BYPASS BIDS THIS FALL: Last Lap 84 4-Lane Set for '65 Bidding

The balance of a schedule to pave U. S. Highway 84 all the way through Lamb county has just been announced by the Texas Highway Department in its 1965-66 consolidated program. In the new schedule is a project to four-lane 16.7 miles of U. S. 84 from west of Littlefield, where a bypass route will end, on up past Sudan to within 1.7 miles of the Bailey county line. Work presently is underway from that point into Muleshoe on the 4-lane route.

Estimate on the 1965-66 project for Lamb is set at $1,810,000 in the highway department's planning budget.

This project will follow immediately the building of a 4-lane bypass route past Littlefield, scheduled to be contracted early this fall with work expected to start on it before 1964 is out. Completion of the bypass route is slated during 1965, said Rhea Bradley, Littlefield, resident highway engineer.

"Bids will be called on that early this fall, and chances are work will be underway by the year's end," Bradley said.

The bypass was scheduled a year ago, in the 1964-65 program. It is budgeted at $840,000.

Littlefield interest is especially high in the bypass job. This project will start at the east city limits—where the 4-lane portion of U. S. 84 presently ends—and will slash across the south edge of town, emerging about at the west city limits, just beyond the Littlefield cemetery.

It will be four lanes with a wide 280-foot right-of-way. The present city route of U. S. 84 will be maintained and improved but the bypass route will carry the bulk of the highway's traffic through Littlefield.

Right-of-way for the bypass and for all of the 4-lane route through Lamb county was bought two years ago by the county and the state highway department.

At present, U. S. 84 has a modern 4-lane stretch this side of Lubbock from Shallowater to the east city limits of Littlefield. It is 2-lane from there on to the New Mexico border, with work underway now on the 4-lane stretch from 1.7 miles below the Bailey county line to Muleshoe.

Right-of-way purchasing is underway now through Farmer county to extend the 4-lane road to Farwell and the New Mexico border, Bradley reported.

So, by the end of 1965 Littlefield will have its 4-lane bypass. By the close of 1966 all of U. S. 84 through Lamb county will be complete and by the year following, probably, the 4-lane route will extend on to Farwell. U. S. 84 pretty well will be four lanes wide from Snyder to the NM border.

The 1965-66 program, for the 16.7 miles, calls for the addition of two lanes to present 84, on its south side. The present route will be improved to match the new construction.

The highway, then, will have two separate lanes, divided by

First '64 Wheat Cut

The first load of 1964 Lamb wheat reported at market was weighed in by a Littlefield elevator Tuesday morning on the farm of Leon Leonard, 12 miles west of Spade. The acre yield was established the first cutting of the irrigated wheat. Jack Stubblefield, who harvested the crop, reported that it was largely ready and there were some pretty good spots. Generally, dry winds of the past several days brought wheat to a harvest stage.

Leonard had about 15 acres. The first load of 8,000 pounds weighed at 13.91, reported Don Scott, manager of the Littlefield Farmers Co-Op Gin and Elevator, which bought the first load.

Market price for the first wheat was $1.44 per bushel, on the open market, which is the section that most Lamb grain goes this year.

This price compares with last season and grain dealers do not expect the price to go any large amount.

For Lamb county, and especially the lower section, wheat is a minor crop, and limited to small acreages. These, however, will be pouring into elevators the next couple weeks. "We'll harvest all we have pretty soon," Scott said.

The voting out of wheat quotes nationally a year ago had little effect in Lamb county, which plants only 5,000 to 6,000 acres, compared with more than 200,000 for cotton, more than 100,000 in feed grain. Only a few county farmers are expected to go into the price

MAY PERMITS-$159,100: Residences Pace Building 'Boom'

Littlefield's booming residential construction continued to pace near-record building permits that ran to $159,100 in May and brought the 1964 total to $925,500, reports Ben Weeks, city building inspector.

Of the May total, $106,750 was for eight new residences, two of them in the new Westwood addition below the campus of the new high school building.

Two were for business buildings, a $15,000 permit to John Richey for a new service station on the Levelland highway, one for $25,000 to Dr. James Shorwell for a new office-clinic at Sixth and Rowe.

Balance of the permits were for alterations and additions and for moving business buildings.

May still was the second smallest month for building permits this year, outdistancing only January, which ran $89,800.

March was the largest month for 1964, $292,700 with 11 residences accounting for $189,200 of that figure. A $64,500 addition to the Presbyterian church and a $30,000 apartment house pretty well completed March as the largest month.

February ran to $175,200 with $141,500 of that in new residences, April was $208,700 with $167,700 in permits for 10 new residences.

The building boom in Littlefield for a year now has been a business feature of the South Plains. Continuing building has all but filled available lots in Crescent Park — including Crescent Park II opened late in 1962. Most of the building has been in the Crescent Park subdivision.

The addition has extended to the path of the new Highway 84 bypass and will go on across it soon. City council last week approved a plat for 95 more lots south of the bypass route, slated to have street work done by late summer.

The new Westwood addition, with 105 lots and just having streets and utilities laid out, already is selling lots actively. Builders John Edd Hutchins and Harry Woody already have taken one permit each for the new section.

The new annex to Cannon Terrace, on across Sunset Avenue, also had had two residence permits issued, to Trans-Western Developers of Lubbock.

Voters Stay Away, Ballot Cost...$2.73

Quietest places in Lamb county Saturday were election polls the county as voters all but ignored a second primary election for both Democratic and Republican parties. Big feature of the election was the cost for voters: as high as $2.73 each.

The Democrats voted 280 ballots in their one-race contest between Cong. Joe Pool and Robert Baker of Houston, for the Congress-at-large post held by Pool.

Pool received 201 of the Lamb votes, Baker, 79. Pool also won handsily over Texas.

Lamb Republicans went contrary to the Texas-wide trend in their one race, for a U.S. Senate nominee, and polled only 107 votes. Jack Cox got 61 of these and George Bush got 46. Bush won the nomination statewide by a sizeable majority.

Percentage wise, county Republicans turned out a stronger vote for their election. The 107 votes were almost half of their first primary strength of 238 votes.

The Democrats vote, however, was only 10 percent of their first-primary 2,800 votes which itself is a light count.

For the 280 votes polled, Lamb Democrats had election expenses of $765.60, largely in pay for election judges and including supplies and other items.

This figure works out to a $2.77 cost per vote cast, highest in county record believes Glenn Batson, county Demo chairman.

"The people really didn't want to vote, but we had to hold an election," Batson explained.

The Congress-at-large race is a temporary position that will be eliminated when Texas is divided into Congressional seats, before 1966. It is a remote job for Texans generally and created only slight interest.

Republicans found a lower vote cost by consolidating some of their voting boxes and managing the election largely with volunteer help.

MITES WEDNESDAY Marshall Howard Dies

Marshall Howard, 52, well known Littlefield business and civic leader, died here Monday morning, his death terminating an illness of several months.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the First Methodist Church in Littlefield, Rev. Jack Elzey, pastor, officiating. Burial was in the City of Lubbock Cemetery.

Death came in the Medical Arts Hospital at 7:30 a.m. Monday. Mr. Howard had undergone extensive treatment here and in Dallas hospitals for the past year.

He was born in Farmersville, and lived for a number of years at Smyer, where he became a charter member of that Methodist church in 1925.

He graduated from Texas Tech in agriculture, worked with the Soil Conservation Service in Lubbock for 15 years before moving to Littlefield in 1951. He owned and operated Howard's Feed and Seed company here.

Mr. Howard was a member of the official board of First Methodist, was past president of its men's group and for years was chairman of the church membership and evangelism commission. He was co-teacher of the Wesley Fellowship class and a leader in many church lay activities.

MARSHALL HOWARD
... Services Held

His many civic activities included terms as president of the Rotary club here and of the Littlefield chamber of commerce. The Rotary club honored him a few weeks back as Rotarian of the Decade, the last public function he attended.

As a member of a city planning commission several years back, Mr. Howard helped draft the city charter and was active in its adoption. He was instrumental in obtaining the sandhills water field for the city in 1955 and worked successfully for right-of-way to preserve the city route of U.S. Highway 84.

His two sons, Dan and Dale, both graduated from Texas Tech. Dan is presently a Lubbock CPA, Dale will enter Southwest School in Dallas this fall.

Surviving are his wife, Maurine; two sons, Dan and Dale; a grandson, Marshall David, Lubbock; his father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Marshall Howard, 1606 Ave. Y, Lubbock; a brother, Bill Howard, Lubbock; and two sisters, Mrs. Rex Willis, Smyer, and Mrs. J.T. Forbes, O'Donnell.

WHERE DO OLD CARS GO WHEN THEY DIE ?

Where do old cars go when they die?

This apparently simple question is one that is becoming not so easy to answer, anywhere, including Littlefield. The truth is a lot of them go nowhere and this is the problem.

In junk lots they are often stacked three deep or spread out over a couple of acres, row on row of rusting metal, each heap a once-proud vehicle that represented several thousand dollars.

Today their usefulness past, old cars are an eyesore, often a public nuisance. With 8-million new cars a year going on to United States roads, there are more old cars coming out of service than can be disposed of profitably.

The handling of old cars or wrecked new cars is a sizeable and profitable business with several facets. A big one is the sale of used parts. A totally wrecked model a year or less old is a valuable junk item from which can be salvaged a long list of parts that are like new, often the engine or major parts of it, transmissions, electrical parts, etc.

There is an active market for wrecked new cars. But when a car is 10 years or so old, it won't extrude produce few good parts and there are few buyers for the few still salvageable. These old cars are generally sold as junk iron or baled as sheet metal and sent to Eagle Pass and Old Mexico to smelting plants. One car will make a bale which weighs about 900 to 100 pounds.

On today's market which is at a low point, this amount of scrap steel may net its dealer from $1 to $3. At this price, old car bodies are not baled often on the chance that just one part from one of them, such as its light fixtures, could bring this much.

So the old bodies stay in increasing piles, or acres. When they are baled, sometimes only every couple years, they are cut apart and squeezed into bales about three feet square. Each bale is about 3/4 of a car carcass.

The junk heap finally becomes a graveyard for old cars, which once were sparkling new and cost their proud owners an average of more than $3,000. As junk they are worth perhaps $12.

Newer models, which come to the yard through severe wrecks, are worth much more for their yield of like-new parts. Once these are stripped, however, the old carcass joins one of the many junk piles that dot the countryside. For old cars may die, but they don't just fade away.

END OF THE ROAD for these once-proud vehicles comes at the junk yard, where they are not so welcome as they once were. Relatively new junk cars stay in this graveyard for months after choice parts are robbed, and frequently someone wants a still-good window glass or other fixture.

these bales represents about 3/4 of a junk car body, and will bring $1 to $3 net on the scrap iron market.

It's not the heat, really, it's the humidity! Tuesday's temperature was 98 degrees, Monday's 92 degrees in Littlefield, but humidity readings are high. Hottest day of the year still was on May 24 when the mercury reached 100.

A representative of the Lubbock Social Security Office will be in Littlefield on June 25 in the County Courtroom at 9:30 a.m.

Sandhills Water Has Brief Delay

The first water to flow through a city pipeline from the sandhills does not come Wednesday, as tentatively scheduled, but probably will by Friday, City Manager J. W. Harrison reported Wednesday.

On recommendations of the city's water line engineers, a couple more days will be taken to fill a large 750,000-gallon storage tank near the sandhills field — 13 miles north of town — and to clear air from the long 24-inch pipeline on into the city.

But the water probably will flow Friday, Harrison said, and will be entering the city water system next week. "We're taking a couple added precautions," he pointed out, "but the water will be flowing in a few days and there will be plenty of it."

TURNERS TO NEW YORK

National Award To Olton Enterprise

The Olton Enterprise, prize-winning Lamb county weekly newspaper, has won one of three top national awards for general excellence in the annual competition of the National Editorial Association, it is announced.

Publisher Bill Turner and Mrs. Turner will go into New York the weekend June 22 for an NEA awards program a major event of the U.S. newspaper industry.

The Enterprise also won one of NEA's top three awards in the news story division of the annual contests, Turner has been notified.

This award was for a series of stories printed about a year ago on Olton's disputed race for mayor, which finally went into district court in Littlefield where a one-vote victory by one candidate was reversed and present Olton Mayor Bill Thomas declared a winner, also by a one vote margin.

Turner's stories followed the disputed election through a period of some six weeks.

Details of the Enterprise's general excellence award will not be announced until the New York event, at the Commodore Perry Hotel on June 25.

A notification from NEA, however, said: "This is a signal honor since there were nearly 2,500 entries in the 1964 contests, one of the largest in the history of our better newspapers contests."

While a national award is new, Turner's publication has won its share of state and regional awards, 18 of them in the past two years.

A year ago the Enterprise won the sweepstakes award in the Texas Press Association for Texas newspapers in towns of 2,000 to 3,500.

In 1962 it won the West Texas Press Association top award for general excellence and in April, 1964, won the Panhandle Press Association general excellence award.

Turner formerly was editor of the Leader and News, going to Olton in 1961 when he purchased the Enterprise.

Demo Delegates To State Meet

THE DEPENDABLES: SUCCESS CARS OF '64

Not all leaders are born some are made

The rather handsome car above is what you might call a two-time winner. Dodge led the nation in percentage sales increase last year and continues to set and smash these lofty sales marks in 1964. It's also called a 1964 Dodge. Or the low-priced car that doesn't look like one or feel like one. People who have bought one, and who, incidentally, are trading in all kinds of other cars in record numbers, say they like: 1. The looks. 2. The roomy and rather posh interiors. 3. The extra savings of its famous Slant Six.

4. The lively V8 that goes on regular gas. 5. The self-adjusting brakes and 32,000-mile interval between major grease jobs. 6. The solid way it's put together—with a fully unitized, rust-protected body. 7. The price (right with Ford and Chevy). If these seem like pretty good reasons for buying a car, join the swinging trend-setters who are changing the look and feel of the low-price field. You'll find them at your Dependable Dodge Dealer's.

MINISTERIAL GROUP SPONSORS

World Clothing Drive Sunday

The Ministerial Alliance of Littlefield is sponsoring the Church World Service clothing drive for this area, and is to be concluded Sunday, June 21. Ten million pounds of good used clothing have been requested for overseas distribution centers. "Good used clothing, bedding and shoes" are needed for overseas shipment, says Melvin B. Myers, Director of Material Resources and Service for Church World Service.

"Children's clothing is desperately needed, both in light and heavy weight materials. Also seriously needed in unlimited quantities are blankets, both light and heavy weight; household linens, sheets, pillowcases and towels, for institutions, hospitals and disaster victims".

The Alliance, in seeking to help answer this worldwide need, is asking members of the various churches to gather any clothing that will not be used by the family and can be used by others, and to take such clothing to their churches, where it will be assembled and shipped to Houston, for baling and shipping. A request for $4 per pound is asked for the purpose of cleaning, and shipping by boat. Lang Transit Company will handle the transportation of the clothing to Houston, free of charge.

At Houston, the clothing will be sorted, baled, and shipped to areas of need around the world.

Cost of shipping the clothing to world points will run to eight cents a pound. The campaign has the additional suggestion that donors pay the eight cents shipping cost but do not make this a necessary part of the clothing gift.

Member churches of the Alliance are the Assembly of God, First Baptist, Lum's Chapel Baptist, Parkview Baptist, Missionary Baptist, Foursquare Gospel, Emmanuel Lutheran, St. Martin's Lutheran, First Methodist Church, First Presbyterian Church and the Salvation Army.

Bring your clothing this Sunday or the next, and make many destitute warm and comfortable, the Alliance asks.

support program for this year, an action that have improved their price some, because of the acreages.

Most county wheat plant less than 15 acres which no sign-up is required and whose crop will go to the open market. Under wheat program, growers have a price of $1.29 plus 70 cents per bushel for domestic acres, plus 25 cents for export.

Continued hot, dry weather Wednesday kept a favorable son for wheat harvest, and it will be. Some dryland will make only small yields and some probably will be harvested because of the spring season.

"R" Day Is Big Success Sunday

"R" Day held Sunday at the First Baptist Church was a successful venture for R.B. "Mac" McAlister, Bill McAlister, Mrs. Anita Bass, and Bob Lemon, all of Lubbock.

Activities began Sunday morning with a father-son breakfast which featured a recorded testimonial by quarterback Billy Wade of the world champion Chicago Bears.

Bill McAlister brought inspiring messages for both Sunday services, and Bob Lemon furnished a beautiful musical prelude for each.

A youth fellowship was held following the close of the evening worship services.

At 3 p.m. the WMU sponsored a tea featuring Mrs. Bass and a recorded statement of a religious experience by Dick Van Dyke of tv fame.

R.B. McAlister, who put together the laymen's program described "R" day as meaning "Revival Day, Rededication Day, and, we hope, regeneration day and a day of rejoicing for us all", and it certainly was.

HIS THIRD CADILLAC... HIS FIRST NEW ONE

This man is enjoying his first brand-new Cadillac—after becoming acquainted with the car's unsurpassed value by twice buying used Cadillacs.

He learned that a late model used Cadillac gave him more standard equipment and engineering advancements than most new cars.

First of all, while Cadillac's styling was continually refined, it never lost the clean, dignified look that says Cadillac and Cadillac alone. The smooth, quiet performance and complete reliability of his used Cadillac was a constant source of enjoyment. Then, too, he and his family enjoyed luxury and comfort to a degree reserved exclusively for Cadillac owners.

The pride of ownership of so distinctive a car was a never-ending pleasure, for he had the satisfaction—always—of knowing he drove the finest.

When it came time to trade his previously owned Cadillac for a later model, he found its value had held remarkably high... and returned a substantial part of his original investment.

So what could be more natural—or wise—than to make the eventual move to a new Cadillac?

New or used, there is no finer motoring investment than a Cadillac. And new or used, your authorized dealer has one to fit any budget. There's never been a better time to invest in the finest of them all.

As a delightful stuffing for duck, you can use rice cooked in water and orange juice (half and half), using just enough liquid to evaporate during the cooking. Butter or margarine, grated orange rind and finely diced celery and onion make other excellent additions to the rice for the stuffing.

A TREE SEPARATED the front and rear of this pickup truck in an accident just west of Littlefield Sunday evening, and the driver and a passenger escaped without serious injury. The vehicle overturned and ramm-broadside into a sturdy tree, the impact separating the trunk bed and cab, which was smashed. Truck was driven by Candelario Garcia Avalos, Littlefield. A passenger with him left the accident and still is not identified.

... and this was the rear!

Truck Torn Apart, Driver Only Bruised

A Littlefield man, Candelario Garcia Avalos, miraculously escaped serious injury and a passenger with him was able to leave the scene before being identified, when a pickup truck they were driving was smashed against a tree near town Sunday. The accident happened three miles west of Littlefield at 8:50 p.m. Sunday, reported Highway Patrolman Weldon Parson. Avalos was driver of the 1964 pickup that went out of control when it struck a road shoulder in passing another vehicle, the patrolman said. The truck skidded and overturned, ramming broadside into a tree near the highway as it flipped. The impact tore the front and rear sections of the vehicle apart. Avalos was taken to a Littlefield hospital where he was reported to be not seriously injured. The truck was totally destroyed.

HOWDY!

by dick reavis

There is a lot of thinking to be done all over these United States about that civil rights bill hung up in the Senate, and facing some similar demands that is be passed NOW!

There is no question that a civil rights bill is needed and that many of us are responsible for that need. The condition of civil rights in our country have been very bad and would remain bad but for some official pressure for change.

Unfortunately, as so often happens, the cure for a wrong may be as bad as the wrong. The civil rights bill, even with the involved Dirksen amendments, IS a power instrument that could change or destroy many of the prerogatives of our democratic system.

All that foot dragging on its passage is not just hambone politics or intolerance on the part of Southern senators. Much of it is a sincere defense of the rights of all this country's 200-million people, rights that are being assailed by the NOW! people who have less than enough concern for tomorrow.

True, very true, the Negro has cause for his NOW! demand. As he says, he has waited 100 years since emancipation for other fundamental human rights and he means to wait no more.

But it is not that simple.

Most of us owe lending agencies amounts of money, from house or auto loans to sizeable business debts. Payment of these obligations is set up on a systematic schedule over a period of time. If we fall behind, the lender prods us, and properly so.

But if every lending agency in the nation called its debts NOW! the payment would be impossible. Chaos and panic would follow.

This is not an unreasonable analogy for the Negro demand.

This nation, we as its members, OWE the Negro a massive debt and he is right to demand its payment. But the demand must be one that can be met, or it accomplishes nothing.

Why do we owe him? Because for 300 years in this greatest of all nations he has been denied a status due him as a human being. Because for the past 100 of those years, he has been struggling against the forces of law, the very forces that should have been aiding him. Because those who would help him have chosen instead to ignore his plight, or to patronize him in slight charity.

All through the South and in many other sections the Negro has been wrong automatically in any difference with a white man, a car accident, a business trade, a work agreement.

He has lived in fear, the fear that some defiant action of his might bring official beating, imprisonment or even death. He has cringed when you or I would have stood firm and demanded the rights with which we were born in this great country.

In Texas in the past five years a Negro youth died in the electric chair because of an involvement with a white woman several years older than he, an involvement not of his making and that went on for some time, evidence of his trial showed. The boy, of whatever character he was, was largely guilty of being caught and the East Texas jury that condemned him did so under a code of the South that is ages old.

Every citizen of Texas, however, shared in this legal lynch as we have, by tacit acceptance, shared in many, many other injustices against the Negro.

So we owe him, a debt that you and I cannot really understand. By the old Indian proverb we have not walked in the moccasins; we have not walked in the mud of Negro ghettos of this town and a thousand others, knowing fear even of a police car, carrying the burdensome knowledge that the bread for our children, their future and even their physical safety depended on the whim of the white race.

This is the substance of that debt, and it is owed by us all.

On the credit side of that ledger, we are making payments. In Littlefield we made a good down payment with school integration in 1956. We are continuing to meet a schedule too fast for some, too slow for others.

Integration has moved without serious trouble into major hotels of Texas, to hundreds of dining places, into recreation facilities. Long-range home loans are more readily available to the Negro, and other financing: in most of Texas he participates in political gatherings, where 10 years ago he was made unwelcome.

There are other evidences and the NOW! people can make them appear pitifully small. They are not small at all against when registered on the ledger sheet of 100 years.

The Negro has progress in the past than in the previous today with him trembles, from the United Supreme Court on down and deserves them. Same forces must and assure the right percent of U.S. population is not Negro.

The Negro has tried up to do to equip him accelerated schedule he would deny it, 30 subjugation have left on the Negro, his conditioned abilities, mores.

He cannot change things NOW! no much and who desire

And if his demands the tempo of those who his debt, you and I, tion turns to resentment any other presented cannot pay on demand Wallace has proved of Wisconsin to Alabama

So there can only painful, deliberate one that many will resist, frustrate others.

It is not new ground travelled in this country laboring man of all race it passed the immigrant
