

Sputin' Off

Preacher... And A Point

BY BILL TURNER

R. RAYMOND BURNS, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, took mental note of the July 4th and, then started his Sunday sermon this way: "Greetings, all you timid souls who were too scared on the highway!"

Homecoming Full Of Surprises

BY the Sam Williams... wondered the same thing when they drove up Saturday about 1 p. m., home from Oklahoma. It came as a shock, said Betty, when she saw the sign. Sam took it more calmly. He said later: "I figured the girls were up to something." As they walked up the steps on the front porch, there was more to unnerve them. The mailbox was stuffed full, brimming over. And on the front door was a sign: "Closed." Betty became more uneasy. Sam grinned, but Betty figured he forced it. "What shook me up," said Sam, "was when I opened the front door."

It Seemed Like Real Thing

LIVING ROOM furniture... "Welcome home, Mr. and Mrs. Gulliver." KAREN, MARGO and Paula had watched the fun, hidden behind a door. "We were laughing so hard," said Karen, "I didn't hear what they said." The astonishment that showed on Sam and Betty's faces made up for any conversation the girls might have missed, said Karen. It was the giggling that finally gave the girls away.

Wasn't All On Sam And Betty

TO THESE shenanigans... He rushed in and asked Karen to go with him on an emergency house call. "Someone's had a heart attack," he said. Karen rushed out with him and got in a car. "Who is it?" she asked, the worry showing on her face. "I don't know," said the doctor, "but here's the address." Karen glanced down at it. It read 513 E. 9th. "That's..."

Cotton Blooms Seen In Area

First cotton blooms and the Fourth of July naturally go together, and they did just that at several farms in the Littlefield area Saturday. First report of a cotton bloom in the county came Saturday morning from E. O. Feagley, who farms 2 1/2 miles east of Littlefield on the Spade Highway. Later that day, there were reports of "first blooms" at the farms of A. F. Wedel and Clint Griffin east of here. Feagley found his first bloom in an irrigated...

Two Days Left To Vote Absentee On U. S. 84

22 Ballots Cast; Vote Is Tuesday

The "count down" has started on three U. S. Highway 84 right-of-way bond elections and time is running out for absentee balloting in the road district votes. Voters who will be kept away from the polls by illness or who will be on vacation have only Thursday and Friday in which to cast absentee votes. County Clerk Charles Jones said he will close the absentee voting at the courthouse here Friday at 5 p. m. Ballots received through the mails will be counted if they are postmarked prior to midnight Friday. With only two days left in the absentee vote period, 22 ballots had been cast through 10 a. m. Wednesday. Nineteen of those ballots had been cast in the road district 1A (Littlefield area) election. Two were in Amherst's district three and another had been voted in road district 4 (Sudan area). Election day is Tuesday. Polls will be open from 8 a. m. to 7 p. m. in each of the three districts. Littlefield district voters may cast ballot at any one of four polling places: Lumsden - Perkins Gin, Spade School, the Littlefield High School library or the courthouse. Amherst district voters will ballot at the American Legion Hall, while those in the Sudan district will vote at either the Sudan City Hall or Nickels gift in the Pleasant Valley area. The elections are for $239,000 in the Littlefield district; $39,500 in the Amherst district; and $65,000 in the Sudan area. These figures represent half the cost of right-of-way in each district. The state pays the other half, plus all costs of construction. Each district has a separate vote which requires a two-thirds majority. If the votes are approved, right-of-way funds would be provided for four-laning the highway across the entire county. County officials have announced that no tax increases will be necessary in either the Littlefield or Sudan districts if voters approve the elections. Taxes in the Amherst district would rise 7 1/2 per cent if the bonds are okayed.

Car Insurance Rates To Drop

Lamb County auto owners will pay an average of about 10 per cent less for their insurance after August 1, as private passenger automobile insurance rates take a general drop over the state. The reductions ordered by the State Board of Insurance are possible partly because the Board reduced the expense allowance for insurance companies, and partly because last year's drivers were a little more careful. The new rates will take effect on policies with inception dates on or after August 1. A typical rate is on a new Ford, Chevrolet or Plymouth, with no drivers under age 25 and with the car not used customarily to drive to and from work. Lamb County car owners now pay $63 for collision coverage ($50 deductible) and $56 for comprehensive, which includes almost every loss except collision. After August 1, the car owner's tab for these two coverages will be $55 and $54, respectively. But for the single man under age 25, the cost of insurance on the same type car is down a total of $16. Premiums are now $157 for collision and $56 for comprehensive. After August 1, the premiums will be $43 and $54, respectively. Rates for bodily injury and property damage liability in Lamb County are down, with a few exceptions. The auto with no drivers under 25 takes a $3 drop, from $35 to $32. The single man under 25 gets a big reduction, his rate dropping from $87 to $79. However, the rate of an auto owned by a person over 25, but with a son who is under 25 and...

Postal receipts in Littlefield for the first half of 1959 were 20 per cent ahead of a corresponding period last year. Postmaster Arbie Joplin announced this week. Paving Plan For Sunset Being Polled

City Secretary Joel Thomson said Tuesday 27 of the first 34 Sunset Avenue property owners to be contacted this week gave definite approval to a proposal to rebuild the street from Highway 34 to 1st Street. With about 10 property owners still to be contacted, Thomson said 27 of the owners said "yes," 4 said "maybe," and 3 "no." The city council proposed the project at its meeting last Thursday night. Engineer Ralph Douglas said rebuilding of the street and installation of curb and gutter could be done with the property owners paying $2 per foot for the improvements and the city paying the balance of $2 per foot, or a total cost to the city of $6,400. Thomson planned to contact the other 10 property owners during the week.

(Editor's Note - This column is written by a new author this week, in the absence of Wendell Tooley, who is away on vacation this week. Letand Boyd, Littlefield Press staffer since January, is handling the duty this week.)

When yours truly first joined the staff of the Littlefield Newspapers I said to Editor Bill Turner, "What this newspaper needs is a good column."

Lo and behold, it wasn't many weeks until Turner started his "Spoutin' Off." Then shortly thereafter Tooley added his "Town and Country."

After the two had their feet on the ground as far as column writing was concerned I said to Turner, "Awhile back I told you what this paper needed is a good column. Now we've got two columns, and I'll be dog-gone if we still don't need a good column."

After the appearance of this edition of "Boyd's Blast" I can imagine very vividly Turner's words of wisdom: "What this paper needs is ONE good column."

Incidentally, I'd like to pass on to readers of this newspaper a little personal opinion concerning Editor Turner for what ever they're worth.

Turner is tops when it comes to editing and writing for a newspaper. It is not only the clear, complete writing that he produces that qualifies him for such a statement, but also the exactness and fairness that he excels in. I am firmly convinced that he puts a lot of time and thought behind stories, whether the story is controversial or not. And such effort produces fairness.

Of course, there are various definitions for fairness. One of your best friends might think it unfair he is fined $30 and costs for doing 80 mph in a 50 mph zone, even though you got the same treatment when you got caught. It all depends on what side of the fence you are on, whether you think you are being fairly treated.

For instance, if you were a town big-wig, and you and another town big-wig went to fist city, you'd think it was nice and fair if charges of fighting were not pressed by law officials.

Again, if you happened to see a couple of common laborers swinging at each other in public you'd feel mighty certain that the law officials were slack on their job if they didn't run them in and make 'em pay for it.

This newspaper reported a couple of weeks ago that San Pat Vegetable Co. didn't plan to operate this year in Littlefield. The company's announcement came a little belated to be of help to farmers planning their year's operation.

However, that is not the point. The outstanding point of the announcement seems to be that in spite of the build-up that vegetable experts give this country, no

Bridwell's Pitching, Run Homer Pace Win

Bridwell's stout pitching some fireworks for Littlefield in the bottom of the fourth, driving a ball to the centerfield fence. Centerfielder Ron Bandy leaped and speared the would-be home run ball.

Lubbock's Mowery got a measure of revenge in the fifth, when he clouted a solo homer off Bridwell. That made it 2-1, Littlefield.

With two out in the bottom of the fifth, Pierce and Bridwell walked. Lubbock brought in a new hurler, Travis Thompson.

Rice smashed Rhompson's first offering to center, driving in Pierce. That made it 3-1, Littlefield, and wrapped up Littlefield's hitting attack for the night.

Lubbock picked up an unearned run in the top of the sixth on a hit batsman, a walk, and a Littlefield error.

Back-to-back singles by Doyle Harris and Mowery got Bridwell in hot water in the top of the seventh. Lubbock then worked a double steal to send Harris to third and Mowery to second.

With that situation pressing him, Bridwell bore down and struck out the next three batters, ending the game. In all the Littlefield hurler struck out 12 batsmen. Ten Littlefield batters went out on strikes.

Texans In Washington Seven Texans Honorary Members Of Commission Honoring Lincoln

By TEX EASLEY AP Special Service

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Seven Texans have been made honorary members of the Lincoln Sesquicentennial Commission — a distinction accorded only some 75 individuals throughout the entire nation.

Headed by Sen. John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky.), the commission elected their honorary colleagues in recognition of their standing as authors, students and collectors of items pertaining to the assassination of 16th President, even Illinois, the Land of Lincoln, has only eight honorary members.

One of the Texans is a woman, Mrs. Fancher Archer of Austin, who is distantly related to the Great Emancipator. Dr. J. J. Crum, retired Amarillo physician and another of the seven, is a third cousin of Lincoln.

The remaining five are Buck Hood, managing editor of the Austin American Statesman; Judge E. H. Swain (cq), Eden; John Rosenfield, Dallas; Ralph W. Steen, Nacogdoches, and Lincoln Borglum of Beeville, whose father did the great head sculpture of Lincoln which has been in the Capitol Rotunda for 50 years.

All of the Texans were nominated by Sen. Ralph Yarborough (D-Tex) who is one of the regular members of the Commission and a long-time Lincoln scholar himself.

Two of the group attended the dinner held at Washington's Cosmos Club — an exclusive organization of engineers and scientists — for formal designation as honorary members of the commission. They were Editor Hood, who was reared in Fort Worth, and Judge Swain. The Lincoln Sesquicentennial commission, with headquarters in the National Archives Building, was created by Congress to promote and aid in the promotion of observances of the birth of Lincoln 150 years ago.

While he was in Washington, Hood also conferred with Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson and Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson, and other fellow Texans. At one time he had helped the Treasury in the sale of war bonds, handling promotion of drives.

The Austin newspaperman also discussed the exhibitions to be held in Texas later this year of the art and literary works of the famous World War I and II Marine Col. John Thoman.

The Texas Heritage Foundation is sponsoring the exhibitions of Thoman, who was born in Huntsville, Tex., in 1893. He died in 1944 at a Marine base in Coronado, Calif., after returning from active duty in the Pacific. Thoman's books on the Civil War period include "Gone to Texas" and "Lone Star Preacher."

Around the Capital:

Publisher Riley Cross of the Denton Record-Chronicle made a fast trip to Washington to see what could be done when plans for the proposed $2,700,000 Civil Defense bomb shelter at Denton ran into trouble.

The Administration had recommended the shelter at Denton, one of the eight regional centers for the Office of Civil Defense Mobilization. It would serve as a model for others and would be a structure 140 by 160 feet, providing 30 pounds per square inch blast protection, and a filter system against radioactive particles and biological and chemical agents.

The upper level would contain an operations room, communications center and decontamination chamber, the lower level emergency sleeping areas, mechanical equipment and office space. Some of the shelter ample for 200 employees for day-to-day work and 500 in an emergency, would be above ground.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough (D-Tex) missed speech-making in Texas this July 4 for the first time since returning from World War II duty in 1946. The reason: His wife had just returned home from a local hospital where she had undergone an operation for removal of gall stones.

PONY Stars Fall, 11-10, In Tournament

A wild-and-wooly seventh inning which saw Littlefield's PONY League all-stars rally for five runs wasn't enough Saturday as a Eunice, N.M., team roared from behind to take a 11-10 victory. The loss knocked the Littlefield stars of the Lubbock Teen-Age Tournament, after Littlefield had won its first two games. Eunice later was defeated in the finals of the tourney. Littlefield went ahead, 10-8, in the top of the seventh after trailing since the fourth inning. Eunice used a walk, an error and a single to score its first run in the bottom of the seventh. Then a Eunice runner broke for home and Littlefield Catcher Dale Dent took a throw and made the tag, believing he had the runner out. The umpire ruled it safe, however, and Dent threw back toward the mound. As he did, another Eunice runner broke for home with the winning run. Tony Estrada, Littlefield's third pitcher of the game, took the loss. Littlefield took the lead early in the game with two runs in the first frame and three in the second. A two-run homer by Gary Schovajsa produced the first two markers. Later in the inning, Estrada singled, but was tagged out before Roger Morris clouted a triple. The three runs for Littlefield in the second frame came on three Eunice errors and a double by Joe Bellar. Eunice racked up four runs in the fourth inning to take a 6-5 lead. Littlefield, meanwhile, went hitless from the third through the fifth. In the sixth, Jerry Jones singled, but Littlefield was unable to score. Eunice took an 8-5 lead in the sixth, using a pair of homers for two runs. Then came Littlefield's five-run rally in the seventh. With Bellar on first, Ray Roberts slammed a homer for the first two markers, making it 8-7, Eunice. Jerry McCain, pinch-hitting for Schovajsa, then drilled a single. Estrada followed with a one-bagger. Then Morris cracked a homer that put Littlefield in the lead at 10-8. Dent later singled, but Eunice quelled the rally without another run scoring. Then came the three-run Eunice rally that wrapped up the ball game.

ONE OF THE 7 BIG BESTS CHEVROLET GIVES YOU OVER ANY CAR IN ITS FIELD

Take it, not from us, but from official results of this year's Mobilgas Economy Run: Chevy's pennypinching 6 delivers the most miles per gallon in its field. For a pair of these Chevrolet sixes with Powerglide walked away with the first two places in their class, getting the best mpg figure—a whopping 22.38—of any full-size car. And here are more expert, impartial opinions and on-the-record facts backing us up on Chevy's other six bests:

- BEST BRAKES
In direct competitive tests of repeated stops from highway speeds, conducted by NASCAR, Chevrolet out-stopped both of the other leading low-priced cars—and why not? Chevy brakes are far larger, built with bonded linings, to help lengthen brake life by as much as 66%.
- BEST ROOM
Official dimensions reported to A.M.A.† make this clear. For example, Chevy front seat hip room is up to 5.9 inches wider than comparable cars.
- BEST ENGINE
Every motor magazine has given Chevrolet's standard and Corvette V8's unstinted praise. As SPORTS CARS ILLUSTRATED puts it: "Indeed this device is surely the most wonderfully responsive engine available today at any price."
- BEST RIDE
MOTOR TREND magazine calls Chevy "... the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class." You'll be able to tell this yourself, instantly. And your Chevrolet dealer can tell you about a long list of other advantages besides these 7 big ones!

Read, Remember And Buy

A recent nationwide survey shows that more than three-quarters of the nation's retailers expect their summer business to exceed last year's, Editor & Publisher reports. Only 20% anticipate no change, and a mere 2% look for a decline.

It will take a lot of good advertising to bring the expected results about. And it's significant that newspapers will continue to be the retailers' foremost advertising medium. The survey finds that 72% of the stores surveyed plan to invest 80% or more of their summer advertising spending in the paper. And 57% will allocate at least nine-tenths of their ad budgets to the papers.

All advertising media are in tough competition these days, with newspapers, magazines, TV, radio, and direct mail scrapping for a larger share of the ad dollar. But newspapers, despite the new media, hold their own—simply because newspaper ads get results. People read, remember and buy.

If You're Wondering

A special factual study on oil well drilling costs has just been issued by a group of industry associations—and it gives dramatic testimony to the huge risks U. S. oil men are taking in their constant search for new sources and reserves of oil.

The study is based on 1955 and 1956 data—the most recent available. Some findings: in those two years, of this, more than $1.6 billion went down the drain in the form of dry and worthless holes in the ground.

The average cost per well went up from $46,500 in 1955, to $50,200 in 1956.

Drilling costs skyrocketed as depths increased. For example, wells over 15,000 feet ran nearly 29 times more than those in relatively shallow areas of 2,500 to 3,750 feet.

Costs of offshore wells in the Gulf of Mexico averaged almost nine times more than those on dry land.

If anyone wonders why oil producers are given a 27 1/2% depletion allowance, to help compensate for the enormous risks involved in looking for new wells to replace those that wear out, here's their answer. The risk incentive that allowance provides is absolutely essential to oil exploration.

Grassroots Opinion

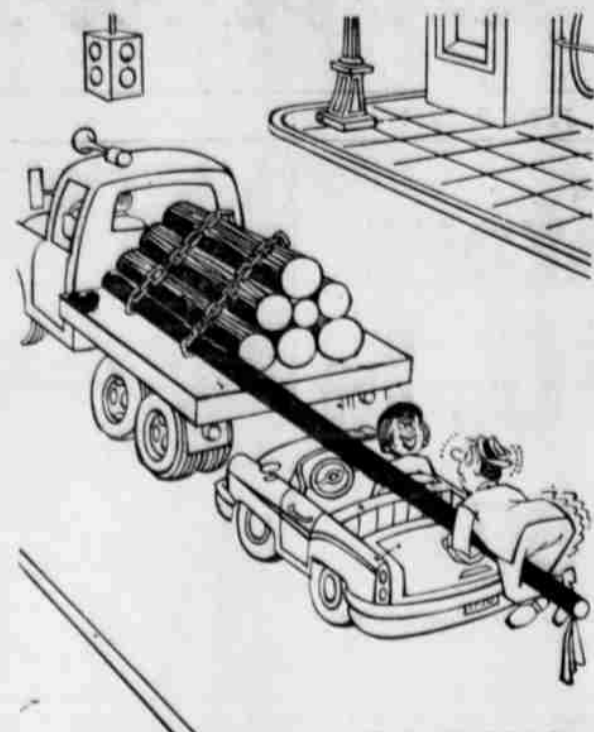

ITALY, TEXAS, NEWS-HERALD: "Our financial problem is not something that developed overnight. It has been in the making ever since the national government began toying with the Marxist theory of unequal taxation—soaking the rich to pay for government. Such a theory worked as long as government costs were reasonable and restricted to governmental functions. But as the Marxism spread and government took on more and more of the responsibility of the individual to provide for himself, the cost of government became more than the rich alone could pay for. . . . Our socialistic chickens are coming home to roost. . . ."

"On exhibit at the joint meetings of the American Physical Society and the American Association of Physics Teachers in New York . . . are Russian microscopes, projectors, electronic equipment and other apparatus for the study of physics, and which are offered to American school people at prices that will be temptingly low to budget-conscious buyers. . . . It is explained that the low prices are possible because this equipment is mass-produced. Don't you believe it. What the Russians know about mass production they learned from us. STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

By VERN SANFORD, Texas Press Association. AUSTIN, Tex.—About the only cheerful remark heard around Texas Legislative halls of late is, "This how bad it would be if it weren't air conditioned!" House and Senate chambers are cooled this year for the first time, though most of the rest of the Capitol is not as yet.

Many remember summer sessions in pre-air conditioned days. Scorching extraordinary was the one in 1949 which ran to July 6. Both fell by the wayside in one long regular session in Texas history.

Lawmakers and reporters complained that the huge granite blocks in the Capitol walls collected heat like a Dutch oven. Coat and tie rules in the legislative chambers added to the misery. Some observers said that the 1949 Legislature (which also had a tax problem) didn't really quit. It just sort of melted down. A special session was called the next winter to clear up money problems.

For all its comforts, air conditioning hasn't taken the sweat out of passing a tax bill. Both House and Senate have passed tax bills, and a new conference committee was put to work to try to piece them together. But the floor action preceding passage gave no indication that any of the conflicting groups is ready to give an inch.

House membership is split three ways into (1) those who don't want the majority of new taxes to fall on business, (2) those who don't want a majority to be sales taxes, and (3) those who apparently do not want any new taxes.

Each of the first two groups has been able to defeat the other's proposals with the help of the "no-taxers." Hence, despite public impatience and their own weariness, lawmakers have been ensnared in a one-step-forward-and-two-backward pattern. SOMETHING OLD, — SOMETHING NEW—Given to the conference committee on taxes were a new bob-tailed bill from the House and an old, nearly full-size bill from the Senate.

House bill would raise about bill does not try to define boundary between state and private land, but simply affirms the public's right to come and go from state beaches by way of roads. FEE BILL, ADDED TO CALL—A bill to let state colleges charge a $30 a semester activity fee got a new lease on life when Gov. Price Daniel submitted it to the Legislature.

Bill had been introduced twice, but fizzled out in the Senate when Sen. Henry Gonzalez challenged it on two points: (1) it was not "within the governor's call" for the session and (2) in order to be considered "within the call," it would have to be regarded as a revenue-raising measure which must originate in the House.

Governor Daniel's action changed this, and the Senate went back to work on the bill. A similar bill was passed by the House last session.

NO DEADLOCK HERE—Easiest agreement of the session was on a bill appropriating money to pay legislative expenses.

Both House and Senate gave final passage to a bill transferring $400,000 from the cigarette tax fund to pay costs of the second special session.

This brings legislative expenses thus far to about $2,700,000. LAND SALE APPROVED—House passed a bill that would allow the state to sell a tract of about 40 acres just north of the State Hospital in Austin.

State Hospital Board has declared the system does not need the land. Austin city officials would like to see it privately owned so property taxes could be collected on it. Location is such that it could be used for a shopping center.

Bill sets the minimum price at $1,500,000.

TEC TO MOVE—Texas Employment Commission will be the first state agency to move into one of the new buildings being built north of the Capitol.

Beginning July 16, TEC will cart some 686 employees and 11,000 items of furniture and equipment from 11 rented buildings to its new headquarters.

Operation is to continue around the clock and be complete on July 17, but delay is expected to be made up by end of the next week.

Sandhills Philosopher USDA Confirms His Idea On Labor-Saving Devices

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm discusses work this week, which is about like a bankrupt talking about finance.

Dear editor: I have long contended that the trouble with labor-saving devices is they don't save labor, they increase it, and I am now happy to have this opinion confirmed by the United States Department of Agriculture.

According to an article I ran across in a newspaper yesterday afternoon I was reading to get my mind off the noise of droning tractors running on my neighbors' farms—personally I don't really mind listening to the tractors, it's the effect they have on my wife that bothers me, she hears the neighbors' tractors running and sees mine standing at the turnrow where I left it week before last and the consequent noise she makes is a nuisance—at any rate, according to this article, in spite of all the labor-saving devices which have been invented and sold to farmers, the average length of the farm workday has not shortened much. It's still better than a ten and a half hours a day, the Department of Agriculture reported.

This bears out what I've been saying all along. When a man switches from a two-row tractor to a four-row tractor, you'd think he'd do the same amount of plowing in the same old time, ten or eleven hours a day. He finishes the day just as tired as he did when he had two-row equipment, and if you call this saving labor, you've got a different definition of the word than I have. The reason he does this, he has to plow twice as much to pay for the new equipment. Then on top of this, since he's working twice as much land as before, he produces twice as much, which brings on twice as much surplus, which lowers the price, which causes him to come out about where he was when he had two-row equipment. And the only answer most of us can find to this is to aim at six-row equipment and work three times as much land.

It's the same thing in other lines. An electric typewriter may enable a secretary to type twice as fast, so what happens? She gets twice as many letters to handle. A bookkeeper with an automatic posting machine just takes on four times as many accounts as he had when he was doing it with pen and ink.

Most labor-saving devices, as far as I can tell, are actually labor-creating devices. I guess there's some satisfaction in finishing a week of eleven-hour days and looking back and saying, well, I've plowed as much this week as I used to plow in a month, but you've got to look mighty hard to find it.

Personally, I've never had to look to a machine to save labor for me. Those things will trap you. The way to save labor is to sit down and cool off. You wait for a machine to do it for you and you'll never get it done.

Yours faithfully, J. A.

HOW HIGH IS YOUR STANDARD OF LIVING?

Can you guess how many ways you put electricity to work?

One good measure of your standard of living is the number of ways electricity is working for you. The more things you let it do, the more likely you are to live well and comfortably and get the most out of life.

Many people don't realize how many different jobs electricity does for them—all over the house. Do you?

Make a guess—how many ways do you put electricity to work? You can check your guess against the list below to figure how many appliances you really have. If you guess within 5 of the actual total, you're very observant.

What's more, you have a good measure of what an outstanding value you get in your low-price electric service.

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas
A public service feature of The State Bar of Texas

What will happen if you should die without executing a legal and proper will? Who will inherit your property? Your husband, wife, mother, father, children, your wife's relatives? The best way you can say who will have it is to provide a will which will protect your rightful beneficiaries and dispose of your property in accordance with your wishes.

When a deceased has no will, or dies "intestate" as the law calls it, the property of that person is distributed according to a detailed formula fixed by law. In some cases this may be the way you yourself would divide it—but in many cases it is not.

The provisions of the law concerning the distribution of the property of a person who dies without a will are rather complicated, and all of the possibilities cannot be covered by a general statement.

There are different rules for real estate and for personal property, for community property and for separate property, for homestead property, and for all of the many possible combinations of surviving relatives. Each situation must be carefully studied to determine the correct distribution of the property.

For example, here is a general idea of how the community property which you and your spouse have accumulated will be divided if you do not make a will prior to your death.

If your husband or wife survives and there are no children, the surviving spouse receives all of the property.

If, in addition, there are surviving children or descendants of deceased children, they would divide one-half of the property, while the surviving spouse would receive the other one-half.

Of course, grandchildren do not share in the estate unless their parent who would inherit is deceased. And when descendants of previously deceased children do inherit, they receive only the portion they divide the entire community estate between them.

Mustangers Who Caught Horses

For Living In 1850's Were Rugged
 ARANSAS PASS, (AP) - The mustangers who made their living by catching wild horses were a rugged breed. They reached their peak in the 1850's when vast herds roamed the Texas prairies. Sometimes they roped a lot of things besides mustangs, including mountain lions, javelinas and wild turkeys.
 Judge J. W. Moses the first Aransas County judge, was one of the wild horse catchers before he was admitted to the bar.
 In later years, after he moved to San Diego, he used to reminisce about mustanging.
 "Boys started young in those days," he said, "and I remember a couple of Judge Robert Love's youngsters that I saw one day—one about five and the other about seven—and a lot of other small fry on the Judge's Nueces ranch."
 "They were rounding up all the chickens they could find. Two or three of the boys would act as herders and the rest of the gang, taking stands behind bushes, would rope the chickens as they ran by."
 "Every rancher's child began to throw a rope almost as soon as they could toddle—boys and girls alike although of course the girls soon quit. They practiced on everything: chickens, goats, calves, pigs, dogs, cats and anything else small enough for them to rope."
 In those days wild turkeys venturing out of the brush along the watercourses were frequently prey for the cowboys and musta ngers.
 When a fat gobbler was spotted on the prairie the rider would get between him and the brush and kill and sons.

Project To Cut Deaths On Roads Under Construction Is Planned

Three departments of the Texas state government and highway contractors have implemented a new program designed to reduce traffic deaths and injuries on highway maintenance and construction projects in Texas.

One of the first pre-construction conferences of its kind was conducted at Taylor, Tuesday between officials of the Texas Highway Department, the Department of Public Safety and highway contractors on an eight-mile stretch of State Highway 85 from Taylor to Granger, soon to be started.

Presiding at the conference was Highway Department Senior Resident Engineer Frank Farris of Taylor. Joining in the meeting were Lt. Bill Butler, Sgt. F. E. Bond and Safety Officer Bill Meredith of the Department of Public Safety's district office at Austin, in which the Taylor project is located, and E. W. Giesen

LIPSTICK LOGIC

Getting ready for a trip, at our house, is usually pretty simple. A few days before the take-off (if we think of it, and have the time) we make a quick inventory of suits and dresses. If something absolutely has to be cleaned we run by the tailor shop. Otherwise, we throw things into bags just before train or plane time, usually forgetting a hairbrush, toothpaste or black shoes. But once en route, we develop a make-it-do philosophy that nothing disturbs.

This summer it's different. With that rare commodity, time, on our hands, we're doing it up right. For days now we've been shortening skirts, matching gloves to purses, getting shoes shined, luggage repaired. Our hair has a new permanent, and on the day of departure, we'll get shampooed, manicured and what not. This is going to be the real thing!

The spouse, after 30 years, has come to accept the old order and maybe even like it. He eyes all this preparation with a mixture of bewilderment and disgust: "Looks like gettin' ready is more important than the trip," he grumbles as he comes in from work to find us still bent over a hot hemline with scissors and needle.

From the feminine viewpoint, however, his own preparations are just as foolish. Hours of back-breaking work have gone into planting and weeding that no one but the birds will be here to enjoy. His yard is polished as though for a party. "The day before we leave," he confides, "I'll give the whole place a deep watering." Then he sighs, "I'll sure run down while we're gone!"

Whether it's geraniums or girdles that cause the excitement, vacations are great to get ready for. With time to stew pleasantly over a departure, the gettin' ready is indeed about as much fun as the trip.

Safety have issued instructions to their various area representatives that these conferences are to be held all over Texas just before work starts on any highway project which will disrupt or change normal traffic patterns. In addition to the three involved units, press representatives and local officers are invited to attend.

The conferences are designed to provide cooperation between the highway department, law enforcement agencies, the contractors and the motoring public during construction periods.

Similar conferences held during the past few days at Perryton, Sterling City, and Taylor got the new program under way. It originated with a request from the Highway-Heavy Branch of the Associated General Contractors of Texas several weeks ago, and resulted in formation of the Highway Construction Traffic Safety Committee, headed by Brad H. Smith, director of the Governor's Highway Safety Commission.

At its first meeting, Governor Price Daniel, State Highway Engineer DeWitt C. Greer, Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., Director of the Department of Public Safety, and E. B. Cape of Houston, President of the Highway-Heavy Branch of AGC, were in attendance, along with committee members. A series of meetings resulted in agreement on the agenda for the pre-construction meetings and arrangements for cooperation between the agencies involved.

Smith said the mounting death toll on highway projects during recent years resulted in the committee's organization. He said 14 persons were killed in 1955 traffic on such projects, 28 died in 1956, 56 in 1957 and 70 in 1958.

About Your Health

Nothing can live without food, suitable temperature and an appropriate amount of moisture. This applies to man, animals, fish, and plants.

It also applies to bacteria! The range of needs for bacteria is slim, but when they are present, bacteria can be very prolific, multiplying themselves by the millions in mere minutes.

That is why food poisoning is so much more common in warm weather—and why you need to be especially careful now about preparing food and storing it.

The main rule to remember is that bacteria which are apt to cause food poisoning thrive best in lukewarm foods.

Thus if you make it a hard-fast habit to keep hot foods hot and cold foods cold, the chances of bacteria getting a foothold are slim.

However, there are certain foods that have proven to be more susceptible to bacteria's growth and the resulting food poisoning conditions.

For instance, egg and milk mixtures, including custards and meats, either in salads or sandwiches, and potato salad—one of the popular picnic foods—are often quickly suspected when food infections occur in summer.

Making sandwiches and wrapping them in wax paper to let stand for hours before eating is just asking for trouble. So keep them well refrigerated.

Potato salad can give lots of trouble. The best way to avoid it is to chill all the ingredients before mixing, and then store the salad in SHALLOW containers in the refrigerator. Deep bowls retain the room temperatures in the center portions.

Everyone loves a picnic. Enjoy them, but a portable ice box and a thermos bottle are musts if you are going to minimize the chance of summer food poisonings.

(This is a weekly feature of the Public Health Education Division of the Texas State Department of Health.)

THIS WEEK

In Washington

WITH CLINTON DAVIDSON

The collapse of efforts to adopt new wheat legislation this year is overshadowed by an increasing possibility that the end is nearing for all farm price support and production control laws.

A majority of Congress has been reluctant to move toward repeal of those laws, though President Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Benson argue that farmers and the nation would be better off without them.

The wheat bill finally sent to the White House, but vetoed, called for both higher price supports and more stringent production controls. Mr. Benson told Congress it was "moving in the wrong direction."

"The nationwide cry among farmers," he said in a strongly worded statement opposing the wheat bill, "is for more freedom." Taxpayers, he said, want to get farmers off their back.

Fiscal Irresponsibility
"At a time when the nation is shocked with the expensive wheat program," Benson said, "the Congress considers a bill that is even more costly. Taxpayers on the farm and in the villages and cities have a right to object to such fiscal irresponsibility."

Backers of the wheat bill, on the other hand, argued that the 25 per cent cut in acreage allotments if proposed would have reduced production by 300 million bushels and lowered costs by $270 million dollars a year.

The most significant thing about the wheat bill debate was the clear indication that the tide of congressional and perhaps public opinion is turning against farm programs that add billions of dollars to government budgets each year.

Defenders of the programs contend that abandonment of them would bankrupt a majority of farmers and drag the nation down into another depression comparable to that of 1929-33. Those who hold this view are, however, a slim majority in Congress.

Gloom & Doom
There is good reason for the gloom that has spread from wheat growers to the growers of corn, cotton, rice, tobacco and peanuts, the other crops which have both production controls and minimum price supports set by Congress.

The Commodity Credit Corporation owns or has loans on nearly $9 billion worth of those six basic commodities. Storage costs alone on those surpluses run to almost a billion dollars a year.

It was the so-called "city vote" on Congress that turned the tide against the wheat bill raising price supporters from 75 per cent to 90 per cent of parity. Their contention was that it would both raise the price of bread and increase price support costs.

Seven times this year President Eisenhower asked Congress to pass a wheat bill that would let prices in the open market determine how much of the grain farmers grow. Seven times Congress said it would not agree to the big reduction in growers' income that would result from cut-throat pricing.

Sooner rather than later farmers, consumers, Congress and the Administration must come to the inescapable conclusion that present farm programs are not worth what they are costing. Continuing them as they are would be as foolish as complete repeal would be tragic for both farmers and consumers.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hendrick, Sharon and Jerry spent Sunday near Portales, N.M. with Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Black and Sheila.
