to supply the city with additional water. It was decided that the members of the City Commission look over the suggested locations at an early date.

According to W. G. Street, City Secretary, it will be necessary that he draft a transcript of the record of the bonds, which will be sent to Washington for approval, after which the bonds will be printed and delivered to the Government. Mr. Street said it would be necessary to secure the approval of the Attorney-General, Waiver from the State Department of Education and approval of the Federal Government before the bonds can be finally delivered.

Mr. Street stated that if there were no undue delay on the part of the Government approving the project as drafted that the water works improvement should be underway within six or eight weeks.

Harry H. Roberts, Lubbock, who represents the city as engineer, will begin the drawing of plans when the problem has been settled.

It is expected that the wells when completed will have a capacity of 1500 gallons of water per minute. Meantime, the city is negotiating for the purchase of a reservoir for supply, with 10,000 gallon capacity. It has several tanks in view of that size.

Purchase also has to be made of about 12,000 feet of 8-inch pipe. The farthest north well is 9,700 feet away. Some 2,200 feet of 6-inch pipe in the city limits has to be replaced with 8-inch pipe.

In addition it is planned to build a pump station and to install a small electric power generating plant to furnish power for the city pump.

The City, at an election held recently, voted 233 to 28 for issuance of city bonds up to $39,000 for construction of the system. PWA funds supplementing the bond issue by approximately $9,000, a grant, will be given the city.

We Think—

and only six weeks old. Now folks, we'll give you the background, sort of let you in on things, just in case you haven't been keeping up with what's been happening relative to dogs hereabouts.

Bill Clark's lady Lizzie presented her owner about six weeks ago with an assortment of bull pups.

Bill Pass bought one, Harvey Thedford purchased another, and the editor of this publication also acquired a member of that said canine family.

Bill and the editor announced that their dogs would stage a finish fight, but the encounter was called off on account of the fact that the editor's dog got a toe pinched in the paper cutter down at the shop.

Harvey boasted that his dog could whip both Bill Pass' dog and the editor's dog at the same time; in other words, send both pups to the show-ers while he (the said Harvey's dog) was sitting chatting with friends and taking on two or three bears.

"Boss," said the editor's dog "enough is enough; Thedford's dog, even if he is my own brother, isn't in a class with me; in fact, he's a piker; I can do things that Thedford's dog even never thought about."

The editor's dog raised his right paw; scratched his head.

"I've got it!" he exclaimed. "I will be the youngest dog in Lamb county to make an airplane flight."

"Boss," he continued, "we will go to the airport Sunday afternoon and make a flight. In fact, I'd like to see if any of those oil derricks that you talked about in last week's Leader are poking out of the ground anywhere around here."

Any owner, with as loyal a dog as this editor possesses, should be game enough to stick till the clouds kiss the earth. And that's what this editor did; he went aloft over the city with his dog by his side.

The pup looked over the side of the ship and discussed the sights below.

"Boss," he said, "There's the Leader office down there, and over there is Clyde Hilburn's bank, and on down the street is Dick Johnson's lumber yard."

A successful landing was made. The editor and his dog disembarked. "Feel fine boss! How do you feel?"

Littlefield and Section Receive Additional R

Littlefield and trade territory received additional rain Saturday about eight o'clock, when measuring from half an inch to inches was scattered over this section. The rainfall in the city was 3.5 of an inch. Bula, Enochs and Se reported about two inches. A spin rain fell west from Littlefield Colvis, and from Littlefield around Roundup, the moisture getting less east of Anton.

About two inches are said to have fallen north and northeast of Littlefield.

A light shower also fell here Wednesday night late, but so far as be learned no moisture of any consequence was received in the surrounding trade territory.

The meeting was called to order by chairman Hendrix in the Education Building of the First Baptist church at eleven o'clock. After prayer by Rev. Rahey, Pastor of the Methodist church of Muleshoe the Alliance took up their regular order of business.

During the business session it was called to the attention of the Alliance that our Sheriff's force had removed from our county all slot machines, marble boards, and other gambling devices and a motion was made heartily commending the officers for the stand taken. It was the opinion of the Alliance that it is not only the duty of the Ministers of the counties to show their appreciation to our officers in their efforts to enforce the laws but that our Christian layman should unhesitatingly let them know that they do appreciate such work and pledge themselves to assist in every way possible.

W. W. TAYLOR DEMONSTRATES THE FACT THAT PEACHES CAN BE GROWN SUCCESSFULLY IN LAMB CO.

The fact that peaches can be successfully grown in Lamb County is being demonstrated this year, as several residents of this section have reported to the Leader that they are growing good crops of this and other fruits this season.

W. W. Taylor, who has a home and two acres of land in the High School Addition, on Northwest Side Avenue, reports as much as four bushels of peaches off one tree this year. He brought several samples measuring nine inches in circumference to the Leader office Saturday. Besides being large in size, they are of exceedingly fine quality, being extra juicy and as fine peaches as one would find anywhere.

Mr. Taylor has six trees, two of which are eight years old, and the remainder four years old.

He reports that he gathered some peaches from these trees in 1929, but that since then the frost killed the blooms until this year.

Besides peaches, Mr. Taylor grows plums, cherries, strawberries and grapes. In his garden he has all kinds of vegetables, including Irish potatoes, beans, peas, okra, cucumbers. In fact he says he has everything with the exception of watermelons, explaining that "these don't do so good."

Mr. Taylor irrigates his garden by means of a windmill with overhead tank.

"Alias for him who never sees
The stars shine through the cypress trees.

Who hopeless lays his dead away,
Nor looks to see the breaking day
Across the mournful marbles play.
Who hath not learned in hours of faith,
The truth to flesh and sense unknown.
That life is ever lord of death,
And love can never lose its own."

it safe to run. She had kept her shoes. After much walking, she saw Bull Lake, 15 miles west of Littlefield, and for the first time was certain of her whereabouts. About three miles from Littlefield she stopped at the home of a farmer named Hodges. He hailed another farmer, Enloe Smith who was passing and who brought her to Littlefield by automobile.

Mrs. Boone said she had returned to her home about 15 minutes after neighbors, who suspected nothing amiss, had seen the lights go out.

Returning about 8 o'clock Tuesday morning, Miss Hopping told her story, and officers were notified, and a search immediately launched.

In addition to the officers a search for trace of Miss Hopping's abductors was made by her father, Judge R. C. Hopping of Lubbock, Mr. Boone, and by Miss Hopping's brothers.

Miss Hopping said she had walked about 15 miles during the night in an effort to return to Littlefield. Fearing that she might again encounter the kidnapers Miss Hopping searched for a mail box bearing a certain name which she knew, and also refused to stop passing cars.

It is the opinion of the Boone and Hopping families and the officers that the abductors became convinced during the ride that their captive was not Mrs. Boone and let her get away. They didn't harm her in any way, and it is the general belief that they finally believed her story that she was not Mrs. Boone.

Miss Hopping was confined to her bed Tuesday due from shock and exposure, but returned to her duties at the Littlefield High School Thursday.

WATER PROJECT TO BE UNDERWAY WITHIN 6 WEEKS

Several Locations for Test Wells Discussed At Monday's Meeting

At a meeting of the Littlefield City Commission held Monday afternoon at 2:30, the ordinance authorizing the issuance of the water bonds was formerly passed, and several suggested locations discussed on which to build test wells to supply the city with additional water. It was decided that the members of the City Commission look over the suggested locations at an early date.

According to W. G. Street, City Secretary, it will be necessary that he draft a transcript of the record of the bonds, which will be sent to Washington for approval, after which the bonds will be printed and delivered to the Government. Mr. Street said it would be necessary to secure the approval of the Attorney-General, Waiver from the State Department of Education and approval of the Federal Government before the bonds can be finally delivered.

Mr. Street stated that if there were no undue delay on the part of the Government approving the project as drafted that the water works improvement should be underway within six or eight weeks.

Harry H. Roberts, Lubbock, who represents the city as engineer, will begin the drawing of plans when the problem has been settled.

It is expected that the wells when completed will have a capacity of 1500 gallons of water per minute. Meantime, the city is negotiating for the purchase of a reservoir for supply, with 10,000 gallon capacity. It has several tanks in view of that size.

Purchase also has to be made of about 12,000 feet of 8-inch pipe. The farthest north well is 9,700 feet away. Some 2,200 feet of 6-inch pipe in the city limits has to be replaced with 8-inch pipe.

In addition it is planned to build a pump station and to install a small electric power generating plant to furnish power for the city pump.

The City, at an election held recently, voted 233 to 28 for issuance of city bonds up to $39,000 for construction of the system. PWA funds supplementing the bond issue by approximately $9,000, a grant, will be given the city.

We Think—

and only six weeks old.

Now folks, we'll give you the background, sort of let you in on things, just in case you haven't been keeping up with what's been happening relative to dogs hereabouts.

Bill Clark's lady Lizzie presented her owner about six weeks ago with an assortment of bull pups.

Bill Pass bought one, Harvey Thedford purchased another, and the editor of this publication also acquired a member of that said canine family.

Bill and the editor announced that their dogs would stage a finish fight, but the encounter was called off on account of the fact that the editor's dog got a toe pinched in the paper cutter down at the shop.

Harvey boasted that his dog could whip both Bill Pass' dog and the editor's dog at the same time; in other words, send both pups to the showers while he (the said Harvey's dog) was sitting chatting with friends and taking on two or three beers.

In fact, Harvey inserted an advertisement announcing that the reason the dog fight was called off was because his dog had whipped the editor's dog before the day of the scheduled fight.

"Boss," said the editor's dog, "enough is enough; Thedford's dog, even if he is my own brother, isn't in a class with me; in fact, he's a piker; I can do things that Thedford's dog even never thought about."

The editor's dog raised his right paw; scratched his head.

"I've got it!" he exclaimed. "I will be the youngest dog in Lamb county to make an airplane flight."

"Boss," he continued, "we will go to the airport Sunday afternoon and make a flight. In fact, I'd like to see if any of those oil derricks that you talked about in last week's Leader are poking out of the ground anywhere around here."

Any owner, with as loyal a dog as this editor possesses, should be game enough to stick till the clouds kiss the earth. And that's what this editor did; he went aloft over the city with his dog by his side.

The pup looked over the side of the ship and discussed the sights below.

"Boss," he said, "There's the Leader office down there, and over there is Clyde Hilburn's bank, and on down the street is Dick Johnson's lumber yard."

A successful landing was made. The editor and his dog disembarked. "Feel fine boss! How do you feel?"

Littlefield and Section Receive Additional Rain

Littlefield and trade territory received additional rain Saturday about eight o'clock, when more measuring from half an inch to inches was scattered over this section. The rainfall in the city was 35 of an inch. Bula, Enochs and reported about two inches. A slight rain fell west from Littlefield Colvis, and from Littlefield east Roundup, the moisture getting light east of Anton.

About two inches are said to have fallen north and northeast of Littlefield.

A light shower also fell here Wednesday night late, but so far as we learned no moisture of any consequence was received in the surrounding trade territory.

feel?" But even as he spoke, those were his stomach was about to turn inside out. And it did turn inside out.

He looked up into his master's eyes, then said: "You tell the cockeyed world that brother of mine has got a 'far' ahead of him."

APPEAL NO. 2

MOTHER FATHER SCHOOL DAYS

And the purchase of school supplies should be as important in your routine of shopping as if you were buying a Hat, Suit of Clothes or an Automobile.

Do you know what your child pays for Supplies at places RECOMMENDED TO THEM in order to get useless premiums for the school room that could be purchased outright for a Pauly Sum?

Have you ever thought what a five cent over-charge for school supplies per week for every child in school would amount to in the course of a year.

Do you know that we guarantee every item in our line of School Supplies and, too, in many instances, that our price is less and the count of our Tablets, Loose Leaf Fillers, etc., is more than at the places mentioned above?

If you do not believe that these statements are facts, we ask that you take a few minutes to visit our store and let us show you just what we mean by lower prices and more count to the package. Less money for Crayolas, Scissors, Water Colors, Pencils, Tablets, Note Books, Loose Leaf Binders, in fact everything used in the School Room.

Do not be misled by a useless coupon dearly paid for. While you are interested in shopping for yourself, be the same with the money your child spends. Your saving will be most interesting.

We make this appeal to you not from a selfish standpoint, but in fairness to you, your child, and also to your pocket book, and we are sure that your going into this matter will be time well spent.

We could fill this entire space with facts to your interest in Buying School Supplies, but better still just look.

Fresh meat will be shipped to all relief food depots in Texas in 75 pound cartons containing approximately 2 1-2 and 5 pound cuts, wrapped separately in parchment paper. Families of 5 persons and under will receive two of the smaller cuts per week while families of 6 and over will receive two of the larger cuts per week. The meat will be kept fresh by packing each carton with dry ice, which will keep the meat fresh approximately 12 hours after delivery.

Families will be divided into three groups for the purpose of establishing a uniform flow of distribution throughout the week. On this group basis issuance will be made twice weekly to individual families as follows:

Group one, Mondays and Thursdays; group two, Tuesdays and Fridays; group three, Wednesdays and Saturdays. Case workers will ascertain the requirements in the various counties and meat will be shipped into the counties to meet the needs reported.

Counties were warned against ordering supplies to exceed demands as none of the meat may be returned to storage after delivery at the food depots, Crain said.

The program will get under way 10 days after state officials have received reports of requirements from county administrators and "we hope," Crain said, "to reach every possible family on relief rolls in the state of Texas.

Littlefield Follows Hollywood With Movie Premiere

If you have never been to Hollywood or if you have never seen a real Hollywood movie premiere, then you will thrill at Littlefield's own version of one of these great events, which will take place Friday night, September 28.

Already the crew at the Palace Theatre is busy with the preparations. Spot lights and giant flood lights have been arranged for an will arrive some time this week. Loud-speakers and public address systems must be placed so that the crowds can hear what the impersonators of the movie stars have to say when they arrive at the theatre. No expense will be spared to make this one of the high lights of the season and one of great amusement for all those who take part in it.

Littlefield folks will impersonate famous movie stars and will be presented when they arrive in front of the theater and will give their impersonations on the stage, competing for prizes to be awarded for the best imitations.

Which of your friends do you think can best imitate Will Rogers or Zasu Pitts or impersonate Mae West with her "Come up and see me sometime," or Jimmie Durante with his "Was I mortified?" and all the other famous movie stars. Any person who desires to enter this impersonation contest should call at the Palace box office and leave their name and address and the name of the star they will impersonate.

Eye Muscles More Important Than Biceps

"Only the blind appreciate fully what it means to see," says Dr. Ira E. Woods, local optometrist. "Most students take their eyesight for granted although subjecting the eyes to more strain than any muscle in the body. By the time the average student reaches the University, he has devoted thousands of hours to close work over books."

First-year students at many universities are now urged, and in some cases required, to submit to a physical examination, which includes a test of the eyes. At the University of West Virginia, all incoming students are required to take a visual test. "Of all the senses," says an official of the University, "vision heads the list in importance to man. Regardless of occupation, age, sex, or other factors we depend on our eyes every waking moment. The goal of attainment in education, perhaps more than in industry or business, is reached by those who appreciate and use vision. Our whole system of teaching and learning is based on sight and visual memory. Yet, in a survey of the eye tests of 835 freshmen at the University of West Virginia, 35% showed defective vision, and only 21% had their vision corrected. By the time they have reached the University, their eyes have already developed defects. They do not often realize that the eye muscles are subject to the same laws of fatigue that the biceps are."

SMART JUMPER DRESS

Pattern 8319. The smart young girl will adore this jumper dress because she can wear gay blouses with it. What's more, mother will like it because jumpers are so practical.

You could really make several jumpers from the same pattern. One jumper could be in bright plaid with a white blouse, or a light color matching one of the colors in the plaid. Perhaps you would want another, using a light or dark plain material for the jumper with a printed blouse.

Business Women Elect Mrs. Vernie Wright President At Monday Evening's Session

Several matters of importance were discussed and settled at the regular business session of The Business & Professional Women's Club Monday evening at the First Baptist Church.

Miss Leatha Handley, President of the Club having resigned recently on account of leaving the city, Miss Mary Belle Montgomery, Vice-President, presided.

The matter of a building in which to have the dramatic play to be sponsored by the club this fall was discussed and it was suggested that the committee in charge endeavor to secure a building at as early a date as possible, and the Secretary then advise the company under whose direction the play will be staged in regard to date.

The question of presenting Miss Handley with a club pin was also discussed, and the Secretary was instructed to order such a gift for the retiring president. It was also agreed to present each retiring president of the club with a pin as a token of appreciation.

A ballot was taken to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Miss Handley, and Mrs. Vernie Wright, Secretary to R. T. Badger of the Yellow House Land Company, was elected as the new president of the club. Mrs. Wright is absent from the city on a vacation trip, but it is hoped she will accept the presidency.

It was also decided that the next social meeting of the club be in the form of an afternoon tea, Sunday, September 23, and that the Lubbock club be invited as guests for the occasion.

It was pointed out that Mrs. T. S. Sales had kindly offered her home for this function.

A program committee, composed of Mrs. Sales, chairman, and Mrs. Payne Woods and Miss Nila Jones, members, was appointed.

A suggestion was made that the place of meeting be changed from the First Baptist Church, where the club members have been gathering, to the City Hall Public Library, and this was decided upon.

The Secretary Miss Fern Hoover, read a letter from the State Chairman stating that all club dues should be paid in by September 15.

On account of the volume of business to be transacted no social program was arranged.

Members present were; Mesdames F. O. Boles, Clela Goodwin, Roy Blessing, Joe Beck, Payne Wood, Leonard Theford, E. J. Newgent, T. S. Sales, Arbie Joplin, H. W. Wiseman, Bill Elliott, and Morley B. Drake, and Misses Thelma Killough, Eunice Stanfield, Fern Hoover, Mary Belle Montgomery and Gladys and Nila Jones.

Soft Ball Clubs Swinging Into Home Stretch to decide League Play

With the school faculty clinging to the top most position the soft ball season is drawing to a close. The final game slated for the present season winds things up on the 21st of Sept. Close upon the heels of the leaders we find the Businessmen who are but half of a game in arrears. The Firemen headed by Bob Cox are crowding the businessmen and have their sights set on first place. PUD HANKS and his Sunnydalers are awaiting further play to crowd some one out of higher position to reach the top. The Legion by winning the rest of their games can place high in the final standings.

The Allstars, Oilers, Lutherans are not conceding the top leadership for the present since they have lost 50 percent or more of their scheduled games. One guess is as good as another as to the final results in the softball loop. This week will decide largely who may be considered seriously as champions for the circuit.

stepping team Tom Lieb has brought forth. His game is October 26. This will pit a Notre Dame system against a Notre Dame system. Coming back to Lubbock on November 2 Tech plays Mac Saxon's Texas College of Mines, then the following week, November 9, the traditional rival game of the year will be played with Hardin and Simons University at Lubbock.

On November 16 De Paul University of Chicago invades the Red Raiders' camp. The following week North Dakota State will meet Tech on November 23 in Lubbock. This game will end the Matadors home games, the team leaving soon after for the Thanksgiving game with the University of Arizona at Tucson. With such a schedule, no wonder Lubbock and Tech fans are wondering the outcome for the blocking boys of West Texas. This is regarded as the toughest schedule in Tech's history.

Embert Mueller Sold To Atlanta Now Playing in Southern Association

Some ten days ago Embert Mueller who is a local product and has been playing professional base-ball for the past six years, writes that he is now the property of the "Atlanta Crackers" and will wind up the present season there.

Mueller played in the Texas League for three seasons, being the property of Shreveport and Tyler. He then played with Longview, Texas, a member of the East Texas League until last season when he was picked up by Asheville, North Carolina, a member of the Piedmont League. He played with Asheville the greater part of the year since they took over the franchise held by Columbia South Carolina and who dropped out for financial reasons. "Heinie Mueller" his dubbed name in baseball is married and makes his home in Shreveport, La., during the winter months.

ALLSTARS TAKE FRIDAY'S GAME FROM BUSINESSMEN; SCORE IS 8-7

Last Friday night's softball bill-a-fare had the businessmen and the Allstars on the field of battle. With antagonism running high and the game rocking along in close fashion when close decisions determined largely who would be declared the winner. And as a consequence keen interest was held throughout the game.

The businessmen started their run getting in the second, when Orr and Young tallied for their forces. To keep pace the Allstars made once each in the first and second frames. Took the lead in the 4th and held until the 6th when the businessmen forged ahead with a three run spurge, Thaxton, Wood and Orr figuring in the run getting. The count was knotted in the sixth with the all-stars tallying one in their half. The seventh and final run scoring resulted in favor of the Allstars when they made three to the two made by the businessmen. Bernard Lambert decided the game with his home run in the final round.

Oilers Pull The Unexpected; Defeat Sunnyside 4 to 2

The Hawthorne Oilers lit their stride again last Thursday night and behind the consistent pitching of Baize sailed along to victory. The first inning decided the issue when they made enough runs to last them without being overtaken by the Hanks clubbers.

The contest was full of pep and on even terms with both sides threatening in most every inning only to be cut off at the critical stage each time by some neat playing a-field. The Sunnydalers were not at their best. Cate, ace chucker was not in the pitching mood so J. Hanks relieved him in the early part of the contest and pitched well for his cohorts.

Sunnydale Cops Game From Faculty By Score Of 6 to 3

In last Monday evenings tussle the first of a doubleheader found the Sunnydalers getting the best of the argument with the school goers which reduced their lead and put four clubs in a four way tie for first place. Namely the School, Businessmen, Sunnydale and the Firemen all have won seven contests and lost four with a percentage of 636 up to Tuesday's game.

Cape, ace pitcher for the Hanks crew showed real class for the first five innings. He weakened somewhat and was relieved by J. Hanks who dished them up in good style to hold the faculty in their gesture to rally when the bases were filled and two out.

The game was exciting and held the spot light for the nights entertainment.

Bussinessmen Upset Lutherians For Another Loss; 7-3

The first tussle of the doubleheader last Thursday night found the Businessmen and the Lutherians furnishing each other with REASONS to win or lose, with the former showing the most punch and consistency of playing.

Rev. Lueck who drew the assignment for the Church club to baffle the businessmen fared well most of the time but when close situations arose they failed to be equal to the occasion to gain or make the most of things. Otha Key held things nobly for the winners for the first three rounds after which he was derricked in favor of Bob McKnight who checked any further damage.

Legion Boys Win From Oilers Monday; Score Is 2-1

The second game of a double header last Monday night was played by the Oilers and the American Legion forces. The affair was more of a pitchers duel than a hit and run affair. Errors played their part by putting men in scoring position at various times and what scores were registered came as the result of some bobbie afield.

Wade Potter and Baize apposed each other on the hillock and showed real form in their respective roles.

Manager Hawthorne, has indicated that he would contest the game on the grounds that Umpire Boone's decision regarding the rules on a ball bounding from a player into the cars was in error and that he be justified in an appeal to the league for reconsideration. This was hotly contested throughout.

Lutherans Lose To School Faculty Score Is 10-2

The School Faculty won their game handily with the Lutheran entry in last Tuesday's contest in so doing they forged out in front of the flag chasers in the softball loop.

Things got off to an even start for the first few innings but when the 3rd and 4th stanzas were sung the issue was settled so far as the likely winner for the contest was concerned. Rallying for seven scores in these two frames put the educators far in front. Pitcher Lueck's inability to master his control cost the losers numerous runs. Floyd Hemphill did the chunking for the winners.

Matadors to Play University Team Sept. 22

LUBBOCK, Texas, Sept. 12 — The Red Raiders of the Matador camp of Pete Cawthon, coach, and Dutchy Smith, line coach, broke forth like a West Texas sandstorm Monday morning, September 10. For the past two years the blocking Notre Dame system of play has clicked in great style with 18 wins against 3 losses but this year the outlook is entirely dismal. Both coaches look for a very poor year with the loss of 14 seniors from the 1933 Tech team, boys who have carried the Scarlet Clads to many victories.

Some 55 players reported for workouts Monday. By being pushed hard through eleven days the Matadors will play their first game with Jack Chevigny's University of Texas team at Lubbock September 22. From then on the Matadors play McMurry College of Abilene at Lubbock Sept. 28, Baylor University Bears at Lubbock October 5, and the Gold Bugs of Oklahoma City University at Oklahoma City October 12.

For the first time the Matadors will journey to the Pacific Coast, taking on Loyola University, the fast-

"The Black Cat", Full of Unusual and Unexpected Thrills and Chills To Be Featured at Palace Saturday

Could "Frankenstein" have defeated "Dracula" in mortal combat? The issue has finally been put to a test by Universal Pictures, which brought together for the first time on the screen, those two terror inspiring "monsters", Karloff and Lugosi, in a horror picture that promises to end all horror pictures. "The Black Cat" suggested from a story by that master of all mystery writers, Edgar Allan Poe.

A gripping story, full of unusual and unexpected thrills and chills, "The Black Cat," to be featured at the Palace Theatre Saturday Midnight and Sunday afternoon promises to outdo both "Frankenstein" and "Dracula," it is said Karloff, the creator of "Frankenstein" takes on a new disguise of terrorizing proportions, while Lugosi, the originator of "Dracula" braves the laws of life and death when he clashes with his sinister adversary.

No picture in recent times has evoked so much interest among the theatre going public, who are always seeking something new and daringly different in screen entertainment. This picture is more than that; it is truly an epic of fantastic horror and terror.

A splendid cast has been assembled for this production, including David Manners and Jacqueline Wells who supply the romantic interest; Egon Brecher, Lucille Lund, Henry Armetta, Anna Duncan, and many others. Poelzig and Dr. Veredon, who are old-world characters, mysterious bearing, on their deadly machine present day among young people. They seem to have thrown-backs of another world. "The Black Cat" and "Dracula" appear like mythical jokers.
