Nearly News

Was glad to see Chief Warraven stop a couple of carloads of youngsters playing motorized tag on the city streets the other night. This was considered just harmless, healthy fun when we used to do it on foot or in the swimming hole, but it can spell death and destruction when it's done in automobiles. It's too bad that some of our youngsters won't learn that except the hard way. But paying a fine is not nearly so hard a way to learn it, as looking down on the broken body of some pedestrian some night.

This sort of dangerous fun could be eliminated in our town if enough of our citizens had the courage to sign complaints. Our whole police force has only half a dozen pairs of eyes. They can't see everything. But our citizens have 8,000 pairs of eyes. They CAN see everything. And law enforcement is everybody's business.

We actually got down to one Betty in this organization for a few months, but it couldn't last. A couple of months ago Book-keeping Betty got bored with baby sitting and got back on the wagon. Then Betty Jolley joined our menagerie, taking care of office supplies and circulation, and here we are again. So if you call us and ask for Betty, no telling who you'll get. You might get sold an ad, or you might get fanned for the one you bought last month. You just never can tell.

But we can always fall back on using initials if it gets too confusing. We have some right interesting initials around our place. There's AP (Associated Press), BP (Betty Poe), CP (Carroll Punney), DP (Douglas P., LP (Littlefield Press), and EP (Ete Pituitary). We're developing a mania for Ps. We collect them with the same fascination that old coins have for Hall Hilton, and that any kind of money has for some folks we know.

But somebody needs to do some thing for the Ps. A man who made a modest fortune selling jewelry on credit told me once that he never gave credit to anyone whose occupation began with P—printers, publishers, peddlers, plumbers, preachers, politicians, painters, paper hangers, panhandlers and paupers. It's a wonder he even spoke to me in view of the fact that I'm a publisher and a printer of a sort, got a brother who's a preacher, a father who was once a city councilman and my name is Poe.

But I had to agree with the wisdom of his rule of thumb. We're a sad lot.

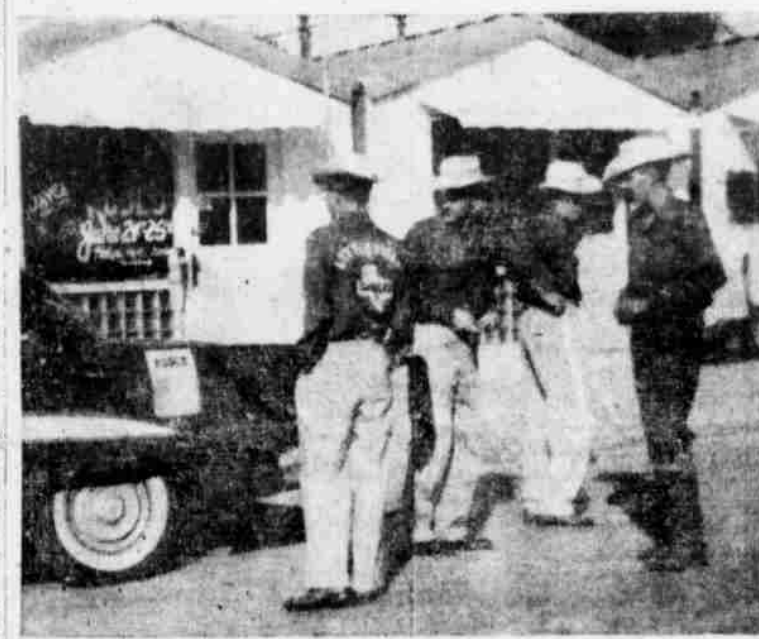

Add to the valuable training to be derived from Little League—Shirley Haltom says she could never get Billy to hang up his clothes, but that he really looks after that baseball uniform—or

Leaving the C of C offices, the caravan of cars made booster stops advertising the rodeo at Olton, Spade, Earth, Sudan, Amherst, Muleshoe, Morton and Leland. Country Club Golf Tourney to Begin With First Matches Scheduled To Start Thursday

The annual Littlefield Country Club golf tournament got under way Sunday with qualifying rounds completed late Sunday afternoon. Club pro Jack Milner has posted a list of players in each flight and date of the flights.

The rodeo parade down Phelps Avenue will be led by the Littlefield high school marching band, and will feature at least 10 visiting sheriffs posses and riding groups from over the South Plains. Trophies will be given the top three riding groups by the Lamb County Sheriff's Posse. Visiting riding groups will be guests at a chuck wagon supper after the parade, hosted by the Lamb County posse, and served by the Road Racers car club.

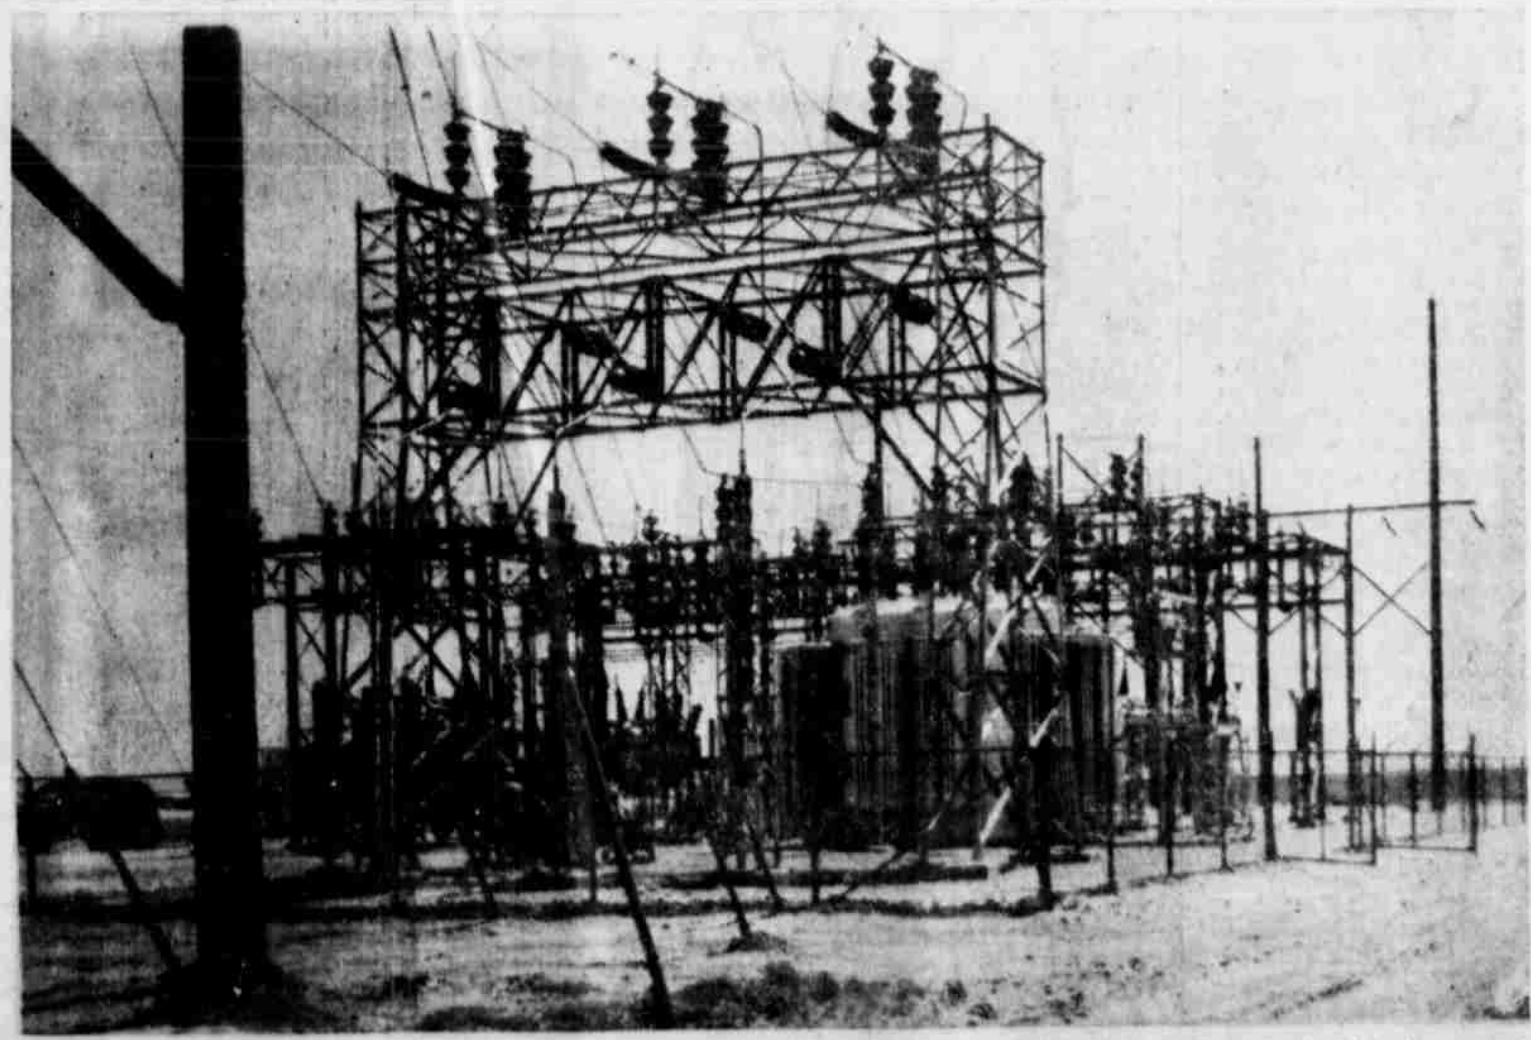

The route of the parade has been changed this year. The parade will form on Phelps, south of the Court-house, come around the post office and north on Phelps. At Delano, the parade will turn left, go up XIT and turn at Lyman's to the Community Center.

The first rodeo performance, produced by Inman and Hardaway, will begin at 8:15 with the grand march into the arena. The rodeo is touted to be the best ever produced during the decade of rodeos presented in Littlefield.

The Jaycees are taking a special interest in this year's rodeo, as it is their tenth anniversary year, and they hope to make this an outstanding entertainment feature.

Some of the best stock in the midwest, and top rodeo performers are scheduled to appear during the two nights of the rodeo here. The Jaycees rodeo is RCA approved, meaning top quality entertainment.

STEAL BUTANE TANK. Sheriff Dick Dyer reported early this week that someone broke into the American Supply warehouse here Sunday night and removed a butane tank. The sheriff said the tank had not been recovered Wednesday.

Quick-Fix Citrus Sherbet

Fruit cups are one of the most cooling first courses or desserts, becoming increasingly popular as people become more diet conscious. This time of year, there are plenty of colorful fresh fruits to choose from, such as watermelon, cantaloupe, blueberries and raspberries. For the final cooling touch, (and to stretch fresh fruit servings) add a scoop of a wonderful sherbet topping made so simply you'll find lots of uses for it—simply a can of Florida's plump tangy grapefruit sections, placed in the freezer unit of your refrigerator until contents are solid. Spoon over cut fresh fruits and you have a delicious dish. The canned grapefruit sections are one of the best buys right now, too, so you'll want to keep several cans chilling in the refrigerator to add cooling goodness and vitamin reinforcement to late summer salads.

Grapefruit Shrub Fruit Medley
1 can (1 pound) Florida grapefruit sections
3 cups sliced fresh fruit, chilled
Mint

Place can of grapefruit sections in freezer compartment several hours, or overnight until frozen. To serve, spoon fruit into shallow dishes. Top with several spoonfuls of frozen grapefruit sections. If desired, garnish with mint.
YIELD: 6 servings.

Muleshoe Miss Writes Series Stories European Travel For Lfd. Papers

Marilyn Gupton Muleshoe is touring this summer, and is a series of her impressions in the News and Leader. Our readers enjoy the first in the series is herewith.

to could well be: "See Europe on a shoestring—see the country; meet the people" with special emphasis on the latter. We will enjoy the historical spots, and remember them long. I am sure, but I feel that the people we meet and the friends we make will be remembered even longer.

Our party consists of Carol Sutherland from Austin, Betty Jo Taylor from Dallas, Helen Shafer from Houston, Ruth Pendergrass from Sweetwater, and myself from Muleshoe.

On the morning of June 3, 1955 Betty Jo and I climbed aboard an air coach in Dallas that would take us to Washington, D. C. From there we would go by train to New York City the following day after seeing as much of Washington and the surrounding landmarks as possible in the limited amount of time we would have. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Burford and their son Charles, originally from Ft. Worth, met us at the Washington National Airport and took us immediately to the Lincoln Memorial, the Library of Congress, and the Archives building. From the Lincoln Memorial the Washington Monument and the pool reflecting it were visible, while in the distance the capitol could be seen, as though guarding the city. We went to the Library of Congress next, which houses 16,000,000 books. The main reading room can be seen from a large rotunda overhead, on which impressive bronze statues stand and looking up, beautiful murals which are painted on the dome can be seen. Doorways leading to the stacks of books are situated all around the circular room and from them, glimpses of hundreds of the books there can be caught. In the main room of the Archives Building we saw the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States in their original cases. The cases holding these two documents sink from the main floor into the shelter area where they are kept while the building is closed.

The next morning we got an early start at seeing the remainder of Washington. We took the daily tour that goes through the White House, and quickly went through the Smithsonian in order to see the gowns worn by the first ladies at each inaugural ball. The gowns are displayed among settings that reflect the furnishings of each respective period. We stopped by the Jefferson Memorial for a few minutes before starting out to the beautiful Washington Memorial Drive to Mt. Vernon. Mt. Vernon covers a large tract of very well-kept ground and the main house as well as the separate kitchen, wash house, weaving room, coach house, servants quarters, etc., are all restored in their original furnishings.

Arlington Cemetery to be present at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier for the changing of the guard. This takes place every hour, day and night, rain or shine. Lee's Mansion is very near Arlington and from there the view of the city of Washington is excellent. After going to the new statue of the Flag Raising on Two Jims, we returned to downtown Washington, where we discovered that the capitol was closed as well as the Washington Monument.

We left Washington, then from our concentrated effort to see as much as possible, but very glad that we had been able to see so much. This would have been impossible except for the Fordboys, who made wonderful guides. Our grateful thanks goes to them for taking us under their wing for our short but very profitable 4 day tour of Washington.

We met the other three members of our group in New York City. While there, we saw a show with Villars during a stress and strain. Postings, with water colors, and hand-drawn copper work were hung on the walls. Books were also around the walls of buildings. We also found the U. N. Building on the East River.

We were able to get tickets to the Monday night performance of "The Oklahoma Game," a musical comedy, announcing the future problem of a "big game" factory. "The Oklahoma Game" was not at all what I had met at Chrysler's summer and weekly meetings in New York, we met Ted Koster Lee, the manager of the "Oklahoma Game." Lee was very nice to "the girls from Texas." He explained some of the fine art of "Tennessee" and "the boys." We were very impressed the two officers were sold out for that play. One of the middle numbers of the play was "Jeep in the Heart of Texas," some Oklahoma style, much to our surprise and delight. "The Tennessee of the August Moon" is a comedy set to music and sim-

Ice Cream Dessert Has Rosy Future

For announcement parties, showers, wedding receptions or anniversaries, here's a dessert with a rose-colored outlook. Pre-packaged ice cream gives festiveness to these party scenes with a strawberry sauce and flower-decked cakes.

The glory of a dessert starts with eye appeal. Here a half-pint package of ice cream, so easily and neatly unwrapped, comes to the table on a decorative platter. The strawberry sauce spooned over the pre-packaged ice cream carries the same pink tint as the butter frosting on the cup cakes. A slice of the ice cream and a round-trimmed cup cake are served each guest after this dessert makes its grand entrance.

Big For Our System

The time a city gets to be the size of Littlefield it develops an array of services which are not to be handled by its city government which turn them over to a big enterprise—big enough to need almost constant supervision and a competent executive. Some cities attempt to fill this need by putting their elector on a salary so that he can afford to devote his entire time to the city's business. Others usually elect a man because they approve of his policies rather than because he is a competent executive. So most cities have adopted a system which permits citizens to elect prudent men, whose policies they trust, and authorize those men to carry out the policies of the city government and hire a full time executive to carry out their policies. Many cities annually change from the full time mayor system to the city manager system, and we have not heard of any switching the other way, so we must have a lot of good points.

Littlefield has not done either of these things. We have no paid executive to manage the city government's varied activities. We are still expecting our unpaid mayor and commissioners to manage city business, as they are set the policies. That's quite a lot to expect from men who do the job just because they are good citizens.

During his two years as mayor, Les Hewitt devoted the major portion of his time and energies to looking after the city's business. The present mayor is also spending a great deal of his time working for the city gratis. We haven't heard him complain, but we know that eventually his own business or the city's business must suffer because both are taking his full time. This will probably be the case with nine out of ten mayors we elect. If we do not want the city's business to suffer, and since it is unfair to ask a citizen to neglect his own business, isn't it about time that we begin action to get a manager?

SPSTICK LOGIC

By LOUISE C. ALLEN
Frankness, like garlic salt or "wooster" on main foods, improves the flavor of friendship when properly used. But like those condiments, it goes best in small doses.

We have to learn this lesson again and again. Someone needlessly hurts a relative friend and we think, "She means well, but what a pity she can't see how cruel she is." If we promise ourselves we'll be more thoughtful. But before long, we too are using frankness with truth and sincerity and heedlessly hurting someone.

Our first lesson came when we were twelve. In a short story called "Merlin's Mischance", a little girl who had pledged herself to tell the truth dealt out cruelty to everyone she met. The story was of her gradual awakening to kindness as the necessary companion of truth.

We made a new pledge last week after talking with a cousin whom we hadn't seen twenty years. As a girl, she was plain, intelligent, and honest to a fault. She had the respect of everyone, the pity of some, the love of a few. Since that time, she has earned two college degrees, acquired a reputation in her profession, married and moved to another state. We looked forward to the reunion.

Within an hour she had spoken blunt truths to her husband—whom we had just met—three or four times. By the end of the day, we were gasping with astonishment at the things she had said to this man, her co-worker, her husband's friend. At least half of it could have been left unsaid, the other half said tactfully. It was a Quixote world she had built for herself, which she fenced with imaginary foes from gentleness would have won. Whatever its source, the idea that frankness for its own sake is a virtue should be put away in mothballs today!

Through A Glass Darkly

By CARROLL PONCEY

The latest flashes from the dimmest places: irate citizens are up in arms over the blast at Little Orphan Annie, and Gomer Cool has just been invited to address the Amalgamated Sewer and Parcheesi Union, Local 802 in Sneakypete, Montana.

The Readers Digest (The Poor Mans Medical Journal) is currently ballyhooing the latest ballyhoo about the cigarette cancer thing again. In the summer months there is not much going on and they have to fill up with something.

Anyway. The deal is that Medical Science, whoever that is, has come up with the facts (?) that cigarette smoking causes cancer, falling hair, and all sorts of kindred maladies. But, says Medical Science, folks who smoke cigars and pipes are not nearly so susceptible to these ailments as are the coffin nail puffers.

We bear rotund witness to this latest statement as being true. Never has there been a fatter (not a muscle) individual than the kindly old faded-top editor, and we confess to having carried a pipe of some sort for quite a few years. Any damage it has done us has been in the pocket book, or else we are like a chicken and don't show it in our face.

We recommend the evils of a pipe, with the fragrant cigar running a good close second. Cigarettes, pah! Insignificant bits of pale and wan weed that offer nothing more than something to do with your hands.

Rudyard Kipling said a woman is only a woman, but a good cigar is a smoke. Wonder what he meant by that?

At any rate, pipe-smokers are known by one and all to be gentle retrospective thinkers who are kind to old ladies and who seldom if ever are known to kick small children. All this is directly attributable to the soul satisfying practice of pipe smoking. The pipe smoker is a calm individual to whom the word ulcer means somebody else's high priced stomach ache. He worries not, nether does he work a whole lot, and his is, on the whole, a comfortable outlook on life. He is an observer, seldom a doer. A placid follower rather than an eager-beaver leader, content to bask in comfort while the harried cigarette smoker struggles to stay a step ahead of the Joneses. He is, in short, a lotus eater, and his lotus come in the drift of a blue cloud of Old Mustardmouth Pipe tobacco.

IT'S THE LAW

... in Texas

OBVIOUS RISKS ASSUMED BY SPECTATORS

The outlook wasn't very bright for the home team with the score tied, two opposing players on base and only one out. "Spec" Tator, a rabid fan, leaned forward on his seat in the left field bleachers. The pitcher got his signal, the ball sped toward the plate.

Then came two sharp cracks. The first was the bat on the ball. The second was the ball on Spec's head. Spec was seriously injured.

To recover damages for his injuries and medical bills, Spec filed suit against the baseball club. He charged it with negligence in failing to put a wire screen in front of the bleachers where he sat and in failing to warn him that batted balls might come into the bleachers and injure him.

But the court said, "No" to Spec. He had chosen to sit in the unscreened bleachers in preference to sitting behind a screen where the tickets cost more. Therefore, he had "assumed the risk" of being hit by a batted or thrown ball during the playing of the game. No recovery was allowed.

In such cases, the courts say that the spectator is an invitee to whom the invitor (the ball club) owes the duty to exercise ordinary care to render the premises reasonably safe for him.

"But," say the courts, "the invitor is not an insurer of the safety of the invitee; neither is the invitee protected against all hazard, nor relieved of all duty to himself for his own safety. And to the extent that the duty of self-protection rests upon the invitee, the duty of the invitor to protect is reduced."

The same rules as to "assumption of risk" are applied to most places of amusement and amusement devices. A swimmer must anticipate that a diving board will be wet and slippery. A person who rides on an amusement device and sees flying sparks takes the chance that a flying spark may strike his eye.

And one who goes upon a revolving floor device for the purpose of being thrown from it, accepts the dangers inherent in the sport so far as they are obvious.

On the other hand, if the danger is not apparent or obvious, the operator of the device has a duty to warn the rider or spectator. It is the ordinary risk that is assumed, not the unusual. Where, for example, a device was operated on a particular occasion at an especially fast speed so that it jerked and jolted violently, a rider who was injured by these unusual conditions was permitted to recover.

A patron of a place of amusement is entitled to be protected from hidden dangers, but he cannot go into a place of danger which he appreciates and understands, and then recover damages if he is injured.

FLEAHOPPER and THRIPS

have been detected in sufficient number of county cotton fields to warrant the immediate attention of cotton farmers, with prompt early season control measures, according to County Agent Dave Eaton.

Surveys made by a belt-wide industry committee show that early season control measures more than pay their own way. W. L. Owen, entomologist at Lubbock Experiment station shows that yields were increased an average of $30 pounds of seed cotton per acre from three applications of insecticides. The gross value of these gains averaged $102.39 per acre. The cost of three applications of a recommended insecticide will run about $1.50 per acre if put on during cultivation.

If you compare the gross gain of $102.39 with the annual cost of $1.50, you find the gain was 68 times greater than the cost. This should convince anyone that three early season applications of insecticides are cheap protection against thrips and fleahoppers particularly.

East. Some 5,000 take courses at the M. U. Pentagon school, and between 3,000 and 4,000 attend classes in Baltimore.

With a typical Texas accent—more western than southern and as yet unsoftened by living in the East, Dr. Elkins summarized his experiences and reactions to running a large school which has one of the nation's top football teams but accreditation problems.

Regarding the latter, he persuaded the Maryland legislature University and feels that another to increase appropriations for the few months will see the scholastic difficulty straightened out. Of course, he's confident the football team will keep up its reputation.

"It's been a most satisfactory and enjoyable year," he remarked, "but I'm looking forward even more to my second year here."

"They've had me doing an awful lot of talking, partially to satisfy a natural curiosity about me. Next year I hope to do a lot more listening and learning."

"There's a lot of exploring to do in a large university. You have a large staff and faculty to get to know. We're a Land Grant college as well as the State University, so our scope is not unlike that of Texas A & M, and the University of Texas combined."

Maryland U. has a 25 million dollar annual budget and 40 million dollars worth of lands and buildings in the state. It's overseas branches are self-supporting. The government does pay half the tuition costs of its service men who want to study while stationed abroad, but not any of the costs for their dependents.

This is how Maryland U. happened to get a Texan for its president. Dr. Elkins didn't seek the job. A Texas U. classmate, Judge Eugene Worley of the U. S. Customs and Patent Appeals Court (the former Panhandle congressman), knew of the vacancy and the large number of applicants for the position.

An associate, Judge William Cole, was a regent of M. U. So Worley told him of Dr. Elkins. The member then also heard highly of the Texas Western Educator through a mutual friend, Deputy Defense Secretary Robert E. Anderson. That's how it happened.

Dr. Elkins was born on a small ranch near Medina, but the family moved to Edgewood, now a part of San Antonio, when he was 3. His father was a truck gardener and later opened a grocery. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Elkins, still live in San Antonio.

While attending Breckinridge high school, he got the nickname of "Bull." He was a star football player there and also at Schreiner Institute before going to Austin to enroll in the University of Texas in 1928.

His own experiences, he says, convinced him that there is nothing incompatible about a high academic standards and first class football. He was known

SWEET WINE LOSES OUT
PARIS, France (AP)—Champagne manufacturers say people don't seem to like sweet champagne any more. The more sugar syrup you add to champagne the easier it is to cover the natural acidity of the wine. Really dry champagne has to be better than the sweeter stuff.

Why the change in taste has come is not clear. Experts say it is true of all wines.

Before World War I, there was a market for champagne with as much as 15 per cent sugar syrup. Now it's rare for the French to export anything sweeter than 10 per cent.

The British and Americans have always preferred their champagne as dry as possible.

Tastes differ widely and inexplicably with geography. In Venezuela, Scandinavia, and Finland, they like it comparatively sweet. The Germans like it somewhat drier. South Africans drier still. The French themselves are taking theirs drier and drier.

DANBURY, Conn. (AP)—The Danbury News-Times said editorially that there may be something in the idea of year-around schools.

In a long letter to the editor,

Carole said that 37 of 46 interviewed opposed year-around school, 8 of 13 teachers interviewed opposed it and all 123 interviewed were against it.

Texans In Washington

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Wilson Homer Elkins, 45, Texas born-and-reared, is rounding out his first academic year as president of the University of Maryland.

The former head of Texas Western College at El Paso, an honor student and star athlete at the University of Texas where he graduated in 1932, Dr. Elkins maintains offices on the rolling campus along the Baltimore highway just outside the nation's capital.

Kept on the go making talks or testifying for increased funds, the 5 foot 8 inch Texan, a solid 160 pound man, was interviewed as he got ready to leave for Heidelberg, to speak on May 20 to the first graduation class of Maryland U's branch school in that German city.

FRIENDLY BEATING

BUTTE, Mont. (AP)—"I talk too much anyway and I guess this time I had it coming to me," a woman told Butte Police Chief B. J. Riley as she declined to sign a complaint against her husband, Chief Riley said the woman had been beaten by her husband and it required 18 stitches to close cuts around her mouth.

Riley said the couple left the station together on "friendly terms" after the husband spent the night in jail.

Dr. Elkins was born on a small ranch near Medina, but the family moved to Edgewood, now a part of San Antonio, when he was 3. His father was a truck gardener and later opened a grocery. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Elkins, still live in San Antonio.

Saving 50 Tons of Hay Can PAY For an A-C ROTO-BALER

Compare the cost of good, leafy hay next winter and the low delivered price of the ROTO-BALER. Round bales are the surest way to protect field-cured hay from showers or too much sun. The ROTO-BALER works with leaf-saving Roll-up Compression. It handles big tonnages fast by taking twin windrows—two ordinary windrows laid side by side.

With a ROTO-BALER, you seal leaves inside round bales that shed weather like an umbrella. In the leaves, you save 1/3 of the protein content of your hay... the real punch for animal growth and health.

- Leaves are sealed in.
- Weather is sealed out.
- Livestock prefer hay from round bales.
- Round bales can't buckle or break.
- Less twine cost per bale—per ton.
- ROTO-BALER costs less to own and operate.

When your hay is ready to bale, call us for a demonstration. Let us prove every word we say.

ROTO-BALER is an Allis-Chalmers trademark.

 Ingredients: 3 cups cold water,
 2 tablespoons loose tea or 9 tea bags, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1/4 cup lemon juice.

Method: Bring water to a full rolling boil. Remove from heat and immediately pour over tea.
 Brew 4 minutes uncovered, stir iced tea, add 3 to 4 iced tea cubes to each glass.

Note: Use freshly drawn cold water in making the tea for the punch.

LAST WORD

Remember it's not necessary to refrigerate iced tea; refrigeration may cause clouding. Freshly brewed tea, cooled at room temperature, will be plenty cold when poured over a generous number of ice cubes. If your tea does cloud, don't worry; cloudiness does not change the good flavor of the tea. However, for appearance sake, you might remember that a little boiling water poured into clouded tea usually brings back the original clear amber look.

June 25 Wheat Referendum Is Important

Social Security Representative To Be Here June 29

Quotas or no quotas is the question wheat farmers will decide in their wheat marketing referendum on June 25.

The vote, according to the Texas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, will have an important effect on the marketing and price-support programs for the 1956 wheat crop. If two-thirds of the farmers voting approve quotas, quotas will continue in effect for farms with more than 15 acres of wheat along with marketing quota penalties of 45 percent of parity on the production from acreage in excess of the farm allotments.
 Price support on the crop in the commercial states, which includes Texas, will be available at 76 percent of parity or at a minimum national average of $1.81 cents a bushel.

If more than one-third of the voters cast ballots against quotas there will be no quotas or penalties on the 1956 crop but the available support price to farmers who plant within their farm allotment will drop to 50 percent of parity as provided by law.

The Texas ASC Committee points out that wheat acreage allotments are not being voted on. Regardless of how the vote goes in the referendum, acreage allotments will continue in effect. They may be dispensed with only in time of emergency, adds the committee.

The committee points out that wheat supplies are now 66 percent more than the normal supply and large enough to meet current needs for domestic use and export for the next two years.

 Marketing quotas, by law, must be proclaimed by the Secretary of Agriculture when the total supply of wheat exceeds the normal supply by 20 percent.
 Finally, the Texas Committee urges every eligible wheat producer—in Texas includes wives to vote in the June 25 referendum. The decision is an important one. Growers with unanswered questions should contact their local ASC office for more information.

Social Security Representative To Be Here June 29

The June bride has many preparations to make for the Big Day! The church, the flowers, the weather—will everything be just right? Will her wedding be the ideal occasion she has dreamed about? All of us wish her well and hope that blue skies and sunshine will be her fortune—on the Big Day and always.

When the June bride returns to the routine chores of every day life and joins the rest of us, there is one very important thing she should do if she is planning to continue working. She should check with her employer to have her social security account number card changed to show her new name. The local social security office will take care of this for her at her request. She retains the same social security number she was assigned originally, but her card will now show her married name.

Failure to take this action may result in delay and confusion when the time comes for her to claim benefits based on her social security account.

A representative will be in Littlefield June 29, at 1:30 p. m., at the Employment Office and will be glad to assist you.

New Gulfpride H.D. Select Motor Oil

"Coked" valve "A" is from engine using a so-called "all-season," multi-grade oil. Coke-like carbon deposit is a cause of sluggish performance and ultimate valve failure. Clean valve "B" is from engine using new Gulfpride.

See how Gulfpride H.D. Select holds its "body" (viscosity). This new oil contains no artificial thickeners that break down under heat and pressure. But note how quickly a typical multi-viscosity 10W-30 oil starts to lose its body.

God's Book. We are informed that the Bible is the world's most widely circulated book. It would be gratifying to know that this means that it is read as widely and as diligently as it is circulated.

The judgments of the Lord are "more to be desired than gold, yea than much fine gold" (Psalms 19:10). "The law of thy mouth is better unto me than thousands of gold and silver" (Psalms 119:72).

Woodrow Wilson said, "A man has deprived himself of the best there is in the world who has deprived himself of the Bible."

Let us read our Bibles much. Herein is the road to happiness both for time and for eternity.

Texas Viewpoint In Washington

By PRICE DANIEL, U. S. Senator
 ing Farmers." Twenty Texas members of this group and their families flew their own planes to Washington and joined flying farmers from all over the nation for their annual business sessions and tour of the Capitol. They were entertained with coffee at Congressman Olin Teague and other members of the Texas delegation. Fred Triplett of Hillsboro is president of the Flying Farmers Association, and Miss Ama Lee Jameson is secretary. Earlier 160 Texas farmers and ranchers stopped in Washington on the sixth annual farm and ranch study tour sponsored by station WFAA of Dallas. We joined other members of the Texas delegation in meeting this group at the railroad station for a 7:00 a. m. breakfast and then gave them a personally escorted tour through the Capitol. Murray Cox, radio farm director of WF AA, was in charge of the party. They had already toured Indiana farms, Purdue University research programs, and Richmond, Williamsburg and Jamestown, Va. From Washington they went on to the New Jersey farming area, Atlantic City, Philadelphia, New York, and then to Bermuda.

HURRICANE AND TORNADO WARNING SYSTEM

Last week we co-sponsored an amendment which would provide a system of radar stations throughout the country for the purpose of better detection and forecasting of hurricanes and tornadoes. Fresh on our memory is the disaster at Waco in 1953 caused by a devastating tornado. This system would establish throughout the country 55 long-range radar stations to track hurricanes, tornadoes and other severe storms to permit adequate preparation and a consequent reduction in damage. The number of stations to be located in Texas is still restricted information. However, it can be revealed that the system should be adequate to prevent at least some of the past damage and to save many lives.

Texas is second only to Kansas in the number of tornadoes which have occurred from 1906 through 1954. We have had 895 tornadoes which have resulted in approximately 804 deaths. The total property damage from tornadoes in Texas for this period amounts to over $88 million, with an average annual damage of well over $2 million. The system of tracking hurricanes, tornadoes and other severe storms on radar has been used to advantage by the Air Force and other armed services. You are all familiar with the airplanes which fly out into the hurricanes to determine their strength by use of radar equipment in the plane itself. The cost of installing these additional weather stations will be relatively small compared with the saving in human lives and property damage.

TEXAN TO PAKISTAN
 Miss Aline McKenzie who has been chairman of the Department of Home Economics at Texas A and I at Kingsville, was in Washington last week preparing for two years of service in Pakistan where she will set up a home economics program. Miss McKenzie is immediate past president of the Texas Business and Professional Women's organization. In Pakistan she will hold the rank of professor with the University of Dacca. Miss McKenzie was selected through the A. and M. College program of cooperation with the Foreign Operations Administration. It was our pleasure to arrange here for a luncheon and visit with Ambassador All of Pakistan, who, by the way, is one of the biggest Texas boosters in the foreign diplomatic corps. His son is an admirer of Texas and a frequent visitor there. Many Texans are working in the foreign aid program in Pakistan. Ambassador All told the Texas delegation luncheon last week of many similarities between the people of Pakistan and Texas and said that his country could be depended on to cooperate always with the United States and other free nations of the world.

MOST Modern V8 FOR YOUR JOB! NOW...THE SHORTEST STROKE V8's IN ANY LEADING TRUCK!

Now new Chevrolet Task-Force trucks bring you the industry's most advanced V8 engines* with an ultra-short stroke for reduced friction and wear. Here are some of the modern features they bring you.

Modern 12-volt electrical system
You get double the punch for quicker starting and more efficient ignition. Also, you have a greater reserve of electrical power.
Gas-saving high-compression ratio
With a high 7.5 to 1 compression ratio, Chevrolet's new V8 truck engines squeeze extra power—and work—out of every tankful of gas. Hauling costs go down!
Extra-high power per pound Compact, super-efficient design results in high power output per pound of engine weight. This means more useable power!

Note that the bore is bigger than the stroke!

Advanced aircraft-type valves
A new valve train design permits each valve to function independently—as in modern aircraft engines. Valve action is more positive.
Floating oil intake... full-pressure lubrication
New floating oil intake selects the cleanest oil for engine lubrication. Full-pressure lubrication provides positive protection.
