REV. JOE F. GRIZZLE RESIGNS

BAPTIST PASTOR ACCEPTS PULPIT IN NEW MEXICO

Popular Minister Tenders His Resignation To Church

Rev. Joe F. Grizzle, who has been pastor of the First Baptist church here for the past six years, last night resigned the pastorate of the local church, and will leave about next Tuesday, accompanied by Mrs. Grizzle, to become pastor of the First Baptist church at Portales, N. M.

In leaving the Littlefield church, Rev. Mr. Grizzle is returning to a former pastorate in which he served for five years before coming to Littlefield. Previous to going to Portales he was pastor of the Baptist church at Post.

Urged To Remain Here

It had been known for several weeks that Rev. Mr. Grizzle was considering returning to the Portales pastorate, and special efforts were made by the board of deacons, the congregation, and by large numbers of citizens of Littlefield, to have Mr. Grizzle continue as pastor of the local church. While appreciating very deeply the many requests that he continue as pastor of the Littlefield church, Rev. Mr. Grizzle was of the opinion that the Portales church offered a scope of work in which he could better serve as a pastor and as a Christian.

Extensive interior and exterior decorations on school buildings, underway at intervals throughout the summer, are being concluded. Newly-painted desks, walls and metal work will make school surroundings more pleasant during the coming term.

Virtually every teacher is back in the city and new ones are here to take up their duties.

Warren Aycock and Keith Jones were each sentenced to serve one year in the penitentiary following recent indictment on charges of chicken theft. They are being held in jail in Littlefield for custody of federal officers to face trial for alleged forging and cashing a feed and seed loan check. Indictment has already been returned.

All other criminal cases upon which indictments were returned, including two true bills on check swindling charges, were set up until the February term of court.

Miss Winona Minga returned to Littlefield Saturday after spending the last five months attending Draughon's Business College in Abilene.

Miss Myrtle Marian Shaw and Miss Naomi Whitaker, both of Littlefield, were awarded Bachelor of Arts degrees at the Texas Tech commencement exercises at Lubbock August 28.

Both Miss Shaw and Miss Whitaker will be instructors in Littlefield schools during the coming term.

Drenching rains last weekend covered a large area of West Texas and the South Plains.

Fields stood under water Monday and several cars were reported stuck along lateral and county roads all over the South Plains. Moisture ranging from light showers to steady three-inch downpours were reported.

Virtually every acre of Lamb county under cultivation received at least beneficial moisture it is reported. Farmers looked anxiously this week for sunshine to round out the work of rains, but slaty skies continued through Wednesday. Some areas reported light showers Tuesday and Wednesday.

Pep, Whitharral, Spade, Morton, Levelland and other centers received more than an inch during the spell.

In and near Littlefield, almost two inches fell. Sudan got an inch of rain Sunday. Amherst got about an inch. Shallowater received a little more than an inch. Anton got a half inch Sunday, and a heavy shower fell in and near Muleshoe.

Allan White was selected by Congressman Geo. Mahon as Amherst's new postmaster, result of recent civil service examinations. Mr. White has assumed charge of the office.

The famous Bailey Brothers three-ring circus, now owned by Harley Sadler, will set up tents for a Littlefield show Tuesday, Sept. 24, it has been announced.

AUTOMOBILE OPERATORS ARE WARNED NOT TO DRIVE IN FRONT OF FIRE TRUCKS

Sub-division O of Section 3 of Ordinance No. 35 of the City of Littlefield, reads as follows:

"On the approach of any fire apparatus the driver of any vehicle shall immediately drive in as close as may be practical to the right hand curb and stop and remain until such fire apparatus shall have passed.

The penalty for violation of this ordinance is a fine of not less than $1.00 nor more than $200.00.

Last Saturday night while making a run to the fire at the residence of R. L. Busher a very serious accident nearly occurred due to the carelessness of two drivers, who drove suddenly in front of the fire trucks.

The time is coming when some one, either a fireman or some one else, will be killed or seriously injured, unless automobile drivers are more careful, and discontinue the practice of driving in front of the trucks. Several years ago the Assistant Chief of the Lubbock Fire Department was killed in such an occurrence. He turned his truck over in trying to avoid a collision with a reckless driver who drove his car from a side street in front of the fire truck.

The members of the Littlefield Fire Department and the City Authorities urge all drivers of automobiles to co-operate in this matter, and to observe the terms of the above ordinance. If this is not voluntarily done by the citizens it will be necessary for the firemen to take the numbers of the cars whose drivers interfere with the work of the department and fines will have to be assessed.

Farm Meeting Is Announced For Saturday Afternoon

County Agent D. A. Adam has called a meeting of the farmers of the Littlefield territory for 2:30 p. m., Saturday, September 7, at City Hall, Littlefield.

This meeting is of outstanding importance in that the latest information relative to the cotton program and soil erosion work, will be furnished at Saturday's gathering.

Mrs. H. F. Moody was stricken Friday with illness resulting from mastoid trouble. Her condition is regarded as serious. She is resting at her home here.

APPLICATIONS ON THREE PROJECTS ARE TO BE FILED

Improvements Sought By City Estimated To Cost $40,000

Working until a late hour Wednesday, City Secretary W. G. Street and Civil Engineer Gordon W. Parkhill, Tech facultyman, completed detailed application for two WPA projects in Littlefield to cost an estimated $40,000.

Projects are made possible through a WPA grant of $600 per worker per year on each job, and the amount the City of Littlefield will have to raise is based on this figure, Engineer Parkhill said.

All projects must get approval at WPA district headquarters at Lubbock, state headquarters at San Antonio, and national headquarters at Washington, D. C., before actual construction can be started.

Heading jobs sought in Littlefield are laying down of 46,930 linear feet of sidewalk on both sides of virtually every street in the original townsite of the city.

Paving projects call for surfacing of East Sixth street from the First Baptist church east two blocks to Twitchell avenue, surfacing First street from the water tower to West Side avenue, and on West Side avenue from Second street to the Primary building of the schools.

A separate application calls for adding five feet to the top of the concrete wall of the reservoir at the city pumping station, and laying a new roof over the reservoir. This would increase water storage capacity from 110,000 gallons to about 160,000. Cost of this project would be about $750, the Secretary said.

Improvement of Wildcat Field near the High school would cost about $2,600, under application to be taken to Lubbock today. A concrete curb along the edge of the track would be built, a complete new fence built, bleachers constructed on one side and trees and grass planted. Cost to the city would be about $750.

Since a majority of local laborers would be busy at seasonal work in coming months, they would benefit from a ruling understood to have been recently made that final projects would not have to be started until within a year after application is made.

Sudan Places Tax On Itinerant Car Dealers

Sudan's city council recently passed an ordinance to place a license or permit tax on itinerant used car dealers within the city limits, it has been learned.

The ordinance would place a license fee of $200 on used car dealers, other than authorized dealers in new automobiles who also handle used machines.

DRENCHING RAINS FALL OVER SOUTH PLAINS DURING WEEKEND

Drenching rains last weekend covered a large area of West Texas and the South Plains.

Fields stood under water Monday and several cars were reported stuck along lateral and county roads all over the South Plains. Moisture ranging from light showers to steady three-inch downpours were reported.

Virtually every acre of Lamb county under cultivation received at least beneficial moisture it is reported. Farmers looked anxiously this week for sunshine to round out the work of rains, but slaty skies continued through Wednesday. Some areas reported light showers Tuesday and Wednesday.

REV. JOE F. GRIZZLE

Rev. Joe F. Grizzle, who has been pastor of the First Baptist Church here for the past six years, last night resigned the pastorate of the local church, and will leave about next Tuesday, accompanied by Mrs. Grizzle, to become pastor of the First Baptist church at Portales, N. M.

CITY PUTS PLANS FOR LIGHT PLANT IN MAILS TUESDAY

Detailed Reports Drawn By City Officials; Speedy Action Promised

Detailed application already made, city officials are marking pending final ok by Fort Worth and PWA chiefs on plans for city's proposed municipal light power plant.

Set up by City Secretary W. G. Street and W. F. Helwig, head of Tech's electrical engineering department, complete cost estimates and a working outline of the project were mailed Tuesday to Montgomery, acting director of WPA in Texas, Fort Worth.

The estimated cost of $125,000 was filed in the detailed report, which probably that costs will be about $75,000 and $80,000 before actual construction begins. Detailed report calls for three 100-horse power engines of the diesel type, but burning natural gas instead of oil. Engines are similar to those on the two motors now at the water plant.

Complete distribution system, including poles, wires and underground conduits, would be installed. The project, which supervised all electrical work on the city's recently completed water works improvement job, is now in charge of plans.

Requiring four months to build, the project would be the most important average on the job. Local laborers will be employed.

It has been promised speedy action on the project. City Secretary Street Tuesday expected approval at Fort Worth soon, possibly within the week.

Destroys Home Of R. L. Busher

Fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed the 6-room residence of R. L. Busher on North Main avenue here at about 11:30 p. m., Saturday.

All furniture and most of the contents in the house was destroyed. The house was covered, partially, by insurance. The house was outside the city water lines. Mr. Busher was asleep when flames, originating in a closet, were discovered. Daughter, Ruth, was absent.

Here To Visit Brother

Walter Grissom, brother of C. Grissom of Littlefield, and Sargeant Pete Blesiot, stand at Kelly Field, San Antonio, and here for a quick visit with Mrs. Grissom Monday afternoon. They are here for flying requirements. Sargeant Blesiot was pilot of a two-place open cockpit Douglas biplane.

Walter Glass, son of Dr. and Mrs. B. Duke, left Monday for Littlefield where he will enter the University of Texas for the fall term.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE SWINGS INTO FALL PROGRAM TUESDAY

Littlefield chamber of commerce swung into its fall program with a drive on WPA projects when a sizeable group appeared at the Tuesday luncheon this week.

Construction of sidewalks, advancement of highway work through extension of water lines, Littlefield, extension of city streets, topping of caliche-based city streets and laying of base and topping others, and enlarging the city's water storage capacity all came in for serious treatment. Plans were laid to push action on all WPA projects before application date, set for today, closes.

Among applications filed, or soon to be filed, are one for street improvement and water line extension, to cost over $900, topping of streets and construction of sidewalks, and an enlargement project of city water storage facilities, to cost about $1,200.

County Engineer Duane Orr is compiling complete data on advancement of work on proposed Highway 51, north and south through Littlefield. Data is complete on the project from the Pockley line to the gin north of town. The work includes 14 separate projects.

Data will soon be complete on eight projects of lateral roads improvement, said Secretary-Manager Joe W. Hale of the group. President Pat Boone joined Mr. Hale, J. S. Hilliard, Dr. Ira E. Wood, Bro. Joe F. Grizzle and others in a plea for close cooperation and speedy action on all projects.

We Do Our Part

TWO GREAT AMERICANS

Of very few human beings has it ever been possible to say truthfully that the whole world felt a sense of personal loss when they passed on. That, however, seems to us to be true in regard to the tragic death of Will Rogers. In only a slightly lesser degree it is also true of his companion who met death with him, Wiley Post. Both men had won world-wide acclaim for their accomplishments in their respective fields, but Will Rogers had won more than that. He had, to a degree seldom achieved by men in their lifetimes, the warm-hearted affection of a public which can only be counted in millions.

Both of the men who perished when their airplane crashed on the northern edge of Alaska were typical Americans. Wiley Post's feat of circling the earth twice by plane, once flying around the globe alone, will stand for all time as the greatest feat of this one-eyed Oklahoma oil-driller who turned out to be one of the real wizards of aviation. And Will Rogers, what can be said of the Oklahoma cowboy whose genial homespun wit and shrewd observations on men and affairs made him the friend of kings and ambassadors and the always-welcome guest of presidents? Add to that his universal popularity as one of the real stars of the screen, whose simple humor and "folksy" ways were a delight to everybody, and his amazing success as a journalistic and radio commentator on public affairs, and you have a combination of talents for which we find no parallel in modern times.

Will Rogers was proud of his strain of Indian blood, mingled with those of the Scottish, Irish and English pioneer stock. He was a real American, whose boast it frequently was that though his ancestors did not come over on the "Mayflower," some of them "met the boat."

The world is distinctly the poorer by the loss of these two great examples of the American character and the American spirit of adventure.

WAR TOUCHES US ALL

Nothing could more effectively demonstrate to everybody the fact that war or even the threat of war involving one of the major Western nations, touches the interest of every other nation and of all of their people, than the excitement and concern now being exhibited in all of the world's capitals over the questions which have been raised by the advance of Italy upon Ethiopia.

Italy is more than 3,000 miles from the United States and Ethiopia is still farther away, yet the question of our own neutrality and of what our Government should do toward cooperating to prevent the war is a vital and important one. It is one thing to talk about prohibiting the sale of war supplies to one or both belligerents in a war. It is quite another thing to make such prohibition effective.

What are war supplies? Canada has announced that she will not dump her wheat reserves on the market but will hold them in the expectation of high prices, because of this war. Wheat is a war supply, no less than bullets or gunpowder.

We earnestly hope that our nation will not become involved in any way that will further strain our relations with Italy and the rest of the world, but we believe it would be in the interest of every American for our State Department to lend all the moral support possible to the efforts which the other great nations are making to avert this silly and senseless war.

Here's what happens when oil hasn't enough film strength!

When the oil film ruptures, bare metal tears bare metal. Damage like this leads to the repair shop.

You can prevent costly wear with Germ Processed Oil

It has 2 to 4 times greater film strength than any plain mineral oil!

WHEN you drive very slowly or very fast or pick up suddenly, the bearings in your motor have a tremendous load put on them. The bearings and shafts are pressed together so tightly that only an extremely thin film of oil remains between them.

If the oil film is not strong enough to withstand the load, the film ruptures and the bearing and shaft grind together. Part of the bearing is ground away. After this happens time and again, it means a trip to the shop and a big repair bill.

You need oil with extra high film strength to prevent this costly wear. Yet plain mineral oils have very little film strength and oils over-refined by new cleansing methods have even less!

Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil will give you the protection you need! Germ Processing—adding concentrated oily essence to highly refined oil—gives it 2 to 4 times greater film strength than any plain mineral oil. Timken machine tests prove it!

More proof—supervised road tests were made in identical cars fitted with the new alloy metal bearings used in many 1935 cars. The bearings lubricated with a high-quality plain mineral oil showed 45% more wear than those lubricated with Conoco Germ Processed, the first alloyed oil.

You'll save money when you say "O. K.—Drain" and fill with Germ Processed—the oil with greater film strength—the oil with the "Hidden Quart" that never drains away!

HARPER & BROTHERS—1934

SECOND INSTALLMENT

SYNOPSIS—Six persons are in an office of the law firm of Dawson, MacQuire and Locke at Philadelphia. A master hearing in the case of Rowland vs. Rowland is under way. Mrs. Rowland, represented by her lawyer brother, Willard; Mr. Rowland, the defendant, and his attorney, Mr. Trumbull; the court clerk and Mr. Keith, the master, are the six persons. There is a new development in the case. After failing to defend himself against the charge of robbery in earlier hearings, Mr. Rowland signs up evidence and asks the court's permission to produce witnesses and resist the suit. Judge Keith overrules the heated objections of Mr. Willard, and orders Mr. Trumbull to bring in the first witness. Mr. Trumbull has just gone to the outer office to bring the witness. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

only a brief time before, had left the office. He had difficulty finding his tongue.

"Good God, come quickly, all of you!" he managed to gasp out. "I don't know what's the trouble, but something is seriously wrong in there—!"

He grasped the back of his chair to support himself, and Mr. Dawson about her?"

The other shook his head solemnly. "I'm afraid she's very ill, Rowland. She's unconscious—completely out; she shows no animation and I can't get any reaction or rouse her. And she looks dreadfully white.—We had all better hurry."

His movement and agitation conveyed themselves to his listeners, as

He shook his head. "She isn't just ill or unconscious; she's already dead."

cut in sharply.

"Something wrong, Mr. Trumbull? What do you mean—what's the matter?"

Allen Rowland was the first to spring to his feet.

"What's happened, Trumbull?" he demanded, in a voice filled with anxiety. "Mrs. Keith's all right, isn't she? There's no reason to worry they hastened from the office. In his concern, Mr. Rowland pushed ahead, the lawyer immediately behind. Mr. Dawson came next. Mr. Willard made way for his sister, in whose eyes gleamed a light, had it been observed, that suggested an emotion more powerful than mere interest; while his own lips curved in a smirk.

In this order, they all passed through the chamber adjoining Mr. Dawson's office, an anteroom into which his door opened. It was also the law library of the concern. Two other doors led from the library, the one in the left wall, opposite the windows, into the main office of the suite, where the employees—stenographers, telephone operator and law clerks—worked. The second door opened directly across from Mr. Dawson's.

It was ajar, and, led by Rowland, the group crowded through it into still another office. It contained a dark oak table, oak chairs with leather seats, and a plain, dull green carpet. From the hall, the inscription read, "1505, Law Offices, Dawson, MacQuire & Locke. Entrance at 1507."

A woman sat in the swivel chair, but in a peculiar position that promptly revealed something was wrong. She slumped rather than rested in it, her weight pushing it back on its pivot. Her head, barely protruding above the rear support, was thrown back as against a cushion, so that she stared at the ceiling. Her left leg stretched out straight, while the right one was bent at the knee, drawn against her body. Her mouth was open, but strained and thin, rather than loose, in a suggestion of mortal agony.

The sight of the recumbent, motionless figure caused the group to pause on the threshold for an instant. Anxiety was written in every face, except Mrs. Rowland's.

"First I thought she had just fallen asleep," Mr. Trumbull remarked. "I spoke to her, and when she didn't respond, I tried to waken her. Then I discovered that—she wasn't well."

"But what is it? What's the matter with her?" the clerk queried breathlessly. "She looks so strange—so pale and stiff."

In two quick strides Allen Rowland crossed to the swivel chair. He placed trembling hands on Mrs. Keith's shoulders.

His voice sounded tense and appalled. "Barbara! What is it, Barbara? Answer me."—Receiving no reply, he recoiled visibly, looking up in distress. "It's really serious," he whispered swiftly. "Mr. Dawson, isn't there a doctor in the building?"

The lawyer followed him to the woman's side, grim lines of worry changing the more genial aspects of his countenance. He took her right wrist, and as he felt for her pulse, he became still more grave and serious.

"Yes, we should call a doctor," he agreed, after a moment of utter stillness, painful and pregnant, "but I fear it's too late to do anything for her." He shook his head. "She isn't just ill or unconscious; she's already dead."

It was four o'clock that same Wednesday afternoon, when Tommy Rankin, at the Central Detective Bureau in City Hall, received instructions to proceed to the law offices of Dawson, MacQuire & Locke. Captain Thomas took the message and relayed the assignment to Rankin. The detective had just reached the Bureau with the completed report of his most recent case, an investigation of the gem robbery at the aristocratic Wentworth home in Mount Airy.

"Here's a new job for you, Tommy." The captain informed Rankin. "It was old Henry Dawson himself who phoned, and he was worried; and everyone in the city knows his reputation for keeping his head in almost any crisis."

"Say, captain, why don't you let some one else handle it?" Rankin protested, without too much emphasis. "I've just finished a puzzling one and I guess I deserve a vacation." He shrugged in comic helplessness. "Oh well, I suppose it's all in a day's work, Thomas. Where do I go?"

Primarily because of his youth, he fitted in few respects the typical conception of a detective. Only thirty, he looked twenty-five. In appearance considered handsome, he had a high forehead, surmounted by curly dark brown hair. His lips were thin, and usually set together beneath sensitive nostrils; ... had a determined chin and dark, piercing eyes, constantly alert. He was broad-shouldered, of medium height, and powerfully built. As usual, when the captain knew Rankin was about to undertake a fresh inquiry, he could not resist his customary quip.

"Who would you like along with you in this case, Tommy?" he in-

New Officers Are Installed By Women's Study Club at Meeting in Potter Home

The home of Mrs. T. Wade Potter, new president of the Women's Study Club was the scene of the club's first meeting of the new year Wednesday afternoon when new officers were installed.

Club singing of "America, the Beautiful" opened the program. A profusion of roses, sweet peas and zinnias lent an air of spring to the perfectly appointed Potter home. Most attractive of the floral theme was a lovely bouquet of purple and rose asters, a gift sent by Mrs. A. P. Duggan, who is at present visiting her sister, Miss Mary Harrod, in Gonzales.

Mrs. Stokes presented Mrs. Potter, new president, followed by a song, Debussy's "Gardens in the Rain," rendered by Mrs. G. M. Shaw. Mrs. Storey related a story, "Shower Blossoms and Fairy Bells."

Mrs. John Arnett, who with Mr. Arnett, will leave soon to make their home in Colorado City, Texas, was presented by Mrs. Pat Boone on behalf of the club with a lovely going-away gift.

Roll call was answered with the name of each member's favorite flower. In unison, the club repeated the wild flower pledge.

BE IT ORDAINED by the City Commission of the City of Littlefield, Texas:

Section 1.

That from and after the passage of this ordinance any person, firm or corporation, before engaging in the occupation of buying for the purpose of re-sale, and of selling used automobiles, trucks, or other motor vehicles within the corporate limits of the City of Littlefield, shall first apply to and obtain from the City Secretary of the City of Littlefield a permit or license to engage in such occupation for a period of one year. Section 3.

Such person, firm or corporation, from and after the beginning of such occupation within the corporate limits of the City of Littlefield, shall thereafter furnish to the City Marshal of the City of Littlefield a list of all used motor vehicles brought into the corporate limits of the City of Littlefield for sale from any point outside of Lamb County, Texas, and such report shall contain a full description of such motor vehicles, including the name of the manufacturer, model, engine number, and license number, and the name and address of the person from whom such motor vehicle was purchased.

METHODIST CHURCH
 Rev. W. Hendrix, Pastor
FALL OPENING
 It is fall. The summer is over. During these months we have farmed, rested, gone on vacations, and some have just laid up and fanned and drunk ice water at service times each sabbath. It is the fear some took a vacation from worshipping the Lord.

 Now, these days are over and school is in session, or soon to be. We are all back home and soon to begin the routine of school. FALL OPENING, come Sunday, last week ter you had a place in the class, or a place in the choir, or in the W. M. S., or were on some important committee and recently you've let 'er slide. This bears to you an urgent invitation to be back at your job, at your privileges.

 The subject for the morning hour will be, "That Inner Urge." The choir will meet Wednesday evening and make ready an interesting and appropriate program of music. They have been in session all summer. They have failed very few rehearsals.

 The evening hour, 8 o'clock will feature the choral club in an evening of music. They meet on Thursday evening and prepare for Sunday evening each time. That is their hour for having charge of the Big Sing. The pastor will deliver a sermon, short, clear cut and to the point. The subject will be, "Appear in Person." You at once recognize the phrase as drawn from the stage. It means it will not simply be a record or a movie, it means that the one will be there. This is our personal appearance. One debut each of us will make whether we make others or not.

 Church school will be in session from 9:45 a. m. to 10:45 a. m. Young people will be in session from 7:15 p. m. to 8 p. m.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
 9:45—Sunday school. All new officers and teachers will take their places. Vacancies not already filled will not be filled until a new pastor takes charge.
 11 a. m.—Morning song worship.
 11:20 a. m.—Morning sermon.
 The entire membership of the church is urged to attend this service. Rev. A. A. Bryan of Levelland will occupy the pulpit at the morning hour.
 7 p. m.—B. T. U.
 8 p. m.—The retiring pastor, the Rev. Joe F. Grizzle, will bring his closing message. The entire membership of the church is urged to be present, and visitors will receive a hearty welcome.
 The sermon at the evening hour will not be what is generally termed a farewell message, but will be the last sermon of the Rev. Mr. Grizzle as pastor of the church.

DALLAS INSURANCE MAN CLAIMS THIS SECTION BEST IN TEXAS

J. C. Sellers of Dallas, director of agencies for the Republic Life Insurance Company, was a business visitor recently of A. G. Heraphill. Mr. Hemphill is district manager of the Insurance Company for this section.

Mr. Sellers, in an interview with a Leader representative spoke in very complimentary terms about this section of the country. In part Mr. Sellers said:

"I have been in every little corner of Texas, and this is the finest country I have found. I believe this section has a wonderful future. It has everything God can give a country. It has wonderful climate, soil and a cosmopolitan population. Where you have good soil and a cosmopolitan population, you are bound to have prosperity."

quired, his smile thinly veiled. "You'll probably need plenty of help before this business is over."

For he was aware that ordinarily it was Rankin's policy to work as a lone wolf. He preferred to have exclusive charge of an assignment, even of its routine features, until compelled by its complications to enlist outside aid.

Recognizing the captain's jibe, Rankin grinned, but his reply brought a stare of amazement to his colleague's stout features.

"You're probably right, captain," he said; "that's why I think I'll lug Jenkins along, and a couple of cops."

He collected Jenks and two uniformed officers and set out. Rankin located on the directory board the firm of Dawson, MacQuire & Locke; and they boarded an express elevator to the fifteenth floor.

The offices they sought were directly opposite the cage, as they stepped from it. Three doors fronted the corridor, marked respectively 1505, 1507 and 1509; and the glazed front of 1509 also instructed visitors to enter at 1507, the central door.

Entering the main office of the firm, 1507, the detective and his companions at once realized the substantial size and prosperity of the lawyer's practice. Several people waited in the chairs lined against the inner wall, on both sides of the door. Six desks were arranged behind the rail, with as many employees—stenographers, law clerks and students. But extraordinarily enough, no one worked, nor was the usual clatter of typewriters heard. They all watched the new arrivals silently, with bated breaths, from which Rankin sensed their anxiety and suspense.

He noted all details before an elderly man came forward and greeted him in obvious relief.

"You've come from headquarters, of course?" He extended his hand. "It's good of you to be so prompt. I'm Dawson—Henry Dawson. I think we had better step into the library, where we'll have greater privacy."

The detective posted his two uniformed men at the main door, 1507; then ordering Jenks to remain outside as well, he followed the lawyer into the library. Two other men awaited them there.

Mr. Dawson introduced them. "This is Mr. Simpkins, clerk of Common Pleas Court, Number Three. Dr. Samuel Clark, whose offices are on the twelfth floor of this building; we summoned him immediately although it was too late for medical aid. Mr.—"

"Rankin, Thomas Rankin," the detective supplied, and shook hands. "Glad to meet you. Then it is a matter of death, requiring the attention of the police?"

Gravely nodding, the lawyer proceeded to explain. "I regret it's quite serious enough for that. Briefly, here is the situation. I have been holding a series of hearings in a divorce action in my office, in a contested case. This afternoon, the first testimony for the defense to prevent the granting of the divorce was to be presented. The complaining party offered some opposition to the introduction of Mrs. Barbara Keith, the first witness for the defense. And when Mr. Trumbull, counsel for the defendant, went to bring her in, he found she was dead.

—There are indications that her death was neither normal nor accidental."

Rankin's eyes widened in interest and he asked sharply:

"Not normal? That leaves only murder or suicide? Where was she when she died, Mr. Dawson?"

The lawyer inclined his head toward the door leading from the library into 1505, adjoining.

"In that office," he replied, "where I understand, she was waiting until she would be called to give her testimony. On being informed by Mr. Trumbull of his discovery, we entered and naturally assumed she had suffered a stroke or heart attack or something of that sort. But Dr. Clark's examination suggests she met her end by violence."

"I believe she was chloroformed to death," the physician volunteered.

Rankin focused a penetrating gaze on the doctor. "Chloroform, Dr. Clark? Are you positive of that? What evidence supports your diagnosis?"

"The woman's eyes were dilated, which is a dependable sign of death by some such irregular means," Dr. Clark returned. "I've had no opportunity to examine her blood, but I don't doubt it will be darkish and fluid. In addition, there are red marks on her arms and wrists as if some one had had a powerful grip on them."

"Then your opinion of what occurred is that some one seized her and forcibly administered chloroform through her nose until she succumbed?"

The physician nodded. "Yes, the symptoms, her position, pushed back like that in the chair, and the rough handling she must have received all point to it."

"Well, unless more than one person was concerned," Rankin commented, "a man was probably responsible. Dr. Clark, how quickly does chloroform act to prove fatal?"

"The time is uncertain, and varies with the person," the other responded; "perhaps two minutes, and at most, a few seconds longer than that. On the other hand, it might kill in even less time than a minute. Administered with a saturated cloth or cotton, it would be very efficient."

SUBJECTS TO BE TAUGHT IN SCHOOLS; CHANGES TO BE MADE

There are some new subjects and regulations regarding subjects that will make some important changes in the materials to be taught in the Littlefield schools this year.

The latest addition is that of Business Training. This subject is an eighth grade subject and is reserved for folks of that grade. All eighth graders will be required to take this subject in the history class.

History will be taught this year in the ninth grade who will take eighth grade history. World history and American history will be required history.

There is also being added as a subject in the eighth grade. This subject is being reserved for the eighth grade as we are offering this subject for the first year. After this year a subject will be added for the upper grades.

Commercial work will be reserved for the 10th and 11th grade. Those who take bookkeeping will take business arithmetic at the same time they have not had the subject before. Typing is a full subject this year. By meeting one period per day for the year one unit of credit is allowed.

A new course in Secretarial training is being offered. This course is made of shorthand and office work. The class meets two periods for one unit.

The new courses together with regular and old vocational courses make it possible for students to select a wide range of courses to select.

WE THINK
WHAT DO YOU THINK?
Contributed by Mrs. J. P. Spinks

I'LL TELL YOU WHAT I THINK—About the grandest sight I've seen on my rounds this summer was when we drove into Littlefield, several days ago, and saw the weeds had been cut. If it's anything I like to see better than a dead TUMBLE WEED, it's just no weeds at all. For you see, in case some of you haven't heard about HAY FEVER, it's these nice, green deceiving TUMBLE WEEDS that gives us folks out here most of our sneezes. Naturally their cousins and other relatives, such as the rag weed, blue weed, etc. you know how that goes, comes to their rescue when they fall short of putting out enough misery, but they are the high officials. They may not look so harmful growing along the edge of your yard, just inside that vacant lot, or across the alley, even in a corner of your yard, but remember everyone left living is giving some one a lot of suffering. And how nice and clean our town looks.

With apologies to all poets and writers—
We cut down the weeds to get rid of the flies,
However therein three good reasons lie;
Just think of the visitors and tourist passing through,
We HAY FEVER victims would all take off our hats to you.
We lose sleep, we sneeze, cough and choke,
We try to scratch our ears, we do scratch our throat,
Then we think sure we are going to croak.
We can't read, we can't sew,
Why we can't even go to the picture show,
We can't think of going to church,
There our duty we have to shirk,
Some may think HAY FEVER funny,
But every sneeze costs us money.
There are tests, serums and even pills,
Then there comes the doctor bills.
We are going to call only a few of our members names,
So comrade don't feel you've lost any fame.
Ben Lyman, Jr. didn't want to be selfish,
So he just divides up with grandpa, Mr. Jeffries.
Mrs. Arnett just says well, I must get away,
To get a good breathing spell.
Eddythe Walker looks as though a good friend she had lost,
Now she is passing around her smelling salts,
Poor Mrs. Sanders don't like for armies to be uneven,
So she joins in with her sneezing.
Mrs. Sales will sell you cloth and shoes,
But may have to have time out for a few ca-choos.
Mrs. Cundiff is a member of the army that sneezes,
Now Mrs. Grissom here is a tip for you,
Since you belong to our ranks too,
I've been told to pour on gasoline and burn well,
So you see you could lots of gas to sell.
Mr. Jordan said to Mrs. Jordan, look at that and look at you,
The first thing we know, will say that at Betty, too.
Mrs. Brannen just smiles and tries a good example to set,
Right then her handkerchief is all wet.
Mrs. Beaman Phillips is a good friend, tried and true,
Now she cries and weeps and trades remedies, too.
It's true Mrs. Newgent is rather small,
But low those sneezes are good and tall.
Now there is Mr. Keithley in the office all day,
Just imagine trying to calculate and him with the HAY.
We often wondered which was his favorite son,
Now David is sneezing from sun til sun.
Mr. Jess Seale, who gasoline sells,
He too has those sneezing spells.
The compress manager's wife, Mrs. Crews,
Says it's even worse than having the flu.
Another fine fellow to join our forces was George Rothell,
Oh! he has HAY FEVER something awful,
So he just ups and moves to Lamesa,
Saying he hopes this curse will leave me.
Another to join our company, a car dealer by the name of Mr. Hewitt,
The one who sells Chevrolets, not Buicks.
I'm sure if he could just have his way,
A richer man he would be if he could sell his harvest of HAY.
Another to join in with their sneezing is Mrs. Mallory Etter,
She is almost hoping for a freeze so she can get better.
The Boy Scout does his good deeds,
So now kind friend let's cut down the TUMBLE WEEDS.
They don't look so bad growing nice and green,
But think of the HAY FEVER victims long lost dream.

Home Demonstration Notes

By Miss Bernice Westbrook
County Home Demonstration Agent
"Besides the vegetables used fresh, the 300 pounds onions harvested, and some lettuce sold fresh, 117 containers have been filled from my garden," says Annie Lee Aunyon, garden demonstrator of the Spring Lake Junior 4-H Club.
Annie Lee has helped to can all these vegetables and more than 100 containers of fruit. But she is not depending altogether on canned products for the fall and winter food supply. With the help of her mother, Annie Lee has planted turnips, carrots, beets, and lettuce in her fall garden.

Twenty-nine varieties in 119 containers have been canned by Marie McClure, garden demonstrator of the Spring Lake Senior 4-H Club, with the help of her mother and her sister, Elizabeth.
With the help of her father Marie has added two shelves, made from scrap lumber about the place, her cellar-pantry on which she is conveniently arranging the canned products.

From 13 peach trees Mrs. H. K. Irwin, farm food supply cooperater of the Sod House H. D. Club, and her husband have gathered 14 bushels of peaches besides those used in canning 215 pints to use at home and those used fresh and given to friends. Most of these trees are of the Elberta and White Heath varieties, says Mr. Irwin.

Out of the 534 containers and 38 varieties of fruits, vegetables, and poultry, canned by Mrs. Henry Meyer, farm food supply demonstrator of the Blue Bonnet H. D. Club, all except two bushels apricots and one bushel apples were raised by Mr. and Mrs. Meyer.

Olton Man Receives Patent On Invention

Patents on motion transmitting devices for pumps, an invention which, according to its inventor, promises to revolutionize oil field pumping equipment, was granted to Herbert J. Dickerson of Olton a week ago Saturday.

Patent rights came from Washington. The new unit, Dickerson says, will increase production several times over the equipment now in use, at a small fraction of the operating cost of present machinery.

Dickerson, who was to have left Saturday for Wichita Falls, Dallas and Shreveport for conference with corporation heads interested in his invention, said he had received several offers, some running into six figures, for purchase of patent and manufacturing rights.

by the congregation at the prayer service last night. The board, on several occasions in the past week or two, has urged Rev. Mr. Grizzle to continue as pastor, but, in view of the fact that Mr. Grizzle desired to go to the Portales church, the board did not enter a protest when the matter came before the congregation last night.

Church Membership Grows

When Rev. Mr. Grizzle came to the First Baptist church September 1, 1929, the church reported to the West Plains Baptist association a membership of 520. In a revision of the church rolls in October, 1929, 177 names were taken from the roll, leaving a membership at that time of 343. Since that time the church has lost 20 members by death and emigration. The present church membership is 666.

In the six years that Rev. Mr. Grizzle has been pastor of the First Baptist church, he has delivered 487 sermons in his regular church activities. The total does not include funerals, prayer meetings, or special addresses. He has preached 223 sermons in churches outside of Littlefield, not including funerals. In the six years of his pastorate, 540 have been received into the church, and 197 have been lettered out. Visiting preachers to the First Baptist church, in the past six years, have preached 252 sermons, including revival meetings.

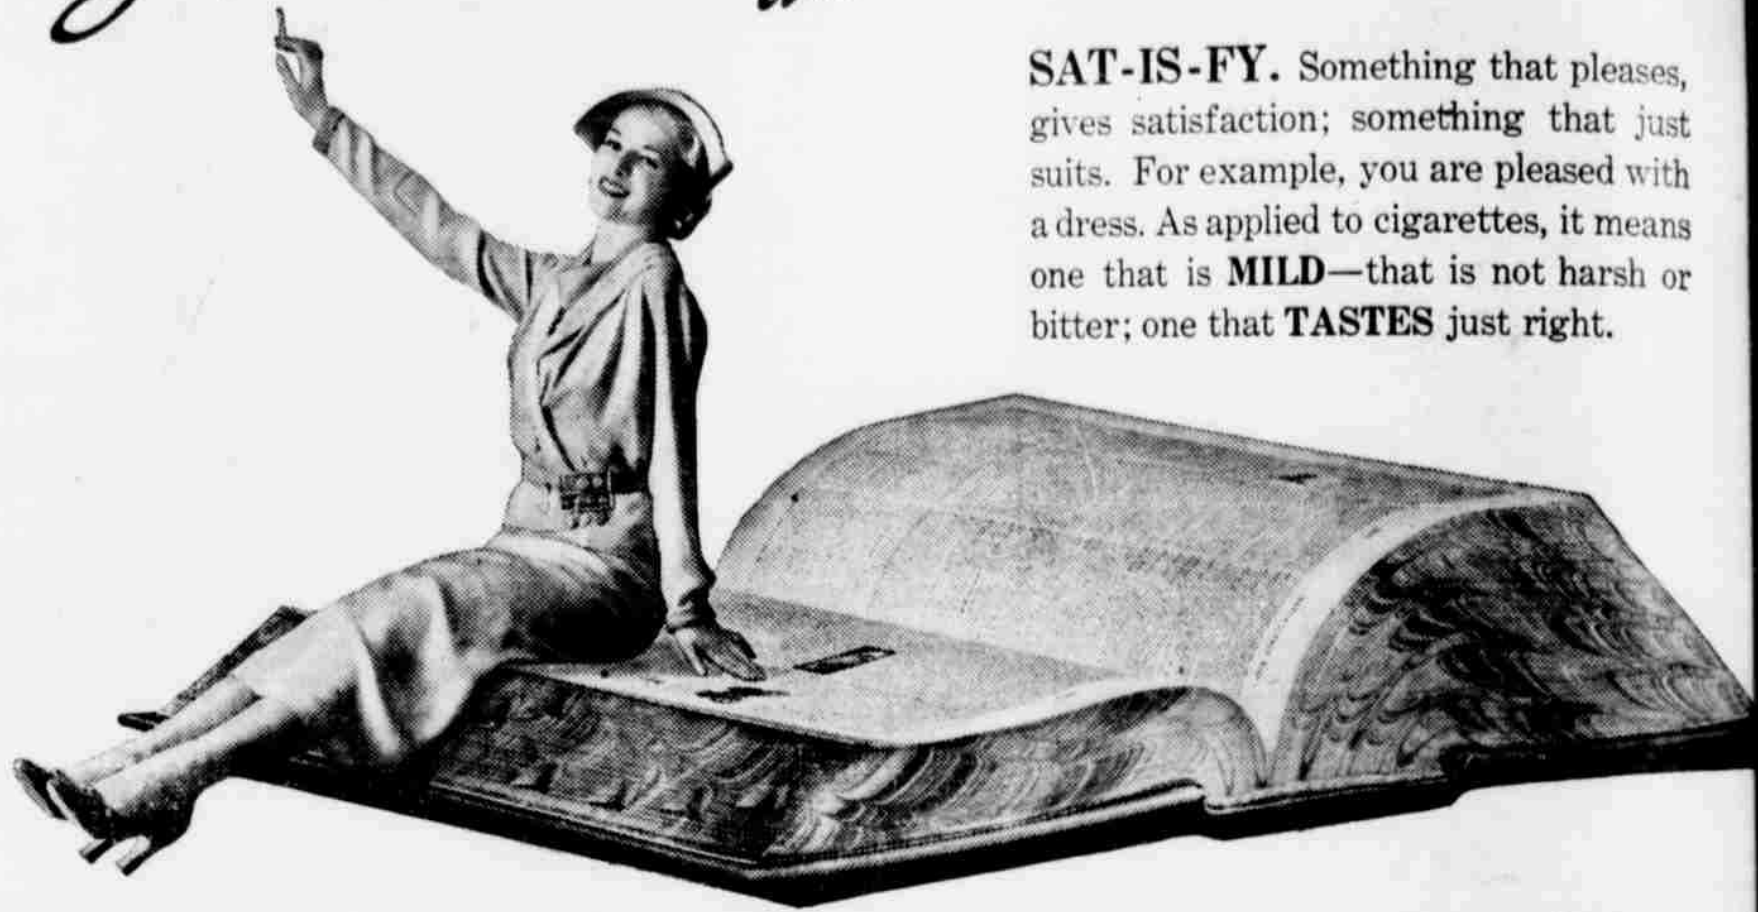

Rev. Mr. Grizzle's civic and fraternal activities have covered an extensive field—Boy Scouts, Rotary Club, Masonic lodge, Odd Fellows, Red Cross, Chamber of Commerce, RFC board, and city fire board. He has been a scout master, area commissioner, and at the present time he is chairman of the Littlefield Court of Honor. His membership in the Littlefield Rotary club dates back almost from the time he came to Littlefield. Rev. Mr. Grizzle's Masonic activities include membership in the chapter and council. He is chaplain of both the chapter and council and the blue lodge. Rev. Mr. Grizzle served two years as local chairman of the Red Cross, one year as county chairman of the Red Cross, and also served one year on the RFC board. He served one year as vice-president of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce. For the past four years he has been a member of the City Fire Board.

Mrs. Grizzle has largely confined her time to church activities and to her home. She has been an able helpmate of a worthy husband and pastor, and through the spoken word and deeds has reflected her Christian life. Her friends are without number and, as in the case of Rev. Mr. Grizzle, regret at her departure from Littlefield extends far beyond the membership of the First Baptist church.

The church membership and the citizenship of Littlefield do not feel that they are losing Miss Nora Bell Grizzle, in that she is a member of the faculty of Amherst schools. Miss Grizzle has been a member of the faculty of the Littlefield schools, and is very popular throughout Littlefield and this section.

The program will be held in the Oddfellow Hall and meals will be served at the First Baptist Church.

C.-C. Lunch—

merce in hastening action on construction of proposed East-West road to pass through Littlefield to Portales, N. M.

Bro. Grizzle, for over six years pastor of the First Baptist church here, plans to leave sometime next week to assume pastorate of the First Baptist church in Portales.

"I regret leaving Littlefield. I deeply appreciate the friendship shown me while here. Our church here, as in every church sooner or later, needs new blood, a new face in the pulpit," the popular minister said in a brief farewell.

"I hope that my six years spent here have been of some benefit to both the church and its people. I am not gone for good and all, and hope someday to make my home in Littlefield," he said.

The group unanimously voted a resolution of regret at loss of the pastor and of congratulations to Portales, where he will soon take up his duties. A brief speech of regret by Rev. J. W. Hendrix, First Methodist church pastor, gave rise to the resolution through Mr. Hale. Committee composed of Dr. Ira E. Wood, T. S. Sales and Mr. Hale was appointed to speed action on the sidewalks project.

The group laid initial plans for a two-day celebration to be held in Littlefield when Highway 7 opens after completion of surfacing work. Gus Shaw was placed in charge of committee work.
