ing Dividend Checks Underway

Large job of issuing and mailing government insurance dividend to eligible World War II veterans got underway in Washington this week, and will continue through the names of the 16,000 veterans have been processed.

... all who served in World War I are eligible and will receive these insurance dividends which will total about $2,000,000, but it is estimated that only half of the 16,000,000 will receive a dividend check in time. Some will be for as little as 90 cents, while the maximum checks will run as high as $100. The average check will be $100.

About 900 Eligible
Check of local records indicate approximately 1800 Lamb County men served in the war, and more than half of that are eligible, and will receive dividend checks in varying amounts.

County To Get $125,000
Probable that 1600 checks received in this county, they approximate the average, it will mean a dividend of $125,000 in this county are expected to go out in the next few weeks, so probable that mid-summer will be before the huge mailings is complete. Checks are machine-written, and a number of these machines will be used.

Deadline For Bids On High School Building Next Tuesday Afternoon

Fourteen possible bidders have evinced an interest in entering bids on the construction of the new half-million dollar high school building, for which the contract will probably be let next Tuesday, according to Supt. Joe Hutchinson. Many sets of plans have been issued to various prospective bidders, upon payment of a returnable deposit fee, but this does not mean that all will decide to enter a bid. The probabilities are that there will actually be a lesser number of bids entered, with accompanying deposit, a bid requirement, when the bidding is closed, next Tuesday afternoon at 2:00 p. m.

Is Open Meeting
The School Board has announced that this meeting of the board, at the hour and date mentioned above is open not only to bidders, and others interested, but to the general public.

The meeting will be opened in the school secretary's office, but if this is not spacious enough to permit all who wish to be present to attend, the meeting will be transferred to the school building.

Many Bids Expected
The school board and architects are optimistic, and naturally hopeful for a large number of bids. However, it is probable that not more than six or eight actual bids will be submitted.

The board is hopeful that the bids will range within the limitations of the bond issue, are even hopeful that some may approximate a considerable lesser figure. All are hopeful that there will be no delay, and that it will be possible to immediately let the contract, that the new building may get underway promptly.

To Attend Kaiser-Frazier Meeting

T. I. Batson and son, Glenn Batson, plan to attend a dealers' meeting of the Kaiser-Frazier corporation at Willow Run, Mich., February 3, following which it is expected that the new 1950 Kaiser-Frazier cars will go on display.

Bill Street Guides Filipino Youth In His Efforts To Attain Career

When Bill Street, local attorney and son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Street, went to the local Santa Fe railroad station last Wednesday afternoon, to meet a war-time buddy, and co-worker, a Filipino lad of 20 years, Robert Gonzales, a new chapter, an exciting one, and most probably a profitable one, started to unfold for this young man, because, through Bill's counsel and advice, the young Filipino will enroll at Texas Tech in a few days, at the start of the second semester, to begin what he hopes will be a full-time course in medicine.

Stationed In Philippines
Bill Street, as a lieutenant in Uncle Sam's armed forces, and who after his own graduation from Tech, was employed as a clerk in the local postoffice, found himself stationed in the Philippines, and again back in the postal service, only now it was not in the handling of civilian mail, but instead the mail he now handled was the thousands of letters between the boys in service, and the folks back home, most of it addressed "care postmaster, San Francisco, California," or just "APO."

Finds a Willing Helper
It took a lot of help to handle all of this mail, and Bill, stationed at Clark Field Air Base, near Angeles, a town in the Philippine Islands, needed help, and manpower was still at a premium. Local recruits and helpers were needed, and one of the men assigned to assist in this Army postoffice was this same young man, mentioned in the opening paragraph, Robert Gonzales.

He was a good boy and a good worker, and between the two there sprang up a friendship. The young man still had not finished high school, and as a matter of fact, there just wasn't any high school available then—the war had taken care of that.

But as the friendship ripened, Bill and the young man talked about education, and the educational opportunities back in the United States, and young Gonzales, resolved that nothing was going to stop him, from first, completed his high school courses, and then a trip to the United States, and a course in college.

Guy Brown Receives First G-I Check

Guy Brown, manager of the South Plains Motor company, received on Monday what he believes is the first GI insurance check to be received in Lamb county, it being numbered 004, which would mean the fourth check issued at Washington. The check was for $198.00.

Mr. Brown served three years with the Air Force, two years of which were spent overseas in the European area. He served as flight engineer and received a number of decorations and war medals.

Pat Mann Elected Vice-President C. of C. Association

Pat Mann was elected to serve as vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce Managers' association of West Texas, filling the unexpired term made by the resignation of David Nicholson of Brownfield, who is now out of the profession. He was elected Saturday, when the group met at Big Spring for a business meeting, and to make plans for the annual convention of the C. C. M. A. of West Texas.

Tentative dates for the annual meeting have been set for April 13-14-15, with headquarters at Big Spring. The local secretary is a member of the program committee.

MARCH OF DIMES UNDERWAY; $10,000 GOAL FOR LAMB COUNTY

A total of $354.83 was donated in Littlefield the first day of the March of Dimes campaign, which opened in Lamb county and the nation, Monday.

A check for $200.00 was given by an individual. The O-Si-Do Dance club gave $100.00; and the M. W. Club, gave $50.00. During the Christmas holidays, members of the kindergarten class, under the direction of the instructor, Mrs. Q. T. Belolmy, presented a Christmas program at the high school auditorium, and a free will offering was taken for the polio drive, and a total of $49.83, was turned over to G. M. Shaw, chairman of the drive.

A quota of $10,000 has been set for this year, due to the fact that the incidence of polio in both state and nation approached an all-time high during 1949, and also to the fact that as a result of this heavy incidence, the local chapter incurred an indebtedness of $3,000 last year in meeting its obligations. The $3000.00 debt, which must be liquidated, the $10,000 goal figure was set at what seemed a minimum by the group who gathered to plan the drive.

Those attending from here will include Wolfe Shaw, county chairman; M. O. Mitchell, county fund cooperative chairman; Joe Salem, county vice-chairman; and Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Brandon, Mrs. Brandon is local secretary of the American Red Cross.

To Attend Dallas Red Cross Meeting

Several local American Red Cross executives will go to Dallas next Wednesday to attend an all-day meeting. They will have the opportunity of hearing Gen. George C. Marshall, National Red Cross chairman, who will be principal speaker at a banquet to be held that evening at Adolphus hotel.

The Private Flying Forum By "Ernie" Bode

There's good news for the private flyer and flying businessman. Two new airplanes hold good the promise that flying will be even more practical in the future. One airplane I'm referring to is the new four-place Piper Pacer with 125 hp engine and 123 mph cruising speed; the other is a four-place plane by Aeronca that will take off in 100 feet, fly as slow as 28 mph, or as fast as 130 mph. Aeronca is just in the development stage now but it won't be long until you'll be able to literally fly out of your own back yard! The Aeronca 4-placer is being developed from the patents that were bought from Profs. Koppen and Bolenger who developed the original airplane that performed like that and called it the Heliplane.

The local (that is to say American) airline transport builders had better snap into some high-goal planning and building! Rumor has it that Pioneer is seriously considering buying a foreign-built airplane to use on their lines because the foreign-built airplane is cheaper to operate and out-performs American designs. It's a well-known fact in aviation circles that Britain is five years ahead of the U.S.A. on the development of jet-transports. I suppose that the airlines of this nation are being neglected in the mad scramble of manufacturers for military contracts. This policy could easily prove to be a crippling bottle-neck in case of an emergency—such as Pearl Harbor.

Flying on the local scene is progressing to a much brighter picture. Littlefield's airport was actually crowded last Sunday with both spectators and flight operations. The spot-landing contest and paper-cutting contest were both postponed until next Sunday. It seems that not enough people heard about the event in time and preferred to postpone the events at a more convenient time. That gives me a chance to invite EVERYONE to come out and spend some time at YOUR airport.

Well, Jack Givens rolled out his Reaswin (Little Jewel) and "fired 'er up" for the first time since last August. Jack says he thinks he will fly it next Sunday on its test hop.

Bob Dillard flew Sunday night and "Scotty" put in the usual hours. Herb Owens flew his Ercope to Knox City on a visit while Herb Jr got in some "windy X-country" time to Tucumcari and back. Rumors are drifting around about an experimental airplane that is on the planning board to be built locally—so far its mostly mystery. Roy Ferguson put in a bit of Ercope flying and some passengers took some rides over Littlefield—as usual, they liked it. Vic Streetman scooted in from Austin and the hanger doors were closed. — Well, so long until next time. —"Ernie"

CONTACT MAN (A Short Story) By RICHARD HILL WILKINSON

THIS WAS A JOB that Jerry hated even though it involved getting a free dinner at the Plaza. Heretofore the Plaza had been a mystic and glittering part of another world, frequented by people whose incomes were more per week than his was for year.

At first when Old Man Harrington assigned him to the task of conferring with George Stanton once a month, Jerry had been thrilled. George was sales manger for the Harrington Rubber works. He earned $15,000 a year and had an expense account. On the first of every month he visited the main plant, and it was Jerry's job to spend the day with him, answering questions and appraising him of any new policies that might have been adopted by the company. Jerry was assistant superintendent of the finishing department and earned $4,500 a year.

"I'm leaving for Chicago this afternoon," George said. He grinned. "Better take the rest of the day off and shoot some golf. The old man thinks you're with me, and he'll never know."

He had liked the job at first because George Stanton always took him to the Plaza to dinner and talked to him as though he were an equal. That was the mockery of it: George treating him like an equal when George made $15,000 and Jerry made $4,500. George talking of buying new cars and attending the new shows and playing golf when Jerry could barely afford to take his wife to the movies once a week. George flashing a roll big enough to choke an elephant when he paid the dinner check, and Jerry poignantly conscious of the fact that there was but a half dollar in his own pocket.

It occurred to him that George Stanton wasn't any smarter than he. George Stanton hadn't worked any harder nor was he any more deserving, yet look where he was. Fifteen thousand and an expense account! Doing and having everything Jerry had ever wanted. Considered a big shot by his family and his friends. It was unjust and unfair, Jerry thought bitterly. You worked like a slave trying to get ahead, and no one noticed. They only noticed when you made some unconsequential error in reckoning, then they came down on you like a ton of brick. And you had to take it, act humble and apologetic, because you were afraid of losing your job. George Stanton with $15,000 per annum and money in the bank had acquired an air of confidence. He had a way of talking that inspired confidence in others. A good income did that to a man. No one ever came down on George like a ton of brick.

"Well, Jerry, how, have things been going at the factory this month?" George was saying. And Jerry felt like telling him everything was lousy and that old man Harrington ought to be shot for paying experienced help so little. But he didn't. Instead he gave George a detailed account of all that had happened. He was afraid that George might tell old man Harrington if he didn't.

"I'm leaving for Chicago this afternoon," George said. He grinned. "Better take the rest of the day off and shoot some golf. The old man thinks you're with me, and he'll never know."

Jerry nodded and returned the grin. He shook hands with George and they parted. The grin left Jerry's face. "Shoot some golf!" he said to himself bitterly. "That's a laugh. It takes money to shoot some golf."

He did consider attending a movie, but the idea of it provoked a sense of guilt and instead he boarded a car and went back to the factory. He'd been in his office 10 minutes when Old Man Harrington sent for him.

"I just had a phone call from Stanton," Harrington said. "He said you might be shooting golf this afternoon."

Jerry colored and boiled inside, thinking how he'd like to punch George Stanton in the nose. Old Man Harrington continued:

"Jerry, that was a test. I put George up to it. I wanted to see if you'd take advantage of an opportunity to shirk your duty." He paused, and Jerry blinked. "For the past six months, Jerry, I've been having George question you. It was a way I had of finding out if you knew as much as I thought you did about the business. You see, I need a new contact man for the middle West. It'll be quite an advancement — $10,000 a year and expenses. It's a responsible position. And there's plenty of chance for further advancement. Each month George has made his report to me on the result of his questioning you. He recommends you highly. Jerry, the job is yours, if you'll take it."

Jerry swayed and clutched at the desk. He blinked and swallowed and tried to speak and couldn't. Old Man Harrington smiled and nodded understandingly. "All right, Jerry. You can thank me later." And he held out his hand, and Jerry gripped it.

Sorghum Seed Hi-Breeding Project Gets Underway At Spade

DeKalb, Ill., Seed Company Locates In Lamb County

Branner Farm Is Leased and New Machinery Set Up

A project which will mean thousands of dollars to the farmers of this area is getting underway at Spade.

This is a grain sorghum seed hi-breeding project, and being established by a DeKalb, Ill., large seed company, under the management of Glenn H. Kukendall, a specialist in this work from Cookeville, Tenn.

Project on Branner Farm
The project is now being set up on the C. D. and Ben Branner farm, four miles north, one east and one-half mile north of Spade, which has been leased by the Illinois concern. Mr. Kukendall and his parents have already arrived, and are getting set up ready to begin work. Some farm machinery has arrived, and it is understood more will be purchased.

Foundation Seed Here
Some hi-bred seed has also arrived to be used as foundation seed on the project.

To Produce Hi-Bred Seed
It has been stated by experts that considerable money is lost in Lamb county to farmers due to the low grade of seed, and the purpose of the above project will be to produce hi-bred sorghum seed, so that larger and better crops of sorghum feeds may be raised and the seed bring a larger income to the South Plains growers.

According to reports the Illinois concern decided to come to Lamb county because they believe that this is the most suitable location for the growing of sorghum feed and the breeding of hi-bred seeds.

Three Candles"—the candles of joy, of fellowship and of hope. We quote from the first, for little children respond to joy by their very natures: "Joy may not result from a single fact or a particular series of events but, rather, it is often a climate within which the experience of life find their setting. There is much in the lives of those around us, there is much in our own lives, and there is much in the terrible facts of our world which threatens the joyful mood, the singing spirit. This I do not deny. But I still believe that wherever there is life, there is the raw material of joy. So even as I look unhappy details squarely in the face, I shall light the candle of joy in my heart this Christmas, a candle that must burn all the year long."

A SMALL CHILD'S RELIGIOUS education is a day by day absorption of his parents' reverence for the good and the beautiful in life. Prayers and going to Sunday school and listening to Bible stories are, of course, a part of this. But the deepest influence, in these years before your child can grasp the idea of God, is your own belief in a loving creator. This is reflected in your everyday hopefulness and kindness, in your spirit of fellowship with all the people your child encounters, in your protective attitude toward animals and all growing things. Given this sense of reverence, which is a combination of wonder and gratefulness, your child will be ready to believe when he is older. What he believes isn't the beginning step—first he must acquire a capacity for belief.

The next step—guiding a child's faith into what you yourself believe, which is your privilege and your duty, even if later he chooses a different form of worship—is best accomplished in the beginning through story, art and music. Bowing the head, or making a cross, or covering the head can be taught as manners are taught—but they have less meaning for a child than that Mary loved her baby dearly, or that David, with God's help, could face up to a giant.

The blaring of Christmas carols from street corners has almost destroyed this special form of family worship. But try to hold on to it, at least for the youngest children whom you can to a degree protect from street music and too much radio. And reading from the psalms, or the story of Nativity as Luke so beautifully recorded it, brings joy even to the three-year-old. We don't have to know why these words gladden childish hearts—just let them work their spell of mystery and miracle.

For that is what the Christmas observance is designed to preserve; that is the meaning of the catch in the throat which even the most blasé moderns experience—that the mystery of our existence may, after all, despite threats of atomic warfare, be a vast, scarcely tapped reservoir of love, of which the Christ and other great religious prophets gave man a glimpse.

As a Christmas message, I should like to quote from an editorial written by the Reverend Howard Thurman, minister of the San Francisco church for the Fellowship of All Peoples. It is called, "I Will Light

HOTTEST ENGINE NEWS of 1950

That's the word spreading about Buick's brand-new F-263 valve-in-head engine, already proving itself in the hands of new SUPER owners

CALL it if you will the biggest power-story of the year. Call it another triumph in Buick's long history of coming up with car performance beyond compare.

But, sir, when you step into the sleek-lined traveler pictured here—hang on to your hat.

For you'll be riding behind a power plant that is not only new but a major sensation of the 1950 season.

You'll be commanding the very latest word in valve-in-head power—the newest accomplishment of the organization with the country's longest stretch of experience in this engine design.

Here every fist-size fuel charge now delivers a huskier wallop. Shorter, lighter connecting rods mean that pistons flash with faster and livelier action.

Heavier crankshafts, floated on bigger, more rugged bearings, take this greater load and transmit its stepped-up surge to the drive shaft and rear wheels.

And you, behind the wheel, breathe your face in smiles at the lift you find! At the trigger-quick take-off—the mile-eating cruising stride—your easy disdain for the passing gas pumps.

You and your SUPER are really stepping out—and Buick's good name as "a sweetheart on the road" gains still more lustre.

Nor is road-thrill the only blessing this new power plant brings. Simpler design makes service easier, so upkeep diminishes as a problem. Hydraulic valve-lifters keep valves properly seated for efficient operation—and for quiet unbroken by tappet noise. And you can have this power with Buick's easy-shifting Mesh transmission or the silkiness of Dynaflo Drive.*

Either way, this SUPER is something to see. To this new power it adds style and comfort and a wide outlook, stride and handier new over-

Even the price justifies a pro to your Buick dealer to let about Buick for 1950. You'll why so many folks are already "Whatever your price range buy Buick!"

*Standard on ROADMASTER extra cost on SUPER and LUXURY

MENTAL FEED PREVENTS LIVESTOCK LOSSES

Predict the weather in the Cotton Belt, old saying that strangers try to her. Sure, though, about February weather. When livestock event costly losses animals in vigorous owing a good supply program. Light losses are eas- of poor winter nu- ves, poor milking ubles are equally improper feeding onths. Mature win- the protein which eep cattle produc- n many pastures, of mature grass is winter rains and rease the need for feed intake. Supplemental feeding should begin before winter weather sets in and continue until spring pasture growth is sufficient to satisfy the needs of the cows and calves. Protein is the most commonly needed winter supplement. The concentrated protein in cottonseed meal, cake or pellets furnishes the protein requirements of the cattle and helps to make better use of the mature pasture forage the cattle get from the pasture. The high phosphorus content of cottonseed cake, meal or pellets is an added value for winter feeding. The phosphorus content of range and farm grasses, like protein, decreases rapidly as they mature and are leached by winter rains. Feed dry cows about 1½ pounds of cottonseed cake, meal or pellets, per head daily. Bred cows need 2 to 2½ pounds for 60 days before calving. After cows have calved the daily allowance should be increased to 2½ to 3 pounds, per head daily, to promote good milk flow and keep the cows in good condition for prompt breeding. Feeding 1 to 2 pounds of cottonseed meal or cake to steers being wintered on grass will keep them gaining commercially during the winter and maintain good health for fast growth when spring grass is available. During extended snowstorms or when grazing is very short it is often necessary to feed some dry roughage such as cottonseed hulls or hay. This dry roughage replaces the forage which the cattle are unable to obtain from the pasture but does not decrease the need for protein supplement. Often, on the range, it is more practical to increase the daily allowance of the highly concentrated cottonseed cake or pellets because feeding is easier and less transportation is re-

Bill Street—

The family was poor, his father was dead, and there was a brother and a sister. But somehow, the young man persevered, and managed. Last year he received his high school degree of graduation.

In the meantime, from the Philippines came regular letters to Bill, and back over the ocean lanes went the replies, with Bill encouraging, and promising to guide and help the young man, when he came "to the States" after graduation.

Guest in Street Home

That day came last Wednesday, and the young man has since been a guest in the Street home, as with Bill Street's assistance and guidance he has made his arrangements for enrollment at Tech. February 1, will be the gala day for both—because second semester opens on that day.

Arrangements have been made for a room, and the young man has also rapidly been acquiring the know-how of living in the United States, and about and over it all he is bright-eyed, and enthusiastic.

To Work Part Time

Money is still not too plentiful in the family of Gonzales, but the young man has saved, and Bill is going to help him find part-time employment, to enable him to earn a part of his expenses—to earn as he learns.

The young man has had opportunity to meet numerous local people, and he makes, and acquires friends quickly.

Small in Stature

He is small in stature, a characteristic of the Filipino, standing probably not more than five feet in height. But the ready smile, and ultra politeness of the young man, immediately make him friends.

This week he was interviewed over the local radio station, and his ready conversation on many subjects won him more new friends.

He almost idolizes Bill, and you know that a big spot in Bill's heart certainly is not cold, for his young friend, and former co-worker. It is, in fact, warm enough, so that, for better or worse for a way, Bill is going to see that this young man gets his college education.

He has not said much about his plans, after getting that degree, but somehow, we seem to sense that his ultimate goal is to make use of the medical education opportunity that has become his, by doing something for his own people back in the Islands.

Some of these days, perhaps if you should visit the Philippine Islands, if you wander down a main street of Manila, or possibly, just Angelus, you will see a modest shingle hanging out which will read in simple letters, "Robert Gonzales, M. D."

Yes, there is some good in everything—maybe—yes certainly—even in wars.

contributions may be made.

Funds Exhausted

All funds in this county are completely exhausted, and success of the campaign is a must, if this county is to continue its responsibility for all cases in this county, and the expense thereof, until a complete cure, or dismissal is effected.

After these have been cared for, 50 per cent of the funds remaining at the end of the year, are transferred to national headquarters of the organization.

The local drive is part of a nationwide effort toward the same goals, which is now underway.

To clean the narrow streets of Bombay, Indian, 265 motorcars will be purchased, to replace the present bullock carts.

CHURCH NEWS

St. Martin's Church Installs Officers

At its regular services last Sunday, St. Martin Lutheran church on West Tenth street, installed newly-elected officers of the church council. They were elected at the annual meeting January 8.

W. P. Neinst was installed as deacon and Bruno Ganzer was installed as secretary.

Rev. Carl Schulte announced that the Sunday school teachers would be installed next Sunday. Members of the staff elected at the meeting were: Mrs. Edna Bourlon, superintendent; Miss Lillie Harms, as teacher for the intermediates.

Mission Society To Hold Regular Meeting

Emmanuel Lutheran's most important organization, the Mission Society, will hold its regular monthly meeting this Thursday, January 19, beginning at 8:35 p. m. The society members, made up of members of the congregation, will have the privilege of seeing the movie, "The Autobiography of a Tract," which makes clear the importance and effectiveness of the humble Gospel tract. Other business pertaining to this group will be taken care of at this gathering.

The Society, dedicated to the cause of leading sinners to the Saviour, is the avenue through which information and inspiration is shed abroad in the hearts of the participants.

Pastors and Laymen To Hold Meeting

Dr. Robert L. Dobson, head of the Bible department of Wayland college, Plainview, will bring lectures on the book of Ephesians at the annual Panhandle Pastor's and Laymen's Conference to be held at Wayland February 13 and 14.

Dr. W. Boyd Hunt, pastor of the First Baptist church of Houston, will use as the theme of his messages during the conference, "The Need for Vital Christianity in Today's World." This program is planned especially for the men in districts 8, 9, and 10, including Amarillo, Lubbock, and Big Spring.

The Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Thy righteousness is an everlasting righteousness, and thy law is the truth" (Psalms 119:142).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Truth, Life, and Love are a law of annihilation to everything unlike themselves, because they declare nothing except God" (page 243).

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"Truth" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 22.

The Golden Text is: "The Lord is nigh unto all them that call upon him, to all that call upon Him in truth" (Psalms 145:18).

ADDRESSES LOCAL LUTHERAN CHURCH

Ben Siebel, director of Lutheran Welfare Society of Texas, addressed St. Martin Lutheran church on West Tenth street, and stressed the importance of rehabilitation and child placement into truly Christian homes.

Mr. Siebel came to Littlefield on a field tour for the society which owns and operates Trinity Lutheran Homes at Round Rock, Texas, among other interests. Mr. Siebel addressed American Lutheran congregations at Levelland, Littlefield, Lockney, and Lubbock. His colleague, the Rev. Moore, addressed congregations at Posey, Southland, Wilson, and Lamesa.

Mr. Siebel arrived in a pick-up truck, and many of the members of St. Martin contributed toward the cause of Lutheran welfare by donating jars of canned fruit or sacks of grain. Numerous cash gifts were also received for the cause.

Emmanuel Lutheran Church News

Funeral services for Dr. Walter A. Maier, famous radio speaker for the Lutheran Hour, an international broadcast of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, were held in St. Louis, at 12:30 on Wednesday, January 11, having reached an age of 57 years. He was stricken with a coronary thrombosis on Thursday, December 29.

Dr. Maier was not only known as an international radio speaker, but also served his church as an organizer of the youth in the International Walther League, as a professor of Semitic languages and Old Testament history at Concordia Theological Seminary, St. Louis, as editor and author, and especially as a popular speaker at large mass gatherings from coast to coast. He was known far and wide as a champion of the inspiration of the Bible, the deity of Christ, and salvation alone by faith in Jesus Christ.

The Lutheran Hour, an international broadcast, was started in 1930 by Dr. Maier over a nationwide network of the Columbia Broadcasting system. Early in 1935 it returned to the air over two Mutual stations. Under his able guidance the Lutheran Hour became the largest religious radio broadcast on the air. Today approximately 600 stations carry it—over the Mutual Broadcasting system, the American Broadcasting system, private stations and foreign as well.

For many years, Dr. Maier served as editor of the Walther League Messenger, a youth publication, and as author of eighteen books, his most popular being, "For Better, Not For Worse," counsel for prospective brides and bridegrooms.

Dr. Maier is survived by his wife, Mrs. Hulda Maier and two sons, Walter Arthur Jr., pastor of Faith Lutheran church, Elma, New York, and Paul Lutheran, a student at Harvard university.

Last Sunday morning, after Rev. Heckmann, pastor of the congregation, addressed the worshippers on "The State of the Parish," and the newly-elected officers of Em-

GEMS OF THOUGHT EXPERIENCE

However learned or eloquent, man knows nothing truly that he has not learned from experience.

The rules which experience suggests are better than those which theorists elaborate in their libraries.

It may serve as a comfort to us in all our calamities and afflictions, that he who loses anything and gets wisdom by it, is a gainer by the loss.

Life consists in the alternate process of learning and unlearning, but it is often wiser to unlearn than to learn.

In all instances where our experience of the past has been extensive and uniform, our judgment as to the future amounts to moral certainty.

Christian experience teaches faith in the right and disbelief in the wrong. It bids us work the more earnestly in times of persecution, because then our labor is more needed.

Stop Killing

OUR FUTURE CUSTOMERS

Strange, says you, that an automobile dealer should make a plea for safe driving when he stands to make a profit from repairing smashed up vehicles. Therefore, some people reason the more crack-ups, the better for business.

If you want it that way, let's be brutal; while crack-ups increase business for the service department every crack-up means injuries—sometimes death. So, please, stop killing our future customers.

Our mechanics can rebuild a torn auto body; in fact, they take great pride in doing so. But they can't rebuild the people who get smashed up. They can't rebuild the torn fragments of youngsters who've been hit by a car in the hands of a careless driver.

Don't blame accidents on speed alone. Speed and faulty brakes are death partners. Remember that power was built into a motor for safety's sake too. That power, properly used, can prevent accidents.

The automobile is an instrument of pleasure. It opens new horizons. But it can be a killer and close a life—your life or that of the child next door. Today's precision built automobiles are literally loaded with safety features. But all the safety gadgets in the world won't be enough to save a life if carelessness is in the driver's seat.
