Poison Is Found In Body of Cook, Says Chemist

MRS. BERA COOK BEING TRIED ON MURDER CHARGE

Health Department Man Is Grilled Three Hours By Defense

(Special to The Leader)
OLTON, March 6.—Traces of arsenic and strychnine were found in the body of Tom Cook, Dr. W. B. Wardlow, chief chemist of the State Health Department, and the state's star witness in the trial of Mrs. Bera Cook for poison murder, revealed during a three-hour grilling by defense attorneys here today.

Dr. Wardlow, last of 10 state witnesses to testify today, made an analysis of parts of Cook's body after it was exhumed from a Clarendon cemetery. Mrs. Cook is the dead man's wife.

Other witnesses were Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Farmer, of near Sudan, D. L. Green, Dr. T. H. Ellis, who performed autopsy after Cook's body was exhumed, Fred Buntin, Bob Webster, Bert Smith and Deputy Sheriff Guy Wright, all of Clarendon, and Dr. O. W. English, who sent viscera of the dead man to Austin for analysis.

Testimony of four state witnesses was heard Tuesday. They were Dr. Bowles, Austin, a state chemist, J. H. Frazier, a Littlefield druggist, Mrs. W. H. Cook, mother of the dead man, and Mr. Hamilton of Anson, formerly a druggist at Sudan.

Judge R. C. Joiner, 64th district district, is hearing the case. E. A. Bills, Littlefield, and former District Judge Charles C. Clements, Plainview, are defense attorneys. Meade F. Griffin, former district attorney, is a special prosecutor and is associated with District Attorney Chas. H. Dean, Dimmitt.

Jurors are Les Barker, B. R. Andrews, T. J. Watson, Bob Cox, Paul Lewis, Roy Dobbs, E. E. Beason, Joe Blackwell, Beaman Phillips, Frank Hulsey, E. E. Alexander and W. Q. Cypert.

Cook, 44, was found dead in bed at his home eight miles south of Sudan morning of July 15. Sheriff Len Irvin later said he had found a small bottle containing strychnine, and beside it a glass of water, on a dresser in Cook's home.

Plainsman Visits Littlefield

Gets A Bull Pup and Bucks A Sandstorm

The Plainsman of the Lubbock Journal and his family visited Littlefield last Sunday. Here's what he said in his "colyum" Monday afternoon:

Something like six weeks ago, on a bustling Saturday afternoon, The Plainsman happened to be in Littlefield.

He dropped into the offices of the Lamb County Leader, to pay a social visit as is the custom of newspapermen abroad, and there saw "Thirty."

"Thirty," be it known, is the finest looking dog in all this country and being a dog fan your humble servant immediately began fooling with "Thirty."

Among other things he discovered that "Thirty" was half pit and half English bulldog, that he was bred by Bill Clark of Littlefield and that he is the pride and joy of the household of Editor and Mrs. Morley B. Drake, of the Leader.

Morley was out of town at the time but he heard from his good wife about the Plainsman's crush on "Thirty" when he returned from San Antonio. Hence, Saturday afternoon Morley called up and said:

"Hey, you big stiff, I understand you like my dog. Well, I've got a full brother of his, six weeks old, waiting for you up here, with the compliments of the Lamb County Leader. When you comin' up after him?"

Being a fairly smart guy, The Plainsman, the Little Woman and the two brats went to Littlefield yesterday, enjoyed a visit with Morley and Mrs. Drake and got the pup, which Morley christened "Deadline."

But coming back home was something else indeed, even though the pup "Deadline" and the kindness of

Senate Committee Okehs "Itinerant Merchant" Bill

DUGGAN PREDICTS FAVORABLE VOTE IN UPPER HOUSE

Shaw Urges Co-operation Of Littlefield Merchants

With only one dissenting vote, Senate Bill No. 188, which would levy a special tax on "itinerant merchants," left the Finance Committee of the state's upper house Friday and was put on the calendar with the recommendation that it be passed and printed, announced Senator Arthur P. Duggan Wednesday in a letter to G. M. Shaw.

"Retail Merchants association of Texas has taken a great deal of interest in this bill and have greatly broadened the definition of an itinerant merchant," said Sen. Duggan in part, in his letter.

Amendments, "which further protect the local merchant," were added, but the clause requiring an incoming merchant to deposit a $500 special fee with the secretary of state and pay an additional $25 per month into the general fund for six months, remained unchanged.

"My opinion is that we will have no difficulty in having this bill passed in the Senate as soon as it is reached on the calendar," the Littlefield senator wrote.

"I am highly pleased," declared Mr. Shaw, who, with other merchants, sponsored the bill. "Mr. Duggan has done his part, and now we must do ours."

Mr. Shaw, in a statement to the Leader, made a powerful appeal to Littlefield merchants to contact merchants in other areas.

"I have literature available for mailing. If merchants here will have their friends in other areas write their legislators, passage of the bill will become almost a certainty," he prophesied.

Medical Meeting Called for Friday Evening, March 8

A meeting has been called by Dr. J. D. Simpson, president of the Lamb, Bailey, Cochran and Hockley County Medical Society for Friday evening, March 8, at 8 p. m.

The House delegate of the American Medical Association and the Executive Council of the State Medical Association have requested the Lamb County Medical association to have a called meeting for the purpose of consideration of the social and economic policy of the association, as related to pending and proposed legislation, to sickness, insurance, and to other matters which may be submitted to the Society. The meeting will be in the city hall courtroom.

Refreshments will be served to the doctors in attendance.

A short business session, and round table discussion by the doctors, will take place, including any case they wish to bring up.

3 CITY OFFICERS ARE CANDIDATES FOR REELECTION

Mayor Crockett, City Dads Boone and Arnold File Again

Mayor L. R. Crockett and City Commissioners Pat Boone and Carl Arnold will be candidates for reelection at the city election, April 6.

Mr. Boone and Mr. Arnold, in announcing their candidacy, said they would make official statements.

Mayor Crockett's statement follows:

"After serious consideration and many consultations with a number of friends and citizens, I have decided to offer myself for reelection for a second term as mayor of our city.

"Being fully mindful of the duties to be performed in carrying out a safe, sane and economical program for the welfare and well being of our citizens, I have no thought or best that is in the powers of the oft-ambition other than to give the very best and to the full extent of my ability.

"I further assure you that I am not putting any personal interest first in the matter and I would not, I am sure, accept the office again if I thought, that in any way, my services would later be a disappointment to the good people of our town.

"On the other hand the present commission has under way a program that we have been working

WORK WILL START ABOUT MARCH 15 ON PWA PROJECT

Dallas Firm Is Awarded Contract; Job Will Require 90 Days

Contract for Littlefield's PWA financed $48,000 water works improvement project went to a Dallas firm, Forney Combustion Engineering Co., following tabulation of bids supervised by city and PWA officers last Thursday afternoon. Work will begin about March 15.

The Forney concern, lone bidder on the entire four units of the plan, estimated that $43,448.60 would be enough finance taking up and replacing nearly 5,000 feet of water mains, erecting transmission lines, digging ditches, supplying and installing two engines and a pump, and erecting pump, well and engine houses.

Other bidders and their estimates were A. M. Locket & Co., Dallas, $22,132.00 on pump and engine only; Clowe & Cowan, Amarillo, $1,780.90 on pump only; Fairbanks, Morse & Co., Dallas, $20,137.00 on pump and engine only; Panhandle Construction Co., Lubbock, $25,775.80 on pump, water mains and pump and well houses only.

"The Forney people voluntarily agreed not to use ditching machines which means that, except for an office man and foreman, only local labor will be used on the job, which

"A Peach of A Family" to Be Presented Friday Nite

"A Peach of a Family" will be presented by members of the faculty Friday night, March 8, at eight o'clock. The play is written around a Virginia family of old aristocracy who find themselves temporarily embarrassed, and decide to rent the old place to a rich Yankee. The question of a staff of white servants presents difficulties and the big sister conceives the idea that she, her sister and brothers shall act as the domestic staff. So the trouble begins.

The Yankee arrives, accompanied by his guests. They find the behavior of the servants not satisfactory. Complications arise. The Yankee is impressed by the charm of the cook above anything else, and finally—four men interested in the cook—come and see who gets her.

The members of the family are: Miss Garlington, Miss McFarland, Mr. Hemphill and Mr. Burdette, brothers and sisters. Complications do arise. Even the negro mammy is mixed up in the troubles.

Miss Hopping, the society lady, and her daughter, Miss Nila Jones, must be from the city. They act like it!

Mr. Sanders plays the leading man that you never see before! His attorney, Mr. Bryant, likes to eat. Mr. Layfield, the poet, yearns for a colleen, and does he find one? Mr. Hobbs, the real estate agent, helps the family along as he is interested in one particular member.

Don't fail to see this play. The admission for school children is 20c and adults 35c. A full evening of entertainment and your money's worth, too!

GOOD WORK AT LITTLEFIELD

The Littlefield Chamber of Commerce, we think, is doing business interests of all Texas—and particularly of this section of Texas—a decided service in pushing toward law a bill to control the activities of the itinerant merchant who too long has been permitted to prey upon legitimate business. A committee of the Littlefield community organization is composed of Gus Shaw, as chairman, T. S. Sales, L. Fink, Leonard Thedford and Joe Replin and these gentlemen are rapidly placing their campaign upon a state-wide basis.

Senator Arthur P. Duggan, of Littlefield, who represents this section in the upper house of the legislature, has offered Senate Bill No. 188 which, if it passes as it should, will make the itinerant merchant contribute to the tax chest whether he wants to or not. Here-to-fore he has been coming in after tax-paying time of one year and skipping out before tax-paying time of the following year and has rolled in clover at the expense of the legitimate merchant who helps foot community and governmental bills. That the system which permits this is wrong is readily discernible and that it should be changed is nothing short of just.

The itinerant Merchant bill had its conception among the business men of Littlefield and support has been forthcoming from other cities of this section. This week the Littlefield Chamber's committee is sending letters to city, county and school officials in every county, in Texas and before long the plan will doubtless have support everywhere.

According to the bill, license fees must be paid by any merchant when he sets up shop in any city outside the county of which he is a bonafide citizen. If he stays in the place of business he opens, pays taxes and becomes a permanent business man there, he gets his license fees back. Thus the merchant who moves from one part of the state to the other to make his permanent home and place of business is not penalized, but the fellow who has been sneaking in to lick off the business cream by demoralizing legitimate business is going to have to do his share in "making the mare go."

The Morning Avalanche has long seen in the itinerant merchant question a need for an equitable solution and believes the bill drawn up by Senator Duggan will do the job.

All praise and commendation, we say, to the forward looking people of Littlefield for pushing the proposition and to the members of Mr. Shaw's committee for the fine aggressive work they are doing—Lubbock County Avalanche.

BLACK-DRAUGHT

"Such a Good Laxative," Says Nurse
Writing from her home in Festus, Mo., Mrs. Anna LaPlante says: "I am a practical nurse and I recommend to some of my patients that they take Black-Draught, for it is such a good laxative. I took it for constipation, headache and a dull feeling that I had so much. A few doses of Black-Draught—and I felt just fine."

Because so many people know from having used it that Theodor's Black-Draught is a good, purely vegetable laxative, millions of packages of it are sold every year.

Carson Glass Contributes To Leader News Columns

The Leader has received an interesting letter from Carson Glass, student of the Texas University, Austin, which it is passing on to its readers thinking his many friends here will be glad to read it:

"I am enclosing two hastily written news items and I hope you will print them whole or in part as I believe they will be of interest to many readers of the Leader. Either article I think, would make an excellent subject for an editorial and it would please me very much if such matters as these could be impressed firmly upon people's minds so that they would realize that modern youth does something more than drive fast automobiles and spend money. There are really a great many serious students all over the state among the young people, both in and out of college, who are desiring to find out what this business of making a living and government and politics is all about. We have so many problems and such uncertainty as to our futures that we need all of the help we can get. The Young Democrats are trying valiantly to solve their problems in the system provided by our forefathers and the founders of the nation, desiring only to improve and develop our present government. I am very proud of my membership in such an organization, and since you are powerful in molding and shaping public opinion, I solicit your support in helping us put over the idea of a youth organization in Texas. Sincerely,

Carson Glass
P. S.—I always look forward to my copy of the Leader and those who read it with me agree that in style and content it is one of the most astonishing small town newspapers in the country."

Why Southwestern Life Registers Every Policy It Issues

INSURANCE laws of the State of Texas provide how a life insurance company of Texas may register its policies. A registering company must deposit approved securities in an amount adequate for the protection of policyholders.

The Registration Law requires the segregation of policyholders' funds, thus preventing substitution of assets without the knowledge and consent of the State Insurance Department. Experience of the last five years has demonstrated the effect and value of registration laws.

The Registration Law makes mandatory the valuation of the required securities at the current market. A company which elects to operate under a market valuation law evidences the intention to invest policyholders' funds with added caution.

Many good companies do not elect to register their policies, and we urge policyholders of such companies to maintain their insurance in force.

TO START TAKING APPLICATIONS FOR SEED LOANS

Carl Hill, Field Supervisor for the Federal Feed and Seed Loan Department, Dallas, is now occupying an office in the local city hall, with Miss Stella Loyd as assistant, and states he will be ready in about fifteen days to start taking applications for Spring loans.

Mr. Hill has the supervision over four counties, including Lamb, Bailey, Castro and Parmer counties, and states he calls on farmers all over the district. He is in Littlefield Tuesdays and Saturdays; Muleshoe Wednesdays; Farwell, Thursday; Muleshoe Friday; Littlefield and Dimmitt Saturday; and Dimmitt again Monday.

According to Mr. Hill, there were 26 row crop loans made for Lamb county farmers in 1934, totalling $11,765.00, of which 53 56-100 per cent was repaid. He stated that not many counties in Texas had paid up as well as this county; that 55 wheat loans were made last fall, totalling $7,770.00; and that there were 665 feed loans made this last fall and winter, amounting to $30,797.

University Students Protest Against House Bill to Raise Fees

(Special to Leader by Carson Glass) AUSTIN, March 6—A great wave of student protest was advanced this week against House Bill 627 introduced by Rep. Davis of Roton, which designs to raise University of Texas registration fees from $50 to $150 per long session. Petitions pointing out the effects of such a bill on the education and citizenship of Texas youth were signed by hundreds of students who are working their way through the University and many others have pledged their support to the opposition. This bill can only result in less education for the young men and women of Texas, as it will force the withdrawal of at least one third of the students now enrolled. These students will become idle and many will become charges upon the state relief rolls if such a bill is passed, and their chances for future usefulness to Texas will be obliterated. An educated and intelligent citizenry is an essential to democracy and any measure which will place education beyond the reach of those who desire it and are willing to work for it, should be soundly defeated.

Palace Cafe Is Opened In Silver Grill Location

Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Maier, formerly of Lubbock, have reopened the Silver Grill location at 323 Phelps, next door to the Littlefield Tailor Shop. The new establishment is known as the Palace Cafe.

Mr. Maier, with about seven years experience as a cafe owner and operator, has been in the restaurant business in several West Texas cities. He operated an eating establishment at Brownfield before moving to Lubbock.

The Palace Cafe features short orders and plate lunches, and only the best of materials are used in food preparation. The Palace Cafe menu is changed daily.

Special Matinee For School Children Featured at Palace

Nothing but the very latest in pictures is featured at the Palace and Ritz Theatres, as is demonstrated by the fact that "David Copperfield," a classic production, shown at Dallas two weeks ago, for the first time in Texas, was brought to the Palace Theatre Sunday and Monday of last week, including a matinee for the school children.

On account of it being a classic production and an adaptation from the novel by Charles Dickens, it was especially interesting and educational for students and school children, and many of those who attended came from schools throughout Lamb county, in addition to the Littlefield schools.

TODAY'S FASHION HINTS VERY LATEST By PATRICIA DOW

Designed in Sizes: 11, 13, 15, 17 and 19. Size 17 requires 3 1/4 yards of 64 inch material for jumper and 1 1/2 yards of 85 inch material for blouse with short sleeves. With long sleeves in blouse 3 1/4 yards are required.

SLIM SILHOUETTE

Pattern 8385: The younger generation has taken the slim princess silhouette for its particular pet, and with good reason, for this style was made for the slender figure of youth. The design sketched is one of its most popular examples, because the separate blouse gives one an opportunity for a great deal of variety.

The jumper itself has the panel from shoulder to hem in the back only and varies the scene in front by the single line, which may be a closing or only simulated, and which ends in a pleat at the lower edge. This closing line is accented by its smart button trimming. The blouse with its charming soft collar and puff sleeve is trimmed with machine pleating.

The jumper could be made in plaid of plain woolen and the blouse of white or harmonizing silk, or cotton.

METHODIST CHURCH

John Witt Hendrix, pastor

Isn't it now three Sunday evenings we have had high winds? Isn't it best to brave some of it, go in the teeth of it? No one knows when this will stop! Last year, most of our days like this came on Friday or Saturday; this year they come of a Saturday or a Sunday, mostly Sunday. Tread winds are frequently just that way. They cut exactly that circuit and arrive again nearly on time!

We cannot close down for them, or because they have come in the afternoon, should we? We are not uncertain of what to do; we are present with a message ready to deliver each evening. It isn't that we waver but our faith sort of fails us about the people. Help our unbelief!

Church school opens at 9:45 a. m., and runs till 10:45 a. m.

Public worship comes on at 11 a. m. and 7:45 p. m. The senior choir will sing at the morning hour, and the Choral club in the evening. Each of these will appear in a musical program previously arranged. The pastor will speak at both hours. The subject of the morning hour will be "ON BEING FAR SIGHTED." What per cent of the patience of an oculist is far sighted? And what per cent near sighted? Let's find out. In the evening, the subject will be the same as it was last Sunday evening. "A RIGHT SMART GITHER-IN."

General assembly of the Leagues will open at 7 p. m., and at 7:15 the Adult study will come on. We will enjoy teaching this subject, MISSIONS IN JAPAN. This nation is naturally up for study before the nations of the world. Let's study it together, four Sunday evenings.

MEET ME THERE, OH, MEET ME THERE!

WILD CAT TRACK-FIELD SQUAD

WILD CATS; BRACK NAMES PART OF WILDCAT TRACK-FIELD SQUAD

ded by L. V. Pierce, blond and pole vaulter, part of a track and field squad expected to defend Littlefield at the interscholastic meet, last of which was named by Coach Brack early this week.

Senior and three juniors picked by the gloomy Cat men after a lifting sandstorm all light workouts Friday and Saturday. Full squad membership not determined for another two weeks, Barksdale indicated.

Mer McKnight and Buf'd Eawill team with Pierce in the vault. At present, lone Wildcat hope in the senior dashes is little O. K. Yantis. Only to show anything to date is old Lakey, while Lee Gibson is half-mile bet at present. James Eason, though he needs development, might be another likely 880 m. James Foust, strapping senior, trying out for a javelin heaving.

Junior division finds Walden and old Lakey as chin-the-bar contenders. Little Bill Carter appears to a short distance possibility. Other junior candidates will be announced next week.

Where They Camp

AMERICAN LEAGUE — Detroit Tigers, Lakeland, Fla., March 3 to April 3; Cleveland Indians, New Orleans, Feb. 25 to March 31; Philadelphia Athletics, Fort Myers, Fla., Feb. 21 to March 22; St. Louis Browns, West Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 26 to March 31; N. Y. Yankees, St. Petersburg, Fla., March 4 to April 3; Washington Senators, Biloxi, Miss., March 4 to April 5; Boston Red Sox, Sarasota, Fla., March 3 to April 3; Chicago White Sox, Pasadena, Calif., March 1 to March 25.

NATIONAL LEAGUE — Pittsburgh Pirates, San Bernardino, Calif., Feb. 26 to March 26; St. Louis Cardinals, Bradenton, Fla., March 2 to March 31; Brooklyn Dodgers, Orlando, Fla., Feb. 25 to April 8; Philadelphia Phillies, Winter Haven, Fla., March 5 to April 4; New York Giants, Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 24 to March 18; Cincinnati Reds, Tampa, Fla., Feb. 22 to March 31; Boston Braves, St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 25 to April 5; Chicago Cubs, Avalon, Catalina Island, Feb. 28 to March 13.

What They're Doing

New King Crowned
While Babe Ruth, retiring Sultan, was still figuratively out in the cold, Lou Gehrig, baseball's 1934 four-letter man, and crown prince of the national sport, came into his own Feb. 19. In a simple ceremony, the big Yankee first-sacker, who was first in batting, home runs, runs batted in and total bases, became number one man on Col. Jake Ruppert's payroll at $30,000 a year.

Paul Signs
Paul, of the pitching brothers Dean, is no longer a holdout. Paul signed a conjectured $8,500 contract, with estimated $500 bonus for signing Tuesday, following a short conference with Manager Sam Breadon at the St. Louis Cardinals' Bradenton, Fla., training camp. Contract was for a year's play.

Browns In Sweat
Hard work in a broiling sun took five pounds off overworked St. Louis Browns in the Brown's West Palm Beach, Fla., training camp Friday. Manager Roger Hornsby showed more stuff than any of the first string.

Gomez Signs
Vernon (El Goofey) Gomez, N. Y. Yankees' star southpaw hurler, ended a brief revolt Saturday by peacefully signing a two-year contract calling for $20,000 a season. New contract of the globe-trotting mound ace makes him highest paid pitcher in the American league, probably in baseball.

Olton Mustangs Are Building New Gridiron

Olton's High school football crew for 1935 Saturday began work on shaping a football field for next fall's games.

Using plows, graders, frescoes and mules, the Mustang squad started grading to raise the center of the field, fix the track and plow up the ground for planting of trees purchased recently from school funds.

SPORT WORLD

By BILL NORRIS

With softball yet nearly three weeks away, six of last season's eight teams are signed up and virtually all of these six have completed tentative lineups. A new crew, headed by T. J. Watson, has filed for league recognition, which leaves room for only one more outfit. This place will probably be filled by G. A. Dunn's boys. E. C. Cundiff has dropped plans to enter a team.

Here are crews now signed up: Sunnydale, Legion, Faculty, Businessmen, Firemen, All-Stars and the Watson boys. Oilers and Lutherans, both of which trailed the list when last season's final whistle was blown, have disbanded.

All of which goes to prove that, for entertainment which twangs a civic string, nothing but possibly football can touch that good old outdoor pastime which bears the cognomen, "softball."

Yes, Roscoe, it does seem a little strange that the game which Littlefielders play so HARD should be called SOFTBALL. Just one of life's little inconsistencies, m'boy.

What's that? No, Roscoe, we don't play the game. We sit pleasantly by for three months, watch over 100 good men sweat their hearts out five nights a week, then go to our typing writer and razz the dickens out of them. Just another of life's little inconsistencies, m'boy.

Around Ropesville hinges the hot-spot of District 3 girls basketball play Wednesday night. The powerful Ropes ladies are the lone undefeated outfit in final play slated to close last night on the Wilson boards.

The Kitties, carded to oppose their old jinx crew, and other finalist Shallowater, at 7:30 Wednesday, will be under a double strain.

Though Coach Robnetta clings to the belief that her lassies can trim the Lubbock county champions, two heart-breaking defeats have tended to prove otherwise. A measure of salve appears in the fact that both sextets are on a foreign floor—which may or may not be enough to offset the Kitty mental handicap.

But the fact remains that the Kitties, though favorites of the fans and considered strongest team at the tourney, would be virtually worn to a nubbin after the Shallowater game. Then a victory over Ropes, who downed them 34-32 in earlier rounds, would leave them in rotten shape for the highly publicized AAU at Plainview Friday and Saturday. Would it be worth the trouble, Kitties?

When the worst daylight sandstorm in 18 years struck Littlefield Sunday at 3 p. m., Carl Arnold, E. S. Rowe, Judge Sikes, E. C. Cundiff and Ross Mayhew were caught in the middle of a hot match at the golf course. The gentlemen locked hands to form a five man defense and breast the black blast in an effort to get back to their cars. No go; they laid down a few minutes, then arose and started out again, losing their way several times. Caked with falling mud, they reached their cars through sheer good luck.

Said Judge Rowe later, "It would probably have rained, if we hadn't gone out to play golf."

Said Carl Arnold, "That sand stung like hell."

Said Judge Sikes, "Worst I ever saw."

Said E. C. Cundiff, "I might have broken par."

Said Ross Mayhew, during the blast, "Stick with me, Carl!" -----

Fireboys Hold Spread For Cage Department

Littlefield Volunteer Firemen held a joint spread for some 31 members and special guests in honoring a new member and their Firemen cage squad Monday night. Ted Dobyns was the new member.

Following the regular meeting in the city hall clubroom, the entire cortege converged on Lon's Cafe for sandwiches and drinks. A vote of thanks to the club's cage squad was well received. Squadmen Duard Swanner, Dwight Moody, Bud Alguire and Charlie Hearldston were special guests.

Dobyns will be initiated at the order's next regular meeting March 25.

What They'll Shoot At

Here are a few of the county interscholastic track and field records which eight Lamb County Hi schools will try to crack at Olton March 28-29.

120 yd. hi hurdles, 15.2 sec., set by E. Hooper, Olton, 1932.

100-yd. dash, 10 sec. flat., set by Ledbetter, Olton, and Carter, Littlefield, 1933.

220-yd. low hurdles, 25.1 sec., set by Ledbetter, Olton, 1932.

Discus throw, 104 feet, 2 in., set by Bryant, Olton, 1934.

Littlefield holds the record in one dash, pole vault and javelin. Further information and more records will appear next week.

KITTIES TAKE TOP INDIVIDUAL HONORS AS FINALS APPROACH

Whether or not Littlefield Kitty cagers defeat Shallowater and Ropes in the finals scheduled for Wednesday night, March 6, at Wilson, they still hold top honor in individual awards—that of placing little Opal Carpenter at the top niche over 120 other District 3 girls. Kimmel, Kitty guard, made the all-tourney second team.

Littlefield, after downing Wilson 38-21, Southland 33-25, Abernathy 33-29, and bowing to Ropes in a 34-32 noseout was slated to clash with Shallowater at 7:30 Wednesday in the first of final matches. Winner of this tilt was to oppose Ropes, who coasted to the finals with only one tough match, that with the Kitties.

Ropes, refreshed and awaiting the worn out winner of the Kitty-Shallowater joust, would undoubtedly have a heavy edge in playing strength. Belief is that the undefeated Ropes girls, should the Kitties trounce them, would appeal for another match on grounds that each sextet would then have carded one loss. Probability is that this would be allowed.

All-tourney players were Opal Carpenter, Littlefield; Crow, Ropes Smiley, Shallowater; F. Wilkes, Southland; Ward Meadow, Second team; Kimmel, Littlefield; Hill, Morton, Rumpass, Shallowater; Flores, Lorenzo; and Timmons, Ropes. Flores won best sport award. Oma Carpenter won prize for most spectacularly shot. Opal Carpenter, Crow and F. Wilkes were three outstanding players.

Southland, last team to be eliminated as result of two losses, was awarded trophy for fourth place.

Worst Sandstorm In Years Rocks City Late Sunday

A stifling dust storm, one of the most freakish ever seen in this section, struck Littlefield with window-rattling force at 3 p. m. Sunday and blanketed the city in complete darkness for nearly 10 minutes.

Temperature dropped from 76 to 59 degrees and semi-darkness prevailed for nearly an hour. Heavy blasts continued through Monday when 54 degrees was recorded at noon and 49 at midnight. Lowest reading for the week was 36 degrees at 9 a. m. Wednesday.

Sunday's short blast tore the roof from the C. A. Allen farm home near town, occupied by August Lueck and family. Several players on the local golf course suffered from stinging blasts of mud clots, "the size of marbles." An employee on the Highway 7 surfacing project was confined to bed for two days after falling to reach his car when the storm approached.

EIGHT SCHOOLS ARE GIRDING FOR COUNTY INTERSCHOLASTIC FRAYS

AAU Meet Will Be Goal of Kitties If They Win District

The Texas Amateur Athletic Union meet at Plainview March 20-23 will be the final Kitty cage activity of the season. Should the Littlefield girls win the District 3 trophy, announced Coach Naomi Robnetta early Wednesday.

A. A. U. meet, with 40 leading girls teams of the state, expected, is being sponsored by the Plainview Chamber of Commerce and High school. Littlefield citizens are seeking donations for financial aid to send the Kitties to the meet, it was learned Tuesday.

Lamesa Is Once More Region 1 Cage Champ

Lamesa's all-victorious Golden Tornados trampled Pampa Harvesters in Saturday night's final to win their second straight Region 1 basketball championship. Final score 41 to 28.

Lamesa beat Amarillo, 41 to 25, and Pampa 32 to 24 in early round games. Pampa reached the final round by twice drubbing Crowell's fast five.

The Newspaper that Better Serves the Farmer and Communities — The Lamb County Leader.

Eight Lamb county schools were whipping their best intellectual and athletic material into shape this week for the not-far-distant county interscholastic tourney to be held at Olton. All preliminary athletic competition up to the finals, will be held March 22-23, and finals March 29-30.

Supt. A. B. Sanders, accompanied by Morgan Layfield, representing choral singing, and Miss Lillian Hopping, debate mentor here, attended an executive session of the county interscholastic council at Olton early last week. Tiny tot-story-telling event, with each school allowed one boy and girl, will be an added independent feature of the intellectual events this year, the council decided.

Six new cups, in addition to the usual four offered, await winners this year. One of the four, the basketball trophy, has already gone to Olton for the second straight year. Other three will be awarded winning Class A high school, Class B high school and ward school.

Littlefield, winner of both Class A high school and ward school last year, is donor this year of a cup for girls debate. Olton has put up a trophy for boys debate. Spring Lake, Fieldton, Amherst and Sudan are donors of cups in other events. Spade was winner last year of the Class B high school division.

Only Two Softball Teams Plank Down Fee Before Mar. 1

Six of the eight established City-Softball League teams will have to lose preference and take the same chances on league entrance as teams in the making, was the decision of the board of athletic directors after a checkup revealed that only two teams had paid $15 entrance fee when the March 1 deadline arrived.

Paid teams are Businessmen and Firemen. Under a rule set by the board in a called session Tuesday night, other holdout teams have until March 10 to pay, and until March 15 to file with Secretary Orr full list of their team membership, signed personally by each player.

E. S. Rowe, Arthur Mueller and E. C. Cundiff were named by the board to draw up by-laws for the league. By-laws are subject to approval of the board.

Brownfield Is Tops At Pettitt Indie Hoopfest As Locals Are Beaten

A powerful Brownfield independent cage five marched over fallen skeletons of 20 other independent teams from this district and New Mexico in winning the Pettitt independent cage invitational which saw Littlefield Firemen, Flyers, Sudan Fishers and Spade Indies eliminated in first and second rounds. Morton Cats topped the consolation bracket.

Brownfield defeated a flying Ropesville quintet in the Saturday night final of the tourney which began last Thursday. Spade Outlaws downed Firemen, 21-18, in the first round. Brownfield's destructive path left Flyers, Fisher Brothers, Rogers, N. M., and finally Ropesville, lying in its wake.

Entrants were Littlefield Firemen and Flyers, Spade, Sudan's Fishers, Levelland, Southland, Cobleland, Whiteface, Bula, Clauene, Brownfield, Ropesville, Lingo and Rogers, N. M., and three teams each from Morton and Pettitt.

TENTH INSTALMENT

SYNOPSIS . . . Ellen Church, 17 years old, finds herself alone in the world with her artist mother's last warning ringing in her ears, to "love lightly." Of the world she knew little. All her life she had lived alone with her mother in an old brown house in a small rural community. . . . Ellen, alone, turned to the only contact she knew, an art agent in New York. Posing, years of posing, was her only talent so she was introduced to two leading artists, Dick Alven and Sandy Macintosh. Both used her as a model and both fell in love with her. . . . but, Ellen, trying to follow the warped philosophy of her mother, to "love lightly," resists the thought of love. Her circle of friends is small, artists and two or three girl models. Ellen attends a ball with Sandy. While dancing a tall young man claimed her and romance is born. A ride in the park, proposal, the next day marriage to Tony, and wealth. But she'd "love lightly," Ellen told herself. She would never let him know how desperately she loved him, even though she were his wife. Ellen insist upon living her own life, maintaining her home in her own small room, even though Tony is wealthy. . . . Jane, of Tony's wealthy set, is disappointed in Tony's sudden marriage to Ellen. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

She raised her hand, holding the glass toward her lips, but when the hand reached her lips there wasn't any glass in it. For Dick, very firmly indeed, had taken it from her fingers. "You'll not drink to that toast, Ellen," he said, and he wasn't, now, the same man who had kissed her a moment before. "In fact, you'll not drink to any toast. In fact, you'll not drink at all!" Tony set down his glass so carefully, upon a table, that it might have been a bomb. He walked across the room rather slowly, and as he came the crowd fell away from him. The man who made the music put his accordion behind him—it was a good accordion, he never risked it! Tony came across the floor—he came so slowly that it seemed as if he must be tired, and he didn't speak until he was so close to Dick that their coats were almost touching.

"After all," he said, and his chin had an ugly line to it, "taking it by and large, Ellen is married to me, not to you. Whether she drinks, or not, is no business of yours. It concerns us, Ellen and me." Dick had set Ellen's glass upon a nearby table. It bubbled, all by itself, and where the light struck it, it was almost golden. "I should say so, too, old man," he said. "All the worthwhile things in the world concern only you two, at this moment. But, good God, boy, I'm older than you are, and I'm very fond of Ellen, and when I see you making fools of yourselves. . . . "You wouldn't consider it being foolish," Tony asked, "this business of kissing a married woman when her husband is right here? When he'd scarcely had the time—" the boy's voice shook suddenly, "to kiss her himself. . . ."

"I'd say it was darn foolish," Dick answered. "I'd say it was a completely dreadful relapse, I'm ashamed of myself, Brander, and I apologize to you and to Ellen. It's only that I'm so fond of Ellen—"

The girl in the white, satin frock, who leaned so nonchalantly against the bar, was interrupting. "Besides," she drawled, "kissing doesn't mean quite so much to you folk who are Bohemians. Love isn't such a staple thing with you. With us—people like Tony and me—it's more important. We don't take sex as a matter of course. . . ."

Ellen's eyes were filling. It was twenty-four hours since she had met Tony, since she had first met him—it was twenty-four life times. She couldn't speak. Neither could Dick, but a white rage possessed him. But Gay, coming forward with an empty, slim stemmed glass in her hand, was protesting.

"I'd like you to know," said Gay, and her face was a saucy gamin's face, "that some of us take sex as it comes, and kisses as they come. In studios or in front parlors—call 'em drawing rooms, if you like—have it your own way! I've done my kissing early—so've you, if I can tell anything about it—but Ellen hasn't. Ellen's different from the rest of us. She—her name was Church before she married your boy friend—and the name suited her! Ellen hasn't gone around kissing. She's kept away from that sort of thing. She's the kind that always leaves the party and goes home early. . . ."

Jane stepped very daintily from her glass. It might have been molten fire that she sipped. "Still," she said, "it does seem strange, doesn't it? I mean another man giving orders to a girl on her wedding day. Kissing her—on her wedding day!" "That's the way I feel about it myself," growled Tony.

"Of course, I couldn't have expected that you'd understand," Dick said. He turned on his heel, then turned swiftly back again. "I wonder if you'll agree with me, Brander," he said, "in this, at least! I'd like to tell you that I think Ellen is all in. You know, yourself, that she was crying when you came to my studio to call for her. She was crying because she was nervously exhausted. That's why I didn't want her to do any drinking—she's never had a drink, you see, in the whole of her life. The poor kid's shot quite to pieces. I think, Brander, that I'd better take her home—"

Claire hadn't said anything for a long time. But she spoke, now. "I told you, Dick," she said, "a while back that this wasn't your scrap. I'm saying it again. For heaven's sake, lay off this butting in!" Ellen was sobbing. Round tears were creeping down her cheeks. "Dick's right," she was sobbing. "I don't want champagne—and I don't want to stay at this party, either. I want to go away from here! Jane, she's right, too. We're different—"

"Thank goodness for that!" said

Gay. Tony was staring at Ellen. She was conscious of the stare, although she wasn't looking at him. "I want to go away from here," she repeated wildly, "I want to go home—"

"After all, if there's any seeing home to be done, I'll do it! After all, Ellen's married to me!" said Tony.

"But," Dick's voice was flat, "But man, she acts as if she scarcely knows you!"

Tony's face was an ugly mask. "Whether she acts that way or not," he said, "I'm her husband!" And—

"No matter how I act," said Ellen, "and no matter whether we've been foolish or not—that's beyond the point, Tony's right—he's my husband. He'll take me home."

With her head erect, she walked past Claire, past Gay who had been kind, and Sandy, and even Jane. She didn't even glance Dick's way, as Tony helped her into her coat, and opened the door that led from the San Souci to the street.

The streets were quiet. It was later than they, either of them, had thought. Tony drove carefully, until he reached the broad glittering avenue that bisected the city.

"Where to?" he questioned, then. Ellen's eyes, which were almost inclined to droop with fatigue, opened very wide.

"Why, you know my address," she said. "Take me there." Tony's voice was cold and hard. "I suppose you're too innocent to realize," he said, "that people usually go to hotels on their wedding night. This is supposed, you know, to be our honeymoon."

"But," Ellen's voice was neither cold nor hard, "but—how can it be, Tony? We—all evening it's been so strange—all day! We can't be married, just because I'm wearing a ring. I can't be your wife just because—"

"I thought," said Tony, "that my ring was supposed to be enough, as long as my worldly goods went with it—that seems to be the consensus of opinion, too. And this evening—beginning at the moment I found you in Alven's arms, ending when he kissed you (oh, hang his feeling that you're a little sister!)—seems to prove that you were being as honest about your emotions, as you said you were!"

Ellen's jaw was clamping down hard. "As far as Dick goes, she said, "I don't think he acted very much less like a brother than your Jane acted like a sister. I don't see that you've got any special license to talk as you do."

Tony's jaw, also, was set. "I guess," he said, "that we'd better go to your room, at that. We've got to talk this thing out, you and I."

They reached her room. It was such a cool, sweet little room that the tears rushed to Ellen's eyes as she switched on the light. She'd bought everything in that room, herself—she'd made the curtains and the daybed cover; she'd painted the furniture. It was such a prim little room—it was virginal, almost. A man like Tony could never understand how much it stood for.

Tony sank down into a deep chair. He sighed again. This time, however, it was an appreciative sigh. "It's nice," he said, "when you get here."

Ellen was removing her hat, and the jacket that she wore. She ran her fingers through her hair. "Do you know," he said at last, stretching his legs out in front of him, "there's been a lot of excitement and drinking and smoking, but we haven't had anything to eat since luncheon. Maybe we're hungry. Maybe that's what's wrong with us."

Life was like that. It caught you up to the heights of hysteria. It lowered you gently into the calm of homely things. "I could make us fried egg sandwiches," said Ellen. "Behind that screen there is a kitchenette sort of arrangement. I often cook my own supper, and always my own breakfast. There's milk, too!"

Tony wiggled his toes, in their shiny brown shoes. "That sounds swell," he said. So Ellen retired behind the screen and it wasn't long before the pleasant sputter of frying—and the even more pleasant odor of melting butter and toasting bread, began to drift from around the screen. Tony sniffed appreciatively.

"We're keeping house, already," he called to Ellen. It was as if there had never been any dramatic, ugly scenes.

Ellen called back: "I like this a lot better than the San Souci."

And Tony answered: "I'll say I do, too!"

They ate their sandwiches eagerly, and drank their milk from gayly painted five and ten cent store trays. There were olives, too, and cookies, and preserved peaches. It was like a party—a juvenile sort of a party, Ellen, as she bit into her sandwich, knew that she had been ravenous. Maybe that was what was the matter with them—maybe they had been hungry. Many a truce has been declared over a fried egg sandwich! Many a home has been reunited across preserved peaches and a dish of little cakes! But even so, there were things to be said—this pleasant interlude couldn't go on forever. As she ate her second cookie, slowly, Ellen wished that the argument might start, so that it would the sooner be over.

Ellen precipitated the crisis. She was always saying things she didn't intend to say.

"Can Jane cook?" she asked.

Tony shrugged.

"I wish," she said, "that we might have liked each other, Jane and I. But I'm afraid it isn't possible. . . ."

"That," said Tony, "is the way I feel about Alven. He's a nice guy, and I don't doubt, a good artist—but I'm afraid he's out. So far as I'm concerned."

"Dick," Ellen rose and carried her tray away to the kitchenette place, "Dick is so regular, Tony, you must understand that. He'd asked me to marry him, yes. But never—never—has he ever kissed me before this day—you've got to believe that! And he'll never kiss me again, I'm sure—unless I tell him to. You can count on Dick, Tony. Dick is a gentleman."

"And Jane," said Tony shortly, "is a gentlewoman. You can count on her!"

Ellen could have killed herself for saying it, but she couldn't help herself.

"Jane didn't make it very easy for me tonight," she said. "I didn't think she acted like a gentleman, exactly. She gave me a rotten time." Tony was flushing, but, oddly enough, he held his peace.

"I don't think she behaved very well, either," he said. "And I don't know whether or not she was in love with me. Our families were friends—our summer places were adjoining. I'm fond of Jane, too. She rides well and plays a swell game of golf, and tennis, and she can dance."

"I can dance, too," said Ellen. She offer it babyishly, as an apology because she couldn't ride, or play golf, or play tennis. . . .

Tony agreed.

"I'll say you can dance," he agreed. All at once he was coming across the little prim room—and then he was on the arm of Ellen's chair, and his arm was around her.

"I'll never forget our first dance together," he said. Will you—my darling?"

But even as their lips met, Ellen found herself wondering whether her father said that long, long ago to her mother. She fought against the way in which she was returning Tony's kisses—she fought to keep the thoughts of her father, of her mother, uppermost.

"I'll not let you get me," she said a trifle breathlessly, more than a trifle wildly.

Tony's arms grew tighter; he hadn't quite caught the words.

"But I have got you!" he said.

"You'll never get me," she said.

"Not really! Remember that, Tony. There can be fifty girls like Jane, and they can all love you, and it won't matter to me! Remember that, Tony. Fifty, girls, like Jane!"

Many important changes effecting the filing of income tax returns are embodied in the Revenue Act of 1934, several of which are likely to be most confusing to income taxpayers.

Large Attendance At Lamb Co. H. D. Council Meeting

The Lamb county Home Demonstration Council met in Miss Westbrook's office Tuesday, February 25, with ten clubs represented.

Mr. Penner from Texas Tech, was with us and gave an interesting discussion on dairy products and also how to judge dairy products.

Mrs. Fent asked that clubs have their exhibits for the meat show at Lubbock and also for the dairy show at Plainview in Miss Westbrook's office in plenty of time for the committee to get them on exhibit. It was decided to have the hot tamale elimination contest next council day. All clubs have your teams present.

Mrs. Packard gave an interesting report on 4-H club work. We also had reports from the farmers meeting from different parts of the county.

Miss Westbrook gave the duties of the different communities. It takes active committees to make active clubs. Remember council is every fourth Tuesday. Let's have 100 per cent representation next meeting. You mill something worth while every time you miss.

Hammons Invites Public To Open House March 16 and 17

Hammons Funeral Home have announced their formal opening in their new establishment Saturday and Sunday, March 16 and 17, at which time they will have open house and invite the public to call and view their beautiful new and spacious funeral home, at East Fifth Street and LFD Drive.

Pryor Hammons, owner, purchased this property from C. J. Duggan interests last fall, and immediately set about to have the building completely remodeled. A chapel, reception room, display room, two reposing rooms, and a preparation room were arranged.

The entire lower floor is given over to the funeral home, with Mr. Hammons private office conveniently arranged.

The spacious lawn is being worked over, and will be planted to grass; also a number of trees and shrubbery will be set out.

A new shipment of the new 1935 National caskets as well as a complete stock of beautiful funeral supplies have been received, and will be on display at this opening.

A kit of new supplies for restorative art work, a new chapel tent, automatic lowering device and a new set of Evergreen grass are included in the new equipment purchased by Mr. Hammons.

This concern has left no stone unturned to give to Littlefield and trade territory one of the most complete and convenient funeral homes in this section of the Plains.

It is the plan of the Hammons Funeral Home to later make additional improvements, which will include the taking out of the front wall and using the space now occupied by the large front porch to enlarge the chapel.

It is also expected in the near future to purchase a new funeral car and ambulance.

The Hammons Funeral Home handles National caskets which are made in every grade to suit every purse and preference. The National metal casket line ranges in price and quality from the magnificent cast bronze Sarcophagi to the lower grade metals.

The Texas branch of the National Casket Company is located at Dallas, with Bentley Young, manager. Jim Morgan, representative of the company for this territory, will be in attendance during the opening and show the National line to all those interested.

Several other representatives of concerns with which the Hammons Funeral Home does business, will also be present, including floral companies, which will have huge displays of floral offerings.

Mr. Hammons has been in business in Littlefield for the past ten years, coming here from Post, where he was engaged in the same line of work for seven years. He conducted a furniture and undertaking establishment in the building now occupied by Piggly-Wiggly Grocery for several years, following which he located in the building now occupied by the Vinther Motor Company, and where he conducted business until January last, when he discontinued the furniture line, and set out to improve and enlarge the funeral home.

In the past ten years, Mr. Hammons states his records show that he has answered about 1000 calls.

"Bright Eyes" To Be Featured at Palace Saturday Midnight

Shirley Temple, most sensational screen discovery of the year, at last has "the perfect screen vehicle." That, at any rate, is the gist of the enthusiastic advance accounts which precede Fox Film's "Bright Eyes" to the Palace Theatre, where it will be featured Saturday midnight, Sunday afternoon, Sunday night and Monday.

A FOX Picture with JAMES DUNN
Produced by Sol M. Wurtzel

Hollywood and New York have previewed this newest of Shirley's films and have voted it a story ideally suited to the extraordinary talents of this child star. It was written especially for her and is described as a remarkably human and heart-warming narrative.

The dramatic story of "Bright Eyes" was suggested to David Butler, director, by a real-life incident occurring at a commercial airport near Los Angeles. He told it to Sol M. Wurtzel, Fox Film producer, who at once grew enthusiastic about the idea as a vehicle for the remarkable child star. Butler and Edwin Burke, famous screen writer, collaborated on the story, which was then adapted to the screen by William Conselman.

Plainsman—

Mr. and Mrs. Drake were more than worth the experience.

Maybe you thought there was a sandstorm in Lubbock yesterday afternoon, but if you weren't stalled with a flat and a broken jack handle seven miles west of Shallowater you didn't see anything but a zephyr!

Let the Plainsman tell you that it got so dark up there that car lights would not penetrate an inch; that it rained just enough to coat the windshield with about an eighth of an inch of mud; that there was so much electricity in the air that cars stopped without power and you couldn't see the fenceposts from the middle of the road.

Furthermore, let the Plainsman tell you that if it hadn't been for such of nature's noblemen as Mr. Rockne, a Ford man from Muleshoe; Mr. Ross Hard, who runs the Conoco station in Shallowater, and Mr. M. E. Dunlap, a cattle buyer of Lubbock, this column wouldn't have been here this afternoon and neither would The Plainsman.

If it hadn't been for the helping hands proffered by these gentlemen listed—in spite of the worst sand storm in modern history if not the worst ever, it would have been just too bad.

The Plainsman is on record as being ready to do the same for any of those gentlemen, who helped him out of a jam, at any time—but he sure hopes he never has to!

But all's well that ends well and sandstorms are sandstorms and to be expected in this country, which perhaps ought to be given back to the Indians, anyhow.

Yet we've got a swell bull pup, beautifully marked, and out of the fightingest stock in the country, for which we are thankful to Morley and Mrs. Drake.

So we haven't anything to kick about, after all!

Water Contract—

must be finished within 90 working days," announced Mayor L. R. Crockett early this week.

"We hope to effect a reduction in water rates to all users as result of this project. There is a possibility that owners of irrigation farms may be allowed a rate immediately upon completion of the job the latter part of May," declared City Commissioners Pat Boone and Carl Arnold.

"Only the approval of Julian Montgomery, State PWA engineer, is needed to assure legality of the entire project," said City Secretary W. G. Street Tuesday.

Under the plans, a Fairbanks, Morse & Co., 500-gallon-a-minute pump will be installed. Fifty-five horse power and 110 horse power Cooper-Bessemer diesel engines, burning natural gas, will be installed to supply juice for operation of the pump. The four old wells now in use will be discontinued, but kept in shake for emergency use.

Plans call also for erection of nearly 6,000 feet of electric line for power transmission from the pump house at the new well to the power house. Contractors must lay 2,200 feet of 8-inch water mains in ditches alongside Highway 7, take up a like amount from beneath center of the roadbed, relay the old 6-inch pipe elsewhere in the city, and put down 2,700 feet of 2-inch mains wherever needed.

Last Rites Are Held For Whitharral Lady At Levelland Tuesday

Miss Balzadie Larue, aged about 67, South Plains Pioneer, passed away Monday night, March 4, at twelve o'clock at the home of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph K. Larue, one-half mile west of Whitharral, following an illness of three weeks. Flu and complications were believed the cause of her death.

Funeral services were conducted at three o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the grave in Levelland Cemetery, with Rev. Glenn, Pastor of Church of Holiness of Levelland, officiating, and Hammons Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Deceased was born May 13, 1867, in Tennessee, where she was reared. She came to the South Plains, making her home with her brother and his wife near Whitharral in 1926, from near New Boston, Bowie county, where she had lived for twenty-five years.

She was a member of the Methodist church for many years.

Her brother, Joseph K. Larue, is her only close surviving relative.

Series of Meetings Being Conducted At Church of Christ

LUBBOCK, LOCAL LUMINARIES SHINE AT ROTARY LUNCHEON

Governor Tom Taylor, Brownwood, of the 41st Rotary District, Mayor Ross Edwards, Lubbock, and a number of other luminaries were special guests at last week's Rotary luncheon held last Thursday in the First Methodist church.

A Texas Independence Day entertainment program was directed by the Littlefield Senior Study Club with Mrs. J. M. Stokes, president, in charge. Mrs. R. E. McCaskill presented the Misses Claudene and Lorene Campbell and Doc Wingo and Ivey Waters in rangeland song and music. Mrs. Stokes gave readings.

Governor Taylor was unstinting in praise for Littlefield, "one of the best, if not the best, in this district." He cited in particular the work the chapter has outlined and carried out in recent months.

Mayor Edwards, who headed a delegation of Lubbock citizens and city officials, spoke briefly in acceptance of a welcome extended the Hub city visitors.

Others in the group were City Manager Rodgers, W. B. Price, A. J. Richardson, J. C. Royalty, J. L. Ryan and Felix Reese, all of whom were introduced by Littlefield Mayor L. R. Crockett as guests of the city commission here. Commissioner Pat Boone aided in the welcome.
