POST OFFICE MAIL HEAVY

"Over 300 packages in one day is pretty heavy for this office," Postmaster T. A. Henson commented this week.

Henson was referring to packages mailed Monday and said that a definite increase in the number of packages, cards and letters mailed was being felt this week.

Window at the Post Office will remain open "as long as necessary" Saturday. Regular hours are from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. on weekdays and the window usually closes at 13 noon on Saturdays.

Henson plans no increase in personnel to handle the Christmas rush and noted that he hopes the bulk of the mail will come this week to assure delivery by Christmas.

He commented that the use of ZIP codes was good and added that codes are required on packages.

"We have to put the ZIP on packages ourselves if it isn't in the address, so people could sure help us out in this way," he said.

WORK TO DO -- Shown above with stacks upon sacks of Christmas mail are employees of the local post office. These are part of the anticipated 100,000 pieces of mail of a 10-day period beginning today. This figure does not include hand

tion major with a minor in history.

In other action, the board appointed Paul L. Jones census trustee, set Jan. 3 as the date for school to resume after Christmas holidays, discussed a board policy that no charity fund-drives are to be held through the school or school children, changed first year teachers' sick leave from five to 10 days with 30 days accumulative, and discussed senior rings.

A motion was passed to the effect that permission to see the design of the new senior ring would have to come from the company which did the designing and that the student council would decide whether students will buy rings through the school or through local jewelers.

Audit report for the fiscal year 1965-66, which ended Aug. 31, was prepared by Cornell and Company, certified public accountants, Amarillo.

In a statement of cash receipts and disbursements, a total showed $1,223,138.55 funds available for the year and a total cash disbursement of $1,217,892.68. A complete summary of the year's financial statement appears inside today's paper.

Auditor's assumptions included the following:

1. District's budget is prepared and adopted in accordance with policies established by the state board of education.

2. Tax assessor-collector is properly bonded as required by the statutes.

3. Assessing and collecting of taxes is conducted in a business-like manner.

4. Local tax revenues are properly separated for maintenance and debt service.

5. District's tax rate is in accordance with Article 2784 e-1.

6. All receipts are deposited to the proper funds and only in the district's approved depository in accordance with state statutes and regulations.

7. Bonded treasurer (depository bank) does not provide adequate security as required by statutes.

This question was discussed by board members with the conclusion that, in actual practice, adequate security is provided and a motion was passed to have the depository bank make provisions to satisfy the technicality of the requirement.

8. All checks drawn on school funds were approved by the board of trustees and signed by legally authorized personnel.

9. Audit did not reveal any expenditures made without prior budget authority or any violation of statutory authority.

10. Accounting methods, forms and procedures are in use as prescribed by the state board of education.

11. Accounting system is maintained on the accrual basis for revenues.

12. All bus drivers are bonded as required.

13. No evidence of nepotism was revealed in the employment of personnel.

14. No member of the school board has a pecuniary interest in firms or corporations doing business with the school district.

City To Meet On Cable TV

A representative of Broadcasters Exchange Enterprise, Inc., will meet with the city council tonight to give a progress report on proposed cable television for Littlefield.

A franchise was given the company by the City of Littlefield last June.

However, the contract states that it shall automatically terminate if the company has not begun installation of the system and the distribution of television signals by June 24, 1967.

40 YEARS OLD? DAD BLAME! -- This is the caption on the sign behind Don Redding (middle) as his friends from Whitharral help him celebrate his 40th birthday recently. Various signs were placed throughout the city proclaiming to any passer-by that Don Redding was 40 years old.

To wish Don Redding a Happy Birthday. And just in case some Whitharral resident missed seeing the signs, there were more at the basketball game that night. Knowing Redding would be present to see his daughter, Paula, play, "friends" made more signs which they carried around during the half-time.

The first, carried with the grandeur that college fraternities use to make announcements at capacity crowd football games, announced: We feel sorry For Paula's pappy Let's get together And make him happy -- Crescent House -- 7:30.

The next one read: The Whitharral Senior Citizens' Society welcomes Don Redding into the Golden Age Group. Initiation at 7:30 at the Littlefield Crescent House.

County Farmers OK Cotton Votes

40 YEARS OLD? DAD BLAME! -- This is the caption on the sign behind Don Redding (middle) as his friends from Whitharral help him celebrate his 40th birthday recently. Various signs were placed throughout the city proclaiming to any passer-by that Don Redding was 40 years old.

Referendums Pass Easily

With only 45 per cent of the cotton farmers in Lamb County voting, results on two cotton referendums gave approval to both in this county.

Ballots were counted here Wednesday and L. D. Aten, ASCS office manager, said that out of 4,352 ballots sent out in Lamb County, 1,923 were returned on the research and promotion $1-per-bale proposal and 1,981 were returned on the marketing quota vote.

In the marketing quota vote, about 88 per cent gave approval with 1,744 votes for and 237 votes against.

About 75 per cent approved the $1-per-bale with 1,439 for and 484 against.

The proposed cotton research and promotion assessment order was developed under the Cotton Research and Promotion Act approved in Congress July 13.

The Act was passed in an effort to enable cotton producers to establish, finance and carry out a program of research and promotion to improve the competitive position and expand markets for cotton.

Section 8 of the Act provides that no cotton research and promotion order will be issued unless it is approved by not less than two-thirds of the producers voting in the referendum or not less than a majority of the producers voting if that majority produced at least two-thirds of the cotton during the 1966 crop year.

No alternate provision for collection of funds to finance the Act, other than the $1-per-bale assessment, is provided in the order.

If the order is approved, the $1-per-bale assessment will start at the beginning of the 1967 ginning season.

On the other ballot, if the marketing quota referendum is not approved by the necessary two-thirds of the votes, allotments will remain in effect for the 1967 upland cotton crop but there will be no marketing quotas, no penalties for excess cotton, no additional price support in form of payments, no diversion payments and no export market acreage.

If This Is The Beginning... Better Watch 'Em, Don Redding!

By NILAH RODGERS WHITHARRAL--Forty years old? Dad blame!

Such are the comments made by Don Redding when one of his friends reaches the 40-year-old mark.

But the tables were turned on him this week. Don Redding is now 40.

As motorists approached Whitharral down Interstate 385 from the north and south, huge signs posted on cotton trailers alongside the highway greeted them.

Traveling toward Levelland from this small community the signs read one into the other in Burma Shave style: Would you believe As you pass this way That poor Don Redding Is 40 today?

Then as if an after thought, another trailer down the road had a sign saying "Sorry 'Bout That!"

Traveling toward Littlefield the signs said: Some men are meek Some men are bold But Mr. Don Redding Is 40 years old!

In the same manner trailers spelled out this message on the Anton farm to market road going toward the Redding home: All of his friends Are happy today

To wish Don Redding a Happy Birthday. And just in case some Whitharral resident missed seeing the signs, there were more at the basketball game that night. Knowing Redding would be present to see his daughter, Paula, play, "friends" made more signs which they carried around during the half-time.

The first, carried with the grandeur that college fraternities use to make announcements at capacity crowd football games, announced: We feel sorry For Paula's pappy Let's get together And make him happy -- Crescent House -- 7:30.

'Task Force' Project Analyzing Littlefield

State Rep. Bill Clayton was to meet with a committee here Wednesday afternoon to start work on an intensive project by the Small Town Task Force of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Littlefield is one of 15 West Texas towns included in the project.

Clayton planned to meet with representatives of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce and others interested in the development of the community in the first phase of the project, completion of a pilot questionnaire.

Other cities with less than 12,000 population will be included in the plan as soon as the pilot questionnaires are studied by the Task Force.

Towns selected for the pilot studies, other than Littlefield, are Anson, Bronte, Crane, Dublin, Garden City, Hale Center, Hamilton, Mentone, Olney, Robert Lee, Stanton, Stephenville, Spearman and Throckmorton.

An in-depth questionnaire covering community problems, assets and potentials, prepared by a panel of specialists, is to be completed by local leaders.

Recommendations for solutions of problems or exploitation of assets and potentials will be made later, after the study is completed.

Tourist attractions, school systems, recreational and cultural facilities, industrial potentials, transportation, water supplies, churches, tax structures, agricultural and ranching and many other facets of a community's complex makeup will be examined by the local leaders.

C. L. Cooke, Fort Worth chairman of the Task Force, said at the initial meeting in Olney, "The recognition of the existence of a problem or the awareness of an asset or potential by local leadership is the first and most important step in arriving at proper answers. We think the questionnaire will assist materially in this respect."

After the on-the-spot studies are completed, six hearings will be held in various geographical locations in the West Texas area. Dates and places for the hearings will be announced next week.

The hearings will follow the general format of congressional hearings. Testimony will be heard by representatives of towns affected and presentations on specific subjects will be made by outstanding specialists. Questioning of the "witnesses" will be conducted by a member of the panel.

The findings of the six hearings will be prepared by subcommittees, compiled and published in a special "white paper" on March 15.

Grid Boosters Needing Funds

"Several people have asked us about donations and we could use the money," Frank Thornton said Tuesday morning after a meeting of the board of directors of the Quarterback Club.

The club has recently purchased an ultrasonic sound machine for $895 to be used in the athletic department of the school here.

"We still have to pay for it," Thornton laughed, adding that several people had already donated money for the machine and others had asked about it.

Donations may be mailed to Box 467, Littlefield.

Thornton said that Littlefield coaches had been taking athletes to the athletic department at Levelland to use their machine.

OWNER'S REPORT

Thank You, Mac

By Bill Turner

IT IS ONLY RIGHT and patriotic, in these troubled times, that a man should say thanks when his government does him a favor, such as showing him the way out of the doghouse.

Usually, when the gentleman of the house comes home late from a poker game without a key and has to wake up The Better Half to let him in—well, it's rough.

He is likely to be greeted with all the warmth of a karate expert unbricking a brick wall.

IN THE PAST, the provider has always had to give rather miserable excuses for his crimes.

Such as he promised to drive good buddy Joe Brew home before he told him he lived in Lubbock and there was fog on the highway. Or he went to the restroom and the door somehow locked behind him and it was three hours before he could pick the lock off with a nail he pulled out of the door with his teeth.

These alibis probably never made much of an impression on the ladies and the men who have long been in need of a good story.

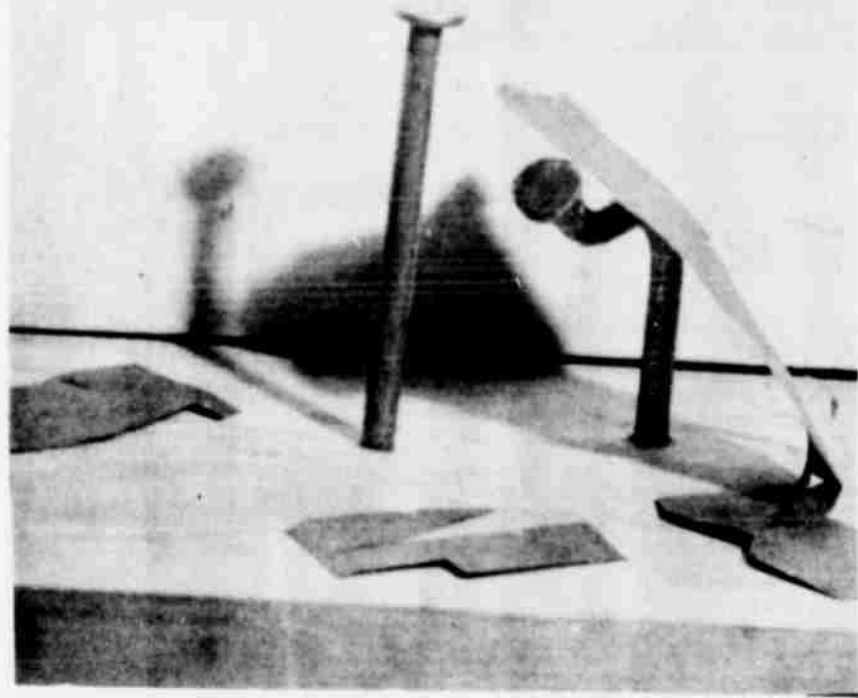

McNamara showed the way a while back when he called a press conference to announce a military cutback in Vietnam. He said he was making a 30 percent slash in the amount of money spent on the various weapons of war.

THERE WAS, naturally, great rejoicing when this news came out of radios and TVs. If they needed less guns certainly they'd need less soldiers to shoot them. Johnny would come marching home sooner than expected.

"Hallelujah" said Johnny's mother. "Gloryosky" said Little Orphan Annie. "Arf," said Sandy.

SO, WE CAN see it now . . . Sweetheart cracks the door, sticks her head out, and opens her mouth. But before she can say a word, he says:

"Thank you, Mr. Defense Secretary."

AS I WAS SAYING. LET THE CHIPS FALL WHERE THEY MAY.

THROUGH THE YEARS

10 Years Ago

(Taken from the files of the Lamb County Leader, Dec. 20, 1956)

Littlefield retail merchants, after wallowing in a pre-Christmas shopping "slump" Wednesday set their hopes on last-minute shoppers' rush to make this Christmas buying season one of the city's largest.

Members of the Littlefield Industrial Foundation this week reported the addition of 14 shares to the corporation's stock, bringing the total number of shares to 956.

Cotton yield in bales per acre soared to an all-time high in Lamb County in 1956, according to figures released this week by the County Agent's office. With Lamb County harvesting an estimated 173,000 bales on its 1956 allotment of 191,000 acres, the county has an average of .90 bale per acre. The figure topped easily the 1949 figure of .75 and the 1954 figure of .84, heretofore the best years in history.

Littlefield and most other cities in this area received rain Wednesday as a slow drizzle covered the South Plains. Littlefield itself got .25 inch through 1 p.m. Wednesday. It was the first moisture here since October 17.

25 Years Ago

(Taken from the files of the Lamb County Leader, Thursday, Dec. 18, 1941)

The new east-west highway, which is under construction is making nice progress. Laying the calachie was begun at the Bailey County line coming east and according to E.F. Pilley nine miles of the highway is calachie covered.

First steps toward the organization of Home Defense Guard Unit were taken last Friday morning when more than 50 citizens of Littlefield gathered at the City Hall, and formed a temporary organization.

As a war defense measure, the Salvation Army have been instructed to seek the cooperation of all residents in the gathering of all waste paper, which is needed by the U.S. Government in the defense of the nation.

As announced by L.C. Hewitt, Chairman of the War Emergency Fund campaign for Littlefield, the drive, which got underway Monday, is meeting with fine response. Up to Tuesday evening a total of approximately $500 had been raised toward the $1,200.00 quota for Littlefield.

The FFA District Contest with the Junior Chapter conducting, took place in the Agricultural Department of the local school Tuesday, when the local group placed first.

With the Littlefield Boy Scouts cooperating, plans are underway by the Salvation Army to stage a drive for Christmas toys for the needy children, as announced by Dr. Wm. N. Orr, local Chairman of the Boy Scouts.

There was a total of 1,120 farmers who went to the polls Saturday, Dec. 13, and cast their ballots either for or against cotton marketing quotas for 1942.

AMY'S ADLIBS

My Extra Child

By Amy Turner

IT WAS NICE to have dinner one night this week with my four children.

THIS PROBLEM is one that is common to a number of my friends whose husbands, like The Publisher, can not understand why we get mildly annoyed at being called this endearing term.

He says he never calls anyone "mother" that he doesn't love and I think this is right friendly and he is probably going to be sincerely confused when I hit him in the teeth.

I DON'T BELIEVE most men realize how incredibly frustrated it makes us feel when we walk into a soft-lighted restaurant in our most glamorous gown, cut daringly low, barely able to breathe, hoping to recapture a moment of romance . . . only to hear him murmur:

Actually it is to the credit of the will power and supreme maturity of the feminine sex that there are as many men still breathing as there are!

THE WHOLE THING could be pretty serious and cause a world of disaster, because with the trend going the way it's going, romance is going to just wither away, and without romance there aren't going to be very many women who will trade freedom, career, pretty clothes for scrubbing floors and washing diapers.

So, for the sake of mankind and the world in general, I think this is important: DON'T CALL ME MOTHER, DEAR!

Easier To Live Within A Budget Than Income

(Editor's Note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm must be having budgetary troubles, his letter this week indicates.)

Dear editor:

Four different columnists in four different newspapers I've picked up out here in the last few days have been having a lot of fun denouncing Washington for making what they call a "10 billion dollar error" in estimating the military budget for this year.

As I understand it, the original estimate said it would take 10 billion dollars extra to support the military operations this year, but it's turning out that 20 billion will be closer.

However, it would be interesting to hear how these columnists have come out this year with their own personal budgets.

As a matter of fact, if everybody had to pay all his debts tomorrow, including individuals, corporations, towns, schools, counties, states, the Federal government and all foreign countries, there's no telling how many doors would have to close, but it would be a lot easier to count those staying open.

I'm not excusing Washington for making a 10 million dollar error, if that's what it is, but if it can get the support of every voter who has ever exceeded his budget, it'll stay in office from now on.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

CAPITOL COMMENTS

Natives Restless

By Larry Fuhrmann

Our State Capitol Correspondent

"The natives are restless" is the way United States Congressman-elect George Bush sums up the Nov. 8th election, which saw him, along with Bob Price, taking two representative seats in Washington for Texas and the Republican party.

"The size of the Republican victory speaks out on the abandonment of alternatives which was seen in the 89th Congress," Bush told members of the University of Texas Young Republican Club in an appearance Wednesday night. "I don't think it's good when you do away with dissent. There will be plenty of balance and plenty of debate when the 90th Congress convenes in January. There is going to be a legitimate use of Congress."

Bush's speech to the student group reflected changing attitudes of the Republican party in the state and the nation as he stated, "I wouldn't want to be cast in the role of being too critical of the administration."

"I don't believe in the old idea of all poor being lazy. You don't want to turn your back on them."

"I say we have a role in the alleviation of human suffering. But we must remember that Athens ceased to be great when it sought freedom from responsibility."

"Although we certainly want a better standard of living for the unfortunate, we must remember that some approaches to the problem, such as the rent supplement, create an erosion of responsibility."

said he thinks will come out of the 90th Congress. "Lyndon Johnson has a very sensitive political antenna," he commented.

"There is no longer any question that can get the country moving by spending more than you take in," Bush said. There is, however, a second half to that theory, one seldom mentioned. (Bush took the Bachelor of Arts degree from Yale University in major in economics.)

The second half of the theory points out the fact that when the economy is overextended it is time for the government to provide a budget surplus, which up to now has not been provided, he said. He advocated more grants-in-aid with fewer strings attached. "Perhaps because of the federal tax structure, the states were not merely ignoring their duties."

"When you have a strong two-party system in a state, you're going to have a government more responsive to the people," he said of Texas. "Republicans need strength, and don't have it in Texas. You don't get strength by being against."

"I think the way Bob Price and I believe Washington is going to have a lot to do whether we have a two-party Texas. I do have a job to assist Texas Republicans. Two-party system would result. I think, not liberals, but rather in more sensible government. Institutions must advance with the times."

A standing ovation for Bush came as he closed with "These are the goals, most commendable action." With Republicans picking up seats in the United States Congress, it looks like he may get it.

Bush had commented in his speech, "The conservative can be positive." From indications, his speech would be the example of it. One Democrat was mentioned only once—Lyndon B. Johnson—and that was in the form of a compliment.

FOR FAMILY FUN Make Your Own Tree Decorations

Christmas tree decorations can be bought at a store or made at home. The store-bought ones may have more glitter and color. The ones made at home have other ingredients. They are the products of a closely-knit family. They have warmth, and love.

Here are some Christmas decorations that even the youngest can make, with their mother's help.

Angel: To make the angel, begin by drawing a large circle on shelf paper, using a large circle pattern, cut out the circle and fold in half. Cut the circle in half along the fold. Bend the half into a cone, bringing corners A and B together as in the picture. Fasten it in place with a staple or paste.

Take a sheet of white paper. Put the small circle pattern on the paper, with the edge of the circle at the fold. Draw around the circle and cut it out, but do not cut across the fold. When you have cut the paper, you will have two small circles fastened to each other. See picture.

Draw a face on one of the small circles. Paste cotton hair on the other. Paste the bottom of each circle to the top of the other.

Take another piece of shelf paper. Draw a wing at the fold shown in the picture. Cut it out. Unfold, and paste or staple the double wing across the angel's back.

You can hang your angel up with a string loop attached to the top.

Snowman: To make the fuzzy snowman, start by drawing three circles on paper. Make one big circle, one middle-sized circle, and one small circle. Cut out all three circles. Then paste the circles together as shown in the picture.

Draw a face. Draw buttons on the snowman. Cut a hat out of paper and put it on the snowman's head. The hat can be red, black, or you can cut it out of black paper.

Finally cover the snowman with glue. Try not to put the glue where the buttons and the facemarks are.

Now, sprinkle the snowman with the store snow. The snow sticks to the wet glue. Let it dry, and tie a string to the top of the snowman so that you can hang it from a tree.

Candy Cane: To make a candy cane, begin by bending a pipe cleaner into a U shape. Cut a thin strip of crepe paper. Then wind the paper on a slant around the pipe cleaner. Glue the ends to the pipe cleaner. Then hang the cane on your Christmas tree.

Stay Fresh Longer

Logs, Candles, Cold Add To Christmas Fire Danger

Don't get burned this Christmas.

The holiday season is a time of open flames in many households—logs crackling in the fireplace, candles burning on low coffee tables, space heaters turned up high to ward off the outside chill.

The holiday season also is the time when many people are burned when their clothing ignites from an open flame.

Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association, reports that safety experts estimate that some 2,000 people die each year from burns suffered when their clothing catches fire. Another 250,000 suffer burns sufficiently serious to require medical attention. Most of these accidents are entirely avoidable.

Most often burned are very small children and their grandparents of advanced years. Screens in front of fireplaces, lamp chimneys around candles, and screens in front of open-flame space heaters will prevent most of these accidents.

It goes without saying that children should be cautioned against playing with matches and warned to remain a safe distance from open flames, including outdoor bonfires and outdoor charcoal grills.

Everyone in the family should be briefed once again on what to do when the clothing catches fire. Above all—don't panic—don't run. Roll on the floor or the ground; smother the flames with a coat, blanket or rug. For severe burns, don't wait to try first aid; bundle the victim in a blanket and head for medical attention at once. The doctor can't do much for a severe burn at your home. He most likely will tell you to meet him at the hospital, or at his office, where proper facilities are available.

Keep in mind that some types of clothing ignite more readily than others. It is the filmy nets and gauzes, the sheer, fuzzy or long-napped and lightweight materials which burn most readily. Little girls' flared skirts are especially risky. The snug-fitting jeans of the boys are much safer.

There are flame-resistant fabrics on the market, but they are functional for only a small part of the clothing market. Most clothing will burn.

Have a short family meeting right away to study possible flame hazards in your household. Correct such hazards as are correctable; warn everyone in the family against those hazards that remain.

Three Children Killed In Olton Fire Saturday
 OLTON--Graveside services for three small Negro children, who died in a fire here Saturday, were held Monday at 2:30 p.m. at Olton Cemetery.
 The youngsters were identified as Jonathan Keith Green, 1; Aaron Gerrard Green, 2; and James Earl Green, 3; all children of Mr. and Mrs. James Green, Olton.
 The fire swept through a two-room frame residence here Saturday afternoon and investigators said the children were found huddled together on a bed next to the front door of the structure. Firemen said their bodies were charred beyond recognition.
 Olton volunteer firemen ventured into the home while it was still blazing but found the children already dead.
 Mrs. Lewis Morris, a neighbor, discovered the fire at about 3 p.m. Her husband said flames were leaping from doors and windows of the house when it was discovered.
 When firemen arrived they attached fogging nozzles to hoses and broke into the building.
 Green, an employee of an Olton service station, had to be restrained by firemen and spectators from attempting to get into the burning house. He worked when he learned fire.
 Officers said Mrs. Green earlier put the children to bed and had gone to the nearby home of her aunt, Mrs. R. Brown.
 Cause of the fire was determined but firemen said the fire was so intense it melted a television set on a neighbor's house.
Billie Cook Killed Student At Olton
 Billie E. Cook of Littlefield home economics sophomore, Oklahoma State University, one of 16,003 students enrolled on the OSU campus this year, was killed Sunday morning, December 11, 1966, while driving a Buick Wildcat. She was 19, 072 and included 24 Oklahoma State Tech. Ogee, and 647 at OSU's Technical Institute if Oklahoma.

Good Returns Expected From 1967 Grain Program

Provisions of the 1967 feed grain program encourage the planting of a larger acreage of feed grains.

Corn and grain sorghum are again included in the 1967 program, but barley is not. So a program participant will be able to produce more of the feed grains in 1967 and, at the same time, his crop income will be protected by the price-support loans and payments available only to participants.

A widespread participation in the program, too, will mean feed grain supplies which are in balance with demand, serving to stabilize both market supplies and prices and to avoid building a surplus.

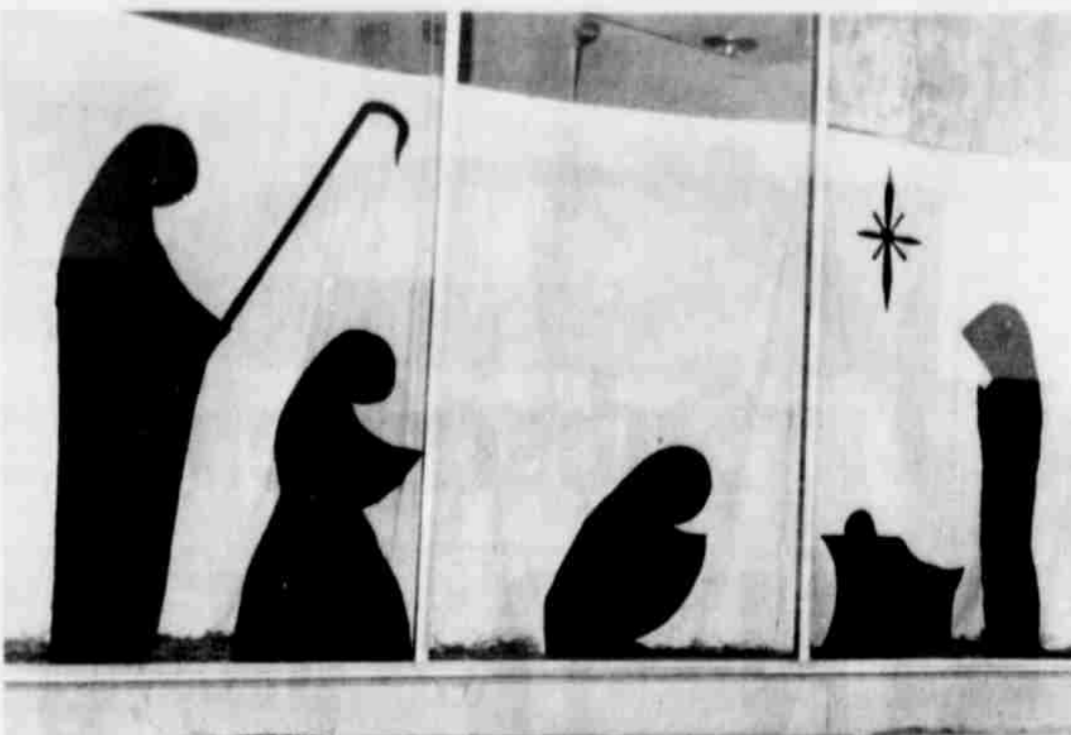

Farmers will be able to qualify for price-support loans and payments on their 1967 corn and grain sorghum crops by signing up to take part in the 1967 feed grain program and then diverting 20 per cent of the farm's feed grain base and meeting other general program provisions.

Growers on small farms (with feed grain bases of 25 acres or less) will be eligible also for diversion payments equivalent to 20 per cent of the total county support (loan plus price support payment) for the first 20 per cent of the base acreage diverted, and 50 per cent of the support on any additional acres diverted, up to the total base.

For corn, the 1967 loan rate will be $1.05 per bushel, national average, and the price-support payment rate 30 cents a bushel on the projected yield of the acres planted, up to 50 percent of the base acreage.

For grain sorghum, the loan rate will be $1.61 per hundredweight, national average, and the price-support payment 53 cents per hundredweight, figured the same as for corn.

Sign up under the 1967 feed grain program will take place early next year.

WINDOWS UNVEILED -- The window above is an example of the many windows entered in the Window Decorating Contest. The deadline for unveiling is today. The judging for the $100 prize money offered by the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce will take place very soon. The names of the organizations are not in the windows until after the judging is complete, the windows are identified by numbers.

CAR TELEPHONES -- Littlefield will see persons with telephones in their cars. Farrar, Communications Consultant of Telephone Company of the Southwest is shown demonstrating the use of these mobile car telephones. The Littlefield area will soon be okayed for the installation of these car phones.
