

Army Leader Opposed Sale Of Airplanes

Craig Overridden By Roosevelt, Com- mittee Learns

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—Members disclosed today the senate military committee had received testimony President Roosevelt overrode specific objections from General Malin Craig, army chief of staff, to permit a French air mission to buy 100 American-made bombing planes of the latest type.

Secretary Morgenthau told the committee, Senator Austin (R-Vt.) said, that the president had overruled Craig's objections after a conference with Morgenthau, Craig and the secretary of the navy.

Craig objected, Austin said the testimony disclosed, that if the French were permitted to purchase planes being produced for use this might interfere with the army's procurement of necessary planes in time to meet requirements under the administration's new defense program.

Craig also said, Austin reported, that the French plane deal might deprive the army entirely of the Douglas light bombers.

The committee was seeking to clear the way for quick action on President Roosevelt's defense program by winding up a stormy investigation of the sale of American-made warplanes to France.

Meanwhile, there were these other developments in the national defense-foreign affairs situation:

1. The house passed yesterday, 367 to 15, the bulk of President Roosevelt's $552,000,000 defense program. The bill authorizes $300,000,000 for air defenses, including 3,000 new army planes, $25,750,000 for Panama Canal defenses, and $24,500,000 for "educational orders" to private manufacturers. It now goes to the senate.

2. Senator Bridges (R-NH) said the military committee at his request had agreed to call in Hugh Wilson, ambassador to Germany, for a report on conditions in Europe. Bridges said he had a "suspicion" Wilson's attitude was less pessimistic than that expressed recently by Joseph P. Kennedy and William C. Bullitt, ambassadors to London and Paris, respectively.

3. Senator Clark (D-Mo) appeared in a radio address for legislation to "tax the profits out of war" and for more stringent neutrality laws.

4. Senator Barbour (R-NJ) proposed mandatory prison sentences for persons convicted of peacetime espionage or sabotage.

Chairman Sheppard (D-Tex) said the army expansion bill would go before the senate military committee tomorrow morning.

Allred Wins Confirmation

With Two Others, Is Approved For U.S. Judgeship

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—The senate confirmed today President Roosevelt's nominations of three federal district judges.

Those approved were former Governor James V. Allred of Texas, to serve in the southern judicial district of his state; Rep. T. Alan Goldsborough (D-Kd), to serve in the District of Columbia; and Frank A. Picard, eastern district of Michigan.

Confirmation of Allred previously had been blocked twice by Senator King (D-Utah) under unanimous consent procedure.

King complained that Allred was not a resident of the southern Texas judicial district. He raised the same complaint against selection of Goldsborough, from Maryland, to serve in Washington.

Party leaders, however, talked with King in advance of the session and he agreed to drop his objections.

HOSPITAL'S EMERGENCY FUND OK'D

AUSTIN, Feb. 16 (AP)—The legislature today completed passage of a bill appropriating $100,000 to equip and begin operation of the new state insane hospital at Big Spring.

Action became final when both houses adopted a conference committee report on the bill.

The committee agreed on an $870 appropriation for a water tower and $700 for hogs and sheds.

Old Folks Demand Enactment Of A Pensions Tax

Placards Displayed In House Gallery Urging Passage Of Transaction Levy

AUSTIN, Feb. 16 (AP)—Old folks roosted in the house gallery again today and peered into an arena boiling with argument over Governor W. Lee O'Daniel's idea to pay their monthly pensions—the controversial transactions tax.

Neatly printed placards mounted on sticks they grasped voiced their opinions:

"We want the transactions tax enacted now."

The strange band of tattered oldsters—some in overalls—women, babies-in-arms and negroes marched down Congress Avenue yesterday, up the capitol steps and into the house chamber to cheer Dr. Carl E. Luna, national representative in Texas of the Townsend plan, when he said:

"We approve the transactions tax, but the $30-a-month income contemplated for each aged person is a pauper's dole."

He asserted $5,500 a year was "the American standard of living."

Previously, Gov. O'Daniel had declined a committee invitation to join in the discussion over his proposal with the comment:

"My message delivered in submitting the bill and the bill itself covers the subject thoroughly to all who care to read the documents clear through."

Once again he invited the legislature to formulate a better plan if it did not occur in his beliefs.

Dr. Luna got a rise on his challenge to anyone to debate any time on the transactions tax. Rep. W. J. Galbreath of Wharton, who recently blasted Gov. O'Daniel in a floor speech, quickly accepted.

RETIREMENT BILL AIDS ROOSEVELT

FD LEAVING ON 2-WEEK CRUISE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—President Roosevelt cleared up pressing government business today so he can spend the next two weeks on a man-of-war in the Caribbean.

Leaving behind a balky congress, he will depart later tonight for Key West, Fla., where he will board the 9,000-ton cruiser Houston Saturday to witness part of the fleet maneuvers.

The voyage was planned with a double purpose—to give the naval-minded president a glimpse of the greatest armada ever to assemble in the Atlantic for mistic battle and an opportunity to rest from congressional problems.

World attention has been focused on the fleet maneuvers, designed to test the Atlantic defenses of the Panama Canal. A total of 140 ships, 600 planes and upward of 85,000 officers and men are taking part.

The mistic warfare is being staged at a time when congress is considering the administration's $502,000,000 defense program. Interwoven with this is the controversy over foreign policy, with some senators demanding full publicity on sales of war equipment to foreign nations.

Early Report Is Sought On Pension Bill

Attempt To Instruct Committee, However, Fails By Few Votes

AUSTIN, Feb. 16 (AP)—More than half the members of the house today wanted a report on some old age pensions liberalization bill by February 27 but the vote fell a little short of the two-thirds majority required to instruct the committee.

The attempt to instruct, made by Rep. J. Bryan Bradbury of Abilene, failed on a vote of 83 ayes and 48 nays. Bradbury said he believed the legislature first should determine its pension paying policy, then would know how much in new taxes would have to be raised.

The young Abilene representative pointed out that the legislative session was almost one-third over yet the state affairs committee had not sent any pension bill to the floor. Other members called his attention to the fact other committees had started hearings on a proposed constitutional amendment in which new taxes and bigger pensions were combined.

Rep. Abe Mays of Atlanta asked Bradbury if he did not know that two committees were considering a constitutional amendment which would stipulate who will receive pensions and how the money will be obtained. Mays was referring to Governor W. Lee O'Daniel's transactions tax program.

"That's right," Bradbury countered, "but since you're sponsoring it and don't know much about it, I don't know that it ever will come out of committee."

Mays admitted he did not have a thorough knowledge of the plan but denied he was sponsoring it.

Rep. Ross Hardin of Prairie Hill said he believed the legislature should consider a proposed constitutional amendment instead of a bill as desired by Bradbury.

"Let's let the people settle this pension and tax question," he urged.

Important Tasks For New Pope Are Cited By Nazi

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 16 (AP)—Reichsfuehrer Hitler's ambassador to the Holy See informed the College of Cardinals today the new Pope they are to choose would play an important role in the development of a new world.

The ambassador, Diego Von Bergen, spoke when he led the diplomatic corps, of which he is dean, to call upon the cardinals for formal presentation of condolences on the death of Pope Pius XI.

He expressed hope the new world he mentioned would be built peacefully "on the ruins of the past."

He reminded the cardinals of their responsibility in naming a pontiff who would guide humanity through "tempestuous and fearful anxiety."

EAST TEXANS PROMISE FIGHT ON APPOINTMENT OF HUNTER

Selection Of Abilene Draws Scathing Attack In The Senate; 'Threats' Of Collins Cited; Governor's Action Called Insult To Eastern Area

AUSTIN, Feb. 16 (AP)—group of senators from East Texas in scathing language today denounced appointment of J. C. Hunter of Abilene as state highway commissioner by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel and indicated a fight against confirmation would be waged.

In rapid succession, senators arose and criticized the governor's action as bad public policy and an insult to East Texas.

One termed the governor a "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," another charged he was not cooperating with the legislature but was trying to create a breach and "make war" on legislators.

A third asserted all Texas had "been slapped in the face."

It was the most bitter assault on an action of Governor O'Daniel by more than an individual member since his inauguration Jan. 17.

One senator from East Texas, A. M. Aiken, Jr., of Paris, struck a conservative note, declaring that while he believed an East Texan should have been named, nevertheless the senate should consider only two things in all appointments:

1. Whether the appointee was qualified, and,
2. Whether he was capable.

The charge was made also that Carr P. Collins of Dallas, first appointee to the position but rejected by the senate, had threatened East Texas senators that unless they reconsider action against him a West Texan would be appointed.

Senator Will D. Pace of Tyler led off the fireworks, declaring Gov. O'Daniel had given the people of Texas "a kick in the seat of the pants."

In a critical speech by Senator Tom Redditt of Lufkin, Senator Pace inquired:

"Isn't it a fact that the man the governor selected as secretary wrote a letter saying he would double-cross his best friends?"

Redditt replied he did not know "about that."

Senator Joe Hill of Henderson interjected:

"I saw the letter."

Redditt asserted everyone knows it is against good public policy to have two members of the important highway commissioner, lives at Wichita Falls, in state from the same section of the West Texas, and Dallas.

J. C. HUNTER

Redditt said East Texas senators last November had told O'Daniel they wanted an East Texan appointed to succeed John Wood, whose term expired yesterday, and O'Daniel had replied he thought East Texas was entitled to the appointment.

He also quoted the governor as having said he would do nothing about the matter until after Feb. 1.

"Consider how he has carried this out," Redditt shouted.

He closed with declaration: "I don't like it and am going to fight it."

Senator Gordon Burns of Huntsville started his speech with a roar:

"I want the people of Texas to know I'm again him! I'm again him teeth and toe nail, lock stock and barrel."

He then recalled a fist fight in an Austin hotel several years ago, when Burns was a member of the house.

Burns charged he was attacked by a "gangster from Fort Worth" and that Hunter was in the lobby of the hotel at the time.

"I still bear the wounds of that fight on my body," Burns said.

He said that at the time Hunter and others were in Austin trying to induce the legislature to create a separate oil and gas commission.

Hunter would never make "a good dog catcher," Burns roared.

"He'll never get my vote," he said.

"Sam Houston would turn over in his grave at the thing that has been done to East Texas, which always herebefore has been East Texans, Page 9, Col. 1

Discusses 4-H Club Activities

Special Man Could Be Had At $420 A Year, Agent Says

Big Spring Kiwanians Thursday found out on O. P. Griffin, county agent, that $480 annually from the county would put a man in this section who would devote his entire time to 4-H Club work.

Griffin, speaking for the organization's agricultural committee in charge of the regular weekly luncheon meeting, revealed that the state and federal governments would furnish the remainder of such a man's yearly salary, including $25 per month for traveling expenses.

"A man here in Howard county for this sort of work alone could do wonders in a short while with the youngsters of our rural sections," Griffin said, "and I believe steps should be taken now to put such a plan over here."

"This is one of the greatest movements of today, and everything possible should be done to encourage and improve 4-H Club work here," the speaker said.

M. E. Allen was program chairman.

Guests were Dr. J. E. Pickering, Midland; Rev. A. L. Haley, Colorado; and Michael A. Connell, Dublin, Ireland.

Says Schwelbach Will Be Named To Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—Representative Smith (D-Wash) said today he had been "reliably informed by a justice department official" that President Roosevelt would nominate Senator Schwelbach (D-Wash) for the supreme court succeeding Justice Brandeis.

Smith told reporters he had "every reason to believe" his informant "knew what he was talking about."

Western senators have urged appointment of a westerner to the vacancy caused by Brandeis' resignation. Justice Butler, a Minnesotan, is now the only western man on the court.

M'INTYRE IS ILL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—Marvin H. McIntyre, secretary of President Roosevelt, was taken ill with intestinal influenza today and doctors ordered him to the naval hospital for treatment.

McIntyre's condition was described as "serious" but not dangerous. He will be unable to leave with the president tonight.

RECEIVE ENTRIES FOR STOCK SHOW

First entry blanks for the second annual Big Spring 4-H club and FFA livestock show were received here Thursday morning at the chamber of commerce office.

They came from Sterling City and covered the stock to be entered by Future Farmers of America. H. M. Carter, vocational agriculture teacher at Sterling City, listed 10 lambs and one dry lot calf in the group of animals to be shown.

However, he requested six additional entry blanks. Other entries from Sterling are expected since Henry Malloy, county agent, has not yet reported.

V. O. Young, Glascock county agent, said that 4-H club boys under his jurisdiction would enter at least eight fat lambs and four dry lot calves. H. M. Fitzhugh, vocational agriculture teacher at Garden City, will have several other entries in the show, Young thought.

From Martin county where some of the finest animals in the milked division are promised, George Bond, county agent, said his 4-H club boys are due to bring around 18 calves and three pigs.

O. P. Griffin, Howard county agent, planned to visit his 4-H club boys in a few days relative to having them get their calves and sheep ready to show. Ben Baskin, Mitchell county agent, and E. B. McLeroy, Borden county agent, both have club boys shows the latter part of next week and are expected to bring most of the calves, lambs and pigs here to show.

HOSPITAL FUND HEARINGS SET FOR FEB. 20

Herald Austin Bureau
AUSTIN, Feb. 16—The house appropriations committee will hold first hearings on the biennial appropriations for the Big Spring hospital for the insane Monday, February 20, Rep. E. H. Thornton of Galveston, chairman of the committee, announced today.

After the entire committee hears witnesses in behalf of requested appropriations, "the requests will be placed in the hands of a subcommittee for thorough study and revision. When the subcommittee agrees on the size of the appropriation, the measure is then brought back to the full committee for final approval before it is reported to the house of representatives."

Representative Thornton hopes to have all committee work on regular appropriation bills completed by the middle of April in order to give the full legislature adequate time for floor consideration.

NEW OIL TEST IS LOCATED NEAR CITY

A wildcat test within the shadows of Big Spring was indicated Thursday with staking of a location by Dick Graham and associates on the Pete Johnson land.

The test, to be known as the Dick Graham, et al No. 1 Pete Johnson, will be located 330 feet out of the northeast corner of section 48-32-10, T&P, and is scheduled to go 3,800 feet in line or to pay at a lesser depth.

Immediately east and slightly north of Big Spring, the new exploratory well is two miles directly west of the Westbrook and Graham No. 1 Great West, wildcat well that created great interest when it hit a nitrogen gas pocket at 1,400 feet in anhydrite. Later the test was deepened and abandoned, but not until shows had been encountered. Another test with similar reactions, the Sand Hills Oil Co. No. 1 Brooks, was abandoned one and a half miles to the south and east.

At least eight other tests have been drilled within a 10-mile radius of the projected well. The Westbrook and Graham No. 1 Great West, better known as the "air well," was the most encouraging of the lot.

TREASURY AIDE RESIGNS POST

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—President Roosevelt accepted with "real regret" today the resignation of Wayne C. Taylor, assistant secretary of the treasury, effective February 28.

In his letter to the president, Taylor said he regretted exceedingly that "circumstances have arisen which make it desirable for me to resign my post."

He did not define the circumstances.

SHOULD SATISFY WEST TEXANS

It is to be hoped that Lee O'Daniel's second choice for the highway commissioner fares better at the hands of the senate than did the nomination of Carr P. Collins, because in J. C. Hunter of Abilene the governor has selected a top notch man for the job. Mr. Collins also may have been a good selection, but evidently the senators didn't think so.

Selection of the Abilene man came as a surprise, since most people had believed the next highway commissioner would come from East Texas. The geographical angle was said to have entered into the Collins rejection, and Governor O'Daniel pointed out Wednesday that if Harry Hines was to be considered as a Dallas man, then he was representing East Texas. Hence, a West Texan to serve with Hines and Bobbitt of San Antonio.

Hunter has made, particularly with West Texans, a high reputation for himself. An able business man, he has been successful in the oil and ranch business; and still has found time to be of civic service to the state, to West Texans and to his home community.

He has served as head of the Abilene chamber of commerce, has been active in the affairs of the West Texas chamber, at present heads the West Central Texas Oil and Gas association. He has served efficiently in various undertakings to improve the oil industry, has been a close student of governmental affairs.

GREATEST OBSTACLE

The doctors, so to speak, will be meeting to hold a consultation and diagnosis of sick old King Cotton, when the Statewide Cotton Committee convenes in Austin, Friday.

This body of 250 farmers, business men, cotton men and educators has a problem on its hand. For King Cotton today—meaning, of course, the entire cotton industry—is truly sick. Acreage allotments have been out more than ever for the 1933 season. And 11 million bales of ginned cotton stand in the nation's warehouses, an omnipresent threat to already-perturbed prices.

Removing at least a part of this surplus seems one of the biggest problems for the session in Austin to solve—if it can. As long as the 11 million bales of cotton remain stacked up over the South, there can be no price stability. Prices cannot be expected to rise as long as cotton buyers the world over fear this huge surplus at some time be loosed, flooding the market and destroying what small value is left.

On the agenda of the committee, too, is consideration of better ginning control, insect control and the recently inaugurated "Use More Cotton Products" campaign. These, too, are important to the cotton farmer. But that mountain of 11 million bales seems perhaps the greatest obstacle in the face of the whole industry, and if the conference can find some solution for that, the meeting will have been a tremendous success.

Today And Tomorrow

THE FRONTIERS OF THE UNITED STATES

It will not be easy to regard the occupation of the island of Hainan by the Japanese navy as no more than incident of the war in China. With this strategic outpost to the west and the naval bases in the mandated islands to the east, the Philippines are surrounded. But what is even more important, at Hainan Japan obtains an advanced base within 1,500 miles of Singapore.

The timing of this new aggression cannot be ignored: The Japanese have acted at the moment when the Spanish civil war is ending and the diplomatic struggle for the naval control of the Mediterranean and the eastern Atlantic is approaching a crisis. It has been the Japanese method to begin each new phase of conquest by testing out the resistance that might be offered. Thus before the Japanese decided to invade China proper in the summer of 1937, they tested out the Russians by staking a Russian gunboat on the Amur river. When the Russians showed they were incapable of doing anything, the Japanese began their invasion of northern China. A year later, that is last summer, when the Czech crisis was developing in Europe, the Japanese made a second test of the Russian power. There was a Russo-Japanese battle on the Manchurian border. The test convinced them that they need not fear the Russians, and so, while Britain and France were pre-occupied in Europe, the Japanese invaded southern China, took Canton, and struck down the British power at Hong Kong.

Once again they are, it would seem, testing out the resistance before making another great advance. This time they have seized a strategic island which lies within the French sphere of influence and is of extraordinary importance to the whole British position in the East Indies and even in Australia. They have chosen a moment when the naval power of Great Britain and France is anxiously preoccupied in European waters.

Their action places the British and French in an ugly dilemma. If the British send strong ships to the Far East to check the Japanese advance, they will become too weak in Europe to check the Italian advance which would then, because the risks were reduced, almost certainly obtain much more active backing from Germany. And if they do not send ships to the Far East, they will almost certainly be in a position to establish a naval control of the western Pacific, and to command the immense resources of the Dutch East Indies, the Philippines, and Australia. Once established in this vital center of world power, the Japanese empire cannot be dislodged without a great and exhausting war.

Which ever way one looks at it, the situation is too serious to be regarded with indifference by the United States. The seizure of Hainan at the moment when Britain and France are so vitally concerned about Majorca and Morocco and the independence of Spain does not have the air of coincidence. It looks very much like concerted action.

For that reason it makes the situation in Europe much more critical. If the Japanese war party demonstrates at Hainan that the road to Singapore is open, the hesitation of the Japanese moderates will almost certainly be overcome. The chances of a major military-diplomatic offensive on three fronts, in northern Europe, in the Mediterranean, and in the Far East will be measurably increased.

If that offensive is successful, the European fascist powers will have broken through into the Atlantic establishing themselves in Spain and in Africa, and the Japanese will be masters of Singapore, which is one of the two controlling points, the other being Panama, in the Pacific. The United States which has only one navy, though it has to defend itself in two oceans, will find that it is isolated in a way which no isolationist will like.

The United States cannot be indifferent to a situation which threatens, perhaps within the next few months, to establish in both oceans at once, and at the strategic points which control the two oceans, an alliance of highly armed powers bent on the conquest of the empire. This is no question of our intervening in the affairs of Europe and Asia. This is a question of preserving our security in the two oceans amidst which the American continents are placed.

Nor is it a question of our going to war in Europe or Asia. It is a question of using our diplomatic power effectively and promptly to prevent the development of a situation which will lead either to a world war, not a European war but a world war, or to a greater Munich, in which the strategic control of the Pacific and the Atlantic is transferred from friendly and unaggressive nations to aggressive and not very friendly ones.

Resolute diplomatic action, if well conceived and supported by congress and American public opinion, can at this juncture avert both the danger of a world war and the danger of a complete overturn

MAN ABOUT Manhattan

by GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—The history of New York is certainly a chronicle of grave events, but there are times when it reads suspiciously like the plot of a musical comedy.

For instance, George Washington never really chopped down a cherry tree, but he used to live at No. 1 Cherry street.

Indeed America might never have been discovered but for a stay-up among Columbus' crew, a fellow with incoherence who preferred to prow the decks while his mates were below sleeping. Late one night he saw an Indian's campfire and that's how America was discovered.

Then there is Dixie, a word synonymous with the South. But the man who coined the word "Dixie" was a Yankee slave owner who lived in Manhattan.

In the infant years of the 19th century 20,000 hogs ran wild in the streets of New York. There was a Society for the Prevention of Pauperism, and one of its earliest edicts was to advocate jail for all who asked for relief. New York had 90,000 people then, of which 15,000, or one in six, were on relief.

But conditions were even worse just after the surrender at Yorktown. One out of every seven inhabitants was in debtors' prison, and one out of every 14 persons was a slave.

Mr. Smith Hart, who has chronicled much of the early madness of our metropolis in his book, "The New Yorkers," informs us that in 1809 "a committee reported that at the Bridewell in City Hall Park 72 women were imprisoned in one small room—little girls, prostitutes, thieves and drunks. One man had been in a dungeon more than 10 years. The jailer did not know why he had been put there. He was now both blind and insane and his clothes hung in rags. The committee protested that he should be given a shirt, but were assured that as often as a shirt was given him it was eaten by the rats."

A man couldn't call his soul his own in 1788, because "Civil liberties were a joke. Newspapersmen and even a Congressman were jailed for criticizing the administration. A typesetter was jailed for expressing the wish that the wad-firing fired off on public holidays might lodge itself in the seat of President Washington's pants."

During the great wave of Asiatic cholera in 1832 nearly 4,000 men, women and children died. At Bellevue hospital "the rooms had not been cleaned in two years. Convalescent patients wore the unwashed garments of the recently dead, and the nurses were convicts."

Poe's island is not a beautiful body of land surrounded by water. It is a nub of mud, about 20 feet square, in the center of East river, but even the gulls shun it. It was named for the poet because Poe used to strip at the foot of 42nd street and swim out there every day. Edgar Allan Poe was a great poet, but if the river wasn't any cleaner then than it is now he certainly wasn't a very particular one.

And once there was a cattle stampede where Gramercy Park now exists. There used to be a slaughter house nearby, which accounts for the presence of the steers there. One of the most genteel residential sectors in the city.

DANGEROUS SERVICE

by GRACE ELLIOTT TAYLOR

Chapter 20
I LOVE YOU
Tony's regard traveled from her short, attractive hair, over her figure, which was slight and tense in her neat suit, down to pretty ankles, and smart American traveling shoes.

"You're attractive, but still alone. I wonder why?" She would not answer.

"To make it easier, let me tell you something, Petrel. I love you. I always have. You were a child when I knew it first. I was a whole lot longer, or deeper, I told myself you'd meet someone else; it was happier than I could have made you. You see I couldn't offer you any garden, then, with a promise to help you plant it, any more than I can today, Petrel. It is only the change in you—a mistake, mind you, that makes me tell you now.

And the fact that you haven't met anyone else. That wasn't the only reason I cleared out as I did, of course. I'm selfish. I wanted my freedom. I did not want a home, or to be tied to a wife. Can you understand? Can you see what a jam you've put me into now? You still belong, by rights, to that English garden. But something has happened to you. I'm not sure you would be content there, for long."

Outside the hotel, there was a great deal of noise. They heard the distant staccato of firing.

"I wonder, too," Martin Rowdoun warned me. He said, "Europe gets you." Perhaps he was right? She shrugged. "I'm glad you explained, Tony, and that you told me. Will you say it again. I didn't believe you the first time."

Her lips were tremulous as she asked it.

"I love you." He caught her hands tightly.

"We must be mad," she said, looking into his eyes. "I've met you four times in five years."

"I love you," he repeated. "It doesn't necessarily mean there is anything to be done about it, but I want you to know."

She laughed. "That was very you."

"Well, how do you feel? It is inconvenient, isn't it? You admit that?"

"Her answer was perplexed, as well as truthful. "All this time, for years, Tony, I've believed I loved you; I intended just the reasons you've told me, for your staying away. They didn't seem sufficient good reasons. But now—" She was thinking of Cairo, rioting under the hot sun. Did she feel the need of him strongly enough to face spending her life in cities like this—wherever there was trouble?"

"You haven't answered the question."

"Now that you are sitting here with me—I don't know," she told him helplessly. She sought desperately for words. "I feel numb, dead. Do you think we can possibly just have imagined it, Tony? Or are we really akin in mind and spirit, tied in some odd way? Do you think perhaps, we were meant to be brother and sister? Is there any physical attraction?"

"Medical Comedy Stuff"

"Smiled. There must be. We have three, or perhaps four days to find out I'm waiting for orders. A great deal depends on them. They may be sent almost anywhere. Then, you'd have to feel pretty sure, to follow. But, just possibly, I may go to England. Then I shall ask you to come home, too. It will give you a chance to discover what you really feel. But of course, if I am frank, there is no doubt in my mind at all. I tell you, you will love me, some day, however inconceivable I am. But of course, given only three days, I've shrugged, "but perhaps even that will be long enough for me to convince you."

Petronella sat upright, her clear laughing eyes accused him. "Tony, you're a beast! You've been coquetry of me all the time. Sure I'd wait, sure I'd change my personality to suit you, sure I'd come when you whistled. Even now, I don't trust you not to be gone again without me, if those orders—oh, I'm angry, and rebellious, and mad—and angry!" she finished helplessly.

He laid a hand over hers. "I know. What you don't realize yet, is that I'm on the same string. You have been sure I'd come to heel in time, lay my freedom at your feet, come home to you. Admit that is true. Can neither of us get away?"

I did feel that. But, anyway, I must get rid of you now, I must think!"

They would part till tea time, he promised. He would get her from her room. He wanted to dine with her and with Peter tonight. He must make his peace with her brother.

"Afterwards, we'll dance. I've never danced with you Petrel."

"No, we haven't any tunes, any music. Only grim reality."

"We'll turn on the musical comedy stuff at least; behave like other men and girls who love each other. We'll picnic in the desert, drive beside the Nile, see the pyramids by moonlight. We'll telephone each other, write crazy notes. I shall give you foolish presents. We'll have quarrels, and reconciliations, and drink champagne, and invent our own toasts. Do you like the program?"

"Love it, old cynic."

She smiled at her. "I've watched so many other people making fools of themselves. And felt jealous as hell! Petronella, if this mis-

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

by ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Hollywood has a way...

There was Henry Fonda, some years back. If ever a young fellow wanted neither part nor parcel of the movies, it was Hank.

"Why should he have? His days of starvation were over. He'd gone through that phase of his acting career on Broadway. He had lived through lean periods by eating rice—a nickel's worth swells up so fillingly when boiled. At last he had a contract, an informal agreement with a New York producer giving him $100 a week—and he was acting in plays here and there, in stock, and in general on top of the world."

That was when Leland Hayward, the agent, came to Hollywood. Hayward looked around and decided that Hank Fonda ought to come too. He spoke and...

graphed, but Hank said no. He said finally to come on out, all expenses paid, and look around. So Fonda came.

"I'll stop 'em cold," said Hank. "I'll ask 'em for 350 smackers a week. That'll lay 'em."

So Hayward, Fonda, and Walter Wanger got together in Wanger's office here, and Hayward and Fonda and Wanger talked for hours—and still Hank wasn't interested. At last he was ready to drop his bombshell, his salary demand. He got up to go. "I wouldn't come unless I—" he began.

"We'd start you at a thousand a week," said Wanger.

At that point Mr. Henry Fonda, late of Broadway, went into something like a coma. When he came out he remembered nothing except that he had said "Yes."

There were no pictures for him right away, so he was loaned to Broadway for "The Farmer Takes a Wife." When Fox bought the play, they borrowed Fonda for it—and that was when Hank learned about Dolly.

He found her in his script—a character who said nothing apparently, but was nearly always around, and with him. The script said so. "Dolly with him."

"Who," he asked Director Henry King one day, "is this Dolly? She has an important part, and yet she says nothing and I don't remember any character like that in the stage play."

Hank to this day hasn't forgotten it. He hasn't been allowed to forget. ("Dolly" is the truck the camera rides on for a moving, or "Jolly" shot.)

He is wiser now in the ways of Hollywood, even though he is not much of a part of it. Goes home after working hours, lives apart from usual stream of movie night life. Mrs. Fonda is a non-pro-socialist. His earlier marriage—to Margaret Sullivan—ended in divorce before he came here. (She's now Mrs. Leland Hayward.)

His role of Frank James in "Jesse James" has ignited a career that had been "hot" for some time—especially after his "Slim"—but had never caught fire. Now he is doing Thomas Watson, Alexander Graham Bell's assistant, in the film of Bell's life, and then he goes into "The Young Mr. Lincoln," a real starring vehicle.

The Bell picture, for the present at least, is more exciting to him. He worked his last two high school years, as a trouble-shooter, and he went to the University of Minnesota, rather than to his native Nebraska's state school, to be near the Bell laboratories there. To top it off, he wrote his final college thesis on the subject of communications. The thesis seems to follow the Bell line through the movies. "Slim," his best previous assignment, was a saga of the high-tension wires.

"I did feel that. But, anyway, I must get rid of you now, I must think!"

They would part till tea time, he promised. He would get her from her room. He wanted to dine with her and with Peter tonight. He must make his peace with her brother.

"Afterwards, we'll dance. I've never danced with you Petrel."

Total Of 23,000 Register In Jan. Play Program

H. F. Malone's city recreational report for the month of January shows that a total of 23,000 participants in the program registered during that time. This included daily attendance on four city playgrounds under the leadership of eight recreational guides, and golf, tennis, croquet and picnicing at the city park as well as recreational basketball at the high school gym.

Basketball proved the major sport during the month with three leagues operating. Three special in-training programs were also conducted.

Memphis, Tenn., statisticians estimated 50,000 persons attending 530 conventions in the city during 1932 spent nearly $2,000,000.

The Sports Parade

By HANK HART

This vicinity is slowly being geared up to the point where it realizes that baseball season is just around the corner, a bigger and better season than ever before, what with fund campaigners like Harold Steck, L. E. Morris, Ray Ogden, Mileway Baker, Bill Satterwhite, Virgil Smith, C. L. Rowe, T. J. A. Robinson, L. L. Guley and others constantly pushing the merits of the organization.

Big Spring simply can't afford to miss out on the game this season. It means entirely too much. Two years ago the loop was composed of Hobbs, Odessa, Monahan, Midland, Roswell and Wink. Last year it dropped all but Wink, Hobbs and Midland and Big Spring, Lubbock and Clovis gained franchises. This year it is enjoying just as much growth and getting a beginning that the national organization really wanted two years ago.

High officers are confident that a circuit consisting of Amarillo, Pampa, Abilene and Lamesa along with the four old members—Lubbock, Midland, Clovis and Big Spring—will develop into one of the strongest families in entire baseball.

Texas has always been a great proving ground for the baseball player on his way to higher classification. Climatic conditions are suitable most of the year, a factor that plays a large part in the development of a youngster.

Even now L. E. Morris, acting as the local business manager, is working for a suitable working agreement, has received several nibbles. If Big Spring can realize that $7,000, however, using Club President R. L. Cook's terms, "we're off without looking back."

Great rivalry can be worked up between Abilene, Midland, Lamesa and Big Spring. Local fans will see a new high in interest that wasn't even imagined back in the days of the old West Texas league.

Put on your meeting togery and amble around to the district court room of the court house this evening, 7:30, and do your part toward bettering the situation along with the workers.

Johnny Rowland, genial 1938 league umpire, is stepping into higher company the coming season. Johnny goes to the South Atlantic, a Class C circuit.

Personally we thought Buster Capps a better arbirer than Rowland. If somebody doesn't purchase him then they're overlooking a good prospect. Bus earned a great reputation locally last year.

The circuit will have to rock along without the services of Chief Andrews, a two year veteran, who has moved on. Andy, a likable oldster who called "em as he saw 'em but who wasn't very popular here because his manner was very established, is staying in baseball, however.

It is probable that Charlie Bryan, the Lubbock pitcher who led the league in percentages for a long time last season, may end up as manager of the Lamesa entry the coming season, that is, if Lamesa comes in. Harry Faulkner, Lubbock's business manager, has offered him to the Lamesa organization.

Speaking of Lubbock, Faulkner expressed the belief that that club would draw 50,000 fans at home this year, an increase of 10,000 over last season. Faulkner expects to reap benefit from the Amarillo-Pampa-Lubbock rivalry.

Dimag Plans To Get In Fine Condition

SAAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 16 (AP)—Limited to a week and a half of actual training his first three years in the majors, jolting Joe Dimaggio, the Yankees' outfield star, plans really to get in shape for the opening of the 1939 season.

Dimaggio will leave for the St. Petersburg, Fla., camp of the world's champions in time to arrive for the opening of training March 5.

Because he expects to be in excellent shape for the opening game, Dimaggio predicted "this is going to be my big year." This should be bad news for American league pitchers, whom Joe mauled for averages of .323, .346 and .324 in his three years in the big time.

"Do you know that in three spring training camps that I haven't had over one and a half weeks of actual training?" Dimaggio asked.

"The first year, I had my foot burned and I was thrown out of training. The second year, I had my tonsils removed, and last year it was my own fault, (he held out until after the season was under way) but the fact remains I have yet to open the season with the Yankees in first-class shape."

Dimaggio denied and seemed annoyed at reports here that he would shortly sign a contract calling for $26,000. He reportedly received $26,000 last season.

HAMLIN, FORSAN GAIN RESPECT; 8 GAMES FRI.

Abilene's powerful Eagles and the Sweetwater Mustangs will be favored to advance into the finals of the district interscholastic league basketball tournament, which gets underway in the Big Spring high school field house Friday at 1 p. m. but the path for both teams is lined with trouble shooters.

Both teams are expected to survive their initial tests with ease. The Eagles are capable of handling Ovals in their 4 p. m. battle while Sweetwater should advance at the expense of Snyder. The second round of play brings the trouble, however.

The Eagles come into direct contact with the winner of the Forsan-Peacock fracas while Sweetwater must face the victor of the Big Spring-Roby battle. The Mustangs have twice beaten the locals in exhibition clashes but it might be a different story when the pressure is on.

Colorado and Highland are also in Sweetwater's bracket. The Wolves were very impressive in their recent victory over Westbrook.

Hamlin, which takes on Gerard in its first game at 8 o'clock Friday afternoon, may make trouble for the Eagles should the first test be four games.

Four games will be played in the initial "session" Friday afternoon, four Friday night, three Saturday morning and two Saturday night.

Reservations may be made at the high school.

Ace Of 'Gate Crashers' In Visit Here

By HANK HART He never threw a punch when punches meant chips and he probably wouldn't know how to swing a baseball bat but he's one of this era's better known sports celebrities because the deftness in his accomplishments is newsworthy.

At every big time sports event for the past 45 years he's been present and the success of the venture can usually be gauged by his enthusiasm. If he thinks enough of an event to arrive far away to see it, then operators worry little over success or failure.

He doesn't contribute toward a spectacle in a material sense but it has become the accepted theory that he's due just as prominent an "Annie Oakley" as any contributor because, if he isn't considered he's certain to be there somewhere, anyway. He's the best known gate crasher of all times, just as much a part of the perennial American sports picture as home plate at Yankee stadium.

Always At Home He's George "One-Eye" Connolly, born in Lowell, Mass., some 63 years ago but who claims native allegiance only to the place he hangs his toboogan. He spent Wednesday night in a Big Spring hotel, one of his many stops on his journey by easy stages to San Francisco World fair which, in his own words, "I'm going to help open officially."

One Eye's favorite hangout at the present time is New York City but Joe Louis' activities in Detroit and Philadelphia and such things as these keep him on the jump most of the time.

He's seen every big time heavy-weight championship fight since 1897 and every world series since the turn of the century.

He's a baseball and boxing fan, pure and simple. He'll be in California at the time of the Santa Anita handicap, the $100,000 race of thoroughbreds at the Los Angeles park, but he thinks so little of horse racing he said he wouldn't even drop over from Frisco and sit in on that one. Louis will be fighting out that way soon, but Connolly says he has time only for the gigantic things and can't spend his time watching the champion bowl over act-ups.

He's crossed the continent 99 times in his unique career, says he likes to come by way of Texas because he likes the people. He doesn't expect to tarry in California long, however, "just long enough to make it official." The New York World's fair opens soon and he says he's got to be back there. That hive of activities offers the kind of opportunity that "One Eye" expects to be a part of until he fades from the picture.

Strong Bailey Is Upset By Gober Team

John Reagan, Cushing Missing From Cage Chase

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF Associated Press Staff A topsy-turvy schoolboy basketball race rolled toward its quarter-final round today with six of the eight teams that went to the state tournament still in the running but with the defending champion Woodrow Wilson outfit facing an uphill struggle.

Gone from the picture were John Reagan of Houston, rated next to Woodrow Wilson last year, and Bailey, the North Texas power. Also in the discard was the Cushing team that loomed as the class of East Texas before inelegibility struck it low.

Woodrow Wilson plays sunset for the Dallas city championship today, the latter squaring the series yesterday. The winner will be favored to take the district title this weekend.

Abilene, hailed as the outstanding West Texas team; Carey Cardinals, perennial Panhandle champions; Bowie, El Paso crown-bearer; Kingsville from the deep south, and Belton of Central Texas were other teams from last year's state tournament remaining in the running.

Kingsville and Bowie already were engaged in district title play-offs.

Was Favorite Defeat of Bailey was an outstanding upset. This team, "strong enough to split a series with the highly-favored Abilene outfit, lost the county title to Gober which had not shown to the advantage of the Bailey outfit in the practice grind.

Abilene, which lost but two games to high school teams in the state, rolled up 566 points to 384 in 19 titles.

Bowie won the El Paso city title and starts a three-game series with Yaleta today for the district championship.

Kingsville won the district Class A crown and opens a series with Mathis, the Class B representative.

Thirty-two district championships are to be decided this week. Next week eight regional titles will be determined, these winners going to Austin for the state tournament.

District tournaments other than the Kingsville-Mathis and Bowie-Yaleta play-offs follow: Region 1—Canyon, Pampa, Lubbock, Childress; Region 2—Big Spring, Breckenridge, San Angelo, Brownwood; Region 3—Wichita Falls, Fort Worth, Dallas, Waco; Region 4—Commerce, Naples, Tyler, Nacogdoches; Region 5—College Station, Huntsville, Galveston, Port Arthur; Region 6—Uvalde, San Antonio, Georgetown, Lockhart; Region 7—Victoria, Laredo, San Benito; Region 8—Fort Stockton, Midland, Van Horn.

The Kingsville-Mathis winner enters the Region 7 tournament. The Bowie-Yaleta winner plays in the Region 8 meet.

M'Wells Is Site Of Fem's Golf Meet This Year

Site Is Changed From Abilene; Mrs. Bristow Attends Session

The annual West Texas Women's Invitational golf tournament will be staged at Mineral Wells instead of Abilene this year, Mrs. Estelle Bristow, secretary of the association who returned to Big Spring from a Wednesday meeting of officers in Mineral Wells, announced this morning. Recent destruction of the Abilene club house by fire caused the committee to make the change.

Dates for the fifth annual affair will be June 7-11, inclusive. It was also decided that only residents of West Texas would be eligible to compete in the tournament. Heretofore, any player belonging to a club could participate.

Mrs. Jess Rodgers, Amarillo, president, and Mrs. O. W. Little, Abilene, Mrs. W. K. Powell, San Angelo, Mrs. C. L. Dean, Lubbock, Mrs. J. Woodward, Brownwood, and Mrs. R. E. Winger, Fort Worth, committee members, were in attendance along with Mrs. Bristow.

Staged in Amarillo last year, tournament championship honors went to Mrs. Winger who defeated Mrs. Fran Hicks, Big Spring, in the finals.

Important Baseball Session Is Scheduled To Be Held In Court House This Evening, 7:30 P. M.

Fund drive for the Big Spring WT-NM league baseball club, now in its third day, progressed slowly as workers on the assigned committees prepared to gather with Club President R. L. Cook and directors in an initial checkup this evening, 7:30 o'clock, in the district court room of the court house.

Knowing that it would take much work and time to realize their objective of $7,000, the campaigners nevertheless contacted the public with renewed vigor. Cook again urged that all fans be in attendance at the confab this evening and lend their assistance toward putting an end to the financial worries of the organization.

BISCUIT'S FUTURE IS CLOUDED

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 16 (AP)—Seabiscuit, lamest horse ever bred in his life, was turfdom's big question mark today—just 16 days before the running of the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap which he had been favored to win.

Trainer Tom Smith said he was afraid a suspensory ligament in Seabiscuit's left front ankle had been ruptured in the "Biscuit's Today" in a $2,000 mile race last Tuesday. If this is true, other horsemen declared, the mighty runner is definitely out of the "hundred grand" on March 4, and even if there has been no rupture, he may not be able to reach the big race in peak condition.

Dr. J. E. Peters, veterinarian attending Seabiscuit, reported today that X-ray taken of the ankle had revealed no broken bones. "The horse's ankle is very sore, but the injury doesn't seem to be anything so serious that time won't heal it."

Jameson-Mate In Semifinals

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 16 (AP)—The spotlight was on red-haired Patty Berg, national women's golf champion today as play in the Everglades mixed foursome tournament reached the semi-finals.

The Minneapolis lass' recoveries yesterday played a big part in the one-up victory which she and Joseph Madden of Omaha, Neb., scored over Ernestine Schiell of Chicago and Dan Cravens of Franklin, Ind.

Round of four pairings sent them against Jane Cochran and John Cushman, both of Greenville, S. C., who advanced with a 7 and 6 decision over Audrey Phillips of Westbury, Long Island, and Earl E. T. Smith of Oyster Bay, Long Island.

In the other semifinals, Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Texas, and Paul Cushman of Greenville matched strokes with Mrs. William Hockenjos of Lake Hopatcong, N. J., and Walter Burkemo of Grosvenor, Mich.

The Jameson-Cushman team disposed of the medalists, Laddie Irwin of Montclair, N. J., and Dennis Boardman of New York, 2 and 1.

Local Sock Squad Bent On Making Better Impression In Statewide GG Finals

The Big Spring team at the statewide Golden Gloves boxing tournament which gets underway tonight at the Will Rogers Memorial Coliseum will have eligibles in all weights except the 125-pound class. Jack Childress, Midland feather champion who was very impressive in his march to the championship here, announced late Wednesday that he could not make the trip.

The representatives of this sector, who arrived at the fight capital in time for a limed drill yesterday, were due to imbed an impression in the minds of the fight fans attending before the great sock show becomes history.

One laddie of the troupe was ruling as a slight favorite while odds were slackening on two or three others. The favorite is Truett Fulcher, heavy of Colorado, who gained that ranking by his sensational march to the state title last season. Twice in the final evening of the championships he fought his way to victory, outpointing Babe Ritchie, defending champion, in the finals. Truett, who thumped his way to the crown here with a single fight, kayoting Wilmer Jenkins, Snyder, in less than one round, was due to have plenty of competition however. Do we say Vaughn, Pampa, and Bob Owens, Amarillo, were gaining backing while the Galveston team was reported to have a hard hitting boy who was tough.

Head Is Liked Gaining almost as much attention as Fulcher was Lightweight Champ Ellis Read, No. 1 favorite in the district show here. The Big Springer has scored 10 victories in 11 fights, nine via the kayo route. He, too, was in a tough bracket. Bowden Branson, Fort Worth, who lost to Sam Bates in that city's district finals, but who was named representative when Bates was forced to withdraw due to injuries, is a "darkhorse" entry. Pete Nechlinger, Lubbock, is bringing in a good reputation and State Champion Len McMillan, Abilene, is reported to be better than he was last year.

Dick Menchaca, Fort Arthur, ruled as overwhelming favorite to repeat in the flyweight class but has a field that includes Yves Yanes, Big Spring; Warren Branson, Fort Worth; Julian Farmer, Abilene; and Ray Bumpers, Houston, to get around. Bumpers is rough and rugged while Farmer was good enough to fight his way to a state Diamond Belt championship in San Antonio last year.

No outstanding favorite had presented himself in the bantam division in which this district's Edgar Griggers, Kermit, is competing. Griggers before leaving here said he had worked steadily since the finals earlier in the month.

Everyone was watching Eddie Rusey, Wichita Falls, in the feather class. Ken Terry, Abilene, who has lost but one fight in his two-year fistic career was being counted upon to go a long way while Jesse Williamson, Houston, brings plenty of promise.

Porter Is Tough Richard Gibson, the Big Spring writer, was going to have plenty of competition in the 147-pound class. George Porter, Dallas, was the No. 1 boy. He is supposed to pack too much class for the other amateurs in a division that included rugged Phillip Benestanta, Houston, Warren Greene, Wichita Falls, and Charlie Pond, Abilene.

Second guessers are handing the middleweight title to Andy Eagleton, Fort Worth, without an argument but the heavy punching youngster had arguments on his hands from Rocky McMillan, Abilene, and Elby Petteway, Houston. Petteway fought as weller last year. Jess Carnes, Odessa, who bowled over all opposition while campaigning here, is ready and has been pronounced in better shape than when he fought here.

Wait Stone, the Crane boy who exhibited a great right jab and left hook in his march toward the lightweight championship here, had the advantage of a year's experience in the statewide finals. Wait completed as a member of the Brownwood team last year and lost to Billy Colbert, Houston, in his first fight. Colbert is lack firing a right hand he didn't employ last year. Then there was Hugh Pitts, Fort Worth, who had a hard time in his district tourney and Raymond Boutler, Tyler, to be considered.

Preliminaries were due to continue Friday evening with semifinals scheduled for Saturday and final Monday.

Pensions

(Continued From Page 1) "We'll skin you and take your hide off and string it on the fence," Dr. Lunn warned. Tax expert John Keen of Austin told the thing the transactions tax is one of the finest ever proposed in theory, but it's not workable. He yelled thrust at Gov. O'Daniel's policy of injecting business tactics into government was: "Democracies can't work like a business." However, he pointed out that the transactions tax had a broad base, would be definitely put the pension policy in the state constitution and prevent it from being kicked about as a political football. He opted pyramiding of the tax would "not be as great as many critics have contended." Keen wouldn't hazard a guess as to the potential revenue of the tax proposal, but did say it wouldn't approach the $300,000,000 a year estimate several opponents had made. He added inequities in the ad valorem tax would be eliminated through its proposed abolition.

Sedwick, Albany banker; Sherman White, Gray county judge; James Henry Beall, Jr., Sweetwater attorney; Garnet Reeves, manager of the Panpa chamber of commerce; A. B. East Texans

(Continued From Page 1) been represented on the highway commission. Face asserted Collins had attempted to get the senate to reconsider his nomination and the Collins told him and Sen. John Redditt of Lufkin a man from West Texas would be named if the upper branch would not reconsider Collins. "I say that was a threat and he must have had authority to make it," Face asserted. "This is a kick in the seat of the pants of everybody who lives in East Texas," he said in reference to the Hunter nomination. "From the northern boundary of East Texas to the Gulf of Mexico there are many men who would have made admirable appointees. We assumed he (the governor) would let us advise with him on the appointee. He said on the radio and in the newspapers there is a fine spirit of cooperation between him and the legislature but he's the one who made the first dash at rushing away from cooperating with a group in the senate toward carrying out a worthwhile program for the entire state." The governor's message revealed he had suggested the senate adopt a resolution defining regional sections of the state. To this Face asserted: "We told him that anybody who had lived here any length of time knew where North, East, South and West Texas was." Sen. Clay Cotten of Palestine interrupted Face to ask: "He rather indicates in his message that all he wants from us is our consent, doesn't he?" The constitution says gubernatorial nominees shall be made with the "advice and consent" of that body.

Tenant Loans

Made To Eight Presentation Of Checks Feature Of Austin Parley AUSTIN, Feb. 16 (AP)—Eight Travis county tenant farmers were handed checks for purchase of tracts ranging in size from 94 to 250 acres at the first All-Texas Farm Congress here today. Scores of fellow tenants and farm owners looked on as C. M. Evans, Dallas, regional director of the farm security administration explained purpose of his agency to the group which is formulating a legislative program designed to open greater markets to farms and ranches and lighten the opportunity level of tillers of the soil. The FCA loans are repayable over a 40-year period at 3 per cent interest. Evans asserted the farmer has had to pay the highest interest for the best secured loans and received the lowest price for the product of his soil. The reasonable interest rate and long time repayment, without down payment, will lighten the burden and put him on his feet without destroying his capital investment, the administrator said. He stressed necessity for greater farm ownership. Pointing to the needs for farm improvement, he asserted stability was the one great factor in improving conditions of the farmer.

Although retiring from politics about ten years ago, he continued to take an active interest in local affairs, promoting the first publicly-owned utility in Texas at Seguin last year.

Scout Finance Group To Meet

Carl Strom, chairman of the finance committee for the Big Spring district of the Boy Scouts, called a meeting of his group for 5 p. m. today at the chamber of commerce.

Reports from workers on the current campaign to raise the Big Spring quota were to be heard at the meeting. Advance information showed an encouraging amount of support being given locally to the movement.

Carl B. Blomsheld, district chairman, invited any person, whether they have been solicited or not, to take out a sustaining membership or make contributions to the organization. These may be left at either the chamber of commerce office or with Strom. The district chairman pointed out that the cost of the boy's program over the council is only the price of a pack of cigarettes each week to those supporting the program.

ITALY WILL KEEP TROOPS IN SPAIN

ROME, Feb. 16 (AP)—A foreign office bulletin said today that Italy's legionnaires would remain in Spain until Generalissimo Francisco Franco had announced that the Italians' task was finished.

The statement said that until then Italian troops fighting with Franco would not be withdrawn. It was issued by Information Diplomatica, foreign office service.

It also said moves by Great Britain and France toward recognizing Franco's regime as Spain's legal government were viewed in Rome with "abundant tranquility."

Those countries, it declared, must realize that "existing solidarity" between Spain and Italy would continue as strong as ever.

GETTING READY FOR ROYALTY— King's Place At White House Dinner Already Is Fixed; Seating Arrangements For Other Guests Is Problem By SIGRID ARNE AP Feature Service Writer (Second in a Series of Three)

WASHINGTON — There is no head to dinner table in Washington's inner social set. The important, diamond-studded spot is right at the middle of a long table. Here is why. Suppose the head-and-foot custom were in use when the King and Queen of England visit here next spring. At the White House dinner that will be given for them the president would sit at the head with the queen on his right. And where would the King of England and Emperor of India be found? Why down at the foot of the table on Mrs. Roosevelt's right. And heaven forbid that a king be sunk down among the salt-and-peppers.

How Places Are Set For A White House Dinner There is another problem to seating dinner guests at the White House. Some 80 to 90 are invited to each of the five official dinners given each season. That is too many people to seat at one long table, and besides nobody can sit with his back to the president. So the White House table is set up like a horse-shoe with the open end to the big fire-place in the state dining room. That puts the President and Mrs. Roosevelt facing each other in the center of the horse-shoe with the ranking guests alongside.

HEATH IS TOP HITTER, SAYS OSCAR VITT SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 16 (AP)—Oscar Vitt, a 175-pound charge of Cleveland baseball dynamite, fired a double barreled salute to the American league today. 1—Mrs. Roosevelt and her social secretary, Mrs. James Helm, shown here with her at a picnic, first make up the guest list.

2—Then H. C. Spruks, the ceremonial officer, worries and worries as he tries to decide who shall sit where. When he's checked and rechecked, the list goes back to the First Lady for approval.

3—To make sure that the approved seating arrangement is followed, A. B. Tolley of the White House staff works out a precise cardboard diagram naming each place. Each guest is directed according to that map.

Vocations Studied At Midway School By HERSCHEL SUMMERLIN Superintendent Midway School One of the chief criticisms levied at modern education is that our schools do not turn out pupils who know how to make a living and do not know how to spend their leisure time. At the beginning of this school year Midway planned to do something to teach the pupils something about the vocations and give them some way to spend a part of their leisure time. Each pupil was asked to list his favorite vocation and favorite hobby and throughout the year the pupils have been encouraged in studying their chosen vocation and hobby. A list showing the vocations and hobbies is very interesting. Of the boys, 26 per cent indicated that they intend to become farmers, 24 per cent of them show a preference for ranching, 12 per cent intend to become air pilots, eight per cent want to become sailors, two of the boys want to become truck drivers, and one boy selected each of the following: forest ranger, soldier, salesman, hunter, movie star. For their hobbies 60 per cent of the boys selected wood work, 27 per cent selected stamp collecting. The remainder of the boys decided to collect such things as post cards and odd pictures. Sixty-three per cent of the girls listed housewife as their vocation, 13 per cent wanted to be nurses. One girl wanted to be a home economics teacher, one a music teacher, one a school teacher and one a stenographer. For their hobbies, 82 per cent of the girls selected needle work, the rest of the girls selected such hobbies as collecting paintings, pictures or dolls. The pupils may not follow the vocations listed above and they may lose interest in the hobbies they selected but at least they will have given some thought to these things.
