

ALERT OFFICERS NAB PROWLER

Officers and farmers followed a winding, mysterious trail Wednesday morning that led to the arrest of a 39-year-old Mexican National laborer for window-peeking.

Charged with window-peeking and fined $200 and costs in justice court late Wednesday after a day-long grilling by Sheriff Dick Dyer, Border Patrol representatives and Texas Rangers was Luis Hernandez, Hernandez, employed by Far-nor Floyd Rogers for the past two weeks as a laborer, was arrested Wednesday morning about 10 o'clock by Deputy Elson McNeese and later admitted in justice court that tracks found around windows at three homes northeast of Littlefield were his.

Hernandez' fine was suspended in justice court on the understanding that he would never again return to the United States. He was fingerprinted and his prints will be on file in Washington in case he tries to return.

Border patrol representatives immediately began the process of taking him back to Mexico after the judge made the decision.

The story Hernandez admitted in questioning Wednesday linked him with prowling escapades around the Eli Young, L. J. Robinson, and Joe Sullivan farms. All three of the farms are about 10 miles north and two miles east of Littlefield.

His confession did not link him with any of about ten other prowling reports heard in the past two weeks. However, the laborer had worked some two months for Ed Elliott, who farms three miles east of Littlefield on the Lubbock Highway. First reports of prowling had come from that area.

The work of four farmers led to the arrest of Hernandez Wednesday. Joe Sullivan spotted the man Tuesday night in back of his farm home, but the prowler disappeared before Sullivan could stop him. Sullivan reportedly looked for parked cars, but did not find any.

Sullivan, Young, Rogers and Robinson started looking for tracks early Wednesday morning. (Continued on Page 7)

Football Wars Open For Six Area Teams of Lamb County football will be heard from one county to the other tonight as six area teams begin the 1956 grid seasons.

Olton, Springlake, Amherst and Bula make up a card that promises a game and a bucket of mud.

Many consider the top of the night around Lamb County to be the football game. The Horns are out to better their record in 1955 and will do so with Springlake in District 2-A title.

The other three area teams that see action Friday night take to the road. Whitharral travels to Loreto and will be banking on the Theford brothers, Norman and Billy, to lug the leather.

Amherst, which along with Whitharral will be competing in District 2-B, goes to Wilson for a non-district tiff. Coach Lamar Kelley has six seniors back to carry the load.

Six-man Bula, regional champ last year, may have its hardest game of the year right off the bat. The Bulldogs journey to Paint Creek, reported to be the strongest six-man aggregation in the area this year.

Littlefield, Anton and Six-Man Spade wait until Sept. 14 to open their seasons. Coach Gene Mayfield's Wildcats go to Plainview for their first game.

The trip covered all area towns before it broke up Wednesday afternoon.

11th Annual Event To Run Three Days

Three days of rip-roarin' rodeo take the spotlight in Littlefield starting today at 5 p. m.

It's time again for the annual Jaycee Rodeo and large crowds are expected for the 11th annual affair. Six big events promise to provide thrills and spills as the best cowboys on the South Plains vie for $1000 plus half of all the entry fees in cash prizes.

The Grand Entry tonight at 8 o'clock at the rodeo arena here will get riding and roping officially underway. Scheduled at 9 o'clock after each night's rodeo performance is a rodeo dance at the Fair Barn, with music furnished by Johnny Morton and his Midnight Dusters.

Featured rodeo events are bareback riding, saddle bronc riding, bull riding, calf roping, bull dogging and the ladies' barrel race. A prize of $200 plus one half of the entry fees will be riding on the outcome in each of the first four events. The bull-dogging award is $125 and the prize for the ladies' barrel race is $75.

Performances begin at 8 o'clock tonight, Friday and Saturday nights and tickets will be sold at the gate only. Tickets are $1.50 for adults and 50 cents for children.

Entries for rodeo events will be taken through 10 a. m. today, and Jaycees said they were expecting heavy participation.

The rodeo producer is C. E. Wood of Clovis, N. M. Wood has arranged for trick riders, according to Jaycee leaders. Also adding spice to the show will be colorful clowns.

The three-day rodeo will open this afternoon at 5 o'clock with a full-fledged parade, complete with floats, bands, a pet parade and sheriff's posse. The parade will form behind the county courthouse and wind down Phelps Avenue to the depot lot.

Three bands have already accepted invitations to join the parade—Brownfield High, Olton High and the Littlefield High. Parade Chairman Donald Hull said Tuesday that more were expected by parade time today. Some 15 sheriff's posses and 12 bands were invited.

Bands entering the parade will receive plaques and sheriff's posse riders will be served free barbecue immediately after the parade. Trophies will be awarded the three best riding groups.

One of the parade's features will be the pet parade, with children 10 years of age and younger eligible to enter themselves and a pet of their choice. Each child entering the parade will receive a free pass to one night's performance of the rodeo.

Parade Chairman Hull said that float entries would be taken up through 10 a. m. today. He stressed Tuesday that more floats and children were needed. Information can be obtained by calling Chamber of Commerce Manager Jess Everett at (Continued On Page 7)

Sandhills Water Placed On Market

County Voters Wash Local Control Idea

Lamb County voters flatly turned down a proposed water control improvement district Monday, but they may have themselves wide open for a fight at their pocketbook.

That was the thinking of state man V. T. Tanner of Springlake, who said Tuesday that voters in Lamb County are up for sale to whoever comes along and happens to have the money.

Tanner said he had received information on the rights during the week, but related that similar offers had been made before.

Tanner was a key figure in the fight to establish a water control improvement district in Lamb County, but voters decided that it wasn't needed Saturday. It appeared that citizens interested at all as a feather turnout voted the proposal down, 538-245.

The vote reflected the idea that voters didn't think Tanner and his supporters were right at all as 10 of 12 boxes in the county voted against the creation of the district. The district had been created by a vote of the board of directors later to purchase water rights on 24,000 sandhills acres in Lamb County in exchange for Lubbock's purchase of County rights and the other municipalities to move into this county.

The idea put forward by Tanner that Lamb citizen's books might be affected was based on his assertion that loss of the water surrounding big cities inevitably hurt agricultural irrigation here. It was to be seen, however, that no one will buy the

Saunders Succeeds Tanner Mayor, Town Secretary Resign Springlake Posts

Springlake Mayor V. T. Tanner and the town's secretary, A. A. Parrish, resigned their positions in a sudden move Monday.

The action came in an alderman meeting and the town immediately named Hershel Saunders as Mayor and Ashley Davis as town secretary to replace the two Springlake real estate men.

Saunders, who had been an alderman, and other Springlake town officials appointed Bill Burrow to fill an alderman vacancy created by Monday's action.

Asked in a phone conversation why he resigned, Tanner said he had no statement to make. He said he would devote his full time to his real estate business and that he had no plans to leave Springlake.

Another Case Of Encephalitis Diagnosed Here

A fourth case of encephalitis was diagnosed at Littlefield Hospital this week when J. M. Simmons of Anton was admitted.

Simmons was listed as in poor condition by hospital attendants.

Another encephalitis victim, Otto Fain, of Littlefield, was released this week to his home after steady improvement.

Mrs. Vie Bullman of Littlefield was described as "doing better" by attendants. The first victim here, Mrs. Bertha Smyth, died after an eight-day illness.

Meanwhile, the city continued to fight mosquitoes, one variety of which is believed to carry the disease. The high-velocity sprayer borrowed from Lubbock was used Sunday night, and the city and surrounding area were covered effectively in less than three hours.

JOHN NAIL has accepted the job of local fund raising drive chairman for Girl Scouts. The drive will get underway October 14 and continue through the 21st. Nail, who owns and operates a local photograph studio, has one daughter, Susan, a member of the Girl Scouts.

Hereford and Dumas are District 1-AAA foes, and Dumas is listed as one of the favorites for the championship.

WILDCAT LINEMEN BUCK the blocking machine in drills this week as preparations for the 1956 season gained full steam. Coach Gene Mayfield, out to improve on the Wildcats 5-5 record last year, divided the squad into "A" and "B" teams this week. He plans to carry 26 boys on the A team and about 15 on the B squad. Littlefield opens its season Sept. 14 at Plainview.

lies, and brush patches are examples of some of these odd areas. Quail will move into these areas if conditions are favorable.

The food requirements of quail are quite simple. Many kinds of seeds and insects suit him very well. In the springtime he adds a little green vegetation to his diet. A good water supply near his home is desirable but not essential. He can get enough water from rain, dew, and the moisture present in vegetation and insects.

An excellent plant for this area which furnishes both food and cover is the Russian-olive. This is a spreading, shrubby tree with silvery-gray leaves, which usually grows to a height of 15 to 25 feet. Russian-olive produces a heavy crop of whitish or silvery fruit about the size of navy beans which is well-liked by birds. Where planted with close spacing, or growing wild in a dense stand it forms a thicket that man can enter only with difficulty by crawling on his hands and knees. This suits the quail just fine for he has room to walk about on the ground but the thick cover protects him from predators and the weather.

Russian-olive thrives under a wide range of soil types and moisture conditions. Being deep-rooted, it does not adversely effect crops planted next to it. Russian-olive can be grown from seed, or plants not over a year old can be transplanted. Where extra water is available, the plants should be spaced four to six feet apart. On dryland, the spacing should be ten to twelve feet.

Some form of cultivation to control weeds for the first two or three years is essential for dryland plantings and desirable for irrigated plantings. After the tree has become established, it will shade out most of the weeds. To be of maximum effectiveness, the stand should be protected from grazing. Russian-olive will provide good cover for doves and songbirds as well as quail.

U. S. Dept. of Agriculture leaflet No. 292, entitled "Russian-olive for Wildlife and Good Land Use" gives more detailed information on the culture of this valuable plant. It can be obtained without cost by writing to the Office of Information, USDA, Washington 25, D. C.

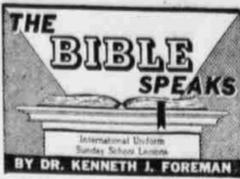

If other kinds of trees are growing on your farm now, they can be made to provide good quail cover. Bending over several of the branches until they touch the ground will help provide the low cover the birds like. Another kind of supplemental shelter can be provided by stacking brush upon a platform made of posts. This platform should be six or seven feet square and supported above the ground about fourteen inches at the south end and six inches at the north end.

The tent or wigwam shelter is considered superior to the platform shelter. This is formed by stacking trees and brush in the shape of an Indian wigwam. These branches may be stacked around a tree or post. The center of the tent should be left open so the quail can walk around easily underneath.

Fair quail cover can be provided merely by stacking dead trees, tree branches, and brush in a grassy corner of the field. It is important to protect all wildlife from fire, heavy grazing, and clean tilled cultivation.

An excellent handbook giving the principles of quail management is "Quail Management for East Texas," by Daniel W. Lay. Although written for East Texas plants, the principles of management can be applied to good advantage in this area as well. This publication can be obtained from the Texas Game and Fish Commission, Austin, Texas.

Having quail on your farm can provide you with a delicious and thrilling sport during the winter months.

Why Men Fight

Lesson for September 9, 1936

IF SOME angel who had never heard of this earth, or some man from outer space living on some planet never invaded by sin, should get acquainted with the human race for the first time, probably the thing that would astonish them most would be the human hankering for a fight. Here we are, clinging to the surface of a tiny planet, with every reason to hang together; and yet to us who are born here and live here, fights are so common they seem quite natural. People quarrel at home, they get into arguments on the street, congressmen have to be restrained from fist-fights, business men are always at one another's throats, labor and management are on opposite sides, and there is even talk about the "battle of the sexes." As for nations, a man the other day refused flatly to pay a cent of income tax, on the ground that he did not believe in war and he knew that most of his tax would be spent for war, past or prospective. Nobody wants the next war, but who really thinks it will not come?

Dr. Foreman

When adversity comes, such as hail, and it is too late to replant cotton, most farmers of today attempt to turn a loss into a gain by planting some other crop or crops which they believe will produce within the growing and harvesting season remaining.

Hail Area Replanted

One of those hails which sometimes come after it is too late to replant, particularly in cotton, hit an area of approximately nine square miles west of Littlefield, with the central point. The hail came on July 19, and within four days many of the farmers were replanting to various crops.

The Tongue Is a Fire

Why do men fight? Let us admit that there may be times when it is good to give battle. There have been evils, and there still are evils, which are not going to fold up and go away without a fight. But all the same, everybody with sense admits that a vast amount of the fighting we do, whether in our homes or in politics or business or in the mighty struggles between nations, simply gets nobody anywhere. Most fights are a sheer waste of energy no matter who wins; and many fights (like our present and future wars) are such that nobody wins. What starts all this mess? One reason is, people talk too much. James, the salty saint who wrote the letter in the

Wanting Too Much

Plain-spoken Admiral Sims once told a feminine audience in Boston that they were the chief cause of war. You have no limits to your wants, he said. Your husbands have to keep working harder to satisfy you, manufacturers have to keep looking farther and farther for the raw materials to make the things you want, and presently we get into quarrels with other nations that either want the same things or don't want us to have them; and then you have the makings of a war. Admiral Sims might have been reading the letter of James. Wanting what we don't have, wanting what we actually don't need, he says is a major reason for quarrels and fights among men. Even among Christians, because he is writing to Christians. Was the Admiral right? The reader who feels like arguing with him will have to argue with the writer James no less.

Cure for Quarrels

James no doubt knew as well as the Apostle Paul did that it is not always possible to live at peace with all men. But it is possible to cut down the quarrels. The secret is to see things as God sees them. Let no one say this is impossible. We not only can, but if we are to survive we must have what James calls "wisdom from above." What he means is nothing weird, out-of-this-world, impractical. "The wisdom from above is first pure, then peaceable, forbearing, conciliatory, full of mercy and wholesome fruit, unambiguous, straightforward." (Moffatt's translation.) If Christians would begin by setting the example, both in our homes and in our nations, of clamping down on our quarrelsome tongues and typewriters, and living by God's wisdom, the reign of peace would be at least much nearer.

Good Rain Seriously Needed

Some Production Is Seen For Replanted Hail Area

By MORLEY B. DRAKE

Lamb county farmers appear to be studying and experimenting as to the possibilities of their land more than at any other time in the history of this county. They want to find out how many crops can be produced in a growing season, what crops to plant, what seed is best, what moisture is necessary, and all the other pertinent facts related to successful agriculture.

Cotton and feed continue to be the leading money crops, and likely will be for many years, but a greater variety of crops are being produced with varying degrees of success and failure.

Farming Is Changing

There has been a tremendous change in farming in the past 10 years and leading authorities predict even greater changes in the next decade, particularly as to methods. One notable development of the future, we are told, will be greater conservation of water. Water is vital, both irrigation water and rainfall, and the thought for the future is that not a drop should be wasted.

When adversity comes, such as hail, and it is too late to replant cotton, most farmers of today attempt to turn a loss into a gain by planting some other crop or crops which they believe will produce within the growing and harvesting season remaining.

Hail Area Replanted

One of those hails which sometimes come after it is too late to replant, particularly in cotton, hit an area of approximately nine square miles west of Littlefield, with the central point. The hail came on July 19, and within four days many of the farmers were replanting to various crops.

Putting between 5,500 and 6,000 acres in the hail area to new use was not a small chore, and it was not all replaced. A little of the cotton and feed in the hail area was not plowed under and may make something. That portion which was not replanted is being cultivated so that the land will be in better condition for planting in another year. Some cotton which is not expected to be worth picking is being cultivated as a protection against blowing.

The hail caused an immense loss in cotton production. Approximately 2,500 acres of cotton was destroyed and 500 acres was damaged.

Some of the irrigated farms in the hail area may have made a better recovery than in the dry land portion.

"Half my feed was beaten down, but it came out, headed, and will make grain," said F. H. Bussanmas who has irrigation.

Little Rain Recently

There has been very little rain since the land was replanted after the big hail, but some of the new crops have been surprisingly green. But the past two weeks of hot dry weather has taken a heavy toll. The outlook is not promising for the various crops planted following the destroying of cotton and feed by the hail.

Some of the land on which cotton had been planted and hailed out, has been put in the Soil Bank.

Blackeyed peas was the chief crop substituted for hailed out acreage.

Plants Norgum Maize Wayne Carlisle, who lost more than 275 acres of cotton, planted blackeyed peas, Idaho pinto beans, and Norgum maize.

Ivan Ogerly, who lost more than 60 acres of cotton and some feed, has planted some acreage in Munc beans, and they are reported to be doing well. Munc beans are used in the preparation of Chinese foods.

Carlisle explained that Norgum maize is a quick maturing grain and is especially adapted to short seasons. It has done very well, but like the other crops, a good rain would do a lot for it. Norgum maize is supposed to develop and mature in 75 days under proper moisture conditions.

While farmers in the July 19 hail area do not paint a rosy picture concerning their crops on the replanted acreage, but they hope to achieve some production. Day by day they cast their eyes skyward for signs of rain, at the same time hoping that there will not be an early frost.

Couple Exchanges Vows In Refugio Ceremony

REFUGIO—Miss Dorothy Adele Simpson and Alan Doyle Turner exchanged wedding vows Saturday evening.

The double ring ceremony took place beneath a small work arch in a setting of white gladioli and candelabra at the First Baptist Church, Refugio, with the Rev. Troy Sumrall officiating.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Simpson of Refugio and Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Turner of Muleshoe.

Mr. Simpson gave his daughter in marriage. She wore an imported hand-clipped chantilly type lace and tulle dress. It was fashioned with a lace bodice with a bateau neckline edged with natural petal scallops of the lace and short sleeves which were worn with long fitted tulle gloves. The elegant bodice was belted and set onto a very full skirt of crystal pleated tulle with an over skirt of the lace and swept into a short train.

Her circular tiered veil of bridal illusion fell from a Queen's Crown of Tina Organza petals and was encrusted with sequins. She carried a bouquet of feathered white carnations centered with a white orchid.

Miss Doty Weaver of Radford, Virginia, was maid of honor with Miss Dolore Gillette of Corpus Christi, Miss Rita Turner of Muleshoe, sister of the groom and Miss Sandra Moss as bridesmaids. They wore ballerina length tulle dresses in royal blue. They were styled with short sleeves and rounded necklines accented with a bow in the back. They wore matching hats with circular short veils of tulle. They carried a cascade bouquet of yellow streamers, tied with tulle and streamers. Harold Jones of Moody was best man. Groomsmen were Doyle and Boyce Turner of Muleshoe, twin brothers of the groom. Glenn Watkins of Muleshoe, Ushers were Marvin Gasky of Muleshoe and Glen Ivy of Lazbuddie.

Bill Wheelless of Pasadena sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "The Wedding Prayer" accompanied at the organ by Miss Paty Sumrall.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the fellowship hall where a theme of blue and white was carried out. The bride's table was laid with cloth of ice blue under a white organza ruffled skirt. It was centered with a crystal bowl holding white mums and lily of the valley. On either side were crystal candle holders with lighted tapers. The four tiered wedding cake was decorated with wedding bells garlanded with blue and white flowers. The guest book table held a memory candle and a box of large white mums. Greenery and baskets of white gladioli provided the background for the receiving line.

After a short wedding breakfast the couple will be at home at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Simpson, at Refugio, Texas, on Sunday, Sept. 10, at 10 o'clock. The groom is a senior at the University.

Work Continues Toward Area G. S. Council

A Girl Scout Council which will serve nine South Plains counties becomes more nearly a reality daily as volunteer workers from these counties continue working in committees to set up the mechanics of the proposed council. The work of all committees is aimed at January 1, 1957, when it is planned that the organization will have been completed and the new council will be in operation.

Under the capable direction of Miss Virginia Burgess, professional Girl Scout Executive from the Dallas Regional Office, the committees have been working throughout the summer. The next general meeting will be held October 2, at which time the plans which are being made by the functioning committees will be studied and approved.

Plans are being made to give some help in September to towns which will be a part of this new council. Although the council will not be organized until January 1, all assistance possible will be given during the fall months in order that the towns will be better prepared to meet their responsibilities and better trained to be a part of the organization which will serve them in the future.

The organization of this council

Jr. High P.T.A. Group Adds Sr. High, Hold Night Meets

The Littlefield parent-teacher organization in the upper grades has undergone a complete change of form for the year 1956-57. The Junior High P.T.A. is now the Junior-Senior High P.T.A. and something new has been added to what was once established as a stronghold of mothers and teachers. The new element is fathers. Fathers have always been welcome in P.T.A. but their attendance until now has been limited in number due to the fact that meetings were held in the afternoon. Fathers have many times demonstrated their interest in the schools. Most evident is their interest in the work of their own particular children. All meetings planned with this purpose have been successful.

The regular meeting place of the Junior-Senior High P.T.A., unless otherwise advertised, will be the High School Auditorium. The regular meeting time will be the first Monday of each month at seven-thirty in the evening.

The office of president will be held by Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Webb; vice president, Mr. and Mrs. Skipper Smith; secretary, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith and treasurer, Mr. and Mrs. John Harmon.

Parents To Learn of Student Activities

"Let the two schools take this first year's programs to orientate the parents in the work of the students in school," Ralph Schilling, Superintendent of Littlefield Public Schools, made this suggestion early in P.T.A. discussion of plans for the new P.T.A. unit. Student activities will be brought to the attention of parents by demonstration, by discussion, by student participation in programs, by addresses and by questions and answer periods.

The Program Committee, composed of Mrs. Ralph Matur, chairman, Mrs. L. E. Sullins, Mrs. Alvin Webb, and Messrs. Schilling, Glenn Reeves and Forrest Martin, has announced the following program for the coming year:

Monday, September 24 — Back-to-School Night, directed by Forrest Martin in Junior High School, and by Glenn Reeves in Senior High School.

Monday, November 5 — Teacher Retirement by Ralph Schilling, and Your Physical Education Department, by Gene Mayfield, Head Coach.

Return Match Losers Will Burn Trunks

Bob Geigel and Gary Guerrero, their heads bloody but unbowed, will get another chance at the team of Hans Schnabel and Lou "Shoulders" Newman at this Saturday Night's Littlefield Sport Arena wrestling matches. The match will be a two out of three fall battle with no time limit.

The "G" boys were to put it mildly, astonished and outraged at the outcome of last week's main event in which they lost in two falls to Schnabel and Newman. And well might they have a right to be a bit peeved, for as things turned out Geigel and Guerrero won the only legitimate fall in the match.

It all came about this way. Guerrero finished off the first fall by pinning Newman to put the Geigel-Guerrero team ahead. Then as the team squared off in the second fall Schnabel and Newman began to take the offensive and with the aid of a bottle-opener hidden in their trunks brought the blood flowing from slashing gashes across the forehead and cheeks of both Geigel and Guerrero. The "G" boys, outraged at the dirty tactics began a strong comeback and had Schnabel and Newman going their way when referee Babe Zaharias stepped in, inspected the wounds on both Geigel and Guerrero, and promptly stopped the match saying that both should not continue because of loss of blood and the possibility of further injury.

Geigel and Guerrero were dumbfounded by the decision. Both readily admitted they had lost a lot of blood but quickly added that the same had happened many times in their careers without a match being stopped. Guerrero insisted that any man would bleed easily from forehead cuts no matter how deep the gashes were. Both insisted they were in good condition to finish the battle.

Promoter John Usery announced that he is holding up the purses from last week's matches pending a discussion with F. L. Newton, local commissioner who was out of town last Saturday. In the meantime he has announced the signing of the four in a rematch with no time limit, the winners to take the full purse. However, all four may still get their shares of last week's purse if Newton gives the go-ahead. It is possible though that Newton may order last week's purses held over to be added to this week's match.

Promoter Usery put his foot in the door this week with the state wrestling commission to get one of the top referees anywhere in the nation. Upon hearing of the circumstances of last week's matches the state commission OK'ed Usery's bid to get Ray "Big Train" Clements as the arbitrator of this week's battle. Clements is without an equal in the southwest as the top official in the state.

In preliminary matches Guerrero will meet Newman in a 20-minute or one fall battle and Geigel and Schnabel will pair off in another such contest. Last week Geigel and Newman wrestled to a draw in the opener and Schnabel and Guerrero also went the full 20 minutes in similar warm-up matches.

The matches start at 8:45 at the Littlefield Sports Arena on the Clovis highway. Admission prices are 50 cents for children, $1 general admission and $1.50 for ring-side or reserved seats.

Sometimes you see newspaper stories telling how various courts have issued "injunctions" to protect the owner of a patent from infringement, to stop someone from putting up a building which would be a hazard to the neighbors, or to prevent some other type of activity which might harm one or more persons. Occasionally you read where a "writ of mandamus" has been directed against some public official. This column will briefly explain both of these extraordinary legal remedies.

The injunction got its name because in the old days the English king commanded "enjoin" special action when an ordinary court action could not solve a problem at hand. Today it is an order requiring a person (or corporation) to refrain from doing a particular act.

As a rule, one would first get a "Temporary Restraining Order" which would stop someone from doing something harmful—like polluting a stream or annoying the peace of your home. By granting it the judge preserves the status quo until a hearing has been held to hear both sides of the controversy. Usually, if you want an injunction, your lawyer will take sworn statements into court to show that your grievance is one which could be taken care of only by an injunction.

Often you must put up a bond to make up for any damage you do the other side if the court doesn't see things your way.

After you've made your request, the court arranges to hear the other side. They must "show cause" why the injunction should not be issued. Because most injunctions deal with immediate problems, the court hears the merits of such a case in a very short time.

After the temporary injunction is issued, a "permanent" injunction may be obtained or either party may start a lawsuit to set the problems which the temporary injunction has cleared up for the moment.

If the court grants an injunction, it must be served on the defendant to be effective. Then if he disobeys the order, he is disobeying the court and is subject to a fine or a jail term for "contempt of court".

"Mandamus" is a special remedy used to right wrongs or enforce proper action by a public officer.

When we elect public officers to work for us, we place a great deal of authority in their hands. Sometimes they fail to do their lawful duty. One way to make a government official do his job is to ask the court for a writ of mandamus.

Suppose you have applied for a permit to build a house under a city building code. You submit your plans which meet all the requirements of the code, but the proper official won't give you the permit and you can't get one elsewhere. You can then ask the court for a writ of mandamus and if you were right and the building official had no grounds for refusal, the court will order him to issue the permit.

Before the court will issue such a strong command as this, the officer must have refused to do his clear-cut legal duty—not something that he may or may not have to do as part of his job.

Investigating officer R. J. Danson issued a ticket to Ward for failure to grant right-of-way.

Nab Prowler—

The tracks led them to at three farms from Rogers' farm. At one point, it appeared that Hernandez had climbed a ladder rear, the bathroom window of the Young home. The farmers contacted McNeese at the Sheriff's office and Dyer's deputy joined the search. McNeese found Rogers' field, where they found Hernandez hoeing.

Hernandez at first denied that he had stolen anything, but McNeese told him that he knew from his shoe tracks that Hernandez had cavorted around the three homes.

That Hernandez may have implicated in earlier prowling reports was still a mute question, but authorities said they believed it was a possibility. There was no proof that Hernandez was involved.

However, Hernandez' former employer, Elliott, said that the bracero was "unlike any in his past experience." Elliott related that Hernandez was humble at times and a troublemaker at others.

Hernandez had helped in rigging Elliott's property at night, Elliott said he believed the bracero had walked off the job at night on some occasions. It was apparent that the water had not been changed at proper intervals, Elliott added.

Elliott also stated that Hernandez had a "free run" of his pick-up. A pick-up truck was believed to have been used by a prowler in earlier reports.

Items in Hernandez' suitcase—new clothes, gloves, women's underwear, and hose—led authorities to believe that some of the apparel may have been taken from neighboring homes.

One man appeared at the sheriff's office and declared that a pair of gloves Hernandez had were taken from his car near his home east of Littlefield.

Hernandez immediately denied taking the gloves and said that he had bought them for a dollar from a Negro man.

It was apparent, however, that other prowlers had been at work during the past two weeks. Hernandez did not fit the description given earlier by an Anton girl who was approached in a home on Hall Avenue.

Sheriff Dick Dyer said he would continue the search in the belief that there may be one or more other prowlers.

VEGETABLE BUSINESS HOLDS INTEREST AT FLOYDADA

Vegetable business holds the focus of business interest at Floydada, Lockney and Barwise this week, what with tending, sizing, and waxing machines setting up for operations in Floydada Tuesday and also readied for operations at Lockney and Barwise.

Increased interest in the vegetable business came to Floydada when families began to hunt living quarters and labor to fill up with skilled and semi-skilled labor over the weekend. —THE FLOYD COUNTY HESPERIAN

THE AMERICAN WAY

The Real Winner

THIS WEEK - In Washington

With Clinton Davidson

During the next couple of months you will be hearing a lot of political campaign arguments about "the farm problem" and what to do about it. This, then might be a good time to get some facts straight.

The farm planks in both parties promise 100 percent of parity as the goal for farm prices. They differ only on the methods to be used in attaining that objective. Parity is determined by a formula intended to measure whether prices received by farmers are fair when compared to prices they pay.

For the past couple of years farm price averages have ranged between 80 and 85 percent of parity. Some commodity prices have been considerably lower than the average, and some well above.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture recently completed a study of farm prices, costs and income over the past 25 years. Those figures are significant only as they provide a yardstick for measuring how farmers are doing in relation to the remainder of the nation.

The survey includes detailed reports on 27 important types and sizes of farms in all major farming areas, and covers several hundred farms. The investment per farm ranged from $10,000 to $178,000, and averaged $60,000.

Net income per farm increased from about $800 in 1940 to $2,100 in 1955. The high during that period for $3,100 in 1947. Farm purchasing power, despite the more dollars available, was only 10 percent higher in 1955 than in 1940.

Farm efficiency—the production per worker—increased by about 40 percent from 1940 to 1955, largely due to increased farm mechanization. The number of tractors and other farm machinery more than doubled during the 15-year period.

Perhaps the best yardstick for measuring how farmers have fared in relation to urban factory employees is the per-hour return for labor. Farmers worked an average of 8 hours a day, about the same as city workers.

Averages can be misleading because incomes, even on adjoining farms, vary so widely. They do, however, provide a reasonable guide as to how farmers have been faring generally. Here are some USDA figures on average net incomes per hour of work in different parts of the country for 1955.

Northeastern dairy farmers earned an average of 81c an hour, but in Wisconsin the average was 35c an hour. In the Corn Belt hog-dairy farmers averaged 52c, and hog-beef raisers earned 37c, but farmers who specialized in fattening hogs and beef cattle earned only 24c an hour.

Corn Belt farmers who grew grain for cash sale averaged 74c an hour. In Kentucky tobacco-livestock farmers earned 60c an hour, and in North Carolina tobacco-cotton farmers in the southern Piedmont averaged 51c, but on the black prairie the average was 30c.

In the High Plains of Texas cotton growers on non-irrigated farms earned 39c, but on irrigated farms the average was $1.77 an hour. In the Mississippi Delta the average for cotton growers ranged from 54c on small farms to $4.99 on large farms.

Wheat-corn-livestock farmers in the Northern Great Plains averaged 3c an hour, but wheat growers in the Southern Great Plains averaged 67c an hour, and in the Pacific Northwest $1.37.

Cattle and sheep growers fared the worst of all. In the Northern Great Plains cattlemen lost 37c and sheepmen 6c an hour. In the Southwest sheepmen lost $2.30 an hour and cattlemen $1.52.

Social Security Representative To Be Here Sept. 13

A change of utmost importance to farm landlords in this area was provided in the 1956 amendments to the Social Security Act recently passed by Congress, according to John G. Hutton, manager of the Lubbock district office of the Social Security Administration.

"This provision effective for this year," Hutton said, "makes possible the coverage of both tenant and landlord. The landlord is now covered if he can show that he 'materially participates' in the production or management of the production of farm commodities. Material participation means generally 'that a landlord furnish advice periodically and consultation as to the production of commodities. If the landlord furnishes a substantial portion of the machinery or implements or assumes financial responsibility for the growing of the crop other than labor expense, he may be able to show 'material participation'."

A representative of the Lubbock Social Security Office will be in Littlefield on Sept. 13 at 10:00 a.m. in the Employment Office and will be glad to assist in all matters pertaining to Social Security.

Sand Hills Philosopher

Dear editor:
According to an article I read in yesterday's paper, well it wasn't yesterday's paper according to the date, which was about a week old, but any paper I read yesterday, if I haven't seen it before, is yesterday's paper as far as I'm concerned, scientists are predicting they'll have an atom-powered airplane ready to fly in a couple of years.

They said they based this on the fact the atom-powered submarine, which has now traveled 50,000 miles without refueling, is such great success.

And furthermore, they said, after the atom-powered airplane will come atom-powered automobiles.

Now I don't know what this will do to filling station operators, there won't be much for them to do if they can fill up your car with atomic energy and you won't have to come back until fifty or seventy-five thousand miles later, sounds like the hours would be fine though the pay might be low, but I guess they'll think of something, maybe join the small family-size farmer as a political problem and let Sec. Benson worry about them.

However, what's worrying me is that science isn't going to be satisfied to leave well enough alone and after they get airplanes and cars and trains running indefinitely on atom power, some smart alec will turn his efforts to tractors.

Now a tractor that's run almost forever with one handful of atom power sounds all right, for the man who just can't seem to get enough plowing, but I'd like to point out there are some farmers who look on a stalled tractor as one of the handiest things you can have on a farm. You take a man who's powered with old-fashioned food three times a day and put him on an atom-powered tractor that'll run forever on one dose, and you can begin to see that science is no unmixed blessing.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

The number of marriages in the United States is likely to remain at a low level in the next few years because a large number of those eligible for marriage were married in the years immediately after World War II and because depression years produced smaller number of babies who are now coming to marriageable age, a study of a major insurance company indicates.

"While we realize that commercial vegetable production and farming generally have taken a terrific beating in some localities during the past few years, we feel more than ever the need for South Texas Vegetable Day as a means of counteracting the impact of these past terrible drought years."

To the Man Who is Hesitating...

There are many motorists here in this community who have given serious consideration to the purchase of a new Cadillac car this year—and yet, for one reason or another, have not made the move.

Ordinarily, when a man hesitates to make the move to Cadillac, it is because he is not familiar with the practical aspects of Cadillac ownership. Insofar as original cost is concerned, a Cadillac is eminently practical. Several models, in fact, are actually priced competitively with the so-called "medium-priced" makes.

Operating and maintenance costs are also remarkably low. We have heard it said by new owners that Cadillac is the most economical automobile they have ever owned.

And as for resale value—well, Cadillac traditionally retains a greater share of its worth through the years than any other motor car in the land. In short, the great Cadillac car represents one of the wisest and soundest automotive investments on the highway today.

The moral of our message is this: It is still not too late to set things right in a 1956 Cadillac of your own!

We have a selection of new Cadillacs on hand—and we can promise you both prompt delivery and a generous trade-in allowance.

Why not come in today?

Wheat Plan For Soil Bank Now Available

CO-OPERATION. (Special) — Any producer who has a regular wheat acreage allotment may take part in the Soil Bank's Acreage Reserve program for the 1957 winter wheat crop, Robert Shrauner, chairman of the Texas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said today. Producers on farms which receive an allotment as a "new farm" for the 1957 wheat crop, however, are not eligible for participation in the 1957 Acreage Reserve program.

Payments under the program will be made for reducing the acreage of winter wheat below the amount of the allotment, designating in a written agreement a specified part of the allotment acreage as acreage to be "reserved" from production. Land so designated may not be cropped or grazed for the period of the agreement.

The rate of payment for wheat acreage placed in the Acreage Reserve varies by counties. The amount of the payment will be based on the normal yield for the farm or the normal yield for the designated acreage, whichever is the smaller.

The Acreage Reserve agreement must be signed not only by the farm operator, but also—if the operator is a share tenant—by each person who as owner or landlord has control of the Acreage Reserve land or who is to receive compensation under the agreement. Provision is made for properly protecting the interests of tenants and sharecroppers under the program.

Chairman Shrauner explained that farmers may designate as much as 50 percent of their allotment or 50 acres, whichever is larger, for inclusion in the wheat Acreage Reserve. However, the wheat acreage designated for the Acreage Reserve may not exceed the wheat allotment. The minimum acreage, which the farmer may designate for the Acreage Reserve is 3 acres on the wheat allotment, whichever is smaller. If any winter wheat is grown by the farmer on or before September 21, the deadline for signing agreements to place 1957 crop acreage allotment under the Soil Bank's Acreage Reserve. About 95 percent of the available acreage in the United States will be reserved rather than planted.

Summer's dog days designation, not because of effect upon dogs, but in the ancient Greek dog star rose during although it rises at a time today.

FARMER SAYS SHEEP PAY

By MORLEY B. DRAKE

Increased interest in the sheep industry in Lamb county is being taken by both rural and urban residents. Indications are that there will be a good increase in the number of head. Sheep can do well on grazing that would not satisfactorily sustain some other animals.
Some farmers supplement grazing with a little cake.

J. C. Hulban, president of the Security State Bank, has made a special study of the possibilities of the sheep industry in Lamb county. He said Wednesday that he is ready to finance the purchase of foundation stock by any farmer who will agree to give the animals the proper care and attention.

A few days ago we were north of Littlefield and called at a farm home to inquire the road to another farm we wanted to visit. The man who answered our summons was Leonard Mc-Neese, who lives 10 miles north of Littlefield. He owns one labor and is renting another labor from Martin Palmer. There is irrigation on the Palmer property, which is west of Highway 51. The McNeese labor, east of the highway, is not irrigated.

McNeese's operations come within the scope of diversified farming. He has 220 acres in grain sor-ghums and cotton and 130 acres in grass. The 130 acres provides grazing for 40 head of cattle, mostly Herefords, and a total of 52 sheep, 50 ewes and two bucks.

SHEEP PAY OFF

McNeese bought his foundation herd of sheep September 19 of last year ... 37 ewes and one buck ... and he has never once regretted the investment.
After two lambing seasons he had 100 ewes and bucks. Today he is grazing 50 ewes and two registered bucks. He sold the young bucks of the increase and a wool crop.

McNeese figures that his operations have paid for his foundation stock and 24 ewes to boot.

COST OUTLAY SMALL

The only cash money he has been out for maintaining his herd is for "a little cake fed once a day in the summer and a little cake fed twice a day in the winter."

The labor on the east side of the highway, which is owned by Mc-Neese, is fenced and cross-fenced to keep the cattle out of the cotton.

McNeese planted the cotton on the east labor two rows and skip two rows, and on the west labor he planted the conventional 40 inches. The west labor has irrigation and the east labor is dry land.
He wanted to find out which program of operation would yield the most cotton.

"It looks like I will make more cotton on the skip two method on the dry land," he declared.

GRAZE IN COTTON

The sheep go under the cross fence and graze the weed and grass without bothering the cotton.

"They follow each other down the middle," said McNeese.

He also reported that they eat along the fences and do a good job of maintaining themselves.

"The pasture I have is mostly in the draw," he said. "If I had a little wheat pasture I would scarcely have to feed at all."

McNeese lets the calves run on the cows, except for two or three cows which he brings to the home corral when they are fresh.

McNeese has been a resident of Lamb county for 32 years. The Mc-Neese family have lived at their present home for six years.

LEONARD MCNEESE ... well satisfied with his sheep project.

Car Inspection Period Begins Saturday, Closes Next April

The Texas Public Safety Commission has set September 15, 1956 to April 15, 1957, as the period during which automobiles and other motor vehicles must be inspected under provisions of the State's Motor Vehicle Inspection law.

Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said in announcing the Commission's action that motorists should avail themselves of the opportunity to have their autos inspected as soon after September 15 as possible in order to avoid the inconvenience and delay which is usually associated with the end of the seven months period by the "log jam" of car owners who wait until just before the deadline to have their vehicles safety checked.

George W. Busby, Chief of the DPS Motor Vehicle Inspection Division, stated that the more than 4,200 licensed inspection stations in the State would have sufficient supplies of stickers on hand by the starting date and would be equipped to check vehicles without delay.

NEW WEED BURNER

By Manchester of California

We are very proud indeed to present our new weed burner, for all types of custom burning—bardiches, turn rows, elevated ditches, roads etc. This is the same type used by the forestry service as well as the county and state. It kills all weeds and insects and completely destroys the seeds. When used for burning alfalfa in the early spring, on the first cutting it increases the yield by one-third. We sincerely feel our weed burner will be of great benefit to the people of this area. We invite you to come in and see it!
