

Are We Going To Build Littlefield? (An Editorial)

Littlefield can have a new hotel only through the cooperation of the citizenship of this city.

The statement has been made by those in a position to know, that capital will not be interested in such a large project as a hotel suitable to fill the need of Littlefield unless the citizenship will get behind the movement, and cooperate, each and every one, in such a progressive step.

In the investigations which have been made by the Hotel Committee of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce, and those in this group, are exerting every effort to get results, it has been found that outside capital is more than willing to finance the major portion of the construction of a hotel, but these investors feel that the citizenship of this city should come forward and pledge the purchase of at least a small amount of stock as evidence of their faith in the project.

The same applies to local capital, but probably to a lesser degree.

The need for hotel accommodation is becoming greater day by day. In fact, with the purchase of the Littlefield Hotel for the purpose of a hospital-casino, the need has become acute. And for the past few weeks, with the expanded activity influenced largely by the possible development of this section as oil territory, business men coming to this city are in some instances being forced to go to nearby cities for hotel accommodation.

Littlefield needs . . . and wants . . . a hotel to fill the need of one of the most progressive and wide awake cities in Texas.

Littlefield can boast of the best departmental stores, grocery, automobile establishments, schools, hospitals, etc., and in fact every other concern and institution which a growing city would desire . . . except a new and large hotel.

Littlefield wants to grow, but it is common knowledge that a city cannot expand beyond its hotel accommodations. Everyone knows a hotel commodious enough to accommodate the traveling public, visitors to the city, the possible permanents, club functions, business meetings or other public gatherings, will assist beyond measure in the building of a city.

The lack of hotel accomodation at this time is a great detriment to Littlefield, and if not remedied in the near future will cause a great many who would otherwise stay within our boundaries to seek accommodation in other cities. Where people maintain their residence, there they will do their trading.

Are we going to help build some other city, or are we going to build Littlefield and help it maintain its slogan — "The Pulse of the Plains."

The citizenship must choose!

May 15 Deadline For Signing Work Sheets Annual Event To Open Monday In The Palace Theatre

1,400 FARMERS HAVE SIGNED UP TOTALS REVEAL

Farmers Urged To Call At County Agent's Office

May 15 has been set by the State Committee as a closing date for signing work sheets. All farmers who wish to sign work sheets and who have not already done so should call at the County agents office before the above date. There will be no extension of time.

Around fourteen hundred farmers of Lamb county have signed work sheets to date.

Diverted acres this year may be planted to sudan grass, sweet sorghum, cowpeas, or soybeans in rows. If grain sorghum is planted on diverted acres it must be sown broadcast.

Alternate strips of sudan or sorghum and summer fallow may be practiced this year, provided the strip of fallow is at least 10 feet wide. If a farmer has 40 or 42 inch machinery he may plant two rows of sweet sorghum, grain sorghum or sudan grass and skip two rows. In this case the two rows skipped may be summer fallowed and classified as diverted acres. The heads may be removed from the sorghum or sudan, but the stalks must be left on the land.

Farmers who have 38 inch machinery must be reminded that by planting two rows and skipping two rows the summer fallow strip will not be spaced sufficiently wide to be classified as soil-conserving. In this case three or four rows may be alternated with 2 rows of sudan or sorghum and the summer fallow strip will count as soil-conserving.

Deceased is survived by his mother, Mrs. C. A. Welch, five brothers, Jesse, Willie, Claude and Marvin Welch of near Olton, and Haskell Welch of Amarillo; and two sisters, Misses Odessa Fae and Audie Loren, also at home.

BAND TO ENTER CONTEST FRIDAY AT TECH FIESTA

Expect To Secure Uniforms Before Opening Of Next Term

The Littlefield high school band played their first concert of the year to a nice audience in the auditorium, when a group of students and their parents were present.

According to Supt. A. D. Sanders, this is the first time in the history of the school that band has been taught as a part of the curriculum. There are 26 members of the school band, which is being directed by Morgan Layfield.

The band will also render music at the baseball game Friday afternoon when Roswell plays the city team. They also plan to give one or two open air concerts before the close of the year.

The band hopes to secure uniforms before the opening of school next term, and will represent the schools at the football games this fall.

The Littlefield high school band also expects to participate in the contest at Tech Fiesta at 8 a. m. Friday morning, as a class B band, against Brownfield, Pecos, Floydada, Sweetwater and DeLeon.

Bands only organized one year are designated class D bands, according to Supt. Sanders.

The Littlefield P. T. A. are considering assisting in the purchase of band uniforms, and it is expected that the local Chamber of Commerce will also furnish some funds for this purpose.

WINS 1ST PLACE ON CHEESE AT SO. PLAINS FAIR

Mrs. R. L. Drake, Yard Demonstrator Takes Honors

The first prize on neufchatel cheese at the Panhandle-Plains Dairy show was awarded to Mrs. R. L. Drake of Spring Lake. Mrs. Drake made the neufchatel cheese from whole sweet milk. To 3 1-2 gallons of milk, held at a temperature of 78 degrees F., is added 1-2 pint of fresh clabber milk. After stirring well from 1-3 to 1-2 of a rennet tablet is dissolved in 1-4 cup of cold water and added to the milk. This milk is held at the same temperature for 15 to 18 hours.

Dip the curd out of the container and place gently in a large square of domestic and allow to drain. After all the free whey has drained, work the cheese to the center of the cloth and fold the cloth over. Press the cheese by putting between two boards with a bucket of water on top. When the desired creamy consistency is reached, salt the cheese to taste. To this may be added chopped nuts, sweet pepper or olives. Mrs. Drake is the yard demonstrator for the Center Home Demonstration club and she is an active cooperater along the other lines of extension work.

Attend the Leader's Cooking School, May 3, 4 and 5.

Improves Clothes Closet

"When we moved here there was nothing to hang our clothes on except a nail. I placed the metal rod for my dresses low enough for my sister to use it, too," said Jewel Gibson, clothing demonstrator for the Littlefield Senior 4-H club. Jewel has a long rod through the closet which provides ample room for her clothes and those of her sister's. Storage space for bedding and heavy clothes has been provided by building deep shelves at one end of the closet. Above the clothes rod, Jewel plans to have a shelf for her purses and hats.

A shoe rack was made to fit under the dresses. The closet will be completed by painting it a light color after the other shelf is built.

New York Makes Plenty of Room For Nation's Fair Of 1939
As Shown By Aerograph Of Site In Heart Of City

NEW YORK (Special)—All doubts aside. There is enough ground in this compact city for the New York World's Fair of 1939. You can't fool a modern camera operated from a plane flying a mile high over the approximate center of the metropolis. There in the photograph, within the heavy dotted white line, is the major portion of the 1216 1/4-acre exposition site.

The world has been wondering whether New York really has room enough to stage such a big event.

The expanse of ground was made for the 1939 Fair and an eventual city park through one of the largest movements of earth undertaken in the East. A corps of engineers, in a few months time, transferred 7,000,000 cubic yards of dry fill and excavated for the lagoons shown in the foreground. The once tidal Flushing river has a new course. Tide control gates now maintain the lake and stream levels with spring water.

The picture shows the main arteries of travel to the Fair grounds, as well as Manhattan only 14 to 25 minutes away, depending upon the mode of excursion. The arrow at the extreme right points to the proposed Whitestone bridge, which is expected to be completed in time for the Exposition.

From the Theme Centre, spotted on the photo in the section between the Long Island railroad and Horace Harding boulevard, will radiate the broad avenues and esplanades of the main exhibit area. The mile-long section on the nearer side of the boulevard and to the right of Meadow Lake will be devoted to amusements. The first buildings, of the 300 estimated as necessary to housing the Fair, will begin to arise this spring. Early in the coming season, too, hundreds of grown trees, including American elms of 20-inch trunk diameter, will be set in the central exhibit area as a first step in a landscaping operation that will embower the exposition in foliage.

REV. W. F. BOSEN APPOINTED PASTOR

"All my friends of Littlefield and section will receive a cordial welcome at the Plainview rectory," said Rev. Bosen.

If You Feel Bad, Don't Want To Laugh, Skip This

Austin, Tex., April 27. (UP)—Although the fight over repeal of pari-mutuel betting at horse races has been bitter, the battle has had its lighter moments. One came at the hearing on the bill before the Senate committee on criminal jurisprudence.

Opponents of race betting recited harrowing examples of men who killed themselves after losing heavily on the horses. Then a man who wanted parimutuels to stay replied:

"They tell us that racing caused those deaths—so we should kill racing. Well, I've heard of men killing themselves because of women. So what?"

There was silence for a minute, then both sides joined in the laughter.

their minds, being willing and in fact, anxious to try the newer methods. There are many new ideas in kitchen and dining room management that have never been thought of before.

Home making and home keeping have become glorified by the many modern tools and equipments and the new ways of preparing food which has eliminated much of the hard work and drudgery of old times. Every home is a budget in itself, where expenses should be governed in accordance with the income. Lack of system in this matter, as well as lack of knowledge on the part of the housewife has disrupted many homes.

Ways and means of overcoming many of these obstacles will be explained by Mrs. Burbank, who has had wide experience in matters of this kind.

Ways of decorating simple dishes and of preparing the table for formal affairs will be given by Mrs. Burbank who knows and understands how all women like to entertain and how many of them have to manage carefully in order to do so. This and many other special ways of making the home attractive will be demonstrated and thoroughly discussed.

The Kitchen Chautauqua course will be given free of any cost to the women of this city and surrounding territory.

"Good Cooks Aren't Born But Made," Says Mrs. Burbank

"In these modern days, when living is geared up to lightning speed, the housewife is likely to find it difficult to prepare meals and attend her other duties which include both household and social activities," says Mrs. Gertrude Burbank, who will conduct the Kitchen Chautauqua cooking school, which opens here May 3.

"When such a state of affairs exists," continued the lecturer, "it is generally because the housewife has not modernized her kitchen methods in keeping with the modern trend of living."

"When a woman does have her kitchen equipped up to the standards of the time and has learned modern efficient methods of cooking, her friends are almost sure to marvel at her ability to cook so perfectly in so little time. Then they are apt to turn the question aside with a "well, she is just a natural born cook," but they are wrong.

"Good cooks aren't born—they are made, and every woman can be a good cook if she wishes, and is willing to learn and the purpose of a cooking school of this sort is to teach them."

LIFE AND NATURE

BY J. B. MADDOX
There's a jingle and a tingle some times in a verse I find,
And if ever I can get it into me,
I'll write a rhyme.

Let it be a night of stillness, when the mellow moonlight beams,
Through the window pains and zephyrs whisper through the foliage screen.

And the whisper will call sadly out among the rocky hills,
When the hush of every creature let's me hear the drowsy rill.

Let it be when thoughts of sadness fit me in a frame of mind,
That my muse may be willing that my thoughts go out in rhyme.

When the harmony of nature and the dreams of loved ones head,
Like the flowers bloom to perish lovely visions in my head.

Oh! the tranquil joy and pleasure of a soul, thus at home,
Heart and hand with God and nature never was and not alone.

Chasing butterflies and shadows seems to be the aim of man,
Into realms of inky darkness there to sink in treacherous sand.

This is why I've always wanted, still desire to put in lines,
Thoughts that breathe and words expressing life and nature into rhyme.

Trinity Canal to Remove Physical Barrier To Lone Star State's Industrial Progress

FORT WORTH.—Removal of the greatest physical barrier to the profitable industrialization of Texas, namely the remoteness of the rich mid-state region from tide-water, is seen by the All-South Development Council in the imminent realization of the dream of a canalized, commerce-bearing Trinity River.

Realization of the long-sought Trinity River canalization plan for a commercial waterway to the gulf, tapping Texas' rich interior, is imminent, according to the All-South Development Council. With the estimated cost of the 400-mile project pared from $102,000,000 to $60,000,000 under revised plans, and many forward-looking groups adding support of this project to the movement, being evidenced throughout the state, for the establishment of a sound policy of taxation to encourage industry in Texas, proponents of the long-sought waterway look for a successful outcome of hearings soon to be held in Washington. This aerial compositograph (background) shows the "headwaters" of the proposed canal the newly-impounded lakes in the Fort Worth-Dallas area. Inset at left is Gen. Herbert Deakyn, retired U. S. army engineer in charge of perfecting engineering plans. At right, a modern, Diesel-engined tugboat such as will ply the waterway, with a load of 1,000-ton barges.

VOLUME 15 LITTLEFIELD, LAMB COUNTY, TEXAS, APRIL 29, 1937 NUMBER 4

Jean Harlow and Robert Taylor Star Together For First Time In "Personal Property" To Be Feature At Palace

Robert Taylor, dashing heart-quickener of the screen, and the blonde high-temperature siren of the same place, Jean Harlow, comes to the Palace Theatre screen in their first co-starring picture. In "Personal Property," Taylor emerges as the wise-cracking butler of the equally witty Harlow. The farcical atmosphere of the production has been geared to a faster pace than any picture of its type ever made.

"Personal Property" gives Taylor an opportunity to strut his particular brand of comedy in a manner never equalled in his previous hits. You remember him in "Magnificent Obsession," "The Gorgeous Hussy," "Camille" and many others. In this newest comedy smash, he bids fair to become one of the finest wits in Hollywood, to say nothing of his reputation as the screen's greatest lover. Miss Harlow has been perfectly cast in the role of a young, wealthy and beautiful widow, whom Taylor tries to ensnare with his matchless charm. The situations range from the ridiculous to the sublime, and when it reaches the latter state, its positively torrid.

The rest of the cast give more than splendid support to the stars. On the roster is included Reginald Owen, Una O'Connor, E. E. Clive, Forester Harvey and Barnett Parker.

"Personal Property" will be shown at the Palace Theatre, Saturday Midnight, Sunday and Monday, May 1, 2 and 3.

Tips On Shopping

Labels on upholstery often serve as guideposts to the quality of the furniture itself.

Smart shoppers are learning to look for the hidden signs that reveal the actual value of a piece of furniture.

It may be hard to tell the quality of a sofa from the exterior, but not if you know where to look. For example, the upholstery alone may tell its story—if a good quality mohair velvet is used, it's a safe assumption that the internal construction is also good.

Look for the shield-shaped U. S. Bureau of Standards tag somewhere on the upholstery. Only mohair velvet that meets the bureau's rigid standards of quality can display this tag.

Likewise, under the cushions you should find the manufacturer's label and a mothproof guarantee. A good mohair velvet is guaranteed mothproof for five years, and a maker always puts his name on his work when he is proud of it. If the tags aren't there—ask questions!

These little points may mean years of life in your furniture.

Personal attractiveness is one of the things most expected of women, and something to which each woman should give special attention. It is not to any woman's discredit that she was not born beautiful, but there can be no excuse for her to fail to give herself proper care.

Frequent trips to a modern, efficient beauty shop, to have her hair, skin, nails and other features looked after takes so little of her time, and the expense is not to be considered when the results can be so gratifying. Just select a good shop and they will do the rest.

Leashed Guns of Circle L by Perry Westbrook

SECOND INSTALLMENT

SYNOPSIS: Slim Loyale is paroled from prison after serving 18 months for a crime he did not commit. He returns to his Circle L ranch to find his father dead and sinister forces at work, trying to make him violate his parole so that he can again be railroaded to prison.

"Man! I thought ole Bart Loyale was gonna crawl right outa bed, sick as he was, an' scalp that lawyer right there. 'Damn yore law!' yelled Bart. 'That boy is innocent an' yuh know it, Arthur, yuh croaked, lyin' polecat! Get outa here, 'fore yo're packed out on a board.' Don't worry, Slim; yore daddy stood behind yuh to his last breath."

A long silence fell. Slim's chin was on his chest. Presently he stirred. "Yuh seen Mena Hall lately?"

Dakota nodded. "Eaw her day before yesterday. She asked about yuh, Slim. I told her yuh were gettin' out today."

"What—what did she say?"

"Nothin'—with her lips. But she kinda twisted them slim, little brown hands of hers an' looked nway out past me—like she was lookin' at a sunrise an' findin' it good."

Silence again fell, unbroken except for the steady munching of the horses. A snap pocket in a piece of glowing wood snapped sharply, scattering a little cloud of ashes from the fire. The crimson of the sunset sky faded and dusk thickened. A hoot owl boomed hollowly from a neighboring sycamore. Thin and far away a coyote yammered at the first stars.

Slim Loyale got to his feet and dragged a blanket roll from the dunghouse. He set about spreading them in the very center of the little meadow.

"It'll be a heavy dew tonight, Slim," counseled Dakota Blue. "Yuh better spread 'em back under the willows where mine are."

Slim laughed softly. "I wanta taste that dew once more, Dakota. I wanta feel it on my face, 'an I wanta look at the stars a heap. I ain't seen much of 'em for—a long time."

Shortly before midday, Slim Loyale and Dakota Blue rode into the cow town of Pinnacle. The single street was dusty and wide, and flanked with warped, splintery board sidewalks. The buildings were nearly all of frame construction, their high false fronts throwing blocks of shadow.

The street ran north and south, and at the north end stood a livery stable and corral with a watering trough in front. Across from the livery stable was Sheriff Jigger Starbuck's office and behind the office stood the jail. The latter was a small, square chubby, which differed in construction from the majority of the buildings inasmuch as it was made of stout fir logs, brought down from the slopes of the jagged Mineral Mountains to the north.

At the hitching-rail before the sheriff's office, Slim and Dakota dismounted. "Yuh go ahead with yore business, Slim," said Dakota. "When yo're done, come on over to Spud Dillon's place. I'll be waitin' for yuh there."

Slim nodded, twisted the reins of his mount around the rail, then walked up to the door of the office and knocked. He entered at the summons of a deep, resonant voice.

Sheriff Starbuck sat behind a battered, paper-lined desk. He was a tall man of middle age, thin and leathery-brown. His clean-shaven face was hard from the habitual grim set of his jutting jaw. His eyes were a light blue, cold and searching. He showed no evidence of surprise at sight of Slim. Instead, he rose to his feet and thrust forth his hand.

"Hello, Slim," he said. "Glad to see yuh back."

Slim shook hands. "Glad to be

Cotton Seed Delinting

Actual experiments have shown that delinted seed saves time and money. Delinted seed can be planted with a corn planter, using only from 5 to 9 pounds to an acre. Delinted seed hastens maturity 10 to 15 days earlier. Less moisture is required. Cotton chopping is eliminated. The process kills all cotton diseases usually carried in the seed, and are thoroughly disinfected and culled.

SEED WILL BE DELINTED ON A CUSTOM BASIS!

FARMERS WHO KNOW RECOMMEND DELINTING!

Farmers throughout Texas and Oklahoma, who have used delinted seed, send many letters of praise concerning this recent economical discovery in cotton raising. They say that delinted seed makes many times as much cotton as fuzzy seed... they say there is less production cost... and they gladly recommend it. We will take cash for the delinting process or will take part of the seed saved for the service.

MRS. GERTRUDE BURBANK SELECTS MRS. TUCKER'S SHORTENING FOR USE IN LEADER COOKING SCHOOL

Mrs. Gertrude Burbank has selected Mrs. Tucker's Shortening for exclusive use in her cooking school because she has found it to be the ideal all-purpose cooking fat. First, on her list of requisites for a good Shortening, she places digestibility. Second comes creaminess; third, freshness; fourth, adaptability to frying; and fifth, economy. And after years of testing, she has found Mrs. Tucker's answers every one of these requirements.

This famous cooking expert depends on Mrs. Tucker's Shortening as a highly digestible product because it is made from choice vegetable oils, which, through the years, have proved most healthful. She knows that her breads, pies, cakes and fried foods prepared with Mrs. Tucker's will digest quickly and easily; and therefore be good for the families of those to whom she lectures on cooking.

In this day of modern ranges, refrigerators and other conveniences, are continually looking for equipment and products that will lessen their work in the kitchen, and to these smart women Mrs. Burbank recommends Mrs. Tucker's Shortening because it is triple-creamed at the factory in Sherman, Texas, to eliminate much of the hard work from cooking. On the cooking school stage and in the home, this expert finds that there is no need for tire-some, extra creaming when Mrs. Tucker's is used. This shortening is so velvety-smooth that it mixes readily when stirred with the other ingredients, and the triple-creaming process gives the shortening the perfect consistency necessary to stand up under all weather conditions. Another innovation in shortening production is credited to Mrs. Tucker, because she pioneered and developed the "cellophane"-sealed carton, which is used exclusively by her to protect the shortening from heat, dirt, germs and other contamination. The use of this "cellophane"-seal is expensive, but Mrs. Tucker knows that only by its use can she guarantee the freshness and purity of her product. Mrs. Tucker's Shortening is so factory-fresh, sweet and

Themselves To Triple Windows

By Bettina J. Vigleze

THIS photograph was taken in the combined studio living-room of a noted beauty editor. Since she writes for four magazines, she selected her apartment for light, and then placed her maple desk against triple windows.

She decided to hang her windows with sheer cream net curtains, and cream color window shades. She went brightly ahead and selected lemon yellow chintz for her draperies and ordered them bound in brown. Her large maple arm chair is covered in lemon yellow with brown stripes. In short she has ensembled her windows!

More and more smart women today have realized that fresh cloth window shades are the most important and least expensive to buy. As in this young lady's case she knew that an excellent shade would last her for years (many have been known to last from five to twelve years) and always keep its good appearance. She knew too that shades of this type won't crumple up with rain storms, or steam from bathroom and kitchen. Nor will they get full of "pin holes" as does a cheap shade.

Then, too, there is so much news about color in shades to harmonize with the entire tonal scheme of the various rooms. You can order at your local shade shop, or at your favorite department store such lovely shades as rich cornflower blue, poppy or old rusty rose, the very palest of bouclair colors, delicate pink, soft apple greens, Larkspur blue. Striped shades in a modern "Vogue" design also a new tweedtone pattern. You'll be seeing them on the windows of the very smartest homes in your community this spring!

pure that every package brings the housewife Mrs. Tucker's personal guarantee, which reads as follows:

"If for any reason, you are not satisfied with my shortening, you may return the unused portion and your grocer will refund the full purchase price." The noted expert who will conduct this school further recommends Mrs. Tucker's shortening because it is perfect for all kinds of frying. By special exclusive processes, Mrs. Tucker's shortening is refined and prepared so that it heats to higher temperature without smoking or burning. It contains absolutely no moisture; therefore it will not pop nor spatter; and as it is neutral in flavor, and will not absorb the flavors of foods fried in it, Mrs. Tucker's shortening can be strained and used over and over again for frying. Adding high digestibility to these qualities, Mrs. Tucker's shortening is much in demand for the preparation of all fried foods.

"Economy in Shortening is not to be preferred over the above mentioned qualities," says Mrs. Burbank, "but Mrs. Tucker's shortening not only gives the housewife all the desirable qualities of a perfect shortening, it is also most economical to use. It contains a higher percentage of free oil and should be used in smaller quantities. By constant tests over long periods of time, I have found that we must use much less Mrs. Tucker's in our recipes—Therefore, I caution housewives who are switching to this brand for the first time to adjust their recipes to the economy of this superior shortening."

Mrs. Tucker's shortening is made in her plant in Sherman, Texas, which is always open to visitors. The Dear Old Lady, known as "The Mother of the Southwest," invites the people who attend this cooking school and all others to visit her plant whenever they are in Sherman.

TWO YEARS OF WORK NEEDED TO PRODUCE "GREEN LIGHT"

While it took Lloyd C. Douglas only a few months to write his best selling novel, "Green Light," it took the First National studios almost two years to turn it into the Cosmopolitan picture that the Ritz Theatre has booked for Saturday night, Sunday and Monday.

The actual photography, to be sure, required only eight or nine weeks, but an immense amount of research and advance preparation was needed.

Part of the Douglas story deals with an epidemic of spotted fever which killed hundreds and drove many other hundreds away from their homes in Bitter Root Valley, Montana, a number of years ago.

The novel's hero, Dr. Newell Paige (played by Errol Flynn in the picture) is shown establishing a laboratory in an old farm house in the valley and there developing a serum that will immunize humans against the fever, caused by the bites of wood ticks.

Location experts from the studios found in the Montana valley the actual old structure where United States Government scientists had perfected a successful serum. Long since abandoned in favor of a modern laboratory, the old farmhouse still stood, empty.

Cameramen were sent up to photograph it inside and out, from every possible angle. Measurements were taken, and an exact duplicate of the house was built on the Warner Bros. Ranch, a few miles from the studios.

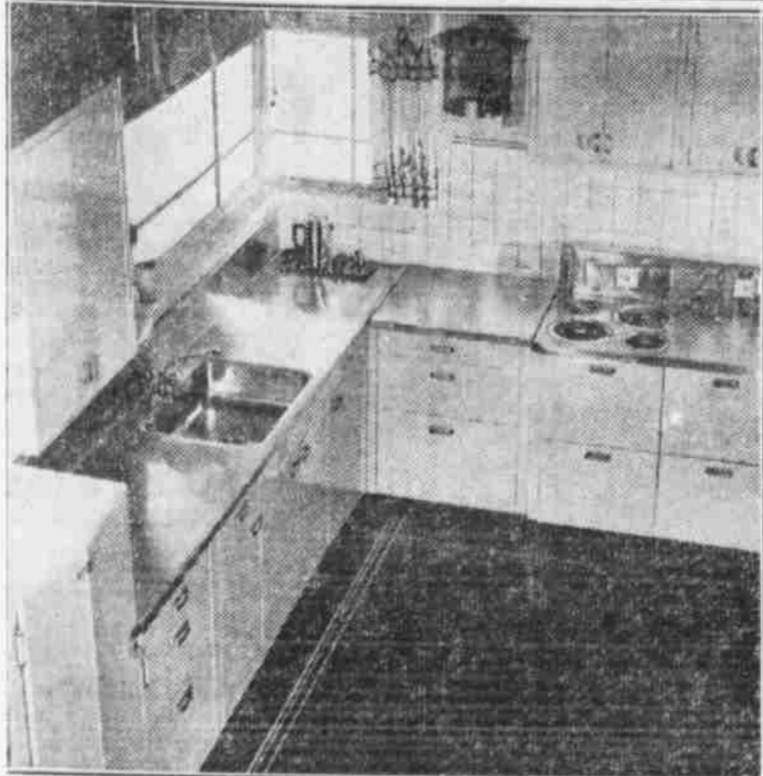

The entire story of "Green Light" is motivated from the death, in an operating room, of a wealthy woman, through a doctor's blunder. This room, as it is shown, is the most modern of its kind.

Studio experts went to the new $20,000,000 Los Angeles General hospital and copied, exactly, one of its operating rooms, the duplicate being built on one of the studio's sound stages. One of the head nurses of the hospital was engaged as technical adviser of Margaret Lindsay, who plays a nurse in the picture. A qualified surgeon was engaged to supervise the work of Errol Flynn while he supposedly operated upon the patient. So no flaw will be found in the scene.

The interior of a cathedral had to be built for scenes in which appeared Sir Cedric Hardwicke, famous British actor brought to America for "Green Light." This was made from photographs of St. Olave's in London.

An artificial lake and an imitation dam had to be created. This was also done on the Warner Bros. ranch, Streets of New York, London and Paris had to be shown. They were all made by the Warner Bros. technicians.

Douglas, the author, confesses himself amazed at the pains which were taken with his story, and the fidelity with which the movie folk carried it out.

Besides those mentioned, other players in "Green Light," a Cosmopolitan production, released by First National, include Anita Louise, who is co-starred with Flynn, Walter Abel, Henry O'Neill and Spring Byington.

Rev. J. M. Parker, after which interment was made in the Morton cemetery.

Survivors were two sons, James and Meece of California.

Electric Cooking is Precision Cooking

A rapid increase has been noted for sometime in the number of users of electricity for cooking purposes. There are two reasons for this:

1. Any temperature can be kept even. This is important in the preparation of the most delicate dishes, and makes ordinary cooking much more pleasant and easy. Best results are obtained when dishes are cooked at the precise temperature called for in the recipe.
2. Economy. Not only economy in the cost of fuel, but also in the saving of time. It is much easier to keep a clean kitchen with the use of electricity.

Scene at First and Only New York Fair 1853

NEW YORK (Special)—For the first time since the Crystal Palace Exposition of 1853, New York State and City are hosts to the remainder of the world in a genuinely international fair. The accompanying reproduction of a fine lithograph, published 84 years ago, shows in a wealth of detail the engrossed Palace dedicated at that time to "the Exhibition of the Industry of all Nations." The site of the exposition, then known as "Reservoir Square," is to-day Bryant Park and the location of the Public Library, at Fifth Avenue and 42nd Street. In 1853 that was "way out in the country." To-day it is mid-town Manhattan, and about 20 minutes rapid-transit time from the 1216 1/2-acre site of the New York World's Fair of 1939.

In the years since her own outstanding exposition, New York has been a prominent participant in the 13 major expositions held in the United States—State legislative appropriations alone amounting to $2,790,000 in behalf of "creditable appearance" at such fairs. The Empire State erected her own building for 11 out of 12 great expositions held without her boundaries. At the Century of Progress she created an exhibition in that fair's Hall of States.

New York's 1939 Fair, according to estimates, will represent an expenditure of $125,000,000 or more. The exposition is already well along in the construction period. Thirty-seven nations have already signified intentions of participating, and more than a score of state legislatures are considering bills providing for cooperative part in the nation's international fair of 1939.

President Asks For Billion And Half For Relief

A billion and a half has been asked by President Roosevelt from congress for next year's relief burden. His special message for funds during the year commencing July 1, foresaw:

A treasury deficit on June 30 of $2,557,000,000, or $309,000,000 over his January estimate.

A deficit in the 1938 fiscal period ending June 30, 1938, of $418,000,000.

"I propose to use every means at my command to eliminate this deficit during the coming fiscal year," Mr. Roosevelt said.

On the basis of the president's revised estimates, the public debt would climb close to the $35,500,000,000 mark by June 30.

Discussing taxes, Mr. Roosevelt said it had become apparent there is an "immediate need for a careful survey of the present tax structure." He said the treasury would be prepared by November next to present to congress information as to any loopholes in the revenue laws and "suggestions for such new, or additional, taxes, as may be necessary to meet deficiencies, if any, in the revenue-producing power of the present levies."

Lease Play Active In Hockley County

Levelland (Special) Lease play which has translated itself into acreage prices ranging upward in some cases to $100 and $125 an acre near the Bob Slaughter No. 1 oil well in Hockley county, has infused briskness into business here.

Naturally, such prices are being paid only in restricted sections.

Lease prices range downward to as low as $1 an acre.

The influence is felt in probate actions, there being a diligent effort of almost all to get land titles cleared.

"Almost everything is leased," said County Judge Alvin R. Allison of Hockley county. Even from Levelland to Smyer and to the Lubbock county line the play has extended, defined by varying prices of from $1.50 to $5 an acre, he said.

High School Baseball Team Is Organized

Wednesday, April 14, a group of high school boys organized a baseball team. They are late in getting started but they still have a few weeks to play.

Due to the fact that bats and balls are not given away the entrance fee to join the club was 5 cents each. Mr. Earnest Jones will be the coach of the team. There are prospects of a good high school team and they hope to play other schools soon.

All baseball fans are urged to support this team.

Many Local Scouts Plan To Attend Jamboree

ATTENDANCE IS EXPECTED TO REACH 10,000

Storey Of Littlefield, and Ramsey and Lyle Of Sudan, Register

Many scouts on the South Plains, as well as a number of local boys, are looking forward with a great deal of anxiety to the National Jamboree to be held in Washington, D. C., June 30 to July 9, Washington, the city that is known as "The City of Magnificent Distances" will be the scene of a mammoth tent city that will rise right in the shadow of the National Capitol and the memorable Washington's monument.

Scouts from every state in the union and most of the towns in the United States will make up the huge mass of boyhood numbering 35,000 that will gather in Washington for ten days of Scouting, fun and fellowship.

The South Plains Council has asked that they be permitted to send two full troops of sixty-six scouts and six leaders. The present registration shows that there are 29 boys and four leaders that have stated definitely that they plan to attend the National Jamboree.

David Storey, son of Postmaster and Mrs. W. D. T. Storey, is reported to be the only scout registered from Littlefield at the present time. However, others planning to attend are: Vincent Kersey, and B. D. Garland of Troop No. 26, and Pat Boone, Jr., Edwin Coffman and James Stokes of Troop No. 25.

Durward Ramsey and Herman Lyle have registered from Sudan. A meeting of the Jamboree delegates and their parents will be held Sunday, April 25, at Lubbock, at which time Earl McClure, Scout Executive, and Lyndon T. Grant, Assistant Executive, will be present and instruct the group as to the clothing and equipment necessary for the scouts on the trip.

Million Dollars Available For Resettlement Loans

Mr. W. F. Stubbs, Resettlement Administration county supervisor for Lamb county has announced that word had been received from the regional office in Amarillo, Texas, that more than a million dollars has just been made available for Resettlement loans to deserving farmers in Region Twelve. Many farmers, with the planting season approaching, are finding they need a little more money in order to plan the year's work, and the Resettlement Administration is anxious to help these farmers to rehabilitate themselves.

Resettlement loans are available Mr. W. F. Stubbs said to farmers whose farm units make it possible to create a sound farm plan, permitting the retirement of the loan and the rehabilitation of the farm family. Farmers in need of this financial aid, as well as the help and advice of the rural and home management supervisors, should visit the Resettlement Administration county office at once. The office is located in the City Hall, Littlefield, Texas.

The Resettlement Administration this year is emphasizing livestock setups in its lending program Mr. Stubbs said. Loans of this type have proven quite successful in the way of financial rehabilitation of distressed farmers. They also lend themselves toward rehabilitation of the land in the area, which has been subject to severe erosion due to the several years of drouth.

Hundreds of farmers in the region have already received Resettlement crop loans this year. The program is weeks ahead of last year's lending program according to Resettlement officials in the regional office. Farmers in need of the type of assistance and technical supervision supplied by the Resettlement Administration are asked to visit their county officer immediately and confer with the county supervisor concerning their financial and farm problems.

MAN ONCE FRIGHTENED BY OIL ADS

CHANGES TO OIL-PLATING

In spite of everything, it paid him to take ads seriously, you see, else he might never have tried Oil-Plating. First of all he was impressed by the explanation of Oil-Plating.

Simple enough, if you'll think what happens as Johnny's dirty little hands touch the wallpaper. Anything greasy or oily on his hands becomes quite a permanent part of the paper. You'll say permanent!

In much the same way—forgetting technicalities—Conoco Germ Processed oil forms a lasting attachment for every working part of your engine. This union of oil and metal to produce a genuine, enduring Oil-Plating is brought about only by the Germ Process—patented.

Thus the Germ Process not only multiplies the strength of the usual flowing type of oil-film, but creates Oil-Plating besides. And once Oil-Plating goes on, Conoco Germ Processed oil does not let it come off in minutes, hours, days . . . or any number of miles.

Unable to run off while the car stands, Oil-Plating kills the old fear of starting "dry." Likewise Oil-Plating refuses to let go in all the fury of 5,000 revolutions per minute. That's why your "good old car" or the latest model will stay more like new, with its engine Oil-Plated. And your whole Summer's driving will take less Conoco Germ Processed oil. ## Fifty-Seven Million Trees Planted Under Reforestation Plan

CCC CAMPS PLAY GREAT PART IN FEDERAL PLAN

Will Represent Great Source Of Wealth When Turned Into Lumber

Fifty-five thousand acres of barren and idle lands in eight Southern States recently have been set to work in growing trees under the federal reforestation program. This volume of acreage in tree plantings in an area that once was known as the land of cotton indicates that this region is fast becoming a lively tree growing center. With an increasing demand for forest products, the yield from the trees grown on these fifty-five thousand acres of land in Alabama, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Oklahoma and Texas, represents a potential source of wealth when turned into lumber, pulpwood or naval stores. In addition to whatever ultimate revenue this crop of trees may produce, they also have a further definite value in protecting soil and watersheds.

The planting of this acreage required approximately fifty-seven million seedlings and about three months of work on the part of CCC enrollees working under the supervision of the U. S. Forest Service. The figures represent only the plantings on national forest lands in the Southern Region of the U. S. Forest Service during the planting season which extended from December 1936 to March 1937.

Barren cut-over and abandoned farm lands acquired by the Government for national forest use con-proximately 600 acres were planted in Arkansas, South Carolina and Oklahoma had comparatively small plantings, and a limited planting for watershed protection was done on national forest lands in Georgia.

All of the tree planting work was carried on with CCC enrollees who had been trained by Forest Service officers. In the great national program to put idle lands and idle hands to work, it is estimated that since the organization of the CCC, the CCC has planted in excess of a billion trees. These boys in the Southern Region earned their title of "tree troopers" during the work of the past winter. Armed with planting bars and enthusiasm, they worked through the cold, rain and mud of December, January and February without complaint. They took the sunshine, or digging the trucks out of the mud as part of the day's work, and with the precision of trained soldiers carried through a job that topped the previous all-time high mark for planting in the Region. Their total score of fifty-seven million trees, spaced for highway planting, would make a row of trees reaching two and a half times around the world.

The majority of the trees planted were long leaf, shortleaf, and slash pine grown at three federal nurseries, The Stuart Nursery in Louisiana, the Ashe Nursery in Mississippi and the Ozark Nursery in Arkansas. Tree nursery production is being geared to meet the demand of the reforestation program. The Stuart Nursery alone produced twenty-nine million seedlings in 1936. The first crop of seedlings from the Ashe Nursery was shipped this season. This new nursery has an annual capacity of twenty-five million seedlings. The sowing at these three nurseries this spring called for 16 tons or 32,000 pounds of seed for an estimated total of fifty-six million seedlings.

stitute the chief basis of operations under this reforestation program, according to Regional Forester Joseph C. Kircher, of the U. S. Forest Service, Atlanta, Georgia. After the acquisition of these lands, the first concern of the Forest Service was to restore their productivity and to get trees growing again as quickly as possible on the barren areas. The Forest Service hopes to continue its reforestation program until all national forest lands are now devoid of desirable tree growth are stocked with trees which will protect the lands from erosion, protect watersheds, produce timber and other forest products.

Mr. Kircher stated that Louisiana received the greatest benefit from the plantings, just completed. A total of 22,000 acres of denuded lands in that State required the planting of about twenty-four million seedlings. Mississippi's acreage was 18,000 which called for the planting of around twenty-one million seedlings, and some twelve thousand acres in Tex. required ten million seedlings for planting. More than 800 acres each were planted in North Carolina and Alabama. Ap-

SEEING IS A COMPLEXITY

Eyes are our most complex and useful sense organ. The visual sense is our most complex and useful sensory process. Seeing is our most universal and valuable controllable activity. Seeing is nearly as complex as living and it is responsible for most of our experiences and therefore knowledge; and for most of our usefulness and, therefore happiness.

How good we can see means nothing about our visual efficiency. Eye corrections when properly applied are intended to balance the visual act. Incidentally, they often improve vision—Often they do not—But simply make comfortable a pair of straining eyes.

Misses Alice Lynn Street And Bernice Gattis Make Talks

The program carried out at Thursday's luncheon meeting of the Littlefield Rotary club was in charge of Rev. Willis J. Ray, which was in connection with the observance of Boys and Girls Week.

Miss Alice Lynn Street, one of the several high school pupils, who is competing locally to represent Littlefield in the "Home Town" contest at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention, gave a talk as prepared by her.

Miss Bernice Gattis gave a report on the older girls' conference, which took place in Lubbock.

Six representative students of the Littlefield high school body answered 14 questions asked by Supt. A. B. Sanders dealing with modern problems, which were answered without consultation with anyone, the purpose of which was to get the ideas of the youth of today of questions of government, education, religion, etc.

This coming week these boys and girls will visit various business establishments, and learn something of their operation.

Miss Bernice Gattis was elected to represent the Rotary club in the May Fete May 6.

High school pupils taking part in the program were Alice Lynn Street, Bernice Gattis, Hall Rowe, Yates Etter, Donald Bennett, Nettie Belle Batton, Jowili Taylor and Mabel Cooper.

Farmers Making Preparations For Planting Cotton

Farmers of Lamb county and the South Plains are making last minute preparations for planting their major cash crop, cotton, some $1,600,000 acres of it.

While seed is being drilled in this vicinity, cotton in the Rio Grande valley is in bloom, and Littlefield cotton buyers are beginning to look forward to 30 or 40 days hence when their annual trek south will begin.

The season in the valley proper,

Hidalgo and Cameron counties, is approximately three months in advance of that on the South Plains, cotton buyers say. Since cotton is in bloom there now, they estimate 45 days, depending upon weather, before the bolls open.

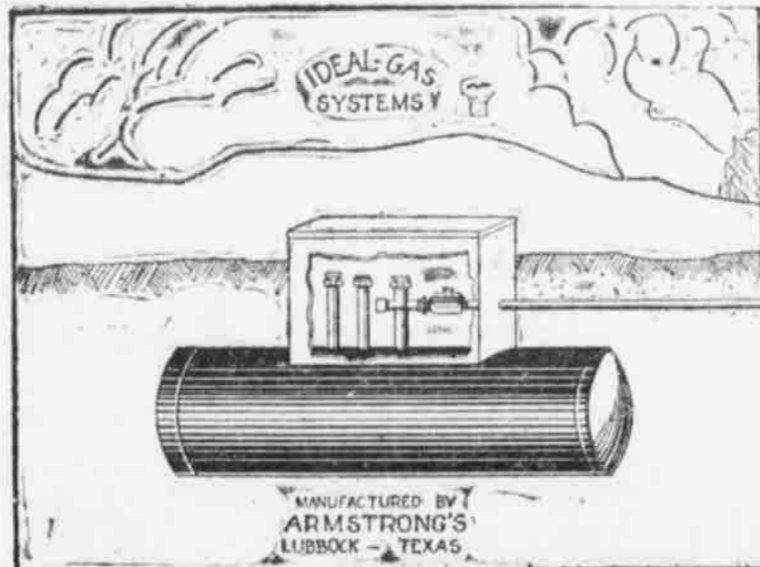

Once started there is little let-up until November. Ten days after the Valley crop is put on the market, the Corpus Christi market will be in full swing. Buyers will then start the homeward trip, working north and west to catch the Waco district and other central Texas crops.

About October 1 they will be back to the South Plains for the last of the cotton season.

IDEAL GAS

Odorless, smokeless and fumeless plants for home use have gained rapid favor since being put on the market. Their all purpose uses have revolutionized homes which have heretofore been without modern conveniences for heating and lighting.

As illustrated, the entire plant is buried for safety and protection, and the fuel piped to the house, furnishing as many appliances as may be desired. Any size home can be accommodated. We use copper pipe exclusively . . . noncorrosive. Every joint is soldered.

for RANCH and FARM HOMES

No longer need people who live without the bounds of districts which are piped and wired by public utilities struggle along with facilities that were outmoded years ago. At such a low cost they can enjoy the same benefits as city dwellers.

Starbuck nodded and pocketed a legal-looking envelope lying on the desk. "Got word yesterday. What yuh aimin' to do, Slim?"
"Go out to the Circle L an' get to work."
"Glad to hear that. Was afraid yuh'd come back with the idee of startin' trouble. An' that'd be bad with yuh on parole."
Slim's lips tightened. "I ain't aimin' to turn the other cheek, Jigger," he said softly. "Remember, I'm human. Certain folks in this neck of the woods gave me a dirty deal. I ain't exactly gonna kiss 'em when I run into 'em, but I know what that parole means.

"At the first sign of trouble I go back to—hell. Well, I aim to do the best I can. But if some folks start trompin' on my toes, I'll see that they get off. Yuh cain't blame me for that?"

"I ain't blamin' yuh for nothin', Slim. But my personal feelin's ain't matterin' one little bit in this. It's the law yuh're beholden to. So yuh wanta watch yore step."
Slim laughed a little harshly. "Yuh still got ice water for blood, ain't yuh? Yo're a funny guy, Jigger. Sometimes I think yo're white, an' sometimes I ain't so shore."
Starbuck shrugged without offense. "I took my oath to uphold an' enforce the law. It ain't me to question how it works. I aim to do my duty."

"Yuh would," retorted Slim tersely, "even if it broke yore own heart an' ruined yore best friend. Well, I didn't come in here to get into a argument. I was told to report here to yuh every two weeks, and I'll do it—for the next eighteen months."

"After that, I'm my own boss again. An' after eighteen months certain folks in these parts are gonna find that a woolly wolf has come back to live with 'em. Nobody can steal a year an' a half of my life, blast my reputation, an' get away with it. Now I'll thank yuh for my guns, Jigger. I suppose yuh still got 'em?"

"I've got 'em," nodded Starbuck. "But I'd rather yuh wouldn't wear 'em, Slim. They'll be a temptation—a bad temptation, as long as they're hangin' on yore hip. If yuh go to throwin' 'em, it's hard tellin' just how yuh'll end up."

"That's my pie," said Slim grimly. "I want 'em."
Starbuck shrugged again, crossed to a little clothes closet and lifted down a pair of cartridge belts, carrying two heavy, holstered Colts. He handed them to Slim, who buckled them about his waist, as he stepped to the door. "Much obliged, Jigger," he said over his shoulder. "See yuh two weeks from now."
Loyale left the sheriff's office and started to cross the street. A buckboard was whirling up from the south end of the street, drawn by a fast-stepping pair of bang-tail mustangs. A girl was driving it alone, but on either side jogged two mounted men. Slim recognized the trio immediately. The girl was Mona Hall. The two men were Sarg Brockwell and his son, Leo.

Slim stiffened and he went a little white about the lips. For a moment his impulse was to pull his hat low over his eyes, lower his head, and hurry across the street. But a surge of burning defiance forestalled this truant weakness. So he watched them quietly, rolling and lighting a cigarette with a steady hand.

They were almost opposite him before the girl saw him. For a moment she stared. Then with one lithe twist of her slender shoulders, she set the bang-tails up short, locked the brake, looped the reins about it and jumped to the ground. She ran to him, lightfooted as a fawn, a pliant little figure in khaki blouse and divided skirt.

PRESIDENT'S CALL FOR ECONOMY MAY HALT FEDERAL FARM PROGRAM

Secretary Wallace has just announced that three major farm proposals, which farm leaders had offered as remedies for agricultural ills may be postponed indefinitely.

Because of President Roosevelt's call for economy, the farm tenancy, crop insurance and "ever-normal granary" measures may be delayed or modified, Wallace said.

"If we do not have the money to spend," Wallace said at a press conference, "we will simply have to throw everything overboard for the time being."

The cabinet members had fathered the three measures at a series of conferences with farm leaders in recent months.

All these farm projects, he said, are "part of a long-time farm program and its absence may not be tailored dress.

The meeting will open Thursday and continue until Saturday noon. Mrs. Young and the local Home Economics students will return to Littlefield Sunday.

felt this year." Wallace said the present system of benefit payments to farmers which have averaged $500,000,000 annually can be continued with funds in the agriculture department appropriation now going through congress.

METHODIST PASTOR ADDRESSES STUDENT ASSEMBLAGE

"Success is no secret, and may be attained by anyone who seeks it," said Rev. Marvin B. Norwood, pastor of the Methodist church of this city, in his address to the student assemblage, April 22.

Seven keys to success were defined by the speaker, and examples were cited proving their worth.

1. Do your best—Decisions are of little importance in a contest, but how you played the game shows whether or not you gave of your best effort.
2. Be determined to succeed—Prove your right to your position or title. Make your own breaks, then take advantage of them.
3. Take advantage of opportunity instead of waiting for success to be handed to you on a silver platter. Luck is more significant than luck in the battle of life.

4. Have an all-controlling purpose—The Apostle Paul had a purpose when he said, "this one thing I do."
5. Demosthenes had a purpose and was a famed orator; Shakespeare purposed to be a dramatist; Mozart's purpose was music; and Jesus Christ purposed to save the lost.
6. Worthwhile accomplishment brings more satisfaction than the accumulation of money.
7. Work to win—There is no royal road to learning; no improved highway to prosperity. Talent and ability count only when used to contribute to the betterment of the world.
8. Move on—Fulton had a vision and he moved on to the invention and creation of the steamship.
9. Cultivate a pleasing personality—No policy pays quite so much in dividends as courtesy.
10. Negligence, sourness, and carelessness are easy. Only as we become the kind of person that brings happiness and cheer do we become the sort of person who is sought after, and the kind of person who really succeeds.

Opening Episode Of Chapter Play To Be Seen Thurs., May 6

For a long time, aviation experts have been striving to establish a passenger service which would enable travelers to go around the world by air on regular passenger sky ship routes. That goal has been achieved, although it is not generally known. It is now possible to complete the trip around the globe on established airlines within 30 days, with a surprising degree of comfort. The aerial circumnavigator travels by transport plane, Clipper Ship and Zeppelin to make the tour.

The route followed is from London to Singapore; thence to Soura-

Texas Playground

Here is the Pan American Casino, amusement center of the Greater Texas and Pan American Exposition to open in Dallas June 12 for a twenty weeks' run. Air-conditioned and seating 1,500 persons with dining facilities, the Casino will feature such headliners as Rudy Vallee, Ted Fio-Rito, Phil Harris, Veloz and Yolanda, America's foremost dance team, and other international celebrities of stage, screen and radio. The interior of the building and stage sets are being designed by Joe Mielziner, Broadway scene creator who has staged many New York hits.

baya on the Malay Peninsula; to Manila and on to San Francisco and New York. From New York to London, the sky sojourn is made in a Zeppelin. Some people may find one slight obstacle in making the trip. It costs $3,000.

A plan for completing a world-encircling passenger service, entirely by plane, is the central theme of Eddie Rickenbacker's "Ace Drummond," the Universal air adventure film based on the newspaper feature strip of the same name. The opening episode of the chapterplay will be seen at the Palace theater on May 6-7.

The story has its setting in Mongolia, where the air transport line is attempting to complete the last link in its globe-encircling plan. Vicious opposition almost defeats the company, until Ace Drummond battles the powerful "Dragon" who blocks the airline's advance.

Hockley and Cochran County Oil News

In an official test made by a representative of the Texas Railway Commission and which ended at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, April 18, the Slaughter-Texas company well made a production of 536 barrels during the twenty-four hour period. This well is located at Sundown, about 16 miles southwest of Levelland in this county.

The well had previously been given a treatment of about 2,500 gallons of acid. According to the statement of oil men, the packer failed to hold and the line holding the swab parted allowing it to remain inactive in the tubing. It is thought that the conditions under which the test was made were not favorable for showing its true production.

The tubing was later drawn and the swab recovered.

For a couple of days the well was allowed to stand without the tubing, and it has continued to flow by heads, but its production has not been made public. It is stated that the tubing will be re-run, and that the well will be treated with a larger amount of acid than was at first used.

The Cameron test north of Whiteface in Cochran county, which shut down about two weeks ago at 4,516 feet to change to standard tools has not yet resumed drilling. The standard equipment is being assembled on the ground and it is thought will be ready for operation sometime during this week.

It is rumored that the T. & P. Oil company will drill on the Rains County Tract, but nothing authentic has been made public. Other rumors are current, but the only new tests contracted are the Texas company near Lehman, another between Lehman and the Duggan Well, both in Cochran county; the Yellowhouse-Duggan in the northern part of this county, and one in the southeast corner of Bailey county, near where that county corners with this. It is said material is being assembled for making this last named test.

Littlefield Day To Be Designated At Dallas Fair By Local C. of C.

Harry P. Savage, Assistant to Director of Promotion of the Greater Texas & Pan American Exposition, was in Littlefield Monday in the interest of the Dallas Fair, which will be held from June 12 until October 31.

While here he interviewed a number of local citizens with a view to having a date set to be designated as Littlefield Day at the Dallas exposition, on which all local residents would be urged to attend.

Mr. Savage called on Supt. Sanders and visited the schools; interviewed Mancel Hall as President of the Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. J. M. Stokes, as representative of the Woman's Study club, and Mrs. Quinton Bellomy as representative of the Junior Study club; Miss Fern Hoover on behalf of the B. & P. W. club, and F. O. Boles as President of the Rotary club.

When here Mr. Savage invited all local talent to arrange to take part in the program on Littlefield Day, and to take with them to the Exposition on that day all musical instruments. He stated that local talent will be given an opportunity to broadcast their program over the Gulf Broadcasting station on a national hookup; and that a portion of the State building will be designated as headquarters for Littlefield citizens on that day.

The plan proposed by the Exposition officials is that the Women's Study club, Junior club and B. & P. W. clubs would arrange the program to be broadcast from the exposition grounds, stating that this city would receive splendid publicity from the event.

It is expected that Littlefield Day will be designated in the very near future by the local Chamber of Commerce.
