

WOMAN'S CLUB APPEALS FOR MORE BOOKS

Final Drive For Library Staged This Week

Efforts to secure a large number of much-needed books for the Littlefield library, the Woman's Club, through their library drive, headed by Mrs. David Jones, are sponsoring a game party during the first of February, over which some 100 volumes have been donated to the club through the library drive. A number of benefit parties have been held which added to the fund. The growth of the number of patrons has been such that it has taxed the club's resources to the utmost, to keep up with the rapidly increasing demand for books.

There are now some 1600 volumes in the library lists which are nearly sufficient to cope with the demand. More than half of the books live outside the city limits. Application for membership has been refused out-of-town applicants as it is the desire of the organization, to make literature available to all those who desire it.

In recent weeks, such fine books as Rebecca, The Tree of Life, The Patriot and other costlier titles have been bought. The committee is very anxious to purchase the popular Zane Grey books and a number of juvenile classics which are frequently asked for. It is hoped that the proceeds of the party which are being held tomorrow, will provide sufficient funds to buy at least 25 or 30 more books.

The drive staged by the Woman's Club last year, over 150 volumes were secured, and the Woman's Club requests that everybody who has books to donate bring them up on their books and donate them to the club. There will be no house-to-house solicitation. It is strictly up to the friends of the library to bring their books to the library to be added to the collection.

The next week's issue of the Leader will appear a full list of those who have donated books. Those who have books to donate should call Mrs. Schein or Mrs. Clyde Hilburn. Messengers will be sent for the books.

A minimum of 500 more books have to be secured before the end of the year. Plans are being formulated now for an intensive campaign in the fall, and it is expected that this goal will be reached.

Next week's issue of the Leader will appear a full list of those who have donated books. Those who have books to donate should call Mrs. Schein or Mrs. Clyde Hilburn. Messengers will be sent for the books.

LARGE SENIOR CLASS ATTEND SERMON SUN.

Bro. Cummings Delivers Excellent Address To Graduates

"There are four guiding factors which build success in life," Bro. T. M. Cummings, pastor of the Church of Christ on Littlefield Drive, told the seventy-eight members of the 1939 graduating class, in the annual baccalaureate sermon Sunday night at the high school auditorium.

With his text from one of Paul's letters, "Forgetting all of the Past I Now Turn to the Future," Bro. Cummings urged the group not to live in the past, to concentrate all efforts in living, causing hard work with plenty of acting and doing, and moving toward a christian goal. His excellent address was heard by an enthralled crowd who filled the auditorium to capacity, and crowded the aisles.

Some of the outstanding features of the program for the evening were the selections by the choir, composed of thirty girls of the high school choral club and music classes, directed by Mrs. E. B. Hobbs. The girls wore vespers, which added to the solemnity of the occasion.

GEORGE VAUGHT BUYS CUNDIFF'S DAIRY PLANT

Will Be One Of The Largest Dairies In West Texas

Announcement was made last Saturday, that George Vaught, sole owner of the large dairy bearing his name, had purchased the stock, equipment and good-will, of the Cundiff Dairy which had been operated continuously by Earnest Cundiff for the past eleven years. The dairy herd acquired by Vaught consists of 16 very fine Guernsey milk cows. These together with the 40 head of Jerseys maintained by Mr. Vaught will give the Vaught plant nearly 60 cows and a model dairy plant second to none on the Plains.

Mr. Vaught has recently installed a large Butane gas plant and other modern equipment. Mr. Cundiff retains his finely improved property which consists of a large home, vineyard, and thirteen acres of cultivated ground. Mr. Cundiff has not announced his plans for the future.

In discussing the purchase, Mr. Vaught said: "Mr. Cundiff has assembled a very fine herd through the years, and has always been a great believer in the finest quality product. We hope to merit a continuance of the loyal patronage which he has built through the years."

MOTHER OF D. G. HOBBS PASSED AWAY SUNDAY

Funeral Services Held Monday At Weatherford, Texas

Mother's Day was a sad occasion for D. G. Hobbs of Littlefield, as he, with his seven brothers and sisters, saw their mother, Mrs. R. L. Hobbs, 75, pass away at her home in Weatherford, following a brief illness.

Funeral services were held at a funeral home in Weatherford Monday afternoon, by Rev. J. M. Bonds, assisted by Rev. Hawk, Methodist minister. Interment was in the Weatherford cemetery.

Mrs. Hobbs, who was born in Alabama in 1864, came to Texas and settled with her parents in Parker county when she was five years old. She had been a resident of Weatherford for more than

W. G. McMillan, the well-known contractor of Lubbock, was awarded the contract for the building of the new Payne-Shotwell hospital; final papers were signed Wednesday afternoon, and according to Mr. McMillan ground will be broken this morning. While the foremen and those in charge of mechanical equipment will be members of Mr. McMillan's regular force, most of the labor will be employed locally.

In discussing the delays, Mr. Shotwell, Sr., said that most of the time was spent in making changes in the original plans and adding improvements as they presented themselves.

Mr. McMillan, it will be remembered--was the builder of Littlefield's new telephone exchange. He is one of the city commissioners of Lubbock, owner of the Meadowbrook Golf course, and one of the most active and progressive contractors

SENIOR CLASS ARE GUESTS OF JUNIORS THURSDAY NIGHT

A lighthouse with three beacons, lifeboats, and miniature ships as plate favors, with other red, white and blue decorations, accentuated the beauty of a deck of a ship, as members of the senior class were guests of the juniors at a typical dinner "on board," at the annual banquet, held Thursday night in the basement of the First Baptist church.

Confetti and balloons added to the gaiety of the occasion, and twelve sophomore girls, dressed as sailors, served. Captain Franklin Patrick, president of the junior class was toastmaster; "christening the ship." The invocation was given by J. G. West, Jr.; Captain Patrick gave a toast, "launching the seniors," and Pat Boone, president of the senior class responded with "anchors aweigh, seniors."

Marine specials were played by Bobby Taylor on the glockenspiel; and "Stars and Stripes Forever," was given by Maurine Burleson, Mary Frances Wells and D. Edward Pinkerton.

Rev. Don Harris gave an interesting address, "Getting Into Deep Water."

"The Three Little Fishes," was sung by Helen Wiseman, Dorothy Fraley, and Charles Heathman.

The "salute to worthy mates," was recognition of the four sponsors of the two classes, Misses Mary Perkins and Maxine Fry, and W. L. Sanders and Morgan Layfield.

E. B. Hobbs gave "smooth sailing ahead, seniors," and the group sang "All Ashore," as a closing number.

Approximately 160 attended, including the high school faculty and their wives.

MAHON ASSURES 1938 AAA CHECKS WILL BE RECEIVED BY JUNE 1, 1939

Representative Mahon said Thursday that 2,000 West Texas farmers should receive by the end of May agricultural conservation payment checks, which have been held up because of deficiencies in grade of their 1937 loan cotton.

After discussing it with Fred Brown, comptroller general; I. W. Duggan, AAA southern regional administrator, and John Goodloe, vice president of the Commodity Credit corporation, Mahon said he had been assured that clearance of the checks would be expedited.

The farmers, Mahon said, had agreed that their indebtedness to the Commodity Credit corporation, which resulted from deficiency grade loan cotton, be deducted from their 1938 conservation payments.

AAA officials in Texas found the checks would have to be cleared through the general accounting office in Washington before the deduction could be made, a procedure which ordinarily would take 90 days or more, Mahon explained.

A plea had been sent Washington officials Wednesday from a committee in Dickens, Texas, asking that payments be made to farmers who had placed cotton in warehouses in 1937 at Jayton and other West Texas towns.

The Dickens committee pointed out that checks were more than two months overdue.

The appeal was made to G. E. Rathell, treasurer of the Commodity Credit corporation, and Mahon.

A. & M. SPECIALIST GIVES INTERESTING ADDRESS TO FARMERS THURSDAY

Lamb county farmers and ranchers are ganging up on the things that make life miserable and that don't mean just sand-storms and choppers.

They are on the war path against injustices, freight discriminations and tax inequalities, according to John I. Bowling of the Lamb County Agricultural Association -- they have also some constructive ideas in mind, he said. They are organizing for rural electrification, refrigeration, cotton standardization and other positive goals.

Paul G. Haines, farm organization specialist of Texas A. & M. college station service, made a talk Thursday at Amherst and rapped on the tariff, freight differentials and the matter of allowing 49 percent of the property, mainly notes, mortgages, liens and securities, to dodge the tax rolls and make the other 51 percent of the property owners bear 98 percent of the state tax burdens.

Haines thought it a shame that farmers have had to control production in the face of the fact that Europe is at war over the products dammed up in this country as surpluses behind the American tariff wall. Under the circumstances, however, he said he thought the

Hospital Day

Preceded by a Florence Nightingale service at the First Methodist church Thursday evening, the observance of National Hospital day here today will give Dallas people an opportunity to become better acquainted with the modern institutions in which thousands are restored to health every year. Dallas hospitals, in which more than $8,033,000 has been invested, have a bed for every 191 residents, compared with a national average of one for every 322.

Florence Nightingale's birthday gives appropriate occasion for visiting the city's temples of mercy, 15 of which are recognized by the American Medical Association. These, with nine recognized charity clinics and two medical arts buildings, are giving patients many new services that were unavailable a generation ago. The modern hospital is a cheerful place that has the facilities of a first-class hotel as well as those offering surgical, medical and nursing help.

Hospital service now enables patients to recover more rapidly than they formerly did. In 1894, the average patient spent about 40 days in a hospital; today he stays only 12 days—or, in Dallas, eight days. Of course, part of this change comes from the fact that more people go to hospitals for minor ailments than formerly; but it testifies also to the growing efficiency of American hospitals. All Dallas hospitals will have their latchstrings out Friday, hoping that citizens will not wait until they are sick to pay these institutions a visit. —Dallas News

Don't Be Static

During the past week, we were inspired by a demonstration of Youth's fine enthusiasms and energies. The recently organized Junior Chamber of Commerce staged a banquet in celebration of being awarded the charters in both the state and national organizations. More than 40 visitors from other West Texas towns helped make the event a most memorable one.

About 80 of our townsmen attended. We should have had at least 250 Littlefield folks at that banquet. The "Juniors" are stepping forward, and will do big things for our city, state and country. The wise ones who are always sitting back and "Let George Do It" will have no cause for pride over their failure to participate.

There are in Littlefield as fine and public spirited a group of men and women, as you'll find anywhere. Unfortunately — we have too many who are afflicted with STATIC. They are over-strong fatalists who have sold themselves on the idea that—things will happen anyway.

If our city and community are to achieve their rich destiny it will be because there are enough go-get-'em folks around here. We shall go forward in spite of the sit-backs and critics. Of course — we could proceed much faster and more smoothly, if these fellows were pulling with us instead of — not pulling at all.

Keep your eye on the Junior Chamber of Commerce. They are surely going places. Let's go with them.

DEWEY WALKER AND ROY M'QUATTERS RE-ELECTED CO-OP GIN OFFICIALS

Dewey Walker was re-elected manager of the Farmers Co-operative Gin society in a meeting of the gin directors recently. Roy McQuatters was re-elected president of the association.

Mr. Walker has been manager of the local gin for the past three years, and his work has proved most satisfactory to the stockholders in the association.

Mr. McQuatters served as president of the association last year, and the same board of directors was elected recently.

Progress was made last year when the farmers built a cooperative warehouse on the gin yard, for the storing of cotton that had been placed in the government loan.

Howdy Folks:

I have a private Hall of Fame which happens to suit me, for the simple reason, that I pick the honorees, according to my own peculiar notions of what constitutes true greatness. Today — I am entering the name of J. H. JOHNSTON, a school teacher of Ardmore, Okla. This week the Ardmore high school faculty, of which "Pop" Johnston has been a member for the past 19 years, is commemorating his 52nd anniversary as an educator in the public schools and colleges of Texas and Oklahoma. Prof. Johnston is past 72 years of age, and 52 years of that time have been spent in the class room—building several generations of citizens. Perhaps there are in history's pages more colorful achievements and lives. Certainly—there are no records of men who have lived in a more purposeful or beneficial manner. Yes sir — you'll find J. H. Johnston's name and record among the very first in my own Hall of Fame.

Mrs. Virginia Cleary, 28-year-old mother of two adopted children, wishes to become the mother of an ideal test tube baby. She is looking for "a perfect specimen of manhood" to father her "test tube" baby. Virginia's regular husband isn't very strong for this "Dream Baby" idea via remote control, and has sued her for divorce. Cleary has made his opposition to the experiment, known in rather definite terms. Male order houses should be interested in this unusual news item.

My friend "Freckles" just dropped in, and asked me to buy a sack of peanuts from him. I wasn't hungry; peanuts don't agree with me and besides I was minus the nickel. Freckles — you remember, was always offering us — the very last copy of the evening paper; then he went into the shoe shine business, and subsequently engaged in various enterprises. It hurts my pride — to see my protegee blossoming as a promoter of the humble peanut.

Last Thursday Louis Greenfield and his wife left the New York court house after a jury had set them free. The charge against Greenfield was the mercy killing of his 16-year-old imbecile son. The couple clung to each other; both were weeping. The jury was composed of seven men and five women; all but one of them being parents. There was not a dry eye in the jury box when the 12 turned in their verdict of "Not Guilty." In closing the case for the state, the prosecutor, George Tilzer, said — "I admit that inside of me there is a veritable tug of war between heart and mind." Both parents referred to their dead son as Little Jerry, though actually he was almost 6 feet tall and weighed 180 pounds. He played with blocks, scarcely knew the difference between father and mother, and required the care an infant gets. Greenfield chloroformed him one afternoon when the boy was suffering from one of his painful, recurrent fits. He said that in his dreams he had heard an urgent voice commanding him to be "Merciful" to the helpless boy. May we not offer a prayer for the parent who destroyed the son he loved because—he loved him?

Twice — within the past week, tragedy has stalked through the homes of two of my good friends. Gene Lattimer lost both parents and Oscar Wilemon his brother. The elderly couple who were on their way to visit their only son, were the victims of an automobile crash and Mr. Wilemon, who was president of a bank at Maypearl, was the victim of a murderous bank robber. Accident and crime have cast their shadows over the homes of fine, God loving people. Gene and Oscar both believe strongly in a hereafter. It must be solacing to them — in their hour of grief, to know that their loved ones have reached safety.

FOURTEENTH INSTALLMENT

SYNOPSIS
The wealthy foster parents, Marjorie Wetherill both die she a letter telling that she has a sister, that she was adopted by her own parents couldn't afford to support both of them and her real name is Dorothy Gay. In the world, but with a fortune of her own, she considers looking after her own family whom she never seen. A neighbor, Evan tries to argue her out of it but she loves her and asks to marry him. She promises to marry him but decides first to see if she can get the money. She goes to their address and finds that they are destitute and gradually persuades them to accede to her needs. When the doctor tells to see her mother she notices that he seems particularly interested in her sister. Marjorie goes to Brentwood, where her father used to live, and becomes much interested in the young man there. While at Brentwood she sees the home her family formerly owned, buys it back for them and gives the deed to it to her father Christmas morning. The family is very joyful. Meanwhile Betty meets Ellery Aiken, who she used to know, who asks her to go to a night club. Marjorie refuses, but Betty goes and starts out with Betty was suddenly a little frightened.

"I thought I was going with you, Ellery. I didn't know there were other men along. Perhaps I wouldn't care to meet them."
"Wouldn't care to meet 'em! What's gettin' ya? Whatcha goin' for then? You didn't suppose we were just goin' to sit around and hold hands all the evening together, did you? I've got other girls to dance with. I can't just stay with you, ya know."
Ellery didn't state that he was strung his long arm around her shoulders and drew her up close to him, but she drew away again and sat up very straight.

"S matter, Babe? Ain't sore, are ya?" he said as he brought the car up in front of a sordid looking place, Betty had expected to see the glitter in a night club, but this place looked fairly grubby, the more so as they entered. It was blue with smoke. This was a different world, right enough. She shrank back at the door, but he pushed her forward.
"Right over here, Baby! Got a

"You don't get out of it now, Baby," he said.

paid by the club to dance with other girls, but that was really the case.
"I think perhaps you'd better take me home again, Ellery. I don't think I care to go, after all."
"Aw, you gettin' cold feet, are you? But you don't get out of it now, Babe."
"But I don't care to go with a stranger, Ellery!" she cried aghast.
"I had no idea."
Ellery saw that he was going to have trouble and he had no time for that, so he set himself to soothe her.
"Now, Babe, don't you worry! It's going to be marvelous! You said you wanted to see the night clubs and I've arranged to give you an eye-ful."
Betty felt a strange cold draught about her heart. She was growing more and more frightened. Ellery table reserved for four. Nice party! Other girl's real refined. You'll like her. Sit down. We'll have a little cocktail to start things going and get us warmed up."

Betty sat down fearfully and looked about her. She didn't care for the look of the men in the place. Surely this could not be one of the nicer places. She met bold intimate glances appraising her, and shrank in her soul. The women wore more make-up than she liked. It gave them a hard look. Perhaps the haze of smoke that hung over everything emphasized it.

Ellery ordered cocktails, and when they came Betty tried to keep her hand from trembling as she raised the glass to her lips. She must not let Ellery see that this was her first taste of liquor.
But Ellery was not himself. He must have been drinking before he came for her. His loud excited voice seemed to rasp through her sensitive nerves.
Then the other two of the party arrived. A small dark girl with no back to her dress.
The man with her was overweight; with a bulging stomach and heavy bags under his small eyes. But the eyes twinkled when they saw Betty. He kept them on her for a full minute and she felt as if he had seen into her soul. She barely kept herself from shuddering. She loathed him. He wore an enormous diamond on his little finger. Another in his tie. His lips were thick and fulsome.
The floor show that was presently put on was almost a relief to Betty, though in spite of its glitter she was soon disgusted with the girls.
After the show Ellery asked the other girl if she would like to dance.
Left alone with the other man Betty was terribly frightened. But she mustn't let him see it, of course. She must try to think of something to talk about until Ellery came back and then she would demand that he take her home at once. But she couldn't think of a thing to say, and the man was looking at her. She hated that.
The man asked her to dance, but she shook her head.
"Thank you, no. I don't feel like dancing," she said languidly.
He offered her cigarettes but she shook her head.
He looked at her puzzled.
"What are you, anyway? Don't wantta dance, don't wantta smoke, don't wantta drink. Guess you're a kind of frost, aren't you?"
"Yes," said Betty trying to keep her lips from trembling, "that's what I am, a frost! That's what I'm trying to be — a frost!"
He gave her another puzzled look.

"You're deep! That's what you are, you're deep!" he decided.
"Yes," said Betty quickly. "I'm deep. I'm deep water frozen over!"
"Well," said the man lifting his weight and moving his chair nearer to her, "I've got to look into this."
"I'll tell you what you can do," she said with a shaky little voice that was trying to be gay, "you go and find Ellery Aiken for me and tell him I've been taken sick. Tell him I want him right away!"
He stared at her a minute and laughed.
"Is this some joke?" he asked. He wasn't exceedingly keen or he would have seen that she was frightened. But then he had been drinking freely and he was somewhat foggy in his perceptions.
"No!" she said sharply. "It's true! I'm sick! Get Ellery for me quick!"
He studied her stupidly another minute and then he said:
"All right, darling, if you say its sho it must be sho! I'll do my best!" He got up and tottered off, but then to her horror he turned back again and leaning over her chair said:
"You wouldn't razer I'd take you home, m'self!"
"No, thank you!" she said drawing a deep breath and feeling suddenly faint. The world seemed whirling under her.
But he went off and was lost among the dancers.
Her estimate of Ellery had gone down a good deal, yet she was glad to see his familiar form wending its way toward her, even though unsteadily.

"What's the matter, Babe? Didn't ya like the millionaire I got for ya, darling? Poor fish been taking too many drinks. I'll get ya 'nuther fella!"
"No, no! Ellery, I want to go home! I'm sick!" she shuddered and certainly did look sick.
"Aw, Babe! Don't get harsh with me! I'm your own dear Ellery! You wouldn't do that to me! Come on, Babe! Have it your own way then. We'll go home!"
Ellery was really drunk. She wasn't used to drunken men. She didn't know what strange things they could do. But when she saw the car start off with a leap and a shock she was more frightened than she had ever been in her life.
They were going at such a wild pace now that Betty felt that every moment might be her last. Past red lights they dashed on and the tears rolled down Betty's cheeks as she gripped the seat and tried to keep her balance.

"Here! Here! Isn't this Aster street? Yes, let's stop here! This will do nicely."
"This it? Okay by me! Let's just park awhile an' get a little sleep, Babe?" said the gallant knight bringing his car up to the curb with such a flourish that he mounted the curb and headed right into the pole that held the street sign.
Betty thought the end was coming and she had a wild thought of her mother, wondering who would tell her. The next second came the shock and she was thrown to her knees with her head against the dashboard of the car, stunned for the minute. Then her senses returned and she could hear Ellery talking apologetically over and over to the sign post.
Frightened and bruised and trembling, Betty managed to get the car door open and stumble out to the

That Nagging Backache
May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action
Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strains on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.
You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—in constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder may be burning, scanty or infrequent urination, kidneys to get rid of excess poisonous body waste. They are antiseptic to the urinary tract and tend to relieve irritating and the pain it causes. Many grateful people recommend Doan's. They have had more than forty years of public approval. ### RAIN AND HAIL BRING MOISTURE TO SO. PLAINS

Precipitation Here Measured 1.73.100 Inches; Some Hail Damage

Rains, varying from showers to three inches, and in many places accompanied by heavy hail, fell in the South Plains Tuesday evening.

Beginning about 5:30, rain fell here until about 9 o'clock, when 1 and 73.100 inches moisture had fallen, according to L. C. Cawley, official weather reporter.

Although plenty of hail fell, damage done was more than offset by the splendid moisture, which is being at this time, will prove beneficial in providing moisture for planting.

Other cities and communities reporting moisture were:

Spade half inch, with very heavy hail; Oklahoma Flat, one inch; Lowhouse Switch and section, 1 1/2 inches, with lots of hail; Sudan, 1 1/2 inches, with considerable hail; Amherst, 1 1/2 inches, with considerable small hail; Olton, above Fieldton and south, a good deal with Bula and Enoch receiving between two and three inches; Muleshoe and Brownfield one inch.

Damage from hail in Littlefield included roofs, which were caused to leak badly; gardens were more or less ruined; leaves were whipped off the trees considerably; and glass tubes broken on several of Neon signs. W. J. Chesher of the Palace Theatre reported Wednesday that about $50 damage was done by the hail to the Palace sign number of units of which were damaged.

R. A. Hargrove of three miles northwest of here stated Wednesday that two inches of rain fell in his vicinity; which was accompanied the first hail since 1935, which maged beyond repair the top of 1935 Chevrolet, which also ruined his garden.

Legionnaires Go On Record For Nazi Spy Film

These are stern days when measures wavering between indecision and weakness, have divided the world into an appalling struggle between the democracy and dictatorship and have placed the outcome in serious doubt.

Any step which serves to clarify the issue on the democratic side comes important, even to the point of being vital.

America has been fast asleep, the insidious propaganda and pervasive efforts directed against American democracy and American liberty; ruthless efforts striking the very foundation of our government. It is time to wake up!

The motion picture, "Confessions of a Nazi Spy," based on facts gathered by Uncle Sam's Federal Bureau of Investigation dares to tell the courage and willingness to accept the responsibility of making Americans wake up to the dangers confronting them and to assume obligations that is theirs, to defend their democracy and liberty if it is to be saved from a ruthless dictatorship, bastardly conceived and legally perpetuated, on a peace-loving people by a totalitarian government.

"Confessions of a Nazi Spy" tells the story of dictator government who would stifle American liberty, throttle American liberty, thought and speech and ensnare free people... tells it with a ring entirely unknown to the motion picture. It pulls no punches, names names and names places, scathingly exposes Hitler's plans to Nazify America under the guise of cultural advancement.

Thus it does democracy well; it offers a service of inestimable value, and, at the same time, remains an exciting, dramatic and thrilling piece of entertainment as has been checked the screen.

The American Legion is happy to salute the courage of Warner Berthelers who made "Confessions of a Nazi Spy," and the Palace Theatre, which will show it. We encourage "Confessions of a Nazi Spy" wholeheartedly recommend that every American see it at least once during its showing at the Palace Theatre Saturday midnight, Sunday and Monday.

Many Ways Named To Reduce Surplus Of Texas Cotton Crop

College Station, Texas, May 15.—Use of cotton bags for 12 per cent of the 1937 fertilizer sales accounted for 19,000 bales of cotton.

A carload of sugar put up in cotton bags accounts for the production of four and two-thirds acres of average cotton land and gives work to 83 people. In 1938, America used 120,000 carloads of sugar. If it were all in cotton bags, it would have meant four month's work to 100,000 people and the crop from more than a half million acres of cotton.

If each of the 503,000 farm families in Texas could have a new, 50 pound home-made cotton mattress—and most families need several new mattresses—it would mean the consumption of 50,000 bales of cotton in this state alone.

Cotton bagging as a package for cotton bales, introduced last year when it was used on 17,000 bales in Texas, is superior to jute and sisal bagging from the standpoint of durability and is much preferred by spinners, who now have to comb jute and sisal fibers from the cotton.

Use of cotton bagging, cotton rope for ties, and cotton patches would not only use up around 200,000 bales of cotton annually, but would reduce the gross weight of a bale of cotton by 20 pounds, and would thus effect a saving of several million dollars a year in freight and other handling charges.

The new glass door makes the kitchen much lighter and more pleasant to work in, Mrs. Mary Brantley told the Perry Home Demonstration club members. WESTBROOK HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB HAS INTERESTING MEET TUESDAY, MAY 2

Home-made finishes for old floors was the demonstration given at the Westbrook Home Demonstration club meet Tuesday afternoon, May 2, in the home of Mrs. E. E. Alexander.

"Stains, paint, and varnishes removers, crack fillers and floor wax can be made at home at very little expense," Mrs. C. A. Thomas told club members. "By the use of one or all of these and a sheet of double-O sand paper, a rough, warped floor can be made very attractive. For very old floors which are rough and splintery, paint is more satisfactory than varnish or oil. A deck paint will give much better service and wear longer if protected by a coat of hard clear varnish and then waxed. Stain your putty to fill cracks with the same stain as used on the floor. A weak solution of potassium permanganate, 1 ounce to 2 quarts of water, makes a light oak color. To remove old paint or varnish, mix 4 ounces benzole, 3 ounce fusel oil, 1 ounce alcohol. This will make the surface quite clean in less than ten minutes."

After the business meeting and the demonstration, refreshments were served to Mesdames W. B. Williams, W. S. Baker, C. A. Thomas, V. A. Hines, S. L. Davis, W. H. Qualls, Millard Phillips, E. E. Alexander, Spears, and Massey.

Member of this club met Tuesday, May 16, in the attractive home of Mrs. V. A. Hines, where a pleasant surprise was had for all who attended. Mrs. Ruth Perry, home demonstration agent, gave a demonstration on light, air and screens.

What we especially like about Century Tires is that they are designed and built for traffic conditions as they actually exist today. Modern cars travel at high speeds—have powerful motors—big brakes—small wheels. Your safety demands a new range of tire performance—you get it in these advanced Century Tires.

Century sidewalls are specially reinforced with full weight, full strength cord. This puts up to 30% more strength into this vital area—overcomes dangerous, high speed flexing strain.

Century beads are made of rust-proof, high tensile steel wire welded into continuous cables. They can't stretch—won't break—are seven times stronger than actually needed.

The Century Speed-Grip tread is deeper grooved for added traction. This assures efficient braking, easy handling, an extra measure of non-skid mileage.

You are invited to stop and see our Century Tires with their notable construction features. In them you obtain new safety with ultra modern design—silence and comfort with added mileage. In our honest opinion, Century Ultra Service Tires are the final word in true tire value.

SENSATIONAL NAZI SPY DRAMA OPENS AT PALACE THEATRE SATURDAY MIDNIGHT

"Confessions of a Nazi Spy," starring Edward G. Robinson, has its local showing Saturday midnight at the Palace Theatre and running through Sunday and Monday. It is a sensational expose of the direct military espionage of Nazi agents in the United States as brought out in the recent trials in New York, Los Angeles and the Panama Canal zone. Leon G. Turrour, former G.I., acted as technical advisor on the Warner Bros. production.

Anatole Litvak, noted director of such brilliantly successful pictures as "The Sisters" and "Mayerling," directed, with a huge cast which included, besides Robinson, Paul Lukas, Louis Lederer, Lya Lys, Dorothy Lewis, Henry O'Neill, George Sanders, Henry Victor, Grace Stafford and hundreds of others.

Robinson plays the G-Man who leads the spy ring and brings four of its members to trial and conviction. Lukas portrays the doctor who leads the ring; Lederer is the bungling Nazi informer; and Lya Lys is the exotic beauty who uses her feminine wiles to get information for the Nazis.

"Confessions of a Nazi Spy" goes beyond the mere expose of a small spy ring. It shows the open and flaccid campaign that Hitler supporters are waging in this country against the nation's democratic institutions. And it shows that the spy menace is still very great, and that every spy brought to justice during the recent trials in New York, Los Angeles and the Panama Canal zone, there are a hundred still operating at large. To quote Mr. Turrour, the recent spy trials "barely scratched the surface."

Simple, human and inspiring, the significant motion picture coming to the Ritz Theatre Saturday midnight, continuing through Sunday and Monday, pays homage to his genius and to a woman's devotion. Harry F. Zanuck's production of the Story of Alexander Graham Bell, a Cosmopolitan production for the Century-Fox, with Don Ameche in the title role, Loretta Young and Henry Fonda sharing stellar honors, tells with power, with humor and with profound humanity the drama of a great man and the love that inspired him.

1939 P&G Servel Electrolux Contest Announced This Week

Anticipating an enthusiastic participation by the housewives of Littlefield and vicinity in a popular nation-wide contest featuring the awarding of 360 de luxe gas or Kerosene refrigerators to winners, Bigham & Onstead will collaborate with the sponsors of the competition which will last from May 22 to July 2, it was announced by that firm. A total of 12 refrigerators a day will be awarded during the period of the contest.

"With the rules of the contest so simple, with the task of writing the short 25 word sentences so easy, and with the rewards so gratifying, we feel that the housewives in this vicinity will be eager to join in a competition where they will stand a good chance of winning one of the 'Duchess' model Servel Electrolux refrigerators which are offered to successful contestants," Mr. I. D. Onstead stated.

"The enthusiasm with which a similar contest held a year ago was greeted by women all over the United States is an indication of the ever-growing desire for modern refrigeration in the household, and therefore, our company is happy to announce its cooperation in making the contest even more successful than that of last year.

"Consequently, our company invites those who wish to enter the contest this year, to call at our salesrooms where they will receive courteous attention and where they will receive complete information regarding the details of the competition. We will also supply entry blanks to all applicants.

"No one need hesitate to enter the contest, as by so doing the entrant has an opportunity to win a refrigerator, and it goes without saying that our company will be only too gratified if among the 360 winners, one or more of the contestants is a resident of this community.

"To win a refrigerator, no high literary abilities are required, nor does one have a particular aptitude for writing. In fact, just a concise, spontaneous expression of thought put in the simplest kind of language may result in winning a refrigerator.

"The contest will be conducted by Proctor and Gamble, the well known soap manufacturing concern, in collaboration with Servel, Inc., makers looked wildly back at Ellery. He was unconscious of her presence. Already he was drawing long breaths in a drunken sleep. She fled up the dark street. With Sheridan coming home that night from a hard drive which had taken him into the country on a detour that had a long rough detour, he came into the city at last with a sense of relief. He was tired out and he turned a corner he noticed ahead of him being crazily turning a corner on two wheels and tearing madly away. A farther on the same car came to another corner straight at him and he barely avoided a collision. He swerved away from the car and looked ahead to see the car was dashing on the sidewalk. He heard the crash of glass and the splintered glass of the windshield, heard a girl's voice in fear, and then silence!

Fingerprints By Television

form like a shadow slip out the other door of the car and topple up the street in the shadow of the houses.

He started his car slowly again and followed watching.

And now Betty was aware of a car, and tried to hurry faster. Blindly she ran, and caught her toe in a brick of the pavement and fell prostrate.

For a minute the breath was knocked from her body so that she thought she was dying, and then she felt someone lift her, and she froze with horror again. Had Ellery run after her and caught her? Oh, she wished that she had died! Rather anything than to be in his power again.

The doctor lifted her very tenderly and looked into her face, gently lifted one of her eyelids, and in the flare of a street light Betty suddenly recognized him.

"Oh, Doctor, Doctor, you won't tell mother, will you?" she gasped. "It would kill Mother to know I had done this!" And suddenly Betty burst into a flood of tears and buried her face in the breast of the doctor's big fur-lined overcoat.

"Betty! Is it you, dear child?" The doctor's voice was very tender, and he held her close in his arms an instant looking quickly up and down the street.

He quickly strode with her in his arms to his car and put her in.

"You won't tell mother!" pleaded Betty between the sobs.

"No, of course not, dear child! Now tell me all about it!"

"Oh—I went out—with a young man from the office—I thought he was all right—He was going to take me to a night club!" Betty was talking very fast, trying to get her breath and tell a coherent story, but her sobs interrupted her.

"He took me — to a dreadful place! It was awful! Everybody was drunk! — I was frightened. I made him bring me home. But I found he was drunk too! He wouldn't stop—and let me out—"

She gave way in another burst of tears, and he put both arms about her and held her close again, as if he were comforting a little child.

"Oh, I'm so—so— glad you came! I thought he was—chasing—me!" (To be Continued)

ODDFELLOWS TO CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY FOUNDING FIRST FRATERNAL ORPHANAGE

Odd Fellows of Littlefield will celebrate this month the anniversary of the founding of the worlds first fraternal orphanage.

On May 11, 1875, in Meadville, Pa., this orphanage was opened by the Independent Order Of Odd Fellows. A little girl who had lost both parents was the first to enter it.

Since that day, the Odd Fellows have founded and maintained 65 homes for the care of orphans and aged members. Thousands of parentless children have a home, an education and care in these homes.

The great expense of maintaining these homes is borne by the more than 1,500,000 members of the Odd Fellows, divided into more than 25,000 subordinate lodges, principally on the North American continent.

wednesday afternoon and died in a Waxahachie hospital late that night. The dapper, unmasked bandit shot President Wilemon of the First State bank of Maypearl in the back and escaped after robbing the bank of about $1,000. A 21-year-old man who was released from the Huntsville penitentiary about 60 days ago, was arrested the following day. He told police in Denison that his name was Burton Franks of Bonham, and admitted having robbed the Maypearl bank and shot the president.

Supt. of Sunday School Mr. Wilemon had been president of the Maypearl bank for the past two years, having previously been in the gin business for a large number of years. He had been a steward in the Maypearl Methodist church for more than 20 years, and was at the time of his death, superintendent of the Sunday school.

He is survived by his wife and two sons, Darrel, who is a senior in North Texas Agriculture college at Arlington, and Wright, 11; and five brothers, Claude of Arlington; Lawrence of Midlothian; T. C. of Waxahachie; G. H. of Kerens; and Oscar of Littlefield.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilemon returned to Littlefield Sunday night, after attending the final rites at Maypearl.

AAA program is "just as necessary as our next meal."

He called the tariff the number one racket of America, and showed in graphic form how it operates, to everything he produces. He charged beat the farmer out of half of it with the loss of foreign markets for American farm products, and explained that the contention that it protects the American standard of living is as phony as a set of false whiskers. Thirty-nine of the most highly protected industries, he said pay their laborers from $400 to $500 less wages annually than do 39 free industries.

The average duty under the Smoot-Hawley tariff, Haines pointed out, is 52.6 per cent.

"That is the same as saying that the farmer is hijacked out of 52.6 per cent of everything he produces, whether he ships his products abroad or keeps them at home," he went on.

"Imagine a ship headed for Europe with a cargo of cotton produced in Lamb county," he suggested. "About the same time your ship takes off, a similar steamer loaded with goods produced by your competitor heads from South America for the same European market. Since this country has 60 per cent of the world's gold buried in a vault in Kentucky, Europe doesn't have enough gold left to buy one of our cotton crops without destroying the basis of her currency. Therefore your ship, like that of your competitor, must trade its cargo for goods."

"A painful thing about it is that you can trade your cotton for about twice as many goods over there as you can over here—it doesn't make much difference whether they are American-made goods or not, you can still get about twice as many."

"But the tragic thing about it is that your competitor in South America can take home and use the goods he gets in exchange for his cotton. When your boat gets back to Galveston, your duty-constituted custom official goes aboard your vessel, and—under the terms of the Smoot-Hawley tariff—he hijacks you out of 52.6 per cent of your goods."

"And it doesn't make any difference whether you keep your cotton at home. You have to pay twice as much for the goods you buy on the money you get for your cotton over here. It's six of one and half a dozen of the other."

Haines said West Texas farmers are paying a freight rate differential of 75 per cent — "an unjust overcharge which must be changed."

"There is no justification for the over-charge," he asserted, "because the president's committee on an economic study of the South found that the per-ton cost of shipping here is less than in the Northeast where they have the cheapest rates in the country."

MEET OUR COMPLETE WATER HEATER FAMILY

Yes, sir, folks, I'm the puppy of 'em all. You can put me anywhere in your house and you will never know I'm there on the job —always giving you plenty of hot water. That's my trouble. I'm so safe, silent, and dependable that everybody takes me for granted. I'm not bragging, but you'll be surprised the many nice things millions of users say about me.

Just because I am not as big as the other puppies, I am just as efficient. I'll do a swell job of heating your water. I'll fit into the tightest of spaces —just me into any socket and I'll be there. No fuss—no muss. I'm not bragging, either; but thousands of people need me in their homes and offices.

Yeah, man! My name is T. Kettle of the latest line of Kettles. Everybody knows how useful as Kettles have always been. I may be little, but, boy—I get hot and boil for you in a jiffy. And if I get too hot, I'll kick the plug out, so you don't have to worry about me burning up. And when a man can do that—he has a right to brag, hasn't he?
