King's Korner

BY KEITH KING

We promised last week that we would continue our history course designed for people who will be cramming the night before finals. So, since the pineapple upside-down cake didn't turn rightside up and Uncle Wiggley didn't run off with Nurse Jane Fuzzy - Wuzzy, we will continue.

France were involved in a fast-paced game called "Capture the Flag of any nation little enough." That is just about where things are today too, but now it's being played by the United States and Russia. About this time the two countries were tired of fighting each other so they decided to fight a war to end all wars. They thought this was a good idea until Hitler decided that the "world wasn't safe enough for democracy" so he asked all the other nations to join with him in this war, so they did.

The amount received from the success of last year's presentation totaled about $700. Rowan said the returns from the performance will go to the four-year scholarship fund. Mrs. Reast Chosen Teacher Of The Week

She said that her life hasn't been very exciting or interesting but her voice bubbled with excitement when she talked about flying and her first solo flight! She said that she hadn't had any real achievements but she is a licensed pilot and finished college in three years!

This outstanding person is this week's Teacher of the Week, Mrs. Kenneth Reast. She graduated from the Muleshoe High School and holds a BS degree from Texas Tech. Although she majored in Foods and Nutrition in college, she doesn't like to cook! She tries to get her housework and other necessary jobs done as fast as possible, so she can do the things she likes to do. Her favorite pastime activities and hobbies are flying and reading. Her favorite author is Thomas Costain. She gets real enjoyment from working in the Woman's Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church.

She would like to travel and see the world... it would be exciting! She would especially like to see the Holy Lands. Mrs. Reast has always wanted to be an archeologist. For her, digging, exploring, and finding ancient remains of ages past would be very exciting and also profitable to science. She isn't interested in learning to deep sea dive or in climbing mountains, but parachute jumping... would be fun. When asked if she would like to accompany John Glenn on his next flight, she replied, "Yes! (See TEACHER on Page 8)

Don't ever let them tell you that things are done bigger and better in Lubbock than in Littlefield. For the past two years, the wife and I have attended and enjoyed the Lubbock Home Show, but not this year.

If the wares displayed at the show are examples of what can be purchased in the hub city, they aren't worth bringing home. You can see more furniture and appliances of better quality, styles and colors in any of Littlefield's furniture stores than in the entire home show.

If you were smart and stayed home, you are a whole lot better off.

Just about everyone has been waiting a long time for the past week or so. The face of man beamed or in his own opinion seemed to jig deep into the pocketbook and withdraw enough green stuff with which to pay "income" taxes.

Now comes the time for the governmental bureaucrats to begin their work and figure out just who has honestly and sincerely filled out the papers and who has not. Within the next year, those who didn't complete the form will receive word of such and those who did won't hear a word, unless they have a refund coming.

But no matter how much we despise or hate paying income taxes, just look at it this way . . . in Russia and other Communist dominated countries all the worker's salary goes to the government and then a small portion is returned to the worker.

And another thing . . . at least we can pay a few bad words, under our breaths or in our minds, about not liking the income tax, without being in fear for our lives, it really isn't as bad as we think, now is it?

Easter has this in common with some other holy days, that extremists of various traditions threaten to hide the central import without which the holy day becomes merely another holiday. Thanksgiving and Christmas suffer thus. Easter has more of this aspect than is used to have.

The traditions may be changing, some of them certainly are. Colored eggs delivered for children by the Easter Bunny, ham on the table at dinner, all these things are disappearing. The danger is that they will change the local point.

The heart of the matter is the belief of millions of Christians that some 20 centuries ago the son of God was crucified and rose from death, thus offering the hope of resurrection to those who believe. All the rest of it is mere and trivial, delightful but not essential. This is the thing to remember at Easter.

Since the death of Henry VIII in 1547, the British have been celebrating the day of his death as a national holiday. It is a day of mourning and is observed as a public holiday in all parts of the United Kingdom.

The state of New Jersey has launched a new experiment in highway construction. The new road, approved by the governor and the state advisory commission, provides for 10-lane divided in all areas. Increase in the toll from 10 cents to 15 cents will be made in the next few months. A detailed report will be made to the governor and the advisory commission. It is hoped that such a road will be a model for other states.

There is a new regulation in effect in the state of New Jersey. It is a regulation that will be in effect for a period of 10 days. It is a regulation that will be in effect for a period of 10 days.

move in the right direction — away from brutality, too loosely controlled, that makes the prize fight reminiscent of a gladiatorial contest.

Agriculture production will go up again if a new product is developed by a petroleum company will do everything it is supposed to do. Scientists working on the project have found that by spraying a water emulsion of petroleum resins over seed rows they can significantly increase the resultant crops. This petroleum mulch tends to hold in the soil moisture, and also to raise the soil's temperature. On an acre of carrots, say, it is claimed that this method boosts production by more than $800 in value. That is good . . . but here is another thing for the agriculture policy planners to contend with.

Before the investigation into the dealings of Billie Sol Estes is complete, there may be higher officials in the government than the minor Department of Agriculture men, brought into the mess.

The whole thing has brought repercussions not only in Texas but throughout the nation and when newsmen pick the top ten stories of the year, the Estes case will certainly be close to the head of the pickings. The flight of John Glenn didn't rate as much front page publicity as has the Estes fiasco. Personally, I had never heard of the guy until this thing broke but his name has also become a topic of discussion throughout Texas and part of the nation. It is too bad that really good news like the Glenn flight can't be played up as much as Estes . . . All of us would feel a little better about it.

Our congratulations go to the Littlefield Young Farmers Association on receiving their official recognition by the state and area Young Farmers Association. This group of young men is striving to increase their education while actively working in agriculture. Several of these young men have degrees from college in agriculture, but they realize the necessity of continuing their education processes. They should be commended for their interest.

Someone the other day made the remark that there weren't going to be any Easter Day egg hunts this year. Instead the hunts were going to be called Estes Day hunts and everyone was going to try and find anhydrous ammonia tanks.

TV commercials are becoming more and more ridiculous and headache remedy ads are just about the worst. If you didn't have a headache before the commercial came on, you will when it is over.

Next in line is soap and detergent ads and by golly if your soap just doesn't give that "blue - white" or even better the "white - white" then the best thing to do is change to the soap that gives dishes in the box . . . or return to the old days of P&G and Crystal White.

Following headache remedies and soap comes the toothpaste commercials. Each claims to have added just a little something different to basic formula which gives it the recommendation of "thousands of doctors across the nation" . . . which is the reason I picked these three topics.

The doctor supposedly has given his blessing to a list of products as long as the distance from New York to Los Angeles. The psychology behind this type of promotion is that if the doctor would prescribe it, the product is bound to be good and safe to use. The only thing that worries me is what kind of doctors are the ones who endorse a specific product? I think it is time the medical associations try to put a stop to this invasion upon the names of doctors. Otherwise, I think we start saying that our new prescription is a "combination of ingredients prescribed by many doctors." This newspaper will not print a program of reading a check every year. Now using doesn't give you kind of whiteness you don't worry, just give little lye, sit back and this newspaper, in things that your mind will be ed and your clothes in them. . . . the lye has gaten them up.

Sandhills Philosopher

Philosopher Is Mad Because Steel Increase Won't Raise Price Of Farm Products

The Sandhills philosopher on his Johnson farm has found out about the increase in the price of steel this week in his letter this week in this column.

I understand it, a lot of people, including the President, gotten mad because the industry raised the price of steel, but I had managed to hold my temper until I read the reasons why the price increase was called inflationary therefore bad for the rest of the country.

According to the experts, you can't raise the price of steel and not raise the price of cars, homes, refrigerators, freezers, vacuum cleaners, tractors, plows, wrenches, and bolts, etc., and here's what made me mad, nowhere in the list did you read that raising the price of steel would raise the price of farm products.

I checked all the lists, from all the Congressmen eager to be quoted from all the economic experts, and not one was worried about the possibility of cotton or corn or potatoes or fruits or vegetables or chickens, or eggs or milk or beef or pork or anything else grown on a farm going up.

This is what burns me up. How come farmers ain't signed up with the economic index the same as steel and labor and nearly everybody else, outside of school teachers and preachers? How come we can't get in on these inflationary spirals?

The truth of the matter is, everybody takes farmers for granted so much that if we all announced that starting next Monday morning the price of all agricultural products would be increased 10 per cent on account of the increased costs of production, you think anybody would get on television and denounce us? Everybody would just bust out laughing. We not only couldn't get anybody to denounce us, we couldn't get anybody to pay any attention to our price rise, people would just keep on paying the same old price, or possibly a little less. Washington has nothing to worry about when it comes to us farmers doing anything inflationary. You're not going to catch us rocking the economic boat. We're too busy bailing water for that. Yours faithfully, J. A.

Irrigated Sorghum Test Results Are Revealed

Thirty-two varieties and hybrids of forage sorghum were tested under irrigation at the High Plains Research Foundation in 1961. There was no significant difference in the yield of the top four varieties. The yields of these four were Honey Sorgo, 27.12 tons dry weight and 39.35 tons green weight per acre; P. A. G. #3147, 26.24 tons dry and 39.68 green weight; Steckley F. S. 400R, 25.27 tons dry and 39.1 tons green weight; Sart, 23.96 tons dry and 33.99 tons green weight per acre. The dry weight yields were calculated at 12% moisture.

The four leading varieties in terms of pounds of crude protein per acre were Tracy with 5,813 pounds; P. A. G. #3147 with 5,772 pounds; Sumac M. D. 5,712 pounds; Lindsey 101F, 5,363 pounds per acre. The crude protein percent analysis disclosed Sumac M. D. had 14.7%; Lindsey 77F, 13.7%; Tracy, 12.8%; Asgrow MXP 3367, 12.4% and Steckley FS 300R, 12.3%.

The percent mineral content analysis showed Sumac M. D. with 17.4%; H.P.R.F. #4, 16.5%; Tracy, 14% and Lindsey 77A 12.3%.

Data showing the complete results in the 1961 forage sorghum tests is included in report No. 37 of the High Plains Research Foundation for 1961. The report of the tests conducted by Dr. Earl H. Collister and Paul Belcher at the Foundation included data on early vigor, bloom date, plant height, lodging percent, moisture percentage at harvest, as well as the dry and green weight.

The chemical analyses were conducted by the state chemist, Texas A & M experiment station, College Station, Texas. The analyses included the percent total dry matter, percent crude protein, percent crude fat, percent fiber and percent carbohydrates.

Littlefield Farmers Co-op Plans Stockholders Meeting

Stockholders of the Littlefield Farmers Cooperative Gin and Elevator have been called to meet at 2 p.m. Saturday April 21, 1962 at the Community Center, according to an announcement from board president Roy McQuatters.

The gin has completed its 27th year of operation with a total for the season of 11,170 bales ginned and 4,672 tons of seed marketed.

The association audit report which will be presented at the meeting shows that the gin made net savings of $103,000 for the 203 farmers who own it. This home-owned business paid out $65,357 in wages and salaries to people in the community, reports gin manager Don Scott. An additional $35,248 was spent locally for taxes, insurance, utilities, repairs, supplies, etc. The total

John E. Mitchell Companies, Lummus Cotton Gin Co., Hardwicke-Eitter Co. and Moss Gordin Company.

Five schools will be held simultaneously on the announced dates and each of the cooperating companies will provide meeting rooms for their students. Reeves said participants would receive instructions on the operation, maintenance and repair of each piece of machinery used in modern cotton gin, including stands, dryers, cleaners, bur machines, extractor-feeders, lint cleaners, and other auxiliary equipment. Experienced factory engineers will serve as instructors.

Reeves said there would be no enrollment fee and added that either a letter or advance registration blank should be sent by the prospective student to the company in charge of the school he plans to attend. The registration should be made at least a week in advance of the cash released in the community by the gin amounts to $145,179, including $44,544.00 cash refunds, dividends and stock retirement paid to the stockholders.

During the past 27 years this cooperative has ginned a total of 131,036 bales and has returned some $1,060,037 in refunds to its farmer owners, of which $800,000 has been paid in cash.

Serving with president McQuatters are directors Walter Martin, E. O. Feagley, E. C. Hill and Fred Lichte.

The specialist said that additional information is available from any of the sponsors and from local county agents who can also provide the registration blanks. Reeves said that out-of-state cotton ginners are welcome to attend the schools but should send in an advance registration.

Classing And Marketing Is Part Of Cotton School

Plans for the 53rd annual summer cotton school at Texas A&M College have been released.

The school will be held from June 4 to July 13. Attendance for the full period is advisable, points out professor J. M. Ward, Department of Agricultural Economics and Sociology and in charge of the school, but persons in the cotton business who are unable to remain for six weeks may enroll for two of four weeks of study.

Ward said the purpose of the school is to provide training for persons who expect to enter the cotton trade; for producers who would like to learn more about cotton marketing and for buyers who wish to review grade and staple standards or become more familiar with the elements of quality in cotton. Such important phases of the cotton industry as grading, stapling and the determination of cotton properties and trade procedures will receive major attention, Ward said. Much of the time will be spent doing actual practice work and in discussions, but visiting specialists will lecture on various phases of production, marketing and processing of cotton. Ward added.

Detailed plans for the school may be obtained by writing Ward in care of the sponsoring department, College Station, Texas.

Banquet tables formed a "U" around a Japanese garden complete with waterfall, bridge and trellises to carry out an oriental decorating theme for the Eighth Grade banquet held Saturday night at Springlake School Cafeteria. Special centers of interest were a tree hung with Japanese lanterns, also a cherry tree in blossom.

A background for the head table was formed of white paper inscribed with red oriental print, "Oriental Gardens." A coolie hat and Japanese fans were used as accessories on the background. A coolie pulling a rickshaw formed the centerpiece for the head table with other tables being centered with Japanese lanterns and cherry blossoms.

Approximately 55 guests attended, entered the dining area by way of a black Japanese bridge. Red and white crepe paper streamers formed a partition for the area.

The meal served by seventh grade girls wearing Japanese costumes, consisted of Oriental Steak (veal cutlet), fruit of the good earth (fruit salad with whipped cream) chopsticks (green beans), pan baba (baked potato with cheese), go-sha salad (tossed salad) cherry blossom with oriental snow (cherry pie and ice cream and Cantonese tea (iced tea).

Master of Ceremonies for the evening was Floyd Bennett, class president, Ken Dawson, vice president, welcomed the group and William L. Mann, school superintendent, gave the response.

Jerry Don Sanders, secretary-treasurer of the class, offered the benediction and Alicia Galoway gave the class prophecy.

Mrs. Jimmy Craft, accompanied by Jill McCord, presented two vocal solos which were Japanese songs. Several numbers were also presented by a group of eighth grade girls accompanied by Mrs. Earl Parish at the piano.

Guest speaker was Miss Motoe Teramie from Kobe, Japan. Miss Teramie attends Dimmitt High School as an exchange student. She spoke about her native land.

Also speaking was Gary Huntington, Melbourne, Australia, Dimmitt exchange student. His theme was "Be a Good Student and Keep America Great."

Offering the benediction was Bobby Coker.

Collegiate Rodeo Set to Begin Thursday

Collegiate cowboys from southwest will be featured in the regional National Intercollegiate Rodeo Assn. rodeo April 19-21, sponsored by the Tech Rodeo Club. The only indoor college rodeo begins each night at 8 p.m. at the Lubbock Municipal Coliseum. Colleges and universities from Oklahoma, New Mexico and Texas are entered. A downtown parade at 4 p.m. Friday, April 19, will kick off the rodeo activities. A grand entry will feature the Red Raider encircling the area with a spotlight on Kappa Kappa Psi bandfraternity will provide music each evening beginning at 7:30. Two speciality events are boys' wild horse race and girls' calf-dressing contest in the wild mare race. Prizes of three boys representing Tech fraternities will be given a mare on the end of a 4-foot rope. The objective is to saddle the horse and ride her across the finish line. Teams of three coeds representing campus sororities will attempt to dress a wild calf with bloomers and then get the calf across the finish line. Other events are bareback bronc riding, saddle bronc riding, calf roping, steer wrestling, bull riding, and girls' barrel racing. Each team is composed of six cowboys representing the schools in this region. The team compiling the highest score after six rodeos of the season gains the right to represent the region in the NIRA Rodeo in Denver, Colo., during June. Stock for the rodeo is being furnished by Walter Alsbough of Alamosa, Colo. A top Rodeo Cowboy Assn. producer, Alsbough had six horses and three bulls in the National finals last fall in Dallas. Prizes to be awarded to rodeo winners are on display at the Red Raider booth in the Lubbock Home Show. A trophy will be presented to the rodeo team winning the most points, a $250 saddle to the all-around cowboy, gold and silver belt buckles to winners in each event, and boots and hats to winners of the individual go-arounds. Entries include Sul Ross College, winner of the 1961 NIRA team championship; Oklahoma State University, New Mexico State University, New Mexico Western, West Texas State College, Texas Western College, Hardin - Simmons University and Tech. Individuals from other schools will enter the rodeo, but their points will not be included in the team championship. C. R. "Bud" Townsend, teaching fellow in history at College, will announce the rodeo. Townsend has announced at rodeos throughout the United States, and is a member of the Rodeo Cowboy Assn.

Penn. Point

By D.H.P.

Somewhere there must be a material that will keep a person warm on cold mornings and cool on hot afternoons. Somewhere someone will develop this type of clothing material and retire in a couple of years as a millionaire. West Texans would buy enough of this material to keep several mills running the year around. What a tremendous boon a material of this nature would be to our part of the nation. Our cold mornings us West Texans put on warm clothing and by the noon hour, the warm clothing is much too warm and the urge to get into cooler clothes hits all of us. We usually struggle through the rest of the day sweating and change after work into the cooler clothes. By the same token, just let us put on cool clothing in the morning and the temperature remains cold all through the day and we either end up with a cold or stay cold all day. You just can't win. If someone has already developed such a material, I for one would appreciate knowing about it. Each one of us is always trying to get "in." That is, we try to gain in community standing and "in" favor with our fellowmen. I guess this writer hasn't been watching his p's and q's. I have been quite critical of many of the present administration's policies, for which some of our local citizens have not appreciated. I haven't heard from the White House, so I don't know just how they feel. However, the U. S. News & World Report magazine in its April 9, 1962 edition tells what happens to White House correspondents who do not "co-operate" with the Administration's policies. "It is among the White House aids that penalties for failure to co-operate are most evident.

"Newsmen whose papers are critical of the President sometimes get the silent treatment. Presidential aides refuse to answer questions or give information to them. "For others, an aide now and then will suggest the exact language the President would like to see in a story. If the language does not appear as dictated, there are likely to be telephone calls. It is not unusual for a White House aide to ask to see a story before it is printed. "Sometimes, the President telephones a reporter to criticize a story. Quite a few correspondents have been called into his office for a lecture from Mr. Kennedy himself. "One reporter says: 'They are awfully touchy about foreign - policy stories or anything that suggests Mr. Kennedy is not doing well in Congress'. Another remarked: 'You can hardly crack a joke around here nowadays.' "Another reporter asked the White House aids for information. He got this response: 'Maybe if you had co-operated with us more on your previous stories we would help you now. But you haven't, so all I can say is: Sorry!'"

Now just maybe you would like a newspaper that was dictated to by the government . . . but the chances are that you wouldn't and no newspaperman worth his salt would remain in the business. The press belongs to the people . . . who either knowingly or unknowingly pretty well control the news content. The press as a whole and this newspaper specifically believes the people have the right to know what is going on without being told by some governmental aide just what words to use. But as long as there remains the "grass - roots" weekly newspaper, the people will be presented the facts.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford

AUSTIN, Tex. — The hundreds of candidates who are running for places in the Texas House of Representatives and the Texas Senate have plenty of problems. But when the victors get to Austin they'll have a new one. Big question will be "where to park their cars?" Lack of parking facilities on the Capitol grounds causes a maddening game of musical chairs -- or musical cars -- at each legislative session. Speaker of the House James A. Turman says the problem is "growing more acute each day."

So, Turman appointed a committee which may have the longest title in the history of the legislature to Study State Owned Lands Around the Capitol Concerning the Possibility of Converting Such Into Parking Lots. a "National Seashore Area." "This status," says Sadler, "would keep Padre Island and Laguna Madre in an undeveloped state." Sadler urged Attorney General Will Wilson to push recovery of Laguna Madre acreage from private owners before they convey their rights to the U. S. Department of the Interior. Meanwhile, U. S. Congressman Joe Kilgore of McAllen said the House National Parks Subcommittee will make an on-the-ground survey of the island from May II through May 13. They will return to Washington, D. C., to consider legislation on May 14.

READING PUBLIC GROWS-- Dr. Dorman H. Winfrey, State librarian, announced an increase of 13 public libraries in Texas and more than a quarter of a million books on library shelves throughout the state. He said library service has improved to the point where there are now 106 branch libraries, in comparison to 97 in 1960. More than $4,400,000 was spent for library construction last year, "possibly the biggest library-building year in more than three decades."

Dr. Winfrey gave much of the credit for library development to the Rural Library Service Division of the Texas State Library. It operates bookmobile services throughout the state; furnishes books for libraries in cities and communities of less than 10,000 population; and provides consultants without charge. But many of the achievements can be claimed by communities like Taylor, Rockdale, Navasota and Alvin--where citizens get out and raise the money for library building funds.

CUT THE PROPERTY TAX? -- For three years now a legislator - citizen study committee - the Texas Commission on State and Local Tax Policy -- has been mulling the possibility of state abandonment of the property tax. Texas Research League has helped with the study. The committee should have recommendations ready for legislative action in the January session. Outcome may rest on voter pressure between now and the November general election. Under the current system, schools get 42 per cent of the property tax dollars; cities take 29 per cent; counties, 18 per cent; and the state government and special districts only get five per cent each. Texas Municipal League has urged the state to abandon the ad valorem tax and let the cities increase their property taxes. Hale - Akin committee asked the state to abandon the tax and let the schools levy it. Tax experts often have declared that county assessors might place higher values on property if they felt more of the ad valorem tax dollar would stay in the county. COLLEGE FUNDS SHORT -- Presidents and business managers of Texas' 19 state - supported colleges and universities were stunned this week when Texas Commission on Higher Education reported they will get only 54 per cent of the funds they requested to meet increased enrollment in 1963. Administrators had set their future needs at $2,770,951. But the Legislature only appropriated $1,500,000 to supplement teaching salaries for enrollment increases. So the commission's staff prorated the fund among the 19 schools. The call of duty, it seems, coincides with the highest salary available.

Additional Phone Lines Installed

Installation of additional telephone facilities was completed recently in Littlefield, according to R. E. Saunders, district manager for General Telephone Company of the Southwest.

Additional facilities consisted of over 6000 feet of additional outside plant feeder cable facilities. While most of this cable is 50 pair cable some of it consists of as high as 303 pair. This will provide relief in some of the areas in the northeast part of Littlefield along the Lubbock Highway and the Springlake Highway and in the downtown area, in addition to serving new applicants in this area. This expansion represents an investment of several thousand dollars.

The company makes periodic surveys to determine future needs and makes provisions to provide such service. Littlefield has reflected steady growth over the years as reflected in the 3150 telephones at present as compared to 2080 in 1953.

Mitchell Sisson, Billy Wayne Sisson, Waymon Barker, Doyle Dean, Ed McCanlies, Eugene Carter, Floyd Rogers, W. T. Jackson, and E. E. Carter, John Alford is captain of the drill team.

The team left Littlefield Friday morning and returned Sunday.
