Littlefield Tops the List of West Texas Towns Showing Population Increase Of Over 1,400 Per Cent in Ten Years

From a typical cow town of Western Texas where cow boys were the principal visitors and long horned cattle the leading occupants of the surrounding country, Littlefield during the past 10 years has sprung into a modern municipality, where the city visitors are as varied in their habits and callings, and the surrounding lands are occupied with a people who are as diversified in their agricultural pursuits as may be found in any country of the eastern states where such conditions have existed for the past 100 years or more.

In some of the eastern cities of Texas the census enumerators have brought havoc with the ambitions of leading citizens, showing the population of their home towns to be more or less on the decrease. Practically all the towns in West Texas are showing a decided increase in population. A few were not very large in their infancy, but in most instances the enlargement ran from 50 to 100 per cent. One thriving city reported 200 per cent, while the largest noted increase published to date is 408 per cent.

It remains for Littlefield to top the list of West Texas towns in per cent population, in all probability establishing a record of increase for the entire state, since statistics show an increase here of 1,400 per cent.

Ten years ago the population of Littlefield was 225; the official census recently completed, gives a population of 3,218, which easily outstrips all other municipal competitors in the state for the percent goal. Furthermore, there are several hundred more citizens living in Littlefield proper, yet not within the official corporate limits, whose enumeration would add to the total of municipal residents, if included, but because of outside location, must be classed in the county at large.

It is worthy of note that while other cities of West Texas have had their development from various sources, such as new oil field, newly established schools, increased railroad centers, etc., the development of Littlefield and Lamb County generally has been entirely from its agricultural pursuits—a worthy tribute to the high quality of fertile farm land in this section.

Littlefield, already boasting of her numerous beautiful homes, her large brick business blocks, her paved streets, her modern municipal improvements including electric lights, waterworks, sewers, gas service and telephone network, surrounded by as fertile farmland as may be found anywhere within the borders of the state, and in both town and country occupied by a class of people representing the "pick and flower" of the nation, energetic to a high degree, temperate in their habits, moral in their nature, aggressive in their dispositions, and with lofty ideals unsurpassed anywhere in their heights—Littlefield looks forward with sanguine anticipation to being a city of 10,000 population when Uncle Sam 10 years from now comes around with his official questionnaires.

CITY COLLECTS $93.60

Fines collected in Municipal court during the past two weeks total $93.60, gambling and vagrancy being the principal charges.

Lfd. Lads Planning Attendance at The 1930 Military Camps

"All young men, who expect to enter any military training camp this summer should make application as soon as possible. In so doing all examinations will be completed before the last minute rush, which has always previously prevailed, wherein some might fail to receive an appointment due to the delay," said Dr. J. D. Simpson.

Citizen's Military Training Camps are conducted by the War Department under the National Defense act. This is the basic law which governs all military training. The Government pays the expenses of those attending, consisting of transportation to and from camp, uniforms, food, and medical attendance.

The objects of these camps is to bring together young men of high type from all sections of the country on a common basis of equality and under the most favorable conditions of outdoor life; to stimulate and promote citizenship, patriotism, and Americanism; and, through expert physical direction, athletic coaching, and military training, to benefit the young men individually, and bring them to realize their obligations to their country.

The basic course is for physically fit male citizens of the United States, 17 to 24 years of age. Previous military training is not required. Applicants must possess average general intelligence, be able to read and write English, and be of good moral character, he said.

This course provides training in different branches of the army. Those who take this will be given an opportunity to qualify for a higher course. Three other courses are given, namely: Red, White and Blue. They are composed of men from 17 to 31 inclusive.

Plans are being made by several Littlefield boys who were in training at Fort Logan, last summer to enroll for training in the near future in an advance course.

Those who pay their own way to the camp will be reimbursed after arrival there for all traveling expenses at the rate of five cents per mile computed over the shortest usually traveled route, said Dr. Simpson.

LFD. OFFICE LEADS IN TEXAS UTILITIES SALES

Local Manager R. E. McCaskill, of the Texas Utilities Co., is this week in receipt of a copy of the monthly bulletin published by the American Commonwealth Powers Corporation, of which the Texas Utilities is one of the numerous subsidiaries, showing that the Littlefield office lead in percentage of stock sales of the corporation during the month of April.

The sales reported covered 25 different states in which the Corporation operates, and the per cent for Littlefield was 763, McCaskill selling nearly eight times his prescribed quota.

SENT TO GATESVILLE

The 13 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jones, Olton, was last week ordered in County Court to be sent to the State Reformatory at Gatesville, for a period of 15 months, according to Sheriff Len Irvin.

The sentence came in connection with the death of Arnold Allen, of Olton, who, some months ago was run down by an auto said to be driven by the Jones boy.

Sample Copies of Lamb County Leader Bring Numerous Inquiries and Many Favorable Comments Regarding Assets of Littlefield

That the Littlefield territory meets with universal appeal to the many who have the home-lust is clearly evident. Scarcely a week goes by now but people learning of the numerous virtues and wonderful possibilities of this section write into express their appreciation of what they have learned, or else come to see with their own eyes what they have been reading in the newspapers. And, like the Queen of Sheba, famous in Biblical history, when she beheld the splendors of King Solomon's empire, they invariably exclaim, "The half has never been told me."

Three weeks ago the Leader, in cooperation with the Yellow House Land Co., this city, sent out nearly 400 sample copies of the regular issue of this newspaper to home-hungry people who had heard of Littlefield and its versatile fertile farm lands and wanted to know more about them. Numerous replies have come back from the recipients of these papers, expressing their appreciation, some of them asking for still more information, and many of them declaring their intention to pay a visit to this rapidly developing section just as soon as possible.

Among the letters received is one from L. H. King, one of the prominent citizens of Austin, Texas. Mr. King has for many years been a close student of the economic conditions of this state; he has been particularly interested in the growth of the western section; he has kept close watch over the development of the South Plains area, and has intimate knowledge of the merits of the Littlefield section. Incidentally, he pays his respects to the high quality of newspaper published in this little city, and his compliments to the Yellow House Land Co., are unstinted in behalf of the remarkable sales made of their diversified fertile lands and the wide appeal that is going forth from their offices, resulting in hundreds of excellent families taking up their permanent abodes in this section where Nature responds in lavish manner with unfolding riches to all who conjure her coyish disposition dropping from her lap of blessing all that is needed for human health, happiness and prosperity.

Mr. King's letter is as follows: Austin, Texas, May 9, 1930. Yellow House Land Company, Littlefield, Texas. Dear Mr. Bulger and Force: "I am the recipient of a copy of the Lamb County Leader, for which I am sure I am under obligations to the Yellow House Land Company, and you will please accept my thanks for having remembered me in this manner.

"I have read the whole issue with much interest. It is a splendid news paper, well edited and well partitioned which is an index to the splendid country and people it represents.

"I have, particularly, read the front page article, produced by a representative of this news paper, under caption as follows:

"15,806 Acres of Land Sold by Yellow House Land Company During Past Few Months Indicates Popularity of Littlefield Lands."

"You gentlemen are to be congratulated on this wonderful showing of land sales and I am sure that you are willing to contribute your sales to no less reasons than are incorporated in the beginning of the timely article above referred to, and in the first paragraph of the same, which reads as follows:

"Settling a new country is never a great undertaking when the country has unlimited resources proving its worthiness of human occupancy and its virtue as a home-giving, money making section."

"The foregoing embraces all of the motives that prompt home-seekers and investors to buy your wonderful lands; namely, the gain of money, the gain of utility and the satisfaction of pride of ownership. These natural resources supplied by nature are an endowment to your Littlefield community, and these linked with your untiring energy and respectable ingenuity account for your good success.

"I fully believe that the south plains of Texas, and especially the Littlefield section, based on natural resources, have more to offer home-seekers and investors in land, for gain than any other portion or section of the entire state of Texas.

"Again Thanking you for the copy of the paper and with the very kindest personal regards to all of you, I am Yours very truly, "L. H. KING."

ATTEND FORD MEETING

About 168 dealers and employees of the Ford motor concerns in this section were in attendance at a meeting held in Lubbock, Tuesday evening of last week.

Talks were made by visitors from the Bull-Stewart Equipment Company, of Dallas.

Those from Littlefield attending were John H. Arnett, Jess Seale, Jim Powers, Wylie Morgan, A. W. Ray, Grady Bassett and Otis Jergenson.

Lfd. Delegation Will Attend W. T. C. C. Meet

Preparations are being made here this week for a delegation of Littlefield citizens to attend the annual meeting of West Texas Chamber of Commerce to be held in Abilene May 29, 30 and 31.

Governor Dan Moody is scheduled for the principal address on opening day. Hon. Carl Williams, representing the Federal Farm bureau, from Washington, D. C., will speak the second day. Saturday afternoon there will be an Air Circus, participated in by numerous privately and government owned planes.

Abilene is well equipped to handle this big convention. It has 1,000 hotel rooms, accommodations in homes for 3,000 people, 23 tourist camps. A solid carload of cots have been ordered to take care of the hundreds of band boys who will attend the convention.

All business sessions will be held in the new Paramount theatre, recently completed at a cost of $400,000, and which will seat 1,600 people in fine upholstered chairs.

Abilene is spending more than $8,000 to make the big meet a success.

LARGE CROWD ATTEND THE BACCALAUREATE SERVICE

A large crowd was present Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, at the High School auditorium, when every church in the city dismissed for the Baccalaureate sermon, which was delivered to about 30 graduates of the Littlefield High School by Rev. R. B. Freeman.

Preceding the sermon a special anthem was sung by a joint choir from various churches over the city and a solo was rendered by H. F. Brown.

Excerpts from the sermon will be found elsewhere in this newspaper.

BOXING MATCH STOPPED

The boxing match scheduled between Lee Fraley and Jack Denton, to be held at the Skating Rink last Monday night was called off.

A telegram from Attorney General Pollard, of Austin, to Sheriff Len Irvin, gave instructions to stop the match, according to information.

BUILDING PERMITS

Building permits in Littlefield issued since the first of this month total $46,389, according to records kept at the City Hall.

It is stated that several new residences and some business houses are in contemplation of erection, permits for which have not yet been issued.

Commercial Body Will Ask A. C. C. A. Branch Be Located In Lfd.

The establishing of a branch office of the American Cotton Co-operative association in Littlefield, was the principle subject of discussion at the weekly noon-day luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce held Tuesday.

County Farm Agent D. F. Eaton of Lubbock, F. R. Friend, cashier of the First National Bank, Lubbock, and J. W. Hammock, of Sudan, local field representative of the organization, each made talks explaining the important features of the new organization.

It was stated that one of the seven state divisions would be located at Lubbock, and a branch office should be established in Littlefield. To obtain this branch office a guarantee of $7,500 is necessary from responsible sources, this guarantee to be liquidated at the rate of 50 cents per bale as the 15,000 bales are delivered to market. No money is to be paid by the guarantors. It is probable one of the national speakers of the association will be in Littlefield in the near future to address the cotton farmers and citizens generally relative to the new marketing plan.

Arthur P. Duggan, former president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce was elected to head the Littlefield delegation to the annual meeting which will be held in Abilene Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week. It was stated by Secretary Hale that a representative delegation from Littlefield would go to the meeting.

Rev. Grizzle Attends So. Baptist Convention

Rev. Joe F. Grizzle, pastor of the First Baptist church, this city, returned Monday from the 75th annual meeting of the Southern Baptist convention. It was the 85th year of the convention, and he reports 12,000 people in attendance, 8,000 messengers being registered during the four days session.

He states it was one of the greatest conventions in the history of the Southern Baptist church. Prominent speakers of the denomination from all over the South were present in inspirational addresses, and much important business of the church was transacted.

There are 19 southern states included in this convention territory, also, the District of Columbia, the State of Arizona being added this year. It was stated that Southern Baptists (white) had now reached the four million mark in numbers.

HOWELL-ENOCHS BUYS GIN SITE

G. P. Howell, of Enochs, and I. C. Enochs, of Lubbock, and owner of several thousand acres of fine farm land north of Morton, last Saturday purchased from Lance Development Co., Block number 103, of the Morton Smith holdings in the town of Morton.

It is the purpose of these gentlemen to build a modern three stand gin at once, and material is now being hauled for the purpose.

Mr. Howell, who has had the handling of the Enoch lands for some time is an experienced gin man and will have active charge of the new industry. We welcome Mr. Howell and Mr. Enoch to the best in Texas—out where the West Texas ends.—Cochran Co. News.

"Corporal Eagen" Will Be Staged Here By Legion and Auxiliary

The American Legion and Auxiliary will stage a sensational comedy drama of the American rookie, "Corporal Eagen," Thursday and Friday evening of next week at the high school auditorium.

It is a rollicking comedy of rooky life and is a scream from start to finish. It is not only comedy, but has much patriotism staged in a very spectacular manner.

The scene is laid in the company street of "Camp Shove Off," with an army barrack as background. Special scenery and costumes are shipped here by the company.

The story, "Corporal Eagen," centers around Red Eagen, an Irish rookie, played by Kenneth Hemphill, and his screamingly funny Jewish buddy, Izzy Goldstein, played by Harrell Cooke. Eagen and Goldstein have been in the army only 30 days, just long enough to think they know everything, and know nothing. They pretend to be very brave, but are frightened when anyone is around. Red is looking for a big promotion because he told his girl, Sally O'Neill, played by Miss Fannie Weaver, that he was going to be a Captain. Instead of getting a captain's job he gets in bad with the Top Sergeant, played by Jim Powers and is put on "K. P." Sally comes to see Red in his new uniform is suspected of being a spy by the hard boiled guard, Joe Watson, and is sent to the guard house to be shot at five o'clock. Red, through an accident, assisted by Rastus, played by Jim Etter is promoted to Corporal. He then gets to drill the famous "Awkward Squad," which is composed of business men.

Red's dad, Michael Eagen, played by H. F. Brown, and Izzy's papa, played by Dr. R. M. Walthall come to camp to visit their sons, but spend most of their time making love to the Red Cross nurses, who are Mrs. Ike Griffin and Mrs. Jim Powers.

The old maid war worker, played by Mrs. W. G. Street, is trying to find a husband. She tries to get Kaffloozzy played by Tom L. Matthews, and McGinnis, played by L. D. Rochelle, but finally elopes with the Y. M. C. A. worker, played by Arbie Joplin.

The Captain, is played by J. T. Street. The cook, who keeps Red and Izzy busy peeling potatoes is Eugene Lattimer. The little news boy is Carson Glass.

The show opens with a patriotic pageant, "My Dream of the Big Parade," which will be read by George Long, supported by 150 school children, Sallor's chorus, Girl's chorus and the entire cast.

Some of the specialties are: A Minstrel show between first and second acts with S. J. Farquhar as master of ceremonies, R. E. McCaskill, Ike Griffin, Roy Wade and M. B. Rook as end men. The minstrel opens with "Show Boat," danced by a chorus of eight girls dressed in special costumes.

The Girl's chorus is composed of 30 girls who sing, and eight who dance.

The Sailor's chorus is made up of 25 business men, who will sing the songs so popular during the World war.

Mrs. T. Wade Potter and J. W. Hopping are the soloists with Mrs. Moody as pianist.

The names of the full cast will be found on another page of this paper.

Dr. Granberry of Tech. Delivers Address To High School Graduates

The Commencement exercises of the Littlefield High School was held Tuesday evening at the High School auditorium.

The procession, with Mrs. J. W. Hopping at the piano, was composed of 29 girls and boys, who were awarded diplomas. Invocation was given by Rev. Wm. J. Fulton.

Miss Louise Campbell was saluatorian and Miss Lorena Joseph, valedictorian.

A solo, rendered by J. W. Hopping, was enjoyed by a large audience, which filled the auditorium to capacity.

Dr. J. C. Granberry, head of the history department of Texas Technological college, introduced by Superintendent B. M. Harrison, delivered the commencement address. Beginning he spoke of the substantial foundation laid here by pioneers of the Plains country for the present citizenship, as a lasting foundation on which the young men and young women of this country, and especially by those who were members of the graduating class, would have an important part in the future interests and development of the country. He especially stressed the importance of education as a factor in the successful building of a town or a community.

Following his address F. O. Bolas, principal of the High School, made a short talk preceding his presentation of scholarships, which were awarded Miss Lorena Joseph, as a reward for the girl of the class making the highest average in school work during the past four years. Charles Burt was awarded scholarships for the boy making the highest average in school work the past four years and Miss Louise Campbell was awarded a scholarship for the girl making the highest average for the past year.

Presentation of diplomas were made by Supt. B. M. Harrison, preceding which he made a short talk, wherein he described the splendid advantages offered to both town and rural children of Lamb county. He stated that more than 96 per cent of the children of the county were within a very reasonable distance of the advantages of accredited schools.

The graduates were appropriately dressed in caps and gowns.

Hammock and Elms At Cotton Growers Meeting

The Lamb County Cotton Co-operative association was represented at the annual meeting held in Dallas, May 12 and 13 by J. T. Elms, gin manager of Littlefield and J. W. Hammock, local representative of the organization, from Sudan.

The meeting lasted the better part of two days, the principle business transacted being the formulation of a cotton contract for the coming year.

Thursday of last week, Hammock attended the meeting of the business men of Plainview when they were addressed by C. O. Moser, of A. C. C. A., as to requirements for obtaining a branch office of the association at that point. At that meeting it was the consensus of opinion expressed by Plainview citizens present that such a branch was desired and would be underwritten by the business men there.

Hammock stated that Lamb county would have a similar offer for a branch office in the near future, with a licensed federal cotton classifier located here, thus enabling the cotton producer to absolutely know the proper grade of his staple before it offered for sale on the market.

Texas are becoming more and more industrial-minded, if editors of the weekly and daily press are a trustworthy gauge.

TEXACO-ETHYL

THE "DRY" ETHYL GASOLINE

The Texas Company announces that now Texaco the original "dry" gas, is available with the Ethyl compound. It means the linking of two famous names in motor fuels to produce one of the finest premium anti-knock gasolines ever offered the motoring public—Texaco-Ethyl!

The Ethyl compound in itself cannot perform miracles. It's the gasoline base that makes the difference in Ethyls. The better the fuel you begin with, the better the resulting Ethyl Gasoline.

The new and better Texaco, the original "dry" gas that vaporizes instantly, plus Ethyl, equals the last word in automobile fuels. Texaco, the driest of dry gases, permits complete and uniform diffusion of Ethyl through the manifold into the cylinders. It creates higher standards of pick-up, power, speed and mileage for any car, old or new. This new premium grade is now available at Texaco Service Stations to all motorists who desire a superior anti-knock gasoline. Try it today!

Living Room Essays Submitted by Winners In County Home Demonstration Club Contests

Essays written by winners in the County Living Room contest are here with given publication this week by the Leader. Mrs. J. E. Holland of the Fieldton club, is winner of the first place in Class 1; Mrs. M. M. White, of the Sod House Demonstration club, winner of first place in Class 2.

Their essays are as follows: Living Room Improvement

By Mrs. J. E. Holland
I had a fairly nice living room, but felt there was still room for improvement. I entered the contest for this purpose, and by the help of "Our Home Demonstration Agent, Miss Ruby Mashburn and a little studying I have greatly improved my living room.

First I waxed the floors which was quite a task. I tried several methods of applying the wax and at last found the best method was by rubbing it on and polishing it with a piece of sheep skin wrapped around a brick, as you would polish your shoes. Then I rearranged the furniture to better balance the room. I added two pieces of an old bookcase and a stand-table on which I placed the Portable Victrola, which was moved from the library table. I moved there from another room and refinished them with wax.

I moved two new rugs from the bed room. By this arrangement I had provided a music center a reading center, a writing center and a conversation center.

I also got some old curtains that had been discarded, washed and pressed them with which I made draperies for the double French doors. I replaced my old thin and stringy draperies with new ones made from pretty cretonne. This cost me $4.50.

I added floor pillows, rearranged the books in the ends of the library table and I painted the flower box and washed the dirty spots from the walls and removed stacks of music from the piano. This added great comfort to the living room.

Living Room Improvement

By Mrs. M. M. White
I had already planned to improve my living room before I became a member of a demonstration club, so when I heard of the "Living-Room Contest," I decided to put into practice the things that I had learned at the club meetings. I was not very enthusiastic at first however, because I felt that I was very ignorant on living room requirements. If it had not been for the faithful encouragement and enthusiasm of our demonstrator the task would never have been completed.

I planned to defray all expenses out of my own money which was obtained by selling eggs by contract to the hatchery. I had scarcely begun my plans when five of my registered cockerels contracted chicken pox and five hens took chicken pox, so I died. Then one hundred and twenty thought I would quit. I almost had chicken pox myself, and oh, how I lay awake and prayed for those hens to lay and they did, but I had to sell infertile eggs at market price from then on. I also sold some of my chickens, which helped some.

My living room was very small—entirely too small for a family of seven. The only furniture in the living room was a radio cabinet, and a the center of the room. The wood work was already stained and a small congoleum rug was on the floor.

A small bed room joined this room on the west. This room was papered with blue building paper. The furniture consisted of a bed and dresser. Since the front entrance led through this room we decided that it should be a part of the living room. My husband removed the partition between these two rooms making a nice long room 9 ft. by 17 ft. The room now had two small windows and three doors.

I selected wall paper with a cream colored background and a tan mingled figure and for the ceiling I selected paper of a cream back ground with silver splashes. Instead of using a border for this paper I used plain molding and painted it to match the background of the paper. I selected this color of paper so that it would reflect the light from the windows and make the room look larger and more cheerful. The canvas, paper, and molding were all put on by my own family and club members.

I had only two pieces of furniture that were suitable for a living room, these were: a radio cabinet, and a library table. The other furniture was removed from the room. I moved the radio nearer the end of the room and used it for a music center. The library table was old and scarred so it had to be refinished. I got a recipe from the demonstrator to remove the varnish and it worked beautifully if she did give me the wrong one. I sand papered it down and put on two coats of mahogany varnish. This table had ample space for books and writing material, but no place for magazines. Therefore, I bought a small magazine basket and painted it to match the library table. These pieces of furniture were to be in my reading center so I placed them next to the inner wall in the largest space where the light came into the best advantage.

I ordered a living room suite because I could get a more practical set and it was not so expensive as those at town, and too, it fitted in with my color scheme. This set was finished in mahogany with brown imitation leather upholstery, and consisted of a davenport, rocker, and chair. The chair I placed at the end of the library table near the magazine basket to complete my reading center. The davenport was placed in the large space between the windows, with the rocker near by to complete my rest center.

Twin carbide lights were placed in the center of the room and hung from the ceiling. The heater and small rug were moved out. The woodwork was restained with burnt amber and mahogany stain.

I purchased buff window shades and they proved to be very light in color so I selected heavy draperies to help exclude some of the light. The material for the draperies is Indian Head linen of rose color with unbleached domestic for lining. These I made straight and let them extend to the floor. In the center I placed cream marquisette that comes to the bottom of the window sash. The draperies made my window look larger and let in just the correct amount of light.

I covered my floor with a congoleum rug which has a soft brown background with soft lines of tan and blue, and bouquets of rose colored flowers stenciled in black. These colors harmonize with my paper and drapery, furniture and wood work. I decorated my walls with three hand painted pictures. I placed one over the reading center, one over the davenport, and the other one in a blank space in the east end of the room. I also put two pillows on my davenport.

COURTESY

An Irishman burst into the office of the president of a big city bank. He had a check in his hand.

"Me name's Casey," he said, "O' work out here in th' yards. An' this here check—"

"The president interrupted him." You should take off your hat and wipe off your shoes. You should take the check to a teller and not bother me. And you'll have to be identified. How do we know your name is Casey? How do I know you didn't steal the check?"

The Irishman withdrew. A few minutes later there was a knock at the door of the president's office. The Irishman came in again, hat in hand, with a professional looking man who said,

"This is Patrick Casey. He has been working out in the railroad yards. I am his attorney. His brother justdied and left him $100,000."

"Ah, yes, Mr. Casey," said the banker, "what can I do for you?" "You can't do nawthin for me," returned the Irishman, "O'im on me way to the other bank."

A BIRTHDAY DINNER

Mrs. J. M. Blessing entertained with a dinner Sunday, at her home, three miles east of Littlefield, in honor of the birthday of her grand daughter, Geraldine Robinson.

The guest list included a number of little friends of the honoree and Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Sales, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Blessing, Mr. and Mrs. Basden, Mrs. Fitzgerald, and Mr. and Mrs. Zed Robinson.

REVIVAL AT ANTON

Evangelist C. M. Carel, of Phoenix, Arizona, will begin a meeting Friday evening at the Methodist church, at Anton.

Everybody is invited. It will be an old time revival like our fathers and mothers used to enjoy. Special songs each evening.

Services begin at 8:15. Rev. H. Hart, pastor.

Humdrum is one you can't beat.

What is a Double Standard of Morals?

"Dad, the other day you said that one of these times you wanted to talk to me about the double standard of morals. That term came up at school today. I think I understand about it, but not so well."

"I did say that, Bob," said Mr. Smith, laying down his paper. "and there is no better time than now. The term means that men and women, (boys and girls for that matter) should not be judged in moral conduct by two standards. For instance, if it's not good morals for women to indulge in smutty stories, then it ought to be considered just as bad taste for men. If it's bad morally for men to get drunk then it ought to be equally bad for women. If women are to be judged as absolutely unfit for decent society because they "sow wild oats" then men, too, must be held as strictly accountable for their personal morals. A single standard of morals simply means that everybody shall be judged by but one moral yardstick."

"But I had no idea there was anything but a single standard, Dad—"

"That's because we are making rapid progress, son, and I'm glad to have your reaction, but for thousands of years we have had two standards growing out of the semi-savage idea that man was lord of all and that woman was his chattel or slave and that he determined when her conduct was good and acceptable and when bad and reprehensible. Some day you will be old enough to read about the origin and evolution of the customs of mankind and you'll see just why and how we have arrived at a lot of our modern ideas of morals. The very word, you know, comes from the Latin 'mores' meaning custom. Whatever was the custom then of a given people growing out of a long experience, gradually became their morals. Today the morals of the world are the result of the best experience of millions and billions of individuals and with man's progressive apprehension of truth and goodness and the new and exalted place of women in society a single standard of morals is dawning."

"Why, for instance, should a man, because he is a male, be granted the privilege of 'running wild' for a period of his youth, especially in the realm of sex relationships and demanding, after he has sown his 'wild oats,' as they say, that some sweet and pure and absolutely clean woman become his wife and the mother of his children. History is full, my boy, of the saddest stories ever penned of the horrible consequences of such a standard—homes wrecked, lives invalidated, crippled and blind and diseased children by the hundreds, absolutely innocent of any wrongdoing because society winked its eye at the moral conduct of a man while at the same time the same society would burst into a wild fury over the presence in their midst of a woman who had made a mistake or more often was a victim of circumstances over which she had no control."

"Schools always have had bad boys in varying numbers. Perhaps we should call them ignorant, unfortunate boys. They have just been accepted as in the natural course of events, but let school discover one bad girl in its student body and there are no words to describe the indignation of society. Strange, isn't it? Now, son, I'm in no way making an alibi for the undesirable girl. There were two in my high school in my day that simply spread consternation throughout the city, but I am trying to show you the injustice of the double standard. In the realm of moral conduct there should be no privileged class, in fact there dare not be for the health and safety of all."

"You expect only to associate with high-minded, clean, morally desirable girls without any past. Girls have exactly the same right to demand of you boys that you be above reproach and that never means being 'sissy.' It means manhood at its very best; big, strong, vigorous, clear-eyed manhood that is absolutely unashamed because there are no ghosts of nasty deeds haunting."

"And, Bob, with the so-called emancipation of woman it is interesting to note that it is they who are demanding now their full benefits from a single standard and many women are saying, 'Why, if it's all right for the men to smoke cigarettes it must be all right for the women' and who will say but that such a stand is at least just."

"It has always been one of the prides of the Smiths, my boy, that woman kind has been respected and honored above all else. There are no family ghosts. You can bear the name proudly, but keep in mind that the privilege is an obligation. Let's, you and me, son, let Mother set our standard and we'll follow as best we may, conscious always that it will be a high and splendid and unselfish standard that will be its own reward."

"Thanks, Dad, that's mighty helpful and I'm for that line absolutely. Wish you'd make that little speech down in our locker room sometime. It would knock 'em dead."

YOUNG PEOPLE SOCIETY MEET

The Young People society of the Lutheran church met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Manthey, Wednesday evening of last week. After a round of interesting games, the following program was rendered:

"The Voice of Music," recitation by Miss Christine Michlink; a musical selection by Adolph Lueck; Comics, by Martin Lueck; organ selection, by Miss Lillian Brandt.

In the business meeting that followed plans were discussed for the building of a hall for the young people.

The place of meeting next week will be the home of Herman Michlink. Bible Class meets every Sunday evening at 7:30.

CONGREGATIONAL MEETING

At the recent meeting of the Lutheran congregation several voting members were accepted. The pastor gave a detailed report of the conference held at Wichita Falls from the first to the fifth of May, discussing the budget of the Texas district of the church.

B. Birkelbach was chosen to act as a lay delegate to the district convention to be held in Houston, in July. It was also decided to celebrate the 400th anniversary of the Augsburg Confession of the Lutheran Church, together with the congregations of Sparenburg, Abernathy, Wilson and Lubbock. This will take place this fall.

PAROCHIAL SCHOOL CLOSES

Friday afternoon the finals were completed at the Lutheran Parochial school.

After the closing exercises the parents of the children who had prepared a surprise, met at the church and the refreshments consisting of sandwiches, cake, pie, ice-cream and lemonade were enjoyed by all present.

The congregation is now planning the erection of a building that will not only house the school, but also serve as a meeting place for the ladies aid and the young people.

LUTHERAN LADIES AID MEETS

The ladies of the Lutheran church met last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ernest Will.

After an interesting program, the annual election was held.

Mrs. B. Birkelbach was re-elected president, and Mrs. W. Luecke, secretary-treasurer.

LUBBOCK POPULATION, 39,091

The population of Lubbock county is 39,091, as of April 1, 1930, compared with 11,096 in 1920, and 3,624 in 1910, according to figures made public last Tuesday.

There are 2,492 farms listed in the county as compared with 1,009 farms in 1910.

PIKE'S PEAK TEST JOLTS AMERICA'S MOTOR OIL OPINIONS

Here's How Some men prefer one kind of motor oil, some another. The jolt comes when the Pike's Peak Tests prove that most of these opinions may be comfortable, convenient, but not correct. . . . The generality that certain brands are better merely because they come from certain States has been quietly exploded. . . . Thousands buy by a respected color or trade mark, and not a few just don't care, and still buy on price. . . . The time is ripe for real facts. By the Pike's Peak Tests, conducted under the supervision of AAA observers, we are prepared to present dependable facts on CONOCO Germ-Processed Oils.

The outstanding results of these Pike's Peak Tests reveal many points of unusual significance. Under the conditions of the tests, which were comparable to severe service, these points were:

Motor Wear . . . Germ-Processed oil reduced it 76.4% throughout these tests, under that of the other oils used as a group. Cost of Lubrication . . . Germ-Processed oil showed an appreciable saving of 6.1%. Oil Economy . . . wins by 3.9%. Gauging Economy . . . a gain of 7.2%. Loss of Viscosity . . . Germ-Processed oil was in 34% better condition after the tests than were the other! Carbon . . . shows an appreciable decrease after Germ-Processed oil was used. Water Temperature . . . was lower with CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil.

Remember, CONOCO uses Mid-Continent paraffin base crude, then the "germ-essence" is added, which gives this oil that remarkable ability to penetrate metal surfaces. "Penetrative Lubricity."

The Germ-Process is Conoco-owned. And Germ-Process positively will reduce your car-operation expense, and lengthen motor life, by providing Penetrative Lubricity.

We invite you to select any operating conditions, no matter how severe, and we guarantee that CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil will meet them better than the oil you have been using!

THE NEW FREE BOOKLET, "Pike's Peak Tests Confirm CONOCO'S Challenge," is ready. It will give you the detailed story of these tests, with photographs. Address Continental Oil Company, Ponca City, Oklahoma, or inquire at the nearest service station displaying the Red Triangle.

WHAT'S THE HURRY?

Railroad men are convinced that the use of the "Stop, Look and Listen" signs and signal bells at railroad crossings by the motoring public would prevent practically all grade-crossing accidents. They claim there would never be an accident if motorists obeyed the warning as it should be obeyed. But the trouble is that thousands do not do so; they take too much for granted.

From now on through the summer months motorists around Littlefield will be, more than at any other time of year, driving into new and strange territory. It might help them to avoid a fatal accident if each and every one will get it firmly fixed in his mind before starting out that every railroad track is dangerous whether there is a train in sight or not.

It should be remembered that if the bell does not stop ringing and if the light continues to flash it may be a warning of still another train approaching. And never, where there is more than one track, is it safe to proceed until the train has passed on to a point where an uninterrupted view can again be had. Another train from the opposite direction may be bearing down upon you. Thirteen percent of all deaths on an eastern road last year resulted in this way.

No matter how good your judgment of distance may be, you can make a mistake. But at a railroad crossing you never have to make but one. Bear that in mind every time you start out in your car from now on and the other fellow will take care of himself. Only in this way are we sure that no homes in this community will be saddened by grade-crossing fatalities that could have been avoided.

The truth would spoil many a good story—and on the other hand it would make many a racy one.

ANOTHER SECRET OUT

We've always argued that experimenting with new crops is worth the time and money spent on it. Here comes a newspaper dispatch to prove it.

The article says Joe Gingrich, of Washington county, Iowa, planted eight and one-half acres in mint last season and his profit was $150 on each acre.

Mint is planted like any other row crop in the spring, and cultivated the first season. It spreads by root growth and after the first year covers the ground. One planting is good for from five to seven years. Gingrich mows his crop twice a season, and with a steam engine, coil and tank of cold water for condensing the steam and oil vapor, he extracts the mint oil. This he sells. He dries the residue and says his horses devour it readily. Even sheep will not eat the growing plants in the field.

Chalk up another victory for the fellow who is always looking for new ways to make old Mother Earth return him a profit.

What is now called a panic would have been considered good times back about 1893, 1907 and 1920.

WHEAT BELT JOBS

Following the wheat harvest used to be, and still is to a considerable extent, one of the favorite outdoor sport of hundreds of thousands of workers. They are a motley crew, traveling from all sections of the country to the wheat belt that stretches from Texas to the northern boundary and reaching into Canada. For weeks this army threshes the golden grain and gets it ready for the market.

But from all indications it is not going to be a good year for those who follow the harvest. Great grain farms and large individual farmers now have their "combines"—huge machines that carry out all the operations of threshing with a minimum of human help. With these machines increasing in number so rapidly, it is obvious that many who go to the wheat belt for summer jobs will be disappointed.

If there are any young men around Littlefield getting ready to travel into other sections in search of this form of labor, we would suggest that they make sure they can get it before they start out. Otherwise they are apt to find the going a little rough.

The town of Yellville, Ark., has elected all women officials. Having women run it will make the town just like home to the men.

FISH AND BEES

It is a singular and interesting fact that comb honey is sold for the same price as charged 40 years ago—25c a pound, on the average. We know this price has not varied 5c in either direction, and so does everyone in the country. And we wonder why there has never been an advance in honey prices in all these years.

It is of just as much interest to note in this connection that the bees of the country make over 200,000,000 pounds of honey a year, at a retail value of $50,000,000.

Now note the contrast between honey and fish. Like the bees, fish work for nothing and feed themselves. Yet the price of some kinds of fish has increased five-fold in the past 40 years; fish that could once be had for 8c and 10c a pound now bring as much as 30c and 40c a pound.

There are many things in this world we can't understand, and this is one of them. Why have fish prices soared in 40 years while honey prices haven't advanced a cent?

LITTLE LEADERS

Our idea of a real wife is the Littlefield woman who told the census taker that her husband is the head of the house.

The good old days were those when a Littlefield girl didn't wonder what the matter with her if a newly-made male acquaintance didn't try to kiss her fifteen minutes after he had met her.

The early bird doesn't always get the worm these days. Sometimes an early Littlefield fisherman beats the bird to it.

It used to be Littlefield girls could always remember the last man who kissed them but now they have a hard time remembering which one kissed them last.

Hope is that thing which makes a Littlefield man feel that maybe he can get grass seed to grow in the front yard with a half-dozen kids running over it.

A veteran married man is any Littlefield married man who can fry a couple of eggs without getting some of the shell mixed in.

PAVEMENT PICKUPS

J. E. Norman declares John Street holds honors of being the champion acrobat of the local Fire Department.

Two weeks ago there was a vexatious picture shown at the Palace theatre, the scenes well filled with music and pretty, laughing, dancing girls, many of them dressed almost a la mode. In the audience was a very prominent elderly gentleman, a citizen of Littlefield. (His name we wouldn't dare to print.) At the close of the show, some one asked him: "Grandpa, how did you like the show?" Fine replied the old gentleman, but damn it, I'm 80 years old.

A local negro was in Municipal court last week trying to explain to Mayor Jones where he was a few nights before. "You're trying to establish an alibi," said the Mayor. "Do you know just what an alibi is?" "Yessuh!" replied the negro. "An alibi is provin' dat yo was at a prammeetin' whar yo' wasn't, in ordah to show dat yo' wasn't at a crap game whar yo was."

Rev. Fulton says an ideal husband is one who is so attentive to his wife that a stranger would think he was cavorting around with some other fellow's wife.

Dr. Clements says he understands the dental business has picked up a good bit since so many fellows insist on trying to drink out of a bottle while riding on a motor bus.

AND THEY EAT

Behold! The lodge lodgeth together and they eat. The club clubbeth together and they eat. The business men take council together and they eat. The church hath a social and they eat. The young people elect officers and they eat. And even when the missionary society meeteth together they eat. But this latter is in good cause because they "eat in remembrance" of the poor heathen who have not much to eat.

Behold! Hath man's brains gone to his stomach and doth he no longer regard intellectual dainties that you can't no longer call an assembly or get together a quorum or even a "baker's dozen," except thou holdest up the baker's dainties as a bait? Be it true, that the day cometh, that, to get a crowd to prayer meeting the preacher must hold up a biscuit?

Yes, verily, thou hast heard of the child races of the world. But behold it nigh thee, even at the door. For as one who calleth unto the child and sayeth, "come hither, little one, and I will give thee a stick of candy," even so must thou say to his grown papa and mama, "Assemble ye together and we will serve refreshments."

"SOME FOLK BRAG ON THEIR PIONEER ANCESTORS, BUT WHEN IT COMES TO EARLY SETTLERS I LIKE THE ONE THAT PAY ON THE FIRST OF THE MONTH"

And lo, they come like sheep into a pen. Isn't it the truth?—Kablegram.

SOME SNAP SHOTS

One nice thing about a radio sermon, is that people don't turn around and stare at you when the preacher denounces your pet sin.

Old Dobbin had his faults, but a few scratches on his outside didn't cause the family to clamor for a new one.

Woman is aping man in lots of ways, but she hasn't become masculine enough yet to feel more comfortable in old clothes than she does in brand new ones.

The right skirt length is half-way between where a man wants his own wife to wear 'em and where he wants other women to wear 'em.

Eve is the only woman who could believe her man when he told her that she was the only girl in the world for him.

A lot of Wets and Drys have been down at the mourner's bench in Washington, but we haven't heard of any conversions.

At last we are all equal—big or little, rich or poor, fat or slim, smart or foolish. Each fellow only counts one with the census taker.

This would be a far happier world if a man would brag about his wife like he brags about his automobile.

ROTARY CLUB MEET

The Rotary club met Thursday at the regular weekly luncheon, with 27 members present.

County Agent D. A. Adam was present and made a talk relative to his work in the county.

H. B. Teal, who is in charge of the local Boy Scouts reported a nice sum had been received by the Scouts as their part of the proceeds from the Harley Sadler show and that such would be used for advancing scout work in Littlefield.

Dr. M. V. Cobb was in charge of the program and called upon E. A. Bills, who led a sing-song, with every member taking part.

Guests for the occasion were: Rotarian Bryan Haydens, A. Bailey and S. L. Carter, of Levelland and D. A. Adam, of Amherst.

The wonder is not that a souvenir hunter would pick up a half-smoked cigar tossed away by Mr. Coolidge but that Mr. Coolidge would toss away a half-smoked cigar.

A Brand New General Purpose Tractor

That's far ahead of anything
you've ever seen

Now you can get the tractor you've always wanted—a powerful, light weight, fast moving and easy to handle tractor that is as practical for planting and cultivating row crops as it is for plowing, threshing and the usual run of tractor jobs. It's the new Model "CC" Case—a real general purpose tractor.

The rear wheels can be quickly and easily set wider apart to fit the rows when cultivating, and just as easily changed back to plowing and disking width.

Two foot brakes that work on the differential, independent of the steering device, aid in handling the tractor on slopes and over rough land. You can hold either of the rear wheels and pivot on it when you want to make a short turn.

You can sit down, stand up or change about as you choose. The controls are conveniently placed. The steering gear is very fast. The front wheels respond quickly to the slightest turn. . . . all in all the tractor is remarkably easy to operate.

You will be as enthusiastic about this tractor as we are. Come in and let us tell you more about it.

from Littlefield, Sudan and Amherst.
An enjoyable musical program was presented by members of the Sudan league. The president of the league represented was then given several bundles of wood and a match, and was asked to light a fire. From the three fires were taken tapers to light a fire in the center, around which the entire group of leaguers gathered and sang the closing song, "Blest Be the Tie."
The next meeting of the Little-Su-

FARM POULTRY
MODERN CHICKEN MUCH IMPROVED
When you sit down to your breakfast eggs or your Sunday chicken dinner nowadays you will probably enjoy much better food than you did seven years ago. For while few of us know anything of the change, the great American hen has become a decidedly improved bird since 1921.
Thousands of poultrymen in more than half of the states of the Union have adopted standard systems for improving the breeds and eradicating disease in their flocks since Wisconsin began producing "accredited" chicks seven years ago.
"The basis of the Wisconsin plan," explains the Farm Journal, "was a breeding program whereby through culling, selection of birds of standard qualifications and vigorous constitutions, with supervision of both flock and hatcheries, high-quality flocks and chicks might be produced. The chicks thus produced were designated as "accredited" and were advertised and sold as such."
"This accredited idea spread rapidly from Wisconsin and is now in operation under essentially the Wisconsin plan in Ohio, Illinois, Kansas, Missouri, Michigan, Texas, Tennessee and a number of other states. Some eight or ten more states are also preparing to put this plan into operation."
"In 1922, Connecticut adopted the Wisconsin idea, but made the blood test for bacillary white diarrhea the basis upon which flocks were to be accredited. Following the lead of Connecticut, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and a number of other Eastern states have built up an accredited system based on the disease-eradication plan. Washington, Oregon and Idaho are now on, or are adopting, this plan. New York has a plan that is a modification of this, with more emphasis on breeding."
Success of the plan is evidenced by the fact that Ohio, where the state poultrymen's association adopted the plan only in 1924, will this year produce 12,000,000 chicks from 65 accredited hatcheries.

Hot Water Very Useful in Preventing Chilling
If there is anything more aggravating than an old "mother" hen that refuses to hover her brood on cold, wet days, I don't know what it is, says a writer in Farm Life. But you know a dead chick more or less means nothing in life to an old Cluck, so it's up to us to give nature a lift in the way of artificial heat, when the hen refuses to do her duty.
Here's my way. Fill one-half or one gallon jugs with hot water, make a snug cover of woolen (an old blanket is ideal) to fit the jug, cork tightly, and place in a box or in the coop with the chicks. This will give off enough heat to keep the little things cozy for several hours. When necessary refill with hot water and you'll never lose chicks from chilling.

Poultry Notes
Comfortable quarters in the very earliest days means much in the future development of the chicks and the profit which they will return to their owners.
Young chicks should have no feed for 36 or even 48 hours after hatching. Corn bread, rolled oats, and hard-boiled eggs are good feeds for the first few days.
It takes 21 days for a hen egg to hatch, about 28 days for ducks, from 30 to 34 days for a goose egg, and 28 days for turkey eggs. The time may vary somewhat according to conditions.
The all-mash system of feeding chicks after the first month furnishes a satisfactory method and also allows the person handling the flock some leisure time without damaging the young birds.
Ground oats may be used for growing stock or laying hens when fed in limited quantities.
Wheat bran is largely used in all chick mash. It is bulky but fairly digestible and has a laxative tendency which is beneficial. It is fairly high in protein.
Chicks need something green to eat. When they are out on good range they will take care of this requirement themselves. When they are housed it should be supplied.
In the building or maintaining of a high quality flock of poultry, no one factor is as important as the males heading the flock.
Buckwheat is lower in feeding value than corn, oats, or barley. Furthermore, it is higher in fiber and lower in digestibility than these grains.
When bluegrass is pastured too closely by geese, it will kill the grass out just the same as it will if blue grass is pastured excessively close by cattle, or particularly by sheep.

Lfd. Plays Lockney Here Sunday; Tahoka Lost Game to Cats

Next Sunday the Lockney Independents will come to Littlefield for a clash and a return game for the one played in Lockney last season when Lockney won 9 to 4.

Lockney has always had a very dangerous ball club, and informed Littlefield that they would not come here until they reached their full strength. With this assurance, and in view of the fact that they played an eighteen inning game with Quitaque last season holding them to a one to one tie and then beating the locals should be evidence that they will give the Cats a ball game.

Sunday, June 1st the fast Roswell club will pay Littlefield a visit. They will also play here the 2nd of June as well.

In Roswell's lineup will be one or two familiar faces and they will need no introduction as real base-ball talent. Shorty H. Ballard who played with Littlefield a part of last season; the two White brothers from Lamesa who are stellar performers one doing the catching and the other playing first base, are also known in this section of the Plains. They also participated in the Amarillo tournament last year. The Roswell club, as a whole, is considered one of the most formidable in the Southwest.

Wjn From Tahoka 34-18

The game with Tahoka last Sunday was won by Littlefield and by a very large score.

With Tahoka leading for the first three or four innings and ordinarily should have been a ball game the Cats opened up on Lefty Squires, and drove him under cover in the fifth inning.

Wells relieved for Squires, but failed to get anyone out and Lefty Larkin assumed the job, but failed to stop the hard hitting Cats, who piled up enough scores to go on for some time.

With an open field to play on and the wind and sand to mix with it was largely responsible for the loosely played game.

Coop and Moore did the pitching for the Cats, with Dick Ratliff doing the catching.

One of the outstanding features of the game was Newty Moore's home run with bases full in his first appearance to bat after he relieved Coop in the fifth inning.

Remember the game next Sunday, Lockney here at 3:00 p. m!

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Boone and son, Pat Jr., left Wednesday for a trip to Florida, points along the east coast, New York, and return by the way of Chicago and Kansas City. They expect to be gone about six weeks.

his district office and not have to drive more than from 80 to 90 miles in extreme cases, to reach the district office or headquarters. The district office will give all the services of a State organization in the classing of cotton, issuing a check to its members for practically all their money on the optional-pool cotton at delivery in one day's time. Around these district offices will be located the branch office, which will have a federal licensed cotton classer, and render all the services to the cotton growers that the organization affords at delivery of the cotton.

"The locality may qualify for a branch office by meeting the requirements as to the possibilities of delivering a minimum of 15,000 bales of cotton. Then a willingness on the part of the business interests to underwrite the costs of such branch office for the first year's operations, that will be satisfactory to the representatives of the A. C. C. A. and furnish the required equipment for the handling of the cotton, etc."

Mr. Hammock explained that the present contract was for a period of 10 years, tho it may be canceled for cause within two years time. It is also optional with the member who may deliver every other bale of cotton produced by him up to a certain number, selling the other on open market if he desires. The Association will maintain both the seasonal and the optional pools for member benefits.

TABERNACLE, W. M. U.

The ladies of the Tabernacle Baptist W. M. U., met at the church Monday evening at 2:30.

A missionary lesson was taught by the Pastor, Roy A. Kemp.

After the lesson the remainder of the afternoon was spent quilting and visiting with each other. Lemonade and cake was served to the following ladies: Mesdames Davis, Edwards, Cooper, Bob Cox, Griffith, Crow, Dobbs, Berryman, Briggs, Harbin, Killough, Waters, Kemp, Pruitt, James, Smith, Terrell, Evins and Rev. Roy Kemp.

Hammock Explains Plan Of A. C. C. A. To Help State Cotton Growers

J. W. Hammock, Lamb County representative of the American Cotton Cooperative association attended the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce held Tuesday noon and gave some pertinent information relative to the new Government plan of helping the cotton farmers through the association recently formed. Mr. Hammock said:

"After nine years of struggle with co-operative marketing in Texas and attempted legislation on the part of both state and national organizations the Agricultural Marketing act was passed in 1929, giving the Federal Farm board the greatest powers ever granted by our Government to anyone during peace times.

"As soon as their appointments were confirmed by Congress, their first work was through existing co-operative organizations that were operating under the Capper-Volstead act, and loans were made to them on different commodities. The states were then organized into a National organization known as the A. C. C. A. with a 30 million dollar capitol, to be the general sales agency and to handle all the cotton for all the states.

"As Texas was handling only about 5 per cent of the cotton produced in the state through their co-operative, there was a conference called with representatives from the Federal Farm Board, the Governors committee, and the officers of the Texas cotton co-operative, to work out a change in the contract and by-laws for Texas that would be more desirable to the cotton growers.

"The cotton growers could not avail themselves of the protection of the Agricultural Marketing act without first getting into some organization working in harmony with the laws of the State and the Federal Board. These changes have been agreed upon by all interests concerned, and thereby places the protection and power of the Federal funds in the reach of all the cotton growers of this state on a very liberal contract.

"Texas is to be divided into districts, (possibly seven) so that any cotton grower will be in reach of

Are Promoted From Grammar Grades When Certificates Are Given

The auditorium of the Littlefield School was filled to capacity last evening for the Commencement exercises of the Grammar school. Boys and girls were present with certificates.

Invocation was made by Rev. W. H. Papp, which was followed by the singing of "Crossing the Bar," written by R. E. Riley, and "The Spring Song" by Mrs. Carl Lambert with a saxophone and Miss Eva Joe Carmichael on piano played the accompaniment. Charles Bills was Salutatorian. Lair, Valedictorian and Frances Willis delivered the addresses.

W. Hale delivered the commencement address, speaking on phases of education, following which presentation of certificates were made by J. Chisholm, principal of the Grammar school, to the following:

Thin, Pale, Weak

"I HAD been through a bad spell of sickness which left me very weak," says Mrs. Virginia Spruce, of Stapleton, Va. "I was pale and felt lifeless, and my strength did not return. I spent most of my time on the bed. I was very nervous, and the least thing upset me. I did not have strength enough to lift a broom. At times I would have bad headaches, which would hurt me until I could hardly see. "Someone asked me why I did not try Cardui. I had read of it, so I thought I would see what it would do for me. It was really remarkable how I came out. My strength returned, and my health was better than it had been in years. I gained in weight about ten pounds. My color was good, and I ceased to suffer from headaches. I have told my friends about Cardui because I was benefited after taking it."

WHAT MAKES A JOB GOOD

One morning the elevator starter was breaking in a new elevator-boy. At noon the new boy was running the car alone. He had on a uniform and was starting and stopping with the confidence of a veteran. From apprentice to professional in a couple of hours. What thoughts are in that young fellow's head as he receives his instructions from the gray-haired veteran?

How can he fail to see in the older man a picture of himself twenty years from now.

He is taking up a low paid job—a job with no future. Twenty years from now he will be just where he is today—only older, with a grasp on the job somewhat less secure. His experience will count for nothing, because it is experience that any other man can gain in a couple of days.

He may from time to time, force an increase in his pay. But the increase will not be large. Why?

Because he learned the job in two days. And in any other two days the company can find plenty of men who will learn just as fast and take the job away from him.

Recently I met in a hotel restaurant a friend of mine who has just come back from England after taking special work in surgery under some of the greatest men in the world.

He is thirty-one years old: it is fourteen years since he entered college.

For ten of those fourteen years he has been in medical schools, in hospitals, and in foreign countries studying.

Fourteen long years of hard, uninterrupted study. Years made more difficult by the necessity for self-support: and filled sometimes with questionings, as he has seen his college class-mates moving forward to their places as well paid physicians, and he lingering still in school.

Yet with what result? He has acquired a specialized training such as only a few other men in

New York possess. He will begin life with an income of several thousands; he will pay back his educational debts in a couple of years; in ten years his income will be tens of thousands. Fourteen years of his life went into the mastery of his profession. But he need have no fear of losing what he has gained. No other man can displace him, except at the cost of fourteen years of work. And when he said it he epitomized the philosophy of Business. The job that the gods sell for two hours' training is worth just what it costs. Only that job is worth much which has tied to it the price tag of constant unceasing study and work.

FIRST BAPTIST W. M. U.

The W. M. U. met Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. H. Hardberger for an Industrial meeting, also complimenting Mrs. Theodore Parker with a miscellaneous shower.

Quite a lot of fun was caused by each guest being given green or yellow crepe paper and told to make a hat. Mrs. Lena Howard won the prize for having the most artistic one. Little Misses Mary Louise Seale and Betty Jordan and Mrs. Ike Griffin gave readings which were very enjoyable.

Lovely refreshments were served to the following: Mesdames G. G. Hazel, Lena Howard, Homer Snowden Len Irvin, G. G. Shirley, Pryor Hammons, J. H. Lucas, Ike Griffin, Mid Seale, Jess Seale, Less Barker, Lon Humphries, L. W. Jordan, Wylie Morgan, R. E. McCaskill, Joe Grizzle and the hostess, Mrs. Hardberger.

RUBY CLUB MEET

The Ruby club met May 15th with Mrs. Chester Tony and the "fair" was discussed. Now us folks must get our heads and hands to working and get busy, and do our best to help make the fair a success. As club members we enjoyed the evening long to be remembered with Mrs. Tony in her new home.

One new member, Mrs. Waldon; visitors, Mrs. Toes, Bedford, Rook, Watkins; Members Mrs. Morgan, Jordan, Clark, Tony, Neely, Carpenter, Fox and hostess, Mrs. Chester Tony.

Next meeting with Mrs. Jordan, June 5th, every lady invited.—Reporter.

PAYING THE PRICE IN LIFE'S JOURNEY

Excerpts from Baccalaureate Sermon, Littlefield High School, Delivered Before the Graduating Class Last Sunday Morning by Rev. R. B. Freeman, pastor of the Methodist Church.

Text: "So he paid the fare thereof." Jonah 1:3.

Young people it is with great pleasure that I am permitted to bring you the message on this occasion. This indeed is a great occasion in your life. It marks the completion of a milestone. So far, you have done well; you have accomplished and completed a worth while task; your school and parents as well as the community are proud of your success. What you do from here on depends upon what you consider life to be worth.

You will get what you pay for. The question is, what price are you willing to pay for your future success? Be well assured that you will not get something worthwhile for nothing. This is not a world of chance. We pay for what we get. We get what we pay for from life. The road to success and victory is open to all who are willing to travel that road, but keep in mind that the road is not always strewn with roses; it is not always the easiest; you will find many rough places; the going will often be slow, but also remember, that the goal is ahead and is worth attaining. Don't be like the unwise virgins, failing to provide yourself with oil for your lamp, but prepare against that day when the great opportunity comes, so you will be able to enter in and not have to go away to make preparation and return to find the door has been shut. Many attempt to get something for nothing; it won't work. There are no short cuts to real success. We must work if we shall win.

"Examples of Failure"

I would like to call your attention to a few examples of failure.

I am thinking first of a young man of America who had refused to prepare himself for life worth while, instead had wandered about from place to place, finally became a stowaway and crossed the ocean, got his name in all the papers, but what ever became of that lad, the world has forgotten him. Then there is the day-dreamer; the loafer; the common criminal; the unjust employer and employe; the get rich quick kind. But who shall pay the price? What shall the price be?

Some one must pay the fare. Sometimes it's the individual in the case of Jonah—what was the trouble? Simply this, Jonah was trying to get away from responsibility, refusing to accept a man's job; a shirker, a moral coward; all these entered into his going. But let us not overlook the fact that the big thing with Jonah was he was trying to run away from God. Young people that can't be done. When you try to run away from God you are headed for trouble, as was Jonah. He paid the fare thereof. What a terrible price. But many an individual has paid such a price for his disobedience, and refusal to take a real place in the world's progress and development; unwilling to fit himself and qualify for a real life, so he ran away, paid the fare, went down into the hull of the ship and went to sleep, to awake later on to find the old ship in the midst of a storm, and he unprepared to swim. That's a terrible price to pay for a nap.

Last summer while in school at Columbia University in the City of New York, the great Graf Zeppelin came sailing into the city from Germany. After leaving Germany they found they had on board a young man who had become a stowaway, beating his way, endangering the life of all on board, but what did he think about that? No, he was trying to get something for nothing, not willing to study and make himself indispensable to such a company, for that would have taken years. So when this Zep landed they took this young fellow off and placed him in jail, until such a time as they could get a ship going back to Germany, then they sent him back a prisoner. So he paid the price thereof.

Take the criminal; his philosophy is "what the other fellow has is mine, if I can get it, and I will get it. So he pays the fare, willing to become a criminal and run the risk of even death.

Again future generations and society may have to pay the price. One careless act, may spread disease and thereby thousands suffer and the terrible thing of it is, the innocent must suffer. What a terrible price to pay! We read in God's word, "That no man liveth to himself, and no man dieth to himself." We are tied up with humanity on every side, no good or evil can be done by any one that it does not effect others. Not only the present world and life will suffer or gain by your proper attitude to life with its responsibilities, but unborn generations must suffer or gain. So we pay the price thereof.

Do the innocent suffer? Let's see. Take for example the World War. Who started that war? Did the soldiers? The mothers? No; but who paid the price? The innocent. Out yonder on Flanders field lie thousands of our fair youth, some mothers boy dear to her heart. He did not want to fight, but by his government was forced into that terrible maelstrom and paid with his life. I call you to judge. It was a terrible price. Others came home, maim, halt and blind. I do not believe God would have had it so. We are now, after that terrible price has been, and is being paid, learning that there is a better way; but I still maintain that unborn generations must suffer, as a price to be paid. We do not always get through paying all at once. Life is worked out on a partial payment plan, and oft times our children have to finish our payment.

The best things of life often cost the most. For instance, the artist, the writer, the musician, the athlete, they must all pay a great price for their victory; but it is worth it. A mother pays a great price that her child might have life, and then in sacrifice and love she labors day and night that it may be happy and well, and sometimes her thanks are paid in heartaches and sorrow. A father may be too busy about his affairs to take time to play with his boys while they are boys, but he pays later on—many times it is a terrible price. A mother may be too busy about her social life to council with her daughter and gain her confidence today; but she often pays a terrible price later on in heart ache and sorrow. Young people are often too thoughtless to listen to the advice of their parents. They do not want, or mean to be bad, and trouble is the last thing they expect to find; but they find later on that they are paying the price. Don't make the mistake of thinking that because father and mother have settled down in life, and by nature of things have taken on responsibility that they are not able to know about the things of your youth. Remember that they were once young and their experience will help you.

Jesus paid a great price for the redemption of the world.

I ask you today, was it worth while I hear Him saying, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness and all these other worth while things will be added unto you." Have you heard His voice speaking to you? Have you obeyed? Remember that Jonah was trying to run away from God, away from responsibility, away from duty. Instead of rest and success, he ran into the storm and wreck.

What price are we paying? What price will we pay? What shall our life be, success, victory, or wreck and ruin? All these questions depend upon you individually for an answer.

By the help of Almighty God you can make your life what you want it to be, but you must pay the price. Jesus said, "without me you can do nothing." I beseech you to take Him into your life now and make it really worth while. Jonah paid for his disobedience. So will we. Paul's victorious life lead him over many rough places but brought him to the wearing of a crown, and the world of Christendom today rises up to do him honor, because of his faithfulness. It was not his education alone that gave him victory, but he said his success lay in that he was not "disobedient unto that Heavenly vision." In other words, he gave God a chance to direct the affairs of his life, and he was willing to follow; not blind chance, but the leadership of the spirit of Jesus Christ.

May the God of Glory give peace unto your hearts, and lead you forth in your continued preparation that you may give to the world and Christ Jesus a life of real worth while service, is my prayer."

Permanent Expert Service...

THE McCormick-Deering No. 8 Harvester-Thresher is built to do good work with a minimum of attention, expert service, and upkeep cost. It is a source of satisfaction to an owner, however, to know that in case of minor adjustment or unforeseen emergency, mechanical service and parts are readily available without expensive delays.

International Harvester is always close to owners of McCormick-Deering Harvester-Threshers. This is accomplished through the extensive dealer and branch house organization. Every McCormick-Deering sold receives careful field inspection to be sure it is working properly. Owners are often visited two or three times during their first harvest after purchase of a machine.

Permanent Dealer Organization

The McCormick-Deering dealer organization is permanent. These dealers have represented the line for years. Many of them have been with us since long before our first harvester-thresher went onto the market 16 years ago. They are experts on harvester-threshers—they are equipped to service more than the engine—they know the entire machine. They have repair parts in stock for the complete machine and can give service on a minute's notice. When you own a McCormick-Deering, one dealer services the entire machine—you don't have to go to one for service on the combine and to another for service on the engine.

McCormick-Deering dealer service is backed up in Kansas and all over the country by Company-owned branches. They dot the state of Kansas, at strategic points, ready to answer any call that comes.

Unexcelled Service on the Spot

McCormick-Deering service is unexcelled. It is right on the spot, close by, whenever you need it. There are no costly delays. This is the kind of service you want when you are in the midst of the harvest—you can get this from McCormick-Deering dealers and International Harvester branches.

McCormick-Deering No. 8 Harvester-Thresher

12 Important McCormick-Deering Points

- 1 Adjustable to cut low. Gets lodged and tangled grain.
- 2 Continuation of grain-tight platform canvas forms lower elevator canvas. No grain lost at end of platform. Large capacity, wide elevator carries all grain to feeder.
- 3 Chain and slat feeder carries grain, heads first, into the cylinder. Direct front feed.
- 4 Spiked beater in feeder assures positive feeding and controls delivery of grain to cylinder.
- 5 Ninety per cent separation at cylinder. Straw and grain thus separated never mix again.
- 6 Four-section straw rack. Extends entire length of thresher from cylinder to straw spreader. Combs straw apart, drops it three times, thoroughly shakes out all the grain.
- 7 Extra long chaffer and cleaning sieve thoroughly cleans grain.
- 8 Revolving weed screen takes weed seeds out of threshed grain and bags them. Saves dockage and reduces spread of weeds.
