Below is a service report given the Lamb County Leader Friday, by Lt. and Mrs. Bob Hall, local Salvation Army officials, outlining the social, welfare and work relief done here the past year. We believe it is of interest to many, who often wonder just what the Salvation Army is doing—and how much good they do—and if it is a worthwhile organization.

March of Dimes to Keep Pace With March of Polio

As continuing high costs of polio treatment necessitated eight Texas counties calling upon the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis for $41,160 in advances last week to meet hospital bills, Lloyd Gregory of Houston, state chairman of the 1952 March of Dimes, took steps to bring women into the campaign organization.

Gregory announced the appointment of Mrs. R. O. Pearson of Abilene as chairman of woman's activities for the Texas campaign. The annual March of Dimes will be conducted from January 2 to 31.

Mrs. Pearson, prominent lay leader in the National Foundation's year-round health education work, is known by women throughout Texas, Gregory said. "She will work with State women's organizations in coordinating such activities as the Mothers' March on Polio," as well as other campaign events. She is admirably qualified to lead Texas women in the fight against polio." Receiving advances from the National epidemic aid fund after their own treasuries had been depleted were NFIP local chapters in the following counties: Brown, $2,250; Duval, $100; Fisher, $2,750; Harris, $25,269; Hidalgo, $5,000; Hillam, $500; Orange, $2,400; and Rusk, $2,900. Fifty six Texas counties have required a total of $56,824.21 in advances during 1951, Gregory said.

Nothing that Texas ranks twelfth among the states this year in its polio case rate, Mrs. Pearson declared the March of Dimes worthy of support of every Texas woman to continue treatment for victims and to hasten the discovery of a preventive or cure. "Our aim is to see that the March of Dimes keeps pace with the March of Polio," she declared.

Excessive Caution!

With all the talk of defense spending and defense contracts, and with the restrictions on use of strategic materials, a lot of folks have the idea that the production of defense materials is in high gear. Maybe so. But maybe not.

The Air Force and the Navy will receive less than 5,000 new planes during 1951, a study by Aviation Week discloses. This is in sharp contrast to the President's plan for a fivefold increase in warplanes this year. Production since 1950 has increased only 3,000, the publication says.

The magazine finds discrepancy between the facts and the public statements made in Washington. It quotes J. D. Small, chairman of the Munitions Board, as telling a news conference that aircraft production is now double that of a year ago. But it finds September production was not over 500 planes—an increase of only about 100 planes in monthly production since June 1951.

Purpose of the delay in production was to "go slow" rather than to push defense too hard. This might well be a good policy, but it could be carried too far.

Production capacity on the day after we go to war—if we do go to war—will be the number of planes we can actually produce on that day, not the theoretical capacity that is on the drawing boards, or the potential of auto plants or other factories. Authorities in the government and in aviation manufacturing circles estimate that it would take at least six months after war broke out to speed aircraft production enough to reach the rate of 50,000 planes a year asked by the President.

Our entry into the last war was back-stopped by the fact that our enemies also faced our allies. This time it could be different.

And, while nobody will seriously claim that aircraft alone can win a war or hold off an enemy, neither can it be seriously asserted that the enemy can be held off successfully in modern warfare without plenty of aircraft—in sufficient numbers to allow for a reasonable percentage of losses in combat.

Mechanical Revolution In Cotton Production Underway on High Plains

A mechanical revolution in cotton production is underway in the Texas high plains, according to a recent report of the Texas agricultural experiment station on a study made in cooperation with the USDA Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Bulletin 735, "Economics of Mechanical Cotton Harvesting in the High Plains Cotton Area of Texas," indicates that high plains cotton growers may soon free themselves of their present dependence upon the south Texas migratory labor force, even during peak harvesting periods.

During 1949, for example, an estimated 40 per cent of the record crop, or nearly 600,000 bales, was machine harvested in the 10-county area covered by the study. Included in the area are Bailey, Crosby, Dawson, Hockley, Howard, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn, Martin and Terry counties.

Only in 1948, when yields were extremely low, was the financial advantage in favor of hand harvesting and then only on dry-land cotton.

The authors of the bulletin, M. N. Williamson, Jr., Q. M. Morgan and Ralph H. Rogers, report that during four years of study, 1947-50, costs of hand harvesting average about $40 a bale. The total cost per bale for operating mechanical strippers (exclusive of field and grade loss) on dry-land farms average cost was $29.10 per bale.

On irrigated land with higher yields, average costs were only $4.50 per bale on cotton not previously hand snapped and $19.85 per bale for snapping.

Data on the amount of labor saved by mechanical harvesting are impressive. The report shows that mechanical strippers reduce harvest labor requirements from 17 man hours to 1.5 hours per acre on dry land and from 33 to 2 man hours per acre on irrigated land.

These savings are only partially offset by field losses due to mechanical harvesting. Field losses of storm resistant cotton range from two to 10 per cent of the crop, depending upon the yield, stripper operation and harvesting conditions. On rented farms, the tenant, being responsible for harvesting operations, receives the full benefit of net savings from mechanical stripping. Returns to the landlord, on the other hand, average $3 to $4 less per bale due to field losses on machine-harvested cotton.

Some adjustments are being reported because of this difference. The fruit of the pear is a pear-shaped which contains many

New Outbreaks of Anthrax Reported

New outbreaks of anthrax have been reported in the midwest and chances are this dangerous disease may flare up in other livestock areas this fall, authorities cautioned farmers recently.

The American Foundation for Animal Health reported three outbreaks of the "sudden death killer" in Illinois, where cattle and swine were its principal victims. "The possibility of outbreaks elsewhere this fall has been heightened by heavy rains and floods during the spring and summer," the Foundation said. Germs which cause the disease are often spread to lowland pastures and overflow grounds under flood conditions.

"Since anthrax spores can live in the ground for years, livestock may pick them up when grazing on infected soil. Once the spore gets into the body it multiplies fast and enters the blood stream. The result is an acute blood poisoning and usually death," the report said.

"Besides cattle and swine, the disease can also attack sheep, mules, horses, dogs, cats and even human beings."

"First warning of the acute form of anthrax is when animals die suddenly. In slower killing types, the victim may show depression, have difficulty in breathing and go into convulsions. Death usually follows in one to five days."

In any areas where anthrax is suspected it should be immediately called to the attention of a veterinarian. No vaccines should be used without the express permission of state livestock sanitary authorities.

Health Talks

Prepared by the State Medical Association of Texas

When you order something from a mail order house, it frequently arrives unassembled and you have to put it together the way it's supposed to be. Let's consider the "pieces" that you have to make mental health with and see how they can be put together.

To get way back to the beginning, you have an egg containing 24 tiny strings of beads, each string known as a gene, surrounded by food material. Then there is a sperm, also containing 24 tiny strings of beads.

When the sperm and egg meet, each of the genes pair off, making 24 pairs of genes. For the sake of clarity, you can imagine that each pair becomes entwined so that they still look like only 24 tiny strings, tied together at one end.

Now that's what you have to work with to start on mental and physical health. Everyone is supposed to have those 24 genes, the gift of ancestors going back we know not how far.

For about nine months those genes develop under the mother's power, with the air of mother breathes and the food she eats creating the power for the genes. Those strings of genes start swinging around like the spokes of a wheel, and as they swing they grow longer, creating physical characteristics of the body.

You can imagine that the womb is like a frame that permits those genes to grow only so far in each direction, sort of a mold to form the shape of the child.

Then comes birth and the child, the molded strings of genes, starts up his own power plant by breathing, drinking and eating.

Suppose some of those genes were reserved strictly for mental activity. They haven't started swinging in a very wide circle yet, but don't forget that all those genes, both mental and physical, have a common beginning; they were all tied at one end when they started out.

So the motion of those physical genes reacts upon the knot which ties them to the mental genes. These mental genes, or spokes, start swinging out, too, more or less following the pattern set by the physical spokes. If a physical spoke (you can imagine that is a nerve or a muscle) comes in contact with something pleasant, then the mental spoke "registers" that the thing the physical spoke touched was good. If the physical spoke touches something that hurts, then the mental spoke records that as something to be avoided.

As time goes by, those mental spokes have a recording of many goods and bads, all things that affect the child. But somewhere along the way the child discovers that the things he does also affect other people. So he starts becoming aware of another "wheel" made up of other people who affect him and whom he affects.

So while his physical development goes on, he mentally pictures a new world, a world of other people who have feelings and actions like himself.

Then one day the child runs smack dab into the table. He treats it as if it were another person but gets no reaction. A few instances like that and the child decides his world is made up not only of himself and other people but "things" as well, all of which affect him.

At that point he's all "assembled." But since he has moving parts he also has to "work". The key to his proper action is a kindly guidance that not only shows him how to attain those things that are "good" but also how to avoid those things that are "bad".

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON

BY TEX EASLEY

AP Special Washington Service

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nearly a billion dollars worth of defense plant construction has been initiated in Texas under the accelerated tax amortization program inaugurated a year ago by the Defense Production Administration.

The purpose of the tax write-off plan, a World War II practice which Congress has reinstated is to encourage private companies to build new or expand existing plants for the output of defense goods.

Unless a special inducement is offered, private investors would be reluctant to make a large financial outlay for a refinery, mill or manufacturing plant which in a few years might be without business.

A company is allowed to deduct for tax purposes the cost of a plant from its gross income, subtracting the amount in equal portions over a period of up to 20 years in normal times. Under the emergency provision this may be written off in five years.

The last official total on tax amortization certificates available at the DPA showed that as of Aug. 18, 140 had been issued for Texas, covering work with a total value of $825,595,000. Texas ranked second only to Pennsylvania among all states, accounting for 8.9 per cent of the total national figure.

Nine urban centers in Texas got approximately half of the investments represented in the certificates issued in the state as of Aug. 18.

The centers, with amounts involved in different projects: Amarillo, $2,774,000; Beaumont-Port Arthur, $50,740,000; Corpus Christi, $110,525,000; Dallas, $2,823,000; El Paso, $10,264,000; Fort Worth, $10,745,000; Galveston-Texas City area, $35,358,000; Houston, $193,729,000; San Antonio, $12,333,000.

Only construction directly attributable to the defense program is eligible for the accelerated tax amortization.

Since the Aug. 18 summary was prepared more than a score of additional certificates have gone to Texas concerns.

The total value of these is not yet available, but they probably will bring the total for Texas close to, if not in excess of, a billion dollars.

A Fellow Can Eat A Pancake "Snowman"!

If Johnny likes to cook, aid and abet him. He may not be a famous chef in the making—but at least he'll grow up to have a culinary "specialty" that will provide his wife with a night off occasionally! With real snowmen just around the corner, Johnny will enjoy preparing—and eating—a pancake snowman. You provide the batter and give Johnny the green light. He'll love you for it—now and later, and he'll be encouraged to eat a good, real American breakfast. Add to the boy's props, a can of maple-blended syrup, crisp broiled bacon, butter, and a bowl of plump raisins. Eyes and buttons-down-the-front of each snowman will make a gay picture on the breakfast plate—the snowman liberally covered with maple-blended syrup will have melt-in-the-mouth goodness.

Add fruit in season, a tall glass of milk, and your Johnny can have a real American breakfast of his own making!

Snowmen Pancakes

Use your favorite pancake recipe. Then, to make each snowman, pour spoonfuls of batter onto hot greased griddle, dropping batter so as to form small, medium and large circles, close enough together so that they will overlap to make a snowman. Bake to a golden brown, then turn, and brown on other side. Remove pancakes to a warm plate and decorate with raisins to make face and buttons.

Queen Contest

Georgia Ann Matthews; C. E. Williams; Sandra Ross; Mrs. Paul Jones; Phyllis Clayton.

Home room candidates from the junior high building include: Mrs. Don Hays; Jackie Hill; Mrs. William's, Virginia Chapman; Mrs. A. Y. Doherty's, Patsy Reeves; Mrs. Richey's, Patsy McCain; other eighth graders are Phyllis Jeffries and Wanda Metcalf. The junior high list of candidates is not complete.

The semi-finals were to be held Friday afternoon—too late to be published in this issue.

The coronation of the queen will be held the night of the carnival, October 30th, at 8:30 p.m. in the auditorium of the new high school building. Voting for the queen will continue throughout the day of the carnival. In conjunction with the coronation ceremony will be a home talent show. Each civic club in the city is asked to contribute one act for the show. (Contact Mrs. E. C. Rodgers or Mrs. Skipper Smith for further details.) The price of the admission for the entire show is 25 cents for students and 50 cents for adults.

Other features of the carnival will be a mammoth parade in which eight prizes will be awarded for costumes boys and girls of all ages. The parade is to be staged at 5:30 o'clock.

Prizes will go to the boy and girl with the most unusual costume—to the prettiest costumes—the most typical costume and the most original.

The parade will start at the court house, and will be led by the Wildcat band, with full police protection. It will continue directly to the highway, turn west and go to the school.

West First street, between the junior high and central schools will be roped off where booths will be set up for the carnival, with some entertaining features to be held in the junior high building.

Flats are puzzles in which a word is described or hinted, usually in verse. That's the type at the beginning of this article and is called an enigma—appropriately, what?

Here's how you get the answer horseradish: The animal in the first line is horse and it's in front of DISH. In between (refer back to second line) is a liquid—to these word specialists it means a liquid consonant of which "R" is one. Hence horseradish. Or so they say.

Want to try a nanagram? Rearrange the letters in "A snug habit, it" to fit these clues:

"And my, don't it fit! When she struts on the beach She's a peach! She is it! Her beauty of line Is superb, it is fine. To stifle all doubt, She seems almost to shout It's all mine." Give up?

"Bathing suit" is the answer. These puzzlers, the people that is, spend their time making up and printing them in books or in their monthly magazine "The Enigma" (that word again).

At their convention, they spent their time just like the proverbial mailman—testing each other to crown a champion.

WAGE EXPENSIVE WAR KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (P)—The war being waged by British troops and security forces against Communist terrorists in Malaya seems to be getting more and more expensive.

It's the wise motorist who keeps a box of baking soda handy in the glove compartment of his car for putting out unexpected fires. Baking soda is an inexpensive fire extinguisher—poured on a small fire, it will quickly and effectively smother it by generating carbon dioxide which settles down over the flame and shuts off the air supply of oxygen without which a fire cannot burn.

Robert P. Boyland, born Oct. 29, 1891 in Cincinnati, Ohio, was formerly Chairman of the Board of the New York Stock Exchange. He retired from the board last May, but is still a member of the Exchange, functioning on the floor as a specialist. Boyland went to work at 14 as a clerk in a Chicago grain brokerage firm. In 1918 he began operating under his own name in Chicago as a broker in grains and stocks and in 1935 became president of the Chicago Board of Trade. There has recently been organized a Boys Club reaching a dozen or more boys per week for special training in woodwork as well as citizenship and recreation. Equipment is badly needed. Guess They Felt Pretty "Sheepish"

My wife and I went to Central City Saturday for the football game and it was a top-notch. But I began to wonder if it was worth the trouble when we got in a traffic jam coming home. Traffic makes me mighty impatient. When I came to a side road that seemed to point towards the main highway, I turned onto it. This road bumps along for maybe a mile, then fetches up short by the railroad—a dead end. So, I turned around and darned if there weren't twenty cars behind me! One driver had followed

He bought a seat on the New York Exchange in 1936. Ruth Gordon, born Oct. 30, 1896 in Wollaston, Mass., is one of the American theater's best known actresses. She starred both in Broadway plays and Hollywood films, after hard study and a hard climb past such jobs as film extra and taxi dancer. She said once in discussing her work: "The will to succeed... is half the battle. I hadn't any illusions about my ability; I only thought if other people could learn to act, I could." Miss Gordon also wrote several plays, which were produced on Broadway. Ethel Waters, born Oct. 30, 1896 in Chester, Pa., is famous as an actress and a singer. Her hits include "Harlem Nocturne" and "Harlem Nocturne." "Blackbirds," "At Home Abroad," "At Home Abroad," "Member of the Wedding" among her Broadway successes. She married first when she was 16 and a half, and worked as a maid before a chance led her stage career.

Old Man Winter's On The Way, So Better Get Your Home Ready for Cold Weather

REMEMBER those shivery, bone-chilling, below-zero days of last winter? Seems like a long time ago. But your calendar tells you winter is just around the corner again. So now is the time to get your town home or farm house ready for cold weather.

Cracks and crevices around your windows and doors should be specially checked. That's where cold wintry drafts seep in. A lot of heat is lost through the glass itself, too. You can protect your family against uncomfortable cold and dangerous drafts this winter, by tacking on low-cost, transparent, flexible window materials that keep out the cold, hold in the heat and cut down fuel bills. Available at your local hardware and lumber dealer, these materials can be quickly made into storm doors and windows, or used for closing in exposed porches. All you do is cut the material to size with shears and tack on over screens. This saves you from changing screens, protects the screens during the winter, turns a wind swept porch into a warm, usable room. Severe tests under wintering weather conditions in Florida, according to Hartz leading manufacturer of materials, have proved an inexpensive method will house cozy, warm and comfortable even on the coldest days. Fuel costs have been 25 per cent in homes with window materials stalled. These shatterproof glass are cheaper than glass down can be made water about $1.25; a door for savings on fuel bills and make up this low cost season. Easy to keep clean, double window material quickly taken off in the rolled up and used next year. Properly put up and cared for, will last many seasons.

Seven Hundred Carloads of Food Shipped by CROP Overseas

On Oct. 12 (Special) Food Ships bearing wheat and beans from Texas and other distressed areas of the United States during United Nations Week are being donated to the Christian Rural program in a people-to-people demonstration of good will. Half of the 48 states are to accept contributions of commodities and cash. Plans are being made to load lots of bulk commodities, which are being dispatched to the 48 states, into foodstuffs and complete partial carloads. The remaining shipments will consist of wheat, beans, soybeans and flour. One will proceed to Naples, Italy, Piraeus, Greece; and Beirut, Lebanon. The other will proceed to Trieste for trans-shipment to points in Central Europe.

Activity in Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Western Montana may warrant a separate shipment out of Portland during United Nations Week or shortly thereafter. Another possible shipment, composed of gifts from California, Arizona, Nevada, and Utah, would be made out of San Francisco.

A Texas Friendship Food and Fiber Ship will leave the Port of Houston in November. Consisting of cotton, peanuts, wheat, rice and mife from west-south-central states, it will go to Yokohama, Japan, and Korea if conditions permit.

Shipside dedication ceremonies will be held in Chicago and Philadelphia on United Nations Day. The former city has been selected as the site of a central dedication ceremony that will symbolize the Friendship Food shipments from the several ports.

The Friendship Food Ship appeal inaugurates the annual fall campaign period of the Christian Rural Overseas Program. For the first time this year it has been made possible for urban communities to join rural America in demonstrating good will to the victims of war and natural disasters through CROP. The nationwide response will insure stop-gap aid for the needy overseas until the bulk of the harvest contributions from Rural America can be gathered.

Since 1947 CROP has shipped 5,400 freight carloads of commodities to 32 countries of the world. Distribution has been made solely on the basis of need by the church

Information For Veterans

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. I received a National Service Life Insurance dividend check from VA, and I'm sure VA made a mistake. How can I get things straightened out?

A. Write to the VA district office that handles your NSLI account, giving complete information so that the office can identify your case. The address is the same that appears on the printed envelope that VA sends you for premium payments. Do not write the VA Central Office in Washington.

Q. I am a patient in a VA hospital, and my doctor told me I am to be transferred to another hospital for specialized treatment. Who pays for the move?

A. The VA. Transportation between VA hospitals may be furnished at government expense, if the transfer is deemed necessary by VA doctors in charge of the case.

Q. Can a veteran enter into business with a non-veteran, and get a GI business loan?

A. Yes, provided the interest of the veteran is properly protected.

Three Former Wildcats Now Starting Lineup For McMurry Indians

Fullback Sabin Hendrickson Is Co-Capt. Of Indians

Although McMurry coach Wilford Moore is never quite sure of his starting line-up before the game, there's one fellow that's sure to be in there—fullback Sabin Hendrickson.

Coach Wilford Moore is also a former Wildcat star himself.

A senior co-captain, Hendrickson is a Littlefield product. Although the plains town has been a good source for McMurry football material, Moore is positive that Hendrickson is one of the best yet.

Last weekend could have strengthened the Indians coach's opinion, too. The Redmen lost to Texas A&P's Javelinas 26-14 but Hendrickson rambled 227 yards on the ground and drove from the one-yard line for one of the Tribe tallies.

Hendrickson has collected 364 yards on 104 carries, and has only lost 15 yards. The Indian ace sports a 4.9 yards per carry average, while "Cat Hinson," also a fullback, closely follows with 4.7.

The 205 pound "line-buster" began his football career in grade school in Mississippi, played three years of high school football at Littlefield and was named twice to the All-District squad.

Laying out for two years, Hendrickson started his scholastic career at Oklahoma A&M and then transferred to McMurry at the beginning of his junior year.

Hendrickson is nationally known, too. He was recently named as a back to watch in the Southwest by both Collier and Saturday Evening Post magazines.

Most unique of Hendrickson's individual statistics this year is his punt record. He's only kicked once, but he leads the Texas Conference with 51 yards per try. It was a quick kick against Mississippi Southern two weeks ago.

The Indians, who have won one and lost four games to date, may not have a successful season, but Abilene fans are betting that it will not be Sabin Hendrickson's fault.

SABIN HENDRICKSON

Sabin Hendrickson, 190 pound fullback, is on the starting lineup for the McMurry Indians this year and is in his second year with the squad. He has one more year of eligibility left after this season. He was recently picked by Colliers magazine to make the "Little All-America Team." He is an excellent student and has some of the best grades of any student in the school. He played his last year of high school football with the Littlefield Wildcats in 1946.

STEVEN BROCK

Stephen Brock, halfback for the McMurry Indians, was recently the leading man in the Texas Conference in pass receiving. He is making the starting lineup this year and is only a sophomore. He played on the 1949 state championship team in Littlefield and his blocking was one of the reasons the Wildcats won the state title that year.

BILLY SISSON

Billy Sisson, McMurry guard is in his third year at the college and is on the starting lineup again this year as he has been ever since he enrolled at the college. He was a four year letterman at Littlefield and played his last game here in 1947. He is coached at McMurry by Wilford Moore, also a Littlefield ex.
