Eating High On The Lamb

WHITHARRAL -- Clifford Throckmorton, who has 250 registered Hampshire sheep is pioneering the eating of mutton in a unique way.

For the third consecutive year, the Throckmorton family has hosted a mutton barbecue at their home for the members of the Whitharral Lions Club, their families and special guests.

This year Throckmorton barbecued three lambs for 200 guests.

In addition to introducing mutton to some who wouldn't have the opportunity to eat it otherwise, this mutton feast also has another beneficial aspect. The lambs that are barbecued are bought at top prices at the Hockley Co. Stock Show sale auction from members of the Whitharral Future Farmers of America and the 4-H Club members.

Members of the Whitharral Lions Club solicit funds from area farmers, merchants and individuals and send representatives from the club to the sale to bid on the animals. The premium prices paid for the animals encourages the Whitharral youths in their livestock projects.

Throckmorton has been raising sheep for four years. He became interested when his son Glenn got in the registered Hampshire program as his FFA project. From 40 lambs four years ago, they have grown into Club animals sold by Throckmorton have placed in the upper brackets of every show entered. This year animals from his stock took first place at the Levelland and Muleshoe shows; one placed third in the N. M. State Fair; and Tommy Lewis showed the grand champion at the South Plains Fat Stock Show at Lubbock.

Throckmorton has exhibited in only one open show and won the grand champion with his ewe at the San Antonio Livestock exposition.

Girlstown Needs Clothes

Girlstown, U.S.A. near Whiteface, is in need of seasonal clothing and other supplies for the 68 residents there, according to Mrs. I. D. Onstead.

She asked that area residents who are cleaning out their closets and getting spring clothes ready, to bring any unneeded clothing by Onstead's Furniture. Clothing will be delivered to Girlstown.

Mrs. Onstead said that the home for deserving girls, who are "homeless through misfortune," is always in need of many items.

Those who wish to give clothing and other items may bring them by the store at any time. These may be boxed with the name of the donor on the box or brought in on hangers.

Other needs of the home includes towels, sheets and pillow cases, bedspreads, blankets, wash clothes, material, scissors and thread, bath sets, throw rugs, clothes hangers, medical supplies including aspirin, gauze, adhesive tape, etc., cosmetics and folding

FREEDOM THRIVES HERE!

Littlefield To Host 2T2 Lions

Littlefield has won its bid as host city for the Lions Club 2T2 convention next spring, as a result of its belief in free some-last year at Lubbock.

The announcement that Littlefield would be the host next year was made at the banquet honoring the district governor at Lamesa Saturday night.

It will be a two-day affair and will bring approximately 1,000 persons into town for the many varied activities, including the crowning of a new queen for the district.

Don A very, inadvertently, deserves much creditforbringing the convention to Littlefield.

Last year Avery proposed that the next convention be held here. With enthusiasm about the new face-lifting Littlefield had just completed downtown, he made an eloquent speech, telling how Littlefield had accomplished so much without governmental aid. He also tied this in with our love of free-

Call Date Is April 25 A late call has caught Littlefield area bankers with their deposits down.

Deposits in the six Lamb County banks and the Citizens State Bank at Anton in the Littlefield area show a drop of $2,835,433,60, as compared to the same quarter last year, Several factors enter into this decline, however. A major rea-son for the slump is the 20-day difference in the call date. The later call date this year allowed a large percentage of income tax checks to be returned and be deducted from bank deposits.

County deposits for the first quarter of 1967, with the call date of April 25, were $33,-974,269,39, well below the $36,-809,703.00 area total April 5, 1966, the date of the call last

Quarterly calls seldom coincide datewise, but the 20-day later call makes legitimate comparisons rather meaningless.

Of the seven banks in the trade area, only the Citizens State Bank at Earth showed an increase of deposits over the first quarter of 1966. The Earth bank is up $248,500.00. A number of new accounts was the reason given for the increase. Littlefield Savings and Loan also showed an increase in deposits for the first quarter of 1967. Total deposits on April 30 were $11,273,704, compared to $10,160,075 for the same time in 1966, showing an increase of $1,113,629.

Bankers cited several reasons for the lag in deposits, all centering around the 20-day lag in the call date.

A major factor is that farmers who have previously carried over part of their crop in-come each calendar year were forced to report all crop layout payments on their 1966 return. increasing their tax liability for the past year.

Because of the poor crops in the area, there were virtually no holdover sales in cotton, a practice common in this area.

Another factor involved is the fact that much of the area's income tax debt had not been paid when the April 5, 1966, call was made, while most of it had been paid when the April 25, 1967, call was issued.

The later call date also allowed more money to be put to work in farming operations. An esti-mate of as high as a 50 per cent total cost of area crops had been spent in preparing land for planting. Included in this cost is all of the pre-irrigation and a higher than ever use of fertilizers and pre-emergence chemical weed control.

AMY'S ADLIBS

Tennis?

By Amy Turner

THE MOST fateful words I have heard recently were spoken to me just after a Sunday lunch, when The Publisher pushed back his chair from the table and said;

"Get your duds on. We're going to play tennis,"

After a panicky moment of wondering what in the world I could get into (I'm still thinking about that diet), it sounded like a pretty good

Of course, I hadn't played tennis in nearly 20 years, but there was a time when I enjoyed

So, I put my "duds" on and strode off to the tennis court feeling very youthful, which I am no longer, and very athletic, which I never was, but, then time has a way of altering

I grasped my racket and basked in the mental picture of young Amy, who, believe it or not, was slim, agile and could move like

It only took about two minutes on the court to displace that glad memory. I now had an all too clear picture of middle-aged Amy, overweight, huffing and puffing and about as fast as that famous tortoise.

THE SITUATION became even clearer the next morning when I awoke to a symphony of screaming muscles playing the final stanza of the last march.

After ascertaining that I had not died during the night and taken the wrong road, I turned my head (painfully) and caught a malicious gleam in The Publisher's eye, That settled

If this was a symphony, I was the conductor and those two writhing things I used to call legs were going over the side of the bed, out of the room and into the kitchen ... or so

So I jumped gaily out of the bed and ran lightly around the corner into the hall (out of sight), where I fell against the wall and silently screamed bloody murder. I expected some comments at breakfast but all was silent. Still, it was sort of like electricity and you know it's there even if you can't see it. So, I braced myself.

I looked longingly at the front section of

It is very easy for us to put off things that should be done now. This inclination to procrastinate can be a cause of great loss to us. It may mean the inability to accept a good opportunity, an opportunity for which we should have been prepared. We intended to prepare, but just kept putting it off. Procrastination prevents our doing some of the important things. It paralyzes us. We don't express our appreciation to loved ones and friends. Yes, we intend to do so, but we don't do it now. We are going to do this later, but, for most of us, later never comes. We are going to improve ourselves, but we don't,

We are going to make our lives right with God, but never seem to get around to doing

There is a strong tendency toward post-poning everything we can. Whether natural or acquired, this is a general practice, and is present, to some degree, in most people.

In its workings, this is a loss none of us can afford. It is a loss that everyone of us can eliminate, and, if eliminated, the change would be for our good. Tillotson said, "To be always intending to live a new life, but never to find time to set about it; this is as if a man should put off eating and drinking and sleeping from one day and night to another, till he is straved and destroyed." In order to overcome the paralyzing influence of procrastination, we must be diligent in maintaining the right attitudes toward our time, our obli-

In procrastination, we are being unusually presumptuous. We don't have any assurance of more time, or of other opportunities. Now is the proper time for doing whatever we are able to do, unless there are honest and necessary reasons for delaying our action. All of us have heard all of our lives that "procrastination is the thief of time". Our parents taught this to us, and our teachers taught it, too. Now, most of us know it to be true because the thief has already taken more than we could spare. We would be wise to heed the Biblical injunction - "Make the most of your time, because the days are evil." We will also be wise to make the most of our es who often referred to his assignments, his other obligations and opportunities with the statement, "Never do today what you can put off until tomorrow." Of course, this is a foolish and almost tragic attitude. There is a wise and meaningful proverb that we should respect

- "Never put off until tomorrow what you can do today." Of course, the application of this guideline must be controlled by wisdom and discernment. Nevertheless, it is important to our well being that we realize how dangerous and destructive procrastination can be.

Hesold said, "The man who procrastinates not do everything at this moment; however, we must be busy doing all we can to make the best use of this day. Let us write the letter we have been postponing, make the telepohone call that should have been made several days ago, speak the words of gratitude and love the paper, which The Publisher had dropped to the floor but it may as well have been on the moon. I wasn't about to try to pick it up . . . not til I was alone, anyway.

Then, my darling son kindly said: "Would you like to have the paper, Mom?" With relief, I said that I would and held out my hand. Then, it came, He reached out one toe and gently kicked the paper to the foot

I looked at it with my mouth open and suddenly the whole thing just infuriated me and

"Mind your manners, boy! Don't you know better than to kick a paper at someone? After the chorus of laughter, which I did not join, I casually remarked; "Better watch out for the eggs this morn-ing. I seasoned them with arsenic."

Of course, no one believed me but I noticed there was quite a lot of eggs left and it's pretty unusual for anything to be left at our table. I saw the whole miserable crowd out the front door, still laughing, and, I hoped, good and hungry.

SOMETIMES 1 think The Publisher must have a cruel streak somewhere, since, that afternoon, here he came with his "let's go play tennis, bit again.

Either that or he's just being nice and thinks I'm getting a wee bit on the heavy side.

The next morning, however, I happened to catch him in front of the window, grimacing and going through some pretty funny gyrations, shrugging his shoulders around.

Of course, he wasn't sore. Heavens, no, he told me, as he expounded on the benefits of fresh air and exercise and went into a complicated bit of flinging his arms wildly

But, he didn't fool me. I peeked out the shutters and watched him limping to the car and I am almost certain I even detected a hint of a tear in his eye.

I'll have to admit, though, I never in this world could have managed all that fancy flinging and jumping around infront of the window.

Nobody Believes Aesop

By Bill Turner

MORE THAN 2500 years ago Aesop told a tale that many people, even today, can't get through their heads.

It's the fable of the goose that laid golden eggs. Hoping to get gold faster, its owner twisted the bird's neck. End of goose, End of gold reserve.

Bertle Powers, threatening still another strike of New York City's newspapers, seems not to believe Aesop. Neither does Walter Reuther, who is preparing to shut down the nation's automobile industry in a year when car sales are off, badly.

BUT NEW YORK City's finance director, Roy M. Goodman, may be getting the idea. The other day he was bewailing the fact that Fun City had lost $17 million to cigarette taxes in a single year because of "butt-

This started when Mayor Lindsay doubled the city tax, so that the smoker in Fun City now pays a total of 16¢ a pack in state and city taxes -- on top of an 8¢ federal tax. With an inviting 10¢ margin to work with, petty punks began smuggling cigarettes into the city in truck-load lots.

Then the Mafia moved in. Not only did the Mafia smuggle cigarettes, but it now appears that they moved in to take over some of the legitimate wholesale tobacco distributors.

Sales of cigarettes through regular channels fell off sharply in Fun City -- by a third. The city reported a total tax loss of $42 million, plus an additional $4 millions in sales tax loss. The loss to the State treasury was $2.8 million.

In other words, everybody lost but the

CAPITOL COMMENTS ----

HHH Rabble Rouser??

By Larry Fuhrmann

Our State Capitol Correspondent

Viewing the events that seem to follow Vice-President Hubert Humphrey wherever he goes, one might come to the conclusion that, where the Vice-President likes it or rouser. Pardon the tongue-in-cheek above, but Humprhey's visit to the great state of Texas seems to really have set off some fireworks in the Capitol city. The fireworks concern the "right of freedom of speech" which a group of students on the University of Texas campus claim was flagrantly violated in an effort to keep them from making their antiwar sentiments public during Humphrey's not, he just seems to be a born rabble-

Presuming the events to be receiving some degree of coverage in the Panhandle, I will venture to guess that actions taken by SDS (Students for a Democratic Society) president Gary Thiher are being followed, Gary's home is in Lubbock. He, as well as five other university students, is currently having his status as a student questioned by a disciplinary committee appointed by school administrators. The event sparking the whole affair was an assembly by the SDS last week, which planned a protest at the Capitol to coincide with Humprhey's arrival. The organizational meeting was banned by University of Texas Chancellor Harry Ransom; needless to say, it occurred anyway, much to the furor and apparent embarrassment of Chancellor Ransom, Governor John Connally and others who were planning the Vice-President's visit. So now the debate is raging in full force -were the students denied their "rights" by the administration? It has turned the campus into what some would call a "little Berkeley" (which just might be an annual affair, anywaythere will probably be something every year). A number of students (large enough to command the attention of the entire campus for over a week) claims that the first amendment, that of freedom of speech and press, has been violated, Over 2,000 were present for a rally sponsored by the UT Veterans association on the main mall to present speakers for both sides of the issue.

Chairman of the Board of Regents, Frank Erwin (who is a member of the Democractic National Committee and close friend of President Johnson) got a cold response from students when he told them the school "does not need 27,000 students." He later modified his statement in pulling the number down to 200. The University of Texas has acquired a favorable reputation, and school administrators do not want to see it torn down overnight by rabble rousers, Erwin said, Ironically, the infamous University of California at Berkeley was rated "best overall in the nation"

Some faculty members who work closely with the student body claim that the issue is not really freedom of speech; at stake is the policy for deciding who is to make the rules governing all student organizations and how those rules are to be enforced. Chancellor Ransom, who has been gratefully acknowledged to be a most liberal and openminded administrator any school could ask for, has been accused by some individuals as being arbitrary in his action against the SDS, since his indictment of the group was not enforced through formal channels.

At any rate, the UFM (University Freedom Movement) has stirred up the student body to the point of at least coming out to vote in student elections early in May. It also has the faculty interested -- both pro and con -- in the issue.

When you can watch events like these, who needs television? This is really a terrific part of getting an education.

Of course the Vice-President went his way at the Capitol last week, Protestors were ignored and all went as scheduled, although the picket line seemed to expose some raw nerves among Texas lawmakers. If Humprhey was upset over the matter, he didn't let it show. He has really taken the brunt end of more than his share of criticism in the past weeks.

In his speech to the Legislature, he said that force and aggression are the "agents of tyranny and brute power. They have no place in the last third of the 20th century." The role of America is "the building, the organ-izing of the peace." Peace is the minimum requirement of civilized mankind.

The major commitment of the United States is the one to freedom and peace; through the pacts and alliances into which the United States has entered comes the commitment to Viet Nam and the pursuit of peace and the prevention of successful aggression.

"We have a moral obligation to extend ... fellowship, help, and assistance. What would be the morality of a nation which devoted its riches only to itself, or regarded freedom in one part of the world as less precious than in another? Any nation that uses its power only for its own - that nation will have a

DEAR EDITOR

Makes His Own Survey

I enjoyed your editorial in Sunday's paper about shopping in Littlefield, which is impor-tant to all of us.

Recently a friend of ours attended a meeting in Lubbock. After it was over he decided to take a little survey of some of the stores, both downtown and in one or two shopping centers. He said he could not help but be impressed by the number of people he saw from Littlefield and the surrounding area, shopping for things they could buy right here in Littlefield.

He said he checked the prices of some of these items and found very little difference on the same quality unless it were a "loss leader" or a "special", and even then the saving was not enough to pay for the time and cost of driving over there.

Now it is certainly not against the law to shop in Lubbock or anywhere else. It is a fine town, with fine people and some advantages that only a larger town can offer, and we are glad they are available. However, our local business men are our friends and neighbors. They pax taxes that help keep up our schools, our city, our streets and roads.

They furnish employment to many of our citizens. They work on our civic programs and contribute to our churches.

They are not getting rich, in fact some are just barely making a living. They sell at the best prices they can afford, but they give service. Another friend told us of buying an appliance in Lubbock. When he had to have service he called the place he bought it, they said they would come when they could at 20¢ per mile plus the service charge. Another told of buying drugs at a discount store, but when he had to have a prescription filled in the middle of the night, a local druggist was kind enough to get up and fill it for him. Both of these people now shop in Littlefield.

By use of the telephone and just a little effort on our part, we can find most thing we need right here in Littlefield, from our taxpaying friends and neighbors, who will continue to give us good service. Let's give them a chance.

A Vital Treasure

CONSIDER OUR LAND.

Spreading acre by acre and mile by mile across the heart of our continent is the largest single expanse of productive land on Earth.

It is an awesome land, magnificent in the variety and richness with which God endowed it.

It is the Lord's land, entrusted to our care during our lifetime to help us serve Him and His purposes for our being.

As stewards, we have decided that one-fourth of it should be managed for all of us by our government. The much larger part - three fourths - we have divided into millions of units in private ownership.

Three-fourths of our land! Here is an empire of the noblest proportions - nearly 1.5 billion acres, which fortify our present strength and stand surely as a testing ground of our future.

It is the land on which we must depend to produce more and still more food - for our own growing needs and to help those abroad who

It is the land where we can add to the supplies and quality of our water; and where most of our timber will be grown.

It is the land where most of our outdoor recreation needs can be met; and where most of our wildlife will be produced.

Three-fourths of our land! Here is where the owners are - the legion of men and women on whom we depend to accept the obligations of stewardship and work together as neighbors for the common good.

It is the land of a democracy, where we rely on the voluntary exercise of individual responsibility rather than regulation by government as the favored avenue to accomplishment.

It is the land of owners who have the reason, more than any others, to focus on each acre the skills and devotion that progress requires.

It is the land of still unmeasured values, deserving new and higher regard as a vital and irreplaceable treasure.

Consider our land. Consider it well.

4 Accidents Are Reported

City police reported four wrecks in the city limits in four days with two Saturday and two Tuesday.

A three-car accident, with two of themparked, was reported Saturday on South Phelps Ave., 102 feet north of the intersection with 12th Street.

According to police reports, 1961 Chevrolet, driven by William M. Burton of Lubbock, was proceeding north on Phelps on the left side of the street. The Chevrolet hit the left front fender of a parked car, a 1966 Ford, owned by Pan American Petroleum Corp. of Levelland. The impact knocked the Ford into the front of another parked car, a 1960 Chevrolet Corvair, owned by Claud Pope of Littlefield.

Damage to the Fordwas estimated at $500, to the Corvair at $225 and to the 1961 Chevrolet at $200. Another accident Saturday was reported on West Delano Ave. when a 1964 Ford, driven by Tommy Loyd Hood of Littlelight pole and a transformer fell from the top of the pole onto the trunk of the car. Damages to the auto were estimated at $100.

Tuesday morning on Phelps Ave. about 40 feet south of the intersection with 4th Street. Police records show that a 1967 Chevrolet, driven by William Ernest Savage, Star Route 2, Littlefield, was stopped behind a car when a 1963 Chevrolet, driven by Pearl Fleming Walker, backed into the first

The left rear bumper of the Walker car struck the right front fender and side of the Savage auto. Damages to the Walker car were estimated at $200 and to the Savage car at $50.

Another accident was reported Tuesday on Littlefield Drive, 70 feet north of the intersection with 4th Street.

involved in the minor accident were a 1961 Ford, driven by Bertha Evans Robbins of Littlefield, and a 1964 Chevrolet, driven by Gerald Kehoe of Littlefield. Both cars were being backed out of parking spaces when the rear bumper of the Ford hit the right front fender of the Chevrolet. Damages to the Kehoe car were estimated at $50. No damage to the other auto was reported.

GRADE MUSEUM -- The scene above is he exhibits made by Mrs. J. D. Traugrade class in their "Little After a visit to the West Texas at Lubbock the children collected items and made a museum of their own. The exhibit above shows old guns, wagon wheels, harness, arrowheads, etc. Throughout the day Friday, other classes visited the room and looked at the museum.

Students Visit Museum Then Make One In Room

Students in Mrs. J. D. Trau-gott's fifth grade class and mothers visited the Texas Tech campus recently. While there they visited the museum, planetarium, science fair, and Pioneer Park.

In the visit to the science fair the students marveled at one computer that sang, "She'll Be Coming 'Round The Mountain' and another computer that answered questions. They also inspected an Army tank in connection with the fair.

During the visit to the musseum they saw things concerning Indians, cowboys and var-ious articles used by the pio-neers and the Murial painted by Peter Hurd.

Constellations were seen at the planetarium by the visiting joyed playing at the park.

The field trip was taken because the students had been studying about space and about

Tom Landers, Ricky Reep, Johnny Williams, and Donnie Buchanan, turned to a practice time of 3:32 while preparing for the State competition.

Drew Dunaway will also be in for Anton in the discus competition. He has tossed the discus 129-2 in competition prior to the meet.

"We are looking for a spot at the top," said Coach Jim War-

"Three of these boys have been running in long events in prior meets and starting fresh in this one should increase their time," he said. Olton's Dale DeBerry will be out for the honors in the 880yard run. DeBerry has turned in a 1:57.8 in preparation for the state meet. Roger Thompson will also be representing Olton in the golf competition. Thompson won his berth on the State wagon with medalist honors of 72 in the regional competition. Olton coach Don Beck said:

'I expect to see Dale in the top runners because in previous meets he hasn't really been pushed."
"His toughest competition will come from Crosby and Pitt-sburg, who have men in the 1:57 bracket," he said.

Sudan will also be seeking a winning spot in the State competition. Their mile relay team, Jerry Bellar, Larry Morgan, Mike Bellar and Billy Gore, took their seat on the state train with a 3:27.5 in regional compe-

C.A. Duval Is Re-Elected WTCC Director

C. A. Duval, district mana-ger for Pioneer Natural Gas, has been re-elected director of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce for the next three years, according to an announcement by Don Wooten, Abilene, president of the WTCC. The new director was elected at the 49th annual convention in Del Rio last week.

"We hope that the new directors in each town will add important impetus to the WTCC program of work in the local community," Wooten said when the names of the new directors were announced.

It is the function of the director to act as liaison between the regional chamber of commerce, the local chamber of commerce and the members of both organizations. At the meetings of the board of directors he speaks for the entire membership in his town on matters of a regional nature and acts as communicator to the members on all matters concerning projects of the WTCC.
