Mrs. Richard Daughtry

Holding on to the present and building for the future "hardly ever see my husband these days" . . . "so caring for the baby there is no time for hobbies" . . .

Richard Daughtry, wife of the Rev. Richard Daughtry, pastor of the Amherst Church of Christ in Lubbock, is a young woman with a lot to do and doing her part to make her home a better place.

Mrs. Daughtry came to Lubbock in August, 1952, after more than a month after being married at Altus, Oklahoma in June.

In addition to being regular member of the congregation of 125 members, Mrs. Daughtry teaches Sunday school during summer months and assists in Vacation Bible School at churches over the area and even last summer in Texas. During regular term he is director of the field high school chorus and junior high school chorus, all the trips to Contest and activities.

Mrs. Daughtry has been driving to Littlefield each evening from 6:30 to 7:30 in a play staged by the church and Band Boosters, and making a mad dash to Dimmock where he has been teaching during school.

Sundays Mr. Daughtry preaches at the regular hour and Sunday afternoon conducts Young People's Meeting at church. Sunday mornings sometimes sees as many as 28 married people in the Daughtry's living room for a regular Sunday School Class taught by George Tonley, since they have to move out of the church building for lack of space.

The congregation hopes to build completely new Sanctuary at the west end when this is accomplished they will use the old part as an educational building.

The Ladies Bible Class of the church meets each Tuesday afternoon in the church, with Mrs. Stone as their teacher. The

CHORUS PLAY

A large crowd enjoyed a performance of a three act comedy "House of Health" in the High school auditorium Tuesday night. The play featured parents of High school chorus members, and was presented for the benefit of the chorus fund to purchase new robes.

most cherished possession—a beautiful, brown-eyed daughter, now nine months old, Diana Dawn (Dawn) when they are in a hurry) is experimenting with the fascinating business of walking and "finally has two teeth." Her parents acquired a movie camera when she was a few weeks old and enjoy recording the rapid changes she is making.

Although her husband is a singer, Mrs. Daughtry says "I'm not anything special." She has studied piano and plays for her own amusement but not publicly. With her training in Home Economics, of course, sews for herself and her daughter.

A family joke with the Daughtrys which seems to go on and on is that Mrs. Daughtry is so often mistaken for a school girl. In her home and away. One of the most amusing occasions was the day Mr. Daughtry starting teaching in Littlefield high schools and the principal of junior high school asked if she had been enrolled and whether or not she was an eighth or ninth grade student.

A source of sympathy and understanding for his dream, and busy at her own task of home-making adds to the capacity of this Minister to accomplish his chosen work.

Finest Hour of the Twenty-Four!

He's traveling his favorite highway behind the wheel of his favorite car—and he's about an hour out from his destination.

What a happy prospect for a happy hour!

Imagine, for instance, the marvelous rest and relaxation it will bring him.

He'll just sit there with his hands resting gently on the wheel... cradled by those deep, soft cushions... and with the soft sound of the wind for a lullaby.

And insofar as his driving is concerned—well, what could be more restful! The car's every movement will be regulated by the merest touch of toe and hand. Steering, for instance, will be little more than a gesture... and braking will require only the gentlest pressure on the pedal.

And what a wonderful time it will be to think and plan! For his mind will clear and his spirits will rise with each passing mile.

Yes, he's about to enjoy one of the finest hours of the whole twenty-four—and it may even be one of the most profitable!

In fact, many of America's foremost executives will tell you that some of their wisest business decisions have been made at the wheel of a Cadillac.

As you might have gathered, you've been missing out on something wonderful if you haven't treated yourself to an hour in a 1955 Cadillac.

That's why we say—come in soon and take a "sixty-minute vacation" in the "car of cars."

The keys are waiting for you—and you'll be welcome at any time.

Letters To The Editor

Clovis, New Mexico
March 28, 1955

Dear Sir:
I understand you are to print the history of Littlefield very soon.

It is a pity that the last to happen to be the last to happen today who set up the tent that was the beginning of Littlefield. There were four of us who crossed the plains from Well, N. M. in the fall of 1911. I was A. P. Duggan at the Yellow-house Ranch and moved on to the present site of Littlefield where we set up a tent, which was the beginning of Littlefield.

Later on I helped survey the site out. Old man Carrigan was a son in Roswell, and Tom Burge and a man by the name of Phillips and myself, plus Duggan who we met at the time we were the five men, or four and a boy, I was 11 years old then—we were the whole surveying crew.

When we worked at the ranch as a boy and later came back to survey the cows on the Yellow-house again I also worked for a while on the old 4-Lakes.

Do not believe anyone knows the history of the beginning of Littlefield.

Sincerely,
C. P. Johnson
Rt. 3, Clovis, N. M.

Editors Note: We regret that Mr. Johnson's letter did not arrive in time to be included in the Historical Edition. However because of the interest in the history of our town, we are printing it here.)

Letters To The Editor

April 2, 1955
Lamb County Leader (or is it)
Littlefield, Texas
Dear Editor:

I am sort of hazy as to what is the present paper in Littlefield.

During this afternoon I have been doing a bit of reminiscing. A Mr. Eth Lynn, of your town was down for a visit and sent for me. So, we had quite a visit. About 46 years ago, I spent a night with the family, and saw them several times. Have been here 45 years, but sometimes heard of them. They removed to Littlefield about 1925. Seen to be friends of our old friends, the Farquhars, and others up there.

Always, I am listening for good stories—so we talked quite awhile today. Had no that of your paper at the time, but am sending the jottings along. Not so good, but maybe you might care to run, if not too lengthy. This, for several reasons.

About Jan., 1913, Mr. Arthur Duggan proposed that I go up with him and put in the store at Littlefield. I had no money, but that would have been attended to—I later learned. In 1916, we came across the prairie, from Redland, N. M., and there was a PLANK store on the site. In 1918, when we all were starving down here, I went thru the town and was pounced upon—to take the Newspaper. Still, I did not feel interested.

When approached by Mr. Duggan, we were at the little grocery store in Lubbock, visiting my wife's (late) Uncle, Joe Baldridge, who late became a baker—you know the rest—he found his calling.

Sincerely yours,
BEN MOORE, SR.
Another of my wife's uncles,
Jno. Matthews was a pastor up

there—died last year, in Lubbock)
ETH LYNN TOLD ME THIS (B. M.)

Altho I was born in Alabama, at an early age, my parents settled some mile, east of San Marcos. Some of my early experiences involved the "roping" of lizards, by fastening a twine string to the end of a pole, then managuing to get the loop over the lizard's head, after which it was a most effective bait for the large catfish then found in The San Marcos river.

Shortly before I was ten, my father decided to move westward, taking the family in a wagon. My older brother and myself drove a handful of stock, which consisted of one cow and three heifers, with brother riding a pony. I was obliged to travel the long journey on foot, my job being that of punching along a three month old calf, which later developed into a nice fullblooded Durham bull. Goodblooded cattle were almost unknown in those days.

Perhaps most folks know that Texas traded 3,000 acres of land in northwest Texas, in 1884 to a Northern syndicate for the erection of the State Capitol. But not many can recall the placing of the dome of that fine building. It was being placed as we forded the Colorado there, in 1886. Our route took us thru Brownwood and the little town of Santa Anna, where we encountered a large herd of cattle headed for Abilene. The outfit insisted that we place our little herd with theirs, and that I crawl into one of their wagons. Thus I probably prevented my feet from wearing entirely away. After spending five days in the town of Abilene, we wended our way to the frontier town of Colorado City, where one night was spent—a Saturday night camp being pitched in the bed of the Colorado. With many saloons and much courting thru the night, we broke our rule of not traveling on the Sabbath by starting at once to Abilene, next morning.

After renting some land near the little town, we with several others were approached by a man who promised to erect a gin. If we would agree to each plant a patch of cotton. In the fall of '88 a one-stand gin ginned the first cotton grown in that section. We then moved to Valley Creek, in the southwest part of Taylor county, where we grew up with the country. And we were in quite a paradise—wild honey, game, fish, pecans.

When we were yet in our teens, a fellow opened a snake-buying station in Abilene, calling for both rattlesnakes and bullsnakes, and offering 30 cents per pound for live snakes. He soon complained that bullsnakes killed his rattlesnakes when confined together.

We found that following the winter months, bullsnakes were very poor-light in weight. Many young rabbits were brot in for them. In feeding hen's eggs we found that rotten eggs were relished, also. Thus bullsnakes were fattened for market—quite a lucrative business was carried on for several years. The big fellows were docile enough as we often had occasion to carry them in our arms, but should a dog come near, they became unruly, and dangerous, sometimes undertaking to wind their bodies about our necks.

CONCORD, N. H. (AP)—Lane Dwinell, at an Executive Council meeting, nominated Harry Savage for appointment as associate justice of the New Hampshire supreme court to replace Seymour L. Dwinell. Members of the council said "Who's Seymour L. Dwinell?" The chief executive informed them he is now governor of New Hampshire. The governor, who was pointed to the court post in 1951 under his full name of Seymour Lane Dwinell, said he dropped the first name when he was elected to the House of Representatives in 1919.

THEY KEPT FAITH IN GOD AND MAN

The sculptor has reproduced many characteristics in the Pioneer Mother Statue. Courage, resoluteness, fortitude show in this work of art. Only the kind of people that are depicted in this statue could have carved a nation out of a vast wilderness as they did. They had one other characteristic not brought out by the sculptor's skill and art. They had faith, faith in themselves and faith in a higher power.

In spite of hardships, that would have staggered most of us today, they kept their faith. They held onto it in spite of everything. The pioneer mother took along with her a determination which enabled her to have a sustaining aid. No sooner had her home been erected than she and her husband began to see the erection of a church to meet their needs.

The church which sustained the pioneers in their new homes is worth just as much to you. Are you realizing its benefits?

Triple Threat Outfit For Young Sewing Fans

By DOROTHY ROE
 Associated Press Women's Editor

When the calendar points to March, young seamstresses everywhere begin to think about new spring outfits.

This year many girls are bypassing the traditional spring suit in favor of a warm-weather version of their pet winter outfit. The jumper ensemble is more popular now than ever, particularly in a version that can be worn three ways.

A jumper and shirt-dress combination will do triple duty clear through the summer. Made from a standard pattern, a favorite style teams a flattering button-down-the-front princess jumper with a simple and versatile shirt-dress.

Local sewing center experts suggest making the jumper of any solid color linen, the dress in a light-ground cotton print in a coordinating color.

The jumper requires 4 1/2 yards of 55-inch linen, the dress 4 1/2 yards of the same width fabric.

Jumper requires 1/2 yard of 36-inch wide fabric for the collar and cuffs. Worn together, the two make a striking redingote ensemble. But each can go its own way separately for school or dates.

When selecting your pattern, look for one that is precision cut for junior figures, with perforation in the pattern pieces to make it easy to transfer pattern markings to the fabric with chalk.

Since the jumper buttons all the way down the front, you'll find the buttonhole attachment of your sewing machine a timesaver in making buttonholes.

THREE-WAY EMSEMBLE
 This linen jumper and print shirt-dress may be worn together or separately, are easy to make at home.

WHO DOES WHAT A DIRECTORY OF SERVICE

A unique piece of equipment has been designed by Buck Ross which enabled his firm to bring a new service to Lamb County.

There are several advantages of the rig including its ability to dig rapidly a hole that is ideal for a cess pool. As a result of its efficiency, the cost of obtaining a cess pool is less than with older type rigs. This is the first rig of its kind to be built in Lamb County.

Buck Ross is well known in the area for doing all types of dirt contracting. The firm which was originated in 1940, now has big equipment sufficient to do dirt work of any kind. Among his equipment are bulldozers, motor graders, track-type loaders, carriers, and portable electric welders.

Ross offers free estimates and encourage his customers to phone him collect with his slogan, "My phone rings louder when you call collect."

Miraculous Margo Of Dallas, Texas Waves Wand for Young Playwrights

By MARSHALL COMERER

AP Newsfeatures

DALLAS, Tex.—It is curtain time at Theater '55. As the house lights dim, a small slightly plump lady in her early 40s and wearing an evening dress slips around a corner, smiles and nods to friends as she takes her seat.

As she watches the play, an alertness in her manner and a faint smile on her face remind you of a fond mother watching the performance of a gifted child.

The lady is Margo Jones, whom many playwrights look upon as a fairy godmother.

They have good reason. She is the lady who founded the foremost professional theater in America today dedicated to producing new plays.

She is credited with establishing America's first theater-in-the-round, the highly popular modern stucco-and-glass theater on the Texas State Fair grounds here.

She produced her first play in the family barn at the age of 11, and since has produced or directed almost 300 plays, ranging from high school amateur productions to a hand in such Broadway shows as Tennessee Williams' "Glass Menagerie" and Maxwell Anderson's "Ivanhoe Lorraine."

She is so determined to use only new scripts that she canceled led one play scheduled for this season when she learned that it had been given once before by a summer stock theater.

"You see, I want to live in a wider era of the theater," says Margo, one of those friendly dynamic persons you call by first name as soon as you are introduced.

"Theaters in the past have been great because of the quality of their writing. You can have good writing only if you have authors have a chance to get their plays produced."

This is a chance playwrights dream about and they have been sending Margo new scripts on the average of one or two per day.

Margo reads every play sent her and sends her comment to the author.

"It's the only decent thing to do," she says. "He has worked hard in writing his play and he is waiting for your answer."

On tables and a book shelf in Margo's hotel apartment which serves as both office and home are neatly arranged stacks of new plays sent her by playwrights, agents and friends.

"There are more good plays being written today than people realize," says Margo. "They need only to be produced. If they don't get a chance to be seen, a lot of our promising talent will be lost.

"If we just had 20 theaters like ours around the country, young writers could support themselves while developing their talents."

Even during her Broadway successes Margo was working out the plans for her dream theater, which became a reality in the summer of 1947.

Margo originally planned a flexible playhouse. But the city fire department refused to approve the building selected. With no other suitable building available she decided her plans could be carried out just as well by arena staging the theater-in-the-round.

She opened the theater on June 3, 1947, calling it Theater '57. She changes the name on every Jan. 1.

The tiny theater can accommodate 198 people. Its seats, a gift from Texas theater owned Phil Isley, the father of movie actress Jennifer Jones, are arranged in elevated rows on the four sides. The playing area, 12 by 18 feet, is in the center. Theater-goers walk across it to get to their seats. If he wanted to, a person sitting in the front row could reach out and touch the actors.

Her still growing theater has expanded in nine years from a 10-week season of four new plays and one classic to a 45-week season and 12 new plays and 2 classics.

How to be A Popular Grandma

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D. AP Newsfeatures

A grandmother can be one of the grandest heaven-sent blessings, or she can be its put it mildly, a terrible pain in the neck.

When your first grandchild is born, treat the young mother as a grown-up and capable of doing her job well. Treat her as an equal and a friend, not as a child who owes you special respect.

When the baby comes, admire him, and compliment the mother on the way she cares for her baby. Never, never let her feel that she doesn't know how to bring up her children properly. Don't criticize, don't offer advice unless it's asked for.

Even when you are asked, be modest about your experience. Remember, your experience is a generation old. Much has been learned about babies in this time and some of the new things are good.

Remember that the experienced mother may be in her heart a little afraid of your maturity and experience. She needs reassurance that she is able to handle her new job well.

At the same time, be helpful. A young mother is often overwhelmed at her new responsibilities and welcomes sympathetic help. But give help that builds up her ego and doesn't tear it down. If she is interested in reading about the newer methods of baby and child care, it might be a good idea if you read some of the same books and articles. You may be surprised to find some really good ideas. Fortified with modern knowledge, you can discuss it, raising without always thinking about the way you did it.

Try your best to baby sit whenever you are asked. Give your daughter or your daughter-in-law the feeling that you are a Rock of Gibraltar that she can always fall back on. Make our own home the kind of place the children love to

Big news about Buick's 4-Door Riviera

This brand-new kind of automobile—the sensation of all the Auto Shows this year—is now rolling off the Buick assembly lines in volume numbers. That's the first news.

And the second is just as wonderful—this dramatic new model is very definitely everything that eager buyers hoped it would be.

For the 4-Door Riviera is the first "hardtop" ever available with separate doors for rear-seat passengers—plus rear-compartment room big as a Buick-size family sedan.

It comes breezing in with all the low-lined sweep and wide open visibility of Buick's original 2-Door Riviera—and with luxurious new spaciousness in its sizeable and full-length 4-door body.

With windows down, no posts appear for the rear doors, and you get a completely unobstructed view at both sides.

You find rear doors are hinged at their front edges to swing wide and free, and assure easy entrance and exit.

And you'll find legroom, headroom and hiproom extra-generous both front and rear—with interiors tailored in fabrics and patterns specially reserved for the 4-Door Riviera.

Best of all, this new Buick beauty comes off the line in both the low-price SPECIAL Series and the high-powered CENTURY Series.

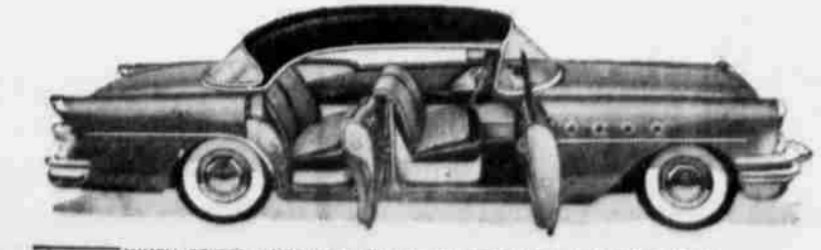

So you can pick your 4-Door Riviera with the potent performance of a 188-hp or 236-hp Buick V8 engine—the swift get-away and gas saving of Variable Pitch Dynaflow—the velvet stride of the Million Dollar Ride—the long list of Buick bonus features at no extra cost—and all at "great buy" prices that have helped move Buick into America's "Big Three" of best sellers.

But—better come see us about the 4-Door Riviera now.

With all-out production—and a prompt order—this newest excitement in cars will be yours that much sooner.

*Dynaflow Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

It's Karo for me, the best-tasting waffle syrup of 'em all!

Yes, indeed... biscuits go like hot cakes when you pour on plenty of delicious Karo waffle syrup. There's nothing like it for good eating. Satisfyin' flavor. So rich it stands right up on top of biscuits (keeps 'em light and fluffy). Keep Karo on your table morning, noon and night... it tops anything!

Ask your grocer for Karo waffle syrup, in pints and quarts

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
 BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN
 No Greater Fool
 Lesson for April 17, 1953

IT WAS the day of the great mass-meeting. The new administration was meeting the voters face to face. At least, the man who hoped and expected to be the administrator was facing the people he hoped to rule. The right word is "rule." For this was in the days when kings were kings and not mere signers of other men's documents. And this particular king was none other than the son of the one and only son of the famous King Solomon. His name was Rehoboam, and if ever a greater fool lived on this earth, history has just recorded. As a matter of fact, he could not be king automatically. The nation had not been a kingdom very long; there had been only three kings in all, Saul, David and Solomon. And in every case, the king had been elected by vote of the people. It was what we would call technically an elective monarchy, not yet a hereditary one. So Rehoboam had to persuade the people that he was worthy of election. He could not be king of any tribe if that tribe did not vote for him.

Dr. Foreman

A Royal Fool
 Rehoboam now proceeded to do everything wrong. The people asked him the perennial question: What about taxes? Solomon's reign had been magnificent—if you lived in the palace. If you lived out in the villages or on a farm it looked different. The royal officers were everywhere, bleeding the people for all the taxes and all the forced labor that the royal magnificence required for its upkeep. The people told Rehoboam that Solomon's yoke was grievous; they begged him to make it lighter. Rehoboam asks for time to think. He spends that time asking advice. The older counsellors, his father's trusted wise men, tell him to go light on the people. In fact they give him the whole theory of good government in a nutshell: "If you will be a servant unto this people, then they will be your servants for ever." Then Rehoboam asks the younger men, his own contemporaries, what he shall do. They give him the completely foolish advice to bear down on the people, treat 'em rough, tell them nothing good. So the foolish Rehoboam goes out and says in effect, "You took a beating to my father's time—but you haven't been anything yet. If he beat you with whips, I'll beat you with scorpions."

Nine Hundred and Ninety-Nine Stepmothers
 Of course Rehoboam lost the election. Only one tribe stood by him. The rest went off and elected another king of their own. A kingdom that David had won by courage and heroism had held by wisdom, was kicked away by Rehoboam out of sheer foolishness. What made Rehoboam such a fool? It was his poor youth. At the time of this episode he was fifty years old, and if a man had to sign by the time he is forty, it is too late to hope. Part of the trouble may have been his 999 stepmothers. Solomon was married a hundred times, but we have no record of any children except his son Rehoboam. Considering what havoc intrigues are in the Orient, and considering the fact that most if not all of Solomon's immense harem were healthier women, it would not be surprising if Rehoboam's mother (who herself was a daughter from Ammon) was over-supplied with bad advice from Rehoboam's nosy stepmothers. Some boys are born, some are made. They are home-made, many of them. One of the best ways to produce a fool in your family is to listen to all the stupid advice the neighbors can give you.

The Voice of Inexperience
 Another thing was wrong with Rehoboam, and for this we cannot blame his mother nor his congregation of stepmothers. It was his own fault that he preferred to listen to the men his own age, men who like himself had grown up in the luxury of the court, men who knew nothing of practical affairs, preferred to listen to them, the voices of inexperience, rather than to the older men whose advice Solomon had tried and presumably found good. Rehoboam being himself without experience could not tell, of course, beforehand, whether the older or younger men were right.
