TO HOLD SERIES OF MEETINGS ON SOIL PROGRAM

Details Of New Soil Conservation Plan To Be Explained

Details of the new soil conservation program will be explained in a series of community meetings by Donald Turner, County Agent. Community Committees will also be elected at these meetings.

Arrangements for meeting places and date and time of meetings were made by officers of the Lamb county Farm Association Thursday. Cards announcing the schedule of these meetings are being mailed to every farmer in the county.

It is very important that the very best men of the community be elected as committeemen to administer the new program.

Members Of Legion To Meet In Regular Session Monday

The local unit of the American Legion will meet in the Legion Hut Monday evening for their regular business session.

All members are urged to be in attendance.

PLANS FOR NEW AGRICULTURAL PROGRAM RECEIVED BY CO. AGENT

Plans for the new agricultural program to put into effect the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act have been received by Donald Turner, agricultural agent of Lamb county. State and district meetings have been held to acquaint all Extension agents with the substance of these plans, and meetings of farmers will be held all over Texas during the next few days Turner said.

Two kinds of payments will be made to farmers for land use—soil conserving payments and soil building payments, but the money for both will come in one check. And this money will come only after the farmer has actually put into effect certain practices which conserve the soil on his farm.

Bases established on old reduction contracts will be taken as a guide for establishing the base for 1936 on the soil conservation program, with, of course, due allowance for crops not included in former contracts.

TREE PLANTING

While it is not too late to plant trees, it is fully late enough, tree growers of experience who have had success under local climatic conditions, state. The next ten days or two weeks should, by all means, see the trees in the ground.

While later plantings have been known to do well, the general rule seems to be that the later planting is handicapped throughout the year and during its later life is a weaker tree and more susceptible to disease and unfavorable weather. Another thing, they say, is do not plant the tree in the first place unless you intend to give it attention later. A knotty, ill-kept or dead tree on the premises is worse than no tree at all.

SPADE SCHOOL NEWS

Spade schools gave in county at Sudan. Although not as fortunate as many others were, the Spade schools had their share of entries at the county meet, held at Sudan, Saturday. The high school entered all events except debate and extemporaneous speech for the grammar school had representatives in all events except memory. Not counting senior basketball and field events, which were left incomplete because of a storm, Spade school rounded up 42 points in county championship, while the grammar school totaled 40 for all-around championship among contestants of its class.

Among other places won the girls high school captured all-county championship in volleyball, emerging as winner in two brackets where they were stoutly contested by the field girls and other well-trained opponents. Thus, the girls, to the extent, redeemed themselves having won only second place in county basketball, and earned right to represent Lamb county at the district meet at Lubbock, Friday and Saturday, March 17 and 18.

Members of the volleyball squad are: Brown, Mildred Greer, Love-Huckabee, Ozella Tucker, Opal, Lucille Nabers, Doris Carter, Nell Bentley, and Beryl Kee. Miss Opal Montgomery coaches girls.

The one-act play, "Dreams," was another of Spade's scoring victories. The play, directed by Miss Lois Butler, met the Olton troupe, which was presenting, "The Bishop's Candlesticks," and defeated them in a close contest at Sudan Saturday night. Although both plays were well presented and the competition was close, all three judges ranked the Spade cast and play as superior. Miss Sarah Smith of Spade was given highest rating among the girls, and Max Dodson won first among the boys. The Spade cast is looking about for some place to get practice before they enter the district meet at Lubbock.

The Tiny Tots of Spade Grammar school won distinction in the speech contests. Coached by Miss Colene Holland, they copped the lion's share of the honors. Lela Jo Dunn won first place among first grade story tellers (girls), James Long took first place for the boys in the same grade, and Billie Herring won first in the official League Story Telling contest.

Other winners from Spade were: Doyle Dyer, second place in extemporaneous speech for boys; Lona Belle Adams, third place in senior high school girls' declamation; third place in spelling for sixth and seventh grades, and a host of places in track and field events in three different divisions. Two second places were taken in tennis, and the grammar school team won second place in volleyball for juniors.

SPADE SCHOOL PRESENTS THREE ONE-ACT PLAYS

Before a large but appreciative audience the Spade High school presented three one-act plays, Thursday evening, April 2. The first play, "Crossed Wires" was staged by a miscellaneous group directed by Supt. Wester and was presented first, with Howard Lackey as Stanley Arnold, Irene Byrne as Clara Arnold, his wife; Harrell Hunt as Will Arnold, a brother, Walter Lee Dyer as Briggs, the butler; and Salina Potec as Betty, the pretty and flirtatious maid.

"The Coward," a play of Texas history was again presented by a cast drawn from the Texas history class of the high school and directed by Miss Dorothy Faye Rusk.

The last play was Miss Butler's entry in the League One-Act play contest. The cast of "Dreams" was: Mrs. Miller—Loveta Huckabee. Dorr Miller (son of Mrs. Miller)—Bud Vann. Estelle Miller (wife to Dorr)—Sarah Smith. Eddie—Fred Smith.

An added feature of the program was the contest for the naming of the King and Queen of the Longhorns. The classes have been alert for votes, and the score announced at the close of this second of four units in the contest was evidence of work we have done. With tickets selling at five cents for pupils, ten cents for adults, and twenty-five cents for complete families the pupils were able to amass a sizeable total. Scores were: Junior, 1615; Sophomores, 1580; Freshmen, 1295, and Seniors, 270.

Do you know what pie timber is? It takes timber for the building of a house, so does it for the building of a pie. This includes the entire pie and the pie was made and eaten in the home of Mrs. E. L. Yarbrough last Thursday, April 2. Mrs. Harris Brantley made the pie and gave important hints on the cooking of dried fruits.

Mrs. E. L. Yarbrough gave a report of business from the county council. Mrs. Jim Bradley gave a few words on how a club can improve. Mrs. Chas. Crawford read the legend of the mocking bird.

Eighteen members and two visitors, Mrs. Brit Hays and Mrs. Manley Brantley enjoyed the information given.

Mrs. Henry Meyers was present after a long absence, convalescing from an operation.

The meeting of April the 16th will be in the home of Mrs. Manley Brantley and "sodding the lawn" will be the demonstration.

A plate lunch was served by the hostess.

FLOWER SHOWER

On learning that Mr. and Mrs. Gart Morrow had moved into their new home, which is located near Sudan, Mrs. Morrow's friends, or mostly her close neighbors, some 25 of them gathered in the home of Mrs. Edd Wright on April 1st. At three o'clock, the ladies left for Mrs. Morrow's located near by. As the door bell rang she met them at the door with dust cap on and dust pan in hand as you remember April came in with a sand storm. All guests piled flowers and shrubs into her arms. She stood speechless.

Mrs. Edd Wright and Mrs. Chas. Crawford planned intertainment of contests and games, and little Billie Sue Barnett gave readings.

At 4 o'clock refreshments of cake and hot chocolate was served.

"Keep off, Reporters will be shot."

back and forth along the road. The weather was dry, and dust thrown up by passing vehicles had settled upon grass and shrubbery. It penetrated Mrs. Holmes's house and covered its scanty furnishings with a thin, gray coating; it hung in the air and choked her. Dust was nothing new to her—in fact, dust, grime, disorder were nearly always present in her house—but now its taste was irritating and it caused her to revile the sightseers who had turned this back road into a busy thoroughfare.

All were morbid curiosity-seekers; they were bound to or from the scene of the Ethridge murder.

Mary Holmes had heard the news of the crime while she was feeding her geese two mornings before, and had hurried up the road as fast as she could go. She had been one of the first to reach the scene of the tragedy, arriving nearly an hour ahead of the policemen and the newspaper reporters. Inasmuch as she had known Amos Ethridge quite well and was his nearest neighbor, naturally she had come in for a lot of questioning. She had little to tell, nevertheless it had been an exciting experience; it had reminded her of old times to answer and to parry quick, searching questions, while reportorial pencils flew to keep pace with her words. The reporters had stared at her curiously and had wanted to know who she was—all about her, in fact—but she had been sly enough to give them no satisfaction.

She had remained there all day, mingling with the ever-growing crowd; discussing the case with townspeople whom she knew only by sight, rubbing shoulders and talking with utter strangers; she had walked home at dusk with a new feeling of consequence, with her head higher than usual, and with her heart pounding. As she prepared her supper she had even ventured cautiously to sing a few notes—the first in more than a year.

Anticipation of seeing her name in print once again had affected her so queerly that she slept little during the night and was up and waiting agitatedly for the rural deliveryman. But when she had read the morning papers, when she had seen herself through the eyes of those reporters, she had been stunned, stupefied.

"The person living nearest to the

FOR BAD FEELING

Due to Constipation

Get rid of constipation by taking Black-Draught as soon as you notice that bowel activity has slowed up or you begin to feel sluggish. Thousands prefer Black-Draught for the refreshing relief it has brought them—Mrs. Ray Mullins, of Lafa, Ark., writes: "My husband and I both take Theford's Black-Draught and find it splendid for constipation, biliousness, and the disagreeable, aching, tired feeling that comes from this condition." With reference to Syrup of Black-Draught, which this mother gives her children, she says: "They like the taste and it gave such good results."

BLACK-DRAUGHT

scene of the tragedy is Mary Holmes, a middle-aged, slatternly creature who occupies a wretched hovel and runs a small chicken ranch at the rear of the Ethridge estate," the first account ran. Mrs. Holmes had read on dizzily, "She is reputed to be a drunken, irresponsible character of violent temper and eccentric habits, nevertheless she shows surprising intelligence and unmistakable signs of education. She was positive in her statement—" etc.

The other paper had been equally uncomplimentary. It referred to her as "the goose woman" and it described her as "a queer, bedraggled, old hag with the stride of an Amazon and the airs of a queen."

Mary Holmes had torn the papers to bits, and later, when representatives of the afternoon papers came to interview her, she had refused to talk to them. But the Ethridge case had grown in importance; the Chicago papers had rushed men to Westland by the first train and these newcomers were even more inquisitive than the local news-gatherers. This morning, in self-defense, Mary Holmes had wired up her gate and nailed a sign to it which read:

Keep off, Reporters trespassing on this place will be shot.

She sat now beside the open window of her front room where she could catch the automobiles coming and going and hear what the occupants said when they stopped to stare at her premises or to read her sign. Evidently the term "goose woman" had stuck, for she heard it over and over again. The manner in which it was used, the laughter and the comment evoked by her warning sign, were so offensive that she turned for comfort to her gin bottle.

As to the crime itself, it had created a genuine sensation. The murder of a man as prominent as Amos Ethridge was bound to prove front-page news, for he was more than a figure of local importance. To begin with, he was, or had been, a man of immense wealth—the richest man in the whole state—a political power, and in all probability the next Governor. Moreover, the manner of his slaying, the circumstances surrounding it and the evident ferocity of his assassin, had rendered the crime peculiarly shocking. He had been shot to death, riddled with seven bullets, while returning to his home late Thursday night. His body had not been discovered until the following morning; then it was found lying in a lane which connected a back road with the rear of his handsome estate and upon its breast was laid a cross made on two dead twigs which had been hurriedly tied together. Neither the body nor its immediate surroundings revealed any clue to the identity of the slayer; nothing indicated any reason whatever for the crime unless a letter found in one of Ethridge's pockets was an indication. This letter, which, by the way, was delicately scented, had come through the mail and bore the local Westland postmark; the writing upon the envelope was in a woman's hand, and inside was a sheet of plain notepaper containing the one word, "Thursday." There was no signature.

Why, in the first place, a bachelor who could come and go at his will should make use of a narrow, unlighted back road instead of the broad, macadam thoroughfare which passed his massive front gates was puzzling; why that cross had been laid upon the body; why, in fact, anyone should wish to kill Amos Ethridge—all were matters of pure conjecture. Questions like these lent mystery to the affair, and that laconic, perfumed note which might have been either a warning or an assignation spiced it with a suggestion of scandal just sufficient to intensify general interest.

Mary Holmes dozed in her rocking chair. She was aroused by the blare of an automobile horn and by the sound of voices. A car in which were several men had stopped before her house; one member of the party had stepped down and was trying to disengage the wire fastenings of the gate; another, with a press camera over his shoulder, was getting out. The men at the gate started to climb the fence, but he was halted midway by a challenge from the house, and looked up to discover that a tall woman in a faded gingham dress had emerged upon the porch and was facing him threateningly. She was a vigorous woman, long-limbed and erect, and she carried her chin high. In spite of her ill-fitting garments, her flat, shapless shoes, and her untidy hair, there was an air of command about her and an appearance of some consequence. That which caused the fence climber to freeze into immobility, however, was the sight of a shotgun in her hands.

"Hello! You're Mrs. Holmes, I take it," he began, cheerily. "Get off that fence!" "Tell her who you are," one of the fellows in the car directed. The pho-

Nervous, Weak Woman Soon All Right

"I had regular shaking spells from nervousness," writes Mrs. Cora Sanderson, of Paragould, Ark. "I was all run-down and cramped at my time until I would have to go to bed. After my first bottle of Cardui, I was better. I kept taking Cardui and soon I was all right. The shaking quit and I did not cramp. I felt worlds better. I gave Cardui to my daughter who was in about the same condition and she was soon all right." Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

MOTOR DESIGNER: POLY GAS IS REALLY A 1937 MODEL MOTOR FUEL—GREAT FOR INCREASED POWER OUTPUT

GASOLINE CHEMIST: POLYMERIZATION PACKS MORE VALUE INTO EVERY GALLON OF GASOLINE BY ADDING EXTRA ENERGY UNITS (B.T.U.'s)

PROFESSOR OF CHEMICAL ENGINEERING: THE SCIENTIFIC POLYMERIZATION PROCESS IS THE GREATEST IMPROVEMENT IN MOTOR FUEL MANUFACTURE SINCE THE INTRODUCTION OF "CRACKING"

USER OF PHILLIPS 66 POLY GAS: MY MOTOR RUNS BETTER, AND I GET 1 TO 3 MORE MILES PER GALLON SINCE I SWITCHED TO PHILLIPS 66 POLY GAS

Phillips 66

No doubt you have read about the excitement created in scientific circles by the announcement of the POLYmerization process. It has been hailed and acclaimed on the radio and in the press as a miracle of modern chemistry. The benefits it brings to gasoline have been lauded to the skies. No single improvement in motor fuel manufacture has ever been greeted by such unanimous approval of technical experts. BUT . . . in the final analysis . . . one thing, and only one thing, counts with any experienced driver: "How does Poly Gas work in my motor?"

The best answer to this question, the most convincing and conclusive proof that POLYmerization improves gasoline quality, is just one trial tankful of the new Phillips 66 Poly Gas.

It costs nothing extra, but it must deliver extra value because our sales of Phillips 66 Poly Gas are right now at the highest levels in the history of the company. And as a famous slogan puts it—There must be a reason! Find out the money-saving facts by getting a tankful of the new Phillips 66 Poly Gas.

SMART AFTERNOON FROCK

Pattern 8735: If it's a daytime dress of simple and becoming lines you are looking for you might do well to consider this model.

No. 8735 has a way of becoming the nature figure. The clever cut of the lines from simple neck line to flared skirt ends promote grace and charm. A well designed jabot adds variation as does the decorative clip attached at neck line, and matching buckle at belt. The two styles of sleeves are interesting. You may like the fitted wrist type with added cuff or the shirred, caught-up style, omitting the cuff. Most attractive made up in silk crepe or washable chiffon or perhaps in figured voile.

CHURCH SERVICES AT RITZ
Evangelist Jno. - R. Denning

Next Sunday night, before the sermon, there will be a plain and frank declaration, outlining in detail just what we hope to accomplish in Littlefield, just who and what things against which we are opposed, and whether or not we are in opposition to any other group; this so that all people may know our policy and our purpose. We will also discuss as to whether any would work against us, and why?

We will have a special musical program pertaining to the Risen Christ, and the sermon subject will be: "The Resurrection—What, How and When?"

The terrible dust storm of last Sunday prevented our broadcast, but, if the Lord is willing, we shall be on the air at the regular hour, one o'clock, next Sunday.

Next Tuesday afternoon, at 2:30, the Ladies Bible class will meet at the home of Mrs. Bridwell at the Quillan hotel. This class is growing in both attendance and interest. All ladies are welcome, no matter what your church affiliation.

CARD OF THANKS

Words cannot express our thanks and appreciation to our good friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness and expressions of sympathy during the illness and at the death of our dear wife and mother. Especially do we thank the doctors and nurses of the Littlefield hospital, who so kindly and efficiently rendered every service possible.

We also thank those who sent the beautiful flowers.

PASSION WEEK SERVICES

The local Methodist church is observing Passion Week with special services. These services began on Wednesday evening at 7:55, when the Friendship class became hostesses to the church in the service. The choir was invited to take their place in the service and the pastor to deliver a sermon fitted to the hour. The theme was, "Nature Breaking Out in a New Place."

Also Thursday evening the Men's Bible class is host to the church in a service. These men are taking pride in making this a worthwhile hour for the church and are inviting their friends to worship. The choir will take their place in the service and the pastor will deliver a carefully prepared sermon using as subject, "What Christ Invested."

Friday evening the Sorosis class is hostess and hereby invites their friends to worship with the church in that hour. At this period the service will be unique in this that Miss Maxine Cash will give a dramatic reading, entitled, "St. Claudia;" Miss Virginia Bills will render appropriate music and Mrs. E. L. Cogdill will accompany the reading with select readings from the Scripture. This will be of special interest.

Easter Sunday will feature sunrise breakfast by the young people. The church school period at 9:45; the hour of public worship at 11 a. m. at which time the choir will render special music fitted to the occasion, and the pastor will speak using as subject, "The Human Inheritance." This is, what did humanity inherit out of the investment of Christ Jesus? A great hour is rightly expected.

At the evening hour we join with the choirs in their service in song at the First Baptist church. A great message in song. This invites you to all of it!

Henry Ford Builds Roads Of Southwest At Texas Centennial

Henry Ford, caught in the spell of the romance of historic and modern roads, is building the "Roads of the Southwest" as a part of the Ford Exposition at the Texas Centennial which opens at Dallas June 6. This part of the Ford Exhibit will include reproductions of nine short sections of important trails and highways played important roles in the development of the Southwest.

The roads will wind around the lagoon on one side of the Ford Exposition Building. Each unit will be paved with an exact reproduction of the surfacing material used on the original road. Included in the group will be reconstructed sections of the San Antonio Road, Fort Worth Pike, Chisholm Cattle Trail, Butterfield Stage Road, Santa Fe Trail, Pan American Highway, Magazine Street in New Orleans, Main Street in Dallas, and Yuma Road.

The route now known as San Antonio Road was used as early as 1690 by the Spanish. It crossed Texas from Eagle Pass to San Augustine. Early settlers paid a tax to the Spanish crown to travel over this road. It still is known as "El Camino Real," the King's Highway.

Another Texas highway shown is the Fort Worth Pike. Originally this was an Indian trail from Dallas to Fort Worth which was developed into a stage coach line and later into a commercial highway. Buffalo once roamed the country adjacent to this road and stage coach drivers were always armed when traveling over it.

The era when Texas was criss-crossed with cattle trails, about 1867, is represented by the so-called "Chisholm Trail." Southern Texas cattle were driven over this route by the millions of head to the north and east for shipment by rail to the northern and eastern markets.

Probably the most famous of the numerous mail routes through Texas was the Butterfield Trail. This mail route cut across the northern corner of the state on its way to El Paso, Fort Yuma and San Francisco. Traces of it still can be seen near El Paso. The first mail coach rumbled over this road on September 15, 1858, when the inaugural mail trip was made between St. Louis and San Francisco in 23 days and 4 hours.

Early in the 19th century when Texas was still a part of Mexico, Captain Zebulon Pike started a trade route between Independence, Mo., and Mexico, over the route now known as the Santa Fe Trail. The principal articles of trade were cotton goods, coarse and fine fabrics, shawls, and a few woolsens. Later the Santa Fe Trail was extended to Los Angeles.

When New Orleans was established in 1718, the site selected was practically an island. Most of the transportation to and from the city was by water and there were few important roads between New Orleans and other cities on the mainland. The chief road was what is now called Magazine Street which leads out of a little-traveled section of the city and finally connects with more important roads leading into Texas. This street was paved with blocks of stone called "Belgian blocks" which had been brought to the colony from France as ship ballast.

The Pan American Highway, between Larado, Texas, and Mexico City, is reproduced as a modern highway. The original road runs through miles of practically virgin territory; it traverses jungle land, prairies, and crosses some of the highest mountain ranges in North America.

Yuma Road is the Colorado desert section of the "Old Spanish Trail" which stretched between Yuma, Arizona, and El Centro, California. It was built in the early 20th Century of parallel wooden planks just wide enough apart to carry wagon and automobile wheels. Later it was rebuilt as a solid plank road. Some of the original planks are used in the Ford Exposition's reproduction.

Main Street in Dallas is the last unit of the Roads of the Southwest. It is shown as a street paved with two types of wooden blocks. Part of the road shows the round blocks as they were originally laid in gravel, while another section of it is surfaced with rectangular wood blocks set on sand and concrete.

two bedrooms will be converted into two usable closets, one of which will open into the bedroom of Verna Jewell Dennis, bedroom demonstrator for the Spade 4-H club.

Verna Jewell's closet will have a rod for hanging her dresses and coats, and shelves for storing flat articles and for her hat racks, also a shoe rack which will not only keep the shoes in better condition but will help to keep the closet orderly. The walls of the closet will be finished in white to make it lighter.

A BALANCED GARDEN

"My garden is all broke," reports Lavelle Brigrance, garden demonstrator for the Olton 4-H club.

In this garden Lavelle with the help of her parents will plant 600 feet of row space for each member of the family. 600 feet of row space should produce 3207 pounds of vegetables. This space will be divided among the different classes of vegetables so as to provide about 200 pounds potatoes, 100 pounds tomatoes, 100 pounds leafy, green and yellow vegetables, 175 pounds miscellaneous vegetables and 25 pounds dry peas and beans for each member of the family.

LEAFY, GREEN, AND YELLOW VEGETABLES

Tender turnip greens that have come up from turnips left in the ground during the winter are ready for use reports Mrs. Nath Griffin whose daughter, Christine, is garden demonstrator for the Spade 4-H club.

Christine will can the surplus from this green patch, and will plant leafy, green and yellow vegetables enough to make 150 feet of row space for each member in the family. A variety will be selected which may include any kind of greens, snap peas, snap beans, English peas, asparagus, celery, carrots, pumpkin, and yellow squash.

COLOR IN THE BEDROOM

Wall paper with a neutral background and all-over design will be selected for the bedroom of Geraldine Pool, bedroom demonstrator for the Hart Camp 4-H club.

Geraldine will use rose and cream in her room, making the furniture and woodwork cream and working the rose into the window curtains, bedspreads and accessories. With rose bedspreads and curtains, very little rose will be desirable in the wall paper because too much would not be restful.

A projection from the cover of a new waffle iron lifts waffles from the iron when they are ready when the cover is raised.

The Goose Woman—

a brief statement from you." Unobtrusively, the speaker shifted his weight, lifted himself further over the fence. "We city men have an altogether different theory from these—"

The woman on the porch cocked her shotgun and raised it, saying, grimly:
"I shall count three."
"Oh, come now! Don't be foolish." "One! Two!"
"Go ahead, Jim!" urged the camera man. "She can't pull anything like that. If she shoots you, it'll make a corking picture."
The trespasser now had one leg over the top strand of barbed wire and he steadied himself upon a post—neither a graceful position nor one of great stability. He was about to let himself down inside the yard when Mrs. Holmes cried:
"Simultaneously she fired. The dry grass and weeds beneath the teetering figure exploded into a dusty cloud as the charge of bird shot mowed a path through it. With a yell, the man flung himself backward, leaving a fragment of his trousers leg upon the fence. He picked himself up and shook a first at the woman, shouting:
"You damned old harpy! I'll have you arrested for that! What d'you mean, anyhow?"

He paused as he heard the ominous click of the second barrel, and hurriedly backed closer to the car. The photographer made haste to follow him.

"Don't let me catch you climbing my fence again. I keep this gun for hawks, but it will do as well for buzzards!" Mrs. Holmes' voice was harsh and strident; she appeared to tower higher as her rage mounted. "Poke fun at me, will you? Well, you've got something nasty to write now, so be as nasty as you can. You want to know who killed Amos Ethridge, do you? Rats! You don't care who killed him. All you want is to choke your filthy papers with scandal and lies and dirt. It'll all you can write, all you can think about. Lies! Dirt!" She had quite lost control of herself now and broke into an incoherent torrent of invective. She checked it only when the objects of her wrath had slammed the car door and the machine had rolled away.

When she was alone she strode back into her house and stood the fowling-piece in its corner, then tramped about the living room, her head high, her back straight, her deep bosom heaving. So! They'd get a story out of her, would they? Publish her picture! Use her for a bit of local color, ridicule her, abuse her! Well, she could give them back as good as they could send in the line of personal abuse. The scum! The blackguards! She was sorry they had fled so swiftly—while her mouth was still so full and her tongue so bitter, or once in their lives they had heard something which they could remember. They knew now that she was no common country lout, no mere "goose woman."

As she reflected more calmly upon the encounter she felt some pride

Accommodation To Centennial Guests

Lamb County, Texas, April 1.—Fifty "thousand" rooms will be available for guests attending the Centennial Exposition which opens here today.

These rooms will be available at a moderate cost. The Dallas Hotel Association, including all local hotels and the Dallas Restaurant Association, are making local restaurants, and a formal pledge to the effect that there will be no increase in the price of food prices in the city during the progress of the Centennial World's Fair.

Smith is well known in Texas circles. He has served as president of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce, Mayor of Highland Park, and manager of the State Fair of Texas. He promises that every visitor to the Exposition will be comfortably housed. The official Houseguest registers all rooms free and will operate through the Exposition period.

Harvest Grass Seed With Vacuum Device

A new machine, built like a power vacuum sweeper to harvest seeds of buffalo grass, will be easier for Great Plains farmers to regrass thousands of acres in valuable native sod that has been eroded by plowed herds of cattle. Great herds of this grass were plowed up to grow No. 2 wheat and were abandoned when prices fell, to ruin by wind and rain.

Buffalo grass has demonstrated its resistance to sun and wind, and ability to make a quick comeback when conditions are favorable. Recently, project managers in the soil conservation service were asked to name the seeds which they could best use to regrass idle and eroding lands. Buffalo grass led the list.

But the seed is difficult to harvest and low in germination. It is found only on female plants which may predominate in some areas. In other areas, most of the plants may be male. The seed grows close to the ground, down among the curly leaves. Harvesting with grass seed strippers, or by cutting and threshing later, is out of the question.

This new suction machine, developed by Kansas men at the State College and experiment station at Hays, has collected as high as 95 per cent of the seed, or an average collection in 35 tests of about 64 per cent.

The collecting nozzle in the most successful models is about 6 feet long and 4 inches wide. A light chain dragging ahead of the nozzle loosens the seed from the stems or from the dirt where it may be slightly embedded. Best results are obtained when the grass is closely clipped before the seed is collected. The most seed can be collected in the late summer or fall.

Buffalo grass also may be propagated vegetatively by scattering pieces of sod. Stolons or runners reach out and fasten themselves with rootlets at the nodes. Experiments at Hays show that 4-inch cubes of Buffalo grass spaced 3 feet apart cover the intervening spaces in three seasons, if rainfall is up to average.

THE THIRD NATIONAL ANNIVERSARY OF THE C. C. C. CAMPS

March 31, 1936 marked the third anniversary of the CCC camps. On July 3, 1935 construction work was begun on Camp SCS-15-T at Littlefield, Texas. The above camp is known as a Soil Conservation Camp as it is engaged in work which its name implies. The work carried forward in the field is under the direction of the Soil Conservation Service, a bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture. This camp has been engaged in soil erosion control work since about the first of October, 1935.

Work accomplished by the Littlefield Camp during its period of operation (approximately six months):

1. Terraces constructed on cultivated land within the area for water conservation and more equal distribution of moisture: 139 miles of terraces constructed controlling 2524 acres.
2. Range revegetation: pasture furrows and terraces, 2169 acres treated.
3. Planting trees and shrubs along roadsides and damsites to form windbreaks. 25,650 trees and shrubs of the following varieties planted: Honey Locust, Russian Mulberry, Green Ash, Desert Willow, Chinese Elm, Osage Orange, Cottonwood, Pecan, Tamarisk, Black Walnut, Red Maple, Persimmon and Asparagus.
4. Diversion ditches around tree sites, gullies and terrace ends to lead runoff water. 17,240 linear feet of ditch constructed.
5. Harvesting seed and plants for distribution to nurseries. 3,960 plants of Willow, Tamarisk and Cottonwood. 600 pounds of Hackberry seed.
6. Bank sloping gullies to permit crossing with farm machinery thereby facilitating construction of unbroken terraces and also to allow velocity of runoff water. 49,338 square yards of area treated.
7. Rodent control: Extermination of grass and crop destroying rodents by poison grain method. 17,785 acres treated.
8. Earth dams constructed to form small reservoirs for storage of runoff water from large gullies. One

Farms under agreement 95, comprising an area of 42,000 acres. The work undertaken has been the carrying forward of a five-point program which is the most effective means to accomplish erosion control in this area.

Farms on which work has been done, 70. The work undertaken has been the carrying forward of a five-point program which is the most effective means to accomplish erosion control in this area.

1. Utilization of erosion resisting residues.
 2. Moisture conservation for maintenance of vegetation.
 3. Emergency cover crops.
 4. Windbreak tree plantings.
 5. Emergency tillage operations.
- To those who are familiar with this area, it is obvious that one of the outstanding needs, from the standpoint of wind erosion prevention is the maintenance of a protective vegetative cover during the periods of high winds. From facts that have been gathered it is an established fact that the desired results can be obtained by the above practices.

The experiences of recent years establishes the fact that erosion by wind, if preventative measures are neglected, is capable of rapid destruction of the usefulness of farm land and it must be resisted by every available control method. A program of prevention with all phases co-ordinated to afford advance preparation against drought hazards and wind erosion is necessary. It is realized that where erosion damage has already occurred, emergency methods and land reconditioning will be necessary before a permanent program for protection can be established. Residue utilization, moisture conservation and tree planting should be well known parts of plains farming system. The erosion prevention practices will constitute economic help to a permanent and stabilized plains farming by bringing about favorable economic additions to the operating efficiency and natural resource conservation. Emergency cover cropping and emergency tillage should be held in reserve to support the permanent erosion practices to be resorted to in extremely unfavorable farming conditions.

VOTES TO ATTEMPT TO OVERRIDE PRES. VETO OF SEED BILL

Saturday the Senate agriculture committee voted to attempt to override the president's veto of the $50,000,000 feed and seed loan bill, and to demand from Secretary Wallace a full report on big AAA benefit payments.

Thirty-nine days have elapsed since Mr. Roosevelt refused to sign the measure. The same senate group that Saturday favored a vote to override had decided weeks ago to let the veto stand. The reversal was attributed to what some senators termed the failure of farmers to obtain loans, despite a $30,000,000 fund promised by the chief executive.

The reporting out of the resolution by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), calling upon Secretary Wallace for a report on big benefit payments, also was hinted by some committeemen to involve a reversal. The agriculture secretary, who at first asserted that the compiling of these figures would tie up the machinery for putting the new soil conservation plan into operation was reported by committeemen to have come forward in the past few days with a pledge of cooperation in efforts to compile the data.

Vandenberg asked reports on all benefit payments above $10,000, but the committee—after its chairman had consulted Wallace — voted to go one better and ask a report on all payments above $1,000. In addition, the revised resolution would call for a statement of the land, crops and cattle involved in the payments.

The following guests were present: Capt. F. O. Wood, District Commander of his staff; Capt. W. W. Spurlin, Sub District Commander; Capt. Oscar D. Groshart, District Surgeon; Capt. H. H. Garrett, District Chaplain; Capt. R. B. Pitts, Motor Transport Officer; Lt. E. H. Barrett, Adjutant; Lt. N. F. Christensen, District Vet.; Lt. J. T. McKee, Asst. Q. M.; and Lt. G. H. Hall, Asst. Adjutant.

The technical service were represented by Mr. W. L. Cowan, State Administrator, ECW, Headquarters, Amarillo, Texas and Mr. Fred Newport, Chief Agronomist, Region 6, Headquarters, Amarillo, Texas.

The city of Littlefield was represented by Mayor Crockett.

Farm Program—

Organization of farmers to administer the program will be under way in many counties before the end of March. The farm demonstration councils or other key farmers will divide the counties up into "communities" of approximately 500 farmers. Each one of these "communities" will then elect three committeemen. These "community" committeemen constitute a County Soil Conservation and Allotment Board. The County Board will elect three of its members to serve as a County Committee. The County Agent will represent the Secretary of Agriculture in the county.

Since the entire acreage of every farm must be listed on the work sheet in planning for the soil conservation work a neutral classification has been set up as well as the three-crop classification.

In general it will be easy to remember that the soil depleting crops are mostly row crops, while the soil conserving and soil building crops are the legumes, grains and grasses that are used for cover crops and to turn under as green manure. The neutral classification includes idle land, fallow land, woodland, non crop land, pastures, yards, lanes, roads, vineyards, and so forth.

20 percent of the base acreage in soil depleting crops must in 1936, be classified as soil conserving or soil building crops in order to qualify for participation in the program. The actual ratio will be determined by adding 20 per cent of the cotton base acreage to 15 per cent of the base acreage of other soil depleting crops. In other words, the required ratio of soil conserving and soil building crops to soil depleting crops on a strictly cotton farm would be 20 per cent; on other farms it would probably be less than this figure.

The maximum cotton acreage on any one farm upon which soil conserving payment will be made is 35 per cent of the cotton base.

No payment will be made for acreage taken out of food and feed crops unless the 1936 acreage in such crops is at least equal to the actual needs of the farm family and work stock.

Corn interplanted with peas will be considered as 50 per cent corn and 50 per cent peas in calculating bases and performance.

The soil conserving payments will be based on the productivity of the land; for cotton it will be five cents per pound; for peanuts 1-4 cents a pound; for rice it will be 20 cents for each 100 pounds of the producer's domestic consumption quota, subject to certain specified agreements; and for the other soil depleting crops the rate per acre will vary among the states and counties, depending upon the productivity of the land.

The division of payment between landlord and tenant is arrived at in two ways. The division of the soil conserving payment is 37 1-2 per cent to the producer who furnishes the land; 12 1-2 per cent to the producer who furnishes the work-stock and equipment; and 50 per cent to be divided among the producers as the crop is divided.

The soil building payment will be made to the producer who has incurred the expense entailed in the soil building crops or practices.

With regard to wheat the situation is rather different, since wheat growers had signed applications for contracts with the Government for a 1936 wheat program. Congress has voted that existing applications are to be considered as obligations and are to be carried out and payments made on them. Wheat farmers may arrange their fall planting in 1936 to be included in the new program later.
