Pvt. Lloyd Edward Fowler, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Fowler of Spade Community, was one of 25 men killed in crashes of two twin-engine bombers Wednesday of last week on the west shore of Great Salt Lake, near Wendover, Utah.

A telegram was received by the service man's parents Thursday morning to the effect that their son was missing in flight training from Wendover Field, which was followed by a second message Monday that Pvt. Fowler had been killed; that they had located his body, and asking the family's wishes with regard to where to ship the remains.

A response to this telegram was sent asking that the body be returned to Littlefield, shipped to the Hammons Funeral Home.

With the Air Forces, Pvt. Fowler had been in the service about a year and four months. He was a gunner on a twin-engine bomber at the time of his death. He had about completed his training, and was in line for foreign service.

He enlisted in the Service at Lubbock, and was stationed at the Lubbock Army Airfield several months. Pvt. Fowler was born and reared in the Spade Community, and received his education in Spade schools.

The two twin-engine bombers, in which 25 men were killed, which were believed to have collided in the air, were discovered Saturday. One of the bombers was reported to have burned.

Funeral arrangements are being held up pending arrival of the remains, which is scheduled to leave Wendover, Utah, Friday.

As Their Loan Quota

Pat Boone, County Chairman of War Loan Committee, announced Monday that Lamb County's quota in the Fourth War Loan Drive, which is scheduled to get underway over the entire nation on January 18, has been set at $690,000. Of this amount Mr. Boone pointed out that Lamb County residents will be expected to purchase $308,000 in "E" Bonds, which are the bonds of smaller denominations, from $25 up to $5000.

C. O. Stone, who was Chairman of the Third War Loan Drive, and who carried out his duties in a very commendable manner, will be in charge of the "Fourth War Loan Drive."

Mr. Boone stated Monday that the War Finance Committee of Texas has asked that the same committees who had so splendidly put over the Third War Loan campaign, take care of the new drive soon to be underway.

Mr. Boone said he was writing a letter to all the chairmen of the various War Finance Committees over the County, and that a meeting would be called sometime next week to work out plans for the big drive, which will get underway on the morning of Tuesday, January 18.

The County Chairman points out that it will take the whole-hearted support of everyone for the county to make its quota, and he calls on all residents to answer this patriotic call and buy war bonds, reminding each and everyone of the hardships and sacrifices being made by many of our Lamb County boys in the service, and appealing to all residents of the County to back these boys with the purchase of war bonds to the limit.

This Week's Jingle

Don't worry about the future, The present is all that thou hast. The future will soon be the present, The present will soon be past.

TODAY

Speaking of philosophy, there's nothing much wrong with being an amateur philosopher these days.

There's no doubt a wise and experienced person now finds his wisdom "biting him on the leg" because in his wisdom he sees more clearly perhaps than some of us, the future and what it holds. Experience being a product of things past, the wise man compares past conditions with the present situations. If he is a soothsayer, he rings in his solution to the future problems.

The poor guy who can't think much at all, and never has done much mental exercise, is obviously slated for a less disturbed mind than the one with the active and analytical brain. This all sounds very complicated and discouraging.

Some sage has said that the past is likely to present a great deal of regret in retrospect, while the future is likely to bring a great deal of fear. Neither of these feelings make for sound morale, and even if your mind is so trained that you can focus it on the happier aspects of the past, there's still the future to contemplate, and we're afraid Pollyanna does not live there any more.

So what are we to do to oil the wheels, and keep things humming TODAY—without forgetting the subject of keeping our outlook firm, and bright enough to succeed with our tasks? It would seem the solution lies wholly with TODAY, and our mental attitude toward it. Someone once said that LIFE is getting up in the morning and doing the things we must do, whether or not we feel like doing them. Perhaps that is a good rule, and if, perhaps, the doer forgets the past and the future, the present job gets done better because there is a complete concentration on it.

Spread False Propaganda

THE AFFINITY between German politics and German military men is exemplified by the ever present readiness of German generals and admirals to engage in propaganda of one sort or another. No American or English staff officer—or for that matter Russian or Chinese—would descend to the level of falsifiers of news or facts as is so common among German men of arms.

An illustration of official German duplicity is the statement of Admiral Luetzow who a year ago took to both the German and Italian air waves to say, "Our first thought on reviewing the position in North Africa is one of reverend gratitude to Rommel and his men on land, at sea and in the air." At the time, Luetzow knew that Rommel's advantages in the Mediterranean were nebulous. Later Montgomery proved that they were all but non-existent. Again in 1942 Luetzow said, "The British Empire is driven into a corner without hope of effective assistance from her allies."

On another occasion the German general, Dittmar, broadcasting from Berlin, said, presumptuously referring to the presumed lack of a competent American military leader, "And if they do find him we know that he will not be able to make out of present day Americans such men as we have as a result of training and living the experience of our Fuehrer's work. It is this which makes us feel superior to them no matter where they confront us," which must be recorded as an amusing bit of dissimulation in view of Allied achievements in North Africa and Italy.

What has markedly differentiated the German from other military hierarchies has been the readiness of the German military organization to debase itself for the purpose of political as well as military advantages. To this end it has time out of mind allied itself with the worst elements in the German political scene.

For this reason, if for no other, will the United Nations require that professional German militarism, together with the junker class which has been its great source of strength through the ages, be blotted from the face of the earth.

Money Talks

Pumpkin-faced Benito And slant-eyed Hirohito Plus a paperhanger with a black mustache Their wings we'll soon be clipping

And their Axis we'll be whipping But to do this takes a lot of extra cash There is no way that's surer To antagonize the Fuehrer Than by tossing some more greenbacks in the till

Stamps and Bonds, dear gents and ladies

Will blow these beasts to Hades Will you step up every payday? Sure you will!

We all can't fight at Midway But we all CAN fight on payday As we trade our bucks for bullets for the foe

Soon these bucks will cross the ocean

Then will come a loud explosion And the end of Rome, Berlin, and Tokyo.

S-Sgt. and Mrs. Joe Raferty

S-Sgt. and Mrs. John Norwood

Mrs. John Norwood, who previous to her marriage to S-Sgt. John Norwood of Brookhaven, Miss., at the Clovis, N. M., Airbase, December 5, was Miss Oleta Templeton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Templeton of six miles north of Amherst, and Mrs. Joseph Raferty, the former Miss Temple Hendricks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hendricks of 4 1/2 miles east of Amherst, who became the bride of S-Sgt. Raferty also at Clovis on the above date, left Amherst last week for Hampton, Va., to join their respective husbands, who are stationed at Langley Field, near Hampton, Va. A lovely bridal shower was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Manry Brantley Wednesday of last week honoring the two Amherst women.

Bridal Showers Honors Mrs. John Norwood And Mrs. Joseph Raferty

A double bridal shower honoring Mrs. John Norwood and Mrs. Joseph Raferty, both of Amherst, was given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Manry Brantley Wednesday afternoon, December 29, with Mrs. Brantley as hostess.

Previous to Mrs. Norwood's marriage to S-Sgt. John Norwood of Brookhaven, Miss., she was Miss Oleta Templeton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Templeton of six miles north of Amherst; and before her marriage to S-Sgt. Joseph Raferty, Mrs. Raferty was Miss Temple Hendricks, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hendricks of 4 1/2 miles east of Amherst. Both these couples were married at Clovis Sunday, Dec. 5.

Misses Veda Payne and Mildred Rawls presided over the bride's book and registered the guests. The entertaining rooms were attractive with patriotic decorations; and the very interesting program included a number of vocal numbers by Misses Joanne and Elizabeth Schovijnsa; reading by Edwin Schovijnsa, followed by several games, after which the gifts were presented.

The honorees received a large array of beautiful and useful gifts. Following the presentation of the gifts delicious refreshments were served.

Hostesses of the occasion were: Mrs. Brantley, Mrs. Lee Payne, and Misses Veda Payne, Mildred Rawls, and Maurine Templeton.

Immediately following the shower Mrs. Norwood and Mrs. Raferty left for Hampton, Va., to join their husbands, who are stationed at Langley Field, Va.

The guest list included: Mesdames Doc. Dean, Verner Woods, Ernest Black, Edd. Ross, Lester LaGrange, Albert Dutton, J. L. Crosby, John Nix, Mort Nix, R. D. Nix, E. E. Bartee, Geo. The J. C. Jones family enjoyed a family gathering Christmas Day at their home, five miles east of Littlefield.

Present were: Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Broadus of Wildorado, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Jones of Amherst; Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Jones of Littlefield; W. H. Jones of Lamesa, Texas; and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Jones and children, Oattie Marie, Billie Jean and Hadden.

Unfortunately Mr. and Mrs. Jones, Sr., and son, Hadden, all took ill with flu, and were not able to enjoy the day to the fullest on that account. Neighbors, however, according to the Jones family, last week during their illness, were exceedingly kind, taking care of their stock, and doing outdoor chores for the family. This kindness was much appreciated.

The Jones family are feeling better this week.

Amherst School Spanish Classes Enjoy Christmas Program

The Spanish I and II classes of Amherst School enjoyed a Christmas celebration using the Spanish custom of the pinota instead of the Christmas tree. The pinota, made by Jimmie Gonzales, a member of the Spanish I class, hung from the top of the gym. The pinota was beautifully decorated with crepe paper, representing Pan American Unity. On one side of the pinota was the Mexican flag and on the other side the U. S. flag. A rose was on each side of the pinota, bearing the Mexican and U. S. national colors, respectively.

Miss Mildred Ralls gave the story of Christmas celebrations in Spanish speaking countries. "Silent Night" was sung in Spanish by the group. A selection of other Christmas songs were sung. Last came the breaking of the pinota, which was filled with candy, fruit and nuts.

Defense Argument Heard At Austin In Dr. Newton Appeal

The appeal of Dr. W. R. Newton of Cameron from a sentence of seven years in the penitentiary on a charge of assault with intent to murder in connection with an attack on the late Dr. Roy E. Hunt on the night of May 21, 1942, came before the Court of Criminal Appeals at Austin Wednesday.

After hearing defense argument, the court gave State's Attorney Ernest Goens a week in which to file a contesting brief. Goens, recently appointed to his position, said he had not had time to brief the case.

The case of Mrs. Ruth Newton, wife of the Cameron physician, who faces a like charge to that on which her husband was convicted, was called in District Court at Plainview, at the opening of the January term Monday. Mrs. Newton's case was transferred to Plainview on a change of venue motion when her case was called in District court at Olton a few weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Walker Have Four Sons In Service

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Walker of Littlefield give the distinct honor of having four sons in the Service, two in the Navy and two in the Army. Alvin Walker, 27, who is stationed on an island in Hawaii, has been in the service three years, overseas two years. He is an aviator with an Infantry Division. Carl hasn't been home since he left the United States.

Sgt. Jimmie Walker, 24, is in the personnel department of the Army and was stationed near Honolulu for some time, but is understood to have been moved. He has been in the service two years, and overseas eight or nine months.

Carl Walker, 23, is a Petty Officer in the Navy. He is also stationed in Honolulu, and does periodical work also. He has been in the service about 1 1/2 years, and transferred from Washington, D. C. to Honolulu.

Carl Bernice Walker, 30, of the U. S. Navy, was in Washington, D. C., sometime, but now makes Philadelphia his headquarters. He is doing personnel work, and has been in the service 1 1/2 years. He is now "somewhere in the Atlantic."

Mrs. Walker recently wrote her son, Sgt. Walker, a letter in verse form, which will, no doubt, be of interest to the many friends of the Walker family. It is being published as follows:

"Dear Son,
"I send my love and Christmas cheer today,
By silver plane, from San Francisco, U. S. A.
I look out upon this expanse of blue,
Like a little bird it rises and dips,
As thinking of it, I think of other ships both large and small,
That billow the waters to the Army's call.
Ship roads old, plane roads new,
Weaving their ways under the changing skies,

Outwits our witty enemies
In plain but bold disguise.
Great fighting ships, great ships of profound mystery,
As only a tiny dot upon the deep blue sea.
Huge ocean liners, of gigantic and colossal size,
But never before have our silver ships had to sail the skies.
And now I am reminding you, my dear son,
That never before this tragic war has all this been done.
Dominion over air and land and seas,
Oh, my boy, it takes the knowledge of all the centuries
To blaze the paths and keep our Great Banner flying high,
And to mark the pathways across the pathless skies.
I am very grateful, son, to those who have gone before,
By ship or plane to that beautiful island shore.
To those who pioneered on sea, on land and in the air,
Making your voyage reasonably fair.
We are certainly missing you, son, On this beautiful Christmas morn.
You were the first to enter service, But to us the second son born.
But greater still than our foolish loneliness,
Is our pride in you, son,
That words just don't express.
The way the President brings the talk around, as to the Army,
He says the Allies found
They needed planes and pilots and bombardiers, too;
Navigators, gunners, tankers and big ground crews.
So, my son, you went to the islands Soon after the war begun,
But here's hoping it won't be long Until back home you shall return.
Son, put your trust in the Almighty God,
And after all this war is done,
I hope we shall be together
For the next celebration
Of the birth of our Lord.
Forgive me, son, for writing this way,
For I love you so much and miss you each day.
And when your mission over there is finished, son,
May God reward you for the job you have done.
I hope your visions like ours back home are raging high,
For the Victory and sweet peace we are about to achieve,
By the help of our Master and Ruler who is always nigh.
Son, we still have that Christmas Cheer in our hearts entwined,
For it is the day on which we Honor the birth of our Savior sublime.
But on our door as usual on Christmas was hung,
A beautiful holly wreath of red and green.
But now instead is a banner so proudly unfurled,
Which holds clear, four bright and shining stars,
That without words, tells to the World
What my boys are doing and what they are.
Son, as your stay over there is prolonged,
I hope you will be granted opportunities
To see the beauties enthroned.
There's the volcanic regions and craters combined,
The Great Diamond Head, the punch bowl and others defined.
Pearl Harbor with its beauties before this tragic war,
Was one of the finest harbors in all the world.
And there's that modern city, Honolulu, on that beloved Island, Ahan.
Many amazing things to be seen,
In that lovely country of grassy green.
And there's the big Forts and Barracks, also universities,
Theatre, churches, and big libraries,
Oriental stores and territorial capital buildings, too,
And the Academy of Arts, I am

Sure would be of interest to you. Also the Bishop museum, with an abundance of antiques, Used by the Hawaiians in almost forgotten centuries.
Things of beauty and curiosity galore,
On that lovely island shore.
We love our islands and bases of the sea,
But think of your coming home joyfully.
May the "Alaha" to you not seem so dear,
Nor the music of the sighing sands quite so sincere.
But I must say to you, my sonny dear,
A Merry Christmas and a Brave New Year.
But Christmas does not seem just right somehow or other,
With you away from home;
Best Love, Son,
From your Mother,
MRS. CARL WALKER.

"P. S. Son, it's only a few days until we will have to say
The old year of 1943 has passed away.
But we can say "Welcome, evermore,
To the New Year of 1944,"
In which the months will have just begun,
And I hope you as well as I, son,
Can greet it with an abundance of new and better resolutions.

LOOKING FORWARD INTO 1944 AND THE YEARS TO COME

ADEQUATE SERVICE

Now...And in the Future

Skilled hands of trained men are the real power behind your dependable electric service. Employees of your electric service company are busily engaged in operating and maintaining power plants, electric power lines and other equipment that provide power for your every need.

The adequate service you enjoy NOW and the more than sufficient service which will be at your command IN THE FUTURE are and will be the result of many years of planning . . . building . . . continual preparation to meet the demands of the days and years ahead while adequately providing for the needs of the present.

Early in the war the electric industry received this challenge from the War Production Board, Production Division: "You'll have to produce fantastic quantities of electric power to keep the nation's war production going up and up . . . you'll be asked to scrape the bottom of the barrel to haul out more kilowatts."

Prepared through adequate facilities for any emergency, the power companies of the nation more than met the government's challenge . . . and still had an adequate supply of power for the homes of the nation without rationing.

It wasn't luck that the power companies of the nation were ready to serve the war needs without curtailment of electric service for home needs. No, the electric companies under business management—which supply over 80 per cent of the nation's power—have developed the habit of planning ahead. That private enterprise habit has helped up to give you friendly dependable service—and it has enabled us to meet the challenge of America-at-war!

Aviation Cadet James B. Lakey, 21, son of Mrs. Bessie Lakey, Box 164, Littlefield, Texas, has completed his basic flying training at the Pecos Army Air Field, Texas, and has now proceeded to another station for advanced flying instruction. Cadet Lakey is a graduate of Littlefield High School.

A pair of child's wooden shoes was the holiday remembrance sent by Sgt. E. R. Shackelford, formerly of Littlefield, now stationed in Hawaii, after serving in the Kiska campaign, to Mrs. E. M. Henderson, 2419 Elm Street, Lubbock, sister of Sgt. Shackelford.

There were Japanese characters painted in vertical columns on each of the 6-inch "boards" that had been whittled so that there were a heel and slightly turned up toe; a narrow canvass strap on which peeling lacquered paper had been pasted was fashioned to loop over the instep. The bright lacquer on the top of the sandals was splashed by varicolored moons. There was nothing to separate the great toe from other toes, as is more usual with the Japanese.

Mrs. Henderson would like to have the Jap characters translated, but none apparently knew who could read them.

"They're funny little guys," Sgt. Shackelford wrote. "With all the implied love of their own kids, look what they do when they get the upper hand where there are helpless white kids and women."

Sgt. Pat Boone, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Boone of this city, who is stationed at Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, spent Christmas and until the following Sunday with his parents here.

Pat, Jr., was promoted to Sergeant several months ago.

Included in a picked group of technicians from armored units all over the country recently enrolled in the armored school at Fort Knox, Ky., for a course in tank mechanics is Pvt. Maynard B. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Miller of Route 1, Littlefield.

The Armored School, commanded by Brig. Gen. Joseph A. Holly, is one of the world's largest technical institutions. It turns out thousands of specialists for service with the hard-hitting armored divisions and separate tank battalions.

The Tank Department gives students a detailed knowledge of engine, power trains, suspension systems, and other elements of the complex tank mechanism. In addition to trouble-shooting and repair, much emphasis is placed upon preventative maintenance. The men have an opportunity to study engines in action in a half-million-dollar live-engine-test building where they work on both Diesels and gasoline engines actually operating under lead.

Miss Dorothy Shore And Seaman Granville Smith Wed

Miss Dorothy Shore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Shore of Clovis, N. M., and Granville Smith, Seaman First Class, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Smith of Littlefield, were married Friday, December 24, at Clovis.

The beautiful double ring ceremony was performed by the pastor of the First Baptist Church of Clovis at the parsonage at 2:30 o'clock

Friday afternoon.

The bride wore a tan suit with brown accessories, and carried an arm bouquet of white Azalea. For "something old" she wore a Lavalere belonging to the groom's mother, which was a gift of the groom's father 27 years ago. For "something borrowed," the bride carried a brown purse, the property of Miss Ruth

Burrows, a friend.

Attending the couple were: Miss Jackie Eason, friend of the bride, who wore a navy blue suit with white accessories, and Hollis Smith, brother of the groom.

The bride's maid wore a navy blue suit with white accessories.

Mrs. Smith was graduated from the Littlefield High School with the 1942 class. She is employed as bookkeeper for the Fox Drug Store, Clovis, where she will continue her work for the next two months, after which she will join her husband.

The groom attended Littlefield High School, but enlisted in the Navy in his senior year. He has been in the service over two years, and served overseas 15 months, taking part in 13 battles, including three major conflicts. He has been confined in the Norfolk Naval Hospital, and came home on a ten day leave, arriving Thursday before Christmas, and leaving again the Sunday following. He expects to be released from the hospital between two and two and a half months, after which he will be re-assigned to duty.

"Guadalcanal Diary" Comes To Palace

Guadalcanal, a name virtually unknown in America two years ago, but today as familiar as Kalamazoo, Walla Walla and Brooklyn, is destined to rank in Marine history with The Shores of Tripoli and the Halls of Montezuma—for it was there that America first tasted victory and the Japs first swallowed defeat. The dramatic story of this first offensive against the Nips comes to the screen of the Palace Theatre, opening Saturday midnight, continuing through Sunday and Monday, with "Guadalcanal Diary," the 20th Century-Fox picturization of Richard Tregaskis' best-selling book. Wisecracking to the crack of snipers' bullets, literally thumbing their noses at desperate odds, the Marines—as played by Lloyd Nolan, William Bendix, Richard Conte and Anthony Quinn, with Preston Foster as the chaplain, Father Donnelly—crash through in pulse-pounding fashion in the most thrilling human story to come out of the Pacific.
