City To Consider Civil Defense Proposal

The discussion of the for-mation of a Civil Defense Unit will top the agenda in tonight's City Council meeting when the councilmen will consider establishing a CD unit for the city. The availability of such a unit for Littlefield has been under study for several months as the members of the council have heard presentations from the State CD headquarters and have talked with other cities which have formed independent Civil Defense units to provide protection for their citizens.

Should the council decide to establish a CD unit in Littlefield the next step would be to adopt a plan to be carried out. City Manager Richard Bean said a tentative plan would be pro-posed to the council if the unit

Should the council establish a Civil Defense Unit, and adopt the proposed plan, it is hoped the first steps can be taken in forming the unit, before the arrival of the tornado season, In other action, the city will hear proposals on the granting of a cable TV franchise, from several firms which have expressed an interest in providing Littlefield with cable television service. In its last meeting the council adopted a resolution governing the grant-ing of a cable TV franchise. could be made this spring. Other items on the agenda include the naming of one mem-ber to the Board of City Development, and one member to the Planning Commission, Also to be discussed will be the proposed improvement on the U.S. 84 business route, through

The issue, which was discussed at the regular meeting last week, was the topic of a called meeting of the council Monday night at which a large group of merchants expressed their desire to give the openings a try, but voted to postpone any decision until April 15th, the next meeting.
Amos Ward, co-chairman of the retail council, presented a list of over 20 merchants who had indicated they would open late, each Thursday, to better serve the customers of the The decision to postpone action on the issue came as a result of a vote taken Friday when several merchants said they would have to receive authority from their home offices to change store hours. This in most cases would take couple of weeks to work out.

Ward said most of the merchants felt they could be of increased service to the area

Grain Sign-Up Is Extended

Lamar Aten, head of the Lamb County ASCS office announced Monday that he had been notified that the sign-up period for the 1966 feed grain program has been extended through Friday, April 8.

Along with notification of the extension the ASCS office was notified that the support price for the 1966 crop soybeans had been increased.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman announced that the support price had been increased to $2.50 per bushel, an increase of twenty-five cents per bushel over the $2.25 support level which has been in effect since 1961.

"The action," said Mr. Freeman, "gives soybean producers an added incentive for added an added incentive to planting by providing definite assurance of a substantial increase as in the minimum price level for the coming soybean crop.

Upon learning of the city's selection for the honor, Mayor J.E. Chisholm and Chamber of Commerce President Arthur Duggan, Jr. said they were pleased at the honor given Littlefield and its citizens. Both said they hoped the city would see fit to re-enter the contest this year in an effort to become the fourth city in the state to fly the All-America

City flag.
While the efforts to garner the All-America honors for Littlefield were not sucessful this year, the city was selected one of top cities in the nation for the citizen inspired efforts and ideas which have resulted in the building of a better com-

The competition for the nation's communities is held annually and each year 11 cities are selected as members of the All-America city team, this year however the awards were ncreased to 13, to honor three Alaskan cities, Anchorage, Se-ward and Valdoz, which have come back after the devastating "Good Friday Earthquake" of 1964.

In making the selections known, LOOK said in its article, on sale April 19, the awards are given to cities whose citstrides in improving their communities. They are conferred for progress, not for perfection.

Mayor J.E. Chisholm, a member of the delegation making the presentation in Saint Louis last November, said "We feel we have much to be proud of though we did not win the title, this year. The efforts of the citizens of Littlefield have brought much attention to our community and we are beginning to realize the effects of our work. The city plans to dis-cuss re-entering the 1966 com-petition and I feel we will carry through with plans and win the honor for Littlefield."

Chamber president Arthur Duggan, Jr. also expressed his optimism for success and said he hopes the committee can meet soon to begin work on this year's entry form.

No date or time has been set for the 1966 hearings, which are usually held in the fall of the year. In addition to the three Alaska cities which received the award other 1965 All-America cities are: Flat River, Missouri; Florence, South Carolina; La Crosse, Wisconsin; Michigan City, Indiana; Mount Vernon, Ohio; Ogalla, Nebraska; Pikeville, Kentucky: Trenton, New Jersey: Wilmington, North Carolina, and Worcester, Massachusetts. While the basis of this year's application will again be the downtown project, several things which are underway in the community, at the present time are expected to be included in the application, and others are expected to be added as the year progresses. Among the cities receiving the honor this year several were honorable mention cities in 1964, who continued the work which had been begun, and resubmitted their application. Why most employees should file a new For W-4, Withholding Exemption Certificate, is the subject of a special one-page IRS fact sheet, Document 5642, now available from employers.

The reason for filing a new W-4, according to Ellis Campbell, Jr., IRS District Director for the Dallas District, is "to enable employers to withhold the correct amount of income tax under the new withholding system that will go into effect

Under the system established by the recently enacted Tax Adjustment Act of 1966, the withholding tax on wages will be more exact than in the past. Withholding will be based on six graduated rates instead of the present flat rate of 14 percent.

Beginning May 1, the amount of tax withheld will depend on (1) marital status, (2) the num-ber of exemptions claimed on Form W-4 filed with an emp-loyer and (3) the amount earned.

"After May 1," Mr. Camp-bell explained, "an employee will be treated as a single person--and thus have more tax withheld -- unless he files a new Form W-4 indicating he is married. Widows and widowers, too, will be concerned with filing a new Form W-4." Mr. Campbell continued.

"For withholding purposes they are considered married for two tax years following the death of a husband or wife, but will be treated as single if they do not designate 'married' on their Form W-4."

Longer Cotton Staple Predicted By Parker

"The entire two million bale | a few points over that m High Plains crop is not soon likely to be in the 1-1/8 inch staple range, but certainly a good portion of it will be out of the short staple category within the next two or three years," So concludes an article on

High Plains cotton quality and varieties in the March 21 issue of THE SOUTHERN TEXTILE NEWS, "bible" of the U.S. textile industry. The article was written especially for the STN's annual meeting edition by James S. Parker, textile industry consultant for Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. 'Until now Plains farmers haven't had much trouble deciding what seed to plant," the article states, "because there has been no great pressure to produce any particular quality or variety." Parker explained that the farmer's greatest concern in recent years has been yield per acre, and that high yields alone have resulted in nice profits.

"But it's getting to be differ-ent," he says, "and more and more farmers on the Plains are determined to grow cotton that will sell on the market instead of going into the government The difference, as Parker points out, is largely one of price and markets. In 1963 the base loan rate for middling one-inch cotton was 32 1/2 cents, which meant the loan price for average High Plains quality was around 29 1/2 cents. The base loan rate drop-ped to 30 cents in 1964, then inch cotton under the new ton program has been to 21 cents for 1966. And the of cotton the High Plate been growing will rate only 18 cents in the loan sche and is not apt to sell inthen ket for much more than

Hence the emphasis on a ity. It is true that farmer come will be bolstered by ect payments on both the age planted and the acress planted, but the actual vize the cotton produced will at affected by these payments. this is why Parker says:"5 big changes may be made the cotton varieties plante the High Plains this year at years immediately ahead."

He points out that ser years back the short st cotton of the Plains was a demand, but that it is now for in g a more difficult pan market channels. And the especially true now that then tile mill's cost for 1-1/6; cotton is below what it is to be for 15/16 inch. Also as a strong factor contrib to the move away from thesh ter, weaker fibers is the high speed textile machin being installed by virtually spinners. This machinery recent stress on strength fabrics demands als ger and stronger raw mater "So to get a better prior their product and regain son their markets, Plains farm know they will have to n to 29 cents in 1965, and averto varieties that product age High Plains grades and stap-les went into the loan for about and stronger fiber." Pe 26 cents or into the market for reasons.
