TO ABOLISH COUNTY SCHOOL POST Vote May Be Called

A special county-wide vote for Lamb County is in prospect for later this year in a growing move to abolish the office of county school superintendent, a move with which County Superintendent C. Roy Stevens disagrees.

Stevens last week took issue with proponents of the abolishment move, that was started early this month by the Olton Chamber of Commerce. An Olton C-C spokesman terms the county superintendent's office a "waste of money."

Stevens argues that doing away with his office would not affect the full saving of his $8,000 salary and other expenses of the office. If the abolishment move is carried through, a new arrangement for the office could cost some $5,200 annually, he says.

He referred to an arrangement where the county judge would become ex-officio county superintendent if the office is abolished, as provided by a 1961 Texas law.

Actually, the office could cost this much but most Texas counties that have changed their superintendent system have done so at a lower figure than this. The abolishment law provides that an ex-officio superintendent — the county judge — may be paid "up to $2,600 a year" and may have an assistant paid that much. No minimum figure is set by the law.

The superintendent contends that "The state wants the office as it is... you cannot abolish the office, you can only transfer it to another office, as a minor part of the office."

By the "state," the superintendent clarified, he means the Texas Education Agency, supervisory body for Texas Public Schools.

But if the people of Lamb County "want it abolished that's their prerogative and I'll have no crop to pick with them." He asks "only that the voters think about it" before they vote to eliminate the office, the county superintendent says.

The special election move this week is being carried forward at Olton where petitions requesting the special election are being signed. Copies of the petition are located in six places (See VOTE Page 10)

ket. Mrs. Eaton campaigned on the pledge that she would seek to have the job abolished as unnecessary.

But county superintendents in general have been under fire in Texas since the mid-1950's, as Texas school districts steadily changed to independent status, a position removing them in large part from the functions of the county office.

Years back Texas had many "common" school districts, smaller schools that did not have individual taxing areas but which were supported by a common county school tax and state funds.

To beef up their administrative operation, the county school superintendent carried many top-level responsibilities for these districts. These included finances, where he exercised important control, in the supply of books, of teacher recruitment and various other duties.

Population shifts played a part in changes affecting county superintendents. With rural residents decreasing steadily, the smaller schools consolidated with each other or with larger schools and became part of independent districts with their own taxing power and fiscal controls.

Superintendents of independent districts deal directly with the Texas Education Agency, where this liaison was performed for common districts by the county school chief.

The common school has all but disappeared today. There are none in Lamb county and few in any Texas county.

The school administrative flow has bypassed the county office. This office has been left with a residue of housekeeping details that, opponents of the office say, can be performed by the county judge or a secretary.

C. ROY STEVENS... defends school post

Also, a number of Texas counties have never had county superintendents. Even under the old school law, the county judge served this function in counties with small student populations. This was the case in Lamb county for years.

By the time many of these grew to size — several still have not — the independent district situation made the need doubtful and the office was not made fulltime, but continued with the judge in this capacity ex-officio.

By the mid-1950's the office had become a political target in Texas. About 200 Texas county superintendents "marched" on Austin and the legislature in 1957 to stave off a law that would abolish the office entirely over the state. Legislators studied the proposal again in 1959, then in 1961 passed the present law that allows counties themselves to abolish the office by vote.

The office cannot be abolished during an existing term, that is until the present term of the office holder has expired. If Lamb county voted out the office this year, it could actually not be abolished until the end of 1966, when Stevens' 4-year term expires.

Too, no abolishment election can be held during the year in which the office is open for election. In Lamb county, abolishment can be voted on in 1964 or 1965, but not in 1966, the next year the job is up for election, if the job still exists then in this county.

The current move is aimed at a vote in 1964, its backers say.

In some Texas counties the county job is fairly lucrative. Harris county, Houston, with thousands of students but no common school districts, has a $15,000 official and annual expenses of office doubling this figure. The Houston office has been widely cited in arguments to eliminate the county school job, but is still in operation.

Estimates on the saving in Texas school funds by eliminating the office in all 254 counties have been set by advocates as high as $500,000 a year. Supporters of the office say this is not so and, in fact, the change might cost school dollars.

However this may be, Lamb county residents may be scrutinizing the job to decide their vote before the year is out. As a guide in this, Stevens this week drew up a list of duties of the office that is printed below:

Compiling scholastic census for county.
Compiling transfers and transfer reports.
Preparing budget for the county administration.
Preparing Minimum Foundation applications and reports for State Department of Education.
Registering teachers certificates.
Filing teachers' credentials, service records, transcripts.

Schools To Hold Graduation Friday

Lamb County or area will conduct commencement exercises Friday night school seniors. Commencement will be presented at Spade, Olton, Whit-Pep, and Bula. Baccalaureate services for these were held Sunday.

Wesley Daniels, pastor of Methodist Church of Olton, will be commencement speaker at Spade's exercising at 8 p.m., Friday at the school auditorium. Shubfield will give salutatory address, and Leonard in the salutatory. Seniors will leave on a Los Angeles, Calif., fol-graduation. There are graduates at Spade, Glenn Reeves of Littlefield will be commencement speaker at Bula in exercises at 7:30 p.m. in the gym. Mike Risinger and Lands are the top graduates of the class of seven. A trip to New Orleans is scheduled for 8 p.m. in the school cafeteria. Tubb, registrar at South Plains College, will be guest speaker.

Honor student addresses are set by LaVerne Smart, valedictorian, and Jimmy Strickland, salutatorian. There are nine candidates for graduation. Seniors leave Saturday on a trip to Austin, San Antonio, Corpus Christi and other points.

Exercises are also set at Olton and Pep Friday. George Jones and Margaret Schaefer will give honor addresses at Olton where about 33 will graduate. Robert Decker and Johnny Albus are top graduates at Pep where 10 seniors are set to graduate. Pep seniors will go on a trip to the west coast. Four more baccalaureate services are on tap Sunday for county and area schools. Amherst, Sudan, Anton and Springlake will hold these services Sunday, while Littlefield has the baccalaureate ceremony May 31.

Amherst's commencement is slated May 25, while Sudan and Springlake hold graduation May 26, Anton on May 29, and Littlefield on June 1.

Graduates of all county and area schools will be saluted in Sunday's County Wide News.

SI PER BALLOT? Second Primary Vote More Expensive

Selection of a Texas legislator-at-large may be as much as $1 per vote in the second Democratic primary election. Congress-at-large post only race on the second ballot for June 6 vote.

Democratic Chairman Batson estimates that to 1,500 voters may be in this lone race, and that expenses of any election may run to $1,500.

On the ballot are Joe Pool, incumbent, and former state legislator Robert Baker. The race is voted on state-wide and is the only race on the ballot in many Texas counties.

17 voting polls in the county will be open for the election, as required by law. All must be manned by judges. This accounts for $1,000 expenses for the election party.

County Republicans also have a public water supply project.

Bill Thomas and City Engineer W. F. Williamson have been pushing the project for state approval for about a year.

Dr. Basil Johns indicated that the project has been placed at the top of the highway program. Public Water Supply Act, State Department of

The City of Olton has approved a $3,500 purchase of land at the west city limits to be used as a youth baseball park. The new site replaces the loss of a field near the high school, used by Pony League and Legion players. The old field is being taken into the school football field, which is being moved in a school expansion program now underway.

Any person who has borrowed convalescent equipment from the American Legion or VFW and is not now using the article has been asked to notify the VFW Hall immediately. Officials report there is a need for wheel chairs, crutches, walkers, and hospital beds.

Dr. and Mrs. Albert Perkins and Mr. and Mrs. Don Avery attended a district Lions Club convention in Snyder Saturday and Sunday. Brenda Perkins was a district sweetheart candidate.

WATER TOWER GOING UP -- The city's new 500,000 gallon overhead storage tank is fast taking shape in southwest Littlefield. The maroon-and-white tower is expected to beef up the city's storage capacity to provide for better water pressure and an ample supply.

NEW COMPLAINT AT CITY HALL

Dandelions Don't Dig, Dubious Dames Dismayed

These spring days the Littlefield City Hall is hearing a new complaint to add to those daily calls about stray dogs and neighborhood noises or utility functions.

It's dandelions! And the callers probably have good grounds for complaint, agrees City Manager, J.W. Harrison. The city may have a certain responsibility for those growths of dandelions that are plaguing lawns over the south part of town, particularly in the Crescent Park section.

The new city recreation area, Crescent Park, is a big dandelion patch. Its several acres of grass are liberally sprinkled with golden dandelions, the kind that look good on the other fellow's lawn, but not yours.

This spring the dandelion growth has spread to lawns all over the area. Something has been generously seeding dandelions and home owners are convinced it is the park area.

"They think we have a regular dandelion seed project, and we just may have," agrees Harrison. "The trouble is, we

Memorial Day Service Planned

Memorial Day services, under sponsorship of the VFW and the Littlefield Cemetery Assn., are being planned for May 30 in the Littlefield Cemetery.

Flags will be placed on all veterans' graves at sunrise, and a special program is being planned.

Maude Street, a member of the cemetery work committee, issued a plea this week for volunteer workers to help clean out weeds and prepare the tracts for the Memorial Day service.

Farm Dinner Set At Pep

The annual Pep Farm Dinner, sponsored by the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce, has been scheduled for June 2, it was announced this week.

The Pep Dinner is one in a series sponsored each year by the chamber in an effort to help further understanding and cooperation between city and rural residents.

Reservations should be made at the C of C office. Tickets are $1.75 each and will admit the holder plus one Pep guest. The dinner will be held in the Pep school lunchroom.

haven't figured out anyway to stop it."

The city manager has explored ways of killing dandelions without also killing the park's grass and -- like any private lawn keeper -- has not found the answer. The open park area presents special problems in the use of either dust or liquid herbicides, which could drift off on nearby private lawns.

The job of digging out the zillions of pesky plants is too much for human hands, as any home lawn keeper knows.

So at housewife coffee sessions over Crescent Park the city has become the dandelion villain and, frequently, the city hall telephone rings with a complaint.

Harrison agrees regularly that the callers probably have the problem identified. What he would like next is the solution. He also has a home lawn, a wife -- and dandelions -- downwind from Crescent Park.

About 70 to 80 percent of the irrigated cotton farmland has been planted, estimates County Agent Bill Kimbrough, with about 15 percent of it up to a good stand.

Most of last week's rain fell in the irrigated area, points out Kimbrough, and it will probably be 25 days or more before dryland cotton is planted.

"None of the dryland farms got enough moisture for a planting rain," remarked the county agent. Rains varied from .30 of an inch to 1.5 inches in spots last week.

As much as 3 inches was reported in a small area east of Littlefield, and farmers who had planted there might have to replant. Kimbrough said from present conditions, however, very few farmers would have to replant.

The agent estimated that not more than 25 percent of the feed has been planted around the Littlefield area. More has been planted in the northern part of the county, he added.

The drought-breaking rainfall last Friday night was the first real moisture of the year, but most farmers said it was not enough.

Very little moisture was recorded in the southwest part of the county. A strip from Pep to Bula reported about .60 of an inch Thursday night, but no additional moisture was received Friday.

Appraising the agricultural picture over the county, Kimbrough said prospects were not "real bright" at present, but a good general rain could change that overnight.

Kisner, Scouts Plan Canadian Canoe Adventure

Two Lamb County adult leaders and four Littlefield Scouts are making plans for a Canadian Canoe Trip in August.

The local Scouts planning the trip into the wilderness lakes area of Canada are Gary Conway, John D. Nail, Ken Hamlin and Terry Ross.

B.T. Kisner of Littlefield and Kenneth Campbell of Olton will be two of the adult crew leaders from the South Plains Council. The other leader for one of the crews is Bill Clark, field director from Lubbock.

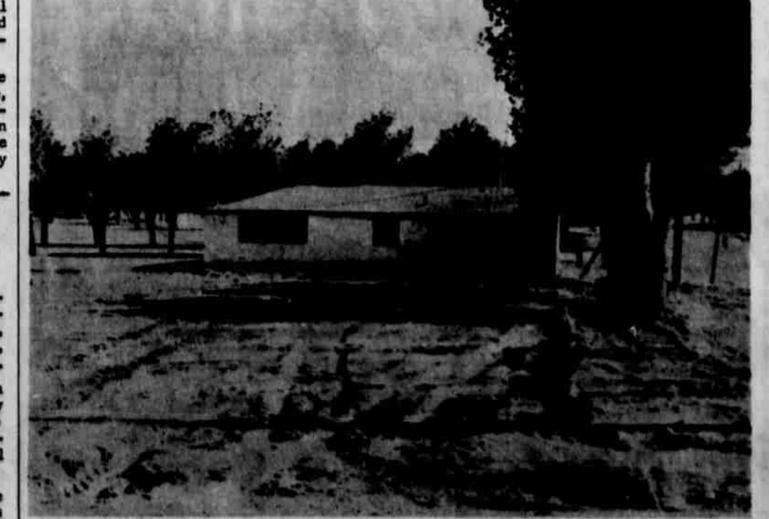

Kisner announced there were still 4 or 5 places open for reservations from this area. A Scout or Explorer must be at least 14 years of age and should have training and skills in swimming, life saving, and canoeing. Total cost of the trip is $125.

A meeting of all boys and parents signed up for the Council Canoe Trip is to be held Friday at the Council Service Center in Lubbock at 7:30 p.m.

The canoe base is located at Ely, Minn., and the three crews of 12 boys and one leader per crew will depart from there and be on the lakes area for about nine days, carrying all their food and camping provisions with them.

WEATHER

The 5-day forecast calls for temperatures to average 5 to 9 degrees above normal with minor day-to-day changes. Normal highs 80-86, normal lows 50's to low 60's. Rainfall confined to a few showers the first part of the period and widely scattered afternoon and evening showers over the area the first part of the next week.

MAKING WAY FOR NEW -- The old city swimming pool at 3rd and Westside has been razed to make way for a new Girl Scout Hut. City workmen had a tough time tearing down the old pool, and had to use dynamite to break down the thick concrete walls. Photo shows the lot cleared away for new construction, and the old Girl Scout Hut in background.

CHARM, CHARM, CHARM--The lovely Jean Johnson (center) gave the program at the May Breakfast Saturday on "The Largest Room in the World", illustrating many points of interest to the 105 ladies that attended. Pictured with her are Mrs. Bill Davis (left) who is treasurer for the Texas Federation of Woman's Clubs and Mrs. Troy Moss.

LOVE AND APPRECIATION were the thoughts behind the presentation of a plaque to Miss Lula Hubbard, right, by Mrs. Allen Hodges in behalf of the Woman's Club at the Annual May Breakfast held in Lubbock.

MISS HUBBARD IS HONORED

'Self Improvement' is Topic For Woman's Club May Breakfast

The Woman's Club Annual May Breakfast, held Saturday at the Johnson House in Lubbock, was a complete success. Approximately 105 attended.

Mrs. W. D. T. Storey opened the breakfast with the invocation followed by a business meeting during the meal. Mrs. James L. Joyner, program chairman, presided over the meeting.

Awards for perfect attendance were first given to Mmes. Kenneth Reast, C. O. Stone, Rumback Jones, T. L. Dunlap, W. L. Hollibaugh and Miss Emma Sell.

Miss Lula Hubbard was presented a plaque in behalf of the club in appreciation and love for her duty, patience, and services to the community and the club as past librarian.

Mrs. Allen Hodges presented the plaque and also installed the following officers for the coming year: Mrs. Kenneth Reast, president; Mrs. James L. Joyner, 1st vice-president; Mrs. A. B. Brown, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. Fred Dodd, secretary; Mrs. H. A. Mitchell, treasurer; Mrs. H. C. Randall, reporter; Mrs. T. L. Dunlap, parliamentarian; Mrs. R. B. McQuatters, federation counselor.

As each was introduced, her qualifications were told in verse by Mrs. Hodges.

Jean Johnson of the Jean Johnson Success School presented the program on "The Largest Room in the World".

The room, she said, is the room for self-improvement. One needs a set plan for improving one's self and the first obstacle to overcome is fear. This is done by practice and training.

Mrs. Johnson went on to point out that having the right attitude toward others is the main key to success in life.

Communication with others, dressing, walking, sitting, speaking, and many other points of interest were discussed and demonstrated by the speaker.

She pointed out that one is judged by what she does, what she says, and how she says it.

Mrs. Johnson stressed throughout the program that confidence in one's self is the most important thing a person can accomplish for success in home life and in the business world. With this, everything else will follow.

Mrs. Johnson started her success school in 1954. She is a beauty judge, a lecturer, has attended Texas Tech, and makes frequent trips to fashion centers in the states to keep her school and her instructors informed with latest trends.

PIVOT HOMEMAKER -- Mrs. James L. Joyner spends most of her free time taming and raising pigeons for showing. All members of the Joyner family share this hobby. Also being a good cook, Mrs. Joyner enjoys trying out new and different recipes and has agreed to share her favorite barbecue recipe with us. The Joyners reside at 712 East 14th, Littlefield.

Sauce Recipe Shared With Barbecue Chefs

If you need a good recipe for barbecue sauce now that summer time is here? If so, you will enjoy using Mrs. James L. Joyner's favorite sauce.

The recipe was given to Mrs. Joyner by Mr. R.N. Hancock of Littlefield who is now the Texas Health and Meat Inspector. Mrs. Joyner is also a well known judge and breeder of pigeons.

The Joyner family also breeds and sell to show, 10-year-old daughters, Jacobin pigeons and show them in Dallas at Grand National Show. Her son, John, will show his Modena pigeons. Both children work with pigeons and train them for show. Mr. and Mrs. Joyner raise runner pigeons which they show at the meet. In back yard they have a pen house occupied by pigeons and plans call for a pen.

The Kormormor is classified as a fancy pigeon and is quite expensive. One purpose for breeding is to try to supply as many as possible with them. Mrs. Joyner, manager of J.C. Penney, is secretary-treasurer of the American Kormormor Club of which there are 45 members at this time. Mrs. Joyner helps her husband with his duties of the club and spends most of her free time taming and training the pigeons. This is an everyday affair if one wishes to do it successfully.

Another activity that she enjoys is raising dahlias. She now has a 140-foot bed of them and when they are in bloom, she takes them to the hospital 2 or 3 times a week and also to the church.

The Joyners attend the First Presbyterian Church here where she teaches a Sunday School class for children.

The Joyner's oldest son, Jim Jr., is in the Navy where he is a nuclear physicist and is presently working on the submarine, U.S.S. Casimir Pulaski. He has been in the Navy three years and when he comes home for a visit, he likes to eat his mother's barbecue.

BARBECUE SAUCE (3 Quarts)

- 1 lb. oleo or butter
- 2 tsp. prepared mustard
- 3 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. powdered horseradish
- 1 tsp. chili powder
- 7 1/2 oz. can tomato sauce
- 1 small bottle worcestershire sauce
- 1 small bottle liquid smoke
- 2 cups pineapple juice
- 2 cans beer
- Tomato juice to complete 3 quarts

Mix first eight ingredients in 3 quart container. Warm and stir until smooth. Add the 3 liquid ingredients. Heat thoroughly, but do not boil. Cool.

Mrs. Joyner finds it convenient to store this sauce in pint containers in her deep freeze until she is ready to use it. A pint is usually sufficient for a chicken, ham, squab, rabbit, beef or pork ribs (normal family meal). More butter content is desired for bland meats as chicken, rabbit, wild or domesticated fowl.

This sauce works well for both outside and oven barbecuing.

Local Students To Get Degrees

Two 1960 graduates of Littlefield High School are candidates for B. S. degrees at West Texas State University, Canyon.

Mrs. Linda Dickson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Steffy of Littlefield, will receive her degree in education and Mrs. Gay Cunningham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Hall also of Littlefield, will receive her degree in history.

Commencement exercises will be Sunday at 5 p.m. at Canyon.

Anton Woman Is Hockley's 'Mom Of Year'

Mrs. Jerry Biffle of Anton won the title of Hockley County "Mother of the Year" last Saturday, as a landslide of votes from Anton carried her past a number of other candidates who had held substantial leads earlier in the race.

Twelve contestants were entered in the competition including representatives from Arnett, Levelland, Pep, Pettit, Ropesville, Smyer, Sundown, Whiteface, Whitharral and Anton.

Mrs. Biffle was presented as the winner in a reception last Saturday afternoon for the candidates. She was presented the $150 first prize by Levelland Area Chamber of Commerce president, Eddie Paxton.

Each of the other candidates received corsages, and framed pictures of themselves.

The contest was set up with $1 spent at participating merchants' entitling the buyers to a vote for the candidate of their choice.

The Intermediate Girl's Auxiliary of Littlefield climaxed their focus week with a Mother-Daughter dinner at the Crescent House last week.

Green, white and gold, GA colors, were used in the decorating theme. An arrangement of mums centered the head table. As mothers entered, they were presented a corsage of yellow iris with green and white ribbons.

Miss Suzanne Tatumpresided over the program. Cheryl Reast gave a summary of GA work and Glenda Cunningham read a poem in honor of the mothers that she had written.

Also participating in the program were Misses Martha Naylor, Ann Farmer, Nelda Walker, and Edith Lynch. Miss Mary Gayle Williams gave the opening invocation.

Twenty-six attended the dinner, including special guests who were Mrs. Beryle Lovelace, Laura Lovelace, Mrs. Ralph Nelson and Miss Mary Gayle Williams.

Forum Closes Year With Annual Spring Banquet

Rev. Terry Blake of Sudan was guest speaker for the annual spring banquet for the Forum Club Friday evening at the Crescent House. He is pastor of the Sudan Church of Christ and is well known in this area as an inspirational and entertaining speaker.

Rev. Blake spoke mostly of the value of using leisure time to the best advantage, and taking time for the worthwhile things of life.

"Everyone has twenty-four hours a day," said Blake, "eight hours for work, eight hours for sleep and eight hours for relaxation. Whether these leisure hours are wasted or profitable is solely up to the individual."

Other entertainment for the evening was a group of Stephen Foster songs presented by the Littlefield High School mixed quartette. In keeping with the program theme, "Showboat", they were dressed as southern belles and gentlemen. The quartette is composed of Bonnie Richey, Darla Neuschwander, Jack King and Jackie Heffington. Their pianist is Barbara Huffman. Heffington sang a solo, "Scarlet Ribbons", accompanied at the piano by Miss Richey.

The tables were decorated with a riverboat waterwheel and red roses. Each place was marked with a colonial doll carrying a paper parasol. Mrs. Norma Russell acted as mistress of ceremonies.

Special guests attending the banquet were Meses, Charles Russell, Bill Burks, Linton Smith, Pat Donnelly, W.W. Hall, Ruth Badger and Miss Anna Neal.

At the close of the festivities, Mrs. Lula Dickinson, Forum president, gave a brief review of the year's work and thanked the club members for their cooperation during that time. The next club year will begin in September.

Jan Diersing and Terri Gerik made a banana pudding following the business meeting.

Those attending were Donna and Jan Diersing, Terri Gerik, Sherry Demel, Mary Simmacher; a new member, Susan Siering; adult leader, Mrs. Frank Simmacher Jr.; home demonstration agent, Beverly Alexander.

Pink and Blue Shower Given

Mrs. Jimmy Cowan was honored with a Pink and Blue Shower Saturday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Dick McDaniel. The serving table was laid with a white Irish linen cloth centered with an arrangement of pink and white roses featuring a heart hung with miniature baby dolls.

Mrs. McDaniel served fruit punch, assorted cookies and nuts to Meses, David Hampton, James Durham, Johnny Weaver, Lloyd Champion, Wayne Peek, James Holland, Glenn Batson, Olan Cowan, Bobby Brantley, and the honoree, Mrs. Cowan. Several sets of gifts to the shower were unable to attend.

When you are making a sauce (thickened with cornstarch) from lemon syrup from canned peaches or apricots to serve with sponge cake or cottage pudding, add a little almond extract to perk up flavor. You'll need to add about a quarter cup of sugar to a cup of the fruit juice.

How to be a hit with the misses

The answer, obviously enough, is to become a 1964 Dart owner. For this young-at-heart beauty is winsome—and then some.

Take 1964 Dart styling, for instance. Handsome, dashing, suave, and far from stuffed shirt. Here's a car anyone could love for looks alone. Inside, leather-grained vinyls are every bit as soft and supple as they appear. And how many other compacts can you name that offer a choice of standard or bucket seats, carpeting, and engines ranging from an Economy Run winning Six, to a sizzling, new 273 cu. in. V8.

So, if you want to be a hit with the misses, see your Dodge Dealer. But hurry, there are bound to be many other fellas with the same idea.

W.D. (DUB) HOLLEY

Olton Man Joins Staff At Halfway

William D. (Dub) Holley of Olton has joined the staff of the High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway, it was announced this week by Dr. Earl H. Collister, director of the Foundation.

Holley will be working in the fields of flame cultivation research and in soil and crop studies. In his duties, he will be assisting Jack Parks, farm superintendent and flame cultivation engineer, and Dr. Arthur Gohike, soil scientist.

A 1950 graduate of Olton High School, Holley grew up in the Olton area on an irrigated farm. He graduated from Texas Tech with a BS degree in agricultural economics and has worked towards his master's degree in the same field.

"We are most fortunate at the Foundation to have Dub Holley with us," stated Dr. Collister, "and with his knowledge of this area and agriculture in general, he will be a most valuable member of the staff."

Mr. and Mrs. Holley and their three children will live on their farm near Olton.

LUBBOCK -- It was to be expected that those who supported the recently passed cotton legislation would come in for some criticism. Such criticism from individual farmers has generally been related to the 2 1/2 cent price cut -- something that couldn't be expected to bring forth cries of joy from cotton farmers here or elsewhere.

Nevertheless, the great majority of the High Plains cotton industry did support the bill, complete with price cut (although with reluctance), and there is justification for that support.

The price cut, coupled with the subsidy payment on cotton sold for use by domestic textile mills is designed to make cotton competitive in price and thereby improve its chances in the market place against other fibers offered there for sale. Some critics ask why the subsidy payment was not made larger to bring the price of cotton to the U.S. Mills down to the desired level without reducing the price paid to the farmer. The hitch here is that with politics being what they are such a bill could never have been passed because of cost to the government.

Others maintain that farmers have been doing pretty well under the old cotton program and the old pricing policies and that no new legislation was needed. This "let sleeping dogs lie" attitude chooses to ignore the facts, perhaps hoping that the facts will go away. Under the programs of recent years and recent USDA pricing policies cotton was rapidly losing its markets, production was on the increase, and unused cotton stocks were piling higher and higher. The end of this high production - low consumption road was in painfully plain sight. Shrinking demand and bulging surplus stocks are not things that just go away when ignored.

It takes no great mind to know that a surplus of any commodity has but two possible solutions -- either the supply must be decreased or consumption must be increased, or some of both. For cotton, decreasing the supply could only be accomplished through drastic acreage cuts and even this, alone, would furnish no permanent solution to the problem. Without other remedial measures one acreage cut would lead to another down to who knows what low level.

Obviously, then, the only plausible way out of cotton's surplus problem is stepped up consumption, and industry leaders are generally agreed that consumption will go up under the new cotton bill. According to Robert T. Stevens, President of J.P. Stevens & Company and a recognized industry leader, the use of cotton will go up 600,000 to a million bales the first year.

So, this was the choice faced by the cotton industry spokesmen -- an inevitable series of acreage cuts (probably beginning with 25 percent across the board) or new legislation. There can be little doubt as to which of these alternatives was the easier for the average high plains farmer to stomach. And, if there are those who prefer an acreage reduction over a price cut, they can choose to underplant effective allotment by one-third and by doing so earn a one-cent increase over last year's support price.

The government has helped a lot in keeping farm income up in past years. We are grateful for that help and we sincerely hope we can count on continued assistance until the day when cotton emerges strong and healthy from the oxygen

Soybeans Becoming Popular On Plains

Soybeans look like a real "comer" on the Plains. Not only are they usually a profitable crop in their own right, but they also have an advantage in their late planting date. According to Area Extension Agronomist Billy Gunter, soybeans are fast gaining acceptance as a "catch crop" for hailed-out cotton when it's too late to replant.

Gunter points out that soybeans are recommended for planting on the Plains between June 1 and June 20. However, they can be planted as late as July 1 in the southern portion of the Plains if required, says county agent W.R. Kimbrough. Another advantage of the late planting date is in weed control on weedy fields. Mechanical tillage can be practiced up until the time beans are planted.

In the last few years, soybean acreage on the Texas High Plains has mushroomed. From 18,000 acres in 1956 to a record approximately 90,000 acres in 1963, this crop has boomed in planted acreage. Gunter says over 90% of the total Texas soybean acreage is on the High Plains. While 40-45 bushels are not uncommon, average yield last year for the Plains was approximately 32 bushels an acre. Support price for soybeans on the Plains this year will be around $2.17 bushel. In recent years, market price has been higher than the support price.

The bulk of soybeans on the High Plains are grown within a 35 mile radius of Plainview. Producers outside this area should check with local elevator operators to see if they can handle soybeans, advises county agent Kimbrough.

To grow soybeans successfully -- for both high per acre yields and high net profit -- an ample amount of management knowhow is needed, continues Gunter.

More information about soybean production can be obtained from the county agent.

OUTDOOR TIPS
Now's the time to make a marker buoy. Take an old fish line and wrap it round and round a piece of wood or plastic detergent bottle. Tie a weight to the end and store in your boat. If something falls overboard, toss marker out. Weight unwinds the line. Buoy marks the spot.

So, while we can't be expected to do nip-tips over the prospect of lower cotton prices, we can be thankful that we are able to continue producing cotton and that we have a chance to put our product back in position to compete for existing markets . . . markets without which land values and farm income would go down together.

ROTATION GRAZING -- This pasture, right, on the Walter Gray farm shows proper use of grassland, and the pasture on the left will be grazed soon as part of the program. SCS office in Lamb County offers advice to farmers on proper use of pasture land.

'Locked-In' Shape Boosts Cotton Market

Cotton -- that flexible, versatile, indispensable product -- can now be processed with a "locked-in" shape.

With competition growing each year from synthetics, any new development in cotton is good news for Texas farmers. Two radically new developments in recent years show promise of giving cotton products a much needed shot in the arm.

The stretch fabrics which hit the market with such success in the past couple of seasons contributed a great deal to the cotton market. Ladies stretch pants and all types of sportswear made from cotton fabric which snapped back into shape were immediate favorites with the consumers.

Now comes a process which permanently locks in a cotton shape such as pants creases or hat contours or a multiple number of forms. By using these moldable cotton fabrics manufacturers should be able to speed and cut costs of producing cloth items.

Oddly enough, the development of stretch cotton contributed directly to the birth of the permanently molded cotton product. During the research on stretch fabrics, the chemists

Proper Pasture Use Explained By SCS

Proper use of pastureland, whether it is irrigated or dryland, is the key to the benefits which may be derived.

In brief, proper pasture use consists of: (1) allowing the grass to reach early bloom before grazing begins in spring (usually 4 to 6 weeks); (2) leave a minimum of 10 percent of the current year's growth for irrigated pastures and 20 percent of the year's growth for dryland (in order to maintain plant growth and vigor); (3) If grazing is continued during the dormant season, leave a minimum of 2,000 pounds of dry residue per acre on soil surface to control soil erosion; (4) If the pasture is irrigated, fertilizer should be applied according to a complete soil test, crop needs, or a farmer's experience.

For further information concerning grass management, contact your local Soil Conservation Service office.

Prometryne sprays control weeds in growing cotton

New Prometryne[®] BOV herbicide not only controls most annual broadleaf weeds and grasses when applied as a pre-emergence spray, it does the same job when applied after weeds and cotton are up.

Postemergence applications
Put Prometryne to work any time after cotton is six inches in height . . . and before weeds are about two inches high. Direct the spray at the base of the cotton plant so that weeds are thoroughly sprayed . . . while at the same time minimizing contact of the spray with cotton foliage. At the low rates used in postemergence applications before layby, Prometryne kills on direct contact with the weeds.

Layby spray works all season
Keep Prometryne working for your crop all summer with a spray at layby. In this application, the rates of Prometryne go up . . . to extend weed control right on through the growing season.

At these higher rates, Prometryne kills existing weeds and remains to pick off later germinating ones as well. Carried down to the weed root zone by rainfall or overhead irrigation, Prometryne is absorbed by the roots of germinating weeds. Soon after the weeds break ground, they yellow and die.

Controls weeds and grasses
Three years of research by State and Federal experiment stations proved the effectiveness of Prometryne in controlling most annual broadleaf weeds and grasses. Among the problem species handled by Prometryne are: pigweed or carelessweed, annual morning glory, crabgrass and goosegrass.

Safe to use
Prometryne is safe to cotton when used according to label directions. It leaves no residue in cotton seed. It can be applied safely and is non-irritating to humans and animals. Do not, however, plant a fall seeded crop the year you use Prometryne.

Fits your conditions
Prometryne works with you . . . whatever your cultural practices and weed conditions may be. Use it as a post-emergence spray after both weeds and cotton are up. Use it at layby to give protection through the season. Use it both ways if the weed situation so dictates.

Plan to use Prometryne for post-emergence and/or layby weed control on at least a portion of your cotton acreage this year. See for yourself what outstanding, economical weed control it can provide.

Mayor Cites Annual Buddy Poppy Sale

Mayor B.W. Armistead today gave his whole-hearted support to the Veterans of Foreign Wars Buddy Poppy campaign which will be held on Saturday. In explaining his reasons for backing the campaign, Mayor Bill Armistead stated: "The wonderful things that the V.F.W. is doing with the proceeds from the annual Buddy Poppy Sale more than warrant a generous contribution from each member of this community. The prompt help given to our disabled and needy veterans, the magnificent care given the orphans and widows of our honored war dead, the fostering of true Americanism -- these are some of the highly commendable things being done by the V.F.W. through our unselfish support of the Buddy Poppy Sale."

"When we buy our Buddy Poppies on Saturday," continued Mayor Armistead, "we may give heartfelt thanks that in this small but important way, we are able to acknowledge that everlasting debt of gratitude we owe these courageous men who were ready to give their lives at a time when our nation could not survive without them. Hundreds of thousands did give their lives, and those men we cannot forget!"

Mr. and Mrs. William Hall of Edmonson attended Baccalaureate services in Olton Sunday night and visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Franks. Mrs. Roy Flournoy, Greg, Pam, Ken and Brad of Abilene visited in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Barton Prestridge, last week.

Boys Ranch Slates 25th Anniversary Observance

Cal Farley's Boys Ranch, located west of Amarillo, will observe its 25th anniversary Sunday, May 24, at 2 p.m. with everyone invited to attend.

During the weekend of the anniversary celebration, flags will be flying, bands will be playing, and thousands of visitors will share in an important milestone in the history of Boys Ranch. National attention will again be focused on the ranch and its founder, Cal Farley, as television cameras reproduce the celebration for area viewers, and the story is told in magazines and newspapers throughout the country.

The day will be a historical review of the progress that has been made since 1939 when Mr. Farley took six homeless boys from the streets of Amarillo and gave them a home in the Old Tascosa courthouse. After school and on weekends, the boys have been painting signs that will be placed in front of the dorms, giving the history of these and other buildings on the ranch.

The celebration highlight will be combined commencement exercises for 32 high school seniors, and 47 boys in the eighth grade who will go into high school this fall. Among honored guests will be Judge Phillip B. Gillum of the Denver Juvenile Court, who has been selected to be commencement speaker for this year's graduating class. In addition to their high school diplomas, many of the graduates will also receive vocational training certificates.

Sharing the celebration with the more than 300 boys now at the Ranch will be many of the 1,000 Ex-Ranchers who have called Boys Ranch home at one time. During the past twenty five years,

Little League Baseball Season Gets Underway

Little League Baseball was launched here Monday with three games after official ceremonies signalled the start of activities for the 1964 season.

Mayor B.W. Armistead made the first pitch as two minor league teams -- Security State Bank and the Leader-News -- grabbed the opening spotlight at Little League Park.

LL President Chick Conway welcomed fans to the formal opening and introduced all team members and coaches individually. A flag-raising ceremony and playing of the Star Spangled Banner preceded the first pitch by the mayor.

Security State claimed the first victory of the season in LL Park, downing Leader-News by a 17-7 score. Citadell Insurance beat Union Compress in the other opener at the auxiliary field, 14-9.

Larry Hodge and Lyndon Findley combined to pitch Security State to its triumph. Findley also batted out two doubles and Jerry McCary had a double and single. Chuck Blevins, Steve Nieman and Rodney Foust hurled for the Leader-News. Pat Boone had two of the four hits.

The Citadell-Union game was limited to 3 innings with Ray-

The Lions defeated the Optimist Club, 7-5, in the first major league game Monday. The Lions had only two hits off Kenneth Lee and Danny Estrada, but bases on balls and errors aided the winners. Jimmy Gray singled and Charles Carney doubled for the Lions.

Carlos Zapada socked the season's first homer and also had a single for the losing Optimist team. Gray and Leroy Danford gave up 6 hits to the Optimists.

Littlefield Butane rolled to a 17-1 victory over Rotary Club Tuesday night in major action. Scott McNeese struck out 15 batters and gave up the only hit in leading the Butane team to victory. Randy Parkman and Terry Hobbs led the hitting.

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

AUSTIN -- Are the "childhood diseases" here to stay? Is it still necessary to have a smallpox vaccination? Do babies inherit a "natural immunity"?

The "childhood diseases" are a myth. The fact is that these diseases are so contagious among children that most people have had them and thereby developed immunity by adulthood. But adults can do catch them, and when they do they are sometimes much sicker than children.

Two of the so-called childhood diseases -- mumps and German measles -- have special danger for the adult patient. Mumps can be damaging to adults -- both men and women. And German measles, when occurring in the early part of pregnancy, can result in damage to the unborn child. So, if you are exposed to any "childhood" disease and believe you have never had it, ask your doctor what you can do to protect yourself.

It is extremely important that you and your children keep protection against smallpox up to date. True, the absence of smallpox in this country has led to a lack of public concern about this serious disease and large segments of the adult population are unvaccinated or require boosters. In some parts of the world smallpox continues to be a serious problem. If just one single undetected smallpox case should be introduced into a U.S. community, it could touch off a serious epidemic.

Is it true that a baby is protected by his "natural immunity" acquired from his mother? Some of a mother's natural or acquired immunities, if any, can be passed on to her unborn infant as her blood courses through the placenta that nourishes him, but this inherited immunity remains effective for only a short time.

In the case of whooping cough, a highly contagious disease that is especially dangerous and often fatal for small babies, there is evidence that immunity is only occasionally passed on.

Every parent, medical authorities, should plan an immunization program beginning at six weeks of age against diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus, poliomyelitis and smallpox. Booster shots to maintain complete protection should follow at prescribed intervals throughout childhood and in the case of certain diseases, well into adult life.

Average Starting Salaries For College Graduates Given

Starting salaries for prospective college graduates are of concern to many young people this spring.

Here's information about beginning average salaries being offered to male college students who will receive a bachelor's degree this year. It should be of interest to many Texans, says Mrs. Wanda Meyer, Extension home management specialist at Texas A&M University.

With a few exceptions, the industry making the most job offers also was providing the highest salaries. For instance, electrical engineering students were offered 647 jobs from the aircraft and space industry with an average monthly salary offer of $633. The high was $692, the low, $574.

If the same students were interested in working for the electrical machinery and equipment industry, the number of jobs available would be 226 and the salary average would be $619. The aircraft and space industry ranked highest in the number of job opportunities for five of the technical curricula.

Average beginning monthly salary offers quoted include: Humanities and social sciences, $452; marketing and distribution, $459; business, $453; accounting, $538; Metallurgical engineering, $600; civil engineering, $607; industrial engineering, $610; mechanical engineering, $617; chemical engineering, $612; physics, chemistry, math, $617; aeronautical engineering, $628; electrical engineering, $633.

In humanities and social sciences, job offers were more evenly divided among all the categories of employers. The highest number--32 offers--came from banking, finance and insurance, with an average salary of $452. From the merchandising--retail and wholesale--field came only 27 offers, but the average salary was a little higher--$468.

The 58th Legislature added additional provisions to old law making it an offense to obtain board or lodging in hotel or boarding house means of any trick or fraud, representations, or statements or pretense.

It now is unlawful for person who has obtained meals or other lawful services at any hotel, motor hotel, or tourist court to depart to the premises thereof with intent not to pay for such services. NEWS FROM SCS OFFICE

SCD Supervisors Urge Use Of Cover Crops

"Don't be caught short this fall and next spring like we were this year," Edward Mitchell, chairman of the Lamb County Soil Conservation District Board, cautions farmers. The board of supervisors urges that cover crops be planted on the diverted areas, especially if the crop is to be followed with a low residue producing crop.

The most commonly used cover crops for this area are the cool-season varieties, which can be a small grain such as rye, barley, wheat -- or a mixture of these with a cool-season legume such as vetch. Austrian winter peas. This type is recommended for use on furrows, bar ditches, and irrigated land.

The dead litter, or high residue crops, can be any of the sorghums -- sudan, peas, or soy beans. This type of cover crop is used in preparation for grass seeding, skip-row planting of cotton, or any summer fallowed field.

The dead litter crop can be used with very good results on either dryland or irrigated but it takes a little more know-how in the management than it does for the cool-season cover crop.

Peas and soybeans are recommended for irrigated land because they generally need some watering to produce enough litter to prevent wind-erosion and to produce enough litter to be worthwhile. They should be either mowed or cut with a stubble before frost, or at the beginning of the growing season of the following year, then chiseled or tamped lightly with just enough top soil to stabilize the soil and keep it from blowing during the winter and spring.

When a sudan or sorghum is used, it should be some time in July so that it will be killed by frost before a mature seed crop should be either stubble mowed or cut with a stubble during the early spring to prevent maturity of the crop.

The litter or residue should be left down in the field, or by a light chiseling, or by a light deming, to help stabilize organic material and protect the soil from wind-water erosion. At the same time it helps to store winter moisture that might be needed.

These cover crops can be used on any of the soils in Lamb County or any part of the state, says Mitchell. They can be used to stabilize small-blem areas. Regarding the farm, there is some of cover crop which can be used.

The SCD supervisors advise that there is any problem or information needed concerning cover crops, contact Soil Conservation Service office in the courthouse.

RYE COVER CROP--A cover crop of rye broadcast on skip-row cotton field provides wind erosion protection to help maintain the organic matter of the soil. The rye broadcast at the time of the last cultivation of the cotton. This method, used on the Herbert Dolle farm 7 miles east of Littlefield, does not put the cover crop in competition with the cash crop.

It's the Law in TEXAS

A brand new law now makes it rough on the person who uses a credit card to obtain any item of value or service of any type with intent to defraud.

House Bill No. 116 passed by the last (58th) Texas Legislature provides further that it shall be unlawful for any person to present a credit card with intent to defraud which has expired or has been revoked with the knowledge of such expiration or revocation.

The presentation of an expired or revoked card to obtain or attempt to obtain any item of value, service of any type, or to pay for such items of value or services rendered shall be prima facie evidence of knowledge that such credit card had expired or had been revoked, if the person making such presentation shall not have paid to the person so honoring or issuing the card the total amount charged for the items of value or services within ten (10) days after being given notice from such person so honoring or issuing the card that said credit card had expired or been revoked at the time the purchase was made, which notice shall also state the amount due on such purchase.

Notice may be given by registered or certified mail or telegram. Punishment for violation of this new law ranges from imprisonment in the County Jail for not exceeding two years and by fine not exceeding $1,000 for the first offense involving $50 or less up to confinement in the

Business Letter Clinic Offered Here June 16

Every percent of the average business letter consists of unnecessary words. One of every five letters is written to correct an error or omission in business correspondence. Four out of five contain trite, "businessy" phrases that waste the reader's time and kill interest.

Some of the findings are a few of the findings of W.H. Butterfield, one of the leading authorities on letter writing, who will conduct a Business Letter Clinic in Littlefield on Tuesday evening, June 16. Sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, the clinic will be offered from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at Littlefield High School.

Author of 16 books and many magazine articles on business correspondence, Butterfield conducted letter writing clinics for business and professional groups in more than 20 cities. His letter clinics have been offered five times in Dallas, Oklahoma City, and Oklahoma, three times in Amarillo, Abilene, and Midland, twice in Houston, Odessa, El Paso, Albuquerque, Littlefield, and many other cities. "You say it is just as important as what you say in business letters," says Butterfield. "Sometimes the letter is influenced even more by the tone of a letter than by its contents. A friendly, humorous tone wins his co-operation and good will. A blunt tone irritates him. A mechanical tone bores him."

Many letters contain too much "I" and not enough "you," Butterfield points out. "The average reader has little interest in what he can do for you. He wants to know what you can do for him."

A list of trite expressions to avoid in letter writing is included among the twelve letter-improvement charts used during the clinic. Other materials cover negative words and how to avoid them, short cuts to concise writing, effective selling psychology, how to write clearly, how to give letters a friendly tone, correct form and layout, and a "check list" for successful letters. The $4.50 registration fee for the Business Letter Clinic includes the set of twelve letter-improvement charts.

Formerly chairman of the Department of Business Communication at the University of Oklahoma, Butterfield later served as educational director of the National Retail Credit Association, St. Louis, and editor of its Better Letters Service. From 1943 to 1958 he was executive director of the University of Illinois Foundation. He is now Vice President for Development at Texas Tech.

Listed in "Who's Who in America," Butterfield is a past president of the American Business Writing Association. In reviewing one of his books,

W.H. BUTTERFIELD
Printers' Ink magazine called him "the most expert of the authorities." Butterfield is author of the section on "Letter Writing" in World Book Encyclopedia.

Davis Rites Held Sunday In Dimmitt

Funeral services for Clyde Ray Davis, young Castro County farmer and son of Mr. and Mrs. C.P. Davis of Littlefield, were held Sunday at 4:30 p.m. in the First Baptist Church of Dimmitt.

Davis, 34, was killed Saturday about 12:30 a.m. when the car he was driving overturned on FM-168 about 5 miles north of Nazareth. He was believed to be enroute from Amarillo to his home in the Flag community when the fatal mishap occurred.

Officers reported the 1957 model sedan overturned "at least three times." Davis was alone in the car. A passing motorist, who witnessed the accident, notified Dimmitt authorities.

Davis was born May 18, 1929 at Altus, Okla. He has farmed in the Flag community of Castro County about 12 years.

The Rev. M.A. Smith officiated at services in Dimmitt. Masonic rites were conducted at Earth Cemetery, where Dennis Funeral Home of Dimmitt was in charge of arrangements.

Survivors include his wife; Billie; a daughter, Andrea; a son, Lance, all of the home; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C.P. Davis of Littlefield; a sister, Mrs. Joyce Lance of Lubbock; a brother, Wayne Davis of Lubbock.

HD Agent Has Helpful Hint

Do you think your white resin treated cotton blouse is "just ruined" when it comes in contact with chlorine bleach and thus turns yellow?

Mrs. Lady Clare Phillips, county home demonstration agent, says it can be made bright as new again by following these simple instructions:

Dissolve 1 tablespoon of sodium hydrosulfite or sodium bisulfite (a druggist has both) in 1 quart of water.

Submerge yellowed garment for about 30 seconds or until yellowing disappears.

Remove garment and immediately put through a complete wash cycle in the automatic washer with an all purpose synthetic detergent.

Optimists To Hear Report

Littlefield Optimist Club President Curtis Wilkinson will report on the state convention when the organization holds its regular weekly luncheon meeting today.

Wilkinson, Werner Birkelbach and Harold Phillips attended the convention in Dallas last weekend. The local members also took Mike Sanders, 15-year-old student, who was the district winner of an oratorical contest.

Sanders was about third or fourth in the state competition, according to Wilkinson. Two boys were selected from the 11 contestants to appear in the Saturday finals.

Christmas Event Reaps Dividends for Students

Prize money from the Christmas Window Contest won by the first six grades of Littlefield school has finally been received and spent. A great deal of time was spent while "just the right thing" was found. Something different and something all the children could enjoy was wanted. Six large rubber balls were bought for the primary children. Due to sometimes blustery weather, children in the first three grades have their physical education classes indoors. These balls have proven such a good investment that the school has bought additional ones and jump ropes for indoor physical fitness activities. The portion of the elementary children's money was spent on two large framed pictures. These were hung in the hall of the elementary building last week and every child passes by them on his way to music class.

OUTDOOR TIPS
When casting live minnows... or at times when you are getting strikes on live minnows, but aren't hooking the fish... try using two snelled hooks instead of the usual one hook. Lace one hook through minnow's back fin, the other through lips. Neither impairs live minnow's action but you can cast and catch better.

The Earth Jaycees have joined a national campaign which opposes the passage of the Civil Rights Act of 1963 now being studied in Congress.

The Lamb County civic club is circulating copies of the act and petitions against its passage. The club endorsed a resolution against the bill and will send signed petitions to the Jaycee club in Macon, Ga.

The Georgia club originated the nation-wide campaign and will send all petitions to Washington. National goal is a minimum of 100,000 signatures.

The means by which the purported purposes of the Civil Rights Act of 1963 are to be enforced are contrary to the principles of the National Junior Chamber of Commerce," the resolution reads in part.
