COMMERCIAL BODY PLANS DELEGATION FOR LAMESA MEET

"On to Lamesa" apparently was the watch word of the Littlefield chamber of commerce directors at their meeting held Tuesday noon. Committees on arrangement and delegation have been appointed, hats, canes, badges and other necessary paraphernalia and impediment have been ordered, and it is desired that at least 100 interested citizens join the caravan and attend the district meeting at the Dawson capitol seat.

J. J. Eagan reported that he was in correspondence with a large concern interested in locating an oil mill here, and his report was very favorably received by the directors. The great need and commercial value of such a concern was pointed out and a committee was named to co-operate with Mr. Eagan in furthering the location.

Jno. Dalrymple and D. W. Leverton of Lubbock, were here, both speaking in the interest of a modern hotel to be erected in Littlefield. Mr. Leverton, who is a building contractor, stated he has a company who was interested in such an investment and were ready to begin activities as soon as a desirable location could be secured. A committee consisting of K. F. Allbright, J. S. Hilliard and Wm. Harris was appointed to cooperate with these gentlemen in the matter.

CHEMISTRY BLD'G FOR TECH COLLEGE COSTS $275,000

Lubbock, Texas, April 30.—Dirt has been broken for the $275,000 chemistry building of Texas Technological College. It is located a short distance northwest of the administration building. The contract was secured by D. N. Leverton, of Lubbock and it specifies that the building is to be completed by January 1, 1929.

Although designed throughout to meet the special needs of the science of chemistry, it has been possible by careful planning and adjustment to adapt a portion of this building for temporary use by the departments of physics, biology, and geology.

The building is 240 feet long, 62 feet wide, with a wing at the east extending to the south some 40 feet. A cloister extends along the entire front of the building, and this will ultimately connect with similar cloisters around the court. There are three main floors: a ground floor four feet below the level of the raised court, the first floor and the second floor.

FIRE CHIEF URGES CARE IN GIVING FIRE ALARMS

Last Saturday morning the Littlefield Fire Department responded quickly to an alarm, but when they arrived on the scene of the supposed fire they found an old tire burning under a wash kettle in the back yard. "Naturally the boys were disgusted," said Chief Carl Arnold. "To a great extent the success of our volunteer fire department depends upon the promptness and intelligent manner in which a fire is reported, and the co-operation that has been furnished by the public generally is much appreciated by the Department. However, there have been several false alarms turned in that the Department has responded to and which were unnecessary.

"Every time the Fire Department has to make a run it represents an added expense to the city, it is also expensive to the firemen. Furthermore it is an added hazard. There is always danger on the street when the fire truck makes a run. The city carries insurance on each fireman, and the risk in "catching out" a fire truck is much more than most people realize. All these factors count in every fire.

"We very much appreciate promptness of people in turning in fire alarms, but we would also greatly appreciate if they would first be sure there is really a fire that needs the attention of the Department. The boys of the Department are always ready to drop their work and "make the run when it is necessary and your co-operation in this manner will be greatly appreciated."

CANDIDACY OF S. D. HAY APPEALS TO CITIZENSHIP

We call especial attention to the advertisement of the candidacy of S. D. Hay which appears in the News this week. The News is gratified to see this interest manifested in securing the best material possible for their public servants, for the progress of our county, and the prosperity and general welfare of our people depend in large measure upon good and competent public officials. In the past people have paid too little attention to their public affairs and the result is that they have paid dearly for their negligence. To show the importance of this public business of a county may be compared to any other business. Suppose Henry Ford, or any railroad company or manufacturer should take no particular pains or interest in securing men to manage their affairs, how long would they last? If they should employ any one that offered his services, regardless of principle or ability, as our people usually have done with their public business, they wouldn't last as long as a June frost. So, without our public business in good hands our private business is bound to suffer accordingly. It is therefore encouraging to see our people viewing this matter in the light that they do.

In this instance it is particularly gratifying to see that our citizens are not only imbued with the right spirit but have the good judgment of advocating and supporting in very honorable way, one of our best and most capable men for county judge—S. D. Hay. To be a veteran of the World War is one of the most distinguishing features of a manly man. One who will volunteer and fight for his country and humanity can be depended upon to do his duty by his own county and people. We hope that our people will succeed in selecting a full set of worthy county officers, and that S. D. Hay will be one among them.—Sudan News.

WEST TEXAS C OF C GIVES COURTESY TICKETS AT MEET

Registration tickets with courtesy books which will accompany them will be ready for distribution for the tenth annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, June 18 to 20, by May 1, Homer D. Wade, manager, has announced.

With the registration ticket will be given one of the most complete courtesy books yet distributed at an annual convention, Wade said. The ticket will be purchased for $2.50 and the courtesy books will allow admission to principal events throughout the three days.

The list of events for which tickets will be provided has not been completed, although a number have been booked by the entertainment committee.

Admission to at least one theatre performance at any time during the three days will be one of the courtesies allowed. Ticket for one of the three Texas League ball games to be played at Panther Park during the convention will be included. The Fort Worth Cats will play Shreveport on the first day of the convention and Waco on the second and third.

The program at Texas Christian University Stadium the first night of the convention will be listed in the courtesy book. Admission to all dances given under the auspices of the entertainment committee will be included with the registration ticket. The dances will include the official ball at the Lake Worth Casino the second night of the conclave.

Other events will be added by the committee before the courtesy books go to print.

Badges in as large quantities as various towns desire will be mailed in advance on consignment, Wade announced.

The speakers' list, rapidly taking shape, already includes James W. Gerard, New York, who was ambassador from the United States to Germany when war was declared between the two countries; Pat M. Neff, Waco former Governor of Texas, and Henry S. Ives, Chicago, one of the outstanding authorities on insurance problems in the United States.

All three speakers have accepted invitations to address the convention. Their addresses will be among the outstanding events of the meeting.

The subject of Gerard's address has not been selected, although it has been decided tentatively that he will discuss problems of international economy. Neff will take "Manhood on the March" as the subject of his address. He will speak during the open air pro-

COTTON BUREAU WILL ELECT ITS DELEGATES SAT'Y

Members of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association in Lamb county will meet at the Ellis building in Littlefield Saturday afternoon, May 5th, at two o'clock, for the purpose of selecting delegates to a district convention which will be held next week in the process of electing annually directors on the Board of the State Association. This announcement was made by J. W. Hammock, field service representative of the organization in Lamb county.

The affairs of the cotton co-operative marketing association are controlled by the membership, Mr. Hammock said, through directors selected by them. The State Board is composed of twenty directors elected by the members, together with three public directors, one appointed by the President of the Texas A & M College, one by the Governor, and one by the President of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation, it was said. The new directors take office July 1st next for the following twelve months.

In addition to the selection of delegates at the meeting in Littlefield next Saturday, Mr. Hammock said that there would be other important business to come before the meeting and a full attendance of the membership has been urged. All others interested in the advancement of cotton co-operative marketing have also been invited to attend, whether members or not.

gram to be given Sunday, June 17, which informally will open the convention.

"What Insurance Means to Business," will be Ives' topic.

Convention headquarters will be opened May 1 in the ballroom of the Association of Commerce headquarters and will be maintained until after the convention.

JUDGE RULES IN TAXPAYERS FAVOR IN COCHRAN CO'Y

In the case in district court at Morton styled W. A. Crosser et al vs. J. D. Caldwell et al, Judge Pharr ruled that certain warrants in question were illegal on the grounds that the tax levy was not sufficient to support said warrants at the time they were issued.

This with the cancellation of the $300,000 road bonds will be a great relief to the citizens of Cochran County who are trying to pay for their homes.

The writer in making an estimate of the indebtedness finds that the county is indebted to the amount of around $260,000 for school purposes and $280,000 approximately for county purposes which totals $540,000 indebtedness, about one tenth of the taxable value in our county. With the additional indebtedness of $300,000 road bonds we would owe approximately $840,000.

From a standpoint of equity I feel that citizens of certain portions of the county have been greatly relieved and that the county as a whole is benefited. I have studied the problems of Cochran county thoroughly and I believe this unjust bond issue with the contention and petty prejudice has been more detrimental to the county and has hindered our progress more than all other conditions which would be considered detrimental.

We need roads and better roads but we do not need them at the price of $300,000.

Every individual should be interested in the development in the county as a whole and should be interested in seeing that each portion of the county receives the benefits for which the county was organized.—P. L. Thacker in Bledsoe News.

ROUTE BECOMES DAILY

Route A, rural postal delivery out Littlefield, M. L. Garrett, carrier, will become a daily on May 16th, doubling the service to its patrons from that time.

Postmaster Brannen also states that he has information that the Department at Washington, D. C. is giving favorable consideration toward another route soon to be established from this point and which will furnish accommodations to a large number of citizens living in the territory southwest of here.

There are 850,000 acres of irrigated land in Texas, according to the best estimates.

DENVER RAILROAD WILL OPPOSE NEW LINE OF SANTA FE

Lubbock, April 28.—The application of the Pecos and Northern Texas Railway company, a branch of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe lines, to build a railroad from Hale Center through Lamb county and joining the Santa Fe line at Parmerton, in Parmerton county, will be given a hearing before an examiner of the Interstate Commerce Commission here on May 21, it was announced today.

The local Board of City Development has been advised that Lubbock will be expected to provide a meeting place for the hearing and steps to secure the quarters got underway today.

A lively hearing is expected with the Fort Worth and Denver, South Plains Railway company disputing the need of the proposed Santa Fe branch on the grounds that it will parallel a Denver line from Plainview to Demmitt, in Castro county and legal talent of both rail lines is busily engaged now in preparing the data to be advanced.

A new situation, with the tables turned, is expected in the hearing for at the last such meeting held on the South Plains it was the Santa Fe lines which disputed the need of additional rail service which was then being planned by the Fort Worth and Denver lines. The plans introduced by the Denver road at that hearing, which was held in Plainview, are now rapidly materializing.

It is understood that the survey of this railroad has been practically completed, but it is also rumored that the Santa Fe system is making preparations to change their routing should the opposition of the Denver road be sufficient to cause the Commission to rule against them at the Lubbock hearing.

Recently high officials of both the Denver and Santa Fe systems were in Littlefield making investigations regarding tonnage, right-of-way, etc. However, their trip seemed to be one of obtaining information rather than disseminating such, and nothing here is definitely known as to the plans of either system.

CONG. WURZBACH CONDEMNS PARTY ACTIONS IN STATE

Several Littlefield Republicans, the delegation headed by County Chairman C. L. Yeager, attended the Convention and speaking held in Lubbock, last Thursday.

Congressman Harry Wurzbach, of the 14th district, the only Republican congressman in Texas, was the speaker, and throughout his entire address had no hesitancy in condemning the party tactics of some of the Republican leaders of the state.

Wurzbach is a native Texan, born in the shadow of the Alamo. His father was a Confederate soldier during the Civil war, and the speaker insisted that his political belief was the result of his own reasoning rather than that of heredity.

The Congressman stated that the Republican party as it existed in Texas was wholly a patronage institution rather than one of party principals, and if there was any organization in the state that needed chastisement it was this one, since its principal functions had been to dish out jobs for postmasters, U. S. marshals, revenue collectors, etc. He did not mince matters when it came to condemning the regime of R. B. Cragger, national committeeman, Eugene Nolte and some others. He declared that the majority postmasters of the state had not yet stated their preference for a Republican presidential nominee until Cragger made his famous pronouncement in Washington, D. C. recently; but now practically everyone of them had lined up for Hoover. Postmaster John Vaughn, of Lubbock, interrupted to ask if the speaker was for Hoover. "No," replied Wurzbach. "Send that word to your master."

The Congressman discussed at length the Tariff question, citing numerous instances of protection given the growers through such legislation. He said there were lots of people in Texas who were voting the Democratic ticket, but at the same time hoping and praying the Republicans would be elected, and that the folks of the South were largely the victims of their own political ideas.

"In the North," said Mr. Wurzbach "the people have dollars to your doughnuts, and it is largely because they have stood for the principles of a protective tariff and received its protection in consequence. The same might be true in the South if the voters of this section would get behind it, vote for it and insist upon its protection."

Previous to the speaking, a meeting of the Republican delegates assembled was held, at which time John H. Rankin of Lubbock, was elected district chairman, with N. A. Baker, of Lubbock, secretary. County officers were also elected.

GIVE DEMONSTRATION HERE

A. N. Ledger and Ray Coddling, representing the Southern Fire Apparatus Co., of Dallas, were in Littlefield Monday enroute to Portales, N. M., to deliver a new fire pumping engine.

While here, under the direction of local Fire Chief Arnold, they gave a demonstration of the merits of their engine. Two lines carrying 7/8 in. nozzles threw the water 125 feet with an increased pressure of 80 pounds delivered from the engine over the 70 normal stand pipe pressure. A feature of their engine was the chemical tank operating under compressed air and without acid.

MAKING PARTS FOR MODEL "T" FORDS TAKES ONE-THIRD TIME

Detroit, April 30.—The manufacture of replacement parts for the millions of Model "T" Ford cars still in daily use continues to demand nearly one third the production capacity of Ford plants, according to John H. Arnett, local Ford dealer.
Ford officials estimate, from reports of dealers all over the country, that there are still approximately eight millions of Model "T" cars in constant use in the United States. Some of these cars are many years old. Every now and then there are reports of Ford cars of the old brass-bound radiator types of twelve or fourteen years ago, still running after more than a hundred thousand miles of service.
The newest of the Model "T" Fords is now nearly a year old, for the production of assembled Model "T" cars was suspended in May 1927 to make way for the new Model "A."

This suspension of assembled Model "T" cars did not affect the production schedule of Model "T" replacement parts, however. Throughout the past year the manufacture of Model "T" parts continued to occupy about one third the production capacity of the Ford plants.
A few days ago newspaper correspondents here asked Henry Ford how long he expected to continue making parts for Model "T" cars.
"Until the last Model "T" is off the roads," Mr. Ford replied promptly. Then he added: "That may be ten years, but we do not intend to allow any Ford car ever to become obsolete as long as it can be made useful with reasonable replacements."
Ford engineers, from tests and observations made over a long period of years, have estimated that the average useful life of a Model "T" Ford car is about seven years.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Mercy and truth are met together; righteousness and peace have kissed each other.—Ps. 85:10.
 We do pray for mercy; and that same prayer doth teach us all to render the deeds of mercy. Shakespeare.

GOING RIGHT AHEAD

From Washington City comes the statement that the year 1928 will see a great amount of road work done in the U. S. than during any previous year in our history. Already the government has provided federal aid for the construction of 20,000 miles of new highway, and another 8,000 miles will be graded, drained and put in shape for completion early in 1929. State reports indicate that at least 240,000 of the total of $280,000 miles of state highway system will be maintained in good condition and open to traffic, while fully 25 per cent more money is now available for road work in all states than was in sight at this time last year.

Road work in the U. S. has come to be a tremendous proposition, both in extent and cost. But we have all come to realize that money so spent is a good investment, and one that will return 100 per cent on every dollar to every community so spending its money. We don't have to leave Littlefield to realize what good roads means this day in time. Even though we may not have everything we want and need in this line, that doesn't blind our eyes to the value of good highways. Let us hope the good work goes on until every section of the country can be reached by hard-surfaced highways. That day is coming, and coming fast. And when it does arrive there will be greater prosperity and more comfortable living than any of us have yet dreamed of.

Blue blood is all right in its way, but its the fellows with the green-backs who stem to get along the best.

WHO SETS 'EM

Listen to what the president of the National Retail Clothing Association told a New York newspaper man. He says: "It has been assumed that Paris and New York set the styles for women and London sets them for the men.

This is not true. Styles are governed in America by what the average man and woman wishes. The extreme styles of Paris and London find little favor in the American home. Clothiers make clothes to conform with what men in the small towns and cities wish." That is the answer to the old question, often asked, as to who sets the styles.

The answer is "The small towns." And if it is necessary to go farther and give the gentleman's story a moral we would suggest that it be: "Live in towns like Littlefield, and always be in style."

Seems a political campaign manager's qualifications consist mainly in his ability to get and then forget.

IT WILL DO IT

Senator Arthur Capper is trying to get congress to pass a law compelling every political party to publish, at the end of each campaign, the names of all persons who subscribed to the campaign fund and the amount each gave. He declares that the publication of such announcements will serve to put a ban on "slush funds" and will go far toward that which we do not now always have—an honest election.

Sen. Capper is a newspaper man, and he knows what publicity will do. He knows that no man is going to practice corruption in politics, or any thing else, if he is sure that it is going to be paraded in the public prints. He also knows that political tricksters and grafters fear printer's ink far more than they fear the law. So he is urging congress to resort to printer's ink, since the law has failed to prevent political corruption in this country.

And if congress really wants to put an end to crooked elections his suggestion will be given serious consideration without further delay.

There is a great deal of unemployment in the country now, but that isn't the reason so many men are out after the job of president.

TOO EARLY TO WORRY

Newspapers in various parts of the country are carrying reports to the effect that recent frosts in their respective communities have played havoc with the early fruit crop and that it is apt to be far below normal, taking the country as a whole. While we have no occasion for doubting the veracity of those who furnished the newspapers with their information, we do feel that the damage has not been general enough to warrant any housewife around Littlefield throwing up her hands in despair. It is entirely too early for her to begin lamenting a poor canning season. It is another bridge that doesn't have to be crossed until we get to it.

Reports of curtailed fruit crops are far from being a novelty at this season of the year. We have learned to expect them, for they come from some parts of the country just as regularly as spring comes. We ought to remember that it is a tremendously big country in which we are living, and that fruit of some description is grown in every state. The fruit crop could easily be destroyed in certain sections, and yet not make the nation's crop as a whole an entire failure.

There may be a shortage in the fruit crop—it is very seldom we have a season in which it is 100 percent in production throughout the entire country. But its destruction in widely-scattered sections is no cause for serious worry, at least not this early in the season.

LITTLE LEADERS

The greatest ambition of some Littlefield parents is to get their children to do something they tell them to do.

accommodate 150 persons. That is only a few more than some young fellows in Littlefield crowd into one of his coupes.

Nowadays a Littlefield girl considers herself old-fashioned if she wears something she can shed when it begins to get hot.

How much worse it would be if we Littlefield folks were born old and had to look forward to growing young and silly.

How many Littlefield people remember when they bought liver and bacon at the butcher's and only had to pay for the bacon?

We don't know of anyone in Littlefield entitled to more pity than the man who got married just because he likes home-cooking.

We've often wondered why it is that the Littlefield man who has the most to say usually does the least talking.

DOCTOR FRANK CRANE SAYS

FAT
There used to be a line in a play that went, "Nobody loves a fat man." At least nowadays no woman wants to be fat.

There is just one cause of fat, however. People should remember that they never put anything on their abdomen or hips in the way of fat that does not come through their mouth in the way of food.

It is nice to talk about these things and it is less humiliating than to admit that we eat too much.

The real cause of fat is that we eat too much and live too much at ease. If some of the ladies who complain of too much obese tissue would make a practice of taking the broom and sweeping the floor and getting down on their knees and mopping up the kitchen and doing the family wash, they would speedily recover their desire for slimmness.

The candy habit grows and grows. No better cure for an enlarged abdomen can be found than bending over a wash board and no better cure for piano-shaped legs than plenty of walking.

If we would get down to the simple life and move about more and eat less our figure would show it.

Exercise for the sake of exercise is pretty hard to take, but exercise performed in the course of one's daily duties is not so hard.

One ought to arrange one's life as much as possible to wait on one's self. The necessary action of the body in attending to one's needs will have a great effect upon one's shape.

I met a man in Paris some years ago and when I asked him on behalf of a friend where a good valet could be secured he replied that he did not know about valets, as for some years he had been trying to see how many things he could get along without and not how many things he could get.

See how much you can do without and arrange your life as much as possible so that you have to wait on yourself and you will not have much trouble with your figure.

THE AUTO LICENSE PROBLEM

"I have a peculiar license this year" remarked the high school teacher. "The first of the six figures is equal to the sum of the last two; the fourth is equal to the sum of the second and third; the second is equal to the sum of the third and fifth; the last figure is equal to the sum of the fourth and fifth; the fifth is twice as much as the third; while the third figure is half the difference between the first and last."

What was the teacher's license number?
 The answer to this problem will be found on the last page.

THE POET'S STENOGRAPHER

My steno has a fatted calf;
 A rosy cheek, a cheery laugh;
 A winsome dimple that appears
 When'er she smiles—through joy or tears;
 A pair of silken, shapely hose;
 A step-in, dress—few other clothes;
 A love for dances, candies, too.
 She craves to live as others do.

With my stenog I share a flat.
 Oh pray do not begrudge us that
 For that chic girlie, may I say
 Has been my wife for many a day.

FOR WORKING PEOPLE

The best of workers get out of sorts when the liver fails to act. They feel languid, half-sick, "blue" and discouraged and think they are getting lazy. Neglect of these symptoms might result in a sick spell, therefore the sensible course is to take a dose or two of Herbine. It is just the medicine needed to purify the system and restore the vim and ambition of health. Price 60c. Sold by Stokes & Alexander Drug Co.

JACK HOXIE HERE ON CONTINENTAL TOUR OF COUNTRY

Tuesday was a gala day for many citizens in and around Littlefield. Old time cowmen, punchers and rodeo experts donned their best and came into the city, while ever had owning a horse or pony had it decorated in full regalia and himself adorned with chaps, gauntlets, lariat, etc., and it was all brought about by the visit of Jack Hoxie, well known western movie actor.

Jack, accompanied by his manager G. W. Wall are making a tour of the country in advance of a series of pictures which Hoxie will make upon his return to the western coast. They are specializing in their visits to the small towns and cities, feeling that municipalities of this kind and size deserve to know something of him and his business, as well as the larger towns.

Hoxie, his horse Scout, and dog Bunk, have been a favorite in Littlefield movies for some time past, his pictures always drawing a large crowd when shown locally.

Since leaving Los Angeles Hoxie has personally met and greeted more than 20,000 school children, he has also gone into homes to visit the sick into hospitals and met with various organizations where he has received hearty greetings.

Hoxie was born in Guthrie, Okla., He is 36 years old, stands six feet two inches and weighs 225 pounds. He was reared on the ranges of Idaho and Montana where, through his rodeo work he first attracted the attention of the movie industry. In 1915 he won the world's record for bulldogging, performing that feat in 10 seconds flat.

 That his visit here was generally appreciated is evidenced by the large crowd that thronged the theatre Tuesday night.

HOW TO CARE FOR BABY CHICKS

IT DRIVES OUT WORMS

The earliest sign of worms in children is fussiness, lack of interest in play, fretfulness, variable appetite, picking at the nose and sudden starting in sleep. When these symptoms appear it is time to give White's Cream Vermifuge. A few doses drives out the worms and puts the little one on the road to health again. White's Cream Vermifuge has a record of fifty years of successful use. Price 35c. Sold by Stokes & Alexander Drug Co.

48 or 72 hours old, according to information given out by Prof. D. H. Reid, head of the poultry husbandry department, A. & M. College of Texas. Then the little chicks should be transferred to a warm brooder, where plenty of feed is available.

In most cases it will pay to use a commercial chick starter, unless plenty of skim milk is available for the chicks. A ration can be made up of sixty pounds of yellow corn meal, 20 pounds shorts, five pounds cottonseed meal, five pounds alfalfa meal, five pounds meat scraps, three pounds bone meal and two pounds fine oyster shell. At least eight pounds of dried buttermilk should be added to the ration if skim milk is not available for them at all times.

The brooder should be warm and comfortable, large enough that the chicks are not crowded, and of a type that is easily cleaned. Probably the cheapest form for Texas farmers is the oil heated brooder. Care must be taken that the wind does not blow on the brooder as oil brooders will quickly catch fire.

An added precaution for the health of the chicks is to put them on wire netting, one-half inch mesh, so that all droppings go through and out of reach of the chicks.

Apatch of green grass on clean soil is a great help in raising baby chicks.

SECRETS OF "BIG BERTHA" TOLD BY OFFICIAL OF ARMY ORDINANCE BUREAU

Long Range Gun that Shelled Paris During World War, And Struck Terror to Allies' Hearts; Weighed 318,000 Pounds.

Washington.—The mystery of the "Big Bertha," which struck terror into the hearts of the Allies ten years ago has been revealed by the Army Bureau of Ordinance.

Since the close of the World War, historians have spoken of the long range gun that shelled Paris as the "great mystery of the war."

Only a few American army officers knew the real secret of the master cannon, which was after all but a clever job of gun building.

In the files of the Bureau of Ordinance is a complete description of the big gun, its projectiles, its emplacement, all of which are accompanied by pictures. A few years ago a former German artillery officer offered to sell the War Department a blueprint of the "Big Bertha" design. Department officials told him they could not afford to pay his price—and they didn't have to, for all details of the gun are available for use if needed.

The "Big Bertha" was a master cannon, bigger, longer and more powerful than any built before or likely to be built again. Seven were constructed during the war. Three were building at the time of the Armistice and a number of American ordinance officers inspected them at an Austrian gun factory.

The main features as disclosed by the Ordinance Bureau are as follows:

1. The master guns were built for the shelling of Paris only.
2. They were reconstructed from worn-out fifteen-inch naval cannon.
3. They were built first for 8.27-inch shells and after being worn were rebored for 9.45-inch shells.

4. They were built in two sections, the main section 98.5 feet long and the forward one 19.7 feet.

5. Each gun weighed 318,000 pounds.

6. The shell left the muzzle of the gun at a velocity of nearly a mile a second.

7. The projectiles weighed 264 pounds each and were approximately six and a half feet long, including the fuse cap.

8. The maximum range was seventy six miles, more than twice as far as the most powerful gun of today, and the projectile had to reach an altitude of twenty-four miles to cover its maximum distance.

According to War Department information, the guns were transported in two sections on a specially constructed railway mount. A special crane had to be erected to mount on their emplacements. They were mobile only in the fact that they could be quickly taken apart and moved back. The emplacements were of steel reinforced by concrete underneath. The life of a "Big Bertha" was fifty shells.

During the bombardment of Paris, in which 183 shells fell inside the city and 120 outside from March 23 to August 9, 256 persons were killed and 620 wounded.

The Allied troops never captured a "Big Bertha." Information at the War Department indicates they were destroyed by their gun crews as the Allied soldiers pushed toward Berlin.

QUEER REASONING

An ordinary citizen who infringes on the law by parking his car in the wrong place or exceeding the speed limit, is summarily dealt with, fined, and made to feel that he is an undesirable character and lucky to be out of the penitentiary.

On the other hand, an honest-to-goodness crook who helped steal the $500,000,000 worth of loot that was taken from property owners last year, is treated in a manner which permits and encourages the continuance of these thefts.

It is even difficult to secure the passage of legislation which interferes with the business of "fences" (the receivers and sellers of stolen property).

"ALGERIA"

ALGERIA, The New Feed

A special representative who has had experience in raising this new grain will be at our store in Littlefield

Saturday, May 5th

To explain the merits of its wonderful growth and production

$25.00 FOR THE LARGEST HEAD GROWN IN 1928

A GREATER FEED IN EVER WAY THAN MAIZE, KAFFIR OR HYGERIA
According to Claude B. Hurlbut, the originator who says: That after several years of careful breeding he is ready to offer to the farmers a New Grain very much superior both as a grain and as a forage crop to any of the crops now being grown.

It has produced in most cases from 1/3 to 50% more grain per acre than other grains, and as much as 3 times as much fodder per acre.

It makes a large soft grain, and the largest heads ever produced by any crop. The heads weighing from 3/4 to 1 pound, each making as high as 4 heads to the stool.

It makes a stalk from 4 to 5 feet, with leaves about the size of Indian Corn, and from 15 to 19 leaves to the stalk.

Livestock prefer the stalk as well as the grain to any of the present grain crops, and the stalks contain a very high feed value.

It has the root of corn, except that it goes down instead of spreading out, thus enabling it to stand almost any amount of dry weather. It also does wonderful under excessive rains.

This feed is built up from maize, kafir, and has the same stalk and root of corn.

Everyone who sees it growing pronounces it the greatest feed they have seen grow.

ONLY A LIMITED AMOUNT WILL BE AVAILABLE, SEE US AT ONCE
PRICE 20 CENTS PER POUND

DIRECTIONS FOR PLANTING: Plant about from 2 to 4 pounds per acre, when up good, thin the stand of corn. Let it stool before covering much in the early cultivation. Best results come from planting at the time you plant your early maize.

WEAVER BROS. WILL PAY $25.00 TO THE FARMER WHO SENDS US THE LARGEST HEAD, GROWN IN 1928 TO REACH OUR OFFICE BY NOVEMBER 1st, 1928.

About Your Health

Things You Should Know

by John Joseph Gaines, M.D.

"INTESTINAL FLU"

As if the hydra-headed monster, influenza, were not terrible enough in its easily-recognizable form, humanity must, it seems, be harassed by that obscure, baffling, demon for which medical science has offered no handier name than "intestinal flu."

A very distressing weakness is characteristic of Spanish Influenza. It is distinctly a respiratory disease, caused by germs which take lodging in the breathing passages, hence we find sneezing, coughing, and general irritability, along with exceptionally high temperature in most cases; rarely have I seen cases with low temperature; and the disease is not difficult to diagnose at the first call.

But this "intestinal" thing is a different proposition. The victim always in a run-down condition, begins with a chilly, creepy feeling of considerable intensity, which lasts for a day or more before being compelled to seek his bed, no matter what the treatment the bewildered physician applies, the temperature will mount to 104 or 105, about the third day; there is no cough, or other symptom referable to the lungs or breathing-passages. No point of infection can be made out by physical methods. A temperature of 105 is a phenomenon that I had much rather not see; my hair is too grey for my age anyway. Still, the patient manages—by sheer will-power I think—to get well. And, I don't know how he accomplishes it!

My motive in this article is to warn my readers at this season, to take the best possible care of themselves, it being the only way I can suggest, of avoiding attacks. Don't overload the stomach; keep the digestive tract eliminating freely; drink plenty of water; eat good, nourishing food, but not too excess. Keep the surface of the body comfortable. Avoid crowds. Alkaline mineral waters are very useful. Do not worry. Do not exhaust the body. Immunizing vaccines are worth while too, I am sure; your physician is your friend.

CHIROPRACTIC

CHIROPRACTIC

It's up to you to have natural poise. This holds true in farm or city's loud noise. Whether you're poor or rolling in wealth. Good posture pays in appearance and health. In other words—just keep your spine "straight." Don't let this go until it's too late.
