Lamb County Soil Fertility Clinic Set For February 23

Soil fertility, and its continued fertility, is now recognized and stressed by government agencies and farmer-landowners, here on the South Plains, as the No. One project or goal. In the past, the stressed goal for improvement has been water and rainfall, but this deficiency has been, or is being met and conquered through irrigation.

The annual clinic devoted to the past to irrigation and soil conservation, this year will again be held, but will be billed as a Soil Fertility Clinic, and stress ways and means for soil improvement.

It has long been known that continued production of cotton imposes an undue strain on land, as is evidenced by practically abandonment of thousands of cotton acreage in the deep south—and it is for a fact that, here on the South Plains that the clinic will center around or upon this year.

New Addition Under Construction At Bennett Chiropractic Clinic

First Lieutenant Ben Brotherton Stationed In Louisiana

Mrs. Ben Brotherton and two children, Bob and Barbara, of Lockney spent last week-end here with her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Brotherton and family.

Construction is underway in the erection of an addition to the Bennett Chiropractic clinic at 106 East Ninth street, Littlefield.

With Tom Grant in charge of construction, the new addition is being built to the east section of the structure. In an interview with Dr. Clyde W. Bennett, owner and operator, he stated that the new addition would enable them to take care of additional patients; that their practice had grown so extensively the past year that they had not been able to care for the many patients who sought treatment, but that with the additional space the new expansion will enable them to care for additional patients.

Must Find A Way To Prosperity Based On Peace

Declaring that "our primary concern is to find the way to prosperity based on peace and sound economics rather than war and inflation," delegates to the 19th annual convention of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation went on record this week in favor of economy in government and a national farm policy formulated at the "grass roots."

More than 1,000 Farm Bureau members, including 415 voting delegates from 124 counties, attended the three-day session which ended Wednesday at the Plaza Hotel in San Antonio.

Speakers at the convention included Sen. George D. Alken (REP) of Vermont who is slated to assume the chairmanship of the Senate Committee on Agriculture and Forestry; Congressman Clark W. Thompson (DEM.) of Galveston; and Romeo Short, vice-president of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

The Texas farm organization, considered the most powerful lobby at the last legislative session in Austin, also adopted resolutions calling for acreage control to keep production in line with demand and a flexible price support system "that permits freedom of action by the farmer with a minimum of cost to the government." These supports would start at 100 per cent of parity when supplies are normal, to exceed when a crop is short, and lowered when there is an excess of supply.

This resolution, unique among proposals made by state Farm Bureaus, is a reaffirmation of one first adopted in 1949 by the Texas Farm Bureau.

Towards solving the number one problem confronting agriculture in the state—water—the convention recommended that sufficient funds be appropriated by the state legislature "to promote the vitally needed research on the water situation."

To rid the state of the dread pink bollworm menace, the delegates recommended that the cotton stalk destruction deadline be strictly adhered to except for extensions granted due to weather or when a definite area-wide shortage of pickers exists.

The Texas Farm Bureau also went on record favoring an increase in the appropriation for the present farm-to-market road program, an increase in the per diem pay of State legislators, more agricultural research to increase the productivity of the farm, vigorous support to revision of the Texas seed laws governing the purity and germination and proper tagging of planting seeds sold in Texas to protect growers against loss, and a national Farm Holiday to be designated for the second Saturday in October each year.

The convention delegates also voted to expand the rural telephone service through the facilities of REA where private industry has not furnished this service. The resolution on REA read: "We recognize the need for adequate generation facilities and transmission lines to serve rural areas. Where these services are not available at a reasonable rate, we insist on the continuation through the facilities of the REA the right to furnish this service to farmers and ranchers."

The convention opposed price controls, efforts to socialize medicine, business or agriculture, and the practice of government agencies using any facilities of that agency to promote political aspirations or disunion among members of farm organizations.

Vehicle Inspection Reduces Accidents

Statistics are treacherous, as Executive Director G. C. Morris of the Highway Safety Council of Texas says, and caution should be used in jumping to conclusions on the basis of them. Nevertheless, as Mr. Morris also pointed out, the number of fatal highway accidents in Texas during the first nine months of this year showed a decided drop from the same period of last year.

During the first quarters of 1951, the rate of fatal accidents was 7.9 for every million passenger miles of automobile travel. This year the rate has been 6.5. That means a drop of 17 per cent in deaths while highway travel was increasing 8 per cent. The death rate so far recorded this year exactly parallels that in other states which have automobile inspection laws, such as the one which went into effect in Texas last January 1.

No definite conclusions can be drawn from these circumstances, especially in view of the fact that many of Texas' 3,500,000 motor vehicles were uninspected until September. But the only apparent difference that existed in Texas this year, as compared with last year, was the automobile inspection requirement. It possibly is significant, also, that in September, the first month of full inspection, the death toll in highway accidents was 169 against an August total of 210.

Even though it cannot be said definitely that the inspection law had anything to do with it, the fact remains that it might have had. There is a chance that there are 41 persons in Texas who owe their lives to the safety inspection law. In New Jersey, where the inspection requirement has been in effect for 13 years, the death rate was declined by 50 per cent.

Agitation is sure to arise in the next Legislature for repeal of the Texas law. But if there is a chance that retention of the law could save as many as 41 lives in a month, we think the program ought to be given sufficient trial to determine its effect.

Jack Anders Joins Hereford Police Dept.

HEREFORD — Jack Anders, former law enforcement officer at Anton and Levelland, has started work as the first recruit of Hereford's new police force.

He is the first man hired to replace members of the force who resigned in a body Saturday because what city officials described as "internal dissension" in the department.

Hollis Rainey, former policeman, was named Saturday as acting chief and he will continue in the job indefinitely, Mayor S. O. Wilson said.

Anders, who has lived in Hereford about two months has been employed by O. G. Hill, sr., local rancher. He has had about 16 years experience in police work, Mayor Wilson said.

The city commission is taking applications for jobs on the police force and expects to have a full quota of four men at work within the next few days.

J. C. Mays was named acting chief recently to succeed Floyd Reeves, who resigned to return to his former home in Dalhart. Mays and officers L. B. Redwine and Everett Crisp turned in their resignation Saturday.

LET'S TALK LIVESTOCK

By Ted Gouldy

Fort Worth—Increasing concern is being expressed by livestock men at Fort Worth and over the country about the weakened condition of many cows, as well as other kinds of livestock due to drouthy conditions.

Supplemental feed sales are reported rather slow in comparison with a year ago by the trade and fears are being expressed that if a hard winter comes, or bad storms hit, the death loss will be of staggering proportions.

It is pointed out that mineral and vitamin deficiencies, as well as thin flesh, are the rule. Already reports of "White Muscle Disease" and other similar disturbances are being heard from producers interviewed at Fort Worth.

It is feared that many livestock producers may suffer a tragic "die up" this winter because of the weakened condition of the stock, which in some cases is in worse shape than the owners realize, when they arrive at Fort Worth for sale.

Unless special care is given cows and ewes it is expected that the calf and lamb crops for next year will be curtailed sharply.

In the sheep country last year many ewes refused to accept their lambs and left them to die in the drouth ridden country. A recurrence of this heavy loss is considered possible.

Stock water shortages are now on par with feed shortages in the dry sections of the country. Many shipments of livestock are being forced because of shortage of water and water handling is becoming more and more common in the drouth areas.

The livestock trade in general looks for a strong stocker market in the Spring provided dry sections get some rain.

The break in cattle prices this year was predicted over a year ago by many "experts" who cautioned about the high cattle population which at this time was getting ready to go over the 90 million mark.

The high cattle population, coupled with sub-normal pastures and feed conditions over the Great Plains area of the United States made the break more severe than anyone had anticipated.

Ancient Car Aids Education

A nationwide survey by the Chevrolet Motor Division of old cars on college campuses credits this 1926, four-cylinder coupe with being "most useful." The ancient vehicle is almost literally putting (i. to r.) Keith, Wayne and Newman Brown through school. It is their link between their farm home near Ames, Ia. and the educational facilities of Iowa State University. Week-ends the 26-year-old Chevrolet is employed on farm chores.

terraces and break up the hardpan to bypass moisture into the subsoil, yet do not disturb the decaying vegetable matter which protects the surface. These covered terraces stop erosion by wind and water—minimize moisture evaporation from the soil. For the planting operation the tractor need not follow terraces but can cross these small ridges as though the ground were level.

As always, Graham leads the way to lower plowing costs and greater profits with the patented Graham knife assembly which makes it possible to cut all weeds as you plow with your Graham revolutionary plow. Fully adjustable, this new attachment permits knifing at any desired setting, regardless of the chisel depth. Knives overlap enough to cut all vegetation.

Only the knives, which are specially heat-treated steel, have to be replaced. Actual field tests prove that very little more power is needed to perform both chiseling and weed cutting at the same time! The Graham plow is constructed of three heavy high-carbon steel H-beams bolted together with four cross channel irons. Each beam carries a row of resilient, tough nickel alloy heat-treated steel shanks three feet apart. Specially built and patented clamps attach the shanks rigidly to the frame. Shanks can be instantly adjusted and spaced by loosening two set-screws. Graham patented self-sharpening plow tools are bolted to the end of the shanks.

The plow is available on demountable drop center disc wheels, tire size 60x16. Wheels are equipped with Timken bearings enclosed in special Graham dust-proof seal in conjunction with Garlock Klosure

1952 Cotton Loan Program

Several questions have come to the PMA office in Amherst concerning cotton placed in the CCC Cotton Loan in 1952.

Cotton can be placed in the loan until April 30, 1953. After this date cotton cannot be placed in the loan. If a farmer puts his cotton in the loan he can buy this cotton back, or sell his equity on this cotton anytime before July 31, 1953. This is the same as it has been in the past, only equity transfers will not be mailed to you. You will come to the PMA office to get them when you sell your equity. Cotton placed under the loan in 1952, can be bought back in the county at any time before July 31, 1953, because the loan documents will either be at the lending agency where you took your loan for disbursement or at the PMA office.

Some question has been raised regarding fees allowed clerks to execute these loan forms for you.

If you put one bale to the loan document, the clerk is allowed 25c a bale. If you put more than one on the document but less than seven the clerk's fee is 25c for the first bale and 15c for each additional bale to six bales or a total of $1 for the six bales. If you put eight bales on the loan document, 8 is all that can go on one loan, the fee is $1 plus 10c for each additional bale over six, or a total of $1.20 for an eight bale loan document.

If any farmer in Lamb county is paying more than this amount to get his loan document executed, contact the PMA office in Amherst as soon as possible.

If any other questions regarding cotton loans come up, contact the PMA office and they will be glad to discuss the loan program with you.

The PMA office will be close all day Thanksgiving day.

And just to make it even BETTER for each one of you, this year The Leader is going to award a CHRISTMAS PRIZE of $3.00 for the best letter received, $2.00 for the next best, and $1.00 for the next best letter received, and of course the age of the writer will be taken into consideration, by the judges awarding the prizes.
