Insect Identification Meetings Are Planned

Crop Prospects Are Very Good States David Eaton, County Agent

In discussing growing conditions since the recent rains, County Agent David Eaton said Thursday—"Crop prospects are very good. The moisture received has put the cotton crop into good or excellent condition, and farmers have completed planting this week on land that hasn't been planted before. Very little cotton has been planted this week; it has either been grain or grain sorghums or bundles; and there has been enough moisture in all parts of the county to bring this planting up.
Reports reaching the Leader office indicate that Pep and Bula received good showers early Thursday morning.

FARMERS WARNED TO CHECK LAND FOR FLEAHOPPERS

Sessions To Be Held Week After Next In County

A series of cotton patch insect identification meetings will be held in Lamb county, according to an announcement made by County Agent David Eaton Thursday.
Mr. Eaton stated the meetings would probably be held "the week after next," adding that these sessions will teach farmers to identify both the harmful and beneficial insects.
At the present time Mr. Eaton is awaiting word from the entomologist as to what date he will have available for Lamb county.
The county agent states that so far cotton is not bothered by insects, saying that he checked fields all over the county during the past two days, and found a light infestation of the cotton Thrip and very few cotton fleahoppers.
Mr. Eaton added that the Thrip does not cause damage except in early cotton growth, and it is now past that stage, but that the cotton fleahoppers have a chance to build up infestation, and consequently, Mr. Eaton is warning farmers to keep a continuous check for those fleahoppers.
The identification meetings will assist the farmers in identifying these insects.

Seriously Handicapped Littlefield Team Loses To Olton Thursday: Score 6-12

The local Junior American Legion team went into the field against Olton Thursday seriously handicapped. Two of their regular lineup were absent due to sore muscles, and one in the wheat harvest.

Gardner was injured in the Lubbock game Wednesday, receiving an injured right shoulder; and R. L. Rhoten, pitcher, was unable to play due to a sore arm. Jerry Gage was in the wheat harvest, but is expected back Sunday.

Dale Gage, 13, of Whitharral, substituted for Rhoten as pitcher.

Littlefield lost to Olton 6 to 12. This game, however, had no bearing on the championship, and the Littlefield American Legion team is still champion of the western half of District 2.

Friday, Olton's team came to Littlefield to contest the local team in a game to take the place of the one rained out June 29. Olton won

With thunderclouds hanging over Littlefield and threatening to treat the city to a much-needed drenching and with a few of them even giving samples of what they could do if they would, an incident comes to mind which involves a thorough soaking, a gentleman, and an ingenious wife.
Maybe "there are strange things done in the midnight sun" but stranger things happen in a newspaper office during a rush noon.

The moral of this story is adaptability and it aims to promote some kind of reciprocity—in time of emergency. The aforementioned gentlemen was caught between a thundershower and a thumping engagement sans shirt, the one which had been doing him such fine service all day having suddenly been reduced to a sodden rag which had more kinship to what the housewife just mopped the kitchen floor with than anything seen in the pages of Esquire. The lid was certainly off, but the "top" which replaced it was one which in the natural order of things should never have fit.

on Farmer Practises "Live-At-Home" Plan With Success

The dry land farming of land on the Plains... believes the fact that... one drop of water... of garden, there... garden spot, it be... Aigaki, an ex-... vegetable grower... Idaho. Aigaki lived... Hale county, but this... year in Lamb county.

The farm which is something of a "miracle" for the South Plains area is situated seven miles northwest of Olton. Mr. Aigaki has 250 acres of cultivated land and access to 390 acres of pasture. 150 acres of this cultivated land contains cotton which is far in advance of that being raised on many other farms. The reason cannot be laid to any particular agrarian astuteness on the part of the owner; he just did not know when to plant it. He planted it, by all the rules, too early; but it is doing nicely.

70 Acres in Potatoes
There are 70 acres planted in Irish potatoes, 20 acres in onions, and three acres in lettuce. The potatoes are the pride and joy of the Aigaki farm experiment. They were planted the third day of March. The fertilizer formula used was 400 pounds of anhy-drous ammonia per acre under irrigation. These potatoes were watered once every 10 days when they first were planted. As they neared maturity, they were watered once every three days. During the growing period, the potatoes were sprayed three times with DDT for control of insects.

Mr. Aigaki is now enjoying the fruits of all this labor. He is digging his potatoes, and the yield is astonishing. The ground is turning up 200 to 250 sacks per acre. But a more astonishing fact that the quantity is the quality. 90 per cent of the potatoes are grading No. 1.

Practices Diversification
This enterprising, new Lamb county farmer is also carrying on a live-at-home program, raising all of his own food for himself and farm animals. Cows, hogs, and chickens are found in his well-stocked barnyard.

Mr. Aigaki is being financed in his farming operations through the local office of the United States Government. Farmer's Home Administration. T. J. Jones, county supervisor, has had this farm "under his wing" as well as under his observation from the very beginning of the experiment.

To all appearances it would seem that Takashi Aigaki has a thumb as green as his very green lettuce which remains crisp and cool under the South Plains sun. It's a nice trick, and if we can find a shady spot, we'll certainly doff our big hat to the Aigaki concern!

Price Daniel Favors REA

Attorney General Price Daniel this week interrupted his campaign for U.S. Senate to carry on his fight to save the state's new gas revenues for building more rural roads and improving the public schools.

This gas tax—which was sponsored by county judges, Texas Farm Bureau, and other farm and ranch groups—is being upheld in the courts by Attorney General Daniel against attacks made by some major gas companies.

As a member of the Legislature from rural counties in Southeast Texas and as Speaker of the House in the 48th Legislature, Daniel, a native of Liberty, has consistently fought for Texas farmers and ranchers in supporting REA, soil conservation, rural road building, and similar programs.

Himself a farm owner and REA member, Daniel has pledged in his campaign for U.S. Senate to work to strengthen and maintain the REA program, soil conservation work, farm price supports, aid to the aged, and other such "sound and constructive programs."

Bible Words to Live by

MATTHEW 16:26 — "What doth it profit a man if he gain the whole world and suffer the loss of his own soul? Or what exchange shall a man give for his soul?"

This line of Scripture, spoken by Jesus himself, is to my mind the most memorable in the Bible. It has profoundly influenced the lives of millions and altered the whole course of human history. It has been the revolutionary principle which brought men and women out of mediocrity into sanctity. It states with brevity and clarity the ultimate alternatives, Mammon, between which every man and woman must sooner or later make a choice. It poses the question which, of all questions, is the problem of our generation: Christ or spiritual salvation or total ruin.

Chas. C. Thompson Named Chairman Of Farm Credit Board Of Houston

Notes from the Hi-Plains Water Conservation Dist.

Our district was represented at a state-wide water conservation meeting held in San Antonio last month. It was very interesting to learn how conservation-minded a lot of the people are becoming throughout Texas. It seems the large municipalities are leading the field in a lot of good conservation measures. We were also interested in the recharge plans and developments discussed at this meeting.

During the month of May and June the district has held a total of 24 meetings in the High Plains area. We have shown color movies, and held discussion periods on the Texas ground water law. It is alarming to find how few people know what is contained in our law and how beneficial it could be to the High Plains irrigation area. We urge all of you to pay a visit to your county agent or your county committeemen and ask for the bulletin published by Texas A&M College, entitled "The Underground Water Conservation Law."

Do you know that 54 million acre feet of water pours into the Gulf of Mexico each year from Texas streams. Not only have we lost that much water that could be used, but think of the acres of good farm land that also went down the drain. "Conservation can be taught—it cannot be enforced. To be taught successfully, its methods and aims to be paid, however, to redeem the property, either before or after sale.

Another angle is the fact that state, county and school districts also have and may present tax bills.

The Farm Credit Board of Houston announces the election of Chas. C. Thompson of Colorado City as chairman of its board, and J. B. Pumphrey of Old Glory as its vice-chairman.

Mr. Thompson was formerly vice-chairman of the board, and succeeds B. L. Sanders of Corsicana who served in that capacity for a number of years. Mr. Pumphrey succeeds Mr. Thompson as vice-chairman of the board. These men will serve also as chairman and vice-chairman, respectively, of the board of directors of the Federal Land Bank, Federal Intermediate Credit Bank, Production Credit Corporation, and the Houston Bank for Cooperatives.

Mr. Thompson is chairman of the Texas Technological College of Lubbock, is president of the City National Bank of Colorado City, and has large farm and livestock holdings.

Mr. Pumphrey of Old Glory has extensive ranch holdings in that area. He also owns one of the Hereford breeding herds in West Texas.

OWNERSHIP OF SOME PROPERTY UNKNOWN

City Acting To Collect Back Taxes

How would you like to live in a house, more or less of your very own, entirely tax free, and paying no property tax to the city in which you live and the house is located. Well, there is such property located right here in Littlefield. Taxes cannot be collected, because no one knows exactly who is supposed to render it for taxes and pay the tax.

Likewise, there are several dozen vacant pieces of real estate, which are in the delinquent tax category for exactly the same reason.

The city is working on the problem right now, and it is believed that approximately 90 parcels of real estate will be added regularly to the city tax rolls, and several thousand dollars of delinquent tax will flow into the city coffers.

through legal actions now being instituted, and with more to follow.

Legal Action Taken
Recently the Lamb County Leader published the first of possibly 90 legal notices, directed to the last known owners, part owners, deceased, absent, or otherwise unknown owners and their "heirs and assigns," to the effect that delinquent taxes were due and owing, and that the said properties will be sold for taxes delinquent, after July 14, 1952, unless said taxes are previously paid.

As fast as the legal details can be worked out, and there are many of those details, additional citations or legal notices will be published, until all of the approximately 90 tracts of land, both vacant and improved have been accounted for.

Publication Law Invoked
Publication in a newspaper is provided for in law, and is necessary due to the fact that neither the name of the present owner, nor his address are known—and as stated above, many owners are deceased, and their heirs either know nothing of the property, or have regarded it as having little or no value.

Without an actual count or check of the records, it would be difficult to state just how many individual pieces of property, real estate are located in the city, but the number is probably close to 5,000, and may be more. If that figure is correct, 90 delinquencies for the reasons set forth above, would place only a small number percentage-wise in that category, something less than two per cent.

In the 17 notices which have been published the lowest amount being sued for is $4.15; the highest, $74.11. Legal fees, court costs, and costs of publication will sharply increase the amounts that will have

Doris Criswell and Dwayne Carter Married In Olton

Doris Criswell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Vaughn of Amherst, and Dwayne Carter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Carter of Amherst were married Friday morning at 10 a. m. in the Baptist parsonage in Olton.

A double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. J. Henry Cox. The bride chose a navy linen lace dress with navy and white accessories. She wore a corsage of red carnations. In the time-honored tradition of brides, Doris had something old, earrings; something new, her wedding ensemble; something borrowed, her sister's rhinestone necklace; something blue, the color of her wedding dress.

The entire ceremony was filmed by Mrs. J. Henry Cox. Mrs. Donald Priddy, the bride's sister and only attendant, wore a gray silk shantung dress with navy accessories and a corsage of red carnations similar to that worn by the bride.

The groom was attended by his brother, Don Carter of Amherst. After a wedding trip which includes sight-seeing in Denver and other points of interest in Colorado, the couple will be at home on North Washington street in Amherst. Cheese Friendly To Other Foods

Cheese is friendly to other foods and has many practical uses in meal preparation. Foods and nutrition specialists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, point out the varieties, flavors and textures makes cheese adaptable to other ingredients in a recipe.

In menu planning, the specialists say, cheese may be used from soup to dessert. The concentrated nutrients of milk makes cheese an economical food buy. One ounce of cheese may be used in the daily diet as an alternate for one cup of milk.

Soft cheeses lend themselves to appetizers when spread on crackers, potato chips and melba toast. These are good served with tomato and other vegetable juice cocktails. Grated hard cheese, such as parmesan and cheddar, when sprinkled over the top add new flavor to cream soups.

The specialists suggest using cottage cheese or cream cheese with tomatoes or fruits as salads. They say tossed green salads are improved in flavor by adding cubes of Cheddar, Edam or pieces of Roquefort.

Woman Headliners For GOP

Women's activities at the Republican convention in Chicago will revolve around three handsome women who have been attending conventions since 1944. All are members of the Republican National Committee.

MRS. GILFORD MAYES

Women's Division, has spent a rushed two years talking to Republican study clubs all over the country. She's a living example of the slogan she preached: "Work in '50 to win '52."

She began party work more than 20 years ago. She has held offices on precinct, county, state and national committees. Fathers of the party respect her breezy drive so much that they have twice named her to two special policy committees.

In 1950 she was a member of the committee that drew up a Republican declaration of principles. She was not only a member, but chairman, of the Western Republican Conference on Pacific Coast problems.

She was born in Anaconda, Mont., and worked as an accountant and office manager before marrying. She is the mother of two college student sons. She has found time for work with many citizens groups.

Mrs. Charles P. Howard of Reading, Mass., will be secretary of the convention. This is only the second time in Republican annals that a woman has been named to such a post.

Mrs. Howard learned politics as a child listening to her father read aloud from the Congressional Record. She has been president of the Massachusetts Women's Republican Clubs and member of her state's Republican executive committee.

She has been active in fund raising for the party and finally succeeded in placing women on the party's national finance committee.

She has given much time to volunteer work for hospitals. But her

Toys For The Convalescent Child

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE
AP Newsfeatures Writer

When your child has been ill and is convalescing, toys are as important to him as they are when he is well.

Your choice of toys, says Professor Grace Langdon of Columbia University's Teachers College and counselor to the American Toy Institute, may be as important a factor in your child's recovery as much as other care he requires.

Here are some basic suggestions for selecting toys suitable for making convalescent days happy, according to Dr. Langdon:

Choose toys that will encourage your child to play quietly without much expenditure of physical energy.

Provide a wide variety of toys because the convalescent's span of attention is short; your child will need to turn from one type of activity to another more frequently than when he is well.

Consider bed limitations realistically; avoid play materials that spill easily and toys that have small pieces which, if lost in the bed clothes, will spoil the fun.

Choose playthings that do not require too long focusing of the eyes, since eye-strain should be avoided.

Select toys that can be played with alone or with one other person. Excessive companionship is likely to become over-stimulating.

Dr. Langdon suggests, the following types of toys for convalescent-time play:

Dolls and stuffed animals that give companionship.

Picture books and drawing books—easy ones chosen to fit the child's interests.

Paint sets—when the bedding is covered and a flat surface provided for painting.

Crayons, paper and drawing board.

Ball games—when a very ill

Hawaiian Supper

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Give a Hawaiian lunch or supper for four for pleasant summer entertainment. Make your table centerpiece a seasonal one by combining fresh fruits and vegetables—lemons, fresh pineapple, summer squash, eggplant, tomatoes, cucumbers, and grapes. Surround the fruits and vegetables with lots of green leaves to give the feeling of luxurious foliage that's usually associated with the islands.

If you want to make placecards, here are some Hawaiian phrases you might find it fun to use on them:

ALOHA—Literally, love and affection. Used as a welcome or a goodbye; a greeting.

ALOHA NUI NUI—A great big "aloha" to you.

HANAU—"Happy Birthday!"

OKOLE MALUNA—"Bottoms up!" a toast.

What to serve? Start off with your favorite first-course beverage and an avocado mix to spread on crackers or melba toast. Go on to Hawaiian Ribs and Rice Molds with a tossed green salad; or make the salad one of shredded green cabbage. For dessert serve a refreshing fruit sherbet with small crisp cookies.

HAWAIIAN RIBS

Ingredients: 2 pounds fresh pork spareribs, 2 tablespoons fortified margarine, ¼ cup sugar, ¼ cup soy sauce, ½ cup chopped onion, 1 clove garlic (peeled and minced), ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon celery seed, 1 tablespoon flour, sliced pineapple.

Method: Have the butcher cut the ribs into pieces 3 or 4 inches square and crack each square at several places. Melt margarine in saucepan over low heat. Add sugar, soy sauce, onion, garlic, pepper, celery seed, and flour, stir well. Simmer 5 minutes, stirring several times. Place ribs in shallow baking dish; pour sauce over ribs. Bake in moderate (350F.) oven 1 hour. Baste occasionally. Garnish with sliced pineapple. Makes 4 servings.

HAWAIIAN RICE MOLDS

Ingredients: 6 tablespoons fortified margarine, 1½ cups rice, one 10½-ounce can condensed bouillon, water, 1 egg, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ cup shredded green pepper.

Method: In skillet over low heat melt 4 tablespoons of the margarine. Add dry rice and fry to a golden brown, stirring constantly. Place rice in large saucepan. Add bouillon; using soup can as measure, add 1 can water. Cover and cook until rice is tender and has absorbed liquid. Beat egg and salt just enough to combine yolk and white. Melt remaining 2 tablespoons margarine in skillet over low heat; add egg and rotate skillet so that egg coats bottom of pan. Cook until firm. Remove from skillet and cut in long thin strips. Place green pepper in skillet and cook lightly. Mix rice, green pepper, and part of the shredded egg. Pack mixture in a lightly oiled 1 cup measure; turn out on platter; repeat to make 3 more molds. Garnish molds with remaining shredded egg.

Bible Words to Live by

JOHN 11:25-26—"Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth on me, though he die, yet shall he live; and whosoever liveth and believeth on me shall never die."

When the history of the ages is finally written, these words may turn out to be the greatest words ever spoken. The Lord Christ has already claimed that He is the way to God—"I am the way..."; that through Him salvation comes—"I am the door..."; that He is the spiritual nourishment for the believer—"I am the bread..."; and that He illumines our pathway and keeps us from falling—"I am the light..."

Now comes the supreme claim—"I am the resurrection and the life." Most men do not want to die. Death lurks in the background of all our thinking and overshadows all our days. You do not want to die? Then come to Christ, take Him, love Him, live Him, and you will taste a quality of life which you know in your heart of hearts can never end. It is everlasting. You now are immortal!

This is my favorite word from Scripture because it deals with man's last question, What about death?

Will You Return From Your Trip?

Another long weekend holiday is coming up. Motorists who plan trips for the July Fourth holiday will do well to reflect on what happened on that last long weekend holiday. Three hundred and sixty persons were killed in traffic accidents over the Memorial Day holiday just a month ago. In the last six years 8,936 persons have been killed in holiday traffic. That is almost three times as many as were killed at Pearl Harbor and about half as many as have died for America on the battlefields of Korea.

How many of the 8,936 thought when they started out on the holiday that they would never come back? Probably most of them never gave a thought to the matter. If they had and had determined not to be traffic statistics most of them probably would have come back.

So when you start on that trip this week make up your mind that you will come back. Remember the roads will be crowded and that extra courtesy and caution will be needed. Don't try to drive too far too fast. Don't get impatient with the slow motorist in front of you and take chances in passing. If the trip is long, stop and relax occasionally. If you and all the other motorists will follow those rules you'll probably get back safely.

Honor Comes To Rural Minister

The Rev. Earl Allen, pastor of Martin Springs Baptist church, Hopkins county, Texas has been named Rural Minister of the Year for 1952 by The Progressive Farmer magazine.

He will receive, in connection with the award, a scholarship to the Town and Country School for Ministers from Candler School of Theology, Emory University, Atlanta, Ga., July 29-August 14.

The Rev. Mr. Allen, whose address is Route 2, Sulphur Springs, Texas, is being recognized for his leadership in civic activities and community building programs, his work in improving the economic status of farm people in the county, and outstanding spiritual leadership.

When the Rev. Mr. Allen came to Martin Springs Baptist church, it was a struggling, disintegrated group of people. Now he has a great congregation of cooperating members who work, live, and worship together as one family.

His influence is not confined to his own church. When rural schools were consolidated with urban schools, rural people were left without a community center or central interest. The Rev. Mr. Allen has done a wonderful job of rehabilitating the social life of the people in his community and has made his church a community center in every sense of the word.

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas
A public service bureau of the State Bar of Texas

Our Declaration of Independence, signed 176 years ago, is considered by lawyers as expressing a basic principle of our American way of life—our belief in a government of laws rather than a government of men, and in certain individual rights that must not be denied by governing bodies.

The indictments set out in the document against King George III of Great Britain charge him with numerous violations of that tenet. Among the complaints enumerated are the following:

"He has dissolved Representative Houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people."

"He has obstructed the administration of justice, by refusing his assent for laws for establishing judiciary powers."

"He has made judges dependent upon his will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries."

"He has refused his assent to laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good."

"He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation: . . . For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury; For transporting us beyond seas to be tried for pretended offenses; . . . For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering fundamentally the forms of our governments; . . . For suspending our own legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever."

Our forefathers who subscribed to the principles of the Declaration of Independence were willing to fight for their beliefs. The Revolutionary War followed, dragging through weary years of suffering and suspense. Each of us takes pride in their eventual triumph over gigantic obstacles.

In 1787, when the framers of our Constitution met at Independence Hall in Philadelphia, where the Declaration of Independence had been signed 11 years previously, they set to work to create a system of government which was to perpetuate the fundamental theory mentioned in the preamble of the earlier document:

"We hold these truths to be self-evident: That all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

"That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; . . ."

Some five years later, the first ten amendments to our Constitution were adopted at one time, specifically detailing various basic civil rights stemming from the underlying theory of the Declaration of Independence.

Our courts day by day guard these rights for us.

City Takes On Fall Appearance

Littlefield had all the appearances of a busy fall yesterday with the depot lot almost filled to capacity with trucks and cars of Mexican cotton choppers.

Few crops to the south have caused hundreds of choppers to swing to the big cotton acreage of the South Plains. The Texas Employment Office announces that ample labor is available to the farmers and choppers range from 40 cents to 75 cents an hour. Merchants reported sales were brisk Saturday.

Election Judges To Be Paid More

The 16 election judges and their clerks will receive more money for holding the Democratic primary and run off elections, than previously.

County Democratic chairman T. Wade Potter announced that the number of clerks would depend on the size of the election boxes and pay was not to exceed $10 a day or $1 an hour, which is reported to be about twice the amount paid in former years.

OPS Extends Until Aug. 1 Deadline For Adjusting Ceiling Prices

The Office of Price Stabilization has extended until August 1 the deadline for restaurants and other eating and drinking establishments to adjust their ceiling prices if they can qualify for adjustments.

Announcement of the action, along with other price regulation changes, was made this week by the district OPS office.

The restaurant ceiling price regulation (CPR 134) which became effective early in April, froze prices at the level prevailing during the week February 3 to 9, 1952, but permitted adjustments by operators who were charging prices during that week lower than were permitted under the old restaurant regulation.

Restaurants had been given until June 1 to make the adjustments and post new ceiling prices.

The deadline was extended, however, because many operators were unable to determine their eligibility for an adjustment by the June 1 date and many applications which had been filed with OPS had not been processed in time.

Other recent OPS action included an authorization for manufacturers of ready-mixed concrete to increase ceiling prices by four per cent.

The agency also announced that exemption from price control has been ordered for ice. The exemption of ice became effective June 27. The agency said that selling prices for ice have been relatively stable for the last 20 years, that declining demand and availability of mechanical refrigeration operate to prevent price advances above ceiling levels, and that the burden of continuing controls would outweigh the advantage of price stabilization.

Seeks Election To Congress

Herb Petry, Jr., Carrizo Springs attorney, businessman and past President of Lions International, announces his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Congress-At-Large for the State of Texas.

Petry is president of Dimmit County Bar Association, a director of the Texas Good Roads Association, a member of the Texas Economy Commission and a Steward in the Carrizo Springs Methodist church.

The candidate states that he is in favor of: legislation to return the tidelands to the state of Texas; soil and water conservation; an economy-minded federal administration; adequate national defense; and a domestic policy which would safeguard the nation from insidious attack from within.

Petry also favors strong and definite measures against Communism; the reduction of foreign aid; elimination of waste in government and the early balancing of the federal budget. By accomplishing the former, he believes, the latter will be accomplished.

Opposed to additional taxation, this candidate for the important state and federal post states that he favors the reduction of taxes just as quickly as the establishment of national security permits.

It is the belief of the candidate that the man who occupies a position of public trust, either elected or appointed, should be a man of good moral character, one who enjoys the trust and confidence of the people he is to serve.

His experience as a lawyer and his contacts with men of universal perspective, have brought him to the realization, he says, that the nation is in need of legislation that will stamp out organized crime.

Petry pledges himself to work with all other Congressmen from Texas on matters of interest to citizens of the state and to the best interests of the nation.

A life-long resident of Carrizo Springs, Petry is a graduate of Westmorland College, San Antonio, and the University of Texas Law School, Austin.

He is married to the former Josephine White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben White of Carrizo Springs. The couple has two sons.

Phone Rate Hike Proposal Fails

Telephone rates in Littlefield will go no higher than their present figure since the passage of an ordinance by the City Commission.

The City Commission did not plainly state that the ordinance was an absolute refusal to grant increased telephone rates, but city officials did say that it might be considered equal to a refusal.

The petition drawn up in May by the telephone company asked for a 46 per cent increase in charges for local service. This proposed increase would have raised one-party business phone service from $6.50 to $9.50 per month. In proportion, rates on one-party residence phones would have jumped from $3.25 to $4.75.

Judge Hopping

home at Route 2, Lubbock, he handles debts and collections for the Elwood Estate.

The well-known and highly respected family of Judge Hopping is still represented in Littlefield by his son, Sid Hopping, former Lamb county sheriff, and now tax assessor and collector for the Littlefield Independent School District, and by a daughter, Mrs. Pat Boone, Sr. Another son, Earl, resides in Kerrville, Texas.

The adventures related in the book tell how Coke was married at 17 and took charge of a ranch at the age of 20. He moved a trail herd from eastern Texas to eastern New Mexico where he managed a cow outfit near Portales, New Mexico. Life on the borders of these states finds expression in the pages of this new piece of Americana.

Dedicated To His Wife

In a frank, sincere note at the beginning of his book, Mr. Hopping recognizes the part that Mrs. Hopping—the lovely Lelia of his book—took in maintaining a home for him and their children amid "the hardships and privations on the lonely plains of West Texas."

He identifies her with the brave pioneer women who played such a major part in making the paths of yesterday that led into the highways, railroads, schools, and churches of today's modern communities. He presents his wife and the other women in the book as typical of the pioneer women who helped to make it possible for the cowman to stick with his tough job and who inspired him to draw up plans to develop the greatest livestock country in the whole Southwest.

"A SHERIFF-RANGER IN CHUCKWAGON DAYS" shows how American families forged the west. These families did not depend on what their ancestors back in the East had done in building the first part of our great nation. Ancestors don't make the man, they say in West Texas. In his book, Mr. Hopping shows how talents inherited from our ancestors, combined with the outward poise and content of our environment, truly make the man or the woman. In this light, it is significant throughout the story to remember that both Coke and Lelia were orphans.

The 200-odd pages of the former judge's book are filled with exciting incidents: Pursuing horse thieves in the great mountains and canyons of the West, dodging the bullets of cattle rustlers, and fighting gun battles with murderers. In short, this is the story of an untamed West—and of a man—R. C. Hopping—who helped to tame it.

Family Night Observed At Country Club

Members of the Country Club observed family night at the Country Club Friday, when members brought baskets and enjoyed a picnic supper.

Following the supper fireworks provided the diversion for the children for the evening.

In charge of the children's activities were: Mesdames L. B. Stone, Maxey Bagwell, Harley Busanamas and O. P. Wilemon.

Seeks Woman To Care For Mother

An inquiry concerning a very special service came across our desk this week.

L. H. Randolph, deputy sheriff at Earth, is trying to track down a wanted person. On this "case," however, none of the sheriff's usual methods will avail. He can't make use of a posse, fingerprints, footprints or anything else which might be Exhibit A in any courtroom. Those things would frighten the individual that Mr. Randolph is seeking now.

He hopes that his search will lead him to a capable, dependable woman who will assume the care of his mother, Mrs. Randolph who is 89 years old spends her time in a wheelchair. This gallant elderly lady lives 13 miles east of Lockney.

R. D. Dennis, sheriff of Lamb county, who can be found at the court house in Littlefield, will be glad to contact Mr. Randolph for any person interested in this position.

Pajama Tops

off as well that he did more than merely only "get by" with the stunt. He even collected several compliments on the style and design of the unsuspected pajama-top-turned-shirt in the course of the series of engagements which he covered and through which it covered him.

Local ladies' lingerie departments take notice and prepare. When this story comes out, you are likely to have a few male customers "standing afar off." They'll be a little backward in claiming your attention at first and when asked about a proposed purchase they'll probably stutter, but keep this tip in mind and the pajama business—at least one-half of it—has a new source of sales! Maybe the big rain—or threat of it—with which this column started will be the real booster. If the "rains come," a sizable portion of Littlefield's male population would be involved in the general getting wet which is always attendant on an unexpected downpour. Forewarned is forearmed and in such a case at least half of these forlorn fellows could be persuaded to take refuge for the rest of the day in some roomy, comfortable—and unexpectedly stylish—woman's pajama top. Seeing is believing. It's true, so keep a weather eye out if "the weather" sets in around Littlefield. Next case!

Seeks Election To Court Of Civil Appeals

Harry Bunnenberg, attorney at law, of Vernon, Texas, is a candidate for the office of Associate Justice of the Court of Civil Appeals. This district covers 46 counties, or an area of about the size of the State of Ohio.

Mr. Bunnenberg is 52 years of age, and has practiced law for the past 30 years, confining his practice to civil law.

He is a candidate for the place held by Judge Lumpkin, who is reported not seeking re-election.

Judge Herbert Martin of this city is also a member of this court.
