

TOWN and COUNTRY

by Wendell Tooley

THE FOLKS up Olton way in for beauty contests a big way. I've judged annual ORC bathing beauty contests up there and thoroughly enjoyed each.

We judges had our hands full though, this past Tuesday night. There were over 75 entries in the "Little Miss ORC", "Little Mr. Muscles", "Little Nymph" and "Miss ORC". (ORC stands for Olton Recreation Center, which includes beautiful heated swimming pool, golf course, club house, all located about three miles south of Olton).

WE JUDGES were feeling pretty good about our selections of winners until we got to the last group. . . Miss ORC. Ten very lovely ladies paraded by . . . and finally we were able to select five from the ten. Then the problem of selecting number one and the runner-up became very difficult.

LOOKED through the crowd trying to determine which girl's Daddy was the richest. Sometimes a judge gets out of town in better shape if he declares the daughter of the largest daddy the winner! Well, couldn't decide which daddy belonged to which girl . . . so started judging the girls on their physical merits alone.

FINALLY, we decided upon the winner and a runner-up and got out of town in a hurry!

IT WAS thrilling to look down main street to the fourth of July and see the many American flags proudly flying in the breeze.

The newspaper folk probably appreciated them more than anyone because we're here in town working every day. If we hadn't had flags for a reminder, but we would have known it was the fourth of July. Noticed old Slow Grissom had a flag hanging from his front porch as well as one in front of his service station.

THE FOLLOWING article from another newspaper has a lot of truth in it. I think it worth relating here:

Question on Freedom Riders

Attorney General Kennedy said the other day that one of his seven children asked him, "What are freedom riders?"

"That was a difficult question," said Bobby charmingly to his interviewer, trying to explain to an 8-9-year-old that some people don't like Negroes. "I have had a Negro nurse since my first child was born, so this does not make sense."

The attorney general has yet to go around to a federal law penalizing parents for brainwashing their children. When he does, . . .

News on the first complaint and it will be against him.

In the meantime the young Kennedys will grow up in ignorance. They will never know from Daddy that the freedom riders were white and black - in a tint of red, later research indicates. That the police of Anniston, Montgomery and Jackson were among many Negroes and don't club them on sight. That there are ordinances as well as public resentment against out-of-town agitators barging into town for the avowed purpose of disturbing the peace.

Guy Willis, Pioneer Resident Is Buried Here Monday

Funeral services for Guy William Willis, 70-year-old county pioneer resident and businessman were held Monday in the First Methodist Church here. Willis died Saturday afternoon in the Methodist Hospital in Lubbock.

He was born in Bartlett, Tex., January 28, 1891, moved to Borden county when a small boy and then to Lamb County in 1912. Willis lived in Olton until 1913 when he moved to Littlefield where he operated a barber and tailor shop. Willis married Alice Kling on May 31, 1916 in Littlefield. In 1918 he was elected County Clerk and served in that capacity for four years, moving back to Olton. He also owned and operated the Lamb County Abstract Company in Olton.

In 1946, the family moved back to Littlefield where he continued his abstract business until January of this year.

Willis was a member of the Methodist Church from early childhood and was a charter member of both

Davis Finds Onions "Better Than Cotton"

AMHERST--In the heart of the prime cotton-growing country that surrounds this small Lamb County community, R.C. Davis has converted a portion of his land into raising a crop which he considers, in some instances, to be "better than cotton." Davis has put 35 of his acres into the cultivation of onions.

"This is the fourth year that I've had onions growing, and it looks like it will be a pretty good one," Davis, a rugged, red-faced prototype of a typical Lamb Countyman, said.

"When I began raising onions, I started with just a few acres, and worked up to the 35 that I'm growing this year. When I began, I was by myself--just sort of trial and error, so to speak--but I've learned quite a bit over the past seasons.

"If a man had the finances and the right kind of help, I guess that I would say that onions are better (a cash crop) than cotton." Of course, Davis went on to explain, the whole concept hinges on the market price that he can get for his crop. This year, the price is holding pretty steady at $3 a sack.

Davis said that onions take a little more care than most crops around.

"They take more looking after than cotton," he explained, "and more regular waterings, but I think that they pay off."

In March, Davis' hands went into the field with the seed stems and plant them by

Crops Look Good As Moisture Falls

Rain measuring from three inches to a trace were reported throughout the county Sunday and Monday as most crops in the area continue to look better.

In Littlefield the rain measured by Western Cotton Oil showed .34 inches Sunday, .1 inches Sunday night and .35 Monday afternoon. One agriculture spokesman said this is one of the wettest years on record.

Shoplifters Caught Here

County sheriff's officers were "Johnnies on the spot" Monday morning when they received reports from several business houses that two persons were thought to be shoplifting.

The pair, Antonio Uvalde of Laredo and Patsy Leal of Littlefield, were arrested at Perry Bros. variety store and charged with theft under $50, four counts.

The manager of the variety store called the sheriff's office and reported he had the pair cornered in his store. This sent deputies Elson McNeese and Bill Ford to the scene and the arrest was made.

Found in the pair's possession were items taken from Penny's, Ware's, Maud's, and the variety store. They pleaded guilty to the charges and were fined $50 and costs on each charge.

Sheriff's officers arrested Charles E. Murphy, 24-year-old AWOL soldier from Ft. Hood. This is the second time the officers have picked up the soldier. He was returned to Ft. Hood a month ago but went AWOL this past week.

Leonard Stewart of Littlefield was arrested and charged with DWI. When arraigned, Stewart pleaded not guilty to the charge and bond was set at $1,000.

In other action taken by the office, two persons were arrested and charged with drunkenness, and one was picked up for throwing beer cans on the highway.

Dedication Planned By Lutherans

Special dedication services will be held at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at the St. Martin's Lutheran Church in Littlefield. Rev. Roy Grote, pastor of the local church, announced the services as the climax to the completion of a new educational wing to the church.

Rev. Grote said Sunday School and Church services would be held at the regular hours with a congregational dinner being served after the morning worship period.

The church began construction of the educational building this spring, and it was completed last week. The building provides four classrooms, a kitchen and social hall and is connected with the sanctuary by a hallway. Members of the church are also in the process of redecorating the inside and outside of the sanctuary.

Rev. Grote said invitations have been extended to Lutheran churches in neighboring towns and invited everyone to attend.

Building committee who had charge of the program were Ben Brandt, Clarence Neinat, Mrs. G. W. Wells and Mrs. J. E. Wade. Western Builders were the contractors.

Chamber Urges Attendance

One of the largest crowds ever to attend a Business-Farm dinner is expected to be on hand at Bula Friday night when the first of such get-togethers will be held. Gene Garrison, Chamber manager, and Kenneth Reast, Chamber president, said Wednesday they were quite pleased with the response given to the ticket sales. At noon Wednesday more than 100 tickets had already been sold and several others hadn't reported their sales, according to Garrison.

Garrison added that anyone who wants to buy a ticket and go can do so and those who haven't purchased tickets can get them from any member of the Agriculture Committee or from the Chamber office.

The ice cream and cake affair will be co-sponsored by the Young Farmers Association of Bula and the local Chamber.

Reast commented that a good attendance by local citizens would help to foster a better relationship between the businessmen of Littlefield and the farmers of the Bula community.

Garrison stated these dinners were excellent opportunities for farmers and businessmen alike to gain a better understanding of each others problems. "When the problems are better understood by both groups, the results are usually beneficial to both," he continued.

The supper will climax a week of study on Farm Administration being conducted by the Bula farm group.

The tickets are priced at 50 cents which will pay for one member and one guest and at $1 which will pay for a member, his wife and a farm couple.

Another dinner meeting has been scheduled for Friday, July 21 at Rocky Ford. The meal will be prepared by the Rocky Ford Home Demonstration Club.

The fitted bodice was accented by a point in front and a large flowing bow in back. She wore a single strand of pearls to accent the design of seed pearls on the gown; the pearls were the groom's gift to the bride. On her head she wore a crown of pearls from which fell a fingertip veil, which was borrowed from her aunt. She carried a handkerchief which has been carried for several generations by brides of the family, for something old. She wore a blue garter made for her by a friend, and had a penny in her shoe. The bride's bouquet was rose buds and stephanotis.

PENN POINT

Looks like the state insurance board and the government are bound and determined to put the workman out of business. This week the board approved a 15 per cent average increase on all automobile insurance rates in the state. These new rates become effective on August 1. This increase is probably in line with those persons who have collected on their insurance policies during the past year or two, but it is getting tiresome to those of us who haven't collected but are having to pay for those who have. In my short years as an automobile owner, I have paid out enough on insurance, liability and collision, to have bought another car. But, at the same time, you just can't afford to be without insurance. It seems to me that raising the insurance rate will only drive more and more people away from buying it and those of us who do buy will be paying more and more each year. I'll keep on buying insurance, and like most persons become insurance poor, but I think there should be more of a break than 20 per cent for being a safe driver. One plan I would like to see put in effect is to allow a person who hasn't collected on liability or collision policy to receive a 50 per cent credit on the next year's insurance and make the policy continuous so that some years a driver may have enough credit built up so that he wouldn't have to pay a thing. If a driver had had an accident or claim against the company any credit built up for him would be cancelled. I don't know if this would work or not but at least it is something for the insurance board and insurance companies to consider.

We hope everyone had a pleasant and enjoyable Fourth. Furthermore we hope you enjoy today's paper... don't get holidays in this business, unless they fall on Monday or Saturday. Just about everyone should be rested and ready to work hard, at least until vacation time or another holiday... Thankgiving for most business people... Labor Day for some others.

It is always interesting to read what others have to say about some of our "Americanisms." Take for instance the paper-back novels, long a topic of conversation among various groups... those favoring them and those opposing them. The old cliché that you "Can't tell a book by its cover" pretty well fits most of these paper-back editions which a lot of people consider vulgar. If you have ever picked up any of these copies you have noticed the cover contains a "promotional paragraph" about the story inside. The paragraph makes the book sound like "a lurid tale of animal passions" and imply "that it was printed illegally in France and smuggled over on a cattle boat." Bob Wright, a columnist for the Oconto County (Wis.) Reporter has come up with some "promotional paragraphs" for some of the classic American books. A few of them are as follows:

"UNCLE TOM'S CABIN - from what dark passions was the lovely Eliza fleeing? Was the blonde little Eva really as virtuous as she pretended?"

"U. S. INCOME TAX GUIDE - A daring drama of a man and his deductible wife."

"REBECCA OF SUNNYBROOK FARM - Now, forever answered! The truth about the farmer's daughter."

"LITTLE BLACK SAMBO A gripping drama of... pitting the wild beasts of the jungle against this lone fighter for racial integration."

"THE NEW YORK PHONE DIRECTORY - What drama in the lives of these everyday men and women! The most tremendous cast of characters ever assembled in a single book."

"HIAWATHA - Even the icy waves of The Shining Big Sea Water came to a boil at the torrid romance of Hiawatha and the shapely Minnehaha!"

"ALICE IN WONDERLAND - Alice may have been just a girl when she stepped through the mirror but the things she learned from the Mad Hatter really made a woman of her."

"INNOCENTS ABROAD - Now it can be told! Read what Mark Twain really did in the passion pits of Paris!"

"LADY CHATTERLY'S LOVER - Excellent information on modern game management practices."

"THE KINSEY REPORT - A good book."

Attend the Church of your Choice Regularly

Do you count the candles on your birthday cake? Why bother? Once you're past sweet sixteen, it doesn't matter how many candles you're entitled to. What counts is what you're doing with those years.

The years that are past have burned themselves out. Perhaps they have been all you've wanted them to be—but, if you're like most of us, maybe you could have made them a little better.

One of God's greatest gifts is the marvelous fact that it's never too late to begin again.

Birthdays remind us of the passing of time, of a new life. Celebrate your birthday by giving. Give something of yourself, by going to your church and taking part in its activities, especially those that help others. Next year, the added candle on your cake will burn with a special brightness!

The sacked onions are taken to Davis' onion shed, located north of the railroads on the edge of the city, where they are processed. A long, conveyor-type machine separates the sizes of onions, grades them, cleans them of soil and dried peeling and sacks them accordingly.

Davis explained that he has a contract with a distributor from the valley who takes the onions for shipping.

"They will end up in New York and Chicago and just about all over, I guess." As for losses to diseases, Davis compared them to cotton as having about the same vulnerability to thrips and other plant scourges.

"I nearly lost a crop last year because I got ahead of some bad seed stems. That's one thing that you have to be very careful about," he warned. "If your seed stems are bad, you're going to have a hard time getting a crop."

Commenting on cost and profit in raising onions, Davis said that his seed stems cost him approximately $35 an acre.

"In all, including labor, water, handling and processing, it cost me close to 90-cents a sack to get the onions ready for market."

His average yield per acre is between 400 and 500 sacks per acre, but in a typical West Texas farmer tone, Davis said that he thought that he should be getting a bigger yield.

"Close to New Deal, I've seen patches that are putting out up to 800 sacks an acre," he said.

Monday morning, weather permitting, Davis plans to begin his harvest, putting close to 140 hands into the fields to gather the crop.

"I think that onions are a coming crop in this part of the county, Davis commented. "I'd like to see more grown around here. "If anyone wanted to come and look over the operation, I'd like to show them around and, if they were interested in raising onions, I'd be glad to help them in any way that I could."

(Editor's Note: Below is the last of a series of ten prize-winning freedom editorials published in the San Diego (Calif.) Evening Tribune. The Freedom Foundation recognized the editorials on the American Heritage by awarding them the Abraham Lincoln Award. The Littlefield Press is proud to be able to re-print the excellent series for the freedom-loving citizens of Littlefield and Lamb County.)

This Is All Freedom Demands: Knowledge, Respect, Support

FREEDOM. IT HAS BEEN SAID times past remembering, is a priceless thing.

A man may buy his way out of jail. Another may sell freedom from worry in the form of a bottle of tranquilizers. But these are trifling plays on the word freedom in the grand sense that Americans mean when they think of this homeland as . . .

"The land of the free . . ."
Freedom is a paradox, too. It is as unquenchable as man's loftiest spiritual strivings.

Yet it is as easily extinguished by the chill of neglect as an ember in an autumn downpour.

HOW, THEN ARE WE TO ENJOY and serve this intangible, priceless, fragile heritage of freedom?

For the past nine Saturdays, the Evening Tribune has sought to define some of the basic American rights. In this endeavor we have followed the "Credo of the American Way of Life" as formulated by the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge, Pa., a nonpolitical, nonprofit, nonsectarian organization whose charter proclaims its goals:

"To create and build an understanding of the spirit and philosophy of the Constitution and the Bill of Rights and of our 'bundle' of indivisible political and economic freedoms inherent in them.

"To inspire love of freedom and to support the spiritual unity born of the belief that man is a dignified human being, created in the image of his Maker, and by that fact possessor of certain inalienable rights."

These goals suggest that freedom—while it may not be bought and sold like any commodity—nevertheless is due something from us. We owe to our forefathers and their bequest of liberty three things:

Knowledge of the rights to worship God in one's own way . . . to free speech and press . . . to assemble peaceably and petition for grievances . . . to privacy in our homes . . . to the legal protection of habeas corpus . . . to trial by jury and the withholding of the stigma of guilt until proven guilty. . . .

WE SHOULD KNOW THE HISTORY of these rights. And we should give to them and others a second payment:

Respect for the rights to travel about freely at home and abroad . . . to own private property . . . to elect our officials by personal secret ballot . . . to work in callings and localities of our choice . . . to bargain with our employers or employees . . . to go into business, compete and make a profit . . . to bargain in a free market . . . to contract about our affairs. . . .

To all of these and more we owe understanding, respect and a third acknowledgment:

Support of the rights of service by government as a protector and referee . . . of freedom from arbitrary government regulation and control.

WHEN WE CAN LAY KNOWLEDGE of, respect for, and support of these basic rights upon the foundation of a fundamental belief in God and a constitutional government designed to serve the people, we have begun to discharge our indebtedness to the Founding Fathers and our responsibility to succeeding generations who will inherit . . . "The American Way of Life."

Anyone Can Get Suntan--Even At The Drug Store

We live in an age when, as one observer remarked, "to be pale is human, to be tanned -- devine!" The "door-sport look for any boy or gal begins with a sun-bronzed skin. And in this jet age, if you can't get a healthy tan from Mother Nature you can get it in a drugstore. While the summer of 1961 ushers in a new season for sun-tanning as the great American pastime, it also brings more threats to skin health than the obvious risk of sunburn. Few sunbathers know fact from fiction about suntans.

To save your precious skin, know what the sun does to it, and why. To evaluate suntan lotion, know what goes into it and why. Let's start by shedding some light on the sun. There are light rays, which we can see. Infrared rays can only be felt, in varying degrees of heat. But the rays that affect our skin for better or for worse are the ultraviolet rays. You can't see or feel them but penetrating the skin, they cause chemical changes to take place. Long rays of ultraviolet produce suntan short rays, sunburn. Therefore, if you want to achieve a pleasing tan, it becomes necessary to screen out the harmful rays and coax more beautifying results from Old Sol. Don't expect protection from a cloudy sky. The sun's ultraviolet rays which change your skin are not filtered by an overcast day. . . or when cooling breezes blow. On any day, the most dangerous hours are from 11 to 2 p.m. These rays are known to be more intense when reflection doubles their effectiveness, that is, when your skin is exposed in daylight to water, sand, snow or moist air.

Without protection, a whole Pandora's Box of skin troubles can be opened to sun worshippers. . . we hope you won't be among them. Your skin might be depleted of moisture and begin to wrinkle, the way a juicy plum dehydrates into a crinkled prune. Premature aging might take place . . . as "crow's feet" implant their mark around the eyes. . . and the natural elasticity of young skin vanishes, leaving toughened, sagging folds in its wake. The best cure, of course, is prevention! Regular use of a skin-care and conditioning agent -- Sea & Ski is among the best -- screens the skin against damaging rays of the sun. If you've got plenty of sunning to do, and want to avoid the old bugaboos of sunburn, blistering and peeling . . . apply the creamy, emulsified lotion before you set forth. Perhaps you're feeling neglected because we've talked about people who have a chance to court the sun's benevolent rays outdoors . . . and you are an unfortunate who -- winter or summer -- can't get out into the sun. Your solution, theoretically, is "liquid sunshine," or its equivalent, instant suntan. . . in a bottle! It's available. Remember -- your precious eyes need dependable protection from bright sunlight too. Side vision as well as front should be screened, with no distortion. Shedding new light on your skin means a bright-eyed suntanned appearance can be yours from now on, indoors and out, in any season.

Sandhills Philosopher Philosopher Wonders About Soap And U.S. Reputation Overseas

Editor's note: The sandhills Philosopher on his business soap this week. We think that's what he's doing. Dear editor: What happens to food after it leaves a farmer's hands and works its way through the processors to the supermarket's shelves is one of the weak links in farming and I have long contended that where us farmers are slipping up is in failing to learn how to grow beans that come up inside a cellophane bag -- you can get ten times more for them that way than plain -- but what interested me this week about this matter was a hearing before a Congressional committee in Washington. A bunch of women appeared before the committee and complained that some food packagers were outsmarting them, they sell one package of soap labeled Giant-Size containing two pounds of soap flakes, then run in some more packages alongside them also labeled Giant-

Size but containing only a pound and a half, with the rest of the box empty, yet selling for the same price. In their hurry to beat somebody to the check-out counter, some women grab the wrong box without reading the fine print. And what interested me more about this was the reason these women gave for objecting to this practice. "Such practices," they said, "weaken the reputation of the United States abroad." I don't understand how making a bunch of women mad in the United States by selling them less soap than they think they're buying can weaken our reputation abroad, but I'm in favor of the argument, if they can make it stick. For instance, say I have a prime Jersey steer for sale and some smart buyer offers me two cents a pound less than I ought to get and I'm forced to sell because I ran out of feed day before yesterday. It's not the money I'm losing that bothers me, it's the damage this fellow is doing to our reputation abroad. Or take taxes. Say the government promises us $1.25 in service for every $1 we pay in taxes, and winds up delivering only 65¢ worth. You can see what this does to our reputation abroad. And speaking of our reputation abroad, people are always talking about it but you never hear anything about the people abroad worrying about their reputation here in the United States. If some Scandinavian groceryman outsmarts some Scandinavian housewife, half the time I'm not even aware of it. Scandinavia ought to do

Legislative Facts

LAST ROUND-- Legislators waxed both heated and hopeful in the last round of public hearings before the committee appointed by Governor Daniel to study all tax plans and suggest a compromise. Committee, mostly made up of board chairmen of state agencies, is to select ideas or merge them into a recommendation to be offered at its final meeting July 6 and 7. Special session to enact a tax plan begins July 10. Rep. Reed Quilliam of Lubbock said he felt the people should see clearly what their choices are-- a sales tax, income tax or sharp reduction in state services.

ANOTHER BIG REASON BEHIND THE BIG BOOM IN FORD SALES:

No other wagon can match Ford's features (or popularity!)

There's a whole wagonload of Ford features that only America's station wagon specialists can bring you. First, there's more room. Ford's extended load deck is the longest and widest in its field. The tailgate opening is seven inches wider than last year, too. There's more convenience. You can have an electrically controlled roll-down rear window in any Ford wagon. . . it's standard in all Country Squires and 9-Passenger Country Sedans. In their field, only Ford wagons have all seats facing forward. There's more distinction. The Country Squire (shown above) is the one and only wagon in its field with body panels that look like mahogany, wear like steel. There are more savings, too. Ford's Ranch Wagon is America's lowest-priced,* full-size wagon. And like all Fords, every Ford wagon is built to be more service-free: goes 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications, 4,000 miles between oil changes, brakes adjust automatically, mufflers are made to last three times as long as ordinary mufflers, and the finish never needs waxing. STOP putting off that station wagon you've always wanted. SWAP for a '61 Ford wagon now while your Ford Dealer's celebrating record-breaking sales. SAVE with the wagon America loves most. . . made by FORD. . . STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford

AUSTIN, Tex. -- Within a few weeks the tourists and school children who flock to Austin will be able to get a lesson in Texas history by visiting the most beautiful of all the new buildings on the state capitol grounds.

It is the State Library and Archives Building, now nearing completion on a site directly east of the Capitol.

For many years history-minded Texans decried the fact that the priceless early documents of the state had no real home. Finally these documents were moved from a mouldy basement to a Quonset hut. There many feared for their safety.

Now, the new edifice provides the state's historic documents with a magnificent home. In addition there are quarters for the State Library and the General Land Office.

More interesting to the visitor will be the way in which Texas history is dramatized in the architectural decor of the building. On each side of the entrance are six large flagpoles. From them will fly the flags of the nations which have ruled Texas -- France, Spain, Mexico, the Republic of Texas, the Confederate States of America and the United States.

Embedded in the stone of the front are bright-colored mosaic shields. These also represent the same six nations. Smaller bronze emblems decorate the heavy metal doors at the front. Across the back of the structure, even larger shields, bearing the six nations' seals in colored ceramics, are mounted on the granite of the building.

Black granite, the "stone of state things," is used for the entire exterior. Carved in the granite across the front are these words: "The People of Texas do hereby constitute a free, sovereign and independent republic and... we fearlessly and confidently commit the issue to the decision of the Supreme Arbitrator of the families of nations." (Texas Declaration of Independence, 1836)

On the right front side is carved: "All political power is inherent in the people and all free governments are founded on their authority and instituted for their benefit." (First Constitution of Texas, 1845).

Although the building has four floors, there are several "stack floors" where the building is divided for storage of books and documents.

One end of the main floor will be devoted to the library. There you will find a charge desk and a large reading room.

Another large room will house the archives. In it there will be a large work room where researchers may look at old papers.

Land Office, to be on the third and fourth floors, will have a separate entrance at the south end of the building. (Building faces west.)

First floor lobby, like the Capitol rotunda, will be a Texas showcase. In its terrazzo floor is the familiar wreath and star emblem of Texas. Main walls are polished granite and upper walls are sandstone. Above the center of the area of a large, spectacular oval light fixture of red, white and blue colored glass in a sunburst design with a border of 50 stars.

Museum cases, recessed and lighted, are built into the walls around the lobby. Opposite the lobby entrance is a large bronze screen with 15 blocks on which are wrought designs that present a panorama of Texas development. There's an Indian with tomahawk, standing irons, dueling stators, the first Capitol (small frame house) and a steam locomotive, and a windmill on the prairie. The last block shows a gushing well.

Building of the State Library and Archives Building was authorized by the Legislature in 1957, with an appropriation of $2,500,000. Project has been carried through by the State Building Commission for which E. E. McAdams is chairman and Gov. Price Daniel and Atty. Gen. Will Wilson are members.

Admiral H. R. Nieman is director of the Building Commission.

State Archives Building is the fourth of the new edifices erected since the building program began in 1957. It is neither the largest, nor the most expensive, but because of the historical designs, it is attracting the most attention. Those who have had an advance peek believe that it will, as intended, be a fitting residence for the heritage of Texas' 125 years.

TOLEDO BEND DAM STUDIED -- Texas Water Development Board has given tentative approval to a $15,000,000 state loan for the building of a $60,000,000 Toledo Bend Dam on the Sabine River.

The dam will create the largest man-made lake in the south and supply water and power for residents of both Southeast Texas and Louisiana.

One of the first obstacles to be faced is obtaining a permit from the State Board of Water Engineers. In this, the Sabine River Authority is opposed by the owners of timberland which would be flooded by the reservoir.

Louisiana will be a partner in the project, if it materializes. Louisiana voters already have approved a $15,000,000 loan to meet its share of the cost.

END OF AN ERA -- One of the most colorful and controversial names in 20th century Texas politics passed from the scene with the death of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson.

Though she preferred housekeeping and flower raising, Mrs. Ferguson was the first (and only) woman governor of Texas. Also one of the only two women governors ever to be elected in the nation.

Beginning of the "Ferguson era" was in 1914 when her husband, Jim Ferguson, was elected governor, as the champion of the Texas tenant farmer. He was re-elected in 1916 but impeached in 1917.

In 1924 Mrs. Ferguson ran for governor, with the announced purpose of clearing her husband's name. She was elected in 1924, defeated for re-election in 1926, but won another term in 1932.

With her to the last was the nickname she disliked -- "Ma." Her husband (who died in 1944) was known as "Pa" or "Farmer Jim."

RATE INCREASE EXPLAINED -- Texans who are irked at the prospect of an auto insurance rate increase should take note that they've had a year's reprieve since the increase was indicated, says the Insurance Board chairman.

Claim costs indicated that a rate increase was justified last year, says Chairman Tom Ferguson, but the Board postponed making it because the safe driving plan had just gone into effect.

In the 12-month interval, said Ferguson, drivers actually have paid $20,000,000 less in insurance premiums than cost figures show they should have. As a consequence, he said, companies absorbed a $20,000,000 deficit.

GUARDS NEEDED -- O.B. Ellis, general manager of the Texas Department of Corrections, reports that the prison system is in urgent need of officers. Physically fit men 21 to 55 years of age are desired. They must have a 10th grade education at the minimum.

From Your Chamber Office
by Gene Garrison

Friday night a number of Littlefield businessmen and their wives are going to Bula for an ice cream and cake supper. This social event is co-sponsored by the Agriculture Committee of the Littlefield Chamber and the Young Farmers Association of Bula.

Fellowship between our merchants and farmers in such a wholesome atmosphere is mutually beneficial. The Chamber members have enjoyed this type of program for years we are pleased to see it continue. There will be a number of such programs in various communities of our trade area throughout the summer and early fall.

It is indeed pleasing to observe the large number of stores who have done remodeling and revamping, and relocating recently. This newspaper informed us of these events in both news stories and editorials. My only addition to this would be to quote a statement by our Chamber president, Kenneth Reast, last Friday morning. The president said:

"These new businesses and remodeling of existing business are a great thing for Littlefield, Lamb County and the entire trade area."

"These expansion, reorganization and beautification programs are definite signs of progress and faith in the future of West Texas. The Chamber of Commerce is proud of all these businesses."

I hesitate to start a list here because I would be certain to omit someone who has done a splendid job of rebuilding or remodeling prior to my recent arrival of the scene. As you drive down our streets it becomes obvious who is making specific efforts to provide better facilities for our customers to both buy and sell.

It is a well established fact that most people enjoy shopping and selling where businessmen are taking steps to keep us with the trends of the times. These are the benefits of the competitive-free enterprise system. These are the results of an economy where the consumer sets the pace in the market place. If anyone desires to compare this system, he has only to visit a country that has a controlled economy; in a controlled economy the consumer is not important, he simply buys what is available at the price that is fixed. Invariably the stores and merchandise are drab.

You can get a good semblance of the above effect by visiting a town that has refused to change with the marketing and displaying trends of the times. These streets and stores also look drab and unappealing. The merchandise for the most part may be somewhat modern, but it is ill arranged and fails to attract the attention of prospective buyers. The businessmen of such towns become very cranky and unamiable they are looking for something that they can blame for the decline in business;

twenty-five years ago we had a good business here--was a good town then' they say. They are right; peoples attitudes, desires and buying habits refused to face up to the business facts-of-life.

The same token people buy and desire better more efficient facilities to sell the goods they buy. I am proud to announce that Littlefield businessmen are making specific efforts to meet this need. The current construction readily indicates.

I am proud that Littlefield recognizes the fact that we live in a changing world and many of our businessmen are adjusting themselves up with the changing patterns.

First One Built In 1620

History Of Submarines Spans 300 Years

Over 300 years ago, Mother Shipton, a "prophetess" living in England, predicted, "under water, men shall walk, shall ride shall sleep, shall talk." Meanwhile, in her own country, a Dutch inventor named Cornelius Van Drebbel was building the first submarine!

Completed in 1620, Van Drebbel's sub had oars which came out through side holes sealed with tight-fitting leather flaps. He actually succeeded in navigating in the Thames River at depths of from 12 to 15 feet!

Van Drebbel's dive spurred such interest in underwater navigation that by 1727, fourteen different types of subs had been patented in England alone.

One of these early vessels also oar-powered, submerged when water-filled leather bottles fastened to holes in the ship's bottom. The water was "squashed" out by means of a lever and press so the amazing vessel could surface before its passenger ran out of air! It didn't take men long to realize that the submarine was ideal for sea warfare. During the American War for Independence, a patriotic Yankee from Connecticut, David Bushnell, set out to sink a British man-of-war in the "Turtle" his aptly named submarine.

The "Turtle" was just big enough to hold one man -- sitting down. It was propelled by a corkscrew-shaped propeller, submerged when its one-man crew opened a valve to let water in and rose when the skipper hand-pumped the water out!

Sighting the enemy in New York Harbor -- much too close to shore for comfort -- the confident Bushnell managed to attach a charge of gunpowder to the man-of-war's bottom. The feeble charge failed to sink the British ship, but did chase it further out to sea.

Bushnell's "Turtle" went down in history as the first sub to attack an enemy vessel. The dubious distinction of being the first to successfully attack and sink an enemy vessel also belongs to America.

During the Civil War, the Confederates built a submarine dubbed the "Hunley." Eight men were required to turn the propeller which worked like a crankshaft, and one to captain and operate the sub's "weapon" -- a mine mounted on a shaft sticking out from the front of the ship.

The "Hunley" was commissioned to sink the "Housatonic," a 1,264 ton Union ship anchored in Charleston Harbor, South Carolina.

At 8:45 p.m. on February 17, 1864, a terrific explosion was heard in the harbor and the "Housatonic" rose out of the water as if an earthquake had lifted her, "heeled to port and sank at once, stern foremost."

Fortunately, every man aboard was rescued, but water rushed into the hole in the "Housatonic" with such force that it sucked the little "Hunley" in with it. The brave crew of the victorious sub went down with its victims!

Before the deadly torpedo was perfected for submarine warfare, proposed fighter subs included an armored vessel with a gigantic pipe bowl-like mortar protruding from the bowl and a cylindrical boat armed with a gun which fired straight upward through iron plating.

In 1889, a Russian scientist named Apostoloff dreamed of building a sub that could travel underwater at a speed which an above water craft couldn't even approach.

In order to overcome the resistance of the water, Apostoloff engineered a vessel using the principle of the boring screw. He claimed his fish-shaped sub with its screw-like threads running around the outside could cross the Atlantic in 28 hours! Apostoloff failed but his dream of speed was realized by others less than 100 years later.

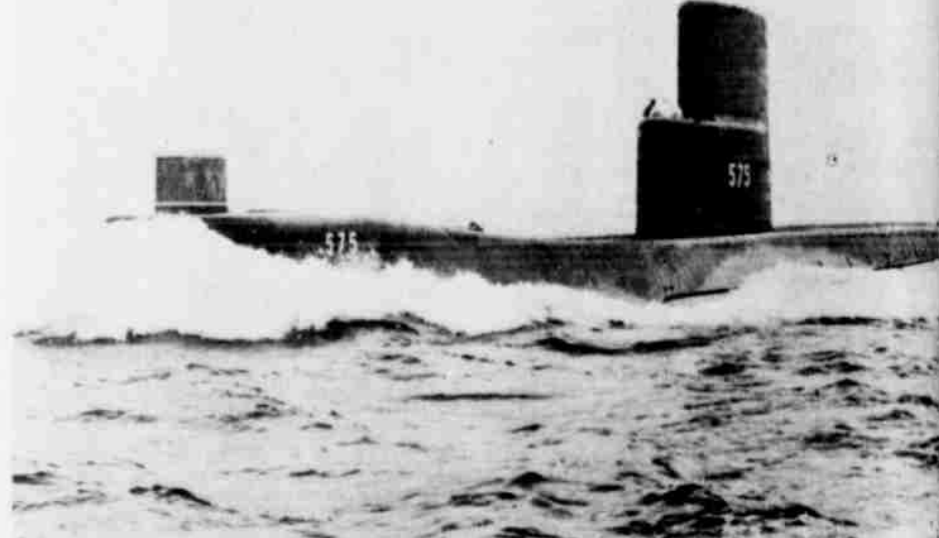

From August 7th to October 6, 1958, the U. S. Navy atomic submarine Seawolf seemed as roomy as a football field compared with earlier subs, its living space measures only 330 feet in length and about 27 feet in breadth at the widest point. A crew of 116 healthy men had to live in these quarters for 60 days.

How could the crew keep physically fit while limited to such cramped quarters? A suggested solution came from a California company, which up to that time, had been mainly concerned with the fitness of people interested in trimming off excess inches through muscle toning. The makers of Relax-A-Cisor, a pulsating electronic exercisor, built a tiny transistorized machine with which the submariners could receive concentrated, "no-effort" exercise while lying on their bunks.

Thirteen of the crew members used the device six days a week for half an hour a day -- for exercise and physical fitness.

However, at the end of the historic cruise, although the crew's cook had prepared 348 sumptuous meals a day in addition to after movies, thirteen men had tops around the crew member who three and a quarter. The underwater experiment mariner first in the submarine travel era. Currents include the use of the U. S. Washington, U. S. trick Henry and Triton, among clear attack-type lines. The future see its use in space vehicles.

THE NEWEST --The USS Seawolf, world's second atomic submarine, held world's record for continuous submergence -- 60 days. The journey was from August 7 to October 6, 1958. Most of the 14,500 nautical miles were at a depth of 200 feet below the surface of the water.

Soybean Breeds Expanded At High Plains

The Soybean Breeding Program at the High Plains Research Foundation has been expanded by the receipt of 51 varieties from 13 countries. Dr. Earl H. Collister, Chief Agronomist, announced this week that these varieties came from the following countries: Afghanistan 1, Argentina 2, Brazil 1, Burma 2, China 5, Formosa 2, Hawaii 1, Indonesia 2, India 1, Japan 20, Korea 9, Pakistan 1, and South Africa 2.

Seven-hundred and forty-six soybean plants were selected from a plant population of 226,000 in the 1960 breeding program for further evaluation. Hand pollinations will be made between selected plant types in the plant breeding this year.

Another feature of the soybean program is the use of atomic energy to produce improved types through genetic mutations. They were irradiated with three different amounts of Cobalt 60. They will be closely observed during the growing period for possible high plant types that are in developing new for the High Plains.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Spearman arrived to spend a few of their daughter's holiday, the R. O. B.
