Man and Wife Reunited While Olton Lake Being Dragged for Him

A man and his wife were happily reunited Monday morning at the side of a lake two and one-half miles south of Olton—even as the lake bottom was being dragged in a search for the man. Deputy Sheriff D. R. Dennis of Lamb county organized a search party. Firemen were summoned from Lubbock. Mrs. George was notified and left her home in Dimmitt to come to Olton. The feared tragedy was turned to a joyous occasion by the arrival of George and Elmer Magee, safe and sound. The panel truck owned by George began floating as it went into the lake, which had risen above the road. George and his companion, Magee, jumped out and by swimming and wading reached the bank. They hitchhiked back to Dimmitt. Before they had arrived in Dimmitt, however, Mrs. George had received the message of her husband's abandoned truck and had left for Olton. The firemen summoned from Lubbock were to help drag the lake. They were Fire Chief W. E. Twitty, Rufus Brewer, Alfred Par-rack, Bayless Martin, Arbye Curtis and Grady Laxton. They returned to Lubbock upon learning George had arrived at the scene.

Power to Destroy as a Deterrent to War

Historians advise that we are living in an era of violence as an incident to a transitional period of civilization. Two world wars, revolution and threats of a still greater war in hardly more than a quarter of a century corroborate that generalization.

In such a period, it has been logical that the possession of a superlative means of destruction, the atomic bomb, by the United States has served for six years as a deterrent to Soviet armed aggression. The prospect of this violence is deemed a restraint of the ordeal of global war.

Superior fire power of conventional weapons has enabled the United Nations forces to overcome the numerical superiority of the Communist aggressors and to exact casualties of more than a million enemy killed. The capacity to destroy, while so far not conclusive, should give pause to contemplated aggression elsewhere.

But the Korean conflict is a "limited war" to the extent that atomic bombs have not been employed here. Military planners report that the U.S. Air Force now has available explosive power greater than all the explosions from the invention of gunpowder to the atomic attack on Hiroshima. This power, still unused, is described as sufficient to obliterate key Russian centers, destroy industrial manpower and shatter the war-making potential of the Soviet Union, the instigator of the latest threat of conquest by violence. It is highly doubtful that all this destructive capacity includes the hydrogen bomb, for the development of which the United States is spending billions.

In an era of violence defined by historians, we find ourselves deeply committed to the hope of averting war. In this strange situation we encounter the anomaly of the barbaric means of force and destruction as conservators of civilization. It is little wonder that people are confused in the uncertainty and mixture of materialism and idealism.

Only three decades ago, free America was convinced that material resources would be committed to a more abundant, better way of life. Hitler, Japan and now Russia have dispelled that vision. War and rearmament have preempted both human life and natural resources to limit peaceable progress.

Comfort and the resolve to see our way through another crisis may be afforded by the historical analysis that transitional periods of violence always pass. Likewise, the road of the past is strewn with the ruins of empires built upon force and fraud. Even in phase of this century's upheaval, there is evidence of groupings for security and better way of life.

California Man Flies By Accident

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. — Just 40 years ago, Henry A. McGregor made his first and last airplane flight. Then he abandoned aviation in favor of repairing automobiles. McGregor, now 66, is still an auto mechanic, but he likes to reminisce about his days as a bird man.

He had seen but one airplane, he recalls, when he built one in his backyard. "I flew by accident," McGregor recalls. "I took it out to a field and got in, started the motor and taxied forward. I noticed after awhile that the bumps had ceased and looking down I found myself about 20 feet in the air, going about 35 miles an hour."

"I flew for about half a mile then settled back to earth. Then I turned it around and tried it the other way. It wouldn't fly. I know now that I was going against the wind the first time and with the wind the second time."

The next time McGregor attempted a flight, his machine struck a hole and nosed over, shattering a wing. A few days later, a whirlwind came along and smashed the thing to kindling wood.

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—Could I get a GI business loan to help out my brother, who is having a hard time making a go of his restaurant? I am not connected in any way with the restaurant.

A—You may not obtain a GI business loan for such a purpose. One of the provisions of the law is that you must play an active part in the business for which you need the loan.

Q—I dropped my National Service Life Insurance as a civilian, and now that I am returning to active military duty, I would like to reinstate my policy. Will the armed forces do this automatically for me, or are there any steps that I have to take?

A—The armed forces will not reinstate your policy automatically. You either must apply to reinstate your old policy, or apply for a new one.

Q—As a member of the National Guard, I receive drill pay for short periods of training each week. I intend to enroll in school under the GI Bill. When I do so, must I report my drill pay as income, in order for VA to determine the amount of subsistence allowance I will get?

A—No. Remuneration for such National Guard training is not considered as income from productive labor and need not be reported, for it has no bearing on the amount of subsistence you will receive.

Q—I am a veteran paralyzed from the waist down, and on my own I bought a home a few years ago. May I obtain a housing grant to be used to remodel my home with ramps and other special adaptations, so that I can get around more easily in my wheelchair?

A—Yes, if you meet the eligibility requirements of the law. Application may be made at any VA office.

Farm Landscapes Conserve Vital Topsoil

American farm landscapes are being transformed from straight-rowed cornfields and checkerboards of other grains to graceful curves, strips and "steps."

The transformation is not for scenic effect, but for contour farming, strip-cropping and terracing to conserve valuable topsoil and water for present and future production of food and fiber on farms throughout the nation.

Assisting in this vital work are thousands of 4-H Club members who receive training in the National 4-H Soil and Water Conservation program, directed by the Cooperative Extension Service in this and 44 other states. It is estimated that since the program's inception in 1944, the 4-H'ers have helped apply conservation practices on more than 1,400,000 acres of farm lands to stop erosion.

Rewards for outstanding records of achievement in this program include merit medals for county winners; wrist watches for state finalists over 14 years of age, and $25 U.S. Savings bonds for those under 14. Educational trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago next November are also provided by Firestone for 16 sectional winners eight of whom will be selected for national awards of $300 college scholarships.

County Extension Agents will furnish full information regarding this program.

STOP THESE INVADERS!

The boll weevil and other cotton insects in 1950 robbed Texas cotton farmers of 948,712 bales of cotton and 396,746 tons of cottonseed, the National Cotton Council points out in commenting on the final 1950 crop report of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

In monetary value, the Council estimates these losses amounted to more than $221,000,000 or an average of about $1270 per Texas cotton farm.

Our national need for cotton is

1 square (1 ounce) unsweetened chocolate
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
dash of salt
1/4 teaspoon vanilla
1 pint coffee ice cream
Method:
Put sugar, water and evaporated milk in small saucepan over low heat; stir until sugar is dissolved. Bring to a boil over moderately low heat and allow to boil 4 minutes; stir occasionally and watch so mixture won't boil over. Remove from heat; add chocolate, butter or margarine and salt at once. Stir vigorously until chocolate is melted; continue stirring until well blended and of an even color. Stir in vanilla. Put ice cream in four small dessert dishes or glasses and pour two generous tablespoonfuls of the warm sauce over each portion of ice cream. Makes 4 servings.

W. A. Slocum (sitting on corral fence) talks with his brother, Jeff, before the latter sets out on an inspection of the 3,000 head of cattle grazing on their 11,000-acre ranch near Cresson, Texas. Typical Texas cattlemen, they oppose price controls on beef. A. W. puts it this way, "They regulate the price of beef, but they don't regulate the cost of things that go into the cost of raising a calf. That's what we don't like."

Oil Crisis In Iran

...tive situation in the ... created by the na- ... of oil in Iran focus- ... one of the most ... of a modern nation. ... in power — power to ... maintain huge indus- ... complex transportation ... land, water, and air, ... to expand these indus- ... keep jeeps, tanks and ... living in war. It is not ... that nations vie for ... supply.

...oples have more oil ... than they can use; others would ... starve if outside supplies were ... cut off. At the moment, the bal- ... ance of petroleum power is in ... favor of the Western World by a ... wide margin: 49 per cent of the ... world's reserves are in North and ... South America, against 6 1/2 per ... cent in the U.S.S.R. and its satel- ... lites. Europe outside of the Iron ... curtain has less than 1 per cent, ... and the Far East only 2 per cent.

Iran Supplies Big
The Middle East, collectively, ... has more than 42 per cent of the ... world's estimated total reserves. ... Iran itself has 9 per cent, and is ... the fourth largest producer in the ... world (after the United States, ... Venezuela, and the U.S.S.R.) But ... present known reserves and pro- ... duction figures are only an indi- ... cation of future potentialities. ... Many of the American oil fields ... are old and declining in produc- ... tion.

So far few of the benefits of ... this enormous wealth have filter- ... ed down into the life of the peo- ... ple. In Iran the British-owned ... Anglo-Iranian Oil Company (A.I.O.C.) ... The major portion of the profits ... have accordingly remained in ... British hands, or in the hands of ... a small group of Iranians. Most ... of the people are desperately poor, ... victims of an outmoded feudal ... system. Only small areas in the ... north and west enjoy enough rain ... to grow unirrigated crops or main- ... tain grass in a country where 80 ... per cent of the people depend on ... agriculture and grazing. The rest ... of the land is mountainous or for- ... est covered, or it is barren desert ... where water is almost unobtain- ... able and temperatures in winter ... remind one of Siberia and in sum- ... mer of the hottest spots in the ... Sahara.

Water Needed
The primary need of the coun- ... try is more water. Without more ... water crop yields can not be in- ... creased an much potentially fer- ... tile land must lie idle.

Except for oil Iran is poorly ... endowed with industrially useful ... minerals. The Abadan oil refinery ... the largest in the world, is the ... biggest single industry, employ- ... ing more than one-third of all the ... industrial manpower. Oil is the one ... resource that could in the near ... future purchase for the Iranians ... relief from their poverty.

On the global front oil is as ... much a political as an economic ... issue. Should the petroleum in ... Iran and the rest of the Middle ... East come within the Russian or- ... bit, Western Europe would find it ... hard to defend itself (75 per cent ... of its supply now comes from the ... Middle East) while the drain on ... the supplies of the Western Hem- ... isphere would almost certainly ... cause grave concern, not only to ... our military planners but to their ... colleagues throughout the free ... world.

Your Child Today Open House For Junior

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE
(AP) Newsfeatures Editor

Not many parents can afford ... large-scale entertaining for their ... children's friends, but all fathers ... and mothers can offer simple, ... friendly, old-fashioned hospitality. ... Fortunate indeed is the child ... whose parents always are ready ... with a treat for their friends, says ... the National Kindergarten Associ- ... ation's Helen Gregg Green. Says she:

"One of my happy childhood ... memories, is of a chum's mother ... who was always ready with an ... after-school lreat, together with ... our parents' permission to enjoy ... it. Marie's grown-up brothers ... would greet their sister's friends ... with the natural gallantry given ... to a pretty girl of their own age. ... I was neither pretty nor their age, ... but the young doctor and his hand- ... some brother gave all the neigh- ... borhood children a feeling of be- ... ing welcome.

Any family, she says, can oc- ... casionally have a children's party ... and serve ice cream and cake.

In addition to a child's personal ... life and home life hehas a social ... life, where he takes a place in the ... group, and he should contribute ... something worthwhile to it. Ac- ... quiring social consciousness is ... part of the process in becoming ... an adult. It should begin early and ... continue to grow, through sympa- ... thetic interest in others.

A child should know all types ... of youngsters. As one parent put ... it, "If you don't know both the ... rough ones and those who are re- ... fined, how can you distinguish and ... evaluate different traits of char- ... acter?"

It's the best kind of hospitality ... to make others happy, says Miss ... Green. The most satisfying return ... from hospitality is friendship.

A friendly, open home will al- ... ways be preferred to public places. ... When it is possible for your ... boys and girls to have their fun ... at home, you have the opportuni- ... ty to help them build ideas that ... will lone day make them worthy ... heads of homes.

It's a good idea to make your ... home headquarters for the crowd. ... Beth Dad and Mother should real- ... ize that if there is a need for a ... choice it is more important to ... have a house that all the young- ... sters enjoy than one which is de- ... corative but without warmth and ... feeling.

We become the kind of adults ... we are because of early influen- ... ces. If Mother or Dad dream of ... some day being a welcome, loved ... guest in a son's or daughter's ... house, they should begin now to ... make their home a place where ... hospitality is the keynote.

Ask yourself — "Are my chil- ... dren's friends happy in our ... house?"

One of Best Catfish Waters In State Now Open To Trotline Fishing

AUSTIN, July 2—Some of the ... best catfish waters in the state ... have been opened to trotline fish- ... ing under a new law, according ... to the Executive Secretary of the ... Game, Fish & Oyster Commission.

Under the act, trotlines with a ... maximum of 30 hooks are per- ... mitted from the mouth of Bull Creek ... in Lake Austin to the headwaters ... of Buchanan Lake in San Saba ... and Lampasas Counties. Not more ... than 30 hooks in the aggregate ... may be used by one person at any ... one time. Throw lines and rod ... and reel equipment are limited to ... six hooks each.

The Executive Secretary point- ... ed out the law affects Lake Tra- ... vis, Roy Inks Lake, Buchanan ... Lake and most of Lake Austin, ... and all other waters of the Colorado river within the boundary ... prescribed.

He said this area abounds in ... the three principal kinds of fresh ... water catfish. They are the flat- ... head or yellow cat, the blue ... channel cat and the southern channel ... cat.

The law also specifies that none ... of the devices authorized in the ... measure "shall be attached to any ... other trotlin or fishing device by ... use of buoys, jugs or other ... means."

The law also makes it unlaw- ... ful "to place or set any trotline ... in the vicinity of any boat dock, ... boat or bathing pier, or bathing ... beach or any place commonly ... used as a swimming and bathing ... area."

Words cannot express our thanks and appreciation to our friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness and expressions of sympathy extended during the illness and at the death of our loved one, Mrs. C. Linton.

We want to especially thank those who contributed to the beautiful floral offering; those who helped in so many ways to administer to her in her illness; the nurses and doctors of the Payne-Shotwell Foundation for their many kindnesses; the friends who so kindly prepared and brought food to the home, and everyone else who helped to make our burden a little less hard to bear.

May God bless each and everyone of you.

Poage Farm Labor Bill Eases Mexican Labor Problem

Congressman George Mahon reports from Washington that the so-called Poage Farm Bill has now passed the House and is in conference between the House and Senate. The House rejected the so-called Douglas Amendment to the Bill which would make it a felony for a cotton farmer to knowingly employ a Mexican citizen who was in the United States illegally.

The object of the Poage Bill is to simplify the process of bringing Mexican labor from the Republic of Mexico to help in the harvesting of cotton and other crops—labors that will be greatly needed if the 1951 Texas cotton crop is to be harvested.

Mahon participated in seeking passage of an amendment by Congressman Rogers of Pampa which would have repealed existing federal law prohibiting employment in agriculture of children under 16 years of age when school is in session. The amendment was held out of order and was not adopted. Both Rogers and Mahon have separate bills pending which would accomplish the same purpose but to date favorable action has not been taken.

Mahon expressed elation over the passage of the Poage bill. He said that there had been a rumor that the President might veto the bill when it arrived at the White House for signature. However, he felt that the President would be compelled to approve the bill in view of the tremendous importance to the national defense effort of procuring additional labor for the harvesting of the 1951 cotton crop.

Health Talks

Prepared by the State Medical Association of Texas

As relatives and good friends start exchanging visits during vacation-time there frequently arises the question of what to feed a guest who is on some sort of a restricted diet due to a chronic or organic disease. The easiest way to find out what such a guest can eat is to ask him, of course; if his diet is quite limited, he will provide his hosts with a list of foods and drinks he is permitted to indulge in; but if his diet is more of a general nature he'll probably suggest that you prepare nothing special for him, he'll just eat what you fix.

There are general types of food which are considered taboo for certain ailments, however, which would be good to know before you prepare a menu for someone with an ailment.

Take an ulcer, for instance. Any one who has flareups of ulcers in his stomach or intestine is on a rather strict diet at the time the ulcers are "active", but is on a more liberal diet between bouts of ulcers. If he comes a-visit during the active period, which isn't likely, he would have to provide you with a list of foods which his doctor has prepared especially for him and his ulcers.

Between bouts, however, he may eat such foods as are generally considered not to get the ulcers started up again. The first requirement is that he eat at fairly regular intervals, so the thoughtful hostess will see that meals get to the table pretty much on schedule and will have plenty of milk handy for those between-meal drinks. Milk, weak tea, weak coffee or coffee that has the caffeine removed, and any of the milk drinks such as malted milk, milk shake, and milk eggnog sort of set the limits for his drinking, aside from water, of course.

The three meals a day for a guest on a liberal ulcer diet would run something like this:

Breakfast—one-half cup (measuring cup) of orange juice which is half orange juice and half water, canned peaches, small serving of cooked farina, a soft cooked egg, one slice of Melba toast with one square of butter, a cereal, coffee or de-caffeinated coffee with plenty of cream and a bit of sugar.

Dinner — one-half cup of cream of potato sup, a ground beef patty which has been broiled, mashed potato, buttered beets, toast and butter, vanilla ice cream and a glass of milk.

Supper — poached egg, buttered rice and buttered green beans, canned pear, Melba toast and butter, and milk.

And he'll probably want some milk midway between breakfast and dinner, and supper, and another glass before he goes to bed.

If your guest is suffering from a condition known as chronic ulcerative colitis, however, which is an inflammatory disease of the large intestine, he is probably not drinking so much milk. If his doctor has him on the full diet for his ailment, his mealtime intake may run something like this:

Breakfast—one-half cup orange juice, one-half cup cooked farina with two tablespoons of dry skim milk over it, one or two strips of bacon, a soft cooked egg, toasted white bread with butter and jelly, and tea with cream and sugar.

Dinner — broth, roast beef and gravy, mashed potato, buttered beets, egg salad with mayonnaise, white bread and butter, tea with sugar and cream, and vanilla ice cream.

Supper — cold sliced ham, baked potato and butter, buttered green beans, canned pear salad with dressing, sliced ripe banana with milk or chocolate pudding for dessert, and white bread, butter, tea with sugar and milk.

There is another digestive ailment which usually masquerades, for politeness' sake, under the title of "stomach trouble." It's not the stomach that's troubled at all, but the bowel that is irritable with periods of constipation alternating with periods of diarrhea. A guest with such difficulty would certainly be under the supervision of a doctor and unless he specifies his own diet, the general schedule of food for irritable bowel patients runs something along this order:

Breakfast—one-half cup orange juice and one-half grapefruit, a cooked whole grain cereal, a soft cooked egg, buttered white bread, toast, coffee, cream and sugar.

Dinner — broth, roast beef and gravy, mashed potato, buttered

Big Feet Bring Vacation

WITH THE FIRST MARINE DIVISION IN KOREA — (CP) — Pfc. Sandi A. Ferris II has feet big enough to earn him a 20-day vacation from the front lines. The Austin, Texas Marine sports 14 double E's. He brought some of the gunboats with him from the States, but they wore out a few weeks ago, and the supply sergeant had nothing comparable in stock.

"Nobody," he insisted, looking unbelievably at Ferris' huge feet, "has shoes that size."

The battalion doctor took a more realistic view of the expansive matter.

"Rear echelon for you, son," he said. "We'll send to Japan for a pair of shoes, but they'll probably get here one at a time. Our cargo planes are only so big, you know."

Twenty restful days later the 14 double E's were in, and Pfc. Ferris once again is leaving incredible footprints in the central Korean mountains.

beets, tomato salad with mayonnaise, white bread and butter, vanilla ice cream and milk.

Supper — cold sliced ham, baked potato with butter, buttered green beans, canned pear salad with salad dressing, sliced banana for dessert, white bread and butter and milk to drink.

The main difference in most chronic ulcerative colitis and irritable bowel diets is that though fruits are limited in the colitis diets, certain fruits and vegetables are often encouraged in the irritable bowel diets.

These are just suggestions, of course, for guests suffering at times with ulcers, chronic ulcerative colitis and irritable bowel with constipation; if they are in the throes of an acute attack of any of these ailments, they won't be coming to visit you; but if their ailment is under control at the moment, such menus as suggested would not only make them feel like a wanted guest but would help them keep their ailment under control. Any special instructions they have from their own doctors would certainly be more fitting than the general ones outlined here; but if special instructions aren't necessary, these directions will add to everyone's enjoyment of a pleasant get-together.

GOLFING THRILLS HEAFNER HITS 272 TO WIN TEXAS OPEN

By CLAYTON HEAFNER
As told to Frank Eck
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

My biggest thrill in golf came on Memorial Day in 1948 when I won the Colonial Invitational at Fort Worth with a 272. It was the best golf I ever played.

That's easy to understand because Ben Hogan, who had one of his really great years in '48 finished six strokes back in second place over his home town course. And the score for the Open at Colonial was the 284 Craig Wood shot in 1941. The 272 is still a tournament record at Colonial.

I led all the way that year with scores of 67 68 68 69. Each day on the front nine my card showed 33's. I used a driver on only four tees, and a No. 3 wood on the others.

I was able to sacrifice distance because my iron shots were working.

Levelland Golf Tourney July 19

Plans are nearing completion for the Levelland Country club's second annual invitation golf tournament July 19-22, according to Herb Schroeder, country club pro and Al Allison, chairman of the golf committee.

Qualifying will be July 19, with match play continuing through the finals on Sunday, July 22.

A West Texas Pro-Amateur Golf association event will be held July 18, with added cash to professionals. During the tournament, there will be a calcutta pool July 19 and a dance July 21, plus other entertainment.

Billy Maxwell of Odessa won the championship flight of last year's tournament.

MALAYA STUDIES EDUCATION

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya — (AP) — An official study of Malaya Educational practices recommends such sweeping changes as the abolition of all vernacular schools and the establishment of a single type of free primary schools teaching Malay and English.

The so-called Barnes report — named after Leonard J. Barnes, director of Social Training at Oxford University who was chairman — was drawn up by a fourteen-member committee of whom nine were Malays and the rest Europeans. The report will be laid before the meeting of the Federal Legislative Council on July 11. Also expected to be presented that day will be a report on Chinese education prepared by another committee.

IDENTITY MIXES FASHIONS

TEL AVIV — (AP) — Mme. Guyon, the wife of the French Minister to Israel, wondered why she had been repeatedly congratulated for fashion suggestions of hers that she has never heard of before. The astonishment was mixed with some embarrassment when she was told last week that this time she wasn't as original as usual.

As a matter of fact, she didn't know that a local daily featured a once-a-week syndicated fashion column (sent from London) called "Le choix de Paris" and written by a Mme. Guyon. Apparently another one.

RUBBER EXPORTS REPORTED

BANGKOK — (AP) — Thailand exported 41,712,635.8 kilograms of rubber in the first quarter of 1951 compared with 34,951,945.5 kilograms in the period last year.

The United States imported the largest amount — 36,780,505.9 kilograms. Malaya imported 4,224,249.8 kilograms.

Plaster of Paris received its name because it was first manufactured in the neighborhood of the French capital.

MACHINE SORTS LEMONS BY COLORS

DAVIS, Calif. — (AP) — Science had developed a machine that sorts lemons by color to determine which fruit goes to market earliest. Designed at the College of Agriculture of the University of California, the machine sorts 15,000 lemons an hour and may some day replace slower-working humans who now do the job by hand.

Since lemons ripen unevenly — one tree may have ripe, silver, light green and dark green fruit — they must be sorted so riper ones can be sent to market first.

The machine has a metering device that feeds lemons single file past a bank of light-sensitive cells. The cells measure the amount of light reflected from the skin. Different colors operate various gates which route the fruit into bins. Agricultural Engineer John B. Powers, who designed the machine, believes it will sort other fruit, too, as the light cells are responsive to other chlorophyll they contain.

Warm Clothes Are Invented With Tin Can

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. — A tin can, thermometer and wind tunnel have helped produce a new type of lightweight material for cold weather wear. The fabric may have military value.

It was developed by M. E. Barker, a chemical engineering professor at the University of Arkansas.

The fabric, called Barker cloth, comprises a new cotton product with wool felt grids.

It is just as warm, Barker claims, as the warmest garments he knows — furs or fabrics padded with duck down or lined with synthetic insulation. The advantage his cloth has, he says, is its light weight, lack of bulk and inexpensiveness.

The research project, which he largely financed himself, required more than two years. Barker, a former Army colonel, declined to discuss — except for the record — the possible military value of his discovery.

His interest in clothing to combat the elements stems from big game hunting and Army service in various parts and climates of the world — Siberia, the Philippines, Alaska, Italy, Canada, North Africa and Okinawa.

After joining the faculty here, Barker set out to see if he could devise a material that would keep a person warm but wasn't bulky, heavy or uncomfortable.

Using a gallon can to simulate the human body, he filled it with water warmed to the temperature of a human body. He put a sensitive thermometer in the water and covered the can with various fabrics. Then he subjected them to wind, rain and other simulated elements.

The thermometer supplied the answer. Some fabrics let the wind leak through. Others were slow to dry after being moistened. Barker determined that keeping out the movement of air was the objective. He hit upon cotton with felt grids, containing small holes and placed an inch apart.

ISRAEL GROWS FLAX

JERUSALEM — (AP) — There was another "first" in Israel — this time the first harvest of flax, the Hebrew University's School of Agriculture has announced. With Israel government support, the school has for a number of years been experimenting with the growing of flax specimens sent to Israel from various parts of the world.

The first flax crop has been harvested on 250 acres of non-irrigated land near Hederah in the southern Israel coastal plain, not far from the Negev half-desert where 25,000 acres of flax are planned to be planted within the next four years.

The fibres grew well, a farmer said.

KILTS FOR DAWSON CREEK

DAWSON CREEK, B. C. — (AP) — A fund of about $4,000 is being raised in this northern district to provide kilts imported from Scotland for all members of the local pipe band.

Back in 1886 Michigan State averaged better than 16 runs per game for the season.

Pete Schneider, in a Pacific Coast League game May 11, 1923, hit five home runs. Two came with the bases loaded.

Anton-Irish Field Unitization Okayed

Another important step in the conservation of the oil and gas resources of West Texas has been taken with Railroad Commission of Texas approval of a unitization agreement for the Anton-Irish field, 30 miles northwest of Lubbock. The unit became effective Sunday.

Substantially increased recovery is expected to result from a field-wide gas injection program to be developed by operators. Formation of the unit was necessary preliminary to starting the secondary operation.

The unit agreement covers some 6,110 acres and unitizes the Clear Fork formation, found at an average depth in the field of 5,900 feet.

Three Years Work

The Railroad Commission approval of the unit and the secondary recovery program elicits three years of joint effort by the operators to establish a secondary recovery program in the Anton-Irish field. A spokesman for the unit members said the project represents an important conservation measure and demonstrates how oil operators and royalty owners cooperate in the best interests of conservation.

Unit members are Stanolind Oil and Gas company, which will operate the project; Gulf Oil corporation; Gulf Oil company; Caroline Hunt Trust estate; Hunt Oil company; Magnolia Petroleum company, and A & H Oil company.

Injection of gas into the Clear Fork formation will start as soon as facilities are completed. Stanolind said that it expects to place the program in operation last this year.

Will Purchase Gas

Since not enough casinghead gas is produced with Anton-Irish crude to carry out a secondary recovery program, additional gas will be purchased from El Paso Natural Gas company for injection into the producing formation.

Facilities required for the program include a 28-mile pipeline for transporting gas from El Paso's Amherst station; compressors for raising the pressure of the gas to levels needed to inject gas into the injection points. The entire expense of installing necessary facilities and buying gas to carry out the program will be borne by the participating operators.

Originally Two Fields

Now known as one field Anton-Irish originally was considered as two separate producing areas. Discovery well in the Anton portion of the field was Humble Oil and Refining company No. 1 J. A. Jackson, which was drilled in December, 1944. In April 1946, Stanolind discovered the Irish field with its Lee Irish "A" well. Later development showed the two actually were part of the same producing area, and the Railroad Commission declared them to be one field, Anton-Irish. To date, 141 wells have been completed in the field.

Named Vocational Agricultural Teacher At Anton School

Raymond Lewis has been elected as Vocational Agriculture teacher in the Anton High School. He will take the position left vacant by the resignation of Jack Rosenbaum.

Raymond is an Anton product; he grew up in the community and attended the Anton School. He is the son of Tom Lewis who formerly resided about a mile east of Anton.

After his release from the Armed forces Raymond completed college work at Sam Houston State College at Huntsville.

Mr. Rosenbaum will go to Littlefield where he will teach a Veterans school.

Many Increase Allowable

Pre-well allowable in the field at the present time is 42 barrels per day, as the result of a recent order cutting it back from 100 barrels daily. It is possible that the higher allowable will be restored now that unitization for gas injection has been accomplished.

HAILSTONES, WEST TEXAS STYLE

Young Larry Lofland, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Lofland of Lubbock, Tex., made no attempt to hide his astonishment at huge hailstones which fell in the Lubbock area in June. Some of the stones WORLD PEACE PLAN NEW DELHI — (AP)—If you think that the United Nations has failed in its purpose, here is a remedy offered by a Sikh Sadhu (holy man). Nirmal Singh Pantar, 48, urges the immediate formation of a world government with the Irish premier, Eamon De Valera as the president and Lord Strangsgate of England as the prime minister, investing them with full powers to work out the details. To invoke divine blessings for his plan, Pantar has gone on a fast in Mussorie, a sub-Himalayan summer resort, 200 miles from Delhi. This is his 15th fast for furtherance of world peace.

Man Drives Into Jail POMONA, Calif. — (AP)—A man walked up to the desk sergeant in the police station and said: "Please lock me up, officer. I've got an urge to run into a telephone pole." The sergeant explained he couldn't oblige because there was nothing to charge him with. The man left. Fifteen minutes later came a report that a man had knocked over a lamp post at a nearby intersection with his car. This time the cops accommodated him. He was locked up on a charge of destroying city property. The Florida State University swimming team won all seven of its dual meets this season. The squad won the Florida AAU title. State Fair of Texas To Be Held Oct. 6-21

A unique, new type of Agriculture Show — more of a spectacle than an exhibition — will be presented at the 1951 State Fair of Texas, Dallas, Oct. 6-21. A "Storybook of Texas Agriculture" will tell the glamorous true story of how the soil of Texas is tilled to produce the necessities — and many luxuries — of life. The mammoth free show in the Agriculture Building will portray agricultural products of prime importance in each of the 14 Extension District of the Texas A&M College System. In 14 colorful sets, simulating giant-size pages of an open book, the story of each district will be told with three-dimensional effect. The districts are Panhandle, South Plains, Rolling Plains, North Texas, Northeast Texas, Big Bend, Edward's Plateau, Heart of Texas, Piney Woods, Central Texas, Hill County and Winter Garden Area, South Texas, Gulf Coast and Rio Grande Plains. The plot for the "Storybook" has been furnished by the people of Texas through their endeavors in growing cotton, fruits and vegetables, harvesting grass and grain crops, breeding and marketing poultry and livestock, and converting products for home consumption. The "Storybook" material has been compiled and edited by Rev. W. Wilson, the fair's agriculture manager, in collaboration with Texas A & M district agents in agriculture and home economics, county and Home Demonstration agents, and farm and ranch leaders. Live animals, animated figures, drawings, miniature farm homes and buildings, models and mannequins, and actual farm products will be used to create an impression of reality in the sets. In triangular panels between sets, color photographs will be enhanced by spectacular lighting effects. Three additional sets will depict the work of 4-H Club members, Negro Extension workers and Future Farmers of America. The featured display in the center of the Agriculture Building will be a huge turntable with a relief map of Texas showing the cities and physical characteristics of each district. Fourteen islands will rise from the map, delineating their chief products. A huge ledger on the turntable will denote the far-reaching importance of agriculture in Texas economy.

German Parents Must Take More Interest In Schools

FRANKFURT, Germany — (AP)—Germany parents must take more interest in how little Klaus is doing at school if democratic processes in education are to take hold in Germany. That's what James M. Read, chief of the education and cultural relations division of the U.S. high commission advises. He backed up his contention in an address to German educators by citing personal experience: "As a parent with a child in a Germany school I have missed being called into any regular or frequent consultation by the teacher or into a parents' meeting or council." Read, former professor in the University of Louisville (Kentucky), urged that teachers from study groups with parents on modern theories of child growth and development. The Corcoran Gallery of Art, Washington, D. C., was founded in 1869 and is devoted primarily to American Art.

In the midst of gloom among hundreds of farmers hailed and rained out, some for the second or third time, and the even more gloomy and pessimistic picture of the damage being expressed in the towns of the county, as reports of damage were enlarged by oft-repetitions, the County Agent's office at Amherst, which made a survey of the county damage came out with a definite report that things were not as bad as they seemed, and that damage reports had been greatly exaggerated.

Bill Rodgers, assistant county agent at Amherst told a Leader representative at noon Tuesday, that in his estimation, from reports at hand, 200,000 acres of cotton was practically undamaged, which means that the county can produce more than half of the bumper cotton crop, freely predicted ten days ago, before the storm of Sunday night, and the one which struck a week earlier.

Crop damage was the worst in the Olton section. Estimates were as high as 7 inches of moisture falling there in 30 minutes. Hail piled up in 6-8 inch drifts, some of it described as the size of baseballs. Damage extended west to Circle, and several miles south in between the two towns, and north to Hart.

The Earth section, with exceptions got just "a nice rain". One of the exceptions was the Allison farm near Earth, one of the county's biggest farm operations, located 6 miles west of Earth was hailed out.

At Springlake, V. T. Tanner, cotton broker and insurance man estimated 2,000 acres at Springlake destroyed Sunday night, and that 3,000 acres was lost in the storm a week earlier.

Out in the Bull Lake area, no damage was reported, and south of Littlefield, and in the Spade area, as well as around Fieldton, damage seemingly was very moderate, compared with most other sections of the county.

Along Highway 84 west from Littlefield, all the way to Muleshoe, damage was severe, although this section also had received the heaviest damage in the storm a week earlier. Again Sunday night, fields were leveled and hundreds of tons of soil washed into the Highway. The Highway was again under water just west of Sudan, and traffic had to be detoured north over dirt roads.

Littlefield received 2 1/2 inches of rain, with a small amount of hail, and the Highway was under water for several hours here in town, with water entering several business places.

The twin storms hitting here one week apart, have left a terrific toll of financial loss in the county, but the fact that half of the cotton crop, or more, remains undamaged materially brightens the picture. The county can still harvest an enormous cotton and grain crop. Admittedly, there is still the prospect for worm and insect damage, intensified by wet weather, and by the fact that many farmers cannot get into their fields to fight the weed hazard.

It is now absolutely too late of replant cotton, but planting of grain sorghums is considered fairly safe for another two weeks—until July 15, says the County Agent's office, and as soon as fields dry out sufficiently thousands of acres will get a re-entirez some for the fourth time this season.

Legion Boys Win Over Morton, 3-1

The district 2 American Legion Junior baseball race went into its final week of play Tuesday, when Littlefield heading the division with five victories and two losses, downed Morton to the tune of 3-1 in a closely contested game played at Morton Tuesday afternoon.

Littlefield's Jones held the losers to one hit, while the winners picked up six safeties. The victory gave Littlefield at least a tie for the Eastern half title of District 2.

In the Western division, Lubbock is floundering and cannot get in the district playoff, having been mathematically eliminated when it lost to Littlefield, 12-2 last Friday.

Morton and Brownfield were a half game behind the O'Donnell crew when Morton played Littlefield Tuesday.

Wayne Yohner Hurt In Car Mishap

The first Fourth of July mishap in Littlefield occurred on the Pop Highway in front of the W. T. Bartley home early Wednesday when a light car occupied by some colored boys and a panel truck were in collision.

West Texas Gas

Mayors of all of the Texas cities served by the company were notified of the filing of the petition.

Mr. C. Wall, president said that increasing costs of material, labor, taxes, gas purchased for resale, etc., make it necessary to request an upward adjustment. He stated further that since the company began operation in the fall of 1927 that several downward adjustments in rates have been made—the last reduction being made in 1949.

A proposed rate has been filed with the petition to the Railroad Commission—a copy of which is being presented to the Mayors of the towns the company serves. The proposed rate increase would not increase the present minimum charge which is $1.25 per month for the first two thousand cubic feet used. Twenty-three per cent of the bills rendered to residential and business customers are for two thousand cubic feet or less.

To show the effect of the rate increase the company has made application of the new rate to the actual annual consumption of over seven hundred residences representing several from every town served. The average annual residential consumption for the calendar year 1950 was 86 MCF.

Taking the first fifty examples cited in each of several groups, arranged by annual consumption, the following average annual increases will occur.

41 to 60 Thousand Cubic Feet, $2.82; 61 to 80 Thousand Cubic Feet, $4.55; 81 to 100 Thousand Cubic Feet, $5.99; 101 to 150 Thousand Cubic Feet, $8.13.
