The 10th annual Littlefield Jaycee rodeo will be held June 24 and 25 at the fairgrounds rodeo arena, with the entire production under the supervision of Laman and Hardaway, top rodeo producers in this area.

Tickets for the rodeo will go on sale early next week, and may be obtained from members of the Jaycees or at the Chamber of Commerce office in Littlefield.

West Texas weeklies showed superiority over the rest of the state in the TPA contests. Of all the semi-weeklies around the state who entered the contests, the Colorado City paper was judged the best, and the Hereford Brand second best.

In the weeklies printed in towns of less than 2000 population, Farwell's State Line Tribune was the sweepstakes winner and the Matador-Tribune was either second or third. I've forgotten which. In that same division, the Earth News, published by our former foreman Ross Middleton, won first place in column writing and second in general excellence—a remarkable achievement for a newspaper less than a year old.

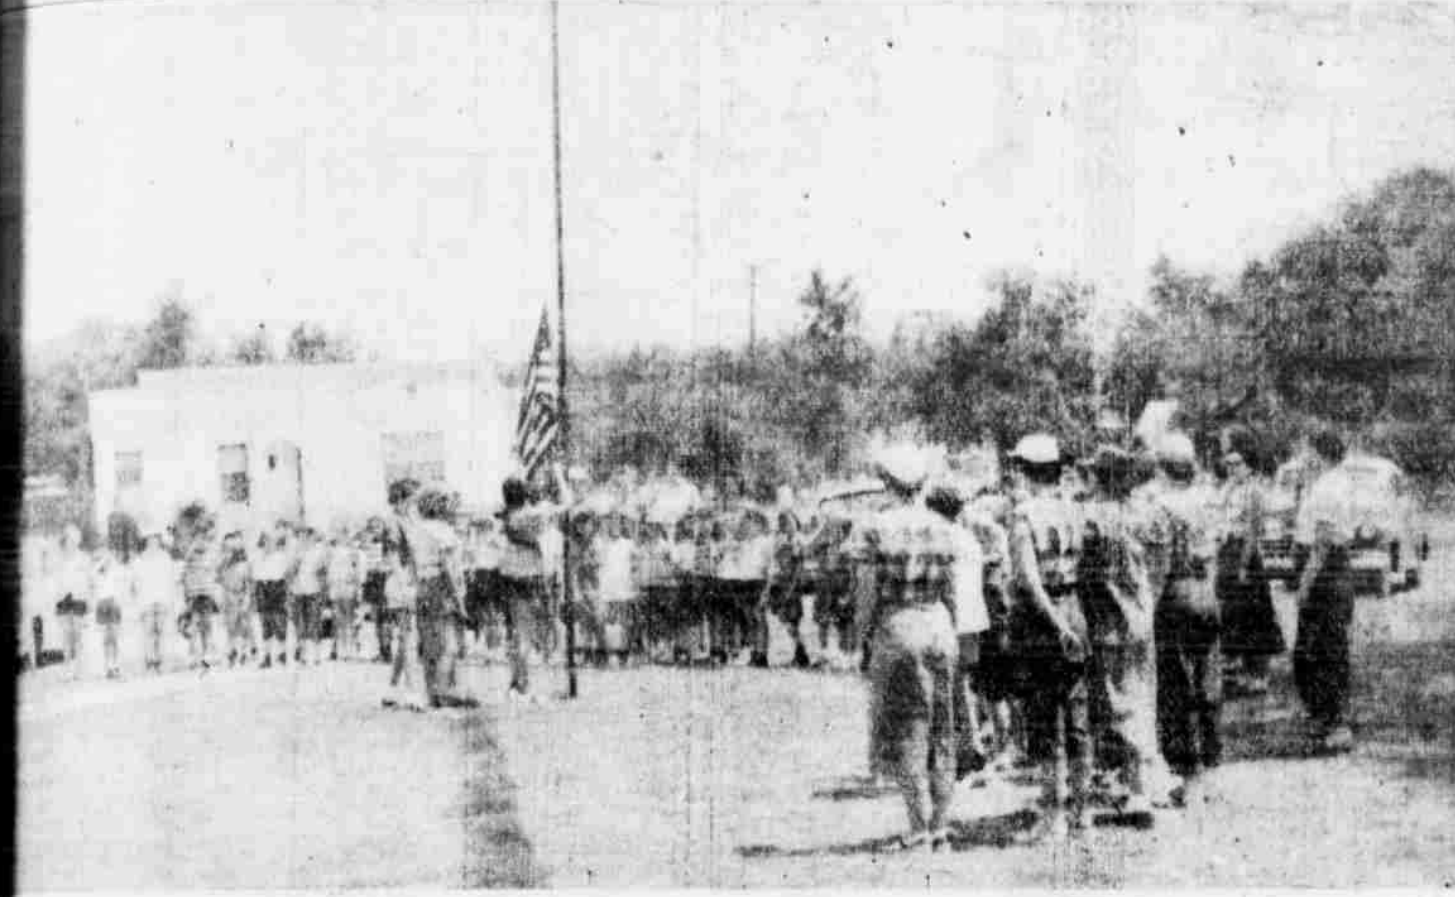

The superiority of the West Texas weeklies is due mostly, we think, to the fact that they are better supported by their communities than is the case in East and South Texas. It takes money to produce a good newspaper.

Seeing our neighbors winning pretty plaques and applause made us sorry we didn't enter the contests too. But when the entries had to be submitted, we were busy on Hysterical Ed and the state contests seemed far away and unimportant.

Vice-president Nixon's speech sounded as if it had been edited by too many people and the life all taken out of it. But he held a press conference immediately afterward and some 300 state editors managed to ask him some tough questions. He gave straight forward answers that highly impressed a group not easily impressed.

Before his speech he received a bouquet of roses from Tyler's Rose Queen, a deed on a one-jillionth interest in a part of an oil well owned by Texas Millionaires Oil Co., a commission as an admiral in the Texas Navy and a coonskin cap from the citizens of Crockett. The photographers tried to get him to put the cap on, but he pointed out that it was the trade mark of a Tennessee senator with whom he did not want to become confused.

Duggan Field Interest Is Rejected By Commission

The Lamb County Commissioners Court Monday rejected a one-half interest in Duggan airport, making, in effect, the city of Littlefield sole title holder to the airport property and all the improvements on the field. The action was taken in a meeting of the County Commissioners Monday afternoon, when Mayor Ray Keeling and City Commissioner Jim Mangum appeared before the Commission to discuss the problem.

According to the records of the Commissioners' Court, the Court never accepted a deed to half interest in the airport, and on Monday rejected the deed, turning the entire title over to the city.

The airport was originally deeded to the city and county, with a provision that both groups continue to support the project and make improvements as needed. Both the county and city have fulfilled this part of the original deed, but the county had not ever taken any official action to accept its share of the deed.

Mayor Ray Keeling received a certified copy of the minutes of the meeting wherein the county rejected the deed.

A meeting of the Littlefield City Commission will be held to take action on the courts order concerning the airport.

Nearly News

Everybody is asking me if it's true what they say about Galveston. And I just have to admit I don't know. Nowadays I go to press conventions just to hear the speeches. And if you read all the speeches there just isn't any time left for scientific research.

But I can sure tell you about the speeches. For instance, there was Cairo Brown's remark when receiving the convention's congratulations on winning a Pulitzer prize. (She won it for her series of stories in the Alibi Echo which exposed so much of the corruption and rule of fear in Duval County that a clean-up finally took place.) Her response to the honors bestowed upon her at the convention was, "All that I am I owe to George B. Parr."

Public Square Paving Bids To Be Open July 11 at Courthouse

Bids will be opened at 10 a. m., July 11 by the Lamb County Commissioners' Court for the construction of paving and landscaping of the public square around the courthouse and city hall.

Asli Engineering Co., of Odessa, delivered plans and specifications for the project to a meeting of the Commissioners' Court and the Littlefield City Commission Monday afternoon.

The engineer revealed that samples of the top soil on the square show a high caliche content, making it unnecessary to add more caliche as an underbase for hot topping processes, thereby reducing the original cost estimate considerably.

The city and county are to share the cost of the project, which will include parking areas, walks, and landscaping of the entire block around the buildings at the head of Phelps avenue.

The city will sell the fireman's house located next to the city hall at public auction at 9 a. m. June 30, with the successful bidder to remove the building within seven days.

BUILDINGS IN THE NEWS. These two structures figured prominently in local news this week. The top photo of Duggan field hangar is of the building that was turned over to the Littlefield City Commission Monday by the Commissioner's Court, along with the field and all improvements. The field may be moved in the near future as a safety precaution. The lower photo is old Central school building, which the school board is advertising for bids to have demolished. A new central school is expected to be ready by September, and the old building is going to be torn down. (Staff Photo)

GHOST TOWN COMEBACK

RICO, Colo. (AP)—This town, whose gold and silver mining history began in 1869 and faded in the early 1900's, is staging a comeback. Sulphuric acid, an important ingredient in processing uranium ore soon will be produced at the rate of 150 tons a day in a plant being constructed here. Uranium mills within a 100-mile radius of Rico now depend on supplies from Utah. Most of the workers in the town's 4500 population help mine iron pyrite from which the sulphuric acid is made.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Manley, 621 East Seventeenth street, was the scene of a most beautiful pink and blue shower Monday evening honoring Mrs. Elwood Smith. Hostesses assisting Mrs. Manley were Mrs. Kenneth Hinkle and Mrs. T. L. Dunlap.

The Lions continued their hitting streak as they brought two more runs across the plate. George Nicholson and Johnny Weaver, who both doubled, scored. Osbourne, Milton and Myers were left on base.

High time you discovered the difference in Dodge!

Next time you're driving around town, just notice the number of gleaming new Dodge cars you see on the street!

Then ask yourself: "What is it these people have found out about the new Dodge that's causing this landslide of popular favor?"

Part of it, of course, is the new Dodge styling. You can see at a glance how much bigger and more luxurious this car is—up to 9 inches longer than its competitors.

But the real story behind the rush to Dodge is this: People are discovering the difference in the way Dodge cars are engineered and built!

They discover it in the solid, substantial feel of the car—the way it handles and rides. They learn to appreciate it in the deep-down goodness of every part and feature: Doors that don't rattle. Body joints that don't squeak. Windows that work smoothly.

There is really no substitute for the dependability that is built into Dodge. Isn't it time you discovered this difference for yourself?

REDDY'S Farm Report

FROM THE AGRICULTURAL DEVELOPMENT DEPARTMENT
SOUTHWESTERN PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY

Automatic equipment for delivering fresh, cool, clean, running water to the point of consumption is your greatest asset for keeping your poultry enterprise in the money making column. This fact is proven by two successful poultry raisers in Randall County, Texas.

Mr. Glenn Laing who raises 5,000 broilers under one roof at the same time uses an electric pump to deliver fresh, clean water to the broilers. "Chickens grow faster when they have plenty of water and rapid growth is a 'must' for the broiler raiser," says Mr. Laing.

Mr. Harry Widick, a neighbor of Mr. Laing's in Randall County has over 500 laying hens in cages. He maintains a flock average of 80% production and he contributes this high percentage to the constant supply of clean, fresh water running for his laying hens. The water is allowed to circulate through the trough and on out to the trees around his poultry house. The water runs slowly, carrying away trash and impurities that normally collect in a water trough of that type. This means healthier, disease free, chickens, and time saved because the watering equipment needs less cleaning.

Simple-to-install watering trough gives fresh, running water at all times assuring continuous egg laying.

Proper feeding is essential to high production but it is the water that enables the birds to make the most profitable use of the feed. The water should be cool in the summer—warm in the winter. Feed is expensive, but water is inexpensive and when it is pumped electrically under pressure, a few cents spent on fresh, clean running water really puts your feed dollar to work.

More than one-half of the bird's body and over two-thirds of the egg is water. Tests prove that 400 birds drinking 178 pounds of water daily laid 54 more eggs per hen than those that drank under 130 pounds of water daily. At least two parts water for each one part of feed consumed is required for proper digestion.

Below, Mr. Glenn Laing observes automatic feeding and watering system in his 5,000 chick broiler house.

Mrs. Olan Crump and Frances and Jo Ann Neel attended junior camp at Ceta Canyon last week, fast at the church June 8, and cleaned and waxed the church pews.

Gwen Petty Is New Basketball Coach at Whitharral School

LUCKY ARREST
NORFOLK Va. (AP)—State Trooper Walter Branch tells this one: Branch got up to 95 miles per hour before he was able to halt a speeding motorist. Branch said he was just plain mad when he saw that the speeder was accompanied by his wife and a small child. The driver emerged with a scowl on his face denied he was driving as fast as the trooper said, and began to express his opinion of the officer in no uncertain terms. Having developed a thick skin Branch let the remarks fall on deaf ears as he wrote out a summons to court.

Just then a tire blew out on a front wheel of the motorist's car. "Friend, if I hadn't stopped you I might have been called to help gather up the bodies of your wife and child," Branch said.

The officer said the speeder acted as if he had been hit by a .45 calibre bullet.

"If there ever was a damn fool who needed a traffic ticket I'm one," the speeder said.

WHITHARRAL (Spade) Gwen Petty, son of county superintendent and Mrs. T. Petty has been hired by the board as basketball coaching teacher of the Whitharral high school.

Petty, a basketball player at Levelland and Waynesboro, Plainview, will graduate from Sam Houston State College in Huntsville in August. He has coached basketball for two years. Petty will succeed Faber, coach here for the past two years. He will be assistant ball coach.

This leaves only one vacancy in the faculty roster, that of grade teacher.

Mrs. Sonny Morgan has been named to the position as Tax Collector recently vacated by resignation of Miss Y. Shier who held the post for past 18 months.

Kicking Against the Goad

By TOMMY WILLIAMS, Minister

"Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? It is hard for thee to kick against the goad" (Acts 26: 14—American Standard Version).

The "goad" was a sharp piece of metal stuck in the end of a shaft. It was used to urge oxen onward when they were pulling the plow. It is easy to see that if the ox became rebellious and kicked against the goad, he would only be adding to his own pain and discomfort. Thinking himself to be fighting the goad, he would actually be fighting himself.

At the time Jesus said these things to Saul, Saul was spending his full energies in resisting the cause of Christianity—even to the extent of persecuting Christians, and thus persecuting the Lord himself.

But Saul was not the only one who ever "kicked against the goad". So does the person who opposes the purposes of God's mercy in his own life, regardless of how vehemently a man may protest against the call of God's will to him to turn and be submissive to it, he only fights self. To resist the Lord can only add to a person's misery.

It is significant that few people who know the will of God can resist calmly and complacently. Those who resist seem to think it need voice their opposition a great show of boldness. Why so? Is it not because there is within them the subtle knowledge that they are condemning themselves to an inward submission to the will of God? They find themselves "kicking against the

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
 BY DR. KENNETH L. FOREMAN
 Background Scriptures: II Chronicles 24-31, Kings 22
 Devotional Reading: Psalm 122
Before Worship
 Lesson for June 19, 1955

I DON'T seem to get much out of church. You can hear that complaint too often. Maybe you have made it yourself. Let's leave the question of the sermon out of the picture. The sermon isn't all you go to church for. The object of that meeting, on Sunday morning or whenever it is, is to bring you closer to God, to make God real to you, to send you back into your every-day life with a radiant heart and a mind at peace.

Dr. Foreman

The object of your going to church is, in one word, Worship. Hymns, prayers, offering, meditation, sermon—all of it ought to blend into one blessed experience of worship, that is to say, an experience in which you and others with you meet with God. Why doesn't this always happen? Maybe the fault is with the people, not with the minister alone. One good preacher can't make a good service all by himself.

Encouraging the Minister

In the Bible story of Josiah and his great Passover, there are some valuable suggestions that even after all these years and all these changes can help us too. The Passover was the great festival of worship among the ancient Jews; it was observed every year. But the chronicler reports about this one of King Josiah's, that there had not been one like it since the days of Samuel; or in other words, it was the best Passover in about 400 years. What made this one so special? Three points stand out. One is that Josiah "encouraged the priests in their service." Put into modern terms, that means the people encouraging the minister. You always see the minister at the door after service, shaking hands with the people. They may tell him they enjoyed the sermon;

but how many who tell him that, helped him beforehand? How many of them prayed for him, not while he was preaching but long before, when he was working on his sermon? When a religious chicken-farmer is taking his poultry to market, he doesn't pray that they will be good chickens. The time to pray for that is back when the eggs are hatching, when they are in the baby chick stage, while he is selecting the feed, and so on. By the time the chickens are ready for market it's a little late to be praying about it. So the time to begin praying for your minister and encouraging him is while his sermons are hatching, so to speak; before, not only after, the service.

"Prepare Yourself"

We read also that King Josiah said to the Levites, "Prepare yourselves." The Protestant Christian belief is that all believers are priests. A service of worship, as we understand it, is not a kind of performance in which the minister up there behind the pulpit does it all while we just sit and watch him. One reason why we get so little out of church is that we put so little into it. If you had an interview with the President of the United States, wouldn't you make some preparation for it? You don't just "drop in" to see a man as important as that. And yet people will go to the house of God without the least preparation. They may be well dressed, but their minds are only half-dressed and their souls are more than half asleep. You have a right to come before God with a burdened heart; he welcomes the heavy-laden. But you have no right to expect much from a so-called worship service which you enter with a mind cluttered with workaday botherations you won't let go, with a heart hardened by pride, with a spirit almost of defiance, as if you said to the minister, I dare you to interest me!

"Prepare for Your Brethren"

Josiah also told the Levites to prepare for their brethren who were coming to worship. True worship in a church is not an individual affair, as if each person present were sitting in a separate cell listening in by ear-phones. There is no point in "public" worship unless there is some sharing, some fellowship, some opening of the heart. A service of "worship" from which the people stream homeward without speaking to one another, or praying for and with one another, is a poor affair.

Must Go Up Again

One of the meetings of the state press
 convention last weekend a panel of three state representatives and three representatives discussed legislative matters with the weekly publishers. Five of the six in their short talks emphasized the fact that the tax problem was temporarily solved at this session.

One pointed out that the state's part of the cost of operating our common schools rose last year from $74 million to $105 million—due to the teacher pay raise and rapid increase in enrollment. A raise for college professors cost another $6 million. And such increases are going to continue because enrollments jump every year and government cannot compete with private enterprise for men to teach our children.

They predicted that the next term of the legislature will see more frantic efforts to raise money. Some even thought a special session might have to be called to vote more taxes before the next regular session.

One suggested that the people of Texas
 might as well get used to the idea that taxes are going up and up all the time because we cannot get more and better services from our government.

STICK LOGIC

By LOUISE C. ALLEN

Recent tornado scares remind us that while advancements in science, no one can accurately predict the weather. Furthermore,
 Nature makes up her mind to tear
 things up, we've lost the ball game no matter what.

It makes us wonder if there was a grain of truth in that old saying that what you don't know won't hurt you. We're thinking of the people who don't have their radios on during weather alerts and so don't know to be careful. Of those who are fully warned but don't get in the path of a twister, so their escape is in vain. And of others who are caught swiftly they don't have a chance.

With funnels hovering around overhead
 most daily, most of us have done some calculating on "what we'd do" if a tornado would strike.

Open all the windows on the sides away from the storm, say some; then get against inside wall and hope.

Get under a table.
 Put a mattress on your head to protect yourself from flying debris.

Get in a car and outrun the storm—if you can guess which way to run. Drive at right angles to it.

Most of us wouldn't go to a storm cellar, because we don't have one. Besides, the storm cellars we knew as children were actually as scary as the wind. Spiders, centi-pides and bats were never our favorites.
 Nature. Neither was a dark hole under the earth.

Just what we would do, we aren't quite sure. But even if we weren't absolutely paralyzed with fear, we think we'd simply stay in the house and take the thousand-to-one chance on its not being hit. Fatalistic? Maybe. But who can make a better guess?

Grass Roots Opinion

CARLSBAD, N. M., CURRENT-ARGUS:
 The U. S. Supreme Court has indicated that it does not expect immediate compliance with its non-segregation decision in all the nation's schools. It will take time to get successful compliance for such a revolutionary change. . . . The high court, in our opinion, is wise in letting its decision go into effect
 gradually. You can't stuff a sweeping change in a practice going back 200 years down the throat of a people overnight."

Through A Glass Darkly

By CARROLL POUNCEY

A very touching, and quite startling incident occurred one day last week. We were in one of the local restaurants during noon hour rush. This man came in, dressed in work clothes and quietly seated himself, ordered his dinner, and when it came, bowed his head and asked a blessing on his food.

Without drawing attention to himself, and in no way intending to create a diversion, this gentleman simply followed the same procedure he undoubtedly follows at home.

It was a simple and nostalgic incident,
 and we are glad we were privileged to be present when it occurred.

They were talking about the comic strips,
 and remembering how far back they could recall reading some of the hardier characters like Mut and Jeff and Barney Google, and Little Orphan Annie. We got to studying about Little Orphan Annie. Why, do you realize that girl is over 38 years old, and except at Christmas time, has NEVER changed clothes.

LOA has worn that same red dress and that same glassy eyed stare her dog has,
 for as long as anybody can remember. You would think, wouldn't you, that as rich as Daddy Warbucks is, he could afford to get the old girl something new now and then.
 But no. He spends his money for giant servants and big yachts, while this poor stunted old girl drags around with this big stupid looking hound, dressed in the same old red dress for nearly 40 years! I mean it's enough to make you stop and think, ain't it.

And not only that, but this Little Orphan
 Annie is bound to be the outstanding example of juvenile delinquency. On a middle-aged basis, we admit. But this kid goes dragging around from pillar to post without anybody
 but that blank eyed dog which goes "arf"
 at odd times.

Orphan Annie used to be sponsored by the Ovaltine folks, but they soon saw their products just wasn't doing her any good. She just wasn't growing, so they dropped her option. Let us all do likewise.

In Sunday's paper, we nominated Gomer Cool for best dressed man of the week. All this was without Doug knowing anything about it. Had he been here, we suspect some less deserving individual would have been given the coveted title.

In response to many questions, we will tell you that Gomer Cool is immediate past-mayor of Mount Ida, Arkansas. He was in town on a speaking tour of the midwest when we alertly spotted him nattily attired in a heliotrope topcoat with polka-dot ulster to match in contrasting colors. His costume just shrieked for attention, that is. So we nominated him, and it couldn't have happened to a finer fellow.

You see, Gomer's story is the story of politics. He was, and is, an Arkansas republican, and it was on the pork barrel ticket
 that we won two terms as Mayor of Mount Ida. But the democrats put up Cactus Jack Zickafoose on the last ballot as their candidate and he went in on a slow landslide.

We feel sorry for Gomer. Won't you join us?

Not A Public Utility

The case for freeing natural gas producers from federal controls recently imposed by a U. S. Supreme Court interpretation of the Natural Gas Act of 1938 is overwhelming.

There is a great and basic difference between gas production, and gas distribution to the ultimate consumer. Each local gas distributing company is a public utility with an exclusive franchise in its territory. Therefore it is regulated as to rates and other matters by local regulatory bodies. The pipeline companies operating in interstate commerce are similarly regulated by the federal government. No one is seeking to change this.

But there are no exclusive franchises in finding gas. More than 8,000 independent producers compete vigorously to find it and then to sell it. No single company produces as much as five per cent of the supply. And the risks are heavy, for the majority of wildcat wells turn out dry and worthless.

So far as consumers are concerned, between 1945 and mid-1954 the cost of household gas rose, on a nation-wide average, by only 12 per cent, as contrasted with a jump of nearly 50 per cent in the cost of living as a whole. And producers get an average of but 10 per cent of the gas bills the householders pay. If they got exactly nothing for their gas, household consumers would save less than two cents a day.

Finally, continued federal regulations of gas at the wellhead would discourage producers, and result in less searching and wild-catting—which means we ultimately would have less gas and more costly gas.

Biggest

This Administration has made a praiseworthy start in getting government out of commercial business. But it has a mighty long way to go.

A leaflet issued by the Chamber of Commerce of the USA states: "The government is still the nation's biggest electric power producer, the biggest power consumer, the biggest banker, biggest employer, biggest insurance company, biggest landlord, biggest tenant and biggest publisher. In fact, Uncle Sam owns more wheat than the wheat farmers, more grass land than the cattlemen
 and more trucks than General Motors."

The same leaflet says: "No one—not even the government—has a complete list in any one place of all its businesses and industries."

No one knows either how much government in business has cost, is costing, and will cost the taxpayers, but it's a sure bet the figure would make any mind reel. Let the "get government-out-of-business" campaign move into top gear!

What's Cooking For Sunday Brunch?

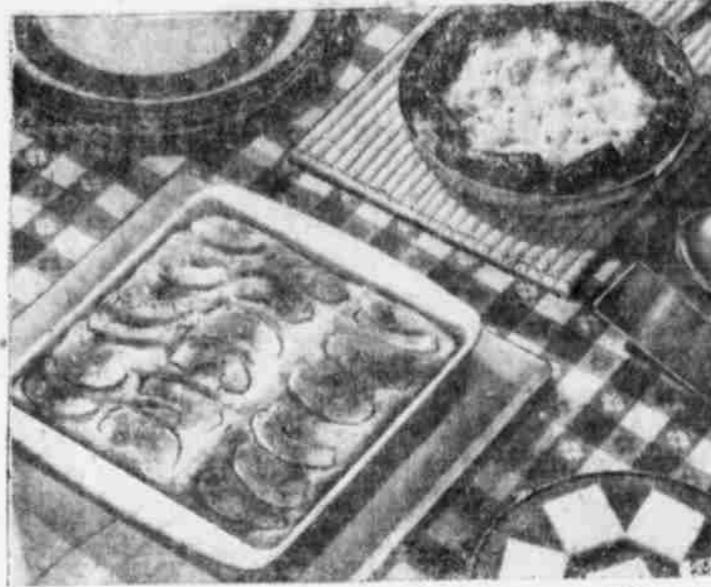

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
COME SUNDAY, the family deserves a special breakfast. How about an apple coffee cake with scrambled eggs and sausage links? or maybe you fancy that old-fashioned combination—fried corn meal mush with maple syrup and meaty slices of paned Canadian bacon. Here are recipes for the coffee cake and the mush.

APPLE COFFEE CAKE
Ingredients: 2 medium apples, 2 tablespoons sugar, ¼ teaspoon cinnamon, 2 cups packaged biscuit mix, 2 tablespoons sugar, ½ cup undiluted evaporated milk, ¼ cup water, 1 egg.

Method: Pare, core and slice apples. (To prevent apples from discoloring, place in bowl with 1 tablespoon vinegar and enough water to cover them). Mix together 2 tablespoons sugar and cinnamon in a small bowl for topping. Measure biscuit mix and 2 tablespoons sugar into a medium size mixing bowl. Add the milk, water and egg breaking yolk. Mix just until blended, about 25 strokes. Turn into a greased 8-inch square baking pan, spreading evenly. Place apple slices in rows across top. Sprinkle topping over apples. Bake in moderately hot (400 degrees) oven for about 25 to 30 minutes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

FRIED CORNMEAL MUSH
Ingredients: 1 cup corn meal, 1 2/3 cups water, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 2/3 cups undiluted evaporated milk (1 tall-can).

Method: Measure corn meal into a heavy saucepan. Add water and salt. Boil until mixture thickens, stirring constantly. Add milk and continue cooking, stirring constantly, until mixture has a rough appearance and is thick enough to hold its shape when dropped from a spoon, about 10 minutes. Pour into a greased medium size loaf pan. Cool and then chill overnight. Turn out onto a chopping board and cut in slices about ¼ inch, golden brown on underside, then thick. Fry on a lightly greased turn and brown other side. Make a griddle over medium heat until about 16 slices—4 to 6 servings.

GRASS COMES BACK

CHICAGO (AP)—Grass offers the only hope for saving the vast dust bowl area of the nation, says Prof. Milton E. Parker, director of food engineering at Illinois Institute of Technology. He predicts grass will be a top U. S. crop for 1955 because of changes in the government price-support program. He gives these reasons for praising the practice:

It will prepare much of the country's acreage for future demands of an expanding population. Wartime demands and peace time price-supports have caused intensified farming which has come "perilously close" to exhausting much of the soil. Grass returns vital organic matter to the soil. On watersheds, it helps control floods and prevents silt from ruining hydroelectric dams. It controls erosion. It holds soil where winds can't grab it. The farmer can reap substantial profits from grass by raising cattle.

June Brides Love Organdie

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

As brides grow younger, wedding gowns grow slimmer and prettier. The statuesque bride who goes up the aisle in ancestral lace and stitque satin is becoming a rarity, outnumbered by the bright-eyed young brides who choose an in-extensive dress cut on simple youthful lines, for the most important occasions of their lives.

Though there are many new miracle fabrics available for today's bride, the old favorites remain in high demand—fabrics such as cobweb-sheer organdie, veil-like batiste, old-fashioned eyelid-embroidered sheer cotton—all as well-loved in grandmother's day as today.

New finishes and treatments make these traditional wedding-gown fabrics even more beautiful and durable today. The new Swiss organdies come in many versions—embroidered, embossed or plain, in snowy white or a range of delicate pastels. Eyelet-embroidered batiste also is newly popular, and even old-fashioned lawn is staging a comeback.

Many of today's bridal gowns are so designed that they may be transformed into summer dress

YOUTHFUL CHARM . . . This radiant young bride wears a romantically simple gown of white Swiss organdie, with scooped and thirred decolletage, designed by Pandora, as she tosses her bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley and forget-me-nots, matching her bridal crown.

dresses after the ceremony, by such expedients as removing a custom tie of ruffles or train, substituting a bolero on switching skirts or tops, the ease of the increasingly popular wedding separates.

The short circular veil of nylon tulle, attached to a simple head dress, is the choice of most brides today, rather than the long veil of priceless lace.

Since so many current brides are still under 20, youthful charm rather than ostentation has become the new fashion in wedding gowns and veils.

June 25 Referendum Affects Price Support Level Quotas

The outcome of the wheat marketing quota referendum on June 25 will affect the price-support level and determine whether marketing quotas will be in effect for the 1956 crop of wheat.

According to Troy Armes, chairman of the Lamb County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, if two-thirds vote "yes," the support for the 1956 crop will probably be between 75 and 82 percent of parity; the exact level will be announced before the referendum. If more than one-third vote "no," the support will be 50 percent of parity. In any case, support will be available in the commercial wheat area only to those farmers who stay within their farm's wheat acreage allotment.

Another point which wheat growers should have in mind when they cast their ballot is that if the vote is favorable, marketing quotas will be in effect and those who exceed the farm acreage allotment will be subject to a marketing penalty of 45 percent of parity on their excess wheat. If the vote is unfavorable, marketing quotas will not be in effect and there will be no penalty for excess wheat.

Acreage allotments will be in effect for price support purposes even if marketing quotas are also approved.

The marketing quota program applies only to wheat growers in the commercial wheat States who will have more than 15 acres of wheat on any one farm in 1956. Texas is a commercial wheat state. Marketing quotas do not apply to wheat growers in states designated as noncommercial and there will be no referendum in those states. In the commercial states, only those growers who will have more than 15 acres of wheat for grain in 1956 will be eligible to vote.

1955 WHEAT PRICE SUPPORT RATES

The Lamb County tentative 1955 wheat loan rate has been established at $2.07 per bushel less storage for wheat grading U. S. No. 1. This rate is calculated on a national average price support level of $2.06 per bushel and is subject to an increase, if necessary, to reflect 82½ per cent of the parity price of wheat on July 1, 1955.

1955 ACP PROGRAM

BUBBLE, BUBBLE

HARRISONBURG, Va. (AP)—Samuel S. Shankes new well just keeps bubbling.

Gas No doubt about that. A driller found this out in an explosion which singed his eyebrows when he tried to light a cigarette. But the state geologist's office exploded any ideas that the gas is in commercial quantity. The scientific fellows said small pockets were not unusual hereabouts.

GETS THE BIRD

LONDON, Ky. (AP)—It was a costly victory W. S. Carpenter scored over starlings. His double-barreled shotgun went off prematurely as he closed the breech while prepping to fire from an upstairs bathroom window. The charge made a sieve of the plumbing, water leaked through to the living room below, and his wife was scared nearly out of her wits in the belief he had been shot.

Carpenter figured the scare he threw into the starlings cost him several hundred dollars.

Chevrolet's special hill-flatteners!

162 H.P. V8
180 H.P. V8

See that fine fat mountain yonder? You can iron it out, flat as a flounder . . . and easy as whistling!

Just point one of Chevrolet's special hill-flatteners at it (either the 162-h.p. "Turbo-Fire V8" or the 180-h.p. "Super Turbo-Fire") . . . and pull the trigger!

Barr-r-r-o-o-o-O-OOM!
Mister, you got you a flat mountain! . . . At least it feels flat. For these Chevrolet V8's gobble up the toughest grades you can ladle out. And holler for more. They love to climb, because that's just about the only time the throttle ever comes near the floorboard.

And that's a pity. For here are engines that sing as sweetly as a dynamo . . . built to pour out a torrent of pure, vibrationless power. Big-bore V8's with the shortest stroke in the industry, designed to gulp huge breaths of fresh air and transmute it into blazing acceleration.

So most of the time they loaf. Even at the speed limit they just dream along, light and easy as a zephyr, purring out an effortless fraction of their strength.

An engineer instantly understands why these V8's are so hyper-efficient . . . how friction is held so low they need just four quarts of oil instead of the usual five or more . . . how big valves let them "breathe" deeply for maximum power.

But you don't have to be an engineer to know that these are the sweetest running V8's you ever piloted. Just come in, slip behind the wheel, and point the nose at the nearest hill. These V8's can do their own talking . . . and nobody argues with them!

John Richey Named To Head Oil Ind. Information Group

Competition, research and the public's price-conscious buying habits are the reasons "gasoline continues to be the family's best shopping bargain," according to John Richey of the Littlefield Oil Industry Information Committee.

Speaking as a representative of the oil industry nation-wide as well as a local businessman, Mr. Richey, who is owner-manager of Richey & Son Oil Co., said the U. S. Consumer Price Index substantiated these facts.

"Clothing prices, for example, have gone up 63 per cent since 1925," he said. "House furnishing increased 65.8 per cent and food costs rose 71.1 per cent."

"In contrast, gasoline prices have risen very little. If you discover federal, state and local taxes, over which neither oilmen nor competition have any control, records show the increase in gasoline prices since 1925—this year gasoline improved really began—is only 7.3 per cent."

The spokesman added that, even with taxes included the average increase in U. S. gasoline prices since 1925 is 30.8 per cent. "That is below other basic commodities and below the average for all items, which is 33.1 per cent. Gasoline taxes incidentally have increased 250 per cent since 1925."

Mr. Richey credited competition among the nation's 200,000 service stations and 49,000 other oil companies for keeping gasoline prices low. He pointed out that American people want their oil, and that this is the main reason that business and industry must constantly raise quality and lower costs. "It was and will continue to be."

"At the same time," he added, "competition among all companies for the American battery market has brought about considerable improvements in available quality—two gallons of today's gasoline will do the work that required three gallons in 1925.

Mr. Richey said recently compiled American Petroleum Institute information upon which he based his statements was issued to supply answers to five questions most frequently asked about gasoline and the petroleum industry. In addition to clarifying the factors that determine gasoline prices, he said this data deals with the variety of grades of gasoline, adequate supply, the future of oil as affected by atomic energy and "myths about a so-called 100-mile-per-gallon carburetor."

THE GREATEST IS LOVE

The difference between FEAR and LOVE is well illustrated in the action of a tropical hurricane. The wind strikes with all of its fury and anything that is not firmly rooted or tied to a firm foundation is torn out or demolished. The cocoa palm tree, firmly rooted, bends its fronds and trunk with the force of the wind but when the storm has passed it moves back into position.

All of the mighty power of the hurricane did not prevail against the tree. But when in due season the gentle sunshine and rain bring forth the bloom on the tree, a power though gentle, is irresistible and a fruit is the final result.

One who loves the Lord has no reason, or cause, to fear Him because love banishes fear and that person bends his will to that of the Lord in perfect trust and confidence. Love furnishes a sure foundation. The Church is a wonderfully strong foundation to tie to as insurance against the storms of life and a way to help strengthen the power of love.
