Whom Do You Favor for President? Nation-Wide Straw Vote Under Way

Weekly Newspapers Cooperate To Show Rural Voters' Choice

Leader Joins National Group And Gives Readers Chance To Register Presidential Choice

Vote and Mail Straw-Ballot on This Page

Early prediction that the 1936 Presidential election would be keenly contested has become a fact. Every means of learning voting sentiment will be employed because that is the wish and the demand of our government-minded citizens and voters of today. This is so because voters have come to know through experience that exceedingly accurate forecasts of national election results can be had through straw-vote balloting, in different sections of the country, and of different groups of voters.

The Small Town Vote
This year, as always, one of the most important groups of voters are those residing in small towns and rural America. Up until 1924 there was no single source of obtaining an extensive and accurate straw-vote of this group. That year, however, weekly newspaper throughout the country joined hands and inaugurated the first nation-wide Presidential vote in small towns and rural communities.

In 1928 and again in 1932 the leading weekly newspapers cooperated to make their nation-wide Presidential straw-vote more extensive in numbers of ballots cast and from all states. Questions in the average voter's mind today are: "Who will small-town and rural America help elect to the Presidency in November... Roosevelt, Landon, Lemke, Thomas, Colvin, or Browder? In what proportions will these candidates win

Chairman Western Railroad Praises County Weeklies

Country weeklies as an advertising force in modern American life have no more ardent champion than Harry G. Taylor, Chairman of the Western Railroads. In organizing the program of activities to promote more business, both passenger and freight, in the western area, Mr. Taylor carried out the unanimous resolution of the executives of the individual lines in placing the 6,036 weeklies on the list for Western Railroad advertising.

This advertising is a unique tribute to both the weekly and daily press, because of its exclusive concentration in a geographical area of the United States, extending all the way from the Great Lakes to the Pacific Coast and from the Canadian border to the Gulf of Mexico. The individual rail lines have been consistent users of the weekly newspapers, and what the association is doing in the current campaign is to supplement as a group the many campaigns conducted over a long period of years by the individual members.

In the use of the weekly newspapers, the advertising trade press has called attention to the fact that Mr. Taylor's understanding of the powerful influence of these publications originates through his own experience in that field. For four years, he was editor and publisher of the Plaindealer of Almena, Kansas, and subsequently for ten years, he directed the affairs of the Nonpareil at Central City, Nebraska. The background of these human interest contacts was of inestimable value to him in public life while serving as a member of the Nebraska legislature and subsequently as Chairman of the State Railway Commission. His fairness in this latter capacity led to his appointment in Washington as manager of the Public Relations Car Service Division of the American Railway Association.

In December, 1932, he was selected by the western group of railroads to serve as their chairman and commissioner.

The group advertising activity on a large scale for the Western Railroads began in 1935. At that time a limited number of daily newspapers was used. When the decision was reached to renew the campaign in 1936, recognition was at once extended to the country weeklies so that both important phases in the newspaper field would be included in the 1936 program.

Drillers Strike Oil In Sight Of Evangeline Oak

St. Martinsville, La., Aug. 5.—Oil has been discovered here under the farms of the descendants of the Acadians, and drilling crews are now enacting an industrial sequel now enacting an industrial sequel to Longfellow's immortal "Evangeline."

Settled in 1755 by French families exiled from "Acadia" or Nova Scotia, by the British, this section of Louisiana's picturesque bayou country has for 181 years remained faithful to the language, traditions and leisurely habits of the original exiles. Farming continued by ox-cart, and Longfellow's epic reciting the ruthless expulsion of their ancestors and the pathetic separation of the lovers of Evangeline and Gabriel, solidified the Acadian tradition.

Now, after nine generations, the calm of Evangeline land is being disturbed. Last week a drilling crew of the Continental Oil Co. struck oil a mile west of here, almost within sight of the Evangeline Oak on Bayou Teche. The Continental company has purchased 600 acres in the locality, so further operations seem inevitable. Alrady arrangements have been made to transport oil from the new well to famous Bayou Teche by pipeline.

Sentiments of the Acadian farmers are mixed, many of the elders looking with sadness on the coming of the oil companies, while most of the young people make plans to spend their royalties.

where'd be the place them rustlers would drive a big herd like that?"

Delevan considered. "If I'd been doin' it I'd a took 'em South. There's a string o' waterholes reachin' clear down to the S. W. & P. railroad. It'd mean a hard drive but it could be done. It'd take time o'course, but if the herd was kept close to the edge o' the desert they could find enough pasture along the eastern foothills to keep the cattle movin'." O' course I'm convinced Spelle is behind the steal but he woudn't dare hold that many cattle with my brand on 'em up north anywhere. He might take a chance on hidin' out a hundred or so in some out 'the way corner o' his range, but eight hundred would be too big a cut. An' then 'course he'd have to blot the brands. I got the sheriff workin' on the case but after hearin' Doc McMurdo's report on the man I ain't got much hope o' results. Yuh see, Westhaven is the main center o' Kanab County an' they jest about control politics down there. Most o' the office holders are professional politicians who are long on office detail but damn shy on everything else."

Tex nodded. "Which leaves it up to us to handle our own affairs in our own way. Le's see, that steal happened a little over two months ago. How far is it to the railroad south?"

"Close on two hundred miles."

"H-m." Tex considered. "Then on top o' the time it took to drive em south they'll have to blot the brands an' give 'em time to heal. I'm betting the Herefords ain't seen the inside of a cattle train yet. Jim, Utah an' Al an' me are hittin' the trail in the mornin'. I'll leave Johnny here with Pink and Pod to keep things movin' on the ranch. Besides, Spelle will probably try some kind of a raniakoo an' yuh need somebody close what can throw a gun like the kid."

"Yuh don't think Spelle will go that strong do yuh, Tex?" argued Delevan.

"I know he will. Didn't he turn some o' his outfit loose after Miss Ronny this mo'nin', figgerin' on collectin' that mortgage again. I tell yuh Jim, that Jasper is the kind that won't stop short o'sudden death to try an' have his own way in everything. He's been havin' things his own way for quite a time now an' it don't set well with him to think o' gettin' beat. Yeah—I'm bettin' on can look for trouble right here on this ranch."

"A' right," growled Delevan. "Let him come, damn him. We'll be set."

"Everythin's settled then," said Tex. "Hi—Johnny, come here. Got somethin' to tell yuh."

Johnny listened to Tex without comment until the latter was finished, then nodded. "I expect you three ole chuckawallas will glom all the fun goin' after that rustled herd,

EXTENSION GRANTED BY WHITE HELPS ENTRANCE

TEN CLUBS MAY START IN DISTRICT GO

Five Days More Time Brings Tulia, Possibly Two More Into Meet

Entrance of teams into the South Plains District Softball tournament, slated here beginning August 26, was extended five days Monday when word from Harold B. White, state commissioner, approved the extension, with hope that at least two or more teams would increase the tournament registration.

After making a thorough survey of the entire district—16 counties—local tournament officials announced Monday that most of the teams in this section were handicapped due to the distance between the tournament site and cities playing soft ball. Only nine teams are certain. They are the Post Centennials, Grassland, Dickens, Texas Utilities company of Abernathy, Santa Fe of Slaton, Lubbock Avanché-Journal, Levelland, both Littlefield teams and Tulia.

Extension May Get Results

By securing the five day extension, tournament heads were counting on at least three additional teams to come in before Saturday night. The Dr. Pepper's and Panhandle clubs of Plainview and Spur have been contacted to bring the total up to at least 10. However, no definite results have been received. Beck's Gin, a community north of Sudan, may possibly enter the tournament.

Elimination Method Unknown

Officials have yet to decide the nature of the elimination here. If as many as eight teams or less come in, a two game play-off tournament will be held. However, if more than eight enter, the one game play-off will be used. Officials were hoping that the two game play-off will be used in order to swell the gate besides giving each team a second chance.

If possible, all games are to be played at night to give each entrant sufficient time to reach the tournament headquarters, and to entice the crowds.

Start Work On Field

Work was begun Tuesday in shaping the field into better condition. Co-operating with players donating their time in putting the field in shape, the Fire Department is watering the field each afternoon. Holes around the bases, especially home plate, are being filled in. Weeds in the outfield are to be cut, and a wire fence will be completed around the field as soon as possible.

The "dark spots," caused by defective arrangement of the lights are to be remedied. Stands will be erected prior to the tournament.

Ticket Sale Slow

Ticket sale isn't as brisk as officials had expected, but the entire quota of 150 will probably be sold out before the tournament week starts. Ewing Thaxton, league secretary, is in charge of the ticket sale. Season tickets are $1.

Price for double headers, set last week, will be 25 cents. Single games will be 15 cents.

State headquarters at Fort Worth announced Monday, deadline date for entering the district meets, that more than 300 teams were expected to compete in the fifteen district meets in this state.

District Awards At Ft. Worth

District champion awards, presented by the Star-Telegram, will be presented at the grand opening of the state meet at Fort Worth, September 6, it was announced by State Commissioner White in a letter to local headquarters recently.

At Big Spring, host city for District 4, eight teams will comprise the meet where San Angelo is expected to be the team to beat. In District 2 at Pampa, 24 teams, 12 from

FIVE TEAMS GO TO WAR AGAINST AMHERST

WATSON CREEPING UP ON LEAGUE LEADERS

If Pop's Team Beats P&E's, Then Gassers Trip Grocers.—Oh!

There's plenty of chance that Pop Watson's Producers may get within reach, or even force a playoff, for the second half title tonight and cause quite a ruckus among the top notchers.

Pop's team apparently duplicating their first half fete, hasn't given the customers the brand of softball this half that won them the first half title. But tonight's brawl with the Littlefield P&E team, which occupies second place jointly with the Producers, should either put the quietus on the P&E's and throw the league lead into a turmoil, or definitely give the Tremain forces second place.

Pop's Team Cranky

But Pop Watson's Producers are aiming at the league title with hopes that there won't be any need of a playoff for the league title. A win over the P&E's would put them in a position to go into a tie with the league leading Grocers, who have yet to dispose of their backache, the West Texas Gassers.

The Renfro team, always shaky even though they manage to pull out and win most of their games, have had much trouble in trying to subdue the Gassers throughout the season. The Gassers, themselves—and what a hectic season they have experienced—aren't to be counted out yet. They are just two full games out of first place, and they hope for a tie with the P&E's and Grocers for the second place if Pop Watson's Producers' luck hold out.

Season Nears Ninth Inning

The third season of softball on the local lot draws nigh with the crowds still interested, but the players becoming stale to the nightly jousts. The season couldn't close any soon to keep pep into the fans interest in order to stimulate more for the district tournament.

Amarillo, opens the softball show Monday for a ten day meet. White will attend the opening ceremonies.

C. E. Cundiff and his lieutenant, Jim Etter, will pick their starting ten from the following group of players: Fly Thornton, Curtis Heard, Cecil Duke, J. W. Bell, Otis Scott, Troy Howton, Guy Aldridge, Payne Wood, Jack Fisher, Leroy Fisher, Pud Hanks, Prof. Leach, Jessie Steffey, Dale Pepper, and Etter.

Luecke Manages Wildcats

Rev. Walter J. Luecke will pilot the Wildcats, the second independent team that will represent the host city in the tournament. These players include Ewing Thaxton, T. J. Kimmell, Jr., Bernard Lambert, Wylie Thornton, Bobbie Price, A. C. Tremain, Travis Jones, Forest Moore, Thomas Lowe, H. Keplinger, Billie Dorman, Lefty Jordan, Sherman Wilson, Jimmie Timmian, and Rev. Luecke.

Both teams will commence strenuous work in preparation for the district tournament. All-star games with out of town teams will be scheduled for the two local entries at various times before the tournament gets under way.

AROUND THESE PARTS

By Bob Cannon

When State Commissioner White granted this district a five day extension, he may have also changed the manner in which the tournament may be conducted. . . . Instead of a two game elimination, the appearance of a couple more teams may force the district saw-off to a single game elimination.

That's the reason Ed Seely turned thumbs down on the idea after he took over the one of the local clubs to advertise his Philco radios. . . . Mr. Seely, looking at the tournament as a chance to reap a golden harvest of publicity if his team had won, either isn't a gambling man or he didn't have faith in the fifteen men he picked for his squad. . . . That same squad, now managed by Rev. Luecke and known as the Wildcats, shouldn't have disappointed Mr. Seely during the tournament. . . . Although they are recognized as the local leaguers No. 2 team, they'll probably last longer than Mr. Seely expected, and more than likely, just to spite Mr. Seely, win the tournament.

Of course, Mr. Seely had all the right to withdraw as manager and sponsor. . . . It wasn't "purely" for the glory of-it-all that the Philco dealer was so anxious to have one of the teams. . . . They could have doubled their expense in publicity and advertising. . . . But the former manager couldn't see how they could have won the first game. . . . They had as much chance as team No. 1 in winning. . . . It looks like a slam on Mr. Seely's former softball team. . . . But Mr. Seely's money is Mr. Seely's money.

But if the customers didn't know the district softball tournament isn't proposed to benefit any one individual or organization. . . . It is strictly an amateur idea to advertise the town or community, if any advertising is gonna' be realized.

Just how this amateur rule is going to be wielded will be known in a few days when the district Tournament Committee gets together to decide who is eligible and who isn't. . . . Some say it can't be done: this throwing of a team out that has an ineligible player. . . . Perhaps not, but it has been done. . . . Not here of course, but the ASA isn't just a babe in arms, knowing nothing of what goes on. . . . So if the chopping block starts at home, don't say we didn't warn yuh!

We pick up from the Star-Telegram a list of the district headquarters. District 13 isn't shown; Harlinger is the headquarters. The district host cities and commissioners are as follows:

- District No. 1, Pampa, Aug. 10 to 20, J. G. Kretzinger, commissioner.
- District No. 2, Childress—Aug. 27, 28 and 29, Doyle Vinson, commissioner.
- District No. 3, Littlefield, Aug. 26, 27, 28, 29, Collier Parris of Lubbock, commissioner; Bob Cannon of Littlefield, deputy commissioner.
- District No. 4, El Paso—Dates not yet set; Rex Wilson, commissioner.
- District No. 6, Big Spring, Aug. 28, 29, Howard Thomas, commissioner.
- District No. 7, Breckenridge, Aug.

TIP TOPPERS TO HAVE BOLSTERED TEAM IN MEET

Tahoka Decides To Enter Giving Some Relief To Sponsors

Amherst, Aug. 12—With five teams signed and ready to play, the Amherst baseball club sponsors its first tournament, starting Sunday, with the Lubbock All-Stars, a team composed of Tip-Toppers and Hubbers, Tahoka, Anton, Sudan, Enochs, and the host team on the starting line.

A week of withdrawals, which has prevented drawing for places, kept the Amherst tournament moguls in a tangle until Jimmy Williams agreed to return his Tip-Toppers to the fold with the aid of a few Hubber and under the eye of Sled Allen, Tahoka, too, was giving the Reds plenty of trouble until Gaut Hambricht, ace Red moundsman and general-manager, paid the Tahoka manager, Skip Taylor, a visit and flickered part of the expense of the Tahokans four days stay in Amherst in his face.

Three Others Tough, Too
With the Sudan merchants going down into their jeans and drawing out a few shekels to pay ball players, the Sudan Grassers are not expected to look on the inside of the park twice as they did at the Lubbock tournament and high-tail it for home. Anton and Enochs, of course, will have their same strength that took them into the second round at the Lubbock wrangle.

With the winner and runner-up of the Lubbock tournament slated to give the Amherst tournament a financial boost, the Lamb county baseball venture should be right interesting for the natives. Their aim in attending will be centered on seeing the Reds sock a one, two at the Tip-Toppers middle for denting their pocketbooks at the final Lubbock game.

A Fan's Fare

If we don't miss our guess, the Lubbock Tip-Top-Hubber outfit won't be the only team to keep the fans on their feet giving the umpires and visiting clubs the bird. The Tahokans of one Skip Taylor will be formidable enough to take first money. They didn't see fit to enter the Lubbock tournament, mostly because they couldn't agree with the Lubbock management on terms, etc. But the free meals that the Amherst club will donate them to help the gate isn't gonna' help the Red's chances of winning the first money any to well. Then, there's Anton that holds a throat-cutting grudge against the host city. Sudan hasn't forgot the lacing the Reds handed them in the Lubbock tournament, and the Enochs club will not be on the bottom rung when the money is being passed out.

The opening games haven't been announced, but Amherst will probably oppose the Tip-Toppers, if Manager Sled Allen has returned in time for the drawing. Otherwise it will either be Anton vs. Amherst, and Sudan against Enochs.

Texas Guns—

o' sleepin' in the last week." "Which goes fer me, too," nodded Tex. "I'm feelin' my age tonight." "Alright," jibed Johnny. "You three broken down fossils hit the hay. Pink an' Pod an' me'll get your packs made up an' grain your-brones. We'll see that your slippers an' pajamas an' hot water bottles are all included." "You git to hell outa here," threatened Tex, while the others rumbled with laughter. "Git—or I'll whale the tar outa yuh with a number ten boot."

Johnny fled, cackling, and the three old timers clanked wearily down to the bunk-house, soon to be buried deep in their blankets. Johnny and his two assistants labored nearly to midnight currying and graining horses and making up packs. It was Pod Fortune who made a trip to the bunkhouse and returned with two quart bottles of whiskey.

Tex and Utah Lynch and Al Burrows left the Box D early the following morning. The stars were still gleaming cold and bright when they herded their pack animals out of the corral and started them down into the purple depths of the Kanab Desert. Tex was the last to leave and he hesitated a moment, looking down at the silent moment. His stern, deeply seamed face was wistful, and his eyes just a wee bit hurt.

"Better get a wiggle on, yuh ole brindle-haired," came a gruff voice at his elbow. "The others are gettin' a lead on yuh."

Tex started slightly and turned. Johnny was standing there at his stirrup. Miraculously Tex's face cleared and for a moment a beautiful light glowed in his deep eyes. Johnny held up his hand and Tex gripped it mightily. His left hand went out and settled lightly on Johnny's towseled head.

"Take keer o' yoreself, son," he drawled gently. "If trouble breaks remember all I've taught you. Don't go bustin' into things without thinkin' your moves out first. If yuh ain't here when I get back I'll pave this damn country with daid men."

"Hell!" gulped Johnny. "I'll be all right. It's you I'm worryin' about. You're shore to bump into gun-play down south an' I won't be there to watch out fer yuh."

"Nemmine me—I kin get along. So-long Johnny."

Tex rode away, a dark, creaking bulk in the half dawn. At the corral gate Johnny stood, watching and listening until the last sound of departure vanished. Then he turned slowly back to the bunk-house, swallowed thickly and blinking his eyes. He was strangely unshamed of the tears.

For the next three weeks Johnny drove Pink and Pod and himself unmercifully. There were a multitude of things to be done about the ranch, and every night the three youngsters dragged themselves to their blankets tremendously weary. But a month after Tex and Utah and Al Burrows had gone found everything about the ranch in tip-top shape.

From his daily seat on the porch, old Jim Delevan watched the progress with an approving eye. "That boy Johnny is shore a go-getter," he remarked one evening to Ronny, who was perched beside him. "Pink an' Pod have done more work in the last month than they ever did in six before, an' darned if they don't seem happy in doin' it. They're gettin' that danged proud o' this ranch they ain't fit to live with."

"They are good boys, all," answered Ronny softly. "So loyal and cheerful."

"Cheerful—yeah," nodded Delevan. "All except Johnny. That kid's worryin' about Tex. I kin tell it."

"I love him for it," said Ronny. "He worships old Tex. He—he'd die for him. I know he would."

Delevan nodded again. "I like that kid—sh-h-h here he comes now."

Johnny came striding up out of the dusk and crossed the porch to Ronny and her father. He looked very tall and lean and capable, thought Ronny, her heart skipping a beat. And his usual devil-aycare face was set and grim and strangely harsh.

"Evenin' folks," he drawled. "I come up to say so-long for a time. I'm headin' south in the mornin'."

"I savvy," nodded Delevan. "Go ahead son, yuh've done mighty fine work in the past month an' things are in better shape than they've been for a year. I see Pink an' Pod haided fer town after dinner."

"Yeah," said Johnny, relaxing a little. "Them boys shore have earned a holiday. An' it was jest about a case o' have to. Pod was down to his last pair o' socks an' Pink's been on the verge o' tears for a week over the way his pants are fallin' apart. But they shore have worked."

"I'm raisin' their wages," declared Delevan abruptly. "I kin appreciate any man's efforts."

"Be all right if I take a couple o' spare horses?" asked Johnny. "I aim to make a fast trip."

"Hell," snorted Delevan. "Do yuh need to ask me? Take a dozen if yuh want 'em, son I don't think yuh need to do any worryin' but I ain't tryin' to hold yuh back."

When Johnny left Ronny followed him shamelessly to the steps. "Take—take care of yourself, Johnny," she murmured, holding out her hand shyly.

Johnny gripped it in both of his. "They's jest two things worth while in life fer me, Ronny," he murmured with a kind of fierce tenderness. "Yur an' Tex make up the herd. Yeah—I'll be back."

Just before midnight Johnny awoke with a start. Someone, grunting and stumbling, had entered the bunkhouse.

"Quis es?" called Johnny. "Who is it?"

"It's me—Pink," came the answer. "Strike a light Johnny, Pod's hurt."

Why Gulf is the Gas for August

"C'MON IN, FELLAS, and cool off!" Most days are hot in August. Gasoline must be refined specially for this weather. If it isn't, part of the fuel goes out the exhaust unburned, wasted . . . and you don't get the mileage you should. Use That Good Gulf Gasoline in August. It's refinery-adjusted for summer weather—"Kept in Step with the Calendar"—all of it goes to work, none of it goes to waste.

Large crowds attended the rodeo and it was estimated between 2,500 and 3,000 were present Saturday for the program. The rodeo was

Senator G. H. Nelson Visits Littlefield Monday Afternoon

Senator G. H. Nelson of Tahoka was calling on friends in Littlefield Monday.

Senator Nelson stated it was a "difficult matter to cover a district as large as this and see all the people in it."

This district is composed of 24 counties, extending from Big Spring to Plainview, and from the New Mexico line east to Guthrie.

Senator Nelson, in his interview with the Leader said:

"How striking it is—the inequality of our representation in West Texas, the fact that we have 21 representatives in Congress from Texas, and yet have 31 Senators in the State Senate. This congressional district is composed of 25 counties, and the senatorial district is composed of 24 counties, with practically the same population. That is where West Texas is being hurt now—we do not have our proportionate part of representatives in the legislature."

Senator Nelson is making an effort to call on as many of the people of the district as possible.

RICH MEN'S MONEY

One of the most popular subjects of discussion is that of the so-called redistribution of wealth. Few stop to think that the process is going on all the time, and has been from the beginning of time. There is an old saying that it is "only three generations from shirt-sleeves to shirt-sleeves." In other words, no matter how much a man may accumulate in his own lifetime, his great-grandsons will have to go to work to build up their own fortunes.

Sometimes the process is speeded up. The very rich find it more and more difficult to keep their fortunes intact. It is a sound axiom that it is always harder to keep money than it is to get it. And the more intelligence the temporary possessor of great wealth is, the less concerned he is about keeping it.

The late Andrew Carnegie said that it was a disgrace for a man to die rich; and a recent court procedure disclosed that the trust fund which he set up to provide for his wife and daughter amounted to less than one-tenth of his fortune; the rest he gave away during his life or left in his will for public and philanthropic purposes.

When J. P. Morgan sailed for Europe a few days ago he remarked to newspaper men that in another thirty years there would not be any more great fortunes left in America. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., returning from France, where he had been receiving the thanks of the French government for gifts of many millions to restore some historic edifices, told ship news reporters that he thought Mr. Morgan was giving present-day fortunes a pretty long time to live.

But the history of humanity is that new men of ability and force are always rising from the mass, building new fortunes for themselves, which they and their families enjoy for a generation or two, to be in their turn dissipated. So it has been from the beginning and so it will always be.

Estimate 1936 Crop May Bring Best Return Since 1930

According to the latest report from the agricultural department, prospects are good for a 12,481,000 bale cotton crop, which officials say may prove one of the most lucrative since 1930.

The forecast of a cotton yield 1,842,609 bales larger than last year's coincided with official disclosure that the mid-western drought had left dairy pastures in the poorest condition on record and that 46,099 farmers had been placed on emergency relief jobs.

The cotton estimate was the first official one this season. The predicted total of 12,481,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight compared with 10,638,391 bales produced last year and 9,636,000 in 1934. The indicated yield per acre, 199.7 pounds, was 29.8 pounds higher than the 10-year average, 1923-32.

Considering the cost of production, farm income from the 1936 cotton crop, except in the southeast drought area, should be one of the best since 1930 if prospects prove out and prices do not decline materially.

Cotton futures on the Chicago Board of Trade, the only market pen after the forecast was made public, broke 26 to 42 points.

AAA officials however, said they were optimistic—in view of a declining carryover, increased exports and broadening consumption of raw staple—that values would remain around the 12-cent-a-pound level.

Preliminary Budget Adopted By Finance Committee of C. of C.

At a meeting of the directors of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce Tuesday afternoon a preliminary budget was adopted, which will be turned over to the Finance Committee for their approval.

As soon as the budget is approved, it will be presented to the prospective members of the Chamber of Commerce.

It is expected that the membership drive will get underway in the near future, it being the plan of the booster group to have the drive completed, a large number of new members added to the roll and the committees all working under the new organization by the first of September.

A. C. Copeland Suffers Injury To Left Foot

Cream Bringing Better Price Than Last Year

Cream is bringing a much better price to the farmers this year than last. At this season in 1935, according to produce men, they were paying 21 cents per pound for butterfat, whereas they are now paying 32 cents.

The rise in price is due to the drought in various states to the north of Texas, causing shortage on feed, and hence a rise in cream prices.

Jean Harlow Coming To Palace in "Suzy" Starting Saturday

Love-making as a screen art should come easy to Jean Harlow for the popular M-G-M star who makes her latest appearance starting Saturday midnight and continuing through Sunday and Monday at the Palace Theatre in "Suzy," has had no less than fifteen different screen lovers!

Her love scenes with Ben Lyon in "Hell's Angels," the picture which first brought her nation-wide attention, are still indelibly printed in the memory of early picture fans.

Her second screen lover was John Mack Brown in "The Secret Six," starring Wallace Beery. In quick succession other pictures followed during 1931; "Iron Man" in which she was teamed with Lew Ayres; "Public Enemy" with James Cagney as her lover; "Goldie" which placed her in the arms of Spencer Tracy; "Platinum Blonde" with Robert Williams; and "Three Wise Girls" with Walter Byron.

Miss Harlow's ninth leading man was Wallace Ford in "Beast of the City," her tenth, Chester Morris in "Red Headed Women."

And then Miss Harlow was catapulted to stardom after Clark Gable took her in his arms in "Red Dust," a screen performance which to this day Miss Harlow believes has been her best.

After "Red Dust" came Wallace Beery to share her embraces in the all-star picture, "Dinner at Eight." The popularity of Gable-Harlow as a starring team demanded a "repeat" performance which took place in "Hold Your Man."

The blonde star's thirteenth picture gave her Lee Tracy as her twelfth screen lover, in "Blonde Bombshell," the comedy of a temperamental film star and her dynamic press agent.
