COUNTY VALUATION NOW $66,740.00, ACCORDING TO THE REPORT BY ASSESSOR R. L. GATTIS

County's visible valuation during the past year amounting to $66,740.00 according to the report presented by Tax Assessor R. L. Gattis, and accepted last week by the Commissioners' Court at Olton. The total county valuation was $7,966,740.00. The past three years since he has been in office the valuation of the county has increased by $1,170,000.00. From the valuation increase, a noticeable change in the county is shown by many property owners moving into the county and taking possession of their holdings, thus the roll this year showed an increase in the non-residence roll was $1,170,000.00. The land valuation roll the land valuation is $2,418,670; city property, $192,000; personal property, $192,000; total city property, $384,000; total personal property, $192,000.

The total tax derived from this valuation will amount to $126,964.18. Of this sum, $54,286.86 is state tax; $51,947.70 is county tax; $11,689.46 is road tax to be divided among the four precincts of the county, while $7,542.31 is tax occasioned by road districts one and two. There were 3996 poll taxes assessed this year, which is an increase of 495 over that of last year. With the submission of this tax roll Mr. Gattis rounds out the first year of his second term of office in a very satisfactory manner. He has been a faithful public servant, and untiring in his effort to render a full and complete valuation of the county's property. Since he went into office three years ago he has witnessed the county's value increase in the sum of $765,740. Mr. Gattis states that the largest valuation increase of the county has been in precinct four, and principally in and around Littlefield. There is no doubt but the county valuation next year will be well over the $8,000,000 mark.

SQUAD WILL VISIT SUDAN HERE FRIDAY, SEPT. 27

The game will be played in front of a large crowd of 10 girls, Pauline Courtney, Ruby Clarke, Bobby Mae Davis, Willie Harrel, Mary Irene Hobbs and Gattis, that has recently returned from camp, will be in costume with a lot of good yells for the team. The coaches attending the coaches this summer, conductors, coach of Notre Dame, Warner, coach of the Southern California, learned a number of which the Littlefield fans will see. The team is planning to attend the Littlefield South Plains Fair. The games are conference games and will count on Littlefield's success.

THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH FEATURING MUSIC AT SERVICES

The First Baptist church is stepping forward with a progressive stride, according to Rev. Joe Grizzle, the pastor. A feature of the evening service last Sunday was the hearty congregational singing and the special music rendered by the choir. There were 50 singers in the choir, under the very efficient direction of "Happy" Jordan, and the two choruses rendered them was worthy to grace a real metropolitan audience. Mr. Jordan announces there is to be a meeting held at the First Baptist church, Thursday night of this week, for the purpose of organizing a community choir. Everyone who sings, regardless of their church membership, is invited to attend and become a member. This is in no sense a church choir organization, but one to be used in the various community gatherings which frequently come to Littlefield. Next Sunday, at this same church there is to be held a special service at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon, at which time four recently elected deacons will be duly ordained. Rev. J. F. Nix, well known pastor of the First Baptist church, Clovis, New Mexico, will deliver the ordination sermon. Pastor Grizzle also announces that the West Plains Baptist association will meet at Muleshoe, October 8, the session beginning at 10:00 a. m. He and several of his members will attend. The B. Y. P. U., of the First Baptist church has also been reorganized in all its branches, said Rev. Grizzle. Mrs. Pat Boone has been chosen director general. Last Sunday evening there were 43 "on time" signed cards, and about 60 present before the young people meeting was closed. All Baptists are especially invited to attend the meetings of this auxiliary organization, as there is a division for everyone from the primary to adult departments.

The Little Mind-Reader

By Albert T. Reid

"I know what you are thinking - I know just exactly - that that hat looks just as good as new, and you think you'll put it away. That's what you do each year at this time, and in the spring you throw it away. If we had all the storage space it has taken we would have a couple of new rooms on our place."

MISS MASHBURN ENTERS WORK AS CO. HOME AGENT

After being on the waiting list for three years, Lamb County last week received its county home demonstration agent, Miss Ruby Mashburn, who was officially received last Saturday at a special meeting of the County Commissioners.

Miss Mashburn is a graduate of the State Teachers' College, at Denton, has had six years teaching experience, during which time she has been sponsor for girls' 4-H clubs. Her past record, according to Miss Myrtle Murray district home demonstration agent, shows her to be a very successful organizer and director, an untiring worker and especially efficient in every undertaking.

This week Miss Mashburn is going over the county and making acquaintance with the women and girls in every section with the view of at once starting organization work.

Coming here from Terrell, in Kaufman county, she is well acquainted with the accomplishments of her Department in East Texas, and says there is no reason why this section of the state should not in time far outstrip the Eastern portion.

"Just as an illustration," said Miss Mashburn, while talking to a Leader representative: "I have the report of 18 clubs from one section in Southeast Texas which shows that 96 per cent of the 205 members composing them, last year averaged planting 22 varieties of vegetables, while each family had 38 varieties of small and tree fruits planted, or a total of 6,604 small fruits and 1,312 fruit trees. This report also shows an average of 175 quarts of fruits and vegetables was canned per family, and 563 pounds of home grown meat cured. Stored vegetables, which were many, were not included in the report, she said.

"Each family kept an average of 67 hens, and more than half of the 13,782 hens in the home poultry flocks were standard bred. Eighty per cent of these families reported an adequate milk supply per person daily.

"In home improvement work 119 living rooms, 58 dining rooms, 56 kitchens and 75 bedrooms were improved by refinishing walls and floors, and refinishing and adding furniture. A total of 263 hand made braided rugs were made by the women for their homes, 72 houses were screened, 39 painted and 123 farmsteads beautified.

"And there is no reason why such good work as this can not be easily more than duplicated in this section," said Miss Mashburn. "I am wonderfully pleased with this country, its people and the excellent opportunities presented for development in the work I am so interested in. I am anxious to get acquainted as widely and as quickly as possible and get my work started promptly."

During five days of the week Miss Mashburn will be out over the county, but each Saturday will find her in her office in conjunction with that of County Farm Agent D. A. Adam, at Olton, where she will take care of correspondence and be glad to receive all callers.

LITTLEFIELD PROPERTY VALUES INCREASE $300,000 DURING THE PAST YEAR; TAX ROLLS FINISHED

At a meeting of the City Commissioners held Friday afternoon City Tax Assessor and Collector W. G. Street presented the completed tax rolls of this municipality, which were duly approved. The rolls show a total municipal valuation of $1,528,219.00, divided as follows: personal property, $204,429.00; undivided acreage, $54,670.00; city property, $1,269,120.00. The tax rate being $1.50 on the $100 valuation, (the same rate as last year) this will bring a taxable income to the city amounting to $22,923.56.

The total municipal valuation for last year was $1,341,080; thus there has been an increased valuation within the city corporate limits during the past 12 months amounting to $187,129.00. Since this increased valuation noted was only up to January first this year, and since there have been more than $100,000 issued in building permits since January first, the actual valuation increase is close to $300,000.00 during the past 12 months. The increased valuation means an increased income to the city amounting to $4,500.

LFD CEMETERY IS INCORPORATED AND LOTS ARE SELLING

The Littlefield Cemetery association announces that it has now become duly incorporated and is ready to deed lots to those desiring them for burial purposes. Those who have already interred some of their people in the local cemetery are being notified that they may now purchase the ground occupied.

The cemetery has now been completely surveyed, with all streets and lots platted. A well has been put down and windmill and tank put up. In the coming spring it is planned by the association to plant considerable trees and shrubbery, also put out flowers, and as soon as funds are available, a nice new fence will be placed around the entire cemetery.

Contract has been made for the purchase of 10 acres adjoining the present burial grounds. Money received from sale of lots is being used by the directors for beautifying the premises. Those interested in purchasing lots are requested to call on J. H. Lucas secretary.

MAY OPEN BEAUTY SHOP

Miss Maud Bartlett, of Wichita Falls, is here this week looking for a location for a beauty shop. She has had several years experience in that line and is very much impressed with Littlefield.

COUNTY AGENTS TO BE LOCATED NOW AT COUNTY SEAT

At a meeting of the Lamb County Commissioners held last Monday, it was decided that both the County Farm Agent, D. A. Adam, and the County Home Demonstration Agent, Miss Ruby Mashburn, will, in the future, have their offices located at Olton, the county seat.

In discussing the re-location of these two agents it is stated that Commissioners Strawn and Foust voted they should be located in Littlefield, it being the center of the county's population, and they insisting that the largest number of people in the county could be more efficiently served by the agents from such location. Commissioner Daniels is said to have favored Amherst as a permanent location, but later on voted with Commissioner Walker for Olton. County Judge Hay cast the deciding vote in favor of Olton as the future permanent location.

It is explained by Miss Myrtle Murray, district home demonstration agent, that both law and precedent require that all county agents be located at the county seat, there being but one or two exceptions in vogue in the State of Texas. District Agent S. E. Evans, who attended the Monday meeting, also made a similar statement.

Harry Wiseman says maybe they paint some cars black in memory of dead batteries and missing spark plugs.

TWO-HEADED CALF

C. R. Smith, who lives 10 miles north of Anton, brought to town the first of the week a two-headed calf. This freak had two well formed heads, two legs in front and four legs behind, but otherwise the calf was a well-developed animal. The calf was dead when it was born. The body is being mounted by Grandpa Harrel and will be on exhibition in Anton.—Anton News.

AN AGREEMENT IS MADE WITH STATE FOR PAVING NO. 7

At a special meeting of the Littlefield City Commissioners held Friday afternoon, a contract submitted by Gib Gilchrist, chief engineer for the State Highway Department was ratified, thus concluding the agreement made last year by this department to appropriate the sum of $8,316 toward the paving of a 44 foot strip on State Highway No. 7 through the corporate limits of the city. The final agreement came about a result of a trip made to Lubbock that morning by Mayor Otto Jones who arrived at an agreement with Engineer Gilchrist.

The agreement is made contingent upon the passage of an ordinance by the City embodying the following provisions:

That when the paving has been completed there shall be no parking of any kind within the 60 foot width of State Highway No. 7.

That the total width of the proposed paving shall be 44 feet.

That no gasoline pumps nor privately owned property of any kind shall be permitted to locate within the specified 60 feet width of the highway.

That no auto or other vehicle shall be serviced while standing within the prescribed 60 feet.

The Commission also posed to receive objections from property owners along the State highway, relative to the proposed paving but there were no objections offered.

ADVANCING OPPORTUNITIES NEVER BETTER THAN NOW FOR GETTING AHEAD IN WORLD

By S. W. STRAUS, President

American Society for Thrift

Are chances of success as great today as they were a generation ago?

This question was recently asked the writer, who replied that opportunities are unquestionably greater today than they were twenty, forty or sixty years ago.

New inventions and new developments have created opportunities for the men and women who are sufficiently wide awake to seize them. The radio, the automobile, the airplane, the commercial development of electrical power and the science of chemical engineering are all comparatively new. Within the last few years the numbers employed in these industries have been increased manifold.

Remember that environment has less to do with success than the individual's attitude on the problems of life. Among the common errors of those who fail to advance are lack of vision and concentration.

The problems of life are so large and complex and the range of human endeavor is so wide that individual effort, to be effective, must be limited to definite lines. The young man of today has a limitless range of opportunities before him and he can be successfully fit into the scheme of progress if he will realize that there is always need for those who can do things well.

Our schools and colleges are sending their young men and young women out into the world. While they have completed their academic lessons, they still have before them those larger lessons which can be learned only in the practical school of life. In entering this new life the only practical lesson they should learn first of all is that it is better to know one thing well than to know a score of things superficially, and that it is better to be able to do one thing right than to have twenty slipshod accomplishments.

To see ahead in the light of observable circumstances and tendency, to concentrate on some particular ambition and to do the chosen work with real thoroughness are all keys available today for those who wish to thrive and achieve.

By Miss Addie Vyolla Hammons

What is the dearest thought on earth,
Just name the price your treasure's worth.
What makes you ponder at the hearth,
You'll often wonder!

What would you do if you were me—
Your home was in a hollow tree?
Emotions cramped the bended knee?
I'll often wonder!

What makes me chase the Rainbow's trail
And hearken to the traveller's tale
To sail the Deep with silken sail
You'll often wonder!

What makes the wisest men debate
And write harsh words on memories' slate
To stir strong hearts with morbid hate
We'll often wonder!

Mysteries crowd our daily shrine
Encircling camps where angel's dine
And fill our cups with mystic wine
That's why we wonder!

POULTRY

CLEAN HOUSE IS FIRST ESSENTIAL

A clean house is the first essential in good poultry management. The cleaning should be done before the pullets are put in the house for the winter, according to John Vandervort of the University of Illinois. Clean, healthy pullets cannot be expected to brood so if they are placed in a filthy hen house which is likely to harbor disease eggs and disease germs, he points out.

Nests, roosts, water dishes and other utensils should be taken out of the house and cleaned and then left in the sunlight. Dropping boards should be cleaned and all litter and manure scraped from the floor. The floors, sidewalks and ceiling should also be swept, after which the interior of the house should be thoroughly scrubbed with hot water containing lye at the rate of one pound to 40 gallons of water. No disinfecting should be done until after the house has been thoroughly cleaned and allowed to dry out. The final step includes replacing the fixtures and putting clean litter on the floor and material in the nests. Houses should be cleaned and fresh material put in the nests monthly.

Preparing for Eggs in Cold Weather of Winter

With the coming of colder weather and the necessity of getting the pullets into winter quarters, poultry keepers again are confronted with the matter of which ones to keep. Pullets should be well grown and healthy. Pullets that are undersized or stunted are seldom if ever worthy of their food. The balance of the flock between hens and pullets will be determined by conditions such as the number of pullets available. The average is about two-thirds pullets and one-third old hens, the pullets being kept for winter egg production and the hens for brooding stock.

An insurance against an outbreak of colds and disease in the poultry flock, good housing and proper management of the flock are better and more reliable than vaccination or any other medical treatment. Providing plenty of room in the poultry house is necessary to the health and productivity of the flock. Three to four square feet is the proper amount of floor space for each bird.

Prevent Fall Troubles in Farm Poultry Flock

One of the most common diseases of the poultry flock during the autumn is roup. This disease is often found in damp, poorly ventilated houses and is most often contracted by birds that are poorly developed and of low vitality. Fowls of this type frequently get roup and are the means of spreading it throughout the flock. Obviously, prevention should consist of eliminating the weaklings from the flock and providing a house that will be dry and free from drafts, but well ventilated.

An additional prevention against this disease is the following: Add as much potassium permanganate as will remain on the surface of a dime to each gallon of drinking water and keep before the fowls. This acts as an antiseptic and will help to keep the birds in good condition. An attempt to cure the individual of roup is not advisable, for, although in the majority of cases there may be an apparent cure, the danger of reinfection is great and frequently such birds cause the disease to spread throughout the flock.

Don't Wash Eggs

Experienced egg packers condemn the practice of washing eggs with either water or vinegar, most severely because such eggs do not stand up in storage. The fact that the eggs thus treated cannot be detected allows many of them to go into storage with the result that when they are taken out of the coolers next fall and winter their poor quality will result in lessened consumption. So don't wash eggs for sale.—National Poultry, Butter and Egg Bulletin.

Teach Chicks to Roost

Many people make a mistake in not teaching the young chickens to roost. It is usually advisable to do this when the chicks are from eight to ten weeks of age. When they are allowed to sit on the floor it is difficult to keep them clean and there is a tendency for them to crowd on cold nights, which often results in loss. The chicks can usually be taught to roost by putting perches close to the floor and placing one or two old hens with them.

Whitewash Formula

There is a standard formula for exterior whitewash which has been found satisfactory. Dissolve 12 pounds of salt and 6 ounces of powdered alum in about 4 gallons of hot water. Add 1 quart of molasses. Make a thick cream by thoroughly mixing 50 pounds (1 sack) of hydrated lime, or 38 pounds (1/2 bushel) of quicklime, thoroughly slaked and screened before use, with about 7 gallons of hot water. Add the clear solution to the lime slurry vigorously.

America's finest medium-priced automobile?

Oakland combines a long wheelbase with a short turning radius—giving greater handling ease. Its bodies by Fisher provide such convenience and comfort features as drivers' seats adjustable as you drive, clear-vision easily-regulated VV windshields and side cowl ventilators.

Foot-controlled headlights—automatic spark control assuring correct spark occurrence at any speed—spring covers which add to riding ease by keeping springs permanently lubricated and free from mud, rain and dust . . . all these are comfort and convenience features which only the All-American in its field combines.

Come in and let us show you how, on every basis of comparison, today's Oakland is America's finest medium-priced automobile.

Facts which prove Oakland supremacy

The following facts were obtained from a comparison of the Oakland All-American Six with 20 other medium-priced automobiles. All told, 878 individual comparisons were made. Of these Oakland proved to be distinctly superior in 453 or 51.37 per cent. The 36 cars combined were at least equal to Oakland on 382 or 43.56 per cent. And 13 of the 26 were higher-priced than Oakland.

FISHER BODY Only Oakland and two other cars in the field offer bodies by Fisher. And one of the two is nearly $100 higher in price than Oakland. Of the 18 cars which have less known bodies, 11 are priced above the All-American Six.

WHEELBASE Only one car as low priced as Oakland has a wheelbase as long as Oakland's, which is 117 inches. That car requires a turning circle to the left of 42 feet as compared with Oakland's 36 feet. Six higher-priced cars have shorter wheelbases.

FULL AUTOMATIC SPARK CONTROL Only Oakland and two other cars in the field provide this advancement. It is especially satisfactory when used with the G-M-R cylinder head.

CROSS-FLOW RADIATOR Only Oakland in the entire field has the Cross-Flow Radiator or anything similar to it. All other cars use the down-flow radiator; this despite the fact that 13 of the 26 are higher-priced than Oakland.

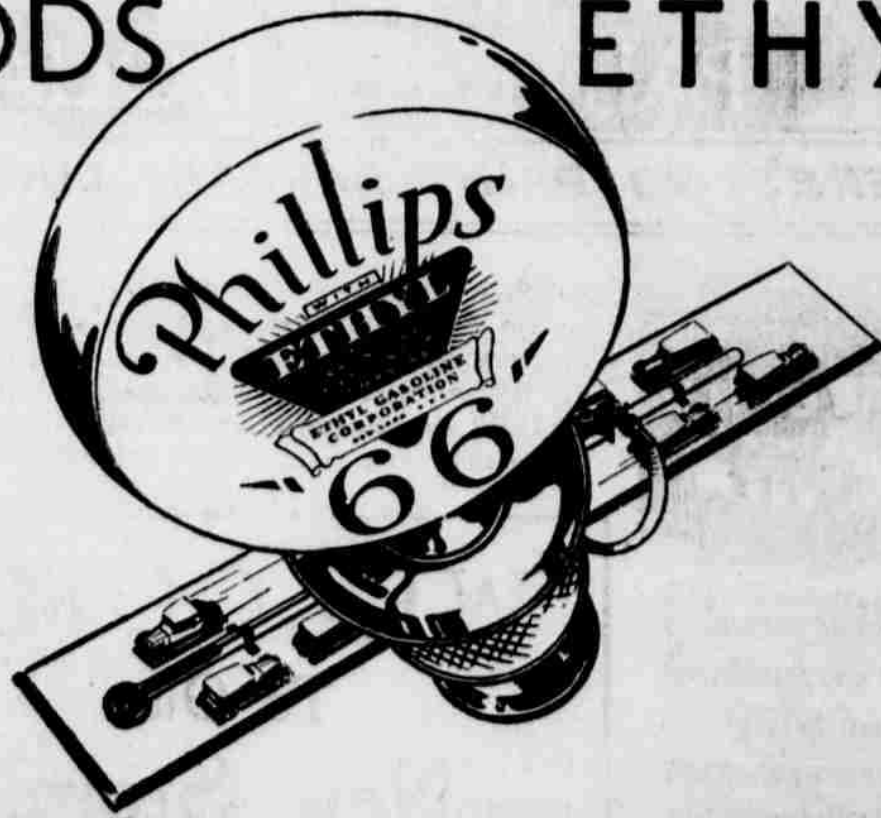

Consider the delivered price as well as the list (f. o. b.) price when comparing automobile values. . . . Oakland-Pontiac delivered prices include only authorized charges for freight and delivery and the charge for any additional accessories as shipping desired.

LITTLEFIELD NEWS VENDOR SAYS PEOPLE MAY BE JUDGED BY MAGAZINES THEY READ

If one is to believe the so-called experts, there are many ways of judging human nature. Some say that the formation of one's hand is an index to the owner's character, while the writing that flows from that hand is also one. Others would judge people by their features, still others by their walk. In fact, a recent published article now going the rounds of the press claims there are at least 40 different ways of judging the character of most people, some of them more or less markedly clear. But it remains for a Littlefield news dealer to offer another character analysis method, and one not contained in the above mentioned forty.

"I can pretty well judge a person's character," says this news vendor, "by the kind of magazines they buy. I have had so much experience in this particular line, that I can often classify the type of magazine a customer wants before he asks for it. Of course, not the particular name of that magazine, but the general classification of it," he explained.

"Furthermore, in my experience of many years selling reading matter, I have had frequent occasion to watch the change coming over people in their kind of reading matter. I used to sell lots of books, but, generally speaking, books are going out of style. People are not buying them now as they did ten years ago. It costs so much to issue a good book, and the sale of such is so much less now than it used to be, that the publishers have to demand a higher price, which in turn works against the voluminous sale of such a book. But magazines are on the increase. Aside from magazines representing every important subject, trade, vocation and pleasure, there are also a motley collection of publications that have no direct appeal to any of the finer senses of humanity, and they have wide circulation and large patronage.

Youth in invariably interested in western stories, stories of adventure, of aviation, of the sea, of love and romance. And it has been my pleasure in many instances to watch the reading development of these young people as it has grown into the purchase of magazines really worth while. Also, there are plenty of adults that read this class of literature, and oc-asionally some man or woman noted for their serious and sedate nature, seeking a little relaxation from some particular cause will venture to buy a magazine of exciting type, tho they are not habitual readers of such.

"There is a wide range of magazines of the constructive type—according to one's desires, interest and nature. Many of these magazines treating of world events, history, geography, science, political economy and the various trades are sold daily to people anxious to keep informed on the events of the day, and by some acquisitive of learning more regarding their particular vocation or avocation.

"Five and ten cent sellers are the best, generally speaking, tho during the spring and summer months there is a falling off in sales of all magazines. That is because people are out of doors more. But when winter time comes and the fires feel good, the sale of magazines always begin to increase.

"It is an old saying, 'As a man thinketh, so he is,'" said the magazine vendor, "and a man or woman's thinking is very largely influenced by the kind of reading they indulge in. Hence it is really no difficult matter to know something about a person's character by the kind of magazines they read."

RADIO AND PAPERS

There was a lot of talk a couple of years ago about the probable ill effect of radio on rural churches and weekly papers. We look on radio as a perfected instrument now, and we've had it long enough to see whether or not it is going to injure the church and the press.

Radio has not and cannot hurt the weekly newspaper because radio doesn't provide that which residents of every small town insist upon—the personal news of themselves and their neighbors. Radio provides entertainment in the form of music and lectures; the community newspaper never pretended to offer anything of that kind, and its subscribers do not pay their money for such thing in the paper. The community newspaper holds a place that cannot be usurped by either the radio or the telephone, a fact too apparent to permit of argument.

Whether or not radio has decreased rural church attendance we are hardly in position to say. We do not believe it has. In so far as Littlefield is concerned, our houses of worship appear to be as strongly fortified as ever, and without any noticeable drop in attendance. The auto has served to reduce city church attendance, but at the same time it has been the means of increasing attendance at rural churches. We do not believe radio has affected the church any more than it has weekly papers. In fact, we're living in a mighty big country, one capable of taking to new blessings as fast as they come along. The community newspaper, the auto and the radio are all blessings in their respective way. Good things like them will never want for supporters.

The age of discretion is the age at which your opinion of a rumble seat changes.

OLD BONES—NEW RATTLING

The Senate is in session again, and the tariff battle is on. You read the word "tariff" and yawn and turn to other things.

For 25 years American editors have tried to escape ever using that sleep-producing word. The tariff has been yawped to death. The old phrases and the old cries have lost their force. Protection, free trade, revenue only, infant industries, full dinner pails—the flesh creeps and the mind reels at thoughts of them. Say tariff, and you empty the page—or the auditorium.

At best the tariff is now little better than the poker game, and with little more pretense about it. The tariff seekers all play the best hand they can get, and the stake is the contents of the pockets of the American consumers. It is no dull, argumentative thing, the tariff as it is now being framed at Washington; it's a hard-hitting scramble for the cash with every interest in America taking a hand in it. As such it is just as interesting as Wall Street. Any way it is fixed the consumer will be on the short end, so why not grin and bear it?

After all it furnishes a pretty good show, even if those of us who have to pay the admission fee are forced to admit that it might be better when the price of a ticket is considered.

And another thing, some folks expect too much interest on the treasures they lay up in heaven.

BIG MERGERS

Twenty-five years ago the average Littlefield resident would have stood up and howled at the announced merger of the Standard Oil of Indiana and the Pan-American Petroleum Corporation. Today the story is different.

It appears the public is satisfied with a merger of giant institutions so long as public good is not imperiled and so long as the government stands by with a big stick ready to safeguard the public interests.

In fact, the public not only accepts the merger as entirely all right and in line with the times, but rather welcomes them. It would not have been so a quarter of a century ago, when people were talking of the big "trusts."

But, really, haven't the operations of big business changed, and isn't big business now operated on a fairer and squarer basis than a good many of the smaller concerns were in days gone by?

Ever stop to think that men now go down to sea, over the sea and under the sea in ships?

LITTLE LEADERS

Our idea of a "sissy" is the Littlefield boy who can wear a pair of shoes three weeks without having both soles hanging off.

A Littlefield girl cannot ask for a greater compliment than to have her mother brag on her, unless it is to have her father brag on her.

After a Littlefield man has partaken of a meal that his wife had prepared for a lot of women folks he is as hungry as when he started in.

Some Littlefield men are so stubborn that they probably wouldn't care to smoke if they thought the habit was beneficial.

When some Littlefield women get to heaven we suppose the first thing they'll do will be to spit on the robes to see if they are all linen.

About all a Littlefield man gets out of becoming acquainted with some people is to hear all the disagreeable things which are said about him.

Although a Littlefield boy may be as hungry as a wolf, he will cheerfully go without his dinner if there is enough going on.

A Littlefield woman's first duty is to her home, then to her hair—and then she can mix up in most anything that suits her.

Our idea of an average husband is the Littlefield man who thinks to empty the ash tray just before it starts to run over.

SOME SNAP SHOTS

You have probably noticed that most of the flyers who stay in the air for a long time are married.

There's one thing nice about being in debt—you never have to worry about what to do with money when you get it.

Anyway, Eve never picked up the Eden Daily News on Monday morning and read about Adam being injured in an auto wreck while out joy-riding with another woman.

When a man begins to kick about the rules, one can generally put him down as being licked.

If education increases the earning capacity why haven't we a few millionaire college professors? Just answer that!

The slip of a pen can cause a careless man a lot of trouble—and so can a slip of a girl.

Another reason why men would not make good housekeepers is because some of them could wash cold fried egg off of a plate without swearing a little.

"Great to Be Winner," Says Connie Mack.

"It's great to be a winner," said Connie Mack, manager, after the pennant was clinched by the Athletics of Philadelphia. "I've been a champion, but it took years of effort." When the Athletics blanked the Chicago White Sox, 5 to 0, they were assured leaders for 1929 in the American loop. The pennant victory placed Connie Mack once more in the van of American League managers.

"OPEN BOOKS"

It has often been said of a good life. It is proper to be so. Men have fought and killed other men over disputed views of existing records. Seldom do two men hold the very same view of a neighbor, a public servant, a nation beyond seas; what does it matter that the "books" are open?

My life is not an open book; neither is yours. I do not invite inspection of all my deeds by my fellows; I do not wish to pry into things not my business; and, the world is neither worse nor better, by our leaving each other's private affairs alone. There are a great many extravagant things said that would be quite well passed over in silence.

St. Louis, Mo.—Company officials explained the reason why 25 new street cars are unequipped with straps. Current short skirt styles make it inadvisable for women to lift their arms over their heads.

Use muffin pans to mould the salad portions, and save space in the ice box too.

THRIFT IS FUNDAMENTALLY A MATTER OF ONE'S ATTITUDE; CAN NOT BE COMPULSED

By S. W. STRAUS, President American Society for Thrift

Parents and teachers are today fully agreed upon the importance of teaching thrift in the school and at home. But regarding the proper method of inculcating the desire to be thrifty into the minds of children there is still much to be learned. The first thing to be remembered by parents and teachers is that thrift cannot be fostered by compulsion.

Thrift is fundamentally a matter of mental attitude.

The saving of money, the elimination of idleness, the development of efficiency are all matters which primarily must depend for their success on the state of mind of the individual. Before a child can be impressed with the value of saving money or anything else, he must have an understanding of all that thrift involves. He must have an appreciation of its benefits, also the sacrifices it sometimes involves. He must be aware of all that it means in the development of a career. He must have a concept of present economic conditions and desire thrift. He must understand the whole plan of the future.

Until such a condition is reached any effort to compel a person to follow these practices only arouse antagonism.

Moreover, the chief benefit of thrift, namely the development of discipline, will have been lost.

IS PLAYING BRIDGE GAMBLING? ONE MAN'S INTERPRETATION OF THE LAW SAYS IT'S NOT

Gambling is generally considered foolish, yet in all ages it has been a popular pastime. In some respects it is pitting one's luck against the law of averages, yet even this has a strong appeal to some folks. Men used to be the worst gamblers, and it was considered that they used betting as a means of stopping an argument. Women never wanted an argument stopped, so they never or seldom bet. But now that women have taken up betting, it is reasonable to suppose at least some of them are getting tired of argument.

A leader representative asked a local citizen the other day if he thought playing bridge was gambling. "No," was the prompt answer returned. "There is no money betting in a bridge game," it was explained. "The players primarily play for the honors of winning, and the prize which is awarded at the end of the game or games is merely given in appreciation of the skill of the superior player. Likewise, a booby prize, of inconsiderate value is frequently given the one who has shown the least skill in the game. No one would accuse any person of gambling for a 'booby prize,' which in reality is looked upon agriculture classes of the high school. At their next meeting it is their purpose to draw plans for their work for the coming year, to set up a number of objectives to be reached and jobs to be done as a club, and work out the means by which the class in agriculture may be of service to the farmer of the community.

Good project work will be done this year, if the boys carry out what they have planned. Twenty boys are taking a total of 135 acres of hogari, seven are taking 45 acres of milo, one will have 5 acres of kafir, eight will have a total of 65 acres of cotton, three have a total of seven baby heaves, seven are taking nine brood sows, one boy will have turkeys, and one a Jersey heifer. All these projects will be planned in detail and accurate records will be kept on them. Beside the projects just named minor projects totaling 16 brood sows, 4 dairy cows, 135 acres of grain sorghums, 53 acres of cotton, growing market hogs, capons, turkeys, sheep, peanuts, home gardens, and chinchilla rabbits are being planned. In addition, such jobs as pruning, spraying and setting out orchards; constructing feeding troughs, chicken houses, hog houses, gates and other equipment; worming, vaccinating, and caponizing poultry; keeping records on dairy cows and poultry, will be done.

It is the aim of the agriculture teacher to train judging teams for the vocational contests at Plainview, Lubbock, and A & M College.

more in the light of a disgrace that the recipient can play no better. In some bridge clubs a person receiving three 'booby' prizes in succession is suspended from participating in future games and meetings for a stated period of time, on the presumption that during the interim they will increase their skill through practice of the game."

On the subject of gambling or gaming the law of Texas says, in part: "Whoever shall play or bet or wager any money or other thing of value, at any game of cards at any place not a private residence occupied by a family, shall be fined not exceeding $50.00."

The same law would apply to the strenuous game of dominoes. However, in both games this exception is made:

"The above quoted shall not apply in case such residence is one commonly resorted to for the purpose of gaming, nor where a game is a banking game."

In connection with this, some may be surprised to learn there is a penalty of not less than $100.00 nor more than $1,000.00 imposed upon the conviction of anyone participating in the raffling of property, personal or real, in excess of $500.00 valuation. There is also a fine of not less than $6.00 nor more than $200.00 imposed upon the same offense where the raffle value is $500.00 or less. And it makes no difference, says the statute, whether the raffle be for religious, benevolent or profane purposes.

The law further states: "Whoever shall offer for sale or keep for sale any chance ticket or part ticket, in any raffle of any estate, real or personal of any value whatever, shall be fined not less than $10.00 nor more than $50.00." This law would apply to individuals or business concerns operating punch boards, etc.

Just how the gaming laws of Texas will apply to games held in residences is sometimes a much mooted question. Some lawyers claim it is no violation of the law for a friendly poker game to be held in one's residence, provided the family resided there at the time, and provided further that no banking game was operated and that particular home was not habitually used for poker games.

It would also appear that the playing of bridge, for prizes, is not included in the statutes, as the losers do not lose anything of value and the winners are merely the recipients of prizes awarded as a secondary matter because of the skill of the player, just as a person saves trading stamps and exchanges them for some article of value, which would, strictly speaking, be a gift of merit to a certain customer because of his patronage of a certain store or group of stores.

Most law-abiding citizens agree that the laws regarding raffling, lottery and gambling should be rigidly enforced, tho there are some who would, of course, like to make an exception in the things they are particularly interested. That seems to be a part of some folks' human nature, whether it is right or wrong. The enforcement of these laws would sometimes make it embarrassing for lodges, churches, fairs and other organizations using these methods for raising funds. But should such be an exception?

The laws of the State of Texas say not—and if the peace officers of any given jurisdiction enforce these laws and parties guilty are caught, upon presentation of due evidence, there is nothing to do but pay and weep.

After a warm bath, or after a cool, refreshing shower, bath powder applied generously with the big, soft puffs which come in the large, open-mouthed boxes will add immeasurably to your sense of personal comfort and daintiness. And to your security, as well, for most of these bath talcums have deodorizing properties that effectively neutralize the odors of perspiration.

In choosing your powder be sure to get one dark enough—it should be at least as dark as your skin, and to be fashionable, one or two shades darker. A powder with a cream base, specially created to "stay put" is much to be preferred in warmweather. Such a powder, in addition to being an attractive and convenient cosmetic, actually provides a certain desirable amount of protection for your skin against detrimental, weathering effects.

Pink Oysters Taste Just as Good And Are Just As Wholesome As the Blue or Grey Kind, Says a Local Dealer in Them

Oysters are good to eat during any month of the year that has the letter "r" in its spelling, according to an old adage, yet occasionally in the early part of this eating season a pink oyster will show up in the general quantity.

Most people have been afraid of these "pinkies," as they are commonly called, and promptly threw them out of the bunch. They had been told they were poisonous, and perhaps their fears were well founded, for there was for a long time that oyster dealers were of the same opinion, sometimes destroying entire consignments of these peculiarly colored bivalves.

J. C. Houk, local marketman, however, has been making some extensive investigations regarding the pink oyster, and declares they are just as wholesome as the blue or grey variety. His opinion, he declares, is backed up by scientific investigation and proof.

"For the past 10 years the Department of Agriculture has been investigating the pink oyster," said Mr. Houk. "At first these scientists thought this peculiar blush was caused by the presence of some particular yeast; but later found it was not. Then it was suggested that the pink might be caused by some kind of red plants the oyster was consuming; but an exhaustive investigation proved this theory untrue. Then the oyster's liver was dissected, and by use of certain chemicals the particular pinkish crystals were isolated, and when classified, proved to be bilirubin, a coloring substance which is absolutely harmless."

"So," said Mr. Houk, "if you happen to get a pink oyster in your batch just go ahead and eat it, for it has just as good flavor and is as nutritious as an oyster of any color."

Memphis' newest $20,000 building is being erected by T. T. Tarrison on the lot east of the Pounds Hotel and will be the future home of Kuhn Motor Company. The building will be 50 by 140 feet and will have a large show room in front. Three offices, a large rest room, and storage space is included.

MANY FREE EVENTS ON BILL OF SOUTH PLAINS EXHIBITS

Lubbock, Texas, Sept. 24.—"The people of the Plains will find that their 50 cents will go farther in buying entertainment at the fair this fall than it ever has before," Byron C. Dickinson, president of the South Plains Fair says, in commenting on the fair that will be held this fall, Sept. 30 to Oct. 5.

"Fifty cents will take you to everything on the grounds with the exception of the carnival shows," Dickinson says. "And the word, 'everything' applies to a free football game each afternoon, six vaudeville and circus acts twice daily, fire works each night, and many other forms of special entertainment as well as to all the exhibits in the agricultural building, the industrial building, the machinery building, the live stock barns, the poultry building, the women building and other exhibits over the grounds."

Many improvements this year are expected to attract a big number of new people to the fair to smash the 1928 record attendance of over 120,000 people.

County agricultural exhibits are expected from every South Plains County. First prize in this class is $200 and other prizes in proportion. Premiums on live stock, poultry, articles in the Women's department and other prizes are in line with prizes and premiums of leading fairs of the Southwest.

"We're offering the people of West Texas a real fair for a total cost of fifty cents and we are expecting a big attendance," Dickinson says.

Twelve of the best high school football teams in the South Plains section, action as further free attractions, including Littlefield, will be seen in

LITTLEFIELD FARMERS WALKING 25 MILES A DAY SET EXAMPLE FOR FOLKS OF THIS SECTION WHO DESIRE HEALTH

Pity the poor farmer! Who said he wasn't worthy of commiseration? In his daily rounds of making a living for himself and family, he walks three times as far as a beautiful young lady trips the light fantastic in the evening dance hall and doesn't get half the "kick" out of it the feminine beauty does.

The writer of this article has discovered statistics recently put out by the National Association of Chiropractors and Pediatricists says that the average chorus girl trips an average of seven and seven-eighths miles per day, while the average farmer travels about 25 and one-half miles in his daily walks to make a living. Consulting with several farmers around Littlefield it is found that some of them declare they walk farther than that in he average day, especially when following a plow.

A housekeeper, without leaving the home, walks every year a distance equal to that from Boston to San Francisco. And every three or four weeks a business man walks farther than from Boston to New York, just in his business and not including outside activities.

But after all this walking is nothing to worry about, for walking makes one healthy, and most Littlefield folks are decidedly healthy, "distressingly so," as one local physician recently put it.

YOUNG MEN AND WOMEN WHO THINK CLEARLY THE GREATEST DEMAND OF AMERICAN BUSINESS

Bankers Association President Gives the Five Essentials of Sound Thinking in Business—Greater Opportunity Than Ever Before for Young People With Educational Training and Power to Analyze Problems.

By CRAIG B. HAZLEWOOD
President American Bankers Association

ONLY half a century ago Michael Pupin, a shepherd boy, guarded his flocks by night among the fields of Serbia. Thieves often lurked in the bordering cornfields awaiting an opportunity to make off with a part of the herd. Serbian boys were taught a method of signalling one another for warning and help. Each carried a knife with a long wooden handle which he would thrust deep into the ground and in case cattle thieves approached he would strike the wooden handle. The sound would be transmitted through the ground to other boys some distance away who could hear and interpret the message.

"Why is it," Pupin asked his mother, "that we can signal this way? Why is it the sound can be heard through the ground, but not through the air? Why is it the signals can be heard in the pasture land so much better than in the plowed fields?" The boy's mother could not answer his questions, nor could the village teacher. However, having an eager mind and great determination, the boy decided to go to America, where he might win an education and find out the answers to these and other perplexing questions. Hundreds of other boys under the same circumstances and with the same set of conditions merely accepted these things without once questioning them, but because they had always done that way.

The Land of Education and Success
So a penniless immigrant boy from Serbia at the age of fifteen landed in New York in 1874 and, years later, having worked his way through Columbia University, concentrated the wonder and simplicity of his mind upon the problem of sound, which had puzzled him as a shepherd boy. The results of his thinking—what he has accomplished for the long distance telephone and for radio communication by his inventions—are known to the world ever. "If during the past twenty-two years this company had been compelled to do without one invention of Michael Pupin," an official of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company once said, "and yet give the same service it is giving today it would have had to spend at least $100,000,000 more than it has expended."

These inventions, in which millions of dollars of capital have been invested, were the result of the thinking of a mere country lad who had the simplicity to wonder, the determination to know and the power to apply what he learned.

Stimulating the imagination and thinking is the greatest purpose of education. What American business needs more than anything else is young men and women to think—individuals who are not mentally anchored to tradition, who do not merely appropriate other people's ideas, but who see hard, purposeful thinkers, independent and unprejudiced, with the ability to concentrate and strike straight for the heart of a problem.

Business Needs Folk Who Think
America has astounded the world by its readiness in casting aside traditional viewpoints, disregarding traditional difficulties and pioneering new shortcut formulas in the realm of business. Business is undergoing epochal changes.

Business problems are crowding in upon us so rapidly that the executive knows not where to look for adequate help or relief. With the enormous increase in size and intricacy of business affairs the problems have become so complicated and the mass of information necessary to their solution so great that the "days are not long enough." The demand for managerial and executive ability is rushing ahead—the opportunity for young men and women who have the professional training and who develop genuine thinking power is greater than ever.

All business feels the same crying need for the men who see clearly and think conclusively. Wherever we look—manufacturing, wholesaling, retailing, banking, financing—new forces are at work. Vast movements are under way and executives are seeking light upon perplexing problems daily.

Let us consider briefly the five essentials of a sound thinker. If I were looking for a young man of exceptional promise I should hope, first, to find in him the simplicity to wonder. Every great advancement in business has been made by men who dared to wonder, who had the courage to inquire into present procedure and who had the audacity to ask whether something that had been done a certain way for a long time might not be wrong. Although the history of America's progress from its very discovery to the present time has shown the value of an inquiring mind, there is still an inevitable tendency in most men to accept in a docile manner the opinions, methods, supposed facts, procedures and processes of the past. With due reverence to the effort, the spirit, the accomplishments of the past, let us make it our rule that everything be looked at with the clear, questioning mind of the scientist.
