Carole Adams-Billy Gibson Vows Exchanged In Lubbock Church

Calvary Baptist Church, Lubbock, was the scene of a double wedding Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. Miss Carole Ann Adams, and Billy Alton Gibson, 21, of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Charles V. Adams, 423 1/2 St. Lubbock. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Gibson, 3100 31st St., Lubbock.

Rev. Tony Longval read the nuptial vows.

The altar was decorated with a large heart containing 123 and roses surrounded by two smaller hearts and candelabra with blue tapers.

Mrs. Linda McGrew sang "My Prayer," "Requiem" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Carole Adams, sister of the bride and Pat Cassetty, cousin of the bride, were candlelighters.

They wore identical dresses of white nylon lace with ice blue tipped carnation wrist corsages.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in a traditional floor-length gown of white rose design French lace and tulle underskirt with net and satin. The high neckline was framed with motifs of lace and the fitted bodice had long tapered sleeves and a sheer yoke, outlined with scalloped lace appliques and embroidered with seed pearls and iridescent sequins.

The billowing skirt, fashioned of tiers of frosted lace and tulle, swept into a chapel train. The fingertip bridal veil of imported illusion fell from a bonnet type cap of tulle embroidered with iridescent sequins and pearls and edged with a tiny pleated ruffle.

A bouquet of white roses completed the bride's ensemble.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Marion Clark of Lubbock, attired in a ballroom length dress of white tulle and a headdress of tulle with pearls.

Mrs. Sue Chumbley of Wolfarth and Doris Gibson, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. They wore identical street-length dresses of silk organza with matching hoodpieces. Accessories were short white gloves and white blue tipped earrings.

In the groom's party, Doug Conroy served as best man. Others were Markon Clark, Lubbock, Doug Sanders, Okla. City, Okla., Terry Nelson, Harold Miles, Gene Ammons and Jack Beards, all of Lubbock. They were dressed in white dinner jackets with black bow ties.

Bence Adams, sister of the bride, was flower girl. She was dressed in a white dress and wore flowers in her hair.

Vic Adams, brother of the bride, dressed as the groomsman, was ringbearer.

A reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church after the ceremony. The bride's table was laid with a white satin cloth, underskirt complemented with a net overskirt with ice blue design. Crystal punch bowls placed at each end of the table and blue candles completed the setting.

Mrs. Paul Chumbley and Mrs. Noel Berry aunts of the couple, of Wolfarth served the punch.

For travelling, the bride wore a white dress with ice blue accessories and corsage.

The couple will be at home at 3306 36th St., Lubbock after a short wedding trip.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Things are rather quiet in the State Capitol building. It's the "off" time for the state elections and a new Legislature is not yet in session. A vacation time almost every agent get it all for this week, the most people in the Los Angeles, vice chair, delegation to Democratic Convention several weeks of Sen Lyndon Johnson for the pres-important work, but quiet during this digging and analyzing stage. It'll break into the news next fall as reports are made and trial balloons are run up on bills to be introduced in January. Surest indication that state government is still on the job is that even now it's hard to find a parking place near the Capitol or the adjoining state office buildings.

During the summer a dozen or so parking slots by the Capitol's east entrance are set aside for tourists. As a rule, tourists don't keep them filled, and Capitol guards are regularly beset by the persuasiveness of local people who need a place "just for a minute."

NO TURNING BACK — Child adoption procedures, under Texas law, are about as final as a thing can be — more so than marriage or divorce.

Texas Supreme Court underlined this in a recent decision that denied the right to change her mind to a mother who had given written permission for her children to be adopted.

In the case at issue, the mother, a widow, gave written permission for her two children to be adopted. Two months later, having remarried, she sought to regain the children.

Lower courts held in favor of the natural mother, but the Supreme Court ruled that only fraud could be a basis for revoking of adoption consent.

Said, the court opinion of the adoption laws: "The Legislature had the safety, education, care and protection of the children uppermost in mind and not primarily the contentment of welfare of either the natural or adoptive parents."

NO MISUNDERSTANDING — In another ruling involving adoption, the Supreme Court held that an adopted child could not inherit a trust set up for a direct descendant.

As a result, a four-year-old boy lost the chance to claim $830,000. In the case originating in Dallas, lower courts had upheld the child's claim to the money from his late grandfather's estate.

In his will, the grandfather had instructed that the $830,000 trust be set up if "any child of my son that is born after my death." High court ruled that this made it highly unlikely that the maker of the will intended the money to go to ROAD CLOSED — If Texas' truck licensing law had a loophole you could drive a truck through, the State Supreme Court has, in effect, halted the traffic.

High court ruled that a motor freight line cannot register and pay license fees on its trucks in Texas and use Mississippi licenses on its trailers. Texas' fee for a truck trailer is $226, compared to $10 in Mississippi.

High court ruled that if the truck line is resident in Texas, it must pay the Texas fee for the trailers, even if it pays in Mississippi, too. Result: $20.00 more taxes owed by the line in license fees to the State Highway Department.

OIL ON THE HIGHWAYS? — On the heels of a U. S. Supreme Court decision that Texas owns its tidelands 10 1/2 miles out comes a ruling that the state also owns the right-of-way along public roads.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson ruled that the state, not the county, owns the road right-of-way and that the counties cannot lease the land for mineral development.

Whether the state should exercise its right and lease right-of-way lands for oil and gas exploration probably will not be decided until the Legislature sets a policy. Involved is some 1,200,000 acres of land on 228,000 miles of public roads, some of it across areas with oil-bearing strata.

Only 700 persons turned out for the opening of Aqueduct Race Track on Sept. 17, 1894.

I'M SERIOUS!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Mark	4	26-32
Monday	Matthew	25	1-13
Tuesday	John	6	1-14
Wednesday	Ephesians	6	1-4
Thursday	Proverbs	22	1-6
Friday	Psalms	103	13-18
Saturday	Matthew	18	1-6

Maybe you like smiling babies? Sorry to disappoint you, but I've got a lot on my mind.

There's something wrong in America . . . and I'm the chap who is getting hurt!

Our Constitution says that no one can be denied the right to worship God. I'm an American! According to the Constitution I have the right to learn about God, to hear the Bible Stories, to be taught the Christian Way of Life.

But here's the hitch. While the Government can't deny me the right to attend Church School and Church — MY PARENTS CAN. They can rob me of my most sacred right just by neglecting my spiritual needs.

Did you know that about half the children in America are growing up without religious training? And yet there's a church in every village!

Yessir, I'm serious! Instead of talking about juvenile delinquency, we ought to do something about it. We ought to crowd our churches with children . . . and parents! And we ought to start Sunday!

What's the world coming to? The other day the Missus and I were in a city and happened to drive past one of those pony ride places. A dozen pint-sized horses, all of them extremely bored and probably tired, were going around in a big circle, ridden by small tots who imagined themselves to be knights of old on fiery chargers.

Frankly it would have taken considerable imagination to picture those tired, old midget nags as fiery steeds, or, for that matter, to picture their riders as daring heroes of days of knight-hood.

And on the sidelines were the anxious mothers, constantly screaming warnings to their offspring. It was difficult to tell whether the mothers of the horses were suffering more. "Don't", screamed one mother, "make him run. He might throw you!". Nothing would have been more impossible. The horse her 5-year-old son was riding at the moment had given up running 10 years ago, and now even was considering giving up walking. It was only by constant prodding by the lad's heels that the old animal kept putting two feet in front of the other two.

When finally Junior completed his daring and spine-chilling ride and returned to the foal m rubber cushions of an air-conditioned automobile, the mother breathed an almost audible sigh of relief, and I am quite sure the horse did the same.

But Junior, for his part, had lived dangerously if only for 10 minutes or so, and the next day he would be the hero of the kindergarten set. The story, of course will be elaborated considerably.

Actually those of us who have known the older days can feel nothing but deep pity for these modern lads who take their horse-riding after it has been seasoned too much, and whose only trails the carefully prescribed line of march set out by two fences or ropes.

Too bad that the modern kids, especially those in the cities, can't know the deep joy of owning their own nags. I'll never forget the first saddle my Dad bought for me to ride. Jack was the family horse. He couldn't, by any means, be called fiery, although on a cool morning he did get into a pretty fast gallop.

This saddle was a bright yellow number, and it had an oversized padded horn. There were two long, leather tassels at each side, and the day Dad bought the saddle for me, there wasn't a prouder boy in the whole country. It was 10 minutes before supper time, but the new saddle had to be tried out, so I dashed out to the lot and slung the saddle on old Jack's back. He let out a snort and dashed off to the far corner of the lot leaving the new saddle lying in the mud just beyond the trough. In my haste I had forgotten to put on a saddle blanket, and Jack expressed his disgust at my carelessness in only my eye knew how.

The next attempt was more successful, so I lead old Jack around to the front gate and hitched him to the iron hitching post where I could admire the new saddle while I gulped down my supper. I think even Jack rather liked the striking picture the two made.

The saddle had been bought just before the beginning of summer, so the three of us — a brand new saddle, a 10-year-old boy and a 10-year-old horse, spent many happy hours together, riding the hills and dales that surrounded our small town. Once when I was taking Jack through a deep thicket of wild plums, against Jack's better judgement, a small green snake slithered down from the trees and draped itself around Jack's neck.

Jack broke the world's record for standing broad jump for horses and I landed in the lower branches of a small, thorny tree. And the new Sunday pants, which I had worn without my mother's knowledge, never made it to church again.

But that was one of the most wonderful summers in my life.

Farm Safety Week Theme Announced

Farm accidents claim about 3,500 lives each year, more than any other industry. Some 11,000 farm residents die each year in all types of accidents, and another million suffer accidental injuries.

To direct attention to this appalling problem, President Eisenhower has designated the week of July 24-30 as "National Farm Safety Week." In Texas, Governor Daniel has proclaimed the period "Farm Safety Week in Texas," The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council together with the Texas Safety Association, Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Texas Farm Bureau, is pushing a farm safety education program during the week.

Theme of the observance is "Enjoy Farm — Practice Safety." Objective of the educational effort is to curb the soaring farm accident problem which hits one farm family in four each year.

Texas is among the top ten states in the nation in accident rates associated with drownings, firearms, burns and electricity. The major cause of accidents across the nation is machinery, which accounts for about 35 percent of all accidents, followed by drownings, firearms, falls, blows, animals, burns, electricity and lightning.

In his proclamation designating National Farm Safety Week, the President noted that accidents "substantially reduce the productive capacity of our farming industry."

Governor Daniel's proclamation urged farm owners to take steps to decrease their needless accidents. He said the responsibility of being and progress from farm to farm, suffering, distress each year among.

The rate of from work and fatalities on farms is increasing each year, associated with farm machinery, fires, firearms and some decrease.

There are times as many in farming than today's farms. The small farms they have some needs.

LIPSTICK LOGIC

Twenty years ago a Colorado rancher got worried about his range. He bought grass seed and gave each cowboy a sackful for his saddle bag. As they rode fences and rounded up yearlings, each was told to watch for thin spots or those where "bad grass" had taken over. When he found one, he was to broadcast a handful of good seed. It broke the boredom of range riding and the men made a game of finding places to strew the seed. Today, the rancher has the lushest pasture in the valley.

We know women who have built up rich friendships in the very same way. Gifted with many talents or few, they learned years ago to notice those who needed enrichment in their lives. They broadcast sympathy and goodwill to the weak and the unhappy. They have the lushest pastures of friendship in our town.

One excels in human relations when she meets a stranger, she sets out to make him or her feel at home. She laughs, jokes, as though they were old friends, until soon everyone is at ease. She is a good listener and wise counselor. Although her education is limited, she has a world of common sense and friends in trouble turn to her for guidance and comfort. They know their secrets are safe.

Another is gifted with her hands. She can cook, make breads, grow things, fish, arrange flowers. She harnesses these talents for friendship. At happy times she adds to the festivities with a cake or lovely bouquet. To those who are lonely or sad she comes with some little handmade gift and thus throws a little bit of cheer or grief.

Each of us has a bag of "good seed" at our fingertips. Are we broadcasting them for richer friendships?
