"THAT'S THE ONE I WANT," says Gregg Helbig, 18-month-old son of Asst. County Agent Herb Helbig, after looking at the display of ribbons, banners and trophies which will be awarded Saturday in the Lamb County Junior Livestock Show. Gregg went for the grand champion swine trophy. But his daddy told him he'd have to wait a few years. It's a pretty safe bet that Gregg will be a 4-H boy, because his dad is in charge of 4-H work in the county. (STAFF PHOTO)

Legislators' Ideas School Year Vary

Issues facing the Legislature — length of school year — teachers' pay — varied comments in letters to Dr. Armistead, Littlefield school superintendent.

Dr. Armistead and other board members which the 10-month school year is a $4,200 minimum salary for teachers.

Legislature, Rep. Jess Osborn, wrote: "I think that some of our school year will be 90 days in the future we will have a solution at this Latest to file in the city council race was J. C. Bryce, an insurance man.

That brought the total in the city race to six. The three men in the school election were the first to file in that race.

The school vote is scheduled April 4, with the city council election set for April 7.

The spurt in filing came with time running out on the filing deadline.

Last day to file in the school board election is Thursday at 5 p. m. Last time to file in the city election is Saturday at noon.

Already in the city council race were: for mayor, E. J. Foust, Sr., the incumbent; for councilman, J. E. Chisholm, florist; Bob Manley, hospital administrator; M. A. (Rip) Elms, Western Cotton oil manager; and Box Cox, present city commissioner.

The city will go from the commission form of government to the council-manager form after the April 7 election, as a result of voters approving a new city charter Feb. 20.

The project includes installation of a new lift station near the west end of West 1st Street. Commissioners will meet at 7:30 in the city hall.

City Commissioners Will Meet Tonight

time," said Osborn. "but I look with favor on extending the school year."

Taking just the opposite view was a letter from Sen. Preston Smith of Lubbock. Said he: "As this Legislature convened, it was my opinion that the length of the school year should not be increased. So far nothing has been said or done to make me change my mind."

"Frankly," wrote Smith, "I just do not see the need for this extra month as it would only increase taxes and no doubt the same subjects would be taught over 10 months instead of nine."

Osborn is a member of the House Appropriations Committee. It has been the constant aim

Both the city and school elections have drawn only part of the incumbents.

Carl Locke, a present school board member, apparently does not plan to file, and City Commissioner Clint Griffin has announced he is through.

The three in the school board race are seeking two posts. While Foust is alone in his race for mayor, the other five men will be seeking four posts.

Littlefield Newspapers' Campaign Will End At 9 P.M. Friday Night

As the hands of the clock keep turning toward that all important hour of 9:00 o'clock this Friday night, March 6, each subscription becomes more important to candidates in the Littlefield Newspapers trade expansion campaign.

Reports contained in candidates' sealed envelopes Friday night must decide the winner of the last five prizes offered. The winning candidates will be those using every minute for the remaining hours.

Candidates who are studying their campaign now realize that each subscription they collect may be the deciding one for the five big prizes being offered in these closing days of this great drive, now drawing to an end.

Every candidate should realize when collecting a subscription these closing days, it could easily mean $100 instead of the little commission, as it could easily be the deciding one on these special awards.

Every subscriber who has not taken advantage of the unusual savings being given on their subscription at this time, should come to the Littlefield newspapers office at once and see that their subscription is recorded, to secure the savings, and if not possible to come to the office, phone 26 or 27, so this newspaper may contact your choice worker and have the candidate call for the subscription before the hour arrives.

Nine o'clock this Friday, March 6th, is positively the last chance for subscribers to secure a two-year subscription to the Littlefield newspapers at a big savings and help some deserving candidate to win the prize of their choice. Subscribers should act now before the hour arrives and this payment extends right on from whatever date their subscription is now paid to.

It has been the constant aim from the beginning to the end of this program, to conduct the entire campaign in such a way that every worker would know that it was fair and impartial to every worker.

It is gratifying to the management of these newspapers and to the campaign management to know those efforts have been appreciated, by the complimentary remarks from the workers as we near the finish line, and if in the future these newspapers or their management can be of a service to those who have made this endeavor such a success, all that is necessary, is to let the wish be known.

Names of candidates taking part are listed here according to the district within which they reside.

Grand Jury To Hear 7 Cases Friday

Other cases include R. A. Vestal, Jr., and one other man, swindle with worthless check; Jacob Turner, assault with intent to murder; and Jimmy Sanchez and Richard Hernandez, burglary.

Members of the grand jury include Huston Hoover, Littlefield, foreman; Robert E. Drake, C. D. Stafford and Gus Bellomy, all of Sudan; C. R. Roberts, Amherst; Frank Struve, J. C. Hamby and A. D. Adams, all of Olton; and Gene Bartley, O. L. Walker and E. T. Miller, all of Littlefield.

Lamb Farmers Go Slow Making Cotton Choice

Lamb County farmers are taking it "slow and easy" about making a choice on the "A" and "B" cotton allotment plans for 1959.

Less than five percent of the county's 2,550 cotton farmers have made a choice either way.

That, says County ASC Office Manager Lamar Aten, can mean only one of two things:

1. Farmers apparently are in no hurry to make up their minds on the program, or

2. Most of them will wind up with Plan "A", the regular allotment program which farmers automatically get if they make no choice by March 16.

It's too early to tell, Aten says, which way farmers will go in Lamb County.

There just hasn't been enough participation in the program for him to say.

With only 10 days left before the deadline for the choice, Aten believes his office will be "rushed" next week.

Basically, the decision farmers have to make is this: Shall it be Plan A, with the farmer's regular allotment and price support at 80 per cent of parity, or shall it be Plan B, with a 40 per cent increase in acreage and price support of at 65 per cent of parity?

That would make the price of Plan A cotton 30.40 cents per pound. Plan B cotton would be 24.70 cents per pound. Both of these figures are for ¾-inch middling (white) cotton.

The choice, which must be made in writing by March 16, is effective for only one year.

Price support to farmers who elect Plan A will be available only through a purchase program. This program will be handled through approved purchasers such as banks, gins, and some buyers, says Aten. The ASC office is automatically approved.

The escalator clause, under which the minimum price support level is determined on the basis of the supply percentage, remains in effect for the 1959 and 1960 crops.

"However, the minimum national average support for the 1959 crop cannot be less than 80 per cent of parity for growers who take Plan A," said Aten.

Plan B is an increase of 40 per cent of the farmer's regular allotment with the price support at (Continued On Page Four)

PAPERS' SUBSCRIPTION RATES TO RISE AFTER FRIDAY NIGHT

When the Littlefield Newspapers set up the twin weekly arrangement, a low subscription price was established to give all subscribers the advantage of the twice-weekly service at the same price most once-a-week papers have been selling for.

Twice since that time, subscribers have had the opportunity to purchase this twice-a-week service even lower in price than most of the once-a-week papers sell for.

Until 9 p. m. Friday, subscribers in Lamb and adjoining counties can still subscribe or extend their present subscription for two years for $6. Subscribers outside this area can get the two papers for two years for $8.

After 9 p. m. Friday it will be $5 for one-year in Lamb and adjoining counties, and $6 per year outside that area. That's still $1 per year under the price of our two nearest twin weeklies in towns where they are published.

We hope everyone appreciates the quality of the Littlefield Newspapers today, and fully realizes this small subscription investment is returned to him many times each year through the opportunity to profit from advertisements in the papers.

All of us must eat, and if we save only $1 per week through our grocery advertising that amounts to $52 per year. And we might profit hundreds of dollars through some property transfer, tax sale or legal publication.

'59 Building Gets Off To High-Flying Start

Building in Littlefield is off to its fastest start in history, figures announced by the city showed Tuesday.

A $225,000 building permit issued to Littlefield Hospital-Clinic in February brought the total for the first two months of the year to $426,700—far, far ahead of the 1958 pace.

After January and February of 1958, permits totaled only $96,950.

The January 1959 total was $131,000, while February's total came to $295,700.

The major gain, of course, was chalked up by the permits issued on the hospital, which plans extensive remodeling and an addition.

But other building was coming along with a healthy figure. More than $200,000 for other permits had been issued during the first two months, still double the pace set in 1958.

With building running as it is, the total in the first three months of 1959 could outstrip the entire reduction of 1958.

Total building here in 1958 was $556,675. Total in 1957 was $298,500.

Most of the $200,000 in permits other than the Littlefield Hospital construction has gone for construction, or remodeling of homes, indicating a fast business start for lumber yards here.

Cookie Sale Friday Cokie Sale Friday

Girl Scouts of Littlefield will begin their annual cookie sale Friday, March 6, announced Mrs. Buck Oldham of Littlefield, cookie chairman.

Girl Scouts will be selling the cookies through March 21. The price will be 50¢ per box which contains 22 creme-filled sandwich cookies or 27 chocolate mint cookies.

Profits from the sale are divided between the troops and the Caprock Council. The profits and usual troop dues finance troop activities. Council profits are used for capital and building expenses at Camp Rio Blanco.

Camp Rio Blanco is the new camp for the entire Council. It is located northeast of Crosbyton. Summer session will begin June 7. Forty-eight girls with their counselors may attend each 12-day session. Fees are $35.00 for Council members and $37 for out-of-council scouts. Seven sessions are scheduled for girls of various area groups.

While girls are selling cookies they will wear their Girl Scout uniform or pins. They will give each customer a window sticker indicating purchase and the scout's name and address.

Three types of boxes will be offered, half vanilla, half chocolate creme filled; chocolate mint and four-flavor sandwich creme cookies. Cookies are baked by the Weston Biscuit Company of Waco, Texas, distributed by Pioneer Cookie Company of Lubbock.

The Girl Scouts will visit the Missionary Baptist Church as a group Sunday morning and all parents and leaders are invited.

School Program

were visits by the Jaycees and Lions Club, visitation by parents, exchange assemblies between Littlefield and Levelland schools, and a joint P-TA meeting Monday night.

Featuring the Monday night program, sponsored jointly by the Primary-Elementary and Junior-Senior High P-TAs, was a talk by Dr. Morris Wallace, head of the Texas Tech department of education. About 150 persons attended.

Dr. Wallace listed what he considers the six major challenges facing public schools today, later discussing each in detail in a question and answer period.

- He listed these "challenges":
1. For people to come to agreement on what the schools should accomplish.
 2. How to establish priorities in the school program. Which subjects should be rated high in priority?
 3. How to improve the quality of schools while schools are faced with an ever-growing number of students.
 4. Who shall teach? The most important single task ahead, he said, is to determine the requirements of the teaching profession.
 5. How shall the schools be organized? Dr. Wallace was speaking here of organization of grades or grade levels and length and time of school year.
 6. How can improved schools be financed? He said financing is not a "matter of resources... it's a matter of commitment."

their regular cotton acreage allotments and price support will be available at levels determined by the Secretary of Agriculture within the following limits:

1. In 1961, at a level of from 70 per cent to 90 per cent of parity.
2. After 1961, at a level of from 65 per cent to 90 per cent of parity.

The escalator clause under which the minimum support level is determined on the basis of the supply percentage is replaced effective with the 1961 crop.

Beginning with the 1961 crop, price support will be based on the average quality of the crop instead of middling 7/8.

Beginning with the 1963 crop, the minimum national acreage allotment for cotton is 16 million acres.

Aten reminded farmers that if they pick Plan B on March 16, this selection shall apply to any farm for which the farmer becomes the operator after March 16.

In a case where the farmer has chosen Plan A on March 16 and becomes the operator of a different farm after March 16, for which Plan B was in effect on March 16, then the farmer may elect Plan A or Plan B for all farms which he operates by filing written notice with the county committee within 15 days after becoming the operator of the different farm.

If the farmer in this case fails to give written notice within the 15-day period, then he automatically gets Plan B on all farms he operates, Aten says.

In any case where a person who is not a cotton farm operator on March 16, and becomes a cotton farm operator after that time, the operator receives the choice which was applicable to the farm on March 16.

If this person becomes the operator of both Plan A and Plan B farms after March 16, he receives Plan B allotment for all the farms he operates.

Once the operator has made a choice of Plan B, there is a provision set up for changing back to Plan A.

The reason must be one of the following disasters: (1) excess rain, (2) flood, (3) drought or (4) hail.

"Before the operator can file his request with the county committee, it definitely must be one of these disasters," Aten said.

The operator must file his request with 15 days after the disaster, as much as 40 percent of the acreage must have been destroyed, and the disaster must have taken place after the normal planting time.

"Things like failure of pumping facilities or lowering of the water table are not considered drought conditions," Aten said.

After 1960, farmers will receive 55 percent of parity.

"If a farm operator rents more than one farm on which there is a cotton acreage allotment, the operator must elect Plan A or Plan B for all the farms he operates," Aten said.

The farmer can't, says Aten, elect Plan A for one farm and Plan B for the others.

"Additional acreage on a farm under Plan B will not be considered as 'history' in establishing future acreage allotments for the farm, county and state," said Aten.

The Plan A allotment will be the only acreage considered for purposes of future state, county and farm allotments, the ASC manager added.

School Year

while Smith is on the Senate Education Committee.

The Osborn letter drew this question from Dr. Armistead:

"What does he want the kids to do—go to school every day of the year except Sundays?"

Dr. Armistead came out against the so-called 10-month school year when it was first recommended.

The State Board of Education proposed, under the plan, to lengthen the school year to 190 days from 175.

That proposal is now a part of Senate Bill 5 and House Bill 22. The bills also call for basic pay for teachers with bachelors degrees to be a minimum of $4,000 per year.

Dr. Armistead listed several reasons why he and other local school board members oppose lengthening the school year.

Among these reasons were:

1. "We're living too fast as it is. Our children need physical and mental rest during the summer months."
2. Cost. He estimated the longer school year would mean an additional $15,000 in costs to Littlefield.
3. "I think we should streamline the system we have, maybe cut out some of the frills."

Osborn's letter pointed out that the state is now "operating at a deficit of about $65,000,000 and in order to hold that spending for the next biennium as the present one, we will have to raise approx-

Cox Fruit Stand Is Burglarized

A burglar got $5 in change for four cartons of cigarettes in a break-in at Cox Fruit Stand on East 7th Street Tuesday night, police reported.

Police said the burglar must have been a "small person," because he went through a small hole in the side of the stand.

HERE'S HOW... MAKE A PORTABLE TOOL CHEST-WORK

A combination tool chest and work bench serves as a portable on-the-job shop. The tapered legs are fastened to the bench top with butt hinges. The leg rail also serves as a handle when the bench is folded. It is shaped and notched as shown in the detail drawing. The sides are of 1 by 6-inch lumber, 20 1/2 inches long, tapered at one end, cut out at the other end to fit the small lid, and slotted to fit the rail. The back and front of 1 by 7 or 1 by 8-inch lumber are ripped to fit. Assemble the chest using glue and finishing nails. Glue the separators inside and fit the two lids and hinge the lids and cabinet hooks. Use a hook also to hold the folded position.

Grain Area Congressmen 'Shocked' By Support Cut, Mahon Says

Olton Stock Show Winners

Ways Being Sought To Remedy Situation

WASHINGTON — Rep. George Mahon said this week that the recently announced drop in support loans for fed grains came as a shock to the members of Congress.

The House Committee on Agriculture is making a study of the situation in preparation for a committee hearing which will be held March 13.

The support loan level announced for milo for the 1959 crop is 31 cents per hundred below the level for last year. The national average support for milo last year was $1.83 per hundred. The announced national average support for this year is $1.52 per hundred.

On February 18, the Secretary of Agriculture announced support loan levels for corn milo and other feed grains. In view of the language of the law, it was anticipated that the support price for milo in 1959 would be approximately the same as corn, inasmuch as both have approximately the same feed value. This is not the case, and an explanation is being demanded by producers will sustain losses totaling many millions of dollars.

"Since the drastic drop in support levels for milo was announced, I have appealed to the Secretary of Agriculture and others in the Department to reconsider the action taken. I have received complaints in regard to the situation from Frank Moore of Plainview, president of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association, and many others.

If the drastic cut in supports remains in effect, grain sorghum producers will sustain losses totaling more effective program for all feed grains is needed, but action is made most difficult by reason of the well known attitude of the Secretary of Agriculture," said Mahon.

In most cases, however, where having read all of the evidence, the injured party usually is afraid to sue because the commission with which he has to live has great punitive powers.

We can't, in the interest of common justice, have two sets of judicial rules, one for judges in a court of law and other, less strict for appointed government officials who sit as judges.

cial government agencies have discontinued "out-of-court" conferences on cases before them. That is a step in the right direction. It would, however, be a mistake unless still another step is taken.

If members of an agency exercising judicial powers are to bar all contacts and close their minds to all evidence except that presented in official hearings, they should either be present at all hearings and read all of the evidence or else abstain from voting when the decision is made. Unfortunately they have joined in voting on decisions without having read all of the evidence. This they admit.

This is the view held by the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia which, in a decision last year involving the granting of a radio station license, held that since one of the Commissioners said he had not read all of the evidence, but had voted anyway, the decision was void and the case should be reheard.

The results are forcing Congress to review and reconsider procedures followed by these quasi-judicial administrative agencies, such as the ICC, the FTC, the CAA, the SEC and others.

Studies are being made by special subcommittees of the House Judiciary and Legislative Oversight Committees. Preliminary reports already made strongly suggest the need for legislation to eliminate what one report describes as "fundamental weaknesses" and "flagrant abuses."

CODE OF ETHICS

Eminent lawyers and judges disagree over whether judicial powers should be delegated to administrative agencies, but they are unanimous in their opinion that if these agencies are to have court powers they must conduct themselves as a court in all respects.

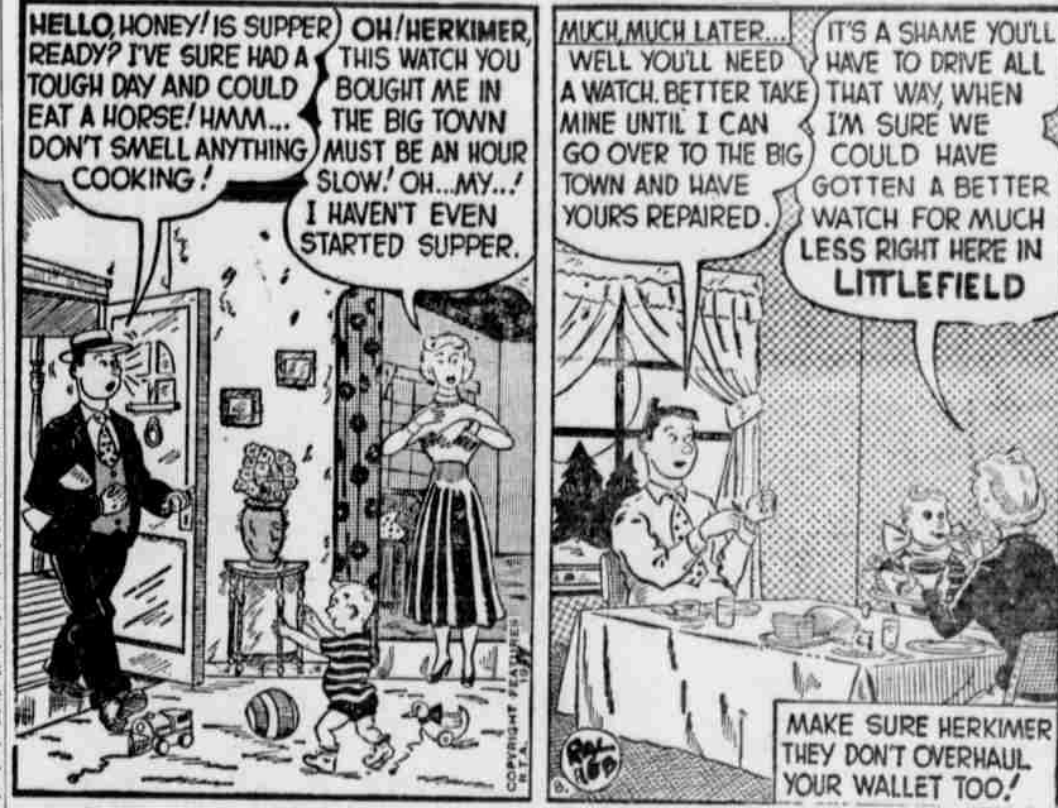

The reports are sharply critical of some of the legislative-administrative-judicial agencies for failure to follow ordinary court procedures and practices when exercising life or death power over business firms appearing before them.

Some members of these boards and commissions have, in all good faith, felt that their doors should be open for consultation with all parties having an interest in a case before them. It was a way of obtaining all of the information that is a practice that no judge in a court would permit, and it is a practice that has led to resignations resulting from charges of improper influence being exerted on the board members or commissioners.

ABSENTEE DECISIONS

Because of public criticism most of the members of the quasi-judicial Eight separate acts will follow. Cubs in uniform will play Cub Scout games and Cubs costumed as spacemen and on roller skates will present a "Spacemen on Wheels" act.

The entire circus will last between one and one-half and two hours.

More Than 60 Littlefield Scouts To Take Part In Big Scout Circus

More than 60 Littlefield scouts are expected to take part Saturday night in a gigantic "Scout Circus" at Lubbock Municipal Coliseum Saturday night.

The circus will start at 7:30 p.m.

About 20 members of Littlefield Troop 38 will take part in a "tee-pee-raising" event.

Some 40 members of Cub Pack 41 will participate in the miniature float division, forming a complete circus parade.

Troop 41 will represent the George White District in district camping competition.

About 8,000 youngsters are expected for the big program.

Plans for the circus call for eight big acts to be unrolled in the arena at the coliseum. Admission will be 50 cents per person. The circus, being held on a Saturday night so as not to interfere

Tourney Sponsors Have Problem Getting Top Golfers To Show Up

The problem of getting all the top golfers to a tournament still plagues the sponsors. They've tried everything and so has the PGA. The latter even set up a system of paying the fellows for showing up. The sponsors raised their tournament purses. But it still didn't work.

The Texas Open, which had its thirty-second run last weekend, showed its weakest field since the war. Eleven of the top 20 money winners of the year didn't participate. Only two who had won tournaments along the tour were on hand.

There was a variety of excuses. The one that made the most sense was the fellows along the tour had played so much golf, what with seven tournaments and nine pro-amateurs, they were just flat tired and worn out. They had played 41 days in 49.

There was the excuse of the rubber mats used for driving tees. Some of the players claim you can injure your hands driving off of them. However, this hadn't been much of a hindrance in the past.

Facilities, or rather the lack of them, probably had something to do with it. The clubhouse at Brackenridge Park course is quite inadequate; eating facilities are limited. Of course, this hadn't seemed to bother many of the golf players in the past.

The major thing, in our opinion, is that the boys on the golf tour make so much money these days they are very independent. That is, the top golfers who do all the winning. And they are the ones that hurt a tournament when they don't participate.

The purses of the tournaments are large. There's good pickings in the pro-amateurs. The TT (top tournament players) plan of the PGA that pays a golfer to show up has added to the golfers' earnings. In other words, in trying to make it worthwhile for the golfers the tournaments have built a Frankenstein - they've put up so much money the boys on the tour can win quick enough to pass up the tournaments they don't want to play in.

You couldn't determine if their absence hurt the Texas Open this year. It rained four days of the tournament, which is a bigger crowd walloper than the absence of players. Under the circumstances the tournament drew sensationally - it got enough fans out that it didn't lose any money.

This indicates that the absence of the top players wouldn't have hurt much anyway. There still were plenty of good golfers, since there are so many more on the tour now.

However Texas Open officials still don't want the top boys to stay away. They fear that such a practice eventually would hurt their tournament. They also want to furnish the best there is in golf regardless of whether it adds to the crowd.

Irrigation Water Usage Study Made At Halfway

How valuable is the irrigation water applied to the various crops? A study of the efficiency of water usage as affected by fertilizer was conducted at the High Plains Station at Halfway in connection with fertilizer research on both grain sorghum and cotton during 1958. Dr. T. C. Longnecker, Head of the Station, said this week.

In the series of tests the dryland grain sorghum produced 2,280 pounds per acre. The same variety with 9 inches of water applied and no fertilizer produced 3,623 pounds per acre. In this test the water was worth $2.37 per acre inch. When 120 pounds of nitrogen was applied to this variety with 9 inches of water the yield totaled 6,056 per acre making the value per acre inch of water $5.71 after the cost of the fertilizer was deducted. The same variety of grain sorghum was used in each of the above studies.

Dryland cotton with no fertilizer applied produced 356 pounds of lint per acre. Three inches of irrigation with no fertilizer produced 526 pounds of lint cotton per acre. In this case the water applied was worth $15.87 per acre inch applied.

Fertilizer applied to the dryland test at the rate of 26 pounds of nitrogen and 78 pounds of phosphorus per acre produced 301 pounds of lint cotton. With 3 inches of irrigation and the same fertilizer application the yield rose
