cal schools, and their music directorate.

Important State Issues In 1952 Elections

Texas who place value upon the privilege of citizenship should be under strong inducement this year to qualify as voters and to make use of the franchise in the approaching elections.

Aside from the fact that it is a presidential year, there is a statewide aspect to the 1952 elections which gives them—and the Jan. 31 deadline for paying poll taxes—an added significance.

For one thing, Texas will elect a congressman at large. The growth in population gave the state an extra congressman after the 1950 census, but Legislature did not reapportion the state by congressional districts and the new one will be chosen on a statewide basis. No one area should have a disproportionate voice in his selection, and at the same time, the sections most heavily populated should have their rightful weight.

The elections, however, which most directly affect citizens are those for the State Legislature. There are completely new apportionments for most of the 31 Senate seats and 150 House places. Because redistricting was accomplished at the last session, the entire Senate will be elected this year instead of by the staggered system under which those four-year terms are filled normally—15 in one election year and 16 the next.

House seats, filled only for two-year terms, represent new areas, for the most part, this year. Because of their greater population increases, urban areas have a greater voice in public affairs and, as in the election of a congressman at large, should get their full strength to the polls. Likewise, those rural areas which have lost some representation should make sure they exert their full influence.

Add these statewide features to the normal interest in local public offices and the state positions which are filled in the even years, and you have every reason to pay the poll tax.

It is inconsequential whether you approve or disapprove of the poll tax as a prerequisite to voting. It is required by law now, and the elections are being held now.

A recent study by Secretary of State John Ben Shepperd showed that more than four million Texans would be eligible to vote if they would qualify. Yet two years ago only 1,852,945 paid the tax and there were only an estimated 1,832,475 holders of poll tax receipts and exemptions. In 1948, 1,720,053 paid. Tarrant County, which had 72,813 paid poll taxes for the 1948 presidential election, dropped to 55,693 in 1950. This year, the county should double the 1948 figure, 86 should Texas.

Milan Movie House Reserved for Young

Buying Tickets at Milan's children's movie house.

By CARLO FENOGLIO
AP Newsfeatures
MILAN—A movie hall here is reserved for children under 15 and adults can only get admittance "if accompanied by a child."
It is called the "Gnomo" (Dwarf) and its name was picked in a referendum conducted among the pupils of primary schools.

While Italian parliament is involved in deep discussions on what kind of literature and movies children should be allowed to see without danger for their education, the Milanese movie hall has found an easy answer: reserve a movie hall for children only.

Under Italian law children are forbidden to see movies "morally dangerous."

The Gnomo's director, Dr. Renzo Cotta, a teacher in one of Milan's schools, believes movies forbidden "morally dangerous" films for children one must keep them also from films they would not understand.

"If you take a 13-year-old child to see Hamlet, or any such film, which is not dangerous, but difficult to understand, he will look elsewhere for amusement," he said.

Among the films included in Gnomo's programs are Disney's "Cinderella," "Snowwhite," "Treasure Island," "The Bells of Saint Mary" in which Ingrid Bergman and Bing Crosby star, "David Copperfield" with Freddie Bartholomew, "Mother" with Irene Dunne.

The Gnomo can hold 400 children. The entrance fee is 20 cents, cheaper than most movie halls here.

An inquiry conducted among 2,000 children under 15 revealed that children liked war and adventurous movies most and that 80 per cent of them went to regular movies, including those from which children should have been excluded.

HUMBLE

Wherever you live in Texas, the oil industry is your neighbor. For the Texas oil industry is the bread-and-butter, the daily work of some 190,000 Texas men and women.

The girl who sits next to you in the bus; the hearty-looking man who waves as you pass on the highway; the family behind you at the PTA: in Texas, they all could be, some certainly are oil workers. Bookkeepers, stenographers, executives, drillers, roughnecks, stillmen, geologists, salesmen, pipe liners, petroleum engineers—the oil industry supplies the livelihood of all, and many more.

Neighbors of yours these people are, folks who pay taxes like yours, spend their money in the stores you patronize, drive the same kind of automobile, send their children to the same schools.

The oil industry is more than a balance sheet, a set of statistics, an investment in derricks and pipe-stills. In Texas, it's the family next door.

New Golf Rules Penalize Wild Shots

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

NEW YORK—If you haven't played golf yet this year better be prepared to know the new rules. You might meet a stickler for detail in one of those lopsided four-somes and things could become mighty complicated.

The stymie on the green is out. Golfers say it was silly.

Now you can lift and mark a ball when it's in the way.

Out-of-bounds ball now means shoot over and add a stroke.

Ball in unplayable lie can be replayed from one of two spots.

PRICE SPORTS GLORY?

W. BLAKE

"Glory is your price—and a lot of spots with a few blue spots."

John Reynolds all the time could desire. Down from coast to coast he has won a lot of blue spots, plus the history of this young fellow on top with all its

to the University of

BOB REYNOLDS
Halted by Injuries

Nebraska where as a sophomore he hit the top of the national football world. He made All-America.

Before the '51 campaign started,

Here are the rule changes since last year:

Putter shaft may be fixed at any point in the head.

None of the 14 clubs permissible in a golfer's bag may be borrowed from any other person playing on the course.

Wrong ball: Playing a stroke with any wrong ball except in a hazard entails loss of a hole in match play and two strokes in stroke play.

Dropping ball improperly entails a one-stroke penalty.

Ball at rest moved by opponent, his caddy or any equipment, means a penalty stroke for the opponent.

Out of bounds: Penalty increased to stroke and distance. A clearer interpretation would be this: On a lost or out-of-bounds ball, return nearest the spot from where you hit the ball and add one stroke. In other words, after an out-of-bounds tee shot you would be shooting 3 on your drive.

Unplayable ball: You have an option here. You can either return to stroke and distance. A clearer interpretation would be this: On a lost or out-of-bounds ball, return nearest the spot from where you hit the ball and add one stroke. In other words, after an out-of-bounds tee shot you would be shooting 3 on your drive.

Unplayable ball: You have an option here. You can either return the season.

Thus, for football, Reynolds has to show: broken leg bone, shoulder separation, burned eye, All-America honors. All the sweet and the sour.

Quiet Bob likes to play football although making no secret that baseball is the top sport in his book. Taik has been heard that he might pass up his third year of football at Nebraska, but it's doubtful as he does like the game, hurts or not.

Local rules: Under the new USGA code the local rules must conform to the USGA policy. This puts an added burden on club committees.

These, then, are the rule changes as approved by The United States Golf Association and The Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews, Scotland. They were drafted during international conferences last spring and went into effect New Year's Day.

Except for the size of the ball the new rules eliminate all differences previously existing between the USGA and British regulations.

Both the U.S. and British balls can have a maximum weight of 1.620 ounces but they differ in size. The U.S. ball is not less than 1.680 inches in diameter while the British ball has a diameter of not less than 1.629 inches.

The new rules seem complicated at first, but if you play a fair game of golf you have nothing to worry about. It's the duffer, the guy with the big hook or slice, who will find things tough. It could add two strokes to the score of a fellow who has trouble keeping his long shots straight. He now gets penalized a stroke and distance when he hits out-of-bounds. Formerly all he lost was distance.

In case you're wondering about adjustable clubs, they are outlawed. This has been in the rules for some time but with the advent of so many different adjustable clubs, the rule is worth repeating.

Under a heading "Movable parts prohibited," the rule book says:

"A club shall be one unit. All its various parts shall be permanently fixed. No part may be movable or separable or capable of adjustment by the player."

If there are any questions it is suggested you write the USGA at 40 East 38th Street, New York 16, N. Y., for its 90 page booklet, "The Rules of Golf." It's 25 cents a copy.

A Baseball Pilot's Life Is Tough

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

NEW YORK—It has been many weeks since St. Louis Cardinal owner Fred Saigh gave the leave to Marty Marion and now that all the returns are in we can't help but comment.

Everybody we spoke to in baseball felt that Marion, who has since signed as a coach with the St. Louis

LOU BOUDREAU
Must Mend Sox

Browns, got a raw deal. As a first-year pilot Marion did well to bring the Cardinals home third, albeit a distant third.

Saigh said he thought Marty lacked leadership. Saigh said nothing about Marion's failure to play a game because of a bad right knee. He thought he was getting a playing manager in Marion but all he got was a bench manager. That, it is felt here, was the real reason for Marion's ouster. Saigh undoubtedly felt he didn't get value received for his money.

It was just about this time last year when we met Saigh and Marion at the New York Baseball Writers' dinner. We recalled that Saigh once said "Marty can work for me anytime. He's great with kids."

We also told Marion, if full view of Mr. Saigh, that Marion was falling heir to the toughest job in baseball.

Marty, always the gentleman, asked why.

Fred is getting to be an old hand at firing managers. He dropped Eddie Dyer, a personable gentleman from Houston, Tex. They just didn't see eye to eye. That's understandable when you consider that Dyer was a great manager with what he had. He won the National League pennant in 1946, his first year. Saigh many never win a pennant and the more he continues to fire popular managers, the more he lessens his teams chances.

It now remains to be seen just how far he will go with Eddie Stanky and Muggsy's two-year contract. Stanky should make a fiery leader for he still is a fiery competitor. But even some fellows mellow when they take on added responsibilities.

Leo Durocher mellowed somewhat last year, although in his case it might have been for the best. His Giants won. But with Stanky, who may have trouble playing 100 games while managing, it might be different. (Stanky played 140 games at second base for the Giants last year.)

Tommy Holmes, who took over as manager of the Boston Braves last June, found it difficult to play in the outfield and manage simultaneously. He played 27 games in 1951 but recently decided to give his mind either from the bench or the third base coaching box.

Of course, Stanky will be closer to the ball game, being a second baseman. But at 34 and with 17 seasons in organized ball behind him, he may find the pace grueling. He'll play harder for sure but maybe not as well for himself.

As Lefty Gomez says: "When I got to be 34 I was pitching harder but it took the ball a lot longer to get to the catcher."

However, Stanky belongs in St. Louis. It's a shame there are only a few of the Old Gas House Gang type of players left at Sportsman's Park. Stanky may have trouble getting into the first division but at least he may draw some fans to the park.

If Eddie and the Cardinals can't draw, then Bill Veeck and Rogers Hornsby will with the St. Louis Browns. Getting the Rajah, often regarded as the best right handed hitter baseball ever saw, was a bit tonic for Browns fans. Until Veeck came along with his midget and firecrackers the Browns could salvage little whenever they played home.

We hated to see Steve O'Neill

EDDIE STANKY
Should Shuffle Cards

go out at the close of the season because of the misgivings of the Boston Red Sox as a team. But it's nice to see Lou Boudreau back leading. Like Holmes, Boudreau will make his moves from the bench. He'll have a lot of moves to make, too.

It will not be the same team that led the American League for a few days last July. The infield leaves a lot to be desired.

Hormone Spray Helps Lemons

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP)—The use of hormone sprays developed by University of California scientists lemons after they have reached the storage house by as much as 50 per cent.
The effect, according to Dr. Louis C. Erickson, assistant plant physiologist, is to keep the stem end, or button, of the lemon alive and green and prevent internal changes which accompany aging of the fruit. Thus the lemons are less susceptible to certain rotting fungi.

BLIND GIRLS EXPERT IN ART OF MAKE-UP

MONTREAL (AP)—Do you think you could put your make-up on and set your hair in the dark and still be confident of your grooming?
Well, there's a group of young blind women and girls in Montreal who, in effect, do just that and who can put most women who have the advantage of sight to shame when it comes to "putting a new face on."
Recently the group staged a make-up demonstration—in front of little tables covered with all the paraphernalia employed in the subtle art of gilding the human lily, each sightless woman did a perfect job on her own face and hair-do.
The only concession to their lack of sight was the addition of Braille labels on the bottles and jars. The skill of the group is the result of a unique make-up course given them by a beauty salon of a Montreal departmental store.

The salon girls had to prepare themselves to teach the blind, trying various methods on themselves in the dark and in doing so learned a lot about themselves.
They found the best way for a sightless person to apply rouge was as follows: with one finger of each hand take a dab of cream rouge, rub the fingers together to make sure each has an equal amount of color, then apply it first at a point at the top of the cheekbone, directly beneath the centre of the eye and work it out across the cheek.
But they didn't have to do much teaching—they found that for some reason the blind women are more adept than they themselves are.

Mrs. Mary Sales Makes Official Visit To Several OES Chapters

Mrs. Stella Edwards Installed Noble Grand Local Rebekahs

In a joint installation ceremony with four other lodges in the district participating, Littlefield Rebekah officers were installed in a most impressive ceremony, held Tuesday night at Muleshoe. Other lodges participating were Muleshoe, Needmore, Earth, and Morton.

Mrs. Stella Edwards was installed Noble Grand of the local lodge, Mrs. Eva Winston, vice grand, and Mrs. Leebelle Johnson, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Johnson is the outgoing Noble Grand and she was recognized, as having served in that capacity the past year.

Installing officers were deputies from each of the lodges represented, or past grands. Mrs. Alma Yohner, local deputy and Mrs. Tula Taylor, past grand assisted.

This is the first time that Littlefield Rebekah Lodge has participated in a joint installation.

At the close of the ceremony, Muleshoe lodge served delicious refreshments consisting of cake and coffee to approximately one hundred members.

The table was laid with a white linen cloth, centered with an arrangement of greenery and pink carnations, flanked by tapers in crystal holders.

The decorations for the hall carried out the theme of the president of Rebekah Assembly, Mrs. Myrtle Russell, which is "Gates of Opportunity." Two trellis gates were used at either end, decorated with roses, which is the flower chosen by the president.

Improved 1952 Chevrolets On Display Here Today

OFFER NUMBER OF SPECIAL FEATURES

Two Series Are Offered In 1952 Models

A brilliant array of smart, new colors, a richness in passenger compartments never before offered in the low-price field, an easier ride and readier power response headline an impressive list of advances in the 1952 Chevrolets, which will be on display tomorrow (Friday) at the show rooms of the local dealers, Hewitt Chevrolet Company.

Distinguished in styling and performance, the new Chevrolets meet in every respect the exacting standards that have won the company its dominating position in the automobile industry. In 1951 Chevrolet sold more cars than any other make for the twelfth consecutive peacetime year.

Specifically, the new models on display tomorrow (January 19) at dealer showrooms offer:

Greater comfort through radically re-engineered power mountings and a re-design of shock absorbers.

A wide variety of solid and two-tone color exteriors combined with harmonizing interior fabrics that give the customer an amazing 129 choices when he buys a Chevrolet.

The models to be shown here are representative of eleven body types comprising the Chevrolet passenger car line for 1952. Again this year, the company will produce two series, the Special and De Luxe. Ranging from the ultra-practical business coupe to the swank Bel Air, the line affords an unusually complete assortment in bodies, appointments and accessories.

In eye-appeal the latest Chevrolets present a balanced beauty of design. A new radiator grille, fresh ornamentation and bright metal work impart a lower, longer appearance.

Bodies by Fisher retain the same spaciousness of a year ago, but more than ever before interiors possess an atmosphere of custom coachwork. In the "Harmonic Interiors" of De Luxe sedans, for instance, two-tone upholstery is furnished in gray, blue or green. Instrument panel colors correspond to upholstery material.

Chevrolet announces its body col-

Fleet Chevrolet Convertible in 1952 Design

Styling refinements for 1952 impart a fresh, fleet appearance to the Chevrolet convertible. In addition to the improved ride and performance engineered into all new Chevrolets, this model has a number of exclusive qualities. Optional colors are more varied than ever before. Vivid greens, blues and reds are available, with tops and leather upholstery in matching or harmonizing colors.

ors "the most varied ever offered in the low-price automotive field." As an example of the range, exterior options include Onyx Black, Birch and Dusk Gray, Emerald and Spring Green, Admiral and Twilight Blue, Sahara Beige, Regal Maroon, Honey Dew, Beach White, Bittersweet and Cherry Red.

Some of the most glamorous new colors are offered on the Bel Air. Two-tone interiors of blue, green, brown, maroon and gray; black and gray; or coral and white harmonize with the choice of exterior color. In exteriors such exclusive and exotic combinations as Bittersweet and Beach White, Sahara Beige and Saddle Brown and Birch Gray and Twilight Blue are among the options.

Convertibles will benefit by the new "Royal Tone Styling." Ten colors will be available, including Honey Dew, Saddle Brown and the strikingly new Cherry. Top fabric options have been increased to five—black, blue, gray, green and tan—to complement the new body colors. Two-tone passenger compartments make use of genuine leather and leather fabric.

To the passenger, the added riding comfort of the newest Chevrolets will be noteworthy. As a means of eliminating vibration in the passenger compartment, engineers devised a new method for engine mounts. Known as "Centerpoise Power," this has involved the substitution of three-point mountings for the previous mounting at five points in the frame.

The new mountings include softer rubber members with greater vibration damping characteristics so that less vibration is transmitted from the engine to the car, giving a softer feel. Increased stability in the driving controls is another advantage.

Additionally as an aid to the comfort in the new cars, the company claims a smoother ride on rugged highways due to new shock absorber action. Greater resistance to the "pitch" sometimes induced by rough roads is also credited to the improvement.

Several modifications in the idle and the accelerator pump systems and the fuel bowl of the carburetor are responsible for greater efficiency in carburetion.

Chevrolet's popular automatic transmission, the Powerglide, that over the last two years has proved its value in the hands of more than a half million owners, again is listed as optional equipment on the Luxe model. The re-forming of the Powerglide models will be even further enhanced by an automatic choke in 1952. This device assures top power efficiency by automatically controlling choke in accordance with engine load and weather conditions.

Suit Yourself For Spring

SILHOUETTE STORY—Here are two important suit silhouettes for spring. Left, the bell skirt and rounded jacket designed by Seymour Fox in navy Travertine.

By DOROTHY ROE, Associated Press Fashion Editor. Suits make the top fashion news for spring through variety of both fabric and silhouette.

Fabrics are for the most part feather-light, in varied textures ranging from pebbly wool crepes through silky smooth gabardines and shantung weaves to soft tweeds. And designers this year have scored new successes in adapting the right fabric to the right silhouette.

The new silhouettes fall into four main groups. There are those with pencil-slim skirts and classic a new shantung-weave suiting; right, the trumpet skirt, straight in front, with low-placed back fullness, belted jacket with simulated bolero, done in Sandrella.

flared jackets; there are some with gored flared skirts and softer, more rounded jackets; there are dressmaker suits with wide cape sleeves and perhaps belted jackets; and there are youthful, feminine-looking suits with pleated skirts ranging from pebbly wool crepes through silky smooth gabardines and shantung weaves to soft tweeds.

Many are likely to have bracelet length sleeves with cuffs. The wide cape sleeves may be elbow length. Skirts achieve fullness in various ways. Sometimes it is set low at the back, in the form of a flare or a cluster of pleats. Sometimes it is achieved through discreet rouser-pleats at the waist. Sometimes the flare is so slight as to be unobserved, yet gives ease of walking. Sometimes the skirts are frankly full, with all-round pleats or koros.

In all cases the new suits have a feminine look, with nipped waistline and rounded hipline. Shoulders are natural, with the most discreet padding, and the most popular jacket length is just to the hipbone.

Shopping for that Easter suit should be easy this spring, for there is a silhouette and a fabric to suit every taste and figure.

The four bridesmaids were dressed in identical gowns of deep plum net made with V-shaped necklines trimmed with ruffled collars and having fitted bodices. They carried heart-shaped basket corsages of white button chrysanthemums. White chrysanthemums also trimmed their purple net hats. The bridesmaids were Miss Dorothy Kassebaum, Miss Joan Marshall, Miss Marilyn Robb and Miss Reba Jo Griffith, sister of the bridegroom.

Rex Griffith was his brother's best man. The ushers were Everett Blinn, John Griffith, Reginal Wallace and Charles Straw, Jr.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, Wallace Marshall, who gave her in marriage. She wore a white satin wedding dress made with a fitted bodice, and a nylon net yoke that filled the off-shoulder neckline. The long sleeves ended in points on her wrists, and her fingertip length veil was held in place with an Elizabethan cap. Her only jewelry was a 99-year-old gold dollar suspended on chain and loaned to her for the wedding by Mrs. Rex Griffith. Mrs. Griffith had worn it at her own wedding.

The bride's mother wore a grey afternoon dress and her corsage was salmon colored gladioli. Mrs. O. B. Griffith, mother of the bridegroom, wore a navy blue ensemble with a gladioli corsage.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Alice Smith, organist, played a short recital. She accompanied Mrs. George Sturgis, soprano, who sang, "I Love You Truly," and "Because." Miss Smith played the wedding marches and also played piano selections during the reception held in the church basement after the wedding.

A reception was held in honor of the bride and bridegroom after the ceremony. Mrs. Rex Griffith was in charge of the guest book and the punch was served by Mrs. O. A. Carter and Mrs. Otto Albrecht. A three-tier wedding cake decorated with a miniature bride and bridegroom was the center-piece on the refreshment table.

The bridal couple left after the reception for San Diego, Calif., where the bridegroom is stationed with the Marines.

The bride has been employed at the J. C. Penney Company store in Rocky Ford since her graduation from high school at Springlake. The bridegroom attended school in Texas and is in the Marine Corps. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Griffith of Rocky Ford, Colorado.

Your Poll Tax

Your Poll Tax" campaign sponsored by the Lions Club and the Lions Club Citizens program is now in progress. The following questions and answers were prepared by these organizations for the voting public:

Q. What special interest does the Junior Chamber of Commerce and Littlefield Lions Club have in the poll tax?
A. Our only interest is good government. The poll tax drive is part of the Jaycee Americanism program and Lions Club Citizenship program carried on throughout the year. In January, we intensify this program in the belief that a Democracy gets all its strength at the polls; that the only way to keep the freedoms we now possess is by voting in every election.

They want you to speak out at the polls because they believe clean and efficient government can only come about from majority opinion.
Q. Who does the state exempt from paying the tax?
A. There has been a change in the exemption law. Persons 60 years of age and over are now required, in cities of 10,000 or more, to go each year before midnight of January 31, to the County Tax Assessor and Collector and obtain an exemption certificate. This entitles them to vote in any election during the ensuing year. However, this does not apply in Lamb County. Persons reaching the age of 21 years—the legal voting age—during 1952, may also obtain an exemption certificate which permits them to vote during 1952 without paying a poll tax. New residents who have moved to Texas from other states may purchase a poll tax certificate which will enable them to vote after they have lived in this state for one year.
Q. What does an individual lose by neglecting to secure a poll tax before January 31?
A. If you fail to pay your poll tax by January 31, you will forfeit your right to vote in any election this year. And this is an important election year during which no responsible citizen can afford to be voteless. This is the year of a presidential election, of voting for representatives to the United States Congress, of voting for state officials. Many Texas cities will have county and municipal elections, or bond elections.
Remember if we do not exercise our right to vote, we may lose that right. Minority groups applaud apathy on the part of voters for it allows them to push through legislation of special interest to themselves. Every citizen who fails to vote is striking a blow at our present form of government.
We strongly urge you to go to the county tax collector's office before January 31 deadline and pay your poll tax or apply for an exemption. Then, be an active American and vote.

hilgato from Paris to New York for a short visit.
On a recent vacation in Spain, Allan, a writer, bought the little orange-headed bird in a market place. They took it back to Paris, with them, as customs men on the Franco-Spanish border chirped at the bird, smiled and waved them through. Spanish and French customs men are fussy as all get-out about credentials relating to human beings, but are pretty easy going about pets.
It soon appeared—that as the hilgato was getting adjusted enough to sit on Allan's finger and live with the door of its cage open, that the trip to New York was necessary. It was necessary to bring the hilgato, because an entente cordiale had not yet been established with the Updegraffs' out, a jealous and hungry tom named Fury. The housekeeper was not prepared to keep the two separated for a long period.
Allan prepared for the trip. He dropped into the American embassy and found there was no bird called a hilgato on their lists or permitted or banned animal life. Then he consulted with a bird lover for a translation. They came up with the fascinating information that a hilgato was quite simply a goldfinch, a relative of the sparrow. Then, on the advice of the embassy, Allan wrote to the Department of the Interior (air mail) to get his advice.
After a considerable lapse of time, back came a communication from the Division of Fish and Wild Life, informing him that a goldfinch was one of the birds admitted into the United States, provided it was for scientific study. But it had to be a European goldfinch. Under no circumstances, they said, could an American-born goldfinch or a goldfinch with an American ancestor be admitted to this country. Mr. Updegraff doesn't know why there is this marked discrimination against American emigres of the goldfinch family, but is prepared to accept that fact that it's based on reason, not pique.
He didn't know much about the bird's ancestry, for the Spanish shop didn't furnish blood-line certificates with such purchases. However, he persisted and finally found a Paris veterinarian who was a bird expert. The vet made a house call on the goldfinch and decided it was without American antecedents. Then he gave the bird a thoroughgoing physical examination, determined it was a year old and described the bird on the official form in language only a Frenchman could evolve. Allan gratefully paid the sizeable bill and had all the documents photostated.

On the day of departure, the hilgato went to the airport in its new, specially-made traveling cage and carrying cover. There they discovered that air line rules required that the cage and case be weighed as luggage. The bird, weighing little more than a couple of ounces, was required to be weighed in like a passenger. This occasioned quite a disturbance, but was handled eventually. The bird's identity, under the rules, was then marked on the passenger list. Throughout the flight, the little bird sang cheerily.
A goldfinch set U.S. customs right on its ear. It took the Updegraffs hours to pass through the health and luggage-inspection stations, and at one point Allen believes they suspected him of a new smuggling device, the diamond-stuffed goldfinch. After many conferences, Washington telephone calls and haunting over documents, the Updegraffs and the hilgato (which Allan on the spot named "Don" because every inspector asked its name) went on their way. And the government retained the certificates and correspondence for further study.
Now it's time for the traveling Updegraffs to return to Paris. "The French let the bird out, so we're hoping they let it back in," he said. "I just can't go through that routine again."
