Amherst City Tax Collections Spurt

Approximately 20 per cent of the 1950 city taxes in Amherst now have been paid, Mrs. J. C. Moreland, city tax collector, reported Monday.

Tax collections on city assessments spurted last week when collectors for county and state taxes visited Amherst and many taxpayers cleared all tax slates on one visit, she said.

Total tax assessments for 1950 by the City of Amherst are $10,218.02 at the rate of $1.50 per $100 on a total real and personal assessed valuation of $618,202.

Of the total valuation for taxation purposes, real property provided $568,149 and personal property $113,062.

Total amount of taxes paid to date is slightly in excess of $2,000, Mrs. Moreland said.

The taxes become delinquent after February 1. A discount of 2 per cent is made if taxes are paid in October or November and a 1 per cent discount is made in December, she said.

Amherst Meets New Mexico 11 At Home Friday

The Amherst Bulldogs, idle last week, will resume the football wars Friday night, when the team meets the Eunice, New Mexico, eleven on the Bulldog field.

The game is scheduled to start at 7:30 o'clock.

The game at Amherst is a return engagement, the two teams having met earlier in the season in the New Mexico city.

The Eunice eleven turned back the Bulldogs in that early season encounter, 18 to 6, and Coach A. D. Shaver and his charges have high hopes of reversing the score Friday night.

Thus far the Bulldogs have an

.750 average for the season, having won six games while losing two. In addition to the early loss to Eunice the Amherst eleven bowed to the strong Price College team in Amarillo, 13 to 52.

The team will journey to Ft. Sumner, New Mexico for its season closer November 3.

The season's record to date: Amherst 12, Melrose 0, Amherst 6, Eunice 18, Amherst 20, Boys Ranch 12, Amherst 25, Clovis B 6, Amherst 13, Price College 52, Amherst 19, Clovis B 0.

Nitrogen can be added to the soil for five cents per pound if it is done by plowing under a legume crop. The cost will be at least three times that figure if the nitrogen is purchased by the sack.

Football Field Bleachers Fund Set for Amherst

Amherst school will take the first step in creating a fund for the construction of bleachers at the football field with the presentation of a school talent show in the high school auditorium Tuesday night, October 31.

The show will feature acts by students from each of the 12 grades as well as those in the vocational agriculture, vocational homemaking and music departments, Supt. of Schools W. D. Kay, said.

While no admission will be charged for the big school talent entertainment those attending may make contributions to the bleachers fund, he said. Donations of 25 and 50 cents have been suggested for the show.

Jimmie Houk Opens News Stand At Former Location of Bakery

Jimmie Houk has leased the Hall building, next to the K. Houk Grocery & Market, which was formerly occupied by the City Bakery, and will operate a news stand at this address under the name of City News Stand.

A portion of his equipment was moved in Friday, including the popcorn machine, music boxes, large candy case, in which he is keeping candies, gums, and all the articles that go with such a business.

A shoe shine stand is being installed, and magazines of all kinds, newspapers, etc., will be carried.

Mr. Houk is a pioneer of Littlefield, having come here in 1923. He was in business in this city for 24 years, most of which was spent in the grocery field, and the balance in the laundry business. He sold out about three years ago.

Mr. Houk came here from Clovis, where he had been about three years, previous to which he was a resident of Indiana.

Pfc. Harland Downs Back in Service

HAPPY BIRTHDAY
By Joyce Lee
A Short Story

IT WAS the end. Martha Lake couldn't stand any more. She had come to teach Slocum Prairie School because there was a teacherage beside the school, a house with four rooms, completely furnished. The teacherage stood for peace, quiet, time to write the history text book she had dreamed of.

She had felt she was getting something easy in School District Four with its 15 pupils. In the city she had 45. There were but six families in District Four—Laswadowski, Jorgenson, O'Brien, Schultz, Van Matre and Brownstetter. Instead of lessening the work it had been increased, and this, her birthday, was the worst day of all.

Some birthday! She would resign, slip away this week end, forget the teacherage with its pine floors, rag rugs, gingham curtains, blue dishes and quiet.

Ignacio Laswadowski, Jorgen Jorgenson, Gus Schultz and Mickey O'Brien were too much for her. The three big girls, Katje Van Matre, Madeline Brownstetter and Carla Jorgenson liked to bicker, brag and call names. Madeline would say: "I will be a nurse and give orders to generals on battlefields."

"Nurses TAKE orders," Katje would say. "You are bragging again."

"Bragging again," Carla would say.

"I have something to brag about," Madeline would answer. "And so have I!" Carla would say. "My mother is the best cook in Slocum Prairie. She won all the prizes at the county fair."

"For Norwegian lutefish, lefse and waffles!" Madeline invariably answered.

"For pie and cake, too!" Carla would roar and burst into tears.

It would take a woman with iron nerves to cope with the 15 youngsters here. Even the first graders: Sonja Jorgenson, Kathleen O'Brien, Mattie and Lucy Van Matre, Irving Laswadowski, Phillip Schultz—all the students—bickered. Sometimes it was the size of their horns. Again it was their hybrid corn or big hay crop. Fifteen children, against 45, sounded like an old maid's parade, which it hadn't been.

The day drew to a close. The children called their good nights, stomped out, banged the door. Martha would write her resignation now. She lay her head on her arms and slept.

Katje Van Matre awakened her. "Teacher, come with me to the teacherage and see what you shall see," the little girl urged.

Martha went with her. The six mothers and all the pupils were standing in the kitchen. They called: "Happy birthday, Teacher! SURPRISE!"

"We hope you have many happy birthdays," said Mrs. Jorgenson. "You are the best teacher we ever had, and you stay with us. The others stayed a month, six weeks, maybe two months. You teach good lessons and good manners. Carla and Jorgen like school now, and Jorgen is going to the university to study farming."

"Such a good school you made of District Four," said Laswadowski. "My Ignacio studies his history for you, and he says he will be President someday. He does his chores good, Miss Lake, since you told him Lincoln did chores when he was a boy."

Mrs. Schultz spoke up and said Gus was going to study law, and Mrs. O'Brien said Mickey wanted to be a doctor.

"Other teachers slapped my hands when I drew," Carla Jorgenson said, "and you tell me I draw beautifully. I am going to study art."

When they had all spoken there were tears in Martha's eyes. RESIGN? What had she been thinking of? "Thank you for coming," she said. "You have helped me more than I can say. I will treasure your gifts and appreciate your kindness."

She stood in the doorway until the shadows swallowed her guests, then turned to the table, piled high with parcels, some wrapped in newspaper and tied with binder twine. She opened them slowly, touched them reverently. The teacherage wrapped loving arms about her. The mischievous Slocum Prairie children assumed cherubic form. This was her home, these were her people, and their children must grow into good men and women—into nurses, artists, doctors, lawyers, farmers—and PRESIDENTS!

Soil Testing Work Expanded

The soil testing service of the Texas A. and M. college system is being expanded and will be in charge of M. K. Thornton, extension agricultural chemist. According to Director G. G. Gibson, Texas agricultural extension service, the laboratory will be ready to begin operations on November 1, 1950.

A charge of one dollar per sample will be made for the testing service and samples should be sent to the soil testing laboratory, agricultural extension service, college station, Texas. Each sample submitted for testing will be analyzed for organic matter, nitrogen (computed), soil reaction, available phosphoric acid, available potash, available lime and soluble salts, says Thornton.

Must Send Data
Recommendations based upon the soil analysis and the information furnished the laboratory at the time the sample is sent in will be made and returned to the sender, says Thornton. Each soil sample sent to the laboratory should be accompanied by a completely filled in Form ST-2. These forms are available at your local county extension agent's office.

The sample submitted for testing must be truly representative of the area it is supposed to represent. If it is not a representative sample, says Thornton, the analysis and recommendations may be of little value to the sender of the sample. County agricultural agents can furnish complete information on how the sample should be taken so they will represent the area which is being tested.

Thornton says that at least two and possible three weeks will be required to process, analyze and get a report back to the sender. He points out that samples should be sent to the laboratory well in advance of the date when the recommendations will be needed for use in planning the planting and rotation systems for the farm or ranch. A good plan is to send in samples during the winter from land that will be planted to crops in the spring, in the spring for summer use, and in the summer for fall use. By following such a procedure, he says the recommendations will be available in plenty of time for use in planning cropping and fertilizing operations.

Will Show Up Deficiencies
Thornton says soil tests will not determine whether a plant died from root rot or some other disease; will not disclose the presence in the soil of nematodes, wire worms or other root destroying pests; will not determine other physical soil troubles unless caused by plant-food deficiency and will not determine physical characteristics of the soil nor determine plant troubles caused from drought, temperature extremes or drowning.

The information obtained from soil tests will aid in determining deficiencies of one or more plant nutrients; the need for lime or other soil amendments; in diagnosing certain plant deficiency diseases; in diagnosing certain soil abnormalities, such as salt spots and in determining toxic quantities of materials in the soil.

Thornton suggests to farmers, ranchmen, gardeners and others who have soils on which they'd like to have an analysis made, that they contact their county agricultural agent and get complete details on how to send with the sample and where to send it.

"Prince of Peace" Answer Plea for Better Movies; Coming Here Nov. 2

Comments among Littlefield residents who witnessed a special advance showing of "The Prince of Peace" recently were high in praise of the unusual film. Many among the specially invited audience thought the film was one of the most timely and informative as well as entertaining, to be released from Hollywood so far. "It definitely answers the need for better and more wholesome film fare," was the comment most often heard. All agreed that "The Prince of Peace" is a film every "man, woman and child in Littlefield" should see.

bank teller of Lawton, Milard Coody. Mr. Coody gives the role great emotional depth and sincerity. Darlene Bridges a housewife and mother of Lawton, portrays the Virgin Mary with inspiration and reverence. The film is rich in color and costume of Biblical times, and the musical background throughout the movie is an inspiration in itself.

Gas 'Old Stove Round-Up' On In Littlefield

"Old Stove Round-Up" got under way in Littlefield this week as a joint enterprise of the gas appliance dealers and the West Texas Gas Co.

The round-up here is in conjunction with a national campaign designed to replace old, outmoded gas stoves still in use with modern new, more economical and more beautiful gas appliances.

The "Old Stove Round-Up", which began Monday, will continue through November 22.

As a special inducement to householders who trade in old stoves during the round-up period a set of eight beautiful blue flame glasses will be given with each new stove purchased.

As a prelude to the opening of the "Old Stove Round-Up" 14 gas appliance dealers and salesmen were guests Thursday night of the West Texas Gas Co. at a dinner at the Hays Coffee Shop.

C. H. Lackey, district manager for the gas company, and Bill McCarroll, advertising manager, told of national plans for the round-up and dealer ads available in the period.

In addition to Barney Hendrickson, general plant operator, and Mrs. Avilene Kirk and Mrs. Lucille Smith of the gas company's Littlefield office, those present at the dinner were:

E. E. Wesley, A. C. Cocoanagher, Hill Rogers, Mugg Glazner, Nelson Naylor, Leon Todd, Luther Cunningham, A. C. Rogers, Allen Rhodes, Ronnie Onstead, Norris Onstead, Elton Hauk and V. L. Hofacket.

W. O. Jenkins and Y. B. Thompson Buy Lamb Wrecking Co.

Texas High School Students To Flood Texas Tech Campus

Hundreds of high school students from over Texas will swarm the campus of Texas Technological college Oct. 27-28 for a joint student activities and journalism conference.

Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of Texas Tech. will extend a warm welcome to the visiting students at the general session Oct. 27 in the Aggie auditorium.

The meeting is jointly sponsored by the Texas interscholastic league, Texas technological college and the high schools of West Texas.

The tentative schedule calls for debates, dramatics panels, a demonstration play and discussion, a panel on speech defects and correction facilities available in this area, programs on student council activities and ready writing, declamation and interpretation, extemporaneous speaking and original oratory, a radio program (demonstration) and an experimental arena theatre production.

The scholastic press clinic for high schools in West Texas and New Mexico will feature lectures, discussions, and question-and-answer periods on the fundamentals of high school publication work.

These will include problems on school newspapers and yearbooks, with discussions on news gathering and editing, editing, editorials, features, columns, advertising, business management, photography and production.

As a special feature, the students will be special guests of the college at a football game between Texas Tech Red Raiders and Tex. Western at Lubbock Saturday afternoon.

The students may secure reduced-price tickets for 60 cents each. Teachers and other adults may secure tickets at regular admission prices.

All participants in the joint conferences are requested to mail in reservations for the meeting and for the game by Oct. 20.
