Sleight-of-Hand Artists Operating Filling Stations Are Given Heavy Fines Says the State Inspectors

Weights and Measures inspectors of the State Department of Agriculture recently proved that all sleight-of-hand artists, better known as magicians, are not confined to the theatrical world—quite a number have been found operating gasoline pumps. It was not known to what extent sleight-of-hand art had invaded the sale of gasoline until the novel plan of equipping a car with a blind tank and making purchases was devised.

Without introducing themselves, inspectors quietly visited 112 filling stations, made a purchase of five gallons of gasoline at each station, secured a receipt from the salesman on the purchase to the effect that five gallons were bought and paid for, and out of the 112 purchases eighty-two were found to be short measure. In some instances the shortage amounted to as much as a gallon and a half to the purchase.

The gasoline purchasers in this state, no doubt, would like to know the sleight-of-hand artist performs the trick of giving a gallon and a half short measure on a five-gallon purchase. Like all sleight-of-hand tricks, it is simple after once being revealed. The trick is performed by diverting the flow of the gasoline to the underground storage tank at the same time the automobile is being served. This can be done on nine different types of gasoline pumps now in use in Texas.

It is not definitely known the amount lost each year in the sale of gasoline due to short measure, but a fair estimate may be had by taking the results of the purchase tests on 112 pumps. The total shortage in the purchase of 560 gallons from the 112 pumps was 3,509 cubic inches, or 71 per cent.

This percentage might be considered exceedingly small by some people, but viewed in connection with the total annual sale of a few of the largest companies engaged in selling gasoline, it is not small.

For example, the records of the State Comptroller's Department show that six of the largest oil companies in Texas during the year 1927 sold 67,890,975 gallons of gasoline. 71 per cent of this amount is 12,017,799 gallons. Taking as an average price, 15 cents per gallon, the annual loss amounts to $1,802,669.85. Think of it, if this amount is lost on sales made by six companies, no doubt the loss will exceed two million dollars when the total sale of gasoline for all companies doing business in the state is considered.

Developing the fact that the people of Texas are losing millions each year in the purchase of gasoline because of short measure is a valuable information, but the inquiry is made, and properly so: what is being done to prevent it? Answering this inquiry, reference is made to the court action taken against the "short measure artists" immediately following the purchase of gasoline from the 112 pumps. In the first city worked 15 complaints were filed, 14 of which pleaded guilty and paid fines, in the second city seven cases were tried and a fine from $50.00 to $100.00 was assessed in each case.

BANKERS GIVE ADVICE

The advice of bankers usually is good. This from the American Bankers' Magazine is worth consideration:

"No business man in any town should allow a newspaper published in his town to go without his name and business being mentioned somewhere in its columns.

"This applies to all kinds of business and professional men. It does not mean that you should have a whole, half or even a quarter page ad in each issue of the paper, but your name should be mentioned, if you do not use more than a two-line space.

"A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in the town by looking at a paper. This is the best possible town advertiser.

"The man who does not advertise his business does an injustice to himself and the town. The life of a town depends upon the live, wide-awake and liberal advertising business man."

CHICKEN ORDINANCE

From complaints coming into the city office, according to E. C. Cundiff, city clerk, it seems that some people are not complying with the ordinance in regard to keeping up their chickens. This ordinance was not made with a view of hurting anyone, but was drawn up to protect those who wanted to have gardens, flowers and lawns.

Probably you think your chickens do not hurt anyone, and you ask your neighbors about the matter, and they have too much respect for your friendship to come out and tell you that your chickens are a nuisance.

The enforcement of this ordinance depends entirely upon the citizens who are bothered, the City does not maintain enough policemen to make the rounds of the entire city several times a day. If there are chickens in the neighborhood that are bothering you, just notify the city officer, and no report will be made from where the complaint originated.

JUDGING TEAM OF VOCATIONAL AGRICULTURE TO PLAINVIEW FRI.

The dairy judging team of the Vocational Agriculture department of the Littlefield High school were in Plainview Friday, entering into competition with 12 other teams from towns of the plains in the judging of dairy cattle at the Panhandle-Plains Show, which was held at Plainview, last week.

The Littlefield team was announced as winning fourth place, however it is reported an error has been found in the addition of the points, which, if correct, will place Littlefield second.

The members of the team from here were, J. G. Berryman, jr., Parker Burford, Jack Brannen and Burness Lowrimore as alternate.

A number of other Vocational agriculture students made the trip for the experience and training they would derive. The boys all enjoyed the show and were enabled to gain many practical ideas of quality dairy cattle.

COMMISSION WARNS AGAINST CORRESPONDENCE SCHOOLS

The United States Civil Service Commission has sent a circular letter to advertising managers of newspapers and periodicals throughout the country citing figures which indicate the practical worthlessness of widely advertised correspondence courses in preparation for forest ranger examinations.

"Many of the statements in these advertisements are misleading and in some cases absolutely false. These advertisements frequently convey the impression that the forest ranger's job is largely a play-time job, or a convenient means for an outing in the woods, while, as a matter of fact, the position of forest ranger is a permanent one of considerable responsibility, requiring arduous work often under difficult conditions, and with definite requirements as to experience and ability. Forest Service officials doubt the value of correspondence schools under ordinary circumstances in furnishing proper preparation for forest ranger positions."

LEAGUE PARTY

NAVY DEFEATS THE ARMY IN FIRST GAME OF SEASON

The first game of spring football resulted disastrously for the Army. Their friends, the Gobs, beat them by one touchdown in an interesting battle. The final score reading 12-7.

No scoring was had in the first half but the dough-boys assert that if they had been granted two or three minutes more to play, it would have been a different story, for they had the ball within a foot of the enemy's goal line but too late for any benefit to their side.

The Sailors made the first counter late in the third quarter, when James Wadsworth Keithley got away with a nice little eighty-five yard sprint, with the pig-skin tucked neatly under his arm. The attempt at extra point was no good.

The Army aggregation was somewhat nettled at this unlooked for attack from the Marines, and decided to avenge themselves in some manner. And they did. Early in the last quarter Fly Thornton passed to left end for a touchdown. Fly then kicked a pretty goal for the extra point.

The Soldiers were now ahead, but they must have forgotten that there still remained three or four minutes of play, for they were sailing along as quietly as you please, when Harry K. White, Gob ha'k-back, intercepted an Army pass, and struck out for the goal line. He got there too, and slammed the ball down on the ground just beyond the Army goal line, just to prove that he had really made a touch-down. The Sailors tried to pass for the extra point, but it was knocked down by Floyd M. Fowler, Army half-back. The rest of the game was a violent endeavor by the soldiers to stage a come-back, but all in vain. The game was lost for good.

The two teams meet again in the near future, and the Army will be out for revenge.—Contributed.

DEMAND FOR PUMP EXCEEDS SUPPLY SAYS A. P. DUGGAN

Arthur P. Duggan, president of the Standard Pump Co., returned last Friday from Wichita, Kansas, where he has been for the past three weeks in the interest of the concern.

This organization is perfecting and putting on the market a new air lift pump which bids fair to be something far superior than anything ever heretofore invented in this line.

The pump, which is made in different sizes, is practically without working parts, it has no cylinders, and no valves to wear or need renewing, is double acting, throwing a continuous stream, and is said to be a good well developer as well as water producer. Mr. Duggan has now in his possession testimonials from various reputable engineers attesting to the merits and high efficiency of the new production. The factory which is located in Wichita, is now turning out 10 pumps every eight hours, working three shifts of men, and are unable to supply the demand. They expect soon to greatly enlarge the plant.

An eight inch pump of this style is soon to be tried out in Littlefield in the new city well that is now being dug by T. P. Wright.

Other local members of the Standard Pump Co., are I. C. Enochs, L. R. Crockett, John Kling and B. B. Moulton.

POULTRY EXPERT GIVES DIRECTIONS FOR SUCCESSFUL HANDLING OF GROWING CHIX

By F. W. KAZEMEIER, Bryan, Tex.

Chickens, like man and beast, sometimes catch cold, and other diseases affecting the respiratory or breathing system.

To attempt to cure roup or other forms of cold is going after the trouble wrong. The practical plan is to locate the cause and then to remove it.

When your chickens are continually catching cold, any of the following may be contributing, yet indirect causes.

Many times, we have called your attention to intestinal worms, being the chief indirect cause. Many people continue to overlook these parasites as possibly being the chief cause. If your flock, especially your pullets, continually seem to be bothered with some form of colds, be sure and investigate the possibility and probability of either round worms or tape worms, as the guilty agencies. There is only one way to be sure your flock are not infested with worms, and that is to have just completed a good job of deworming, by individual treatment.

Housing

In the fall and winter, faulty housing may cause colds and roup. First of all, a lack of fresh air is the greatest cause. Fresh air in abundance and without direct drafts, is of prime importance. It might be interesting to state, that in the summer direct drafts among grown stock is desirable but in late fall and winter, this is not true. Floor drafts are especially harmful and also are drafts over the roosts. A good plan is to close the north, east and west ends as nearly air tight as possible allowing all the fresh air to come in thru one end and that preferably in the south side. We prefer to have openings in south and close to the floor, to prevent the wind and rain from beating too far into the interior of the house. Wide houses, are better than narrow houses.

Dry Floors

Wet floors and litter are great causes. If the litter is continually wet, ventilation is insufficient or too many birds are put in the house. Make special plans to keep dry litter on the floor. Sloping the floors a little towards the open front, will keep rain from running towards the back of the house. Regardless of trouble or time, keep a dry litter on the floor. Dampness is a sure cause of colds or roup.

Over-Crowding

Over-crowding is probably one of the most common causes of colds. It is just impossible to over-crowd a house and get away with it very long. Sooner or later trouble is sure to make its appearance. At least 3 sq. feet of floor space per bird must be provided in fall and winter. Over-crowding causes more trouble in the poultry business, than any other principle that may be neglected.

Partitions

Long open front houses, unless properly partitioned, also contribute to colds. In houses longer than 200 feet, solid partitions should be provided every 20 feet. These partitions, must be out of wood, the width of the roosts and at least four feet up from the floor. These partitions will help prevent drafts in long open front houses.

Direct Sunshine

Direct sunshine will also help prevent colds, in the fall and winter. In the case of open front houses, this will easily be provided. Sunshine kills germs causing colds and roup.

Lack of Green Food

A lack of succulent and fresh green food, will also cause a form of cold, known as nutritional roup.

Now is the time to sow oats, wheat, barley or rye as a fall and winter green food pasture for your flock. It is not too late now, but soon will be, better do that today.

Epsom Salts

We have found it a good idea to give the entire flock of epsom salts, when signs of colds are first noticed. Add 1 lb. of epsom salts to 100 lbs. of dry mash and keep this before them for two or three days. Epsom salts may also be given in the drinking water.

Use of Iodine

Iodine for external use, has been found very good for curing colds. We use a common atomizer for applying it. Get one man to hold the bird, opening mouth, spray inside of mouth and throat with tincture of iodine, also nostrils and eyes. You do not have to be afraid of getting the iodine in the eyes because it will not injure them. Repeat this every other day until birds get better. Many other remedies may be used. We have not found any better than iodine.

Weak Birds

It does not pay to keep weak birds. They are a money losing proposition at the best, and the first ones to contract contagious diseases and spread them to the balance of the flock. Kill all such and burn them.

Introducing New Stock

In buying stock, or returning birds from fairs or poultry shows, it is a good plan to quarantine them for 14 days, before introducing them to the flock. Birds coming from fairs and poultry shows, especially are subject to colds and roup, because of close confinement and common drafts in fair and poultry show buildings.

Miss Lois Farquhar and Perry Harris were in Olton on business, Friday.

CREAM PUFFS ARE NOT DIFFICULT

Method of Mixing Differs From Other Pastry.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

You have doubtless wished more than once that you knew how to make cream puffs at home. They are not at all difficult to make, but the method of mixing is different from that used for other pastry and cakes. Here are the directions, given by the bureau of home economics, and a recipe for a custard filling in case you prefer it to whipped cream.

Cream Puffs.
4 eggs
1/2 cup butter
1 cup hot water
1 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon salt

Add the butter to the hot water and bring to the boiling point, and add the flour and salt, all at one time. Stir rapidly and constantly until the paste leaves the sides of the pan. Remove from the fire and when cool add the unbeaten eggs one at a time, beating until thoroughly blended with the paste mixture. Drop by spoonfuls on a greased baking sheet about two inches apart. During baking the dough expands to twice or more its original size. Bake in a hot oven 450 degrees to 475 degrees F. until puffed and a golden brown. When cool cut and fill the lower half with seasoned whipped cream, crushed fruit or custard mixture. Cover with other half of the paste and sprinkle powdered sugar over the top. The quantity makes eight medium-sized puffs.

Custard Filling for Cream Puffs.
1 cup cream or rich milk
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons sugar
1 egg yolk

Heat the cream or milk in the upper part of a double boiler. Mix the cornstarch, salt and sugar thoroughly.
Then pour over them the heated cream or milk. Return to the double boiler, stir until thickened, then cover and cook for ten or fifteen minutes. Add the well-beaten egg yolk and cook for a minute longer. Beat well, add the vanilla and butter. When cool place the custard mixture in the puffs.

Have your printing done at home.

DAIRY

RIGHT START FOR CALF IMPORTANT

"Give the calf a good start. The first six months of its life is not only the most expensive time, but also the most critical period and the time when most difficulties appear."

The suggestion made by Prof. F. W.
Atkinson, dairy husbandman for the University of Idaho.

"Most dairymen," he says, "make a practice of leaving the calf with its mother for at least the first day or possibly longer, depending on the condition of the cow and calf. The first milk, called colostrum, is high in minerals and protein which start the calf's development. It also tends to put the digestive tract in good condition and it develops disease-preventing antibodies in the blood."

"After the calf is removed from its dam it should be fed its own mother's milk for four or five days, after which time it may be given mixed milk from the entire herd. For calves of the smaller breeds, like Jerseys or Guernseys, from six to eight pounds per day, divided into either two or three equal feeds at regular intervals, may be fed. Larger breeds, like Holsteins, will need ten to twelve pounds per day. In a few days the quantity may be raised two pounds if the calf seems able to bear it. It is well to bear in mind, however, that more calves die from overfeeding than from underfeeding."

"The calf may be safely changed from whole milk to skim milk at any time after two weeks of age, the time depending upon such conditions as the value of calves and milk. The change should be made gradually by substituting one pound of skim milk
for one pound of whole milk each day.
As the calf gets older the milk allowance may be increased until at three months it is receiving from fifteen to twenty pounds per day."

"It must here be borne in mind that the fat removed from the milk must be replaced by grain. The calf should be encouraged to eat grain as early as possible and for the first three or four months should be fed all it will consume at each feeding. After this grain may be limited to three pounds a day. The calves should have water and salt before them at all times.
Fresh, good quality hay should be fed regularly as early as the calves will consume it."

Utensils of Dairy Must Be Thoroughly Cleaned

Everything that comes in contact with milk and cream needs washing and scalding after use. Milk contains an abundance of food for bacteria.
When particles of milk are left in the milk utensils they soon sour and produce objectionable odors and flavors.
Unless these breeding places for bacteria are removed quickly and thoroughly they cause the milk and cream of the next milking to become contaminated and spoil. It does not make any difference how clean and sweet the fresh milk may be, the cream cannot reach the creamery in good condition if handled in unwashed or unclean utensils.

After use the milk pails, strainer, dipper, separator and all other utensils should first be rinsed with cold water. This will remove the milk which adheres to them. This thorough rinsing makes the washing easier. Then the utensils should be washed with hot water that contains some alkali, such as washing powder.
A brush and plenty of elbow grease is also necessary. After washing they should be rinsed and thoroughly scalded with plenty of boiling hot water.

Where the milking is done with a machine the rubber tubes and teacup caps should be placed in a disinfectant solution and allowed to soak until the next milking. Then they should be rinsed out with clean water before using.

In Selecting Herd Bull Carefully Study Records

When selecting a herd bull, see to it that he is not only of satisfactory individuality himself, but that his ancestry is a fair guarantee of a continuance of that individuality in his get.
Satisfied on this point, study the pedigree. If you are a Holstein breeder for instance, you will want to know the conditions under which the seven day records were made, and you will also want to know how much 365-day blood is in the more or less immediate ancestry. You will also want to know if the butter records were made with a normal Holstein percentage of fat or whether the large butter record were made from a relatively small quantity of milk.

Groom Cows Daily

When cows are kept in stables it is of special importance that they receive a daily grooming. If the hair falls on the flanks and udder arranged it will aid in keeping them parts clean. In addition to grooming, it is important that a damp cloth be used to wipe off any dirt or dust from these regions before the cow is milked.
Sufficient bedding, proper construction of the stables and frequent cleaning of both the stables and the cows will insure sanitary conditions.

ANNOUNCEMENT PARTY

The afternoon of April 14th, was the occasion of a most delightful social event at the home of Mrs. B. L. Cogdill.

Mrs. Cogdill was charmingly assisted by Miss Vada Walden, as associate hostess in honoring Miss Vivian Courtney.

The occasion was the formal announcement of the engagement of Miss Courtney to Mr. Maurice White, of Dallas.

The climax of the afternoon was cleverly and subtly approached by means of a most interesting program. In this drama little Camille Arnold, the heroine and Dorothy Dalton, the hero, depicted the romance of the engaged couple from early school days through high school and college and the wedding day. Mrs. J. M. Stokes assisted with appropriate readings at proper intervals, and Miss Nellie Dugger sang, "O, Promise Me," and "I Love You Truly," during the miniature wedding with Gene Willis as the officiating clergyman.

From the dining table, a rose-covered radio broadcasted the latest news—the engagement—as the guests were served with dainty refreshments of pink and white angel food cake and cream. The color scheme was further seen in the chosen flowers, which were beautiful pink and white sweet peas. Plate favors were tiny golden ships, which each guest was invited to sail upon a magic pond with a wish for the happiness of this well-known and popular couple.

The guests present were Misses Pauline Hardesty, Thelma Killough, Nellie Dugger, Evelyn McDonald, Maxine Courtney, Hazel Morris and Loyce Clark, of Post, Dahlia Hemphill Stella Loyd, Virginia Cullum, Lillian Busher, Dorothy Nettleton, Helen Moore, Audie Terrell, Polly Porter, and Mesdames Potter, Rowe, Baze, Wiseman, Harrison, Courtney, Farquhar, Stokes, Wright, Duggan, Boone, McGavock, Rutledge, Joplin, Elms, Hemphill, Jones, Brittain, Harless, Street Arnold, Chesher, Spinks, and Bills, and the honoree, Miss Vivian Courtney.

WET—BUT IT BURNED!

Usually, when material is wet—thoroughly soaked—there is no need to worry about the possibility of fire. There's a "joker" in the pile though, when hay is the subject of the wetting!

A barn located in New Hampshire, during the flood in November, 1927, was particularly wet, being partially submerged. And it contained hay! The owner started to remove the hay when the water had subsided sufficiently, but spontaneous combustion beat him to it. Result—the barn burned to the ground.

Spontaneous combustion is perhaps the least understood of all causes of fire. That's probably the reason why it does so much damage (over $15,000,000 in 1926, according to figures computed by the National Board of Fire Underwriters).

Take your own home for instance. How about that cellar, that attic and that garage? Don't forget the clothes closets either! Remove any piles of rags, paper or rubbish. Such materials may be oily or wet without your knowledge. If so, look out! You may wake up in the middle of the night and wonder how you ever got into such a hot place.

Better look around now before any damage is done.

The marble of Brewster and Presidio counties is said to be of surpassing beauty but there is little production because of their distance from railroads.

TOO MANY UMPIRES

Political bureaucracy in the United States is showing a dangerous growth, according to Representative Chas. A. Eaton of New Jersey.

"It is idle to deny," says Mr. Eaton, "that in recent years in this country there has been a tremendous enlargement of government interference in the private liberties and lives of our citizens. The whole relation of the American citizen to his government has undergone and is undergoing a profound change."

"Political bureaucracy is growing like a weed. In every case it involves increased political personnel, increased expenditure, increased taxes and diminished initiative and opportunity for the individual."

Mr. Eaton maintains that under the American scheme, the government is merely the umpire and the people play the game. The people do not wish to see their umpire come down and take the bat.

Millions of Model T Fords are still in active service

FOR nearly twenty years, the Model T Ford led the motor industry and it still is used by more people than any other automobile. More than eight million Model T Fords are in active service today—an indication of their sturdy worth, reliability and economy.

Because of the tremendous investment which people have in these cars and because so many of them will be driven for two, three, and even five more years, the Ford Motor Company will continue to make replacement parts until, as Henry Ford himself says, "the last Model T is off the road."

For the Ford Motor Company has always believed that its full duty consists not only in making a good automobile at a low price, but also in keeping it running efficiently for you as long as possible at a minimum of expense.

No matter where you live, therefore, you can still buy Model T Ford parts with the same assurance as formerly, knowing that they will give you the kind of service you have a right to expect, and at the same time protect the money you have invested in your car.

All Ford replacement parts, as you may know, are made of the same materials and in the same way as those from which your car was originally assembled, and are low in price because of the established Ford policy.

So that you may get the greatest use from your Model T Ford over the longest period of time, we suggest that you take the car to the nearest Ford dealer and have him estimate on the cost of any replacement parts which may be necessary. You may find that a very small expenditure will maintain the value of your car and will be the means of giving you thousands of miles of additional service.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Out of thine own mouth will I judge thee.—Luke 19:22.
Enough words, little wisdom.—Salust.

IT'LL STOP NOW

Littlefield citizens who occasionally receive a package through the mail containing handkerchiefs, neckties, etc., from total strangers "on approval," with a choice of sending a money order or returning the goods, are about to find a haven of refuge. Congress has received complaints of such practice, and has turned the matter over to a special committee for the framing of a law that will stop it.

Under ordinary conditions a consumer can stay out of a store if he wants to, and he can also close his door in the face of a solicitor without violating any law. But he doesn't feel safe in refusing to accept a mail package addressed to him, even though he does not know what it contains. The result has been that dealers in cheap-john merchandise have taken advantage of it, and they fairly force their goods upon him, or get them into his hands before he knows what is going on.

It has been held that the recipient of such merchandise can legally use it without payment, or throw it in the ash can. But when he does he may be sure of getting a series of threatening letters. It is fear of such letters that prompts him to either buy or return the goods. Uncle Sam has plenty of evidence, and copies of the letters. And he is fixing to set his foot down hard on this kind of merchandising. He proposes to stop this thing of sending goods through his mails that have not been ordered, even though the shippers are expected to bob up with a still newer scheme by the time he has done so.

A tourist is a person who fares forth to see the country and does so by watching his time piece, his speedometer and a map.

KILLING TWO BIRDS

Using whitewash is still another way of killing two birds with one stone. You not only beautify and brighten whatever you apply whitewash to, whether it be fences, trees or outbuildings, but you lessen the dangers of contagious disease at the same time. Lime has come to be recognized as the greatest disinfectant for use around the house.

Spread on the yard it also feeds the soil and helps the grass to grow; but care should be taken to see that the quantity used is not too generous. It furnishes a protection from the weather for fences and buildings, and insects that feed upon wood steer clear of lime when it is applied in the form of whitewash.

But still another advantage not to be overlooked is its cost. Nothing in the way of paint or disinfectant can touch it for cheapness—and whitewash to, whether it be fences, trees or buildings. Let's use more of it around town by making a more attractive Littlefield. Let's make a healthier town—and whitewash will do both.

Even a lawyer doesn't know anything about the art of cross-examination until his wife finds a handful of hairpins in his pocket.

THE FIVE-DAY WEEK

Two day rest in every week for every workingman in America is not far away, if we are to believe such men as Henry Ford and John

J. Raskob, the latter a high official in General Motors. They foresee the day when machinery and the inventive genius of man will have so reduced the element of time that enough can be done in five days to supply the world with all its needs. And they are confident, according to interviews they are now giving out, that the five day week will become general in the next few years.

They say it will apply to workers in every line of industry, though they have a doubt that the rural resident will share in it so widely, since there will always be live stock to look after, insect pests to battle and sunny skies to be taken advantage of as nature sends them. They may be right; we don't pretend to say. But whatever comes we have an idea that it won't add to some people's happiness any, for we know quite a few who are not content with loafing seven days in a week.

What we need is a child labor law to keep them from working their parents to death.

QUITTING THE GAME

Word that Linbergh has decided to quit the air, desiring to escape the crowds and again become a private citizen, will probably strike most everyone around Littlefield as a sensible step.

He has been the best advertised and most popular man in the world—no one could want or ask for more than that. He has set the youth of the world a fine example in clean living, clear thinking and the value of doing one thing well. Some day the crowd will go chasing after other heroes. But that time seems to be too far away to give him the rest and privacy he now seeks and to which he is entitled. So he hopes to close his flying career and escape the mob while he can.

It appears a sensible thing and, considering what he has done for the world from a scientific and good-will standpoint, he certainly ought to be allowed to carry out his aims without a single protest from the outside.

The champion hog-caller of Alabama has been sent to jail for liquor selling. He was all right with pigs until he tackled the blind variety.

Now everybody shake hands with themselves for putting the college proposition over.

With a college located here, Littlefield should become a still more attractive point for another railroad to pass through.

Littlefield is going to have lots of visitors during the next 90 days. Let's see what a clean town we can make of it before they begin arriving in large numbers.

Everyone who attended the mass meeting at the Palace theatre is ready to agree that "Khaym" is some getter. He surely pulled the money out of us.

Paving of Main street will start within another 30 days, say City Commissioners. Another indication of Littlefield's forward stride toward larger and finer dimensions.

In the interest of good community health every household situated adjoining a sewer line should make immediate connections. No doubt about that.

It has been suggested that the eight or nine men who persist in voting against measures calculated by the rest of the Littlefield citizenry as of community benefit should either have a change of heart or one of residence. Such are not generally classed as the most desirable type. But really Littlefield should congratulate herself that she has so few of that kind.

LITTLE LEADERS

When to take 'em off is no longer a problem with the girls of Littlefield.

The Littlefield fellow who keeps his nose to the grindstone six days in the week may not be a hero, but he's a darned good husband and Dad.

The only thing more pleasant to a Littlefield woman than getting the hat she wants is getting the hat some other woman wants.

We're back to the season when the biggest fishing liar in Littlefield can't commence to equal the pictures in the seed catalogue.

Why is it that when you tell a Littlefield woman she is not looking well she will look triumphantly at her husband.

If a Littlefield woman finds out ten things her husband was keeping from her it is safe to bet that she guessed nine of them.

What has become of the old-fashioned Littlefield man who voted for the candidate that gave him a five-cent cigar?

When a Littlefield boy gets too old for his mother to wash him, his neck and ears never get a good washing until he falls in love.

Most Littlefield mothers call it the "Bad Place" when they are scolding the children, but they call it by an entirely different name when they're scolding father.

Charley Harless says he enjoys good singing over the radio but that he hates to run into the female who sounds as though she was hitting on only one tonsil.

Management Change

This announcement is to advise the people of Littlefield and surrounding community that we have purchased the Hardware Stock of the Lamb County Mercantile Co., and will continue to operate it at the same location.

The stock will be considerably enlarged and diversified, and your business patronage is earnestly solicited.

Call and see us—we would like to form your acquaintance. When in need of Shelf or Heavy Hardware, Stoves, etc., see our goods and get our prices before buying elsewhere.

revival effort, the construction of the first unit on a new church.
This building revival is the one in which we are now engaged. The opinion is practically unanimous among the church members visited so far that we must begin the construction of a basement within the next two months and with very few exceptions all have pledged their $30 per member necessary to pay for this unit. The building committee is unanimous that we pay as we go on the church basement which is to cost $8,000. With the slackening of farm work much hauling and labor has been promised toward the basement. The floor plans of the basement and also perspective of the completed building, drawn by G. S. Glenn, architect, may be seen at the church.

As the end of the school year approaches the Leagues are making a drive for new members. Every young person in the church and friend of the church is invited to come to the meetings each Sunday at 7:15. A party will be given before the close of school for the contestants. Perhaps this crusade with Christ will be the best revival of the three. Follow the ribbons to the League service.

MUSIC BOX GIRLS
 ORCHESTRA FEATURED
 AT CHAUTAUQUA

How many times when listening to some orchestra on your radio have you longed to see that orchestra, watch them, and enjoy their costumes and stunts?

A radio, excellent though it may be, can appeal only to the ear, while the desire to see and to watch still remains unsatisfied.

The Music Box Girls orchestra is a treat which Chautauqua will provide this year which will appeal to all senses. Five peppy, beautiful, talented girls who are not only instrumental musicians but can sing and dance as well.

Wendell Wise, the marimbaphone wizard and soloist, popularity is limited only by the number of towns in which he has played.

The costumes for this number are an added touch of artistry. One has no chance to become tired of the instrumental music since every member of the sextette is unusually versatile.

The company is headed by Wendell Wise. Margaret and Winifred Meer, sisters, are close harmony singers whose vocal numbers are always received with favor. A banjo team of Carolyn Thorp and Hazel Pearson, and a saxophone trio of Wendell Wise, Hazel Pearson and Winifred Meer add distinctive features to this program. Arlene Stuckman, the other member of the company, is not only a solo celloist, pianist and marimbaphone artist but can play almost any band instrument.

The program will include many unusual combination numbers by the whole company in popular, semi-classical and classical style. Added to this will be marimba, phone, cello and banjo solos, harmony singing and novelty numbers.

New Canvas Auditoriums This Season

There are to be new, waterproof, canvas auditoriums over the entire circuit this season for Chautauqua.

The circuit management plans every year to keep in step with the improvements made in producing and stage setting. More elaborate scenery is to be carried this year than ever before.

The tents were designed and made especially for the Associated Chautauquas by the Baker-Lockwood Company, the largest tent manufacturing company in the West. They have a specially planned dramatic end and proscenium which adds much to the attractiveness of the interior, and gives a regular stage arrangement for the presentation of programs.

All tents are equipped with beautiful new curtains and the effect is to make the auditorium a comfortable and beautiful place in which to meet and listen to Chautauqua treats.

Produce

Bring your produce to us, we never change management here. We always pay highest prices for produce, and are always glad to meet our old friends.

Folks who raise chickens, hogs, horses and cows must come to know that they require a balanced ration in order to do their best. Plants must have soup-liquified food—in order to thrive, and animals need well ground food to be able to digest and assimilate, thus growing big and fat.

And right here is where we shine. With our big grinder we properly prepare and mix you just the kinds and proportions of feed needed for any ration—and the cost is so little when compared with the large results. Just try it and be convinced.
