MAISIE WAS A LADY WITH ANN SOTHERN COMES TO PALACE

From his role as the earnest and struggling young "Dr. Kildare," Lew Ayres does an about-face to become a society playboy and member of the idle rich, teaming for the first time with Ann Sothern in the latest of the popular "Maisie" series. "Maisie Was a Lady," opening at the Palace Theatre Saturday midnight, continuing through Sunday and Monday.

With Miss Sothern repeating her familiar role as the stranded wisecracking showgirl, Maisie Ravier, who starts the story as the "Headless Woman" in a carnival side-show, Ayres appears as Bob Rawlston, wealthy young inebriate who is the cause of her losing her job, and who then gives her employment as a maid in his home to make amends.

Maureen O'Sullivan is cast as his sister, Abby Rawlston, who makes Maisie her personal attendant. C. Aubrey Smith appears as the butler, Walpole, who is constantly shocked by Maisie's antics. Edward Ashley is seen as Link Phillips, Abby's fiancé, and Joan Perry as Diana Webley, the girl he jilted in order to marry the Rawlston millions. Paul Cavanagh completes the featured cast as "Cap" Rawlston, wealthy clubman whose neglect of his children leads to various complications which Maisie valiantly solves with her customary outspoken assurance and clear vision.

Edwin L. Marin, who guided the original "Maisie" and "Gold Rush Maisie" again directed, with J. Walter Ruben continuing as producer. The screen play is by Betty Reinhardt and Mary C. McCall, Jr.

Paulette Goddard is seen in the picture in her first dancing role, starring opposite Fred Astaire. Featured in important comedy parts are Burgess Meredith and Charles Butterworth.

Astaire and Meredith in the picture are a couple of trumpet players who try to win places in Artie Shaw's band with the help of its manageress, Miss Goddard, and a tone-deaf millionaire music lover, Charles Butterworth.

The comedy was produced by Boris Morros and directed by Henry C. Potter.

Preparations Complete For Oliver Day And Field Demonstration Friday

Preparations are complete for the Oliver Day and Field Demonstration, which will be staged by Lon Campbell, as local dealer in Oliver tractors and farm equipment, Friday, Feb. 7, when the new Oliver "60," the big little tractor of the Oliver family will be demonstrated for the first time in the Littlefield section.

This small tractor has just recently been put on the market.

Other tractors manufactured by the Oliver Farm Equipment Co. are the "70" and the "80," larger tractors than the "60" and will be demonstrated along with the "60." The demonstration will be staged at a vacant field north of Art Chesher's barns, and east of the J. S. Hilliard residence.

Hank Ansley of Lubbock, service man for the company, will be in attendance here all day Friday.

A number of Oliver executives will be here for the Field Day. They will include R. P. Lehr of Dallas, branch manager for the Oliver Farm Equipment Sales Co.; O. G. Satterlee of Dallas, credit manager and George Umland, block man, with headquarters at Plainview.

Mr. Campbell announced that the program will start at 11 a. m. when farmers and others interested are invited to gather at the Campbell Feed Mill, just off Highway 7 and opposite Porcher Produce.

The Field Day will be held, stated Mr. Campbell for the purpose of introducing the new Oliver "60" tractor to the farmers of this section.

Referring to the Oliver "60," Mr. Campbell said:

"It's a big little tractor; a big tractor in its fundamental design—big tractor features throughout—comfortable seat, simple, positive controls, easily turned steering wheel, handsome tapered hood, sturdy, rugged frame and big, high compression, four cylinder valve in head engine.

It gives you a good looking tractor—a sturdy tractor—a comfortable tractor—an easily operated tractor—a tractor with field tested mounted tools—and a modern powerful tractor at a very low price.

Mr. Campbell carries a complete stock of parts in connection with the operation of his tractor and implement business.

Camp Barkeley Work Delayed

ABILENE, Feb. 1 -- Contractors Taylor, Byrne and Briggs definitely have given up hope of completing construction at the 5 million dollar Camp Barkeley project on Feb. 15 -- the date specified by the war department.

"If weather remains favorable, and if we could get materials, we could almost make it by February 15," a member of the contracting firm declared.

It was learned, however, that the plumbing sub-contractor, Charles G. Heyne of Houston, had reported several shipments of fittings and other supplies could not be delivered until after Feb. 5.

Contractors could not say whether another forced layoff of carpenters and other mechanics will be necessary Sunday. Lack of materials caused a one-day layoff of nearly 2,000 Sunday.

With total employment at approximately 7,500, it was believed the peak in number of workmen had almost been reached. Although requisitions for workmen continue to be received daily by the Texas State Employment Service, an almost equal amount of layoffs has been reported daily because of lack of supplies in isolated zones.

Visitors at the campsite yesterday were Walter Burr, chief of special service section of the United States Employment Service, Pat. M. Keneffick, in charge of the labor clearance for the same organization and

TEXAS IS READY!

Give that valve a quarter turn, Old Man Texas, when Uncle Sam needs the oil for national defense

With the pioneer spirit typical of Texans, our oil men have found and developed petroleum reserves far beyond all civilian and military needs now indicated.

Even if defense requirements total 150 million barrels more a year, Texas can supply them without waste by a quarter turn of valves on wells already drilled. This can be done at a moment's notice without depriving anyone of a single gallon of gasoline or quart of motor oil. Surplus pipe line capacity is ready to carry all this oil from the fields. Surplus refinery capacity exists to turn it into essential products.

Texas goes ahead in the search for more petroleum reserves. New fields are being found... more efficient producing, refining and transportation methods are constantly being perfected.... TEXAS IS READY!

Tailored Frock

Pattern 8814—If you're taking a cruise you'll certainly want this tailored frock, in white sharkskin or luscious pastel flannel. And its an excellent style to fit into town wardrobes, too—made up in bright flat crepe or a tailored print.

Design No. 8814 is one of those slick, immaculately tailored styles that form the backbone of a busy woman's wardrobe the year round. And the lines of stitching, the turned down corners of the pockets, make this an unusually interesting version of your favorite button-front classic.

There's mighty little to the making as you can see. Just a few long seams, a few simple darts, to create a tailored effect of faultless chic. And this is a style becoming alike to misses and to women. Sew chart included.

Pattern No. 8814 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20; 40, 42, 44 46 and 48. Size 14 requires 4 5/8 yards of 39 inch fabric without nap.

True Americanism

Yes, even we have our "isms"—but ours is a peace loving type of "ism"—much of which is injected into America by the Boy Scouts. They are the leaders of tomorrow—the backbone of a mighty nation. Americanism is based upon the ideal of building a greater nation for a greater people—to live and think clearly. We feel it an honor to pay tribute to these fine young men, their ideals and their whole-hearted cooperation.

It's the "hottest" cold-weather gasoline you've ever used. Loaded with extra wallop, extra heat units, and extra miles. Gives faster warm-up. More mileage, too, because it saves the gasoline usually wasted by excessive choking with low test motor fuel.

Phillips 66 Poly Gas is not merely higher test than other gasolines which sell at the same price. It is actually higher test than most premium gasolines which sell for 2¢ more per gallon.

How can Phillips be so lavish, so generous with high test? Well, that's easy. Phillips has more of it, because Phillips is the WORLD'S LARGEST PRODUCER of natural high test gasolines.

This remarkable fact was proved by scientific laboratory study of 303 separate samples of 19 different pre-

Hockley and Cochran Complete Two Wells

Hockley and Cochran, most northerly oil producing counties in the West Texas Permian Basin, recorded two completed wells each last week. Locations were staked for seven tests in the Hockley county sector of the Slaughter field and three on the Cochran county side in what originally was designated the Duggan pool.

In Hockley county, Tide Water No. 1 Z. O. Lincoln, 440 feet out of the southeast corner of labor 49-39-Maverick, flowed at the rate of 858 barrels of oil daily for completion at 5,005 feet. It was treated with 9,000 gallons of acid. Magnolia No. 3-F Mallett, 580 feet out of the northeast corner of labor 3-48-Edwards, responded to acidizing with 10,500 gallons by flowing at a daily rate of 962 barrels.

Osage Drilling Co. finished two wells in Cochran county. Its No. 1 Smith, 510 feet out of the southeast corner of labor 16-56-Oldham, was treated with 9,000 gallons of acid and registered a daily potential of 394 barrels of oil, bottomed at 5,069 feet. Osage No. 2-D. Moore in the northeast corner of labor 23-56-Oldham, was finished at 5,040 feet with a daily potential of 686 barrels. It was treated with 9,000 gallons of acid.

"Soldiers Day" To Be Observed Sunday

DALLAS, Feb. 4 — "Soldier Day" will be observed Sunday, Feb. 9, by the 3,100 Texas Baptist churches and their 750,000 members, in the effort to raise $50,000 for soldier work in Texas, it was announced today by Dr. A. C. Miller, newly appointed state supervisor of soldier work for the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

Declaring that "we cannot ignore our responsibility as Baptists to the vast army of young Americans being brought into the 22 military camps, posts, and stations in Texas," Dr. Miller said the funds given by the Baptists on "Soldier Day" will be used largely in the erection of suitable chapels near some of the major encampments and in employment of men to work with military officials in providing religious life for the soldiers.

Dr. Miller, who served as captain with the 86th Infantry in World War I, says that personal interviews with the commanding officers and many of the chaplains, in the 15 locations he has already visited, show that these military officials have a sincere interest in the physical and moral welfare of their men.

"In performing this service," Dr. Miller said, "we can do much to develop in these camps and at home the high ideals of patriotism. The decay of religion has been one of the four underlying causes for the decline of every nation in history. The Germans broke through upon the heart of France because the Sedan sector of the impregnable Maginot line was manned by young men from Paris whose physical vitality had been sapped by immoral indulgences. It was not the defenses that failed France; it was her defenders."

Dr. Miller estimated that by the close of 1941 there would be 200,000 men in Texas locations.

Vegetable Laxative Has Important Points

Most people want a laxative, to do three things: (1) act punctually, (2) act thoroughly, (3) act gently.

Here's one that usually fills all three requirements when the easy directions are followed. It's an all-vegetable product whose principal ingredient has medical recognition as an "intestinal tonic-laxative."

That's the ingredient which enables BLACK-DRAUGHT to help tone lazy bowel muscles. It is the main reason for the satisfying relief from constipation that generally follows next morning when BLACK-DRAUGHT is taken at bedtime. The millions of packages used are proof of its merit.

Marrying Mark

Violette Kimball Dunn

CHAPTER VIII
Synopsis

Mark Alexander's beautiful wife, Ellen, died, her whole family became interested in Valerie, Ellen's daughter by a former marriage—in the trust fund left Valerie. Valerie's sisters, save Shirley, thought Valerie by assuming she could live with them, but Mark came to the rescue and took Valerie on a long trip. On the way home, Valerie met Lucy Tredway, owner of a broken-down traveling party. Mark hired her to tutor Valerie and brought her home. Valerie, trying to make the most of the opportunity, appeared at the house on the day they returned. Valerie was startled to see Lucy there. Valerie left in a quiet huff and has called Valerie to see if Valerie would spend the day with her. Valerie is talking things over with Mark.

"But sometimes you can tell right away. Look at father and me and you."

"I suppose that was an exception. Lucy wondered why she was fighting on Elise's side and couldn't discover any reason except that she wished to teach Valerie tolerance."

"It's like this," Valerie explained. She drew on the bright chintz of her chair with a pointed finger. "She's going from here to here, you see." She made a straight line between two points. "But she doesn't. She goes this way—." A series of curves indicated Elise's circuitous course. Lucy looked at Valerie in amazement. "And then she wants to ask you something terribly, and she doesn't. She just talks around it, until you get all mixed up and tell her something you don't want her to find out. So you see, she isn't a very nice person. At least, I don't think so."

"She's rather nice to look at," suggested Lucy. It was the only thing she could think of in Elise's favor.

"Not to me. It's sort of like which astonished him a little when he stopped to think about it at all.

Mark looked at the placid pattern of his days, and marveled. His life had seemingly crashed so thoroughly; and yet here it was, weaving itself as if nothing had happened. He hardly realized how much of this was Lucy's work.

Mark found Elise and even Shirley vaguely disturbing. He was beginning to realize he had known them for years without knowing them at all. He didn't even now suspect why this was so, or guess that Ellen had guarded him so subtly from every woman except herself. He had danced with them and sat beside them at dinner, and found himself looking into Ellen's eyes again before they became to him any more than figures moving across a stage.

Elise had invited herself to dinner at Wide Acres twice before Shirley showed up at all. Elise never mentioned her, and Mark almost forgot she lived only a scant ten miles away. He was ashamed to find how completely she was out

Valerie moved a little nearer. She told Lucy. "You see—I don't like her! Mrs. Waterford, I mean, mother did. That is, I suppose she did. They were together a good deal—anyway, whenever I was there. Of course, that wasn't very nice."

Lucy wondered if it was possible to be less than ten years lay between two people. She felt like Methuselah. "I don't get like that," she said. Valerie looked up. "Really?" she asked hopefully.

"Absolutely. And when I do, I turn it into a kind of a game. I call it 'Making Excuses.' Not for myself—that's not so good—but for other people. Especially when they don't like them. I think maybe they aren't happy, or their shoes don't fit, or somebody dropped their heads when they were talking. You know—like that." Valerie laughed.

"That's fun," she said. "I wonder what I could think up for Elise, to do the head-dropping one do."

"Well—first, tell me why you don't like her?" countered Valerie. Valerie thought furiously. "Well—do I know? It's a little soon for you. You see, I never laid eyes on her until last night."

"Oh," said Valerie disappointedly.

Mark told Shirley about Lucy smelling a lilac, and then a tuberose. Both of them are sweet, but the tuberose is shivery. Anyway, it is to me." Lucy wondered if it wasn't, somehow, a rather complete summing up. "I suppose it isn't nice, feeling this way, but what are you going to do?"

"There are the excuses I told you about."

"All right. You begin."

"Well—" said Lucy, "she's alone, isn't she? Being lonely often makes people disagreeable."

"She didn't have to be," explained Valerie. "There was her husband. He was quite nice. Not very handsome or young, but nice. And she knew he wasn't very young or handsome when she married him. Then after a while, they weren't married any more. If she was lonely, why didn't she keep him?"

"I give it up," said Lucy. She had rather a feeling of being carried over her head.

She heard with relief Mark's knock on Valerie's door; and Valerie, with her young arms around him, forgot Elise and the game of making excuses. She didn't think of her again until an hour later as she and Mark and Lucy sat swinging their bare legs over the edge of the pool after an exciting game of water ball in its green depths.

Valerie, Mark and Lucy swam every day, even when it rained. Mark, fired by their enthusiasm, was already making plans for an indoor winter pool. McTavish had left the kennels, and was never far from Valerie's heels, running frantically on his short black legs.

Mark had come to look on himself as the father of a family, and he liked it. He thought of Lucy as almost as much of a child as Valerie. It never failed to astonish him when she spoke to him maturely. Even when he remembered the diplomas and degrees and knew that she and Valerie kept regular school hours.

He found himself urging them not to overdo the learning business. To enjoy the summer days which were lengthening magically. He took to coming home earlier to play around the pool with them before dinner. He felt as young as they were, of his thought, when he came home late one afternoon in June to find her sitting with Valerie and Lucy at a table under a huge gay umbrella at the edge of the pool.

They were all in swimming suits, and they hailed him as he caught sight of them through the trees, and came across the lawn. Shirley was at her best in the water. She gave him her hand, her long grey eyes a little somber under the yellow handkerchief that bouned her head.

"Hello, Mark," she said. Valerie thought how nice it was to hear her father's name instead of Elise's invariable "darling." "I got tired of waiting to be sent for. Valerie was going to telephone me, but she never did. So I just came over."

He looked at her with approval. Women were like gay slim boys these days in their brief suits.

He kissed Valerie, and hurried to the house, coming back in his swimming togs. He caught Shirley by the hand, and together they took a running dive.

Shirley came to the surface first, shaking the water from her eyes, and laughing in his face. She put her hand on his shoulder, and they swam slowly to the far side of the pool.

"You didn't mind my coming? she asked. Even in the water, he was conscious of a fresh, faint perfume. "My dear—" he protested.

"I thought maybe visitors were to stay on the outside looking in—where I suppose they belong. Only I got tired of hearing all about you from Elise; so I chucked all my pride overboard and came to hunt you up."

"Elise ran in one night to see if we were back," explained Mark. He stood beside Shirley, treading water and thinking she floated as lightly as a lily on the surface of the pool. Indeed, she was like a water lily anyway, with her warmly waxen skin. "It just happened that we were. Then she came over late one afternoon last week, and there was a thunderstorm, and she was afraid; so she stayed until it was over, which happened to be after dinner."

Shirley let her lids droop over her long eyes. She opened them slowly to look up at him. "I see," she said. He wondered at the sudden warmth of her voice. "We'll keep you too, if you don't look out," he told her. He had forgotten she was so lovely. Shirley turned, dipped with a lithe length of her body, and swam away from him. She climbed up a ladder and dropped to the edge of the pool. Mark followed and swung himself up beside her. "How about it?" he asked.

"What?" "Dinner." "May I—soon?" "Why not tonight?" "Can you imagine Chiltern?" she laughed. "You see, I haven't any clothes. I just ran over in this—plus a beach coat. Elise said you swam every day, and I couldn't resist. She hates the water so, I think it was rather mean of me."

"What rot," said Mark. He remembered Elise's legs from the days of short skirts, and her lack of enthusiasm for the water was suddenly explained.

They sat in the late afternoon sunshine, and watched Valerie and Lucy chase a ball at the other end of the long pool.

"How beautifully they swim," said Shirley. "In fact they're both rather lovely. Elise told me about your find. Or did she, I wonder? I imagined somebody a bit different. Funny how differently people register, isn't it?"

"According to the registree, I guess."

"Exactly. I was looking for a girl who—well, sort of knew her way about, so to speak—"

"I don't imagine Lucy would get altogether lost in the dark," said Mark wryly.

"If you mean she has poise, I agree with you. But poise entirely without guile. I don't specially want to like her—but I find I do—enormously!"

"You would," Mark said. "When I think of generous women, you come first. As a matter of fact, you're a sort of all-round first-rater, come to think of it. And darned beautiful! I suppose you hear about it once in awhile?"

"Not from you, anyway," said Shirley. "I don't think you ever told me before. Do you realize that, Mark?"

"The oversight will be remedied," he promised.

She put a hand on his shoulder and jumped to her feet. She gathered a white wrap of fleecy toweling from the back of a chair, and wrapped herself in it.

Valerie and Lucy climbed out of the pool, to put out dripping hands. "Please come back very soon," said Valerie. "It's been such fun having you!"

"Thanks, my sweet," Shirley lented and kissed the oval of her cheek. She clasped Lucy's hand for a moment. "I'd love to see more of you," she said. "I think Mark and Valerie have had a great break, finding you."

"You're kind—" said Lucy. Her eyes followed Mark and Shirley to Shirley's roadster, parked over in the drive.

"Things do puzzle me," said Valerie. "I almost love her. At any rate, I like her a big lot, and I don't know why."

"I know," said Lucy. But when Valerie asked why, she only said she'd be the first to reach the diving board on the other side of the pool.

Mark came out of his office one hot day in August to find Elise sitting, parked at the factory gates. At first he thought his eyes were playing him tricks, and he kept his course to where his roadster waited beside the curb. But the sound of Elise's voice calling his name left him in no doubt, and he crossed to her car just as her chauffeur opened the door.

naments. In an opening round battle, McCarty won a close decision from Curtis Lebow of Abernathy, 1940 champion in the fly-weight class. Yenez won a bloody bout from Lytle of Morton in his first fight of the tournament.

Featherweight — Buford Bradshaw, fighting seriously and effectively, made it two straight over Euegen Heath, of Hale Center, in one of the best bouts of the night Friday. Bradshaw, who advanced to the semi-finals in the T.A.A.F tournament, was impressive in his victory over the Hale Center youth, who had previously defeated him this season. Bradshaw pounded out a win over Hurley of Abernathy in the preliminaries, and Heath advanced to the finals via the bye route.

Lightweight — Alvin McCarty, hard-hitting red-head, took up where his brother, W. D., left off, and scored a technical knockout over Alva Spain, classy Olton fighter. The going was plenty rough for McCarty, but just as he had in earlier fights, he found it to his liking and had the Olton battler groggy when the referee called a halt in the third round. Earlier in the night, McCarty technically kayoed Curtis Beck, plucky Lubbock entrant. In his first bout Friday night, McCarty knocked out Harry Bell of Slaton.

Welterweight — Dale Odam, Lubbock high school fighter, won over Howell Steen, his fellow townsman and the 1940 district champion. The bout was a thriller and the decision close, but popular with the fans. Odam, incidentally, was awarded the special sportsmanship trophy.

Middleweight — Jack Lovin, another of the strong Lubbock entrants, stiffened Tommie Taylor of Littlefield, to win in this weight division. Lovin connected with the CCC fighter's chin in the opening seconds of the fight, followed up with smash to the jaw, and it was curtains for his opponent, who came to in the dressing room. In his first fight, Lovin won a close decision over Goldman Dyer, rangy and willing Littlefield boxer.

Light Heavyweight — Willard Hedges, well-built Olton boxer, won over Billy Holder of Littlefield, but had to stage a magnificent rally to do it. Holder led in the first and second rounds, but Hedges got in some telling blows in the final stanza to cop the nod. The decision was lustily booed by many of the fans.

Heavyweight — Rhea "Fats" Mitchell of Lubbock won the heavyweight crown, when Ramsey, Littlefield boxer, failed to appear.

As has been the custom for 31 years, all Scouts will mobilize at 6 o'clock Saturday evening, February 8 at the Methodist church and at 6:30 will listen to a radio broadcast of the official observance of the birth of Scouting over the National, Columbia and Mutual networks.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt honorary president of the Boy Scouts of America; Walter W. Head president of the Boy Scouts; and Dr. James E. West, Chief Scout Executive, will all give brief talks to the Scouts, after which Dr. West will lead the more than one million registered Scouts, mobilized in cities, towns, villages and hamlets all over the United States, in a rededication to the Scout Oath.

On Sunday, February 9, Scouts will attend the various Littlefield church services in a body while the pastors of these churches will preach sermons on Scouting.

On Monday, February 10, the American Legion will have as guests at their regular meeting all the Scouts and leaders of Troop 25 and Explorer Troop 25. A special Scout program will be presented.

On Tuesday, February 11, troops will hold their regular meetings at meeting places while Eugene F. Latimer and his special inspection committee will conduct the quarterly review of troops for efficiency of operation.

On Wednesday, February 12, Scouts will in patrols at their patrol meetings observe Lincoln's birthday by having special Lincoln Day programs.

On Thursday, February 13, a Court of Honor will be held and Scouts earning awards for the past few months will be presented with these awards at this Court of Honor. Dr. Wm. N. Orr, district chairman of Scouting will preside.

Another Scout Week observance will be the Rotary Club birthday party for all Scouts in Troop 26 on Thursday, February 20. Rotarians will honor and the Scouts will present the program.

Scouts also will present the school assembly program during Scout Week, raise and lower the American flag in various places throughout the town, and each patrol is preparing a window display to be placed in downtown store windows for the week.

place in the State. Hockley was another county making a substantial increase. Bailey likewise made a good gain, nearly 50 percent.

Final ginning report will not come until March, but it is not expected there will be many changes in positions, except probably in counties in this section, because ginnings down state are practically over with for the season, and gins are closed. Only a few gins are now in operation over the South Plains and there may not be any material changes in the totals.

Following are South Plains, counties with their Jan. 16 ginnings, compared with totals for 1939 crop:

ington D. C. who is connected with the utilization division of the Rural Electrification Administration; Judge James A. Ellis of Hockley County; and Mayor Homer Hall of Littlefield, who delivered a welcome address.

A musical program was enjoyed, which was rendered by a group from Olton; Jack Fuller presided at the piano; Earl B. Roberson, accordion numbers; Otha Dent, J. Crawford, L. B. Hardin and Frank Cummings, who rendered several vocal numbers.

Thirty prizes were awarded after the meeting, including 10 electric bills by the Lamb County Co-Operative, and 20 gifts of merchandise contributed by merchants in Littlefield, Amherst, and Sudan.

Among the resolutions formed and adopted by the group was a statement that the Lamb County Electric Co-Operative urge and request the directors to urge the R. E. A. to speed the allotment for the construction of the D. section, which is to extend principally in the Olton community.

The group also expressed their thanks and appreciation to W. J. Chesher for the use of his theatre for the meeting, the City of Littlefield, Chamber of Commerce, people from Olton who entertained, and others, who helped to make the meeting a huge success.

SCOUTS PLAN ELABORATE PROGRAM FOR 1941

Scout Week Observance Will Start Activities

Summer Camps, Swim Meets, Camporees Allies To Be Included

One of the most elaborate programs ever planned for Scouts has been planned for the South Plains for the year 1941. Dr. Wm. Orr, chairman of the Northern district, announced this Scout Week, February 7-13, scheduled as the "see-off" of activities for the year. This event will include some type of Scout activity day of the week. Mobilization observances, memorials, and presentation and display activities are on the list.

On March 3, representatives from each troop in the Northern district will assemble at the stadium in Sudan at 7:30 p. m. for the district first aid meet. Win district patrols will participate in the Council Meet in Lubbock on March 21.

Scouts from the Northwestern district will mobilize on Friday afternoon, May 2 for the District Camporee at Amherst. There will be competitions in first aid, signaling, camping, cooking and related activities and the Camporee will close on Saturday.

Troops from the Northwestern district will spend their annual week camp from June 1-7. Camp books provide a plan by which Scouts can save. Other camps include Wehinapay in southern New Mexico, July 6-16, and Philtura, northern New Mexico, July 20-30. Senior Scouts only.

Trail pickup, cleanup, paint-up and fix-up campaigns will be conducted throughout the district in August. Also kite contests and Easter egg hunts will be conducted for Scouts in their various packs in the next few months.

Scouts will participate in district council swim meets in June and July. District swim meet June 16. Shushoe and council swim meet July 18 in Lubbock will give troops opportunity to rank in the various events.

out the South Plains council will mobilize in Lubbock for the annual Council Camporee. This event is the beginning of the outdoor activities for the year and Summer Camp, preceded by the District Camporee as dress rehearsal, is the formal close.

Thanksgiving toy campaigns and good turns, including basket distribution and Christmas toy distribution are among the most important organized good turns of Scouts for the year. Many individual, patrol and troop good turns will be carried on throughout the year.

Camp Mammy Haynes, near Silverton, and Camp Post will be open the third week end of each month under the supervision of field executives for troops who wish to go camping. Camping at other times on these and other camp sites is welcomed.

Allotments Under 1941 AAA Program Slightly Increased

9,880,197 Acres To Be Planted To Cotton As Against 9,876,125 In 1940

All state allotments for special crops under the 1941 AAA program have been increased slightly over the allotments for 1940. B. F. Vance, administrative officer in charge of the AAA in Texas, has announced.

The total cotton allotment, not including new-grower allotments in 1941 will be 9,880,197 acres, an increase of 4,072 over last year's 9,876,125 acres.

The peanut allotment has climbed from 238,151 acres in 1940 to 243,437 acres in 1941.

The rice allotment for 1941 will be 199,766 acres as compared with 194,546 acres in 1940.

Already announced was the wheat allotment of 4,232,822 acres as compared with 4,182,923 acres in 1940.

Only allotment taking a cut was the general crop allotment which fell from 14,412,173 acres in 1940

Fred Rennels

B. F. Vance, administrative officer in charge of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration in Texas, and Fred Rennels, assistant administrative officer, assumed their new duties on February 1, when E.

N. Holmgreen resigned to become business manager of Texas A. & M. College. Vance formerly was Holmgreen's assistant; Rennels had charge of the range conservation program in Texas.

to 13,538,212 acres in 1941. Generally speaking, cotton allotments in the various counties in the state remained about the same, Vance said, although some county allotments increased slightly, while others decreased. Cotton allotments are computed by a set formula as provided by the Agricultural Adjustment Act passed by Congress, the administrator pointed out, and are not subject to the discretion of AAA officials or committees.

Infantile Paralysis Fund From County Totals About $100

Jim Etter, Lamb county chairman for the drive for funds for infantile paralysis sufferers, stated Wednesday that approximately $100 was raised this year, above expenses, and will go towards the aid of those in hospitals and clinics being treated for the disease.

This amount was totaled from the sale of emblems, filling of containers in business firms, and the staging of the annual Presidential ball.

Mr. Etter expressed his appreciation for the fine cooperative spirit of the people this year and the amount received is much above that of previous years. He stated that he especially appreciated the cooperation received from the school as the students contributed $20 toward the fund, and high school girls assisted in the sale of the emblems.

Local Salvation Army Corps Receives Stars For Excellence

At a special Fellowship service at the Salvation Army Hall Friday night, Maj. and Mrs. Ernest Pickering of Dallas were guest speakers.

A large crowd attended the meeting. Supper was served before the program.

Major Pickering gave an inspiring address to the soldiers of the Salvation Army. He told of the work of the Salvation Army of Texas in Mexico City.

Members of the local corps received gold stars for reaching ten goals again during the past year. Capt. Eula Trummell reported that the local corps was one of 13 corps in Texas to receive these stars for standard of excellence in young people's work.

Since the meeting last Friday night, Capt. Trummell said there had been 12 converts to the Salvation Army.

Seventy percent of Japan is mountainous.

divorces recorded. Los Angeles, with less than half the population saw a total of 16,000 divorces recorded.

Has the Christian forces of the United States anything to say or do in a case like this? Yes, and here is a challenge as in the case of warring nations and the liquor traffic. Why be so patriotic as to go to war and seek to defend our homes if they do not exist?

A noted sociologist has said: "People enter into marriage with mental reservations. They are experience hunting. It is not marriage with the purpose of establishing a home and family, of sacrificing for each other, of making a contribution to the good of society. But it is a matter of sensation, a rooming place, living easier and more conveniently."

Legislation either civil or ecclesiastical will not mend this condition, but it will be a process of education and changing ideals and ideas. The church and schools have a duty here that only the home can help them in doing.

Come and be with us and add your offering with us.

LAMB COUNTY LEADER

The SNOOPER SAYS ...

I see by the papers that radio frequencies are to be changed in March, and new assignments are to be given to most of the stations of the nation. The purpose of the change will be to eliminate much of the interference in radio broadcasts. In other words, maybe, after this change March 29, while we are enjoying an organ concert or an opera in Minneapolis, interference will not be so strong that we will get sketches from "Bury Me Not On the Lone Prairie," from a Del Rio station!!

Nolan Walker remarked the other day that there were 29 "letter" swimmers at his home. There are five Walker boys who were active in athletics in the local school, and three of them lettered four years each in football, besides lettering in basketball.

Reminds me that Nolan's brother, Jimmie Walker, is in Washington, D. C., where he is attending a university and working part time in the National Library. Their brother, Burness, is still in Washington, too.

Did you know that J. L. Murdock is called the "Bob Burns of the South Plains" by cotton growers in this section?

K. N. Clapp, Lubbock cotton broker, gave Mr. Murdock that name several years ago, because he felt that to be in Mr. Murdock's presence five minutes was worth a half hour of Bob Burns' radio programs. He is a very pleasant fellow, has accepted life as it comes and goes, and his smile and congeniality have won him many friends.

Mr. Murdock spends several months each year in Littlefield.

"Women on Juries?" made headlines last week, and to this we want to say, "Why not?"

The constitutional amendment was introduced in the Texas House of Representatives not by either of the two women representatives, but by a man. It would remove definitely any constitutional inhibition against women serving on grand and petit juries in the state.

The author, Rep. W. O. Reed of Dallas, said: "Women have the right to vote, they have a voice in the government. They pay taxes. They should have a complete voice and be qualified citizens in every respect."

If the proposed bill passes the House and Senate in our state legislature, our opinion is that another step forward has been made in that clause, "Woman's Suffrage" in the state of Texas. Frankly, we believe that Susan B. Anthony would have endorsed the idea of women serving on juries when she started her campaign for Woman's Suffrage.

Experience in many states has demonstrated they are certainly no less competent than men for jury service. It has been proved in these states that the presence of women on juries has made very little difference in the verdicts returned.

A strong argument against such a proposal is the fact that defendants would appeal to the emotional side of women jurors, but we still contend that women in the business world have learned to curb their emotions, and a woman who is conservative, and one who will give her time, thoughts and efforts to serving on juries, will be very competent and just in her convictions.

We are not living in a man's world anymore, because women have proved their ability to work efficiently in many, many fields, where 10 years ago they were considered incompetent.

Certainly it is a part of God's plan for his people that a woman's place is in the home, but she makes a better homemaker if she has had experience in the business world, and is interested in civic state af-airs.

This bill has been proposed in the legislature before, but the last time it was killed in the Senate.

Who knows, the women may have to decide this question in a short time, and again, we give you our opinion—but we think most women will enjoy serving on the jury!

The altitude may be too high on these western plains for government aeronautics schools, but I still haven't figured out why these prairies wouldn't make excellent sites for army training camps.

Seems most of the camps in Texas are located right in the central part of the state.

February means St. Valentine's Day and Abraham Lincoln's and George Washington's birthdays.

But we should not forget another birthday that comes this month, for February 8 will be the actual birthday of the Boy Scout movement in America—the 31st this time.

February 7 to 13 has been declared National Scout Week, and Littlefield and Lamb county will join this national observance with programs that will prove to citizens that "The boys have what it takes."

Scouting has succeeded in becoming a part of the American boy's world because it is a program of action plus idealism.

In our own community right now there are many men, part of the 8,400,000 who have never been included in the Boy Scout family since 1910, who believe in the principle that "Once a Scout Always a Scout," and who are doing their best to extend and interpret in practice the concept of civic and moral responsibility that came to them in their Scout troops.

Boys Scouts make better citizens because they are being taught the true meaning of idealism.

That's all — for today! MARGIE

Competent Personnel Directs Scouting Activities In Littlefield

Personnel of Scouting was announced this week by Dr. Wm. N. Orr, chairman of Scouting in Littlefield and the Northwestern district of the South Plains Council, Boy Scouts of America, composed of Lamb and Bailey counties, as stronger than ever before.

In Littlefield, Troop 25 and Explorer Troop 25 is sponsored by the American Legion. Eugene F. Latimer is chairman of the troop committee, J. H. Ware and T. Wade Potter, other committee members. A new Legion committee is to be appointed this week, Ware announced.

Due to the resignation of James L. Hill as Scoutmaster of the troop and Explorer troop, the committee this week selected and appointed Russell Cook as the new Scoutmaster. Cook is a former scout of the same troop when it was under the leadership of Latimer.

Nolan Walker, another former scout of the same troop, is assistant Scoutmaster. Walker has for several years been an outstanding figure in the troop and in Littlefield Scouting. James H. Ware Jr., is union Assistant Scoutmaster and Explorer Mate.

Troop 26, sponsored by the Rotary Club, is headed by a newly appointed committee this month. W. D. T. Storey, chairman; Lowell Short, finance; F. O. Boles, advancement; Pryor Hammons, camping and activities, and Dr. I. T. Shotwell, health and safety.

Paul Pharris, Scoutmaster; Stacy Hart and Bill Cone, assistant Scoutmasters, and B. D. Garland and Willis Bradley, Junior Assistant Scoutmasters form the operating staff of the troop with a membership of 44 scouts.

Littlefield's Cub Pack, sponsored by the Lions Club, although only organized for two months, is already one of the outstanding Cub packs in the South Plains Council, J. C. Grimes, Field Scout Executive announced last week.

The Pack committee is composed of R. B. Sparks, chairman; Dennis Jones, advancement; Durwood Howell, finance, and outdoor and activities.

Cubmaster Dr. M. V. Cobb has proved to be the inspiration and backbone of the organization. Assistant Cubmaster T. J. Jones directs the activities of Cubs throughout the month. Chief Den Chief James H. Ware, Jr., works with the Den Chiefs in planning their programs.

Den Mothers include Mrs. C. A. Joplin, Mrs. W. H. Rutledge, Mrs. M. H. Briggs and Mrs. H. H. Atkins. Den Dads are C. A. Joplin, W. H. Rutledge, Lowell Short and Dennis Jones. Den Chiefs are Buddy Boles, John M. Gordon, Billy Tinsley and Charles Dennis.

Working with and assisting these leaders in giving a constantly better program are Dr. Wm. N. Orr, chairman; J. C. Elms, vice chairman; Dr. B. W. Armistead, organization and extension; Floyd A. Hemphill, leadership training; J. H. Ware, finance; J. E. Chisholm, Jr., advancement; Pryor Hammons, camping and activities; I. T. Shotwell, health and safety, and Eugene F. Latimer, neighborhood commissioner.

Plans are made for the further extension of Scouting in Littlefield for the year 1941 by the organization of two new troops, one a Cub pack, and a senior patrol in Troop 26.

Rotary Club To Stage Valentine Dinner Feb. 13

A Valentine dinner, honoring the ladies, will be given next Thursday night, February 13, by the local Rotary club at the First Methodist church.

Members of the Sudan club and their wives will be special guests.

The program will be in charge of Cal Farley and his daughter, Gene, radio entertainers from Amarillo. Vest Odell and Marilyn Cornelius, also of Amarillo, will assist them.

Scouts To Compete In First Aid Events

Scouts in Littlefield and throughout the whole South Plains Council are making preparations for participation in First Aid competitions through the month of March. A. J. Gardner, Muleshoe, chairman of the Northwestern District health and safety committee, announced this week.

One of the strongest factors in the Boy Scout program for aiding Scouts in their preparedness to do things for other people is to be well acquainted with methods of relieving suffering until the doctor comes, Gardner said.

It is with this objective in mind that Patrols in Troops annually compete in First Aid contests to keep their knowledge of First Aid methods ready and able to help when it is needed.

Scouts in Patrols will compete with their own Troops against a standard set before March 1. These Patrols meeting the standard will be eligible to compete in the District First Aid meet. Troop competition dates will be announced later.

The District First Aid meet will be held on Monday, March 3 at the gymnasium in Sudan at 7:30 p. m. Patrols from all Troops in the Northwestern District will compete at this time. Patrols that meet a certain standard will be eligible for competition in the Council meet.

The Council meet will be held in Lubbock on Friday, March 21 at 7:30 p. m. All qualifying Patrols in each District throughout the 20-county Council will compete for A, B and C ratings. Those Patrols representing their Troops will be honored at that time.

Gardner predicts one of the most enthusiastic and progressive First Aid meets ever held in this District and Council.

Percy Hinson of Slaton was in Littlefield Wednesday looking around for a farm to rent.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Park and daughter, Wanda, of Amarillo, visited Saturday and Sunday in the home of Mrs. Park's brother, A. N. Williams.

SCOUTING

STRENGTHENS and INVIGORATES DEMOCRACY

BOY SCOUT WEEK—FEBRUARY 7-13

... On my honor I will do my best—to do my duty to God and my country, and to obey the Scout Law ... To Help other people at all times ... To keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight ...

That is the Oath of the Boy Scouts of America. It is an Oath they take seriously, one which they endeavor to stick to ... and do. Its a good Oath. In a few simple words it embodies many of the finest principles taught in homes, in churches and in schools. These principles, as they are applied in the Scout's training, help to make the Boy Scout of today the outstanding citizen of tomorrow.

This year the week of February 7th to 13th will be known throughout the United States as Boy Scout Week. During that time Scouts and Scouting will be honored everywhere in the country. Pages similar to this will appear in newspapers in hundreds of communities as part of a nationwide effort to give the Boy Scouts of America the recognition and acclaim that is their due. It is the sincere wish of the firms who are sponsoring this announcement that, through it, the people of Littlefield and section may become more fully conscious of the magnitude and importance of the Boy Scout movement. It is an activity that deserves the wholehearted support and encouragement of every American citizen.

Barbecue Served To 100 Persons On Street Monday

Members of the Chamber of Commerce and the City of Littlefield were hosts to approximately 100 persons Monday at noon at a barbecue that resembled an old-fashioned picnic, was served to members and local people at the Stokes Drug Store on Street. About 1,500 pounds of choice meat was prepared for the feast by Boone, Homer Hall, Ellis Foust, Etter, J. C. Elms, H. T. Bart, Viggo Peterson and J. W. Riley, and 100 pounds of ranch beans were cooked. Eighteen from the Homemaking department of Littlefield high school, led these men in serving. Under the direction of Sam Patton, local secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, business and professional men contributed for the barbecue and each of them expressed their delight in helping to this affair. Members of the Lamb County Chamber of Commerce were in Littlefield to attend the third annual membership meeting. Child Suffers Cuts And Bruises When Thrown From Car

Second Serious Accident For Little Sarah Lou Armstrong, Aged 5

What might easily have been a fatal accident for little Sarah Lou Armstrong, 5 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Armstrong, occurred Sunday afternoon about 3 o'clock, when the family were returning to Littlefield from a visit to Levelland.

As the four door sedan was being driven by Mr. Armstrong along the road, about 14 miles south of Levelland, the child, playing in the rear seat, had fallen down and caught the handle of the door to pull herself up, causing the door to open, and the child to be thrown out.

Her parents took her immediately to the Dupre Hospital, Levelland, where her injury was believed to be only bruises and scratches, and after receiving first aid treatment and administered lockjaw serum, she was taken home.

In an interview with Mr. Armstrong Tuesday, he stated that she was skinned and bruised from her head down. However, he said it was nothing short of a miracle that the child was alive.

Mr. Armstrong related that this was the second serious accident for little Sarah Lou.

The family lived in Brawley, Cal., when the child was three years old, and while playing in the front of their home, she lit a match, which caught her clothing. The dress was burned off the child, and as a result of the burns which extended from her head down, she was confined to her bed from March 20, until October 24, when she was pronounced well again.

Sarah Lou will be five years old on February 26.

How's this for a jig-saw puzzle? R. E. Mitchell, Jr. and Clint Penr had up a wager. Clint bet a malt that Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell's son would arrive closer to February 5, than February 1, and R. E. called the bet.

Roger Eldon Mitchell arrived at 2 o'clock Monday morning, February 3, at the Littlefield Hospital.
