Look at Buick First... you can afford it and you can't know what your 1940 money ought to buy until you've seen this really modern automobile.

The Buick SPECIAL 4-door touring sedan $896*

YES sir, something pretty special happens when you drive away for the first time in your very own 1940 Buick.

In that little act, you step out in a car that is not only 1940's biggest news but the pattern for many a season to come.

Style? Just look the others over and see how they mirror the trend Buick began a good twelve months ago!

Size? Just try to find a car as long as Buick, bumper to bumper, for the same money—or one with a frame as husky and rigid.

Comfort? Performance? Appointments? No one else on the highway has soft, gentle coil springs all around that never need lubrication, with the steady rolling firmness of torque-tube drive.

No one else gives you a gas-thrifty Dynaflex valve-in-head straight-eight engine, much less a power plant electro-balanced after assembly.

And with the whole range of Buick's six dozen 1940 features you'll be No. 1 in the automotive hit parade, leading the way in a car that will still be full of big news many a season hence.

The price? Well, the Buick SPECIAL carries figures lower than some sixes. And that spells "buy" in any man's language. Why not see your Buick dealer?

PINAFLORE APRON
You can finish this pretty pinaflore apron in two ways, either with coquettish little bows at the neckline and on the pocket, or with bias binding in contrast. It's one of those satisfactory aprons that go on easily, fastening with three buttons at the back, and held securely in place by crossed straps. High in the neck and ample of skirt, it does a thorough job of protecting your dress from spots and splatters. Here is a pattern (8226) that you'll repeat many times, making it not only for yourself but for gifts. There's no difficult detailing to it, just the two long seams so the making goes quickly and easily. Pattern No. 8226 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20; 40 and 42. Pattern 8568—Of course it's a real joy to keep your school-girl daughter always ready for school, now that she's simply shooting out of her clothes. Well, here's a double pattern 8568, including both frock and slip, that will be a big help. Darts at the pointed basque waistline are all the fitting required. It's a dress that looks equally well in wool crepe, flannel or school cottons, with linen or pique collar and cuffs, and in velvet with lace or organdy for parties. Pattern No. 8568 is designed for sizes 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14 years.

Mr. Shevnan will be glad to demonstrate without charge.

Formby Urges Action on State Questions

Judge Marshall Formby of Dickens County has formally announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for state senator of the 30th Senatorial district.

Formby is making his formal announcement by a letter to the members of the Democratic club of West Texas for the present 7000-pound truck limit to be raised to a sensible limit, that he favored the immediate abolition of the old age assistance and other social security problems.

These problems should have been considered during the last session of the Texas Legislature," Judge Formby said, "in order that other important legislation needed in the state might be immediately taken care of."

Judge Formby is serving his first year as county judge of Dickens County. During his administration, his friends pointed out, the county is operating on a budget for the first time in 15 years and the citizens of the county are enjoying the lowest tax rate in the state in 22 years. Bank deposits for the county funds are at a high of 10 years.

It was also pointed out that the county debt was reduced during the year almost 25 per cent or $100,000. At the same time relief projects were sponsored by the county to take care of the unemployed.

A graduate of Texas Technological college of the class of 1932, Judge Formby is president of the Alumni and Ex-Students association, an organization composed of the 40,000 former students of Tech. Last fall as president of the association he recommended to the executive council and succeeded in getting his proposal passed that a certain amount of the alumni dues be

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Blessing Attend Funeral Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Blessing left Friday for Fort Worth in response to a message that a nephew of Mrs. Blessing, H. L. Waterstreet, had passed away at his home in Sand Springs, Okla., and that burial would be in Fort Worth.

Funeral services were conducted at a funeral home chapel in Fort Worth at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Set aside for a permanent building or loan fund for the association to enable in the future more Texas youths to attend college.

Has Taken Lead

Judge Formby is also president of the West Texas County Judges and Commissioners association, an organization of 124 West Texas counties. Since he assumed his office last September, he has taken the lead in getting large WPA quotas for West Texas and a few months ago made a trip to Washington to help work out plans for the certification to WPA rolls several thousand destitute and needy persons in West Texas. While in Washington he also was instrumental in obtaining larger grants for aid for the Farm Security clients in Texas.

Born in Hopkins county, Judge Formby moved to McAdoo with his parents when he was five years of age. Following his graduation from the McAdoo and Spur schools, he entered Texas Tech. During his senior year at Tech he was editor of the campus newspaper, The Torch. Following his graduation from Tech, he was a newspaper reporter and published at one time The Aspermont Star before he was elected county judge of Dickens county.

Is Farmer Himself

The 30th Senatorial district is composed of the following counties: Andrews, Martin, Howard, Gaines, Dawson, Borden, Yoakum, Terry, Lynn, Garza, Kent, Stonewall, Cochran, Hockley, Lubbock, Crosby, Dickens, King, Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Floyd, Motley and Cottle.

A 160-acre farmer himself, he indicated that he intended to champion the cause of the average farmer, and laboring and business man of West Texas.

"When these three prosper," he said, "the people as a whole enjoy prosperity."

Candidate For State Superintendent Of Public Instruction

Pledging an efficient, political-free administration of Texas' public schools, S. R. LeMay of Athens has announced his candidacy for the office of State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

A graduate of A. & M. College and the University of Texas, LeMay has had broad experience in public school work, and for the past 18 years has been superintendent of the Athens Public schools.

Five Million Acres of Land Is Under Conservation

Most 3 million acres of Texas and ranch land went under soil and water conservation banner for the first time in 1939. It brings the figures for the year-old campaign to 16 million acres of land protected against soil and rainfall while some 2 million acres are still in process of protective measures. Texas is off to a good start in 1940, a year slated to see record-breaking advances in conservation as all agencies of the U. S. Department of Agriculture unite state and local organizations in a joint drive to protect soil and the rain where it falls. Detailed 1939 figures, as announced by M. R. Bentley, agricultural engineer, and C. (Dutch) Hohn, water conservation specialist, both of the Texas A. and M. Extension Service, include 766,211 acres of land protected by furrow damming, and 1,254,699 acres pit cultivated. Around 1,500,000 acres of crop land were farmed on the contour for the first time.

County owned tractor grader outfits in 172 counties accounted for 410,991 acres of the terracing total. On range and pasture land, 56,689 acres were terraced, 97,800 ridged, 195,736 contour-furrowed, and 30,904 subsoiled or chiseled. Spreader dams constructed during 1939 will divert runoff water and spread it over 108,855 acres of grass land. Much of the work on range land was done in cooperation with the AAA's range conservation program. County agricultural agents held 1,094 district meetings to explain details of the Texas Soil Conservation District Law. The meetings drew an attendance of 66,362.

of 14,872 units or 31.8 per cent. This was an all time high volume for this manufacturer and marked the sixth consecutive month in which Buick domestic deliveries have broken all previous records, according to W. E. Hufstader, General Sales Manager. Similarly, it marked the 1940 models as the most successful in the experience of the company with the record volume coinciding with the period in which the new cars have been in production.

CCC Wants 4,000 More Boys In April

Adam R. Johnson, Director of the State Department of Public Welfare, who has the responsibility for the selection of boys for the Civilian Conservation Corps, has been advised that approximately 4000 boys will be needed in April to bring existing camps to full strength.

"Boys who wish to be selected for the CCC must be of good character, at least 17 years old and not more than 23 1-2, and not have served more than 18 months since July 1937," explained Mr. Johnson, "for we desire only the best boys as members."

Applications should be made to the various County Welfare officers as quickly as possible so when final county quotas are announced, those eligible may be sent to enrolling points. At present there are over 16,000 Texans in CCC camps, 10, 000 in Texas and 6,000 in Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico and Wyoming—over $300,000 per month being returned to the family groups of these boys.

NAGGING BACKACHE

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action. Don't Neglect It!

Modern life with its ceaseless hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking, exposure, contagion, whatnot, keeps doctors busy, hospitals crowded. The after effects are disturbing to the kidneys and oftentimes people suffer without knowing that disordered kidney action may cause the trouble. After colds, fever and similar ills there is an increase of body impurities the kidneys must filter from the blood. If the kidneys are overtaxed and fail to remove excess acid and other harmful waste, there is poisoning of the whole system. Symptoms of disturbed kidney function may be nagging backache, persistent headache, dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of strength and energy. Other signs of kidney or bladder disturbance sometimes are burning, scanty or too frequent urination. In such cases it is better to rely on a medicine that has won world-wide approval than on something less favorably known. Use Doan's Pills. They have been winning new friends for more than forty years. Be sure to get Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

Girls Are Advised To Build-Up For Relief

Lack of knowledge causes many a weak, undernourished girl a lot of suffering! Many others, however, know how the headaches, nervousness, cramp-like pain of functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition are helped by the proper use of CARDUI. Some take it a few days before and during "the time," to help ease periodic distress. But CARDUI'S principal use is to help increase appetite; stimulate the flow of gastric juice; so aid digestion, assist in building up physical resistance and thus help reduce periodical distress. Women have used CARDUI for over 50 years.

Will Take Part In San Francisco And New York World Fairs

The Boy Scouts of America will have an active part in the New York World's Fair and the Golden Gate International Exposition at San Francisco this year. The Scouts' participation at both fairs in 1939 was successful, both from the standpoint of the boys and their leaders as well as in the judgment of the officials of the enterprises.

Once again the movement will maintain its own Boy Scout Service Camp on a two-acre site adjacent to the Federal Building at the New York Fair. Here provisions are being made for 160 Scouts and Scouters to camp each week, living as Boy Scout Troops with their own boy and adult leaders. This represents an increase of ten more campers per week.

Last year 3,804 Scouts and their leaders lived at the New York World's Fair in a tented village of their own. They came from more than 700 towns in 32 states, the District of Columbia and the Canal Zone. Their helpfulness to fair officials and fairgoers and their conduct won praise from many quarters.

Each Scout camper will devote about one-third of his time in some service capacity which will not compete with those seeking gainful employment. Last year the Scouts proved themselves almost indispensable as guides in assisting school teachers who visited the Fair with approximately 500,000 children during May and June. They also served as aides at the administrative office, for the National Advisory Committee, at first aid stations, in the press and treasury offices, the special events department and such exhibits as the taste pavilion, Temple of Religion, Medicine and Public Health and the Children's World. They were ushers, orderlies, color guards and guards for special programs for foreign government groups.

Each scout will pay his own transportation and a moderate fee for his share of food at both expositions. Once again scouts will be accepted for the New York World's Fair Scout Service Camp during school sessions in May, June, September and October, only where they have the approval of local school authorities covering their five day school absences.

Scout officials also announced that consideration is being given to Special Boy Scout Days at both fairs. Boy Scout Day at the New York World's Fair brought together 63,000 Boy Scouts and Scouters, the largest number of Scouts ever assembled anywhere in the world. More than 15,000 Scouts and leaders took part in Boy Scout Day at the Golden Gate Exposition last August 3.

Boy Scouts and their leaders interested in participating in the Boy Scout Service Camp which opens at the New York World's Fair on May 11 and closes Oct. 27, or the Golden Gate Exposition in San Francisco from May 25 to 29 should inquire of their local Boy Scout councils for further particulars.

Now Is The Time—

Generally speaking, the best time to buy anything is when you get the most for your money.

The outstanding value today is a new home. A 1940 home offers greater value than at any time in history.

The 1940 home not only costs less than that of 1926 (usually considered the "normal year") but the 1940 home also makes the 1926 home practically obsolete because of its many improvements and new developments.

Actually, the prospective home builder of today can get more value than at any time in history, for the following reasons:

Financing.—FHA-insured loans make it possible to pay for a small home out of a modest income with low monthly payments suited to the family budget and spread over a 15-, 20-, or 25-year period. The maximum interest that an approved private lending institution may charge for an FHA-insured loan is 4 1-2 per cent. This interest applies not on the entire amount borrowed but on the diminishing balances, or what is left after each monthly payment is deducted from the principal. In addition, a mortgage-insurance premium charge of one-half of 1 per cent is made.

Design.—Great strides have been made in designing homes to eliminate waste space, to make them more attractive, and to fit definite family needs.

Construction.—If a home is built under the FHA plan, compliance examinations are made by FHA representatives during the course of construction to ascertain if the methods and materials used in the building of the home conform to the original plans and specifications and to the FHA requirements.

Comfort.—Better planning, better equipment, perfected insulation, and improved heating have given the modern home comfort not even dreamed of 10 years ago.

Efficiency.—The modern home will have better kitchen planning, more electrical equipment, new and improved labor-saving devices, and better room arrangements which eliminate many building mistakes that mean added burdens to the housewife.

Balancing the ups and downs, modest-income families will find that today, as never before, the figures are in their favor for sound and secure home ownership.

Would Lower Rate On Fed. Land Loans

Early enactment of a bill continuing for a five-year period the reduction in interest rates on Federal Land Bank and Land Bank Commissioner loans to farmers was predicted this week by Congressman George Mahon in Washington. Legislation providing for a reduction of interest rates on such loans for one-year periods was passed each year from 1935 to 1938. The 1938 act provided a legal interest rate of 3 1/2 per cent for a period of two years on Land Bank loans and 4 per cent on Commissioner loans, instead of the contract rate of 4 per cent or more on Land Bank loans and 5 per cent on Commissioner loans. The reduction provided for in the 1938 act expires July 1, 1940.

The present bill would set the interest rate at 3 1/2 per cent for both Federal Land Bank and Land Bank Commissioner loans until June 30, 1-945. This measure passed the House on March 18 and is now pending before the Senate. Congressman Mahon, who was instrumental in the passage of this measure and the previous measures reducing interest rates to farmers, said that he felt confident the Senate would act favorably on the present bill within the next few weeks.

The 3 1/2 per cent rate would mean a substantial saving in interest payments to approximately 12,000 Federal Land Bank and Land Bank Commissioner borrowers in the 25 counties of the 19th Congressional district.

AAA Checking Farm Compliance

Starting in the Valley and working north, the AAA this week begins the tremendous task of checking the compliance with the farm program of more than 400,000 agricultural producers. The work will be completed by the last of August.

In each Extension Service district meetings of county committees, Agricultural Conservation Association secretaries, and county performance supervisors will be held as the work moves northward. B. F. Vance, assistant state AAA administrator explained. Following the district meetings, sub-district and county meetings will be held for the training of county performance reporters.

All county performance reporters are local men employed by the local association, the administrator pointed out. In checking compliance in a farm, the reporter uses an aerial photograph, measuring the fields on a farm, numbering them on the photograph, and identifying them on the photograph, and identifying all crops, land uses, and soil-building practices.

Checking of compliance on a farm is done only when the producer or his authorized representative is present, Vance declared, and in most cases the producer assists the reporter in his work.

The SNOOPER SAYS ...

"Come Tiptoe Through the Tulips With Me" ... The popular song hit of the late 20's came into my mind last week when I saw the many beautiful tulips in bloom in the yards at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Martin, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Barnett, and the Methodist parsonage. Hope I find some this week.

I read this ... Some Federated club women at Eastland developed a "chemurgic" product. They strung cockleburs (don't ask me how they managed to handle them) and after tinting them, they wound the burrs into dainty corsages for their coat lapels. They made money off other cocklebur items, proving that things we think are simply waste may be used most advantageously.

Did you know that Pastorium is as good a word for parsonage as parsonage is itself? Perhaps you did if you're a Presbyterian of the U. S. variety.

I knew we would eventually start eating more cotton, since the government advocated the "Use More Cotton" plan. ... An ice cream will appear on the market this summer with a cottonseed meal base and cottonseed oil instead of butter fat. In other words, it will contain no cream at all. It was invented by Prosper A. Ingels, a Dallas pastry chef. It is said to have a taste somewhere between coffee, maple and vanilla.

And when some one thinks of making coffee from cotton ... my coffee drinking days will be entirely over!

The longest love letter in the world is at the British museum. It was written by one of Queen Elizabeth's courtiers to his lady, and runs to 410,000 words, on more than 400 sheets of paper.

Wonder if said letter started with "I've done nothing but dream of you since I saw you last ... your eyes are as beautiful as the stars in the heavens ... your life to me is as sweet as the rose."

Why not preserve the wild flowers of the Plains. That question was asked recently by the members of the Hereford Garden club, and it is a question that every West Texan should think about. Now is the time to begin thinking about the protection and preservation of the flowers that grow wild on the highways and prairie which will please the eye with bloom later in the summer.

We might not find much beauty in the ordinary sunflower, and the many other flowers that adorn our highways and the prairie, but stop for a minute and think how they would look without these wildflowers growing here.

And is this Catty ... Recently there was published a phonetic translation of sounds in different languages, and the cat's meow was one sound which each of these languages interpreted in the same way. It is strange that the word "cat" is so similar in various languages. In Scandinavia the animal is called "Katt," in France "Chat," in Germany "katze," in Holland "cat," in Italy "gatto," in Spain "gato," in Russia "kats," and in Poland "kat." And the Romans had a word for it, too, "catus."

Meow, MARGIE.

EUROPE'S WAR DAY BY DAY

THURSDAY — LONDON—English troops landed in Norway on the 22nd, and the German invasion today as fighting the length of her tortuous western coast foreshadowed a major engagement in the Trondheim area and a determined stand inland north of Oslo.

British officers were reported to have reached Hamar, 60 miles north of Oslo, where the Norwegian government made its first headquarters after fleeing the capital. This was the first outward sign of active Allied-Norwegian cooperation and probably meant the officers had been flown inland from coastal points where the British have made landings.

BELGRADE—A plot was discovered to overthrow the government of Premier Dragisa Cvetovic, which was reported today in quarters close to the government following an announcement that former Premier Stoyadinovic would be interned in a mountain fastness under heavy guard. These sources indicated that success of the plot had hinged on entry of German troops into Yugoslavia. Stoyadinovic was taken into custody after a police raid on his home disclosed documents linking him with nazi "fifth column" activity in Yugoslavia.

NORWAY—Allied airplanes, warships and troops hammered at German forces in Norway today as both sides raced for the stronger position in Scandinavia. Royal Air Force raiders Thursday night hit a U-boat off the coast and a German supply ship, and badly damaged the Stavanger airport, destroying transport planes parked on the airbase. The British bombers were thought to have shot down two twin-engine planes which ascended to fight them. Three planes failed to return to London from the raids.

In the Narvik area in Arctic Norway, German troops were fighting a desperate retreating action against a mercenary British-Norwegian drive. The battle by a combined British-Norwegian force to wipe out all Germans in the entire Narvik area from the Rombak Fjord on the North Sea coast to the Swedish frontier began late Thursday.

BERLIN—SATURDAY—Adolph Hitler observed his 51st birthday today. His celebration included: No. 3 Nazi Randolph Hess told German boys "not to feel bad because they were too young to fight in this war because Germany would win and provide them with colonies in which to roam, explore and fight when they grow up." He said some of the oldest may still reach the front in this war.

SATURDAY—WASHINGTON—Reports that Russia has established naval and air bases near the Aleutian islands, congressional sources said Saturday, re behind intensified defenses in Alaska.

Informed legislators said they understood that the army definitely had confirmed that Russia has constructed bases on the Siberian coast less than 100 miles from American-owned islands in the Aleutian chain which extends southwestward from Alaska.

SUNDAY—Germany flashed the challenge of her air might in birthday battle for Adolph Hitler Saturday night against the expanding Allied drive to establish an army in Norway.

Hardly had the British made their boast that an Allied fighting force had been transported 400 miles and landed in Norway without the loss of a single life, than Germany countered officially with an assertion of Saturday afternoon air successes against British landing forces and their transport and convoy.

Germany claimed her warplanes had sunk a British cruiser guarding landing operations, set afire a big transport disembarking troops and then had "effectively" bombed Allied troops already landed in Romsdals fjord near Port Andalsnes, 125 miles west of German-held Trondheim.

Just before that the official German news agency, DNB, declared that one British transport had been sunk and two other transports and a cruiser damaged somewhere off the Norwegian coast on Friday.

The Allies, however, reported they had established themselves already on Norwegian soil with at least two British divisions and one division of French troops.

Britain also reported that her submarines torpedoed two transports in a German convoy. It was not announced whether the transports had sunk.

British communiques said also the Allied forces in Norway "occupied certain positions of 'vantage' on April 19, and operations there are 'proceeding according to plan'." Three German planes were reported shot down and others damaged in unsuccessful raids on British naval units and transports.

The British announced two merchant casualties of their own on the seas, the cargo ships, Mersey and Hawby going down after explosions on the southeast coast of Britain. Thirteen men were dead or missing.

The dogged little Norwegian army reported early today from "somewhere in Norway" that British troops had penetrated to eastern Norway and had taken up the battle against the German invaders.

The communique on Saturday's fighting also said two German tanks were destroyed in close combat about 90 miles south of German-occupied Oslo. Extent and exact location of the British operations were not disclosed.

MONDAY—Sweden protested strongly to Berlin today against incursions by nazi warplanes over her territory, and asked measures to prevent repetition of flights which Sunday were especially numerous and grave.

Faced with a steadily expanding battlezone next door in Norway, Sweden already had taken sweeping precautions to prevent the conflict on her neutrality.

Fast moving columns of British and French troops, striking inland from debarkation points on Norway's coast, were reported today engaged in a series of fierce clashes with German forces on the Trondheim and Oslo fronts.

The conflict in Norway was shaping into a full-fledged war in the modern style, with perhaps 100,000 men in the field—British, French, Norwegians and Germans, some moving behind tanks and others attacking under cover of artillery and aerial bombardments.

Spurred by fear of a further widening of the struggle to the point where it might slop over the Norwegian border, Sweden achieved peak preparedness short of general mobilization.

LONDON—The British air force is synthesizing raids on German bases in Norway and Denmark, attempting to choke off the nazi air ferry service, which poured German troops into the invaded country.

Air ministry announcements said both Aalborg, in northern Denmark, and Stavanger, southern Norwegian port, had been raided during the night by British bombers repeating attacks that on the previous night also included Kristiansand, another southern port.

The Stavanger airdrome was "bombed, and machine-gunned" destroying "a number of enemy aircraft," the ministry said. The Aalborg airdrome, which British believe is Germany's only large field in Denmark, was said to have suffered "extensive damage by high explosive and incendiary bombs."

TUESDAY—STOCKHOLM—British threaten to bombard Narvik where Germans surrounded; Norwegians and Allies clamp vice on Trondheim; fighting reported at several points in Trondheim sector.

LONDON—British fight off German mine-laying planes on southeast coast; report 24 German warship casualties, exclusive of U-boats

Ginger Rogers In "Primrose Path" At Ritz This Week end

Already acclaimed the foremost dancing star of the screen, and having displayed her versatility as a comedienne in numerous films, Ginger Rogers now about-faces and plays probably the most dramatic role of her career in "Primrose Path." The popular star and Joel McCrea share stellar honors in this film which will be featured at the Ritz Theatre Saturday midnight, Sunday and Monday.

Miss Rogers won her spurs as an outstanding comedienne in "Vivacious Lady" and "Bachelor Mother" established her right to top flight dramatic honors in "Stage Door," combined comedy and pathos in the recent "Fifth Avenue Girl," and for many years has been recognized as Hollywood's foremost dancing star by virtue of her highly successful dancing musicals with Fred Astaire.

Would Make Changes In Farm Program

Secretary Wallace has urged Congress to make 21 "minor modifications" in the farm program in the interest of "effective and economical administration".

His proposed amendments, directed chiefly at wheat, cotton and tobacco phases of the program, did not, he said, "call for any substantial change" because of his belief in the program's basic soundness. His recommendations were made in a letter to Speaker Bankhead.

Among general changes, the proposed amendments to which he said would:

Simplify the method of making payments to decreased payees. Require persons entitled to benefit payments to apply personally thereafter.

Clarify the definition of "market" to make the act applicable to the marketing by producers of cotton, wheat, rice or tobacco in processed form, and to include gifts under "marketing".

Provide penalties for buyers who fail to pay the government penalties collected from producers.

Extend from one to two years the time in which application may be made for a refund of a penalty erroneously collected.

Place upon the producer the burden of proving, in cases of dispute, that he has not marketed a commodity subject to penalty.

Among the other changes recommended:

Wheat and corn:

Exempt from wheat quota restrictions farms normally producing 200 bushels or less. The present figure is 100 bushels. Provide for a redetermination of normal yield of corn and wheat by counties only after there has been a change of at least 5 per cent in the 10-63-4 average yield present law requires annual redeterminations.

Cotton:

Advance the date for establishing normal yields so that individual cotton farmers may know at the beginning of each crop year the estimate for their farm.

Provide for liens on cotton which is subject to penalty if marketed.

Annual Panhandle Plains Dairy Show To Be Held May 7-11

PLAINVIEW, April 23 — Dates for the thirteenth annual Panhandle Plains Dairy Show have been set for May 7-11, several weeks later than any previous show. Exhibitors have declared that they feel that the later date will be of great advantage to them in finishing their stock for the judging ring, and it is also hoped that the late date will give the possibility of better weather.

Three thousand show catalogs came off the press Saturday and have been mailed out to exhibitors and officials throughout the territory. Indications are that this will be one of the largest shows in the history of the association, with a number of new exhibitors coming in.

J. E. Rigler, Plainview a veteran Jersey dairyman, heads the Show this year. Miles Milhoan, Wildorado, Milking Shorthorn breeder, is vice president and Pete H. Smith, secretary Plainview Chamber of Commerce, and C. B. Martin, Hale County Farm Agent are manager and superintendent respectively.

There will be the usual entertainment features, the pageant and coronation of a queen on the opening night, Tuesday May 7, dances, with music furnished by Joe Buzze's orchestra, one act plays, T. J. Tidwell shows on the Midway during the week, exhibits and demonstrations in the educational department, and various other attractions for the thousands of visitors who annually throng the grounds during Dairy Show week.

Tuesday, opening day, has been designated as Future Farmers of America Day, with dairy products judging and dairy cattle judging contests held. Preliminary tests in the Production contest will be held on Monday. On Tuesday afternoon, dairy products will be judged, and the day will conclude with the pageant, and coronation of the queen, and the queen's ball at the Hilton Hotel.

N. C. Fine, Texas Technological College, is superintendent of the vocational agriculture students and 4-H Club dairy cattle judging contest, and M. D. Pederson, also of Texas Tech, is superintendent of the vocational agriculture students dairy products judging contest.

Superintendent of the Production contest is E. W. Thomas, Perryton, County Agent of Ochiltree County, who will be assisted by D. M. Carrell, Plainview, field man and official tester for the Central Plains Dairy Herd Improvement Association.

Mrs. H. V. Tull, Jr., is general chairman of the pageant, Mrs. J. Pat Horton, Jr., director. The theme of the pageant has not yet been disclosed, and will be veiled in mystery until the night of the coronation. The identity of the queen will also be held in secrecy until she appears on the stage to be crowned the 1940 reigning monarch.

Wednesday is Jersey Breeders and 4-H Club Day, with judging starting Jersey classes at 9 o'clock. John Palmore, Swisher County farm agent, is superintendent of this department.

The annual banquet and meeting of the Dairy Show Association is scheduled for 6:30 that evening, and another Dairy Show dance will be held at the Hilton at 9 o'clock.

Thursday is Holstein-Friesian and Guernsey breeders Day, with A. and M. College ex-students having their annual round-up and banquet in the evening.

R. N. McClain is superintendent of the Holstein-Friesians, and Ralph Howe, Crosbyton, is superintendent of the Guernsey department.

Another big day of the Show is Friday, when the Milking Shorthorn breeders have the stage. Judging in these classes, begins at 9 o'clock Friday morning, and at 2:30 that afternoon, the auction sale of Milking Shorthorns is scheduled. Breeders of this class will hold their annual business meeting at the Hilton Hotel at 6 o'clock that evening. Frank Weil, Tale Center, is superintendent of this department.

A feature of Friday's program will be the Cavalcade of Dairying, presented by the Dairy Products department, at 8 o'clock that evening at the judging arena. Admission to this feature, and to the entire play, is free. Miss Lucille St. Hale County home demonstration agent, is superintendent of the Dairy Products department, which has advanced steadily form a very comparatively insignificant part of the Show to one of its largest and most important departments.

Janet Phillips finds herself left out of things when her wealthier friends in Bay City come home from their finishing schools and college. Priscilla Leigh—at the moment interested in Janet's old friend Gordon Key—is making herself disagreeable. Jim Phillips, Janet's brother, has brought her to the dance to which Gordon promised to take her. Jim has been subbing as a professional for the summer and offered to give rich, red-haired Sanders lessons. She mistakes for a club menial at the dance. Sanders ignores his invitation to dance. Janet finds that Howard Leigh has changed Jim's position and hurries to explain.

Janet was staring down into her pointed face and it seemed wiped quite free of sophistication and affection. He had not until now realized that she was very much younger than her pose. "You forgive me?" she asked.

"I certainly!" she said. Janet laid her hand on his and he learned that ecstasy can be like a knife. "Will you dance next dance with me?" she asked.

"Perhaps that's why I like you," he said. "Nothing in his experience had prepared him for the rapturous eyes which surged through the feel of her supple body. Once when he bent his little bronze curl brushed back, thrilling him from head to toe. He had a wayward desire to kiss her lips to the seductive in the slender ivory column of her throat. "You dance beautifully," murmured Miss Sanders, when the music ended. He still did not trust himself to speak. Howard Leigh was coming toward them with a scowl and still Jim said nothing. "I'll see you in the morning," she asked, "for our first lesson?" Jim swallowed hard. "Yes," he said unsteadily, although he knew that the first lesson was behind them.

It was not apparent on the surface that Janet Phillips no longer occupied the same position in respect to her old crowd which she had once held. She did not suffer for lack of partners at the dance that night.

"I always get what I go after," he said quietly.

Gordon did not look happy. In spite of his mother's persuasions, Gordon had never liked Priscilla.

Even when it was her whim to be amiable, he never knew what minute she might turn upon him. Janet understood the distressed pucker between his eyes and why in spite of himself he glanced longingly at her from across Priscilla's sleek blond hair. When some one cut in on him he could not resist the temptation to tap Janet's partner on the shoulder.

"Hello, Gordon," said Janet. Gordon drew a breath of relief as his arms closed about her. It was as if he had escaped unpredictable perils and rediscovered security.

Involuntarily Janet's voice took on a soothing note. "You mustn't feel conscious-stricken about me, Gordon," she said gently.

"I feel terrible about letting you down!" cried Gordon in a choked voice.

Janet still found herself in the anomalous position of defending him from herself. "It isn't as though we were ever formally engaged, or as if you had jilted me at the altar," she said kindly.

"I wouldn't have hurt you for the world. My one consolation is that you're too good for me," he said with a mournful smile.

It was Janet's cut to bolster up his self-esteem by a denial of his statement, but she had a sudden vision of truth. "Yes," she said, "I am."

She wished some one would cut in, but her friends were too tactful. She muttered an excuse when the music stopped and escaped to the dressing room.

She arrived at the ballroom to find that her partner for the next dance had looked everywhere for her before retiring in dudgeon to the bar. Had Janet followed her inclination she would have hunted up Jim, and asked him to take her home. She felt sure he was bored to death and eager for an excuse to go, but at that moment a couple drifted by her on the dance floor. Janet could scarcely believe her eyes. From the rapt expression on his rugged face, her brother with Miss Helen Sanders in his arms was anything but bored.

"Oh, no!" cried Janet. She did not realize she had spoken aloud until some one who had come up behind her addressed her. "Shall we finish this dance?"

She turned sharply. Tony Ryan stood at her elbow. Evidently he had only that moment arrived. She intended to make an excuse for not dancing with him. However, he gave her no chance to do anything of the kind. He merely put out his arms and danced off with her as if he believed any girl would feel flattered to be singled out by the famous Tony Ryan.

Janet was glad when the music ended, glad when Priscilla came skating across the room to assert her prior claim to the visiting celebrity, glad when everybody crowded around Tony Ryan so that Janet was edged to the extreme rim of the group and finally extricated from it entirely by Ted Hughes with whom she had the next dance.

The last dance of the evening was the only one in which no cut-ins were allowed. Every one was supposed to dance it with his escort, but Janet had not seen Jim for an hour. She had a notion he was lurking outside with a cigarette. However, she made a circuit of the veranda without locating him. She was perched on the porch railing staring somberly at the setting moon, when Tony Ryan again came up behind her.

"Want to dance?" he asked.

"No," said Janet without turning her head.

There was an interval of silence which Janet found trying. In the end it was she who broke what had begun to seem a contest between their wills.

"It must be nice to return to the old home town in the role of conquering hero," she remarked in a light, disdainful voice.

He laughed. "It's a complex, I suppose. I could never convince myself that I had outgrown Shanty Town until I came back here and had the seal of approval put upon me by the elite of Bay City. Queer, isn't it?"

She gave him a grudging glance. "That at least needn't worry you any longer."

"I always get what I go after," he said gently.

"Modest, aren't you?"

"No, just sure of myself. There's a difference."

"Who am I to take exception to your pride in your accomplishments," she inquired bitterly. "You are on your way up, I am on my way out."

He stared at her curiously. "Yes?"

She shrugged her shoulders. "As you may know, a generation ago my family was prominent locally. Now my mother works in a store and so shall I when I finish my course in interior decorating."

He was studying the dead end of his cigarette. "If you're an expert on interior decorating, I might have a job for you."

"A job?"

"Perhaps you aren't interested in jobs."

"Oh, yes," said Janet with a hostile smile. "I'm interested in any chance to earn money. It's so important to make money. Nothing else matters."

"I've bought the old Radcliffe mansion."

"My grandfather's house?"

"I signed the papers a couple of hours ago."

"But," cried Janet breathlessly. "It's dreadfully run down. That's why mother let the property go practically for back taxes. We couldn't afford to live there and no one would rent it. People don't care for those huge, old-fashioned places any more."

"I do," said Tony Ryan. "It's like this," he explained. "When I was a ragged alley rat I promised myself that some day I'd buy the best of everything. At that time the old Radcliffe mansion represented my idea of the most elegant thing of its kind."

"It broke mother's heart to give up the place," said Janet icily. "It's one of the few times I ever saw her cry. Since then I've gone blocks out of my way not to pass the house. It isn't pleasant to be reminded that the glories of your past are past."

"If it would be painful, forget it."

"Don't be ridiculous," said Janet. "Paupers cannot afford sentiment."

"That's settled then? Shall we fix a day to go out and look things over? Tomorrow?"

"If you like."

"I'll pick you up at two at your home."

She gave him a curious glance. "Won't you rattle around like a marble, alone in that huge place?"

He shook his head. "Of course I shall live there long alone," he said.

She stared. "You're going to be married?"

"Naturally," he said, "one can't select a wife as quickly as a house."

"You haven't selected one yet?" cried Janet in a dismayed voice.

He grinned. "All I know is that she'll have to be out of the top drawer."

Janet decided she hated him. "Locally you'll find Priscilla Leigh our highest priced article," she remarked disdainfully. "So she's given me to understand," said Tony Ryan.

So far as Berenice and Bill Carter were concerned, the party at Lou Fletcher's that same evening was not a success. They ran the radio and danced and made a great deal of noise. The people in the adjoining apartment knocked on the wall, but no one paid any attention. They were a quiet middle-aged couple and did not belong to "The Bunch," as Berenice's friends called themselves.

The Sheltons were middle-aged too. "But we don't let it get us down!" cried May, chattering with laughter when Guy draped a tapestry from the wall about his shoulders and pretended to be a bull-fighter in action.

Guy was screamingly funny, or so Berenice thought, but Bill sat in the corner and sulked just as she had expected him to do.

She went over to Bill. "Ready to go?"

"What do you think?" he asked. He did not trouble himself to tell the Fletchers he had enjoyed the party. Berenice seethed with anger.

"I hope you're satisfied," she said when they were alone in their own apartment.

Bill stalked into the dressing room and began to hunt for his pajamas. "If I refuse to go to their darned parties, you're sore. If I give in and go, you're sore. It's got so it's hell around here any way you take it."

"If you could manage," cried Berenice in a choked voice, "we'd never have any friends."

Bill let down the in-a-door bed with an angry thud. "Can't you see that this sort of thing is playing the devil with us?" he asked.

When Bill's voice quivered like that, the hard core of defiance in Berenice's heart gave way. She was never able to resist his tenderness.

"If I weren't crazy about you I wouldn't care what you did," he said unsteadily.

"I know," whispered Berenice. "I had something to tell you when I came home," said Bill, "only you weren't in a receptive humor."

They were sitting on the edge of the bed. He still had his arm about her and Berenice's head was cuddled against his shoulder. (To Be Continued)

Local Man Returns From Interesting Fishing Trip

One of the best—if not the best "fish yarns" ever to be reported to this newspaper—was related by A. G. Hemphill on his return Friday from a week's fishing trip down the Gulf coast of Old Mexico, 165 miles below Matamoras.

Accompanying Mr. Hemphill on the trip were well known fishermen such as Sam Arnett, George Kuykendahl, J. B. Maxey, Bill Humphries, Len McClelland, Harry Fry, and Neal Wright, all of Lubbock. Whether they will vouch for the veracity of this fish yarn we don't know.

As the story goes, Mr. Hemphill and his comrades caught plenty of fish, including Red Fish, Pike, Trout, Shark and one trapin, which Mr. Fry gets the credit for "bringing in."

Mr. Hemphill reports he caught a shark four feet long; and that he paid a Mexican 25 cents for cutting the jaw bone and teeth out of the shark to bring home. He also saw a monstrous turtle in the channel between the Gulf of Mexico and a Mexican bay, 165 miles south of Matamoras, which weighed about 400 pounds. The climax of the entire trip came, however, when he witnessed an immense light colored fish jumping in the water and turning over. He admitted he was afraid the 15 foot fish might take a jump in his direction. On inquiring of his companions what kind of a fish it was he was told it was a "jumping shark." The shark remained in the water and the fishermen continued their fishing.

Passes Away At Local Hospital Wednesday As Result Of Paralysis

Earl Alvin Riley, 51, of four miles south of Lum's Chapel, in the Whitharral Community, passed away at a local hospital Wednesday morning at 1 o'clock, after less than a week's illness. A cerebral hemorrhage, resulting in paralysis, was said to have caused his death.

Mr. Riley was apparently taken ill while in the field plowing Friday afternoon. When Mrs. Riley returned home from a domestic science entertainment at the Whitharral school she found her husband lying on the floor in the kitchen in an unconscious condition. He had spread the bedclothes out apparently ready to lie down, and had gone to the kitchen. A neighbor reported that they saw him on the porch at the front of the house (Continued On Back Page)
